1,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED TO ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING FARM BUREAU TO BE HELD AT LEVELLAND ON SATURDAY

More than 1,000 people are expected to attend the quarterly convention of 21 counties in West Texas to be held in Levelland, Saturday, July 7th, the majority of whom will be members of the Texas Cotton Bureau.

A program of much interest, to be participated in by leading state and district officials of the Bureau, has been prepared for the occasion. Sam Morley, general manager of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association, and Dr. P. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, will also be on the program.

Commenting on the coming meeting, J. W. Hammock, field manager for the Bureau in this county said: "Lamb county has the honor of shipping the largest per cent of its cotton produced last season to be sold through the Farm Bureau, and the members of this county are expected to be there in large numbers."

"Farmers received very little encouragement during the recent Republican convention held at Kansas City; at the Houston Democratic convention there was more encouragement and some nice promises; but it is up to the farmers themselves to see that they get the proper recognition, as has wisely been said, 'The Lord helps those who help themselves.' Our problems are our own, and the way to solve them is by making our organization stronger through a thorough discussion of our needs at the convention next Saturday."

Miss Ann Morrison, handwriting expert of the California State Bureau of Criminal Identification, has solved up 1,195 crime cases in ten courts. This fair expert has identified 239 forgers, bad check artists and other criminals.

BREEDEN BUYS ANOTHER FARM

Clay Breeden, of Williamson county, was in Littlefield this week and purchased another 177 acre farm of the Yellow House Land Co., this making three farms he now owns in this section. His brother, A. C. Breeden, also owns four farm tracts here.

All the land is now rented, in cultivation and producing flourishing crops. Both men are enthusiastic regarding the future of this section.

R. O. CONNER IS TO MAKE LFD. HIS FUTURE HOME

That R. O. Conner, of Dallas, who was appointed as temporary business manager for the Littlefield college, has accepted the position permanently and will shortly move his family to Littlefield, becoming one of its bona fide citizens, is the gist of information carried in the current issue of The Apostolic Way, official organ of the Church of Christ.

The information comes with much satisfaction to Littlefield citizens. During the campaign for raising the 1416 acres of land for the location of the college in Littlefield, the local citizens committee had full opportunity of becoming intimately acquainted with Mr. Conner as the college representative. During this period of negotiation he proved himself a careful business man and Christian gentleman of the very highest order. His residence in Littlefield will be genuinely welcomed. Following is the statement appearing in the last issue of The Apostolic Way:

A Difficult Decision

When I decided to assist the brethren in the moving of the Gunter College to the West, I agreed to act as temporary business manager until the Board of Directors could select another for the place. I felt that my business could spare me for two or three months to render this service. I never for one moment thought of giving up my business and giving my entire time to the school, not that I would dislike such work but like many other men who have been running and building up a business for 25 years, I could not possibly see how I could give it up, but so often those things that are least expected, are the most likely to occur. The pressure that has been brought to bear by the business men and the Board of Directors and the brotherhood at large has had its effect. I cannot permit personal interests to influence me where service to my people and the school is concerned. I shall enter into this new field of labor and give the school the same constant and efficient thought and care to make it a glorious success that I gave to building up a paint business here in Dallas that has been second to none.

I have set a Senior college as our goal and the Lord willing, I shall not cease my efforts in this respect until the same is accomplished. We should all want to see our boys and girls enjoy the full four year course of college work under the same influences and high ideals that the college has been, and now is, radiating that satan may not tempt them.

I am expecting an unstinted cooperation and devotion from the Brotherhood in the building of this school. The interest that is being manifested by all in behalf of this school is most encouraging. Everyone seems anxious to lend a hand and do their best. It is a pleasure to work with such people.—R. O. CONNER.

Editor's Comment

The decision of Brother Conner to give all of his time to the school is so unselfish on his part that I can hardly see how any of us can interpose an objection, yet, when a man situated as he was, with a business of the first rank, one that could give to him and his family all the comforts and necessities of life and still provide him with funds in furthering the cause of Christ as he has been doing since I have known him, we can't help but feel that perhaps his sacrifice is beyond requirement and we

Some Hog! Is It World's Biggest?

"Dazzler," a hog owned by William Deichmann of Leigh, Nebraska, is believed to be the largest porker in existence. The animal is a pure bred Poland China Stag and weighs 1,235 pounds. The owner believes he can make it even heavier. "Dazzler" measures 7 feet 2 inches from all to nose and is 51 inches high. He is very active. There were nine pigs in his litter, of which five boars and three sows were raised.

SPIRIT OF LITTLEFIELD IS DEMONSTRATED BY LOCAL LADS ATTENDING THE C. M. T. C.

"The Spirit of Littlefield," is the title of an editorial appearing in a recent issue of the Denver, Colo., Post, a copy of which was this week sent the Leader by Pierce Teeters, who, with several other Littlefield lads, are attending the C. M. T. C., at that place.

Evidently the lads stepped on the gas a little too hard, arriving a little too early, but with a bunch of energy backed by their zeal and patriotism were able to make good. The article is as follows:

"Six boys from the Littlefield, Texas, high school jumped off their 'rattling' good overland automobile at Fort Logan last week, shook a smattering of interstate road dust from their civilian trousers, walked up to post headquarters and said: 'Let's go.' It was the vanguard of the 1928 candidates for this area.

"Are you lads reporting for C. M. T. C.?, a sergeant inquired of the group spokesman.

"We sure are," said the enthusiastic leader.

"Don't you know your orders read for June 20—here you are four days ahead of time. How come?"

"But we just couldn't wait, we were anxious to get started and weren't going to miss out."

"True, the lads slipped up temporarily in one of the first lessons the camp will attempt to impart—a little discipline, obedience to orders, and respect for authority. But this was due entirely to their enthusiasm and a burning desire to take advantage of Uncle Sam's free citizenship training, even if they had to report days ahead to be 'sure,' as they put it, 'of a place in camp.'"

"Told by the sergeant there was no mess or quarters yet available, one of the group asked:

"What can we do to earn our keep—we don't want to go away."

"And thru an arrangement between camp headquarters and the company commanders of the Second Engineers, the six were distributed among the regular companies for a little K. P. shift and other harmless detail. They seized upon it eagerly and were off to their new labors an hour after arriving.

"That's the spirit of the C. M. T. C. Up and at 'em from the morning gun, strict attention to business while the days business is on, healthful play and recreation when the short day is done.

are sure beyond any could have asked.

It is the conviction of all who have been abreast with the efforts in behalf of the school that Brother Conner is the man that can put the proposition over in a big way and naturally from that viewpoint all will rejoice that he has decided to give his time for the present, to the school work and it is to be hoped that he will not be permitted to make this sacrifice without that deep appreciation to which such service is entitled.—R. F. Duckworth, Editor.

DEPARTMENT PAYS TRIBUTE TO QUALITY OF SOUTH PLAINS GROWN COTTON AND TO SMALL AMOUNT OF GIN-CUT COTTON FOUND

SCORES FIRST HONOR

Mrs. Pearl A. Austin, of Floydada, scores first honor in making full payment for a ten acre tract purchased out of the new College Heights addition, the deed having been mailed to her last Tuesday by Secretary R. W. Jones.

Mrs. Austin, along with other purchasers, had several years in which to make payment for her tract which is to be improved for residence, but preferred to tender her check for $2,750 and close the transaction.

EQUALIZATION OF TAXES IN THE CO. IS S. D. HAY IDEA

To the voters of Lamb County:

In order that the people may know the facts of the case, I am writing in regards to a few matters that I have been confronted with so far in my campaign for County Judge of Lamb county.

I have been repeatedly asked whether or not I was a member of any church. I beg to state in this connection that I am a member of the Presbyterian church, I also belong to the Masonic Lodge and the American Legion.

I also find that I have been accused of raising taxes. Just who is directly responsible for this rumor I do not know, nor have I taken the trouble to find out; but I feel that the accusation is most unjust, for what I tried to do is to more correctly equalize our county taxation instead of "raising the taxes on the farmer and merchant," as has been intimated.

The rumor has reference, I find, to a motion I made before the Commissioners' Court during its May term and which was seconded by Commissioner C. E. Strawn of Precinct 3. The motion I made was that we raise the valuation of all $4.00 land to $5.00 and endeavor to secure rendition on the millions of dollars of Vendor Lien notes held against property in this county. The $4.00 land is the Sand Hills, the great bulk of which is owned by a few men of comparative wealth.

In regard to the Vendor Lien notes of which there are millions of dollars worth held against land in this county classed as personal property taxable the same as any other personal property, and still not one cent of these credits are rendered for taxation in this county.

I am by no means a radical on this subject, but I do feel that it would be no more than fair that Lamb County get the tax benefit of some of this property.

I hope that the above explanation will serve to show the people that I am a long ways from trying to "raise taxes on farmer and merchant," but according to my code of right and wrong I am trying to equalize, not raise taxation, which would help the farmer and merchant, instead of making it harder on them as has been falsely circulated in the county.—S. D. HAY. Polit. Adv.

CLOSED THE FOURTH

Littlefield business men are generally a very co-operative bunch, and this week was a demonstration of their harmonious action when all business owners interrogated, with one exception, agreed to close for the Fourth of July. The list of those closing is as follows:

Burleson-Mason Co., B & M Cash Grocery, Cuenod's D. G. Co., Smith-Hammons, Co., Shaw-Arnett Co., Littlefield Variety Store, M System, D. D. Beisel, Jeffries Mercantile Co., Ed Ayrian, Hogan D. G. Co., Littlefield Tailor Shop, First National Bank, Thaxton Bros., C. E. Ellis, Walter Burleson, J. A. Lilly, Homer T. Wilson, Littlefield Bakery, J. C. Houk, Star Market, Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., Wm. Cameron & Co., Cicero Smith Lumber Co., Montgomery Produce, J. T. Bellomy, Mid Seale, Snowden Seed Store, J. H. Bucking-ham.

Help keep Littlefield clean!

"Each year the proof of the South Plains' superiority as a cotton growing country becomes the more demonstrable," says S. L. Adams, who recently is in receipt of information relative to growing cotton in this section that is of more than ordinary interest.

"Naturally," said Mr. Adams, "this is a short staple country, largely because of the short growing period here, but I know of no where that cotton can be produced so cheaply as in this particular section. A recent survey of the South generally reveals that, for instance, in Lee county, Arkansas, it costs 57 cents to raise cotton, while here in this county it can be raised on an average of 10 cents. According to recent figures given out by the Experiment Station at Lubbock, the average yield of lint cotton per acre of ten highest varieties from 1912 to 1922 was 348.87 pounds. It is no wonder that folks from East and Central Texas and from other cotton producing states, where it costs so much to raise cotton are looking with eager eyes upon this new section and many of them coming here to continue their agriculture pursuits."

Mr. Adams is recently in receipt of a letter from W. B. Lanham, agricultural economist, Division of Cotton Marketing, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., which contains some pertinent and useful information to cotton planters of this section. This letter states that "the percentage of 3/8 inch cotton produced in your section (1927 crop) is a little over 63 per cent, while that for the region is 44 per cent." On the other hand, the letter further states: "The percentage of 15/16 inch from your section is approximately 14 per cent, whereas that for the region is approximately 26 per cent." The writer in making the statement says: "We are reasonably sure that this is due to adverse weather conditions, as the high plains region is known to be a fairly good staple region."

Speaking of gin-cut cotton, Mr. Adams states there is considerable hoax going over the country at this time. Certain organizations are claiming gin-cut cotton is very common with independent ginners, whereas their particular gins are practically free from such default. Mr. Adams states such is not the case with ginners of any type and that the amount of gin-cut cotton in any territory is less than one per cent. Quoting again from Mr. Lanham's letter he says: "One thing that you are to be personally congratulated upon is that out of 294 samples received from your gin, not one was gin-cut, whereas the average for the counties used in the Texas and Oklahoma grade and staple report was about nine bales out of 1,000."

TARWATER MEETS VOTERS

A. B. Tarwater, of Runningwater, candidate for representative in the 120th legislative district, was in Littlefield Tuesday meeting the voters of this section.

Mr. Tarwater was a candidate for this office two years ago, lacking but 150 votes throughout the district of election. He states he is confident that he will be the choice of the people this year.

D. F. EATON OF LUBBOCK MAY GET ST. APPOINTMENT

D. F. Eaton county farm agent of Lubbock county, was in Littlefield Tuesday, looking over the situation with view of a county agent beginning work in Lamb county in the near future.

Considerable pressure has been brought by citizens of the county upon Mr. Eaton to accept the place of farm agent in this county, appropriation for which has been made by Commissioners Court to begin about the middle of August. However, upon resignation of John Egan, district agent, it is known that the various county agents have unanimously petitioned the appointment of Mr. Eaton to this vacancy, and his election will probably be confirmed at the annual meeting to be held in August at College Station.

Mr. Eaton stated however, whether he received this appointment or remained as agent in Lubbock county, he would be glad to use his influence toward securing an experienced and satisfactory agent for this county.

YOUR HOME TOWN

Are you getting tired of Littlefield? Would you like to be where lights are brighter and people more numerous; where there is more noise and bustle? Then knock off work for a couple of weeks and satisfy that longing.

But don't make the mistake of selling out here, or even packing your household belongings before you go. Just hop in the family flivver and get out where you believe you can "do better." Then look it over. Study living conditions and the cost of keeping a family; study the schools and find out something about the tax rates. Get a line on your chances for securing credit at the stores if you happen to lose a job or are off the pay-roll for several weeks through sickness. Fill yourself up with real information, but don't believe everything that's said.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION
Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between A. W. Hall, Claude Holcomb and C. W. Phillips, of Lamb County, Littlefield, Texas, under the firm name of The Littlefield Coal & Grain Company, was dissolved by mutual consent, on the 7th day of June, A. D. 1928.

All accounts owing to said partnership have been sold and transferred to Mid Seale, and are payable to him, all other debts owing to said partnership are to be received by any one of said partners and all debts or demands on said partnership are to be presented to any one of said partners for payment.

Witness our hands this 7th, day of June, A. D. 1928.

Advertising rates given upon application.

No. Entered as second class matter May 24, 1923, at the post office 27 at Littlefield, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

JESS. MITCHELL, MEMBER Editor and Publisher

National Editorial Association, Texas Press Association

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses.

Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on only one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Wednesday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.

Advertising that does not show in its text or typography that it is paid for must be marked as an advertisement. All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, if matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.

Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Littlefield Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

THE LEADER WANTS AND IS BOOSTING FOR—

Other lines of business not well represented here.

A modern hotel adequate for present and future needs.

More paved streets.

More water and sewer connections.

Numbering of houses and marking of streets.

Opening of Ozark Trail.

More farmers with fewer acres, but these acres more intensively cultivated. More pure sires, more and better dairy cows, poultry and hogs.

Fair prices for farm products and fair and courteous treatment of farmers.

Respect for and enforcement of existing laws and local ordinances.

Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall.—Prov. 16:18.

Pride's chickens have bonny feathers, but they are an expensive brood to rear. They eat up everything and are always lean when brought to market.—Alexander Smith.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Someone has said that "The Nation that isn't worth cherishing for isn't worth living in," and the longer we live in America the more firmly we believe it is true.

There's a feeling of pride swelling in every breast along about this time of year. Even though most of us may not be given to cheers, we appreciate the feeling nevertheless and do our cheering silently but none the less happily. The Fourth of July is but one day of the 365 on which we are glad we are Americans. But it seems the most appropriate one on which to be thankful we are a part of it.

It was an appropriate holiday when it was inaugurated; it is equally appropriate now that the dreams of its founders have come true. They peered into the future and visioned the greatest nation of all, made glorious by a respect for liberty and equality. We look back over the years and its progress lays before us like a picture. We look ahead and see an even greater achievement in human welfare and human progress. For America, after all, is not only the cradle of liberty but an example to all the world of what cooperation and brotherly love can bring about.

We know that this Fourth of July will find every man, woman and child in Littlefield in a cheering mood, for that feeling of pride in the breast of every local American comes into full bloom on this occasion, and it must find expression in some form or another. We care not what form you choose in giving vent to it, so long as it does not endanger your own or your neighbor's peace and happiness. But, whatever you do, make a pledge that you will go forward, toward still another Fourth of July, stronger in your love for America and for the principles upon which it was founded this day 152 years ago.

Neither Hoover nor Smith has yet come out flat-footed on the bobbed-hair issue.

FIRST AID

No matter how well you may be fixed for accessories on your car, even though you never drive more than a few miles from home, you still lack a very important requisite for safety if you haven't a "first aid" kit handy under the front seat.

At a cost of a few cents any one can buy a roll of bandage, a little cotton, a vial of arnica, a bit of adhesive tape and, to make a kit complete, a bottle of cramp and colic medicine.

You may never need it, but it is a protection in accident or illness when it may not be easy to reach medical aid. Or it might come in handy if you found someone along the road who had fallen a victim to misfortune.

It doesn't take up much room in the car, just as this suggestion takes up but little space in the paper. Yet the value of a "first aid" kit, like the value of this suggestion, cannot be measured by the space it occupies.

LET'S GET TO WORK

With the big political conventions a matter of history, and with the candidates before us and little room for guesswork as to where they stand and what they stand for, the country is again settling down to its knitting. In other words, the holiday part of the campaign is over. Now we can all go back to work, for work we must if we maintain the foundation on which the country stands. No matter what party we may be affiliated with, we must keep in mind the fact that happiness and comfort are still dependent upon how well we do our daily tasks.

Indications are that it is going to be a strenuous campaign. It is pretty apt to develop some hot arguments before it is very far advanced. And not all of these arguments are going to bring forth anything helpful. Keep that fact in mind when discussing the merits of either candidate, or the measures for which they stand.

We want no bitter feelings to spring up among the people of Littlefield as a result of political arguments. We want them to keep before them the knowledge that hot words have never yet helped any cause to victory. Keep cool. Do your own thinking, and grant the other fellow the same privilege. It's a long time until the polls are open for the national voting, and then you can accomplish more in one minute with a lead pencil than you can in a lifetime of argument.

Married life would be bliss if a wife would try as hard to hold her temper as she tries to hold her complexion.

STRETCHING A DOLLAR

A news item from Washington City says the printing of new paper money has started and that by Oct. 1 there will be in circulation a new size dollar bill. It will be three inches shorter than the dollar bill we now use and three-fourths of an inch narrower. Its composition will consist of 75 per cent linen and 25 percent cotton. A check-up shows that once out of every seven times a dollar bill changes hands it is spent for oil or gasoline, and the soiled hands of the filling station men wears it out at a rapid rate.

Citizens of Littlefield will welcome the new-size dollar bill—in fact, most of us are ready to welcome any size dollar bill, even though it won't buy any more than the present ones. But everybody likes a change, whether it's a change in money, clothing styles or auto models.

About the only comfort we get out of this change, however, is the knowledge that it will save Uncle Sam's taxpayers the sum of $246,715 annually.

PAVEMENT PICKUPS

Dr. Clements (to patient in chair): "Will you take gas?"

Patient: "Yeah, and you better look at the oil, too."

"Marriage," says Sid Hopping, "is like a railroad sign. When you see a pretty girl you stop; then you look, and after you're married you listen."

Charley Cooper says he wouldn't mind a presidential year so much if it didn't always bring around a lot of fellows taking straw votes.

"Water on the brain" is a disease common to all races, but Van Clark says he has a "shine" working for him who is beginning to show signs of having watermelon on the brain.

"So far, I have never had any customers asking for knee-length pants since I have been in Littlefield," says Earnest Williams. "It is probably because the most of us men folks have to wear our pants too long."

Roy Wade, postal employe deluxe, and well known for his ultra-modesty, says, "one disadvantage about going into a movie show after it starts is you are apt to feel around in the dark for a seat and get hold of a pair of indignant knees."

LITTLE LEADERS

We can't imagine anything more pathetic around Littlefield than seeing a horsefly light on a radiator.

The real trouble with the younger generation around Littlefield is that there were not enough parents using a paddle 15 or 20 years ago.

Why is it a Littlefield man will take it as a compliment if you say he's level-headed but consider it a knock if you say he's fat-headed?

When you see a Littlefield man who is a little lamb around the house you can also bet he is a little goat around there, too.

Being broad-minded as well as broad-shouldered is sometimes just as advisable for the average Littlefield citizen. Some of both makes the ideal combination.

Even the Littlefield husband who never kisses his wife is considered a pretty good sort of husband if he doesn't go around kissing other men's wives.

Littlefield girls today don't seem to be much interested in breaking hearts. But some of them go out of their way to keep our young men broke.

A doctor announces that the healthiest people are those who keep their flesh exposed to the sun and breezes. Then some of the women we see around Littlefield ought to be awfully healthy.

The Littlefield religionist who thinks his church and his particular variety of religion is the only simon pure brand of orthodoxy recognized by Deity should have lived during the days of the Inquisition. He is entirely out of harmony with twentieth century Christian ideals.

DOCTOR FRANK CRANE SAYS

THE GREATEST BUSINESS

The greatest business in the world anywhere and at any time is the business of educating and training the young.

Just as the household centers about its children in all its hopes and plans just as for them the father works and the mother sacrifices, so in the case of a nation everything should turn about the improvement of its young people.

On them and on their fitness rests the future safety of the nation more than on any plans or schemes or institutions which their fathers may set in motion.

Always the character of a people has more to do with the success of a nation than the institutions or customs it may have, or the defense it may possess.

What we spend money for is the best sign of what we desire most.

A Britisher the other day gave five hundred thousand pounds to his government to be applied toward the English debt. This was an unparalleled act of patriotism. Men will give their lives for their country, while few are willing to give money.

Kamakak and ah-goo-took are the principal foods provided by Alaskan grocery stores. Kongik and A-wri-not are some more choice articles among the Esquimox. Kongulisiat, Ot-kwrit and Tipi-ty-yut are some more.

Again you should be glad of your good old U. S. citizenship—and that you can go to an "M" System grocery and obtain the best the market affords to satisfy your Anglo-Saxon appetite without having to exist on seal poke skin, fried marrow and raw reindeer fat.

U. S. foods come much cheaper, also, especially when purchased at an M. System store. Buying in large quantities we get the lowest prices. It all counts for—community than he does.

The superintendent of public schools should be the best paid official in the city and the most carefully selected. And he needs to be a person of more outstanding ability than the mayor.
The school buildings should be, and in some places are, the most remarkable pieces of architecture in a community.
Every city should have plenty of playgrounds for children.
To the credit of America it is that it has more juvenile publications and printed matter, especially for the rearing of children, than has any other country.
Every man and woman ought to be in some way connected with assisting the younger generation to make good.
School teaching or the training of the young is far and away the most important business of the country.

APPEARANCE OF THE AUTO IS A BIG FACTOR NOW

With the buying public demanding more and more every year and auto designers bending their best efforts to give them what they want, the battle for supremacy has resulted in the development of a car that includes style, beauty, durability and safety.

The cars of today are as much different from the old-timers with their high backs, as are the short skirts of feminine fashions from the old-fashioned hoop skirts and bustles of our great-grandmothers' time.

Time and experience have proven that the car that doesn't keep up with the trends in fashion is doomed. The public today demands appearance as well as performance. It demands both and plenty of them.

In the design of modern cars, expert craftsmanship has been employed to bring about beautiful appearance plus performance. In the design of the chassis, itself, the factor of safety is as rigidly adhered to as in the designing of an airplane. And the body has been developed to fit in with this to bring about a combination of safety, style and sturdiness.

As the touring season swings into its stride, this is particularly noted in 1928 cars. Long, low and road hugging, they embody comfort and safety and offer riding qualities that make a rough country road as easy to negotiate as a cement highway.

Safety, too, has been incorporated in the body with its combination wood and metal construction, which, by test has been proven to be capable of withstanding the most severe treatment.

The combination of the two has brought about a car in which vibration is at a minimum, the wood acting as a muffler to the natural resiliency of the metal. At the same time, the strength of the body is much increased.

Particular care used in the seating arrangement stands out now as an added attraction to tourists. The deep cushions make touring a pleasure. The care that the designers exercised in the placing of the seats show up now as tourists report reeling off their 300 miles or more a day without the least bit of fatigue.

In the arrangement of the windows particular care is given to increase the range of vision, so that passengers in the rear seats may see all around without having to bend forward to catch a bit of landscape as it flashes by. Taken as a whole auto owners and tourists will get more real pleasure and satisfaction from the ownership and service of their cars this year than ever before in the history of automobiledom.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The ladies Missionary society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon at three o'clock. A business session was the program for the afternoon. It was decided that the ladies would send a box to the orphan's home in Dallas, also a new "way's and mean's" committee was elected. On this committee are Mrs. M. P. Reed, Mrs. Luther Hargrove, and Mrs. J. M. Calan.

Next week's lesson is on "Stewardship," and will be led by Mrs. W. P. Kirk.

JUNIOR LEAGUE SOCIAL

Mrs. E. H. Williams entertained the Junior Epworth league of the Methodist church with a social from three to six o'clock last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Wilda Courtney, with seventeen league members and five visitors present.

Various games were enjoyed on the lawn, during the afternoon, and at six o'clock, refreshments of sandwiches, and ice cream were served to those present.

GIVE BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Happel Edwards last Saturday afternoon, in honor of their youngest daughter, Jane's fourth birthday.

The following were present: Joyce and Evelyn Griffin, Jessie, David, and Clifford McKnight, Velma Lee Lowe, Eula Jane Lindley, Irma Baker, Oleta and Tena Richards, Ruth, Elizabeth and John Pace, Almata, Sylvia and Jane Edwards.

BUY LON'S CAFE

J. V. Payne and John B. Stone have purchased Lon's cafe from Mrs. John Blair. They expect to soon begin repairs, such as painting and remodeling in general.

Mr. Payne and Mr. Stone came here directly from Sudan where they were in the restaurant business.

MRS. STOCKTON HOSTESS

Such an enjoyable party was that of Thursday afternoon when Mrs. W. O. Stockton entertained the bridge club together with a few friends.

Spirited games of bridge was the diversion of the afternoon, with Mrs. W. G. Street answering to roll call with high score.

Shasta daisies and fern were used for decorations.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Stockton were: Mesdames W. G. Street, F. G. Sadler, E. S. Rowe, Pat Boone, John Arnett, P. W. Walker, J. C. Whicker, W. H. Wiseman, T. Wade Potter, K. F. Allbright, S. J. Farquhar, Bill Chesher, W. H. Rutledge, C. E. Cooper, Ray Jones, Miss Lois Farquhar, and the hostess.

Lovely refreshments of angel food cake, peach sherbet, topped with pineapple whip was served.

SAND HILL PICNIC

A number of young people enjoyed a picnic in the sand hills near Olton Wednesday night.

The evening was spent roasting marshmallows and weiners, also delicious lunches consisting of sandwiches, potato chips and pickles were prepared by the girls and soda pop was served. Following the picnic they accompanied Miss Edna Davis to her home near Olton.

The following were present: Misses Vesta Henson, Maurine Irvin, Lois Teal, Edna Davis, Lorene Eagan, and Quinton Bellomy, Wayne Harless, Lee Harris, Kenneth Houk and Lynn Dobbs.

With the girls all working, young whippersnappers may get the notion that a helpmeet is one who will help meet the expenses.

It does absolutely no good to try to guess a woman's age. No man would have the courage to tell the truth if he were certain of it.

Long hair, says a woman's page note, will come back slowly, if at all. Bobbed young ladies who are trying to grow it already knew that.

So live that you can get sick and be delicious without later worrying over what you said.

Among the books with unhappy endings are check books.

CHEVROLET

Hour after hour over any road -and every mile a pleasure

At every speed, the Bigger and Better Chevrolet holds the road with a surety that is a revelation—for it is built on a wheelbase of 107 inches, and the body is balanced on four long semi-elliptic shock absorber springs, set parallel to the frame. It steers with the weight of a hand—for the worm and gear steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout. And it sweeps along at high speeds for hour after hour without the slightest sense of forcing or fatigue—always under the complete control of its big non-locking 4-wheel brakes. THE PERFECT CITY

Any city which hopes to become a beautiful, well-ordered, free, organic municipality must accept new standards and find ways and means of applying them to itself. Certain it is that any limitations placed upon a progressive municipality should be broad enough to make it possible to undertake such steps, in the interest of future development, as are necessary to put into constructive operation the new standards which are generally accepted.

In the final analysis, it must be clear that a city which makes wise use of its opportunities imposes no real burden upon anyone.

Littlefield is not a perfect city. There is no perfect city. But when the perfect city is evolved there is no reason why Littlefield should not be that city. Perfection is not mere ly a matter of population. To the contrary, the perfect city may be the smallest, but it must be the best place in which to live, the most satisfactory place in which to work and transact business and the most attractive place for visitors. It must be the city which stands out prominently as the city of friendliness and neighborliness—the city that loves to give attention to the little things that make visitors and sojourners desire to return into its fold on every possible occasion. It must be the city with the love of service developed to as high a degree as any city anywhere may hope for and expect.

Cities have the ambition to ascend to great heights when they have built their foundation with an understanding of the main essentials which go into the development of municipal prestige and good will. Without these attributes some cities may become richer and larger, but they do not and can not become better.

SEND CHILDREN TO BED EARLY

Children, aged 4 years, need 12 hours sleep a day; aged 5 to 7, 11 to 12 hours; 8 to 11, 10 to 11 hours; and 12 to 14, 9 to 10 hours. Children grow mainly while sleeping or resting.

Do you want yours to grow up stunted? Tired children learn badly and often drift to the bottom of the class, do you want yours to grow up stupid? When children go to bed late their sleep is often disturbed by dreams and they do not get complete rest. Do you want yours to sleep badly and become nervous?

Sufficient sleep draws a child upward and onward in school and in home life. Insufficient sleep drags it backward and downward; which way do you want your child to go? Tired children are often only tired children; test the truth of this.

That a neighbor's child is sent to bed late is not a good reason for sending your child to bed late; two wrongs do not make a right. Going to bed late is a bad habit, which may be difficult to cure; persevere till you succeed in curing it.

THE TRIAL MARRIAGE LOVER

Some thinkers favor trial or temporary marriages. What will the average young woman say, when a suitor comes along offering a proposition with this string attached to it?

A young woman approached with an offer of marriage wants to see some display of ardor. She asks whether her suitor is merely afflicted with a passing fancy, or does he really want her? She wants to hear the traditional protestations of eternal fealty. She is looking for an affection that is going to last, in the sweet old phrase, "forever and a day."

Now when the trial marriage lover comes along with his cautious proposition, that he is willing to love and cherish until he gets tired of it, the offer does not sound so exciting. It fails to give the traditional thrill.

The girl will ask, if he is so uncertain and wavering in this moment which according to all reports should be one of passion, what will he be after the honeymoon has passed, and the rose has faded out of the sky, and he sees her in her old blue dress, and the muffins are hard and the coffee cold, and both are tired and cross?

Similarly the fellow who is much in love with a girl, is going to get a cold splash on his fiery emotion, if she will only consent to try it for awhile and see how she likes it. True love does not like "ifs" and "buts."

The wise old uncle would say: "Go slow, young folks. If you have so many doubts and fears, it may not be the real thing. If you wait a few weeks or months, someone may come along in whose presence all your doubts vanish."

SUGAR FROM AIR

What will the chemists and scientists promise the world next?

Now comes a report that German chemists have found a way to make sugar from the hydrogen and oxygen in the air. It sounds like a fairy tale and yet when we stop to think of it, plants that we now get our sugar from get it from the air through hydrogen and oxygen. So if plants can do it the chemists ought to be able to.

Nothing hits the average Littlefield family closer than its sugar supply, and if it is true that science will soon be making it possible from a supply that is endless—the air—then it ought to come as mighty good news to every member of every family.

We are living in an age of modern miracles, don't forget that. The wisest of men no longer scoff, and neither do they say "it can't be done." So don't be surprised if before long the cane patch and the beet fields have a new competitor, and one that may also make living costs a little lighter on your pocketbook.

"When I looked out of the window Johnny, I was glad to see you playing marbles with little Eddie."

"We wuzn't playing marbles, we just had a fight an' I was helpin' Eddie to pick up his teeth."

THE VALUATION OF LAMB COUNTY IS INCREASED

The valuation of property in Lamb county will run close around $7,500,000, according to a statement made last week by County Tax Assessor L. Gattis.

Mr. Gattis stated he had not yet completely checked his records, but confident they would show an increased value around $500,000. He said there are more individual renditions than last year, and the rolls will be less on the unrendered portion than ever before, also there has been better response from non-resident property owners.

Mr. Gattis has made a personal visit of the property owners throughout the county for their renditions, to which he attributes a large percentage of the increased rendition. But what the state tax rate for next year will not be known until July 28, but the county rate will remain the same.

MAGEE-BARNARD

The marriage of Miss Louise Magee to Merrill M. Barnard of Fort Worth was solemnized Sunday morning, July 1, at nine o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Pat Magee, 1411 Ave. M, Lubbock, Texas with Dr. John C. Granbery of Texas Technological college officiating in the ring ceremony.

Mrs. Will M. Tucker played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" as the bride and bridegroom entered, and Schumann's "Traumerei" during the ceremony.

The bride wore a navy blue georgette ensemble with beige accessories. A three course wedding breakfast was served after the wedding at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. H. Whiteside, and Mr. and Mrs. Barnard then left for a trip to New Mexico and South Texas, after which they will return to Fort Worth, where they will be at home to their many friends.

Mrs. Barnard is a graduate of West Texas State Teachers College and has studied at the University of California. For the past year Mrs. Barnard has been secretary to the Liberal Arts Faculty of Texas Technological College. She was teacher of Spanish in the Littlefield schools for two years.

Mr. Barnard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Barnard of Quanah, Texas. He is a graduate of A. & M. College in electrical engineering, and is now in the employ of Northern Texas Traction Company, as statistician.

CHURCH OF CHRIST PLANS BIG CAMP MEET IN AUG.

Architect M. L. Waller, Business Manager R. O. Conner and College Attorney Judge H. E. Spafford, all of Dallas, were in Littlefield Tuesday completing passing of titles to some of the land recently turned to the Littlefield College corporation.

These gentlemen expressed their pleasure of the businesslike manner in which the 1,416 acre grant was handled by the local citizens, and stated they were no going to push the college buildings to completion as rapidly as possible. One of the dormitories is now ready for the roof, and the second story of the other one was raised Tuesday. Bids are now being considered for excavating the basement of the administration building, and as soon as the foundation for this is laid work will start on some of the teacherages.

Plans are now being formed for a big camp meeting to be held on the college grounds to begin August 17th. It is planned to erect a big arbor for that purpose. Several of the leading preachers of the Church of Christ are to be present and there will be member attendants from all over Texas and many adjoining states.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

The Presbyterian ladies met at the home of Mrs. C. C. Clements Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Fulton gave a very interesting lesson on the study book, and Mrs. H. W. Wiseman led the devotional, which was on "The Prayers of Jesus."

Sherbet and cake were served to the following members: Mrs. Charlie Barber, Mrs. K. F. Allbright, Mrs. Doc Miller, Mrs. W. G. Street, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, Mrs. H. W. Wiseman, and the hostess, Mrs. Clements, also to the following guests: Mrs. Otha Key, Mrs. Cooper Cluck, of Georgetown and Rev. Fulton.

DOES BREEDING TELL?

By F. W. KAZMEIER, Bryan, Texas

The question of making a living is taking on a more serious outlook every year. Each year there are more people in the world that must be fed. Everybody eats eggs and chickens, the consuming public, will some day eat more eggs and chickens. These facts only help bring out the fact that a good flock of chickens is a necessity and can readily be looked upon as a source of great income.

Do you keep mongrel chickens, ducks mixture, all kinds, all sizes, all ages, all types, all colors, so-called just eating or crazy quilt chickens? Ask yourself that question. Go out and count them, find out how many you have.

I am more convinced than ever, that a large number of people still believe in mixed chickens. We have tried to reason out why so many people want to waste time with mongrel chickens. We have tried to look at it from their viewpoint, but are at a loss to even begin to understand.

We cannot find one good reason or justification for the flocks of mongrel hens on the farm.

The Mongrel Flock

1. Are poor layers, as an average producing less than 100 eggs in a year.
 2. They eat just as much feed as pure-bred chickens.
 3. They require just as much room and just as good care.
 4. Good feed is money wasted, when fed to a flock of mongrel, mixed or non-descript fowls.
 5. Good care is time wasted when devoted to a dukes mixture flock of chickens.
- What kind of breeding do they have? Answer, nobody knows, they come and go by accident. Their parents or ancestors are no good, how can the offspring be much better.
7. They are unsightly, because they are mixed in color and type.
 8. They produce a mixed lot of eggs, bringing an inferior price upon the market.
 9. You cannot enter them in a poultry show, because no poultry show management will tolerate them. If you try, you will find you cannot even name them.
 10. As a general rule they are of a lowered vitality and sickly.
 11. They are all ages, most of them too old to be able to get into nest boxes.
 12. Mongrel hens, lay most of their few eggs in Spring and early Summer when eggs are cheap.
 13. You cannot sell any for breeding purposes, because nobody wants them.
 14. They are bred for speed, rather than egg-production.
 15. They are a money losing proposition under even the most favorable conditions.
 16. Why don't you enter some of your mongrel flocks, at your Fair or in an Egg-Laying Contest?
 17. Why is the average owner of a mongrel flock ashamed of them? Why does he lack pride in such a flock.

The Pure-Bred Flock

1. A flock of pure-bred hens, especially from a trapnested strain will produce from 140 to 180 eggs per hen per year. The production over 100 eggs per hen per year is profit.
2. They produce large eggs of uniform color and size, that command a premium in price. A premium of 5 cents per dozen for such eggs is easily available to every producer. Figuring on an average production of 12 dozen eggs per hen per year, this is an extra profit of 60 cents per hen each year.
3. The pure-bred hen is bred for egg-production and meat production. She is a profitable meat producer. Her carcass makes a neater appearance on the table.
4. Her products are in greater demand by the consuming public.
5. Because of uniformity her product is marketed more readily, the product permits of pooling and marketing in large quantities.
6. She is bred to produce eggs economically, for the lowest consumption of feed.
7. Pure-bred stock is eligible to be entered at Fairs, Poultry Shows and Egg-Laying Contests.
8. Pure-bred flocks are a source of continual pride to the owner.
9. They require no more house room than a flock of mongrel hens.
10. They are bred for constitutional vigor, health and stamina.
11. Pure-bred-flocks, fed a good feed cannot help but produce a profit. They are bred for that purpose.
12. They respond to good care and attention.
13. They are bred for a purpose and along definite lines, so they will reproduce their characteristics in the offspring. You know what you have and what you are going to get.
14. Pure-bred flocks, create a demand for breeding stock, eggs for hatching and baby chicks.

15. They are bred for the useful as well as beautiful.
16. Why is the owner of a pure-bred flock always proud to show them?
17. They produce a large number of their eggs in the Fall and Winter when eggs bring a good price.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

Mrs. L. W. Jordan gave her Sunday school class of young married women a picnic at Bull dam, Thursday evening, the entire adult class being their guests.

About 100 members and guests enjoyed the old fashioned outdoor games and the wonderful picnic lunch. The soda pop was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McCaskill as a gift to the picnic.

The ladies cut out and made 12 garments for Buckner's orphan home, also made several quilts.

YOUR INTEREST IN "THE OTHER FELLOW"

No business today, regardless of how thoroughly it may be introched in the progress and prosperity of the country, can stand alone or fall alone. A loss of efficiency in one industry not only hurts that enterprise itself but slows up every other key industry shaking the credit foundations of the nation and causing unemployment, lower wages and eventually higher prices. The link between all industries, therefore, must be particularly close and dependent. The closer the relationship becomes, the greater the efficiency and progress that can be developed until we have an interrelationship of all business life that is the backbone of all progress.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO HAVE HEARING ON PAVEMENT FRI.

At the regular meeting of the City Commissioners, held Tuesday night, a petition carrying names of about 40 per cent of the property owners in the paving district, was presented by Art Chesher, in substance asking for a reconsideration of the paving contract recently let to the Dozier Construction Co.

It was the statement of Mr. Chesher that he favored the use of brick for paving, rather than that of concrete, and that others on the petition were of similar mind.

Investigation of the petition revealed the fact that some of the property owner's names who appeared on the petition were signed by others and without their authority, while still others made personal representation to members of the Commission that they did not understand the details of the petition and wished their names removed therefrom. However, in as much as the petition had been presented to the city officials, it was deemed advisable that it should be given consideration, and a friendly but unofficial meeting of all property owners within the paving district now being improved is called at the City hall for Friday night at 8 o'clock, beginning at eight o'clock. All property owners within the district are urged to attend and freely express their opinions.

The City Commission also ordered the small building now located on the vacant lot, opposite the city hall, to be removed by August 1st, and agreed with certain citizens present, if the business men would defray the expense of material purchase, the city would do the work and install public toilets on the rear on the city's vacant lot, also public watering trough and drinking fountain, while the entire lot would be cleared for the accommodation of visitors and country patrons coming to Littlefield.

THREE LFD. CITS. AGREE THAT MODERN WOMEN OF TODAY ARE QUITE SELF-CENTERED WIVES DIFFERENT FROM THOSE THEY HAVE

The ideal wife is just as possible now as she ever was, declared three representative citizens the other day. These three men, accompanied by a representative of this newspaper, were imbibing a morning quaff of "coke" at Stokes watering bar when the subject was arised.

They were all married, just how satisfactorily is unknown, yet surely quite decidedly so—and evidently had been giving the subject of matrimony some recent serious consideration—for unknown reasons.

One citizen, who apparently had investigated the subject sufficiently to form decisive and logical conclusions declared there were three types of wives to be found today: The homemaker, or ideal type; the jazz or can-opener type; the nagging type; the drudge type; and the baby doll type. This classification seemed to be admitted by the other two men of the conversation.

Citizen No. 2 thought the women of today were very much what the men had made them, or, rather, permitted them to be. He was frank to admit that he didn't believe in women's suffrage, neither did his friend wife while on the other hand, he insisted the women should have the privilege of voting largely because the men hadn't taken care of them as they should.

"Under the force of the economic change of today," he said, "women are consciously or unconsciously becoming more self-centered. Marrying for love today has quite a different interpretation from what it had twenty years ago, when I became a benedict. Now days the average man establishes a financial foundation before asking the woman of his choice to share his lot. Men of today are more inclined to select wives from an ornamental viewpoint than that of a co-laborer. Modern conveniences and household improvements have given women more freedom than they enjoyed a few years ago. I don't mean by that, that a man necessarily chooses as a wife with a pretty face; the beauty does attract. Most men do not expect their wives now days to begin with nothing and go through a period of slaving and saving before they start in with that of possession and enjoyment. Consequently the women of today naturally have more of a feeling of self-importance and are more of a demanding type than formerly."

Citizen No.3 was inclined to admit the logic of his fellow citizen, and franklly admitted that the rolling-pin had done a lot for him. "Men marry today just as they did 30 years ago when I got my wife," he said. "They marry for love. The finest woman and the smartest woman, is not always the prettiest woman, but if she is the good woman she should be to her husband she is the prettiest woman in all the world."

"What about this well propounded theory of 'catching 'em young, treating 'em rough, and telling 'em nothing," queried the newspaper scribe. Pretty nifty, they all agreed; but none thought it advisable to try it.

Citizen No. 1 chirping in again, stated he did not believe modern girls were the "bunk" when it came to making wives out of them. "They are just as much ideals today as they were when I was married. However, the ideal of the twentieth century has changed very much since the time when I took my bride. I don't want any of it. The old style courting and the old style wife suits me best; let these modern chaps set up their own ideals and live up to them."

And so it was agreed.

KEEPING FRUIT

One of our subscribers, anxious to be helpful when possible, sends in some good advice about keeping fruit. It sounds reasonable and may prove of much value to housewives around Littlefield who are always interested in such things. "It is very common," she writes, "for farmers to keep vegetables in sand over winter, yet few realize that fruits can be kept fresh for a long time the same way.

Oranges, apples, lemons and sweet potatoes can be kept for months. The rinds being porous, the dry sand absorbs the liquid in the fruit that would otherwise cause decomposition. The fruit must not be wrapped in paper but let the bare rind come in contact with the sand. I put a layer of sand about six inches deep, then

Published in the interests of the People of LAMB COUNTY by CINCERO SMITH LUMBER CO. L. K. WHITAKER, Manager

If you are going to celebrate Fathers Day we would suggest that you begin by letting the old boy sleep late. Then he is sure to wake up with a grouch. There will be no hot water for his shave and the Sunday paper which you have let the kids have to keep them quiet will be in a mess. Give him cold fried eggs for breakfast and the day will be utterly ruined.

A. W. May, manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber yard in Lubbock, is here this week assisting in invoicing. The record show a pretty good business last year, but we are always looking for more.

Got a little slack time? Good opportunity now for doing a little painting on the house or some of the outbuildings. Nothing like making the place more attractive—and we surely have the paint—inside or outside variety and the best that is made.

THEIR TROUBLE
Immaturity is the one thing the modern young people must overcome. That accomplished, they will be all right.
