Crowds began to gather along Phelps early in the afternoon and by 3 p.m.—fully 30 minutes before the parade schedule—lined both sides of the street. The first section of the parade, headed by Gen. Williams president of the Lamb County sheriff's posse, on horseback and carrying the state flag, wound its way up Phelps at 3:45. The parade, one of the largest and most varied ever staged at fair time, was a full twenty minute show. Forum Club entered an all white float with three angels kneeling in front of a large white cross. "Pray for Peace" was spelled out along the sides of the float in large blue letters. Janice Duncan, and Sandra and Shiela Martin portrayed the angels. On the pink and white Rebekah Lodge float were two satin clad figs. (Continued On Back Page)

Each family is asked to place their clean clothing in a cardboard box or paper sack and place it on their front porch on Saturday morning October 25, by 9:00 a.m. The Scouts will then pick up all packages that morning. The Scouts are conducting this Clothing Drive as their "Good Turn" in connection with the observance of United Nations Day and in cooperation with the Sudan Fall Festival. The business men of Sudan will then pick the clothing up from the Scouts of each community and will arrange the shipping to the respective distribution centers throughout the world. program really should be, and what it should accomplish. Littlefield public schools have had a school health program for three years and have established a good foundation; however, there are many ways to improve upon the local school health program. Health Council Formed With this far-sighted view of improving present health practices, a School-Community Health Council was organized in February of this year. It has met regularly each month. This council has an advisory function in connection with the school board. Participating in the work of the council now are the following citizens: Dr. William Orr, chairman; Dr. Albert Perkins, vice-chairman;

Precious Assets Of Humanity

Children with special gifts, talents, and aptitudes are among the most precious assets of humanity, and the waste of their talents through neglect is a tragedy. Understanding and sympathy on the part of parents and teachers, together with intelligently planned assistance and leadership, can eliminate much of this waste and thereby contribute materially to the better world of the future.

So writes Associate Professor M. R. Sumption of the College of Education, University of Illinois, in the National Parent-Teacher Magazine.

It is the gifted child, grown up, who becomes the great scientist, the statesman, the leader in medical research, or the master artist, he says. That is, of course, if he is given opportunities to develop his superior abilities or talents.

What can we do to see that gifted children are given that chance? Our first problem, he says, is to recognize the gifted child and to do so early. Signs of special ability appear as early as 18 to 20 months.

It is a duty and a privilege for parents to watch carefully for signs of superior ability and exceptional talent in junior and to keep a written record of them.

Early mastery of walking and talking are often indicative of superior gifts, according to Professor Sumption. "During the pre-school period the parents should also be on the lookout for the early growth of imagination and ingenuity.

This anecdotal record should contain a brief description of the circumstances, an accurate account of the incident, and the date on which it occurred. When a child enters kindergarten or elementary school, the parents should place this record in the hands of the teacher. If she is wise she will analyze it carefully and make it a part of the permanent record.

Once the gifted child is in school the conscientious teacher will seek to discover, appraise, and develop his abilities. She will work cooperatively with his parents. Classroom performance will often but not always indicate where ability lies. However, too much insistence on routine drill and repetition will make school a dreaded place for the gifted child. He must have freedom to use his initiative and imagination, to satisfy his curiosity, to explore his powers, to learn at his own pace.

The school, however, must have the cooperation and understanding of the parents, he maintains. Close cooperation between school and home in meeting the needs of the gifted will yield rich rewards, he concludes.

HEALTH PROGRESS WEEK

The week of September 14-21 has been designated "Health Progress Week" in Texas by the Governor. Allan Shivers, Governor Shivers in signing the proclamation September 12 asked Texans everywhere to join in saluting the family doctors "who make up one of our most honored professions and who have contributed so much to our way of life in Texas."

"Health Progress Week" coincides with the formal opening of a Memorial Library and headquarters building in Austin by the Texas Medical Association, membership in which is held by the doctors of medicine in the state. An open house for the public is scheduled at the new building Sunday, September 21. Other special programs will be held the preceding Friday and Saturday, and a comprehensive thirty-minute broadcast summarizing the events of the three days will be carried over the Texas State Network beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The Governor's proclamation follows:

"During the week of September 14-21, the more than 7,000 physicians of Texas will open in Austin a great new Memorial Library erected by the medical profession of our state. This library contains one of the finest collections of medical knowledge in the nation. Through extension and diffusion of this knowledge will come continued improvement of the health care of our people.

"It is significant that this great library is opened in the ninety-ninth year that the doctors of Texas have worked together as an organized profession to serve the citizens of our state.

"During the century of their service, Texas doctors have made vast contributions to the health and welfare of their fellow citizens. They have been a major factor in the lengthening of our life span almost twenty years. They have made it possible for babies to come into the world almost free of danger and to be reared to healthy maturity.

"They have overcome such once-dreaded killers as influenza, scarlet fever, whooping cough, pneumonia and diphtheria and are continuing day by day to attack the diseases which still endanger our loved ones.

"Therefore, I, as Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby designate the week of September 14-21 as Health Progress Week and ask Texans everywhere to join with me in saluting our family doctors, who make up one of our most honored professions and who have contributed so much to our way of life in Texas."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

No Longer Two Sides to This Question!

Ever seen those two-family houses they have in some places—with separate front doors and porches—side by side? My sister owns half of one and lives in it, near Philadelphia.

Nice little frame home. Only Sis painted her half brown and the other family always painted theirs green. Ruined the effect—but for years neither family ever thought of suggesting that they both decide on a common shade.

Now Sis writes that their two-toned home is no longer. "I mentioned we were going to repaint," she says. "And they said let's get a color we all like. So we did. A nice shade of gray for both sides."

From where I sit, so often when there's a difference of opinion it's best to sit right down and work things out (like when our volunteer firemen decided to serve both lemonade and beer at their annual picnic last month). Don't let prejudices "color" your opinion of your neighbor. He'll probably be quite as open-minded as you are.

Conditions Whereby Veterans Receive Unemployment Compensation Outlined

Texas veterans, that is, those who served 90 continuous days in the armed forces on or after June 27, 1950, and were released or discharged from the service under conditions other than dishonorable, will be eligible to apply for veterans unemployment compensation after October 14, according to an announcement made recently by J. D. Jordan, local office manager for the Texas Employment Commission.

Jordan said that under Title IV of the newly enacted Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, veterans may draw $26 for 26 weeks in unemployment compensation, provided they can meet the several requirements of the Act. This would make him the potential receiver of $676, the maximum he can receive under Title IV of the VRA Act.

These conditions which the veteran must meet include the following:

- (1) Must have been discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable.
- (2) Must have had active duty any time on or after June 27, 1950, with the Navy, Army, Marine Corps, Air Force or Coast Guard.
- (3) Must have had a minimum of 90 days' continuous service unless discharged sooner because of an actual service incurred injury or disability.
- (4) Must be unemployed, able to work and available for work.
- (5) Must register for work at any of the 82 local offices of the Texas Employment Commission.
- (6) Must file a claim at one of these offices.

When the veteran visits the local TEC office to apply for veterans unemployment compensation, he must bring with him his discharge or separation papers, his social security card, and a list of the employers for whom he worked over an 18-month period, prior to entering the service, and up to the date he files his claim.

Jordan also stated that a veteran cannot collect unemployment compensation for the same period in which he is receiving muster-out pay. Nor can he collect benefits while receiving allowance for education and training or subsistence.

"In addition," Jordan added, "if the veteran has wage credits that might make him eligible for benefits under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act, he should file a claim for such benefits. Naturally a claim for these benefits will be acted upon first, and if they amount to less than $26 weekly, he will be able to get supplementary payments under Title IV to bring his weekly benefits up to that amount. If he is disqualified under the State law from receiving benefits for any week claimed, he will not be eligible for compensation under Title IV for the same period."

Young people are always in the mood for new games. And a brand new one, called "Come Over," is all the rage in Connecticut, according to correspondent George Mackie of New Haven. Mackie is so sold on it that he has "grave fears" that the game will become as popular as the moron jokes or the zany "Knock-Knock" game of the mid-thirties. But he confesses it is as amusing to adults as it is to the poodle-cut crowd. Here's how Mackie and his friends play it:

Q. If the Pilgrims came over on the Mayflower, how did the mid-gets come over?

A. On shrimp boats. Similarly, suggests Mackie, the doctors came over on blood vessels, the students on scholarships, the magicians (some say the teachers) on witchcraft, the Olympic Games winners on championships. Just get buzzing on this game, and you'll find interesting correlations to the theme to charm and intrigue the players. Here are some starters:

- Bartenders came over on schooners
- Southerners came over on Yawls
- Fisherman came on Shells
- Dopes came over on Junks
- Politicians came over on gravy boats
- Ball players came over on ketches
- Mothers-in-law came over on relationships
- Quakers came over an Friend-ships

First Baptist Church Ladies To Observe Week Of Prayer

The ladies of the First Baptist Church will meet each afternoon next week, Monday the 22nd through Friday the 26th for a Week of Prayer for State Mission Work.

During these meetings, the Mary Hill Davis offering will be taken at 2:15 p.m. The first $10,000 of this offering will be used for mission work in Texas; the rest of the offering will go for churches in the Western states.

Baptists of Texas are interested in helping the churches in the Western States. Many people are convinced that this constitutes the greatest mission opportunity in the world today. Texas is seeking to raise $1,000,000 during September to assist these churches by loaning money to them.

Tea For WSCS and Guild Members Held In Methodist Church Parlor

Mrs. W. C. Cannon president of the WSCS welcomed members of the WSCS and the Guild to a joint meeting in the parlor of the Methodist Church Monday night at 8 p.m.

Tea was served to the 46 members of both societies as they arrived. Mrs. Leonard Bridges was chairman of the hostess committee.

Following the tea, Mrs. Harry Vanderpool presented the devotional, stressing missions. The lesson for the evening, taken from the book of Psalms, was taught by Mrs. Bob Crowell.

Mrs. John Nall sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Brown at the piano.

Mrs. Pat Boone, Sr. Visits Fabens and Plainview OES

Mrs. Pat Boone, sr., Grand Worthy Matron of the State of Texas, made her official visit to the Fabens OES chapter Thursday. She returned to Lubbock by plane Friday afternoon. She was met by her husband, Pat Boone, who drove her to Plainview to attend the observance of Friendship Night by the chapter there.

Son Born To Mr., Mrs. Emmet Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Smith of Muleshoe became the parents of a son, John, Wednesday at South Plains Co-op Hospital in Amherst. The infant weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces. He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Fox of Littlefield.

RETURNS TO COLLEGE

Mary Jane Coen, sophomore at Tech, left Wednesday for preregistration on Thursday. Mary Jane returned last Monday from a week of rush parties for DFD.

This could be a fun game at parties with each person given a few seconds to think of a correlative. If he doesn't, he's out. Just like a spelling bee, the last man standing wins the prize which could be for (what else) sportsmanship.

If you want to act this game, it could be even more fun. A contest ant might propose a question such as:

Q. How did baby talkers get over? The answer, which is "a canoe"—pronounced can-oo, of course—can be illustrated with a paddling motion.

There are oodles of facets to this game. Let your crowd figure 'em out—food for thought on chilly winter evenings.

Any group should relish a new game, a relief from the old moron jokes, reminds Mackie, although these are still popular, he says, offering this one:

Q. Why did the moron tipoe past the medicine cabinet? A. So he wouldn't wake up the sleeping pills.

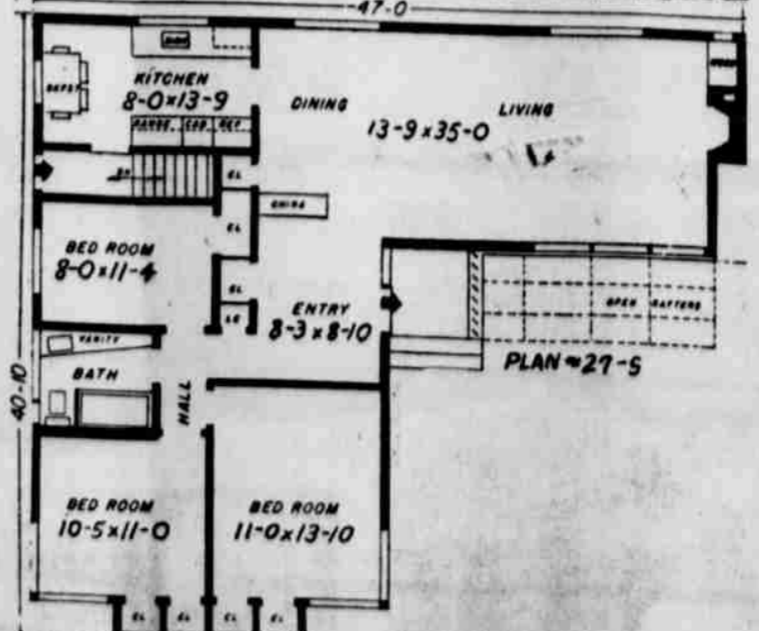

Heh, heh, heh! There's another old game which has been revived recently. All you do is make up a couple of rhyming words such as "Green Scene" and the definition comes out something like "Verdant Panorama" or something. When you get bored with "Come Over" lapse into this "Shifty Nifty."

Games are making a comeback since the decline and fall of the record player. Most young people blame the exit of the musical platter on television which hogs the living room, so that other musical expression is relegated to the background.

But even though the family insists on exhausting video, a game such as "Come Over" can be played with the greatest of ease. Every time a television commercial comes on just start the game around the room. This will keep you completely distracted until your (or father's) favorite program reappears.

In any case, try "Come Over" at your next party for a new game treat.

Compensation To Veterans Start October 15

The Texas Employment Commission announced recently that payment of unemployment compensation to veterans under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, and signed by President Truman on July 16, will begin on October 15, 1952.

TEC will make the payments to veterans and assume responsibility for State and local administration of the program. The agency will perform this function under an agreement signed recently with the Secretary of Labor.

Title IV of the VRA Act provides for payment of unemployment compensation benefits in the amount of $76, to be paid at the rate of $26 per week to unemployed veterans who have served for ninety days or more and have some service on and after June 27, 1950. The veteran must have been discharged for reasons other than dishonorable.

The payments to veterans in Texas are to be made in accordance with the provisions of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act, except for the weekly amount of payment to be made and the duration of benefits.

The Federal government will bear the costs of the compensation paid to veterans and of administration under the VRA Act.

Under the provisions of Title IV, benefits are payable only for weeks of unemployment which occur after the 90th day following enactment of the act.

TEC said veteran's claims can be filed at any of the 82 local offices of the Texas Employment Commission scattered throughout the state.

The agency said all of its local offices now in operation provide special services to veterans in finding jobs. Although veterans eligible for compensation payments under Title IV of the new law should not begin filing claims for benefits before October 14, 1952, they should contact the nearest local office of TEC for information about job opportunities immediately after they are discharged from the armed forces. Local offices also will be able to provide veterans with information concerning the unemployment compensation provisions of the new Act.

TEC pointed out that veterans will not be eligible for Title IV benefits until after the expiration of a 90-day period following the signing of the Act by the President, and until after the period for which they are drawing mustering-out pay under Title V of the Act. The veteran is not entitled to Title IV benefits for any week of unemployment completed before the 31st day after his discharge, if eligible for $100 in mustering-out pay; before the 61st day after discharge, if eligible for $200; or before the 91st day after discharge, if eligible for $300. In order to receive benefits a veteran must: (1) be unemployed, (2) file a claim for Title IV benefits, (3) register for work, (4) and be able to work and available for work and not disqualified from benefits.

State unemployment insurance benefits are paid to individuals who have earned wage credits while working for an employer who is subject to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. TEC said, "A veteran who is eligible for state unemployment insurance at a rate of less than $26 a week, will, if he also files for Title IV benefits be entitled to draw the difference between $26 and his state benefits. For instance, a veteran who files a state unemployment insurance claim and it is determined that he meets all the provisions of the TUC Act and is entitled to receive $15 per week for so many weeks, would be able to file a claim for Title IV benefits and receive $11 additional per week to put him in the top bracket provided by Title IV."

TEC also pointed out that a veteran is not entitled to Title IV benefits for any period with respect to which he receives an education and training allowance, subsistence allowance, or additional compensation necessary for maintenance under the Federal Employees Compensation Act. The agency added that a veteran is entitled to Title IV benefits from only one state at a time.

A veteran, if unemployed after October 14, 1952, desiring to file a claim for veterans unemployment compensation should bring with him to the local TEC office his discharge or separation papers, his social security card, and a list of employers for whom he worked during the 18 months prior to his entry into service and through the current date.

Luther Faulkner and Deverelle Lewis Establish Western Auto Store Here

The new building recently constructed next door to Reese Drug Store has been leased by Peyton Reese, owner, to Luther Faulkner and Deverelle Lewis, who are establishing a Home Owned Western Auto Associate Store in this location, and will open for business in the near future.

Mr. Faulkner, 29, married, whose home was originally at Slaton, Texas, has been with the Western Auto Stores for the past three years. He comes here from Oklahoma City, where he served as manager of a Western Auto Store previous to which he was assistant manager of a Lubbock auto parts store.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, who are living at 1219 West 10th Street, have two children, Deborah Jean, aged about 2, and Mark Alan, 6 months old.

Mr. Faulkner, at one time, lived at Suda and was employed by the Crow Chevrolet Company. While at Slaton he played with the Slaton football team, and visited Littlefield on many occasions in this connection. He is a graduate of Tech College, Lubbock, and served in the Air Force four years during World War II, some of which time was spent on Okinawa.

Mr. Lewis, 27, also married, comes here from Brownfield, Texas, where he was born and reared. He was connected with the Fidelity Life Insurance Company at that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, living at 301 East 15th Street, have two children, Rhonda Gene, aged 3, and Devora Ann, one year old.

Mr. Lewis is also a Tech College, Lubbock, graduate, and was a member of the Brownfield football team, and has visited the local football field on many occasions.

He served three years with the Marines during World War II, and also spent sometime overseas in the Southwest Pacific.

The name of the new business will be Home Owned Western Auto Associate Store.

ures, Mrs. Lee Bell Johnson as the angel and Mrs. John Alford as Rebekah.

The Jayceeettes Showboat "Cotton Blossom" carried on board Capt. Ray Foust, squiring around four southern belles, Pamela Smith, Velvet Holder, Glenda Petit and Othana Smith.

The Amherst PTA "Getting Out The Vote" float brought over Adlai Stevenson and Eisenhower, portrayed by Joe Porter and Marvin Wagner.

Another political float in the parade was that of the Eisenhower for President club, featuring a truck load of school children waving "Ike" posters and reminding the spectators to save the Texas tidelands for Texas school children.

"Toward New Horizons" was the theme of the float entered by the Future Homemakers of America Club of Sudan. Four girls of different nations, America, Europe, China, and South America, rode on the float.

The Future Homemakers of America of Littlefield presented on their float the American family at the dinner table. Typical of its realistic touches was the teen-age boy of the family who still had his cap on while the father was saying grace.

Spaced at intervals among the floats, riding groups, and entries from implement and automobile agencies were four bands. Littlefield in maroon and white, Sudan in black and orange, Olton in blue and white, and Springlake in bright green and yellow.

At the judging when the parade disbanded at the court house, Olton was awarded first place and a $50 prize. Springlake received second place and a $20 prize.

The Hockley County Sheriff's posse mounted on palminos, rode off with the trophy for the best riding group.

In judging for the floats, the "showboat" entered by the Jayceeettes was awarded the $50 first prize. FHA Club of Littlefield placed second and won $37.50. Third place went to the Forum Club who were awarded $25. Rebekah float received fourth place and $12.50.

The largest crowds this week were reported at the fair grounds Thursday night, according to Bob "Dewell" executive assistant. After the parade Friday afternoon, all "show" halls were filled with spectators.

As announced by the Nelson Hardware, Westinghouse appliance dealers in Littlefield, all over the United States, as a promotion, the Westinghouse Corporation are giving away a set of Laundromat Twins, consisting of an automatic Washer and Clothesdryer, to any set of twins born on September 23.

In addition Gerber's Baby Foods are joining the Westinghouse Corporation, and giving away a year's supply of the famous baby foods, 750 packages, of assorted cereals and foods.

Claimants for parents of twins born September 23 will have until Friday, September 26, 1952, to file their proof of twin births by sending a telegram collect to "Blessed Event," Westinghouse, Mansfield, Ohio. The notifying wire must give parent's name, home address, town and place of birth of twins.

A number of the doctors in this area have been alerted to notify Westinghouse of any twin births they attend on Friday, September 26.

Parents in this area may notify Nelson Hardware, of the birth of twins and this concern will advise the proper authorities.

Yugoslav Diplomat Expected

In a letter from Ljubo Drndic, director of the Yugoslav Information Center in New York City, Joe Salem, chairman, was informed that the Yugoslav embassy will enter its statement concerning world peace in the contest. The letter went on to say that Dr. Mirko Bruner, first secretary of the Yugoslav Embassy in Washington, D.C., will be present for the festival. All other embassies and legations sent literature and other materials to help Sudan merchants in presenting their countries.

World-wide publicity for the festival has been arranged through the Press Coverage Staff of the US Department of State. The story of the festival will be carried through the US overseas information program. Mr. Salem has been instructed by Howard V. Bener, chief of the press coverage staff, to send an advance story of 500 words in a telegram to his Washington office tomorrow, Saturday night after the pageant, a "wrap up" story is to be forwarded, also by telegram.

Sixty-two people attired in national costumes of the United Nations will mount the platform at the pageant Saturday night and be introduced individually. Each will take his place beside the flag of the country he is representing while the national anthem or characteristic piece of music of that country is played by Bernie Howell, organist from KCBSD in Lubbock.

Natives of other countries who register with the festival committee during the festival will be recognized at the pageant.

bend of their elbows... just restin' there, easy like. They were gonna be sociable, but they just brought along their negotiating equipment in case it turned out to be a "business" call. The farmers had come to town at eleven o'clock and found the bank closed.

The farmers asked the merchants why the clock was fast?

The merchants answered that the town was on daylight saving time and that the clock was telling the right time.

Farmers Turned Clock Back

One big farmer out in front pulled a big gold watch, the size of a homemade biscuit, out of a pocket on the bib of his overalls and consulted it with an unreadable expression on his face. He held it steadily in front of the merchants' noses and drawled, "Sez here it's eleven thirty. That clock up there sez twelve thirty. It's wrong and we're gonna change it. Y'all jest wanna run that clock up so as to close up while it's still light enough to play an extra round of golf every evenin'."

After another speech which informed the astonished group of townsmen that the courthouse belonged to the COUNTY, not the CITY, the farmers marched up to the courthouse and reset the clock on eastern standard time. And you can bet that it was never changed again!

Evidently, Daddy, those Georgia farmers had been baptized with the same sentiments I heard expressed by an old woman on the bus to Lubbock last week. Someone had been trying to explain Eastern Standard and Daylight Saving Time to her. When they had finished, she shook her head and asked, "How in the world can they change God's time?"

What's this I saw in Mother's last letter about your advocating that the spelling of GEORGIA be changed to GAW-GA so that everybody will pronounce it like GEOR-

GIANS do? The idea's fine, but I think legislatin' pronunciation is like trying to legislate the conduct of a sixth grade class when the teacher leaves the room. It's always a noble idea, but it's seldom effective with anyone but those with whom it would have been effective anyway—law or no law. But if you've got that much "pull" at the state capitol, more power to you. Maybe a law on such a subject as language would show my Texas friends that Talmadge is interested in SOMETHING cultural!

Wild About Football

Went to the Wildcat's second game of the season Friday night. You know how I am about football—WILD about it! Well, I heard back in the summer from the manager of the local radio station, J. B. McShan, that Littlefield was really a FOOTBALL TOWN. When I heard that, he could have said that I'd just inherited an oil well and it wouldn't have made me any happier—well, not much. Anyway the purse from that well would be empty every month cause I'd try to make it to a seat on the 50-yard line for every football game in the nation! Now just because I'm talking from Texas, don't think I'm evagerratin'.

I didn't take Mr. McShan's word for it that Littlefield really likes its football. At the first opportunity, I went out to see. That opportunity came about two weeks ago when the local eleven, who had only been practicing with equipment for part of a week had a "just for fun" game or a glorified practice period with Denver City. On the way out to Seely Stadium, I thought to myself, THIS will prove whether or not Littlefield likes football as much as they say they do. You know me, I'm still a believer in the old saying, "Actions speak louder than words."

Littlefield Likes Football

Was I surprised when we drove up—not a parking space in sight! Cars lined all the streets adjacent to the field. Not SOMEBODY, but EVERYBODY was there—and I think they brought along a friend! And merely scrimmage, too, not a real AA district game that counted. I was convinced: LITTLEFIELD LIKES FOOTBALL.

The thing that counted, though, was the thing that brought that crowd out there: letting their team know that they were backing them right from the very first "work out" of the season.

Well, football is my game and football sure is Littlefield's game. And judging from the Wildcats' first victory, a smashing 31 to 18 score over Dalhart, we've both got a good team to follow.

We're gonna get along fine, I can see right now—so, if you don't mind, Dad, I think I'll stick around WEST TEXAS for a while.
