As a whole they agreed with the actions taken by the President and the United States. Below are the answers received to the question "What is your opinion of the Cuban situation?"

Miss Minton - Why do you know how to spell antibiotic so well??

Bob and Ronald, how could you have done what you did at the show Saturday night?

Virginia, why drag up and down 15th street all day???

Rhonda - Who's coat did you have Sunday night???

Sharon Norried - Jr - I don't like it! Of course no one likes it. Littlefield (at least some of the high school students) don't take it seriously. They laugh and make fun when it's nothing to make fun of. I for one am glad it's almost over.

Jack Shipp - Well, I think that the United States should keep its stand on the Cuban situation and not back down.

Troy Jones - We ought to blow them all up.

Robert Bolton - I think that President Kennedy was right in his decision.

Tony Estrada - I don't want to go to war now but if I have to I will.

Donice Reast - I think the decision was right but it should have come long before it did.

Larry Shipp - I agree firmly with the decision of the President but I think we should listen to the terms of both parties before we do something drastic.

Charles Robinson - Give me liberty or give me death.

English 11 - 12, 21 - 22, 31-32, and 41-42 are taught in Littlefield High School. Everyone knows that, but what if someone were to ask why? Why is English taught in high school?

After all, anyone who has had at least 15 years contact with a language ought to have conquered it by now. Why isn't it replaced by another language for all students, or perhaps an entirely new subject? What is so important about conjugation, grammar, punctuation or sentence? How does it have any connection with the future?

Perhaps the answer lies in history. Look at the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution. Here were with in their hearts freedom bells were ringing, who were writing down on paper their ambitions, desires, and equitable law for their new born country.

What would they have done without the brilliant minds of such men as Hamilton, or Madison, who wrote down their declarations and grievances with the basic English essentials?

How long could these documents have been interpreted and preserved if they had misspelled or used bad grammar? What kind of foundations would it have been if it had faulty sentence structure?

The importance of English might be found in the present. What about the great authors and spokesmen of this nation?

In order to express their emotions, beliefs, or criticisms, they must know the methods of communicating them. Even in the simpler literature, such as fairy tales or modern fiction, the imagination has to have the

His ambition in life is to become a successful band director, and a very unusual incident in his life, in fact the most unusual, was the astounding day when the junior high drummers played "The High School Cadets" perfectly from beginning to end!!!

Metze lists his favorite pastime as playing in the Tech band and his hobby is skiing, although he has never made it to Bull Lake.

This year in LHS he plans to assist Professor Don Hayes and he stated that he has no future plans until "Uncle Sam" is finished with him. He enjoys being around musicians and thinks Littlefield could be improved by making a few repairs on Highway 84, since he has to drive over it every morning.

He was very much impressed with the school spirit shown in the first pep rally he attended, and that that he liked LHS fine so far, taking into consideration that the game between Littlefield and Levelland has not yet come to pass.

Once Mr. Metze came to Littlefield and took part in an assembly, but he somehow got the impression that he and his crew were considered rather . . . LOUD???

He and his wife attend the First Methodist Church at Levelland.

Band Assistant's Weeks Teacher

"Once I played as a pianist in a rock and roll band and now I play almost every type of music except rock and roll." These were the words of Mike Metze, assistant band director of LHS when he was interviewed as teacher of the week.

Metze comes to Littlefield from Lubbock where he attends Tech part time. He is a resident of Lubbock. He grew up mostly in Oklahoma and Levelland, and attended high school at Levelland.

He lists the most thrilling event of his life as the day he got married, and when asked what his most embarrassing moment was he simply said, "I

Creative Slowed Through Stages Of Growth

If your creative child seems to lose his creativity the moment he enters kindergarten or first grade, don't blame the teacher or the school. The cause is probably sex -- his sudden awareness of sex differences and the crisis he is facing because of it.

This advice is based on a recent research study conducted at the University of Minnesota and reported by Dr. E. Paul Torrance, director of the university's Bureau of Educational Research.

When children begin to notice sex differences -- when they learn that some activities are taboo for girls and others are not appropriate for boys -- that's when their ability to think creatively takes a sharp drop.

Usually that's around age five, the researchers found. The kind of behavior adults expect of a child that age represents a crisis that affects his creative abilities, the report found. Children in other countries experience similar crises when their behavior patterns are changed, the study indicated, but the patterns are different in different cultures.

For American youngsters, similar crises are reported to occur at ages 9, 13, and 17.

"It is interesting to note that each of the generalized drops occur at ages at which the transitions from one developmental stage to another begins," says Dr. Torrance. "The drop at about five occurs with the end of the childhood stage and the beginning of the juvenile stage with its demands for social accommodation and compromise and acceptance of authorities outside him. The second drop occurs with the onset of the pre - adolescent stage with its increased need for consensual validation, peer approval, identification with peers of the same sex, and conformity to peer norms," according to Dr. Torrance. The third occurs at the onset of adolescence with its increased anxieties and striving for approval of the opposite sex.

"We have observed," Dr. Torrance points out, "that concerns about sex appropriateness and emphasis on sex differences become tremendously inhibiting at about age five and continue into the beginning of the first grade."

When youngsters were asked to think of improvements that could be made in certain toys, "we found that boys at this age would frequently refuse to offer any suggestion for improving a nurse kit, and some girls similarly refused to think of ideas for improving a toy fire truck. Some of the more creative boys, however, first changed the nurse kit to a doctor's kit, after which it was quite Littlefield Wildcats stepped up into the number one challenger's position in District 1-AAA race. Although Dumas still remains the district favorite. They had a 34 - 0 victory over Levelland. The Wildcats were equally as impressive.

The Wildcats had entirely too much speed for the Perryton Rangers and scored a shocking 33 - 0 victory. Perryton was undefeated going into the game. But the Rangers had not played the rugged non - district schedule that Littlefield has.

The Demons felt like they played a poor game. They won but they did not look good doing it. The Coach was quite concerned with Littlefield after their showing against Perryton.

The Rangers came down to Littlefield riding a high horse. They, as you well know, got knocked off it.

The Wildcats are going to Dumas with one thing in mind, and that is to beat Dumas.

Philosopher Believes Khrushchev's Advisors Seeing Too Many TV Westerns

Editor's note: The Sand-Philosopher on his John-grass farm takes a look at Cuban situation this week from an odd viewpoint.

TV westerns. Not only have they been watching them, they believe them. They believe that the code of the west, TV version, prevails in the United States today and that a good man never shoots a bad man until the bad gun draws first. Even if the Marshal knows there are outlaws taking positions with rifles and shotguns on the roofs of every wooden building in town, he can't draw his gun on the leader walking toward him in the middle of main street until the leader draws first. Stepped in this Western lore, Mr. Khrushchev apparently thought our hands would be tied while he built launching sites in Cuba, and that our Old West code wouldn't allow us to go for our missiles until he went for his. The fact that this would be too late for us, was a thought that apparently never occurred to him. The way for world peace to be attained is for the TV producers to come up with some modern westerns, in which bounty hunters and the innocent homesteaders fight with guided missiles, and any time the Marshal finds out some outlaw is pouring concrete up in the hills for a launching pad aimed at Dodge City, his code now allows him to start shooting without waiting till the concrete sets and the outlaw goes for the firing pin.

Mr. Khrushchev has been badly advised. Somebody should have told him, everybody watches westerns over here, but nobody believes them. In these days, pouring concrete is the same as going for your gun.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

USDA Says Meat Prices Only Look High

Housewives may be surprised to learn that they are paying less for meat today than their mothers paid. According to Ed Uvacek, extension livestock marketing specialist, the proportion of the total family income that is spent for meat has dropped from 7 percent in 1920 to only 4 1/2 percent today, while the proportion spent for other consumer goods has increased four times.

At the same time, we are getting better quality meat and a wider selection to choose from at the retail market, the specialist adds. The U. S. Department of Agriculture presently grades about 50 percent of the beef, 15 percent of the veal and calf, and 33 percent of the lamb slaughtered in the U. S. These USDA grades for carcass beef are Prime, Choice, Good, Standard, Commercial, Utility, Cutter and Canner. Most of the Prime beef is used by hotels and restaurants while the Choice, Good, Standard and some Commercial beef is available to consumers at the retail counter, Uvacek says. Good cuts can be obtained from any of these grades but the lower grades are usually better for the cuts which are cooked slowly, while steaks are usually more tender if taken from the higher grades. Slaughter calves are graded Prime, Choice, Good, Standard, Utility and Cull but the consumer usually sees the appealing terms, calf, young fed tender beef, veal, and others at the meat counter. Most of the lambs marketed fall into the top three USDA grades. These are Prime, Choice and Good.

Pork is evaluated through the packer brand names and is not sold on a Federal graded basis according to Uvacek. Meat is a bargain today and any of the retail cuts can be appetizing if prepared properly. Local county home demonstration agents can supply information on meat cookery, concludes Uvacek.

Adverse Weather Effects Seen In Cotton Classing

The effect of the adverse weather conditions was seen in the samples received and classed this week according to Mr. W. K. Palmer, Officer - in - charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing office. Mr. Palmer stated that receipts had decreased since hands had been unable to work in the fields.

For the week ending October 26 the Lubbock Office classed 12,100 samples, Lamesa 2,700 samples, and Brownfield 4,600 samples. A total of 99,400 samples has been classed to date in the three offices. Last year on October 26, 327,000 samples had been classed.

The quality of the grades declined this week. For the week ending October 19, the white qualities accounted for 72 percent of the cotton classed; this past week the percentage of white qualities was only 41 percent. The light spotted qualities accounted for 57 percent of the cotton classed. Forty - six percent was Middling Light Spotted.

The average staple length improved slightly increasing from 30.2 to 30.4 thirty - seconds of an inch. Generally, staple length ranged from 29/32 to 1 inch in length with 15/16 and 31/32 of an inch accounting for 86 percent of the samples classed. Micronaire readings were still good with a slight improvement noted. Only 4 percent of the samples read under 3.5. Fifteen percent read in the 3.5 - 3.9 range, 46 percent 4.0 - 4.4, 30 percent 4.5 - 4.9 and 5 percent 5.0 - 5.4. Less than 5 percent of the samples classed were wasty.

The Lubbock Cotton Exchange reported 11,000 bales purchased for the week ending October 26. This was 6,700 bales more than the previous week and compares with 21,300 bales reported a year ago.

The price for Middling 1 inch remained unchanged at 32.30. A year ago it was 33.00. The quotation for the Light Spotted qualities are up 10 points. Quotations for some of the most predominant grades and staples are: Middling 15/16, 31.30, Middling 31/32 31.80, Strict Low Middling 15/16 30.20, Strict Low Middling 31/32 30.90, Middling Light Spotted 15/16 30.30, Middling Light Spotted 31/32, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 15/16 29.50, and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 31/32 29.75.

Storage Methods Can Influence Quality Of Cotton

It is time to think about next year's cotton plant - seed growers, reports Fred Elliott, cotton specialist for Texas Agricultural Extension Service, have already placed storage seed of good quality. Others will do the same as harvest moves into their bins.

To those who have not yet planted seed, Elliott suggests a first class house - cleaning job for the storage facilities. Cottonseed, he points out, should be stored only in bins that have been cleaned thoroughly of waste material such as old grain, trash, feed sacks, other seed or debris which furnish living quarters for insects. It is a good practice to "sweep down" the ceiling and walls and clean the floor of the bins to remove hidden waste. Use builder's molding to cover cracks to eliminate seed collecting in them, he explains. Waste grain, seed and other materials beneath and near bins should be destroyed.

For those who have stored seed, Elliott suggests that regular checks be made of the seed and facilities to make sure insect pests haven't moved in. Insects, he adds, are more likely to become a problem if a large percentage of the seed are cracked and if stored in bins which harbored insects at the time the seed were placed in storage.

The specialist says several chemicals are recommended for use in and around the storage bins before seed are stored. Others may be used as a dust to treat the seed when they are placed in storage while other in-secticides can be used to fumigate cottonseed which may have become infested with stored grain pests.

Seed treated with chemical dust should not be crushed or used for feed, emphasizes Elliott. Use caution, he adds, in fumigating cottonseed which will be used for planting purposes. Under certain conditions fumigants may lower the germination of the seed. Studies indicate that germination of seeds fumigated at high temperatures -- 80 deg. F. or above and at high moisture content -- 11 per cent or above may be reduced. Because the use of chemicals involve hazards, Elliott suggests that the local county agent be contacted for complete details on what and how to use recommended insecticides.

Milton Vaughn Works On Doctor's Degree

Milton D. Vaughn, Oklahoma State University engineering graduate student from Littlefield, is assisting on a research project which may prove invaluable to industrial engineers. The research will validate proposed classification systems suggested by Dr. Paul M. Stafford, Oklahoma State professor of industrial engineering and management. The project is being supported with a grant from the Academy of Management. The classification system basically divides managerial work into related and unrelated communication activities. Each activity, in turn, is divided into three sub classes which are highly detailed and complex. Vaughn is evaluating various nonmanual and nonrepetitive tasks of management. Daily activity logs are being compiled from more than 50 business executives. These logs will be analyzed according to the classification system. Vaughn explained, "By statistically analyzing the managerial work patterns of executives, validity and usefulness of the classification system will be indicated. A pilot study revealed the proposed classification system permits quantification of an executive's work pattern." The system originally was set forth by Dr. Stafford to improve understanding, classification, and application of presently available knowledge in the field of management. "We believe this research will show how effective the classification system is for evaluating and measuring both nonrepetitive and nonmanual work," Vaughn said. Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Vaughn, Rt. 2 Littlefield, was graduated from Littlefield High school, in 1955, and received his B. S. degree in engineering from Texas Technological College in 1959. At Texas Tech he played varsity football. He was awarded his M. S. degree by Kansas State University, and started his predoctoral course at Oklahoma State, in 1961.

QUESTION

think Kennedy did the right thing and I think he should have set up a blockade in Cuba a long time ago.
Rhonda Ammons - Jr - I think that we should have started doing something about this mess a long time ago.
Janice Burks, Sr - I agree with the President's decision. When we stand up to Russia, they back down. I only hope it can be worked out peacefully because I don't want to be in an atomic war.
Barbara Brown - Sr - I agree with the President's decision, but I think it came too late. I hope Russia will back down so the countries under their government will come over to our side.
Watzell Kennedy - Sr - I think the Cuban situation is really serious but I don't think Khrushchev wants a war any more than we do.
Cynthia Jordan - Sr - I think something should have been done long before now, but I do not believe Khrushchev is so stubborn as to start another war.
Tim Chambers - Jr - President Kennedy did right.
Dicky Montgomery - Jr - I thought it might cause a war, but it didn't so I guess it is alright.
Rex Gilstrap - I am in agreement with the government policy pertaining to Cuba; however, it should have been instigated several months ago, not only in Cuba but anywhere that we are deprived of our rights and our citizens or country is endangered by ruthless barbarians who intend to bury us, if they can.
Jane Brandt - Sr - It is a mess!
Sharon Stokes - Sr - I think it's about time we took a stand and I think we'll come out ahead if we don't back down.
Pat Thornton - Sr - It's about time that we take a stand for our beliefs. We really should have taken a stand when we first found out that they had bases over there. Now that we've waited so long it could result in an unwanted war.
Mike McGaugh - Sr - The Cuban people have stepped out of line and it is up to the United States to put them under control before it means disaster for all of us. I feel that we must make a stand against communist ideas before they control America.
Benny Eddings - Soph - I think the Cubans are chicken when it comes to fighting. If they didn't back off it would have started a war.
Irene Spencer - Sr - I think it is time for the United States to stand up for what is right. We should have done this before Kennedy became president. The people should not blame Kennedy for anything, because our other president probably would have given in to Russia.
Mrs. Burks - I feel somewhat relieved about the Cuban situation. I hope Khrushchev will keep his promise and dismantle the missile bases.
Lorraine Purdy - Jr - I think Kennedy should have put a blockade around Cuba long before he did.
Craig Brestrup - I think that the President did the right thing though I believe he did it too late. He should have carried through on the first invasion.
Billy Thompson - I think the President made the right move and I hope it is not too late.

legitimate and respectable to think of ideas. Thus we see that whole areas of experience became taboo and thinking thereby inhibited.
Another inhibiting factor in young children, Dr. Torrance said, was found to be the forced stifling of fantasy. "Many children at this age (five) are inhibited in their thinking because they have been warned harshly by parents and teachers that they must eliminate fantasy. Although we are interested in developing a sound type of creativity, we need to keep fantasy alive until the child's mental development is such that he can engage in this sound type of realistic creative thinking."

Carter Explains Democratic Primary Voting Law

EVERY PERSON WHO VOTED IN THE DEMOCRAT PRIMARY HAS NOT ONLY A LEGAL, BUT ALSO A MORAL RIGHT TO VOTE REPUBLICAN ON NOVEMBER 6, ACCORDING TO W. H. CARTER, REPUBLICAN COUNTY CHAIRMAN OF LAMB COUNTY.

MR. CARTER SAID THAT THE LAW WAS QUITE CLEAR, "IN THE CASES OF WESTERMAN V. MIMS, 227 S. W. 178 (Sup. Ct. 1921), and WEATHERLY V. FULGHAM, 271 S. W. 2d 938 (Sup. Ct. 1954), THE TEXAS SUPREME COURT HELD THAT THERE WAS NO LEGAL OBLIGATION BINDING THE VOTER IN THE DEMOCRAT PRIMARY TO SUPPORT THE NOMINEE OF THE PRIMARY."

HAVE ANSWERED THIS QUESTION BY HOLDING THAT THE PLEDGE TAKEN AT THE TIME OF VOTING IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION "DOES NOT CREATE A LEGAL OBLIGATION."

"RECENTLY GOVERNOR DANIEL REPEATED THAT OPINION BY SAYING THAT THE PLEDGE ON THE PRIMARY BALLOT DOES NOT OBLIGATE ANYONE "LEGALLY OR MORALLY" WHETHER HE VOTED IN THE DEMOCRAT PRIMARY OR NOT."

"THIS HAS ALWAYS BEEN THE LAW," SAID MR. CARTER. "IT IS THE CORNERSTONE OF OUR AMERICAN FREEDOM THAT A CITIZEN'S SECRET BALLOT IS SACRED AND THAT HE IS FREE TO VOTE AS HE CHOOSES . . . FREE TO SPLIT HIS TICKET, IF HE WISHES . . . FREE TO CHANGE HIS MIND . . . FREE TO CHANGE HIS PARTY, WHEN HE CHOOSES . . ."

"Your Attitude Makes A Difference"

BY REV. D. L. KREEGER

REV. D. L. KREEGER

It was God's time for the temple to be built. The Jews wanted the temple to be built. But a wrong attitude resulted in a work stoppage. The people absolved themselves of responsibility by saying "The time is not come, the time that the Lord's house should be built" (Haggai 1:2).

The "it isn't the time" attitude resulted from people looking to circumstances instead of to God. Cyrus, king of Persia, had made a proclamation that the temple should be built (Ezra 1:1,2). It was a known fact that the decree which a king established could not be changed (Daniel 6:15). Yet, when the adversaries of Judah opposed the Jews and secured a letter ordering the work to stop, the Jews gave up, saying, "It isn't the time." Not to look to God in the testing hours is to become the victim of circumstances and fail.

One of the results of the "it isn't the time" attitude was that the Jews put personal interests first. Haggai chided the people by saying, "Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your ceiled houses, and this house lie waste?" (Haggai 1:4). It is almost automatic that when people stop seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, they start seeking their own interests. It may well be that it was the "it isn't the time" attitude which made Peter resolve to go back to his former occupation (John 21:3).

The Jews of the Restoration Era would be the first to warn that the attitude they adopted was most disappointing. Haggai focused attention on the failure when he said, "Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little; and when ye brought it home, I did blow upon it. Why?

saith the Lord of Hosts. Because of mine house that is waste, and ye run every man unto his own house" (Haggai 1:9).

Through the prophetic ministry of Haggai the Jews finally began to say, "It is time." God responded to the change in attitude by saying, "I am with you" (Haggai 2:4), and the temple was built.

Today, more than ever before, God is calling His people to task of fulfilling the Great Commission of, "Go ye, and preach the Gospel to every creature . . ." (Mark 16:15). May we heed the enlightening words of Paul the Apostle as he speaks to the church at Rome, "And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we first believed. The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light." (Romans 13:11,12).

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Tex. -- Attorney General Will Wilson issued an opinion that the Constitution Party of Texas cannot nominate members for district offices at its state convention. But the opinion came a bit late. Election ballots already have been printed, and the tardy nominations are listed. Secretary of State P. Frank Lake made the request for an opinion on Constitutional Party nomination procedure in September. The "third party" didn't release its list of nominations until early summer, whereas Republicans and Democrats had to comply with a law that says candidates must announce by the second Monday of February.

According to Wilson, the same law applies to the Constitutional Party. HIGH COST OF LEARNING -- Tuition for Texas' 20 state universities and colleges may be doubled by the time members of the 1964 high school graduating classes are ready to enroll. Texas Commission on Higher Education decided to ask the Legislature to double tuition -- from $50 to $100 a semester -- and increase appropriations by 55 per cent during 1964 - 65.

Commission approved a $4,000,000 boost in the previously recommended biennial budget of $162,000,000; agreed to raise college presidents' salaries and ordered its staff to look into the elimination of remedial writing and reading and tours from college curriculums. Request for more money came after it was noted that this fall's enrollment of 110,000 students in 19 colleges was an increase of 6 per cent over last year, and the "war babies" will soon be knocking at the doors.

DEFICIT RISES -- Deficit in the State's General Revenue fund increased by almost $13,000,000 during mid - October, according to a report from State Treasurer Jesse James. On October 9, the State was in the red to the tune of $41,250,349. By October 24, the deficit was $54,074,283. MAP PROJECT PUSHED -- Absence of topographic maps of the entire state may be hold-train members of city police departments, sheriff's departments, rescue squads and other groups. HIGHWAY HOME HELP -- Property owners and tenants who become displaced by Interstate Highway right-of-way acquisition now are entitled to help from district engineers of the State Highway Department.

In compliance with the 1962 Federal Aid Highway Act, people who must give up their homes or property because of right-of-way acquisition can get relocation assistance. Assistance will include listings of available rental sale properties, referrals to services such as local housing bureaus and chambers of commerce and similar advisory aid. MOST SCENIC -- Two Texas highways are finalists in Parade Magazine's Scenic Highway Award contest, and rank among the 20 "most scenic" in the U. S.

One is Interstate Highway 45 "The Way of the Pines" which runs through a wooded area southeast of Huntsville. The other is a section of F. M. Road 170, "El Camino del Rio" which traverses rough country along the Rio Grande between Lajitas and Redford. A-G RULINGS -- Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba asked the attorney general whether newspaper publication of a new State Constitution would be required before one could be adopted. "It would not," says Wilson.

A male juvenile, between 10 and 17, or a female juvenile, between 10 and 18, cannot be tried in a county court for negligent homicide in the second degree, Wellington County Attorney R. L. Templeton was informed. A county court cannot commit a person to a mental hospital for temporary hospitalization for any longer than 90 days.

A school district which does not teach high school grades cannot cancel or annul the transfer of one of its resident scholastics to a school district which provides high school grades. JOB TRAINING OFFERED -- A plan to discourage high school "drop-outs" and retrain adult workers was implemented when the Texas Employment Commission and the Texas Education Agency appointed an advisory committee to assist in carrying out the terms of the 1962 Manpower Development and Training Act.

Act, which became effective on August 1, was designed to provide occupational training in skills which can be learned in 52 weeks. Adult students who show satisfactory progress may be entitled to unemployment compensation while attending classes. State Vocational Agency will arrange for facilities and instructors for local schools, but training will be under the complete direction of local educational systems.

Training program for household appliance repairmen and for auto mechanics already are in operation, the former in Corpus Christi and the latter in El Paso. CODE REVISIONS -- Texas State Bar officers and directors have selected revisions in the Code of Criminal Procedure as number one on its 12-point legislative program for 1963. Bar president Leon Jaworski said "There is particular need for criminal procedure reforms in our State."

er election. That is an opinion handed down by Gov. Price Daniel when he was attorney general of Texas. State Republican chairman Tad Smith of El Paso and other Republican leaders, are using the "Democratic" decision as grounds to urge voters to vote however they please on record.

Legislature also will be asked to repeal acts of its last regular session making jury findings, instead of court findings, conclusive in custody cases. ENFORCEMENT FUND -- Railroad Commissioner Bill Murray says an enforcement tax of 1¢ per barrel of oil is not needed.

According to Murray there would be enough money for oil and gas law enforcement if the Legislature would allocate all the funds collected for the purpose. His comments were inspired by the enforcement tax of 1¢ per barrel of oil recommended by the Gregg County grand jury.

Legislature authorized the commission to take $300,000 a year from the gas utilities fund to supplement oil enforcement tax income. Chairman Murray feels that the commission's main need is for 15 more inspectors, to supplement its staff recently bolstered by 15 men.

PLEDGE "NOT BINDING" -- A party primary pledge is not binding on a voter at the general election. That is an opinion handed down by Gov. Price Daniel when he was attorney general of Texas. State Republican chairman Tad Smith of El Paso and other Republican leaders, are using the "Democratic" decision as grounds to urge voters to vote however they please on record.

WORDS that COMFORT He brings them unto their desired haven. PSALM 107:30 There is tranquility in our surroundings that helps bring peace of mind. HAMMONS FUNERAL HOME

November 6, regardless of party primary pledges. Daniel's opinion noted that the courts of Texas have answered this question by holding "that the pledge... does not create a legal obligation."
