Lamb County Well Represented At Farmers Short Course This Week

Petition Presented To Commission At Yesterday's Meeting

Session Underway From Sunday Until Saturday, July 19

Bennie Lou Davis, Delegate From Amherst Club Will Be On Program

Seven home demonstration club members of the Lamb County Clubs left Lubbock, Saturday with club women from other counties of this district for the annual farmer's Short Course in College Station Texas. The women went by chartered busses, arriving in College Station Saturday night to be presented for the opening services at 10:00 a. m. Sunday.

Tours of the A. and M. Campus were made during Sunday afternoon. The programs for the week opened at 7:45 Monday morning with Land Use Planning and Food and Defense as the themes for the week. The adult session closed Tuesday night. The majority of the women returned to their homes in Lamb County Wednesday night while several will return a day later after having made a short trip to Galveston.

The County Home Demonstration Agent and both the County Agent and Assistant County Agent attended an agents conference Wednesday. The agents will however attend the entire session from Sunday July 13 until Saturday July 19.

The four 4-H Club members and their sponsor left Littlefield Tuesday to attend meetings in College Station for two days. The girls were four days on the road and will return home Sunday July 20. Bennie Lou Davis, Amherst 4-H Senior Club member who is a delegate from her club will appear on the short course program, "How Some 4-H Club Members Make Money". Bennie Lou has been quite successful with her poultry flock which she has been working with this summer.

Will Leave Monday For Richmond, Ind.

The Littlefield School Board received the message Wednesday that the 17 new buses purchased by it would be ready for delivery next week; and plans are underway for a delegation of 22 men, including members of the School Board, to go to Richmond, Ind. to take delivery of the school trucks.

The group will leave here Monday over the Santa Fe Railway for Richmond, Ind.

At a late hour Wednesday, it could not be determined who would make up the delegation, but reports indicate that included in the group will be Lon Smith, President of the Littlefield School Board, Carl Arnold, Secretary of the Board, and Ben Lyman and Frank Lehman members.

Aluminum Collection To Start In County Next Monday, July 21

"National Defense Aluminum Collection" will start in Lamb County next Monday, July 21, and will continue through Saturday, July 26, Judge Stanley A. Doss, county chairman, announced Wednesday.

Judge Doss was recently appointed chairman of the county defense aluminum collection campaign by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Aluminum scrap is valuable at this time, and it is scarce at smelting plants, where National Defense projects are underway.

Boys from the local CCC camp will assist county committeemen in the collection of the aluminum next week.

The following men have been named by Judge Doss in the various communities, to assist in this project.

Chiggers Help Initiate New Texas Citizen Into Wonders Of This State

Now we'll tell one on a fellow publisher, August H. Olson, new publisher of the Coleman Democrat-Voice who came to this city a few months ago from Minnesota to succeed H. H. Jackson.

This newspaper is indebted to three sources for the privilege of telling this story to Leader readers: W. T. (West Texas) Jones Jr., who has lived here so many years he has the map of Littlefield all over his cheerful countenance; to the publisher of the Cross Plains newspaper, and to W. T. Jones, Sr., who brought a clipping from the Cross Plains newspaper to the editor of the Leader.

Most folks hereabouts know by experience, or general knowledge, that chiggers are very, very little bugs that dig down into the skin of its victim. And, say, my, chiggers, see chiggers, and how!

City Commission Issues Statement Relative To Municipal Light Plant

TO THE CITIZENS OF LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS

For several months past your City Commission, very ably assisted by the CITIZENS LIGHT PLANT COMMITTEE, has thoroughly investigated the benefits which some of our neighboring towns are deriving by owning and operating MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANTS, and we are glad to tell you now that these benefits are real, and so real, that many of the places where we looked into the matter, are beginning to lower taxes, while at the same time charging rates that in many cases, are lower than our rates.

Brother Of C. M. Edmonds Dies At Lancaster Saturday

Tom Edwards, oldest brother of C. M. Edmonds, who resides about three miles west of Littlefield, died Saturday at midnight at his home at Lancaster, Texas. Mr. Edwards was 73 years of age, and had not been in good health for the past few months. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Mr. C. M. Edmonds and Mrs. Edwards were unable to attend the funeral on account of ill health. Those attending the funeral from Littlefield were Pete and Dick Edwards, nephews, and M. B. Edwards, son of Mr. Dick Edwards.

Mr. C. M. Edmonds and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edwards had returned only Friday night late from Stamford where they attended the funeral of a friend, Ford Haley, 26, who was killed in a car accident, when they received word that Mr. Tom Edwards had passed away.

Funeral Services Held Monday For G. W. Kavanaugh

Superintendent Of Spade School Killed In Car Accident Near Sherman

Funeral services for George W. Kavanaugh, 37, Spade school superintendent, were held at Dodd City Monday afternoon. Interment was in the Dodd City cemetery.

Mr. Kavanaugh was killed Saturday night when his car turned over on the highway near Sherman. The car was reported to have turned over six times. Richard Reel of Amarillo, riding with Kavanaugh, escaped serious injury.

Mr. Kavanaugh, who met with the Spade School Board Friday night, was enroute to Austin to transact some school business, when the accident occurred. Both he and Mrs. Kavanaugh were attending the summer session at the West Texas State College at Canyon. He would have received his master's degree, and Mrs. Kavanaugh will receive her bachelor's degree in August.

He was re-elected as superintendent of the Spade school for another year, and Mrs. Kavanaugh, who did not teach last year, was elected two months ago to teach at Spade. She stated that she planned to go ahead and teach there this next year.

Contract To Sell Matthews Property

Mrs. W. Matthews reported to the Leader representative Monday that she had entered into a contract with Barton Smith to sell to him the Day & Night Courts property, which has been owned by her and the other heirs of her late husband.

Condition of the contract was, according to Mrs. Matthews, that the deal would be closed by August 4, and possession would be taken soon thereafter.

In an interview Tuesday, Ellis Pount, announced that he had purchased a half interest in the above property from Mr. Smith, and said that the property would remain as is for some months, and that the present tenants would continue, paying their rent, of course, to the new owners after August 4.

In reporting the transaction Mrs. Matthews said she had not made any plans as yet, and that she might remain in Littlefield.

The property consists of the buildings and four fractional lots.

Citizens Will Vote Whether or Not Bonds To Be Issued For Project

At the regular meeting Wednesday morning, members of the City Commission called an election for Tuesday, August 5, for the purpose of voting on revenue bonds for the building of a municipal light and power plant.

The Commission called the election, after a petition had been presented, bearing the names of approximately 75 Littlefield taxpayers.

A Citizens Light Plant Committee presented a petition several weeks ago to the commission, asking that a survey of the town be made by engineers, and a report from the engineers given to the city officials.

H. B. Geib Engineering Company of Dallas recently completed the survey, and the members of the city Commission stated that the report was satisfactory, indicating that such a plant would be feasible, and should make money for the town.

Studies of municipal plants at several locations have been made by city commissioners and interested citizens, according to Mayor Homer Hall.

A statement from the city commissioners is published elsewhere in this issue of the Lamb County Leader, in regard to the calling of the election.

School Band Will Not Be Discontinued

Reports have been flying thick and fast over Littlefield and section that the Littlefield High School would not have a band this coming school year.

Many citizens have expressed the opinion that the band was an important part of the activities of the High School, and has been a valuable asset to Littlefield and territory.

Investigation of the situation was made by the Lamb County Leader, and cheering news for band enthusiasts was disclosed.

When the resignation of Morgan Layfield, teacher in the High school and band instructor, was accepted by the school board, Superintendent F. A. Hemphill was instructed by the board to receive applications for a successor to Mr. Layfield, who has accepted a position with the Lubbock schools.

Mr. Hemphill has broadcast the word that the Littlefield schools want a band instructor, and already two or three applications have been received. These applicants are men of outstanding qualifications and ask salaries which, at this time, appear to be beyond the budget of the school district. Additional applications will be received and the board and Mr. Hemphill will exert every effort to employ a competent instructor within the budget of the local schools.

"Littlefield High School will have a band this coming school year" is the assurance announced to the Lamb County Leader.

Paving Is Being Delayed Due To Lack Of WPA Help

Mayor Homer Hall reported Tuesday that the paving of the City streets were being slowed down due to the fact that under the new regulations of the WPA, only 60 men are allowed for the whole of Lamb County, and that this cuts the number allowed to work on the streets here down to around 25 men, and this was delaying the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Tremain Still enjoying Life In Brownsville

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Tremain will be glad to learn that they are still enjoying life in the Valley.

The Leader were indeed pleased to receive a letter from these fine folks this week enclosing renewal of this newspaper, and since a portion of their letter will be of interest to many readers, we quote same as follows:

"Now we are still in the Rio Valley and still like it very much, but the last week has been real warm—I guess not any more than other places, but it is real warm. We notice the warm weather the most in the days that are still and no breeze stirring. Now we are very well and do hope that you and yours are o. k. Now give our best to one and all and still thank you for favoring us with the Leader so promptly as we sure love to see just what is going on in and around Littlefield. Give our best to all and we will be glad to setup in and say hello the first chance we have to be in Littlefield."

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH BOSTON HOBBOES

Kenneth Watts, seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Watts, of Morton, has accepted a position with the Boston Hoboes, traveling professional baseball team. He left with the team last week.

Kenneth tried out with the Hoboes when they were in Morton several weeks ago but only decided to accept the offer to play with them last week. He will play shortstop. The Hoboes travel all over the United States every year engaging some of the best amateur teams that can be found.

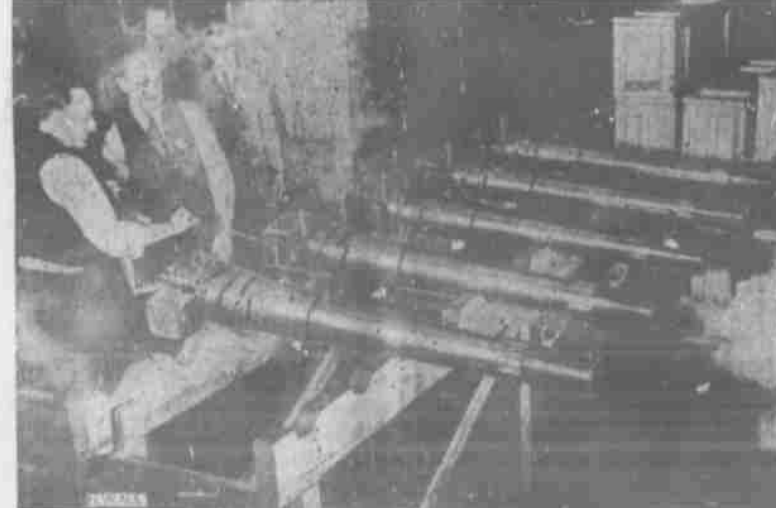

Desmond Monroe also was offered a position to play with the team but declined in order to attend Texas Tech this fall.

Steam Pressure Canning Necessary

Now that many housewives are making preparations to can vegetables from the home gardens the county home demonstration should like to stress the importance of steam pressure canning due to the presence of bacteria which can not be killed in temperature less than that obtained with the pressure cooker. Definite time and temperature are necessary for each product. Housewives should also remember that due to the high altitude of the Plains the pressure should be increased 2 degrees above that which is called for in the time tables.

If no pressure cooker is available, it is recommended that methods other than canning be used.

The ROAD to BAGDAD

by GEORGE GIBBS

CHAPTER VIII

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Dean, charming American girl, is touring Egypt and Palestine with a party of Americans. On the voyage she has many admirers, among them a wealthy Syrian, Joseph Asad, who, Camilla learns, is in reality Hassan Isar, leader of fanatical Arabs in Palestine. She meets also the English-bred American, Ronald Barker, known as El Kiseak, mysterious leader of tribes opposed to Hassan. Camilla accepts the attentions of Joseph Asad—alias Hassan—in order to obtain information helpful to Ronald Barker. In Jerusalem she goes with Slim McManus to meet Barker at a deserted place. Barker tells Camilla that he is to undertake a dangerous mission and warns her that she will be in danger if she continues touring with the American party to Haifa. Slim, a fellow tourist, has a fight with a native in the street.

"I thought he was going to crack me one, so I cracked him first . . . That started the circus."

Slim went into the garden to Camilla. He was not surprised to find Ronald Barker with her. "I wouldn't have had this happen to you for a good deal, Slim," Barker said.

"You will, when you know what happened. I was in the tobacco store when you should come down the street. Just as natural as you please, but our old friend Mahmoud Dooop of the Orizaba. I knew in a minute that he was laying for Camilla. He was keen enough to guess that after what happened on the Orizaba Ronald Barker might not be far off. When he stopped at the orange stall and took a step past Amariah I knew he was up to mischief, so I just came out and caught him by the arm. He twisted out of my grasp. I thought he was going to crack me one, so I cracked him first and he dropped down like a setting hen in Pop Amariah's oranges. Well, that started the circus. He must have had a boy friend with him for somebody began piling into me from behind. Then Mahmoud pulled a gun, but I got a grip on his wrist and sent it flying."

"I can never thank you enough, Slim," Ronnie said.

"Thank Camilla," Slim said dryly. "Anything I do for you I do for her. I'm willing to call it a day if you see, Camilla." He took me glance at them. "I'll just wait outside," he said.

"I want to tell you again," Barker said to Camilla coolly, "that when you go on into Syria you may be beyond my help. I've told you the kind of a man Hassan Isar is. He flatters you and you want to believe it. He has a bad record—I warn you now again solemnly against him."

She didn't like his tone nor the severity of his look. "Thanks," she said, and moved again toward the door.

"Then it's good-by, Camilla?" "Good-by, Ronnie—good-by—I—I—" She stood weakly for a moment and then went out with a gasp. She tried not to think of Ronald Barker for a while and gave her attention to Slim, who complained of a headache. They found a taxi at the head of the street and after a visit to a drug store, drove directly to the hotel. Here she excused herself from the morning round of sight-seeing and, pleading indisposition, ordered coffee sent to her room and to Slim's.

She was still aware of a dull resentment at Ronnie's new attitude which seemed to eliminate all the kindly moments that had gone before. He seemed to have forgotten her affair with Hassan had been definitely planned by them both with the idea of doing Ronnie a service. And now that she had succeeded in gaining Hassan's confidence he chose to put a stop to her motives and to go. Her carrying on, that wasn't fair of him. He seemed to have discovered some new kind of villainy in Hassan's attentions, some new kind of danger in this visit to Syria which had not existed before.

She did not know when she was going to see him again, for she was aware that she had nothing to hope for now from the "jinn" in the bottle. And then a thought came to her out of her contrition—the inspiration that would clear her conscience and make all things right with Ronnie. She would find Osman Khalil, herself—betray the hiding place of the descendant of the Prophet, if she could find it, and destroy Osman's religious leadership which was becoming so dangerous to the British plans.

She must see Hassan at once, if she was to return with the party on the Orizaba, she would have a little less than a week to carry out her plans. But with Hassan suspicious of her motives the same would now be doubly difficult. How could she even attempt to get the information she wanted unless she could manage in some way to cajole Hassan into believing in her loyalty? In what mood could she expect to find him since the defeat of Mahmoud's attempt to "kill" Ronnie's life? And what had become of Mahmoud?

She had the answer to one of these questions when the phone rang and Hassan Isar's voice inquired for her.

"All right, Joe. Just a headache. I didn't go to Bethlehem with the others this morning."

"I've been there before. Yes, I'd like to see you . . . Lunch here at one? Delighted. I'll be down in twenty minutes."

"The maitre d'hotel showed them to a quiet corner where Hassan Isar ordered her a cocktail and then a very good lunch."

"I suppose I may as well tell you, Camilla, that my name is not Joseph Asad. In Syria it's Hassan Isar. Across the Jordan they call me that." He added then narrowly, "You knew it, didn't you?"

"Yes," she said, "Ronald Barker told me."

He went on quickly. "You're driving to Damascus with the other tourists in a few days. I understand. I want you to know the real Syria that can't be seen from a motor bus. That's what I asked you to lunch to talk about—didn't you suppose it—a caravan—a train of camels with baggage and servants and everything that you could desire. I want you to see the desert under these conditions, in the starlight."

"It sounds fascinating. But I'm afraid."

"Of what are you afraid?" Hassan asked Camilla. "In America it's nothing for a girl to drive with a man until three o'clock in the morning."

"This is slightly different. Gossip travels fast. Doesn't my reputation mean anything to you?"

"I've offered to make you my wife . . . my only wife. That can be quickly arranged."

"I don't want anything quickly arranged. I can't change my whole life, my mode of living, my nationality, just in a moment. You see I have friends and relatives who would be scandalized. I can't do anything in a hurry."

He frowned at his coffee cup and spoke slowly. "None of these things should matter to you if you cared for me as you said you did the other night on the train. Or was that just a convenient falsehood? Oh, it doesn't matter to me if you lied that night—a lie to a man is a woman's privilege—especially if she thinks she cares for another man."

"Who gave you this idea? Kitty Trimble?"

"Yes, she says you're in love with Ronald Barker."

"You believe her?"

"What else can I believe?" He gave her an unpleasant smile and shrugged. "I have no fear of Ronald Barker. He is too cool, too calculating for one of your sort—too British to suit your pattern, which is my pattern of everything a woman should be."

"Thanks," she gasped, breathless and a little alarmed at his omniscience.

He smiled again. "You see I'm more honest than you are. I lay all my cards on the table. I want you at any cost. If I were sure of you you would lose half your charm."

One of the Turkish-looking flunkies who stood around the revolving door of the lobby now approached him with a sealed note which her companion tore open and read. He pushed back his chair, still frowning. "Yes, Camilla, I—I'm sorry to be obliged to leave you but I—I've been sent for and I must go at once. If you'll excuse me."

He rose, bowed and went out, while she followed him slowly. At the revolving door she saw him meet a man attired in a tarboosh and European clothing, and hurry off in a taxi.

She would have given a great deal to know the contents of that note. She was sure that it had something to do with Ronnie.

Kitty Trimble came in through the revolving doors like a squirrel in a cage and collapsed on the divan beside Camilla. She seemed very nervous and disturbed, demanding that Camilla should drink with her. Camilla did not want to drink but agreed to sit in the cafe while Mrs. Trimble gathered Dutch courage to recover from what seemed to be a kind of nervous picnic.

When she had drunk she appealed to Camilla. "You won't let them do anything with me, will you, darling?" she asked.

Camilla hadn't the least idea what she was talking about and said so.

"I mean they might take me if and trump up some charges of conspiracy against me. You'll have to speak to Ronald Barker—he's so powerful in Egypt and Palestine. We seem so far from the American flag with all these shootings and bombings taking place every day. Poor Mahmoud! Two policemen took him off in a taxi. I had an engagement to meet him, but he didn't show up. I just happened to see him arrested as he was coming to meet me. I—I'm really awfully worried about him, Camilla."

Camilla succeeded at last in getting Kitty Trimble into the lift, and went to the desk to wait for a message from Slim or Ronnie.

Ronnie sent no word, but Slim appeared just before Edger Willing summoned his tourists. The scar on Slim's forehead had a piece of court-plaster on it.

Camilla told him about Kitty Trimble's extraordinary nervous collapse and Slim only grinned. "Serves her right," he said. "She's been making mischief ever since she came on this cruise. I think she won't bother you much after this, Camilla," he said dryly.

She searched his expression for a meaning. "I believe you're back of this, Slim," she said.

"Not far back of it. I just told how Mahmoud had tried to kill Ronald Barker this morning and that the police had evidence that Kitty knew more about it than she wanted to tell."

"And where is Ronald Barker, Slim?"

Slim grinned and took out his cigarettes. "I don't know, Camilla, unless it's wherever Al Fidal is."

Hassan's sudden disappearance from the King David Hotel had meant, according to Slim's theory, that the Syrian had gone to visit the Mayor of Jerusalem, the Supreme Moslem Council, or some other high political or religious dignitary in the hope of releasing Mahmoud from prison.

It was Slim's opinion that unless further friction developed as a result of the incident, Mahmoud probably would be released and sent back to Egypt under a suspended sentence. This would be in accordance with the British practice of treating such cases with the utmost leniency.

This conclusion had been confirmed when Hassan Isar came to the King David Hotel in time to arrange to accompany Camilla, Slim and Josie on the drive to Damascus. Ronnie had not again appeared, but with an air of great assurance Slim had made himself a member of Camilla's party and she had not objected. Indeed, now that Ronnie was gone, she didn't know what she would have done without him.

The road, contrary to Hassan's statement, did not seem to be as safe as Fifth Avenue, for rough stone forts and barricades were everywhere and the broken road showed where conflicts between the Arabs and the British had taken place. But the tourists were not molested and ate their lunch of St. Peter's fish at the Tiberias hotel on the Lake of Galilee.

Lunch finished, with a great tooting of horns as a salute to their departing military escort, the train of automobiles went around the head of the lake to the River Jordan, a sullen little creek which they crossed on an iron bridge that looked as if it might collapse at any moment.

"You are now in my country," Hassan said after a while, with an air of proprietorship. "You are in Syria," he continued, "you will partake of my hospitality."

Slim didn't show much enthusiasm, because he was paying his own way to the tourist agency and because he was quite certain that, however polite, Hassan still wished he was in Jericho.

After the Honeymoon is over

Stop throwing tomatoes at your car, mister. And lady, remember, scowling gives you wrinkles. So both of you, let up and listen to simple common sense.

Just three months ago, after you bought that car and nursed it through the break-in period, you bragged to all your friends that it "runs like a watch . . . makes 16 miles on a gallon . . . licks cars twice its size and price getting away on the green light."

Now that the honeymoon period of your new car ownership is over, why let yourself get sour on a possession that should be, and can be, one of your most useful and pleasurable?

Tell your troubles to your car dealer. He's an honest, able business man, anxious to hold your good opinion. He may find the engine needs some minor adjustment, some squeaks require a squirt of oil, the brakes may take a little pumping-up.

Then fill the tank with a truly great July motor fuel, Phillips 66 Poly Gas. That's the gasoline motorists never tire of recommending. It is not only high anti-knock, high test, high energy . . . but it is more accurately matched to monthly changes in your weather.

Yes, sir! . . . yes, ma'am! it does things for your engine. You may find it makes your car run like new again. It delivers real pep and power . . . sweeter pick-up and easier hill-climbing. And mileage that's a real surprise.

Forget your "mad", and make up with your car, by stopping for a trial tankful of new Phillips 66 Poly Gas . . . at any Orange and Black 66 Shield. It costs nothing extra.

Replacement Parts For Buicks To Be Available Says Co.

FLINT, Mich., July 14.—W. F. Rufstader, Buick General Sales Manager, yesterday announced that replacement parts for cars already in the field will be available during the period of national emergency in the main without resort to optional materials.

The executive said that Buick is mobilizing its service facilities and carefully planning its parts program for the expected increase in service operations next year and emphasized that major importance will attach to this phase of dealer operations in 1942. Under the direction of C. W. Jacobs, parts and service manager, analysis has been made of demand for replacement parts during the past three years as a basis of studies which are being carried out by Buick Technicians in cooperation with the office of production management and the Federal priorities board. It was pointed out that government authorities have recognized the need for maintenance and repair of the Nation's automotive rolling stock and have indicated that necessary materials for such maintenance and repair will be made available.

TO RAISE $300,000 FOR SOLDIERS' WORK

Dr. W. W. Melton, Chairman of the Texas Promotional Committee on Baptist war work, is touring Texas in behalf of the special campaign to raise three hundred thousand dollars in the South. The 3,250 Baptist churches in Texas have been asked to raise $35,000.00 on Sunday, July 27th.

Texas Baptists began a movement in behalf of the soldiers in the fall of 1940. Dr. A. C. Miller was employed to direct the soldiers' work. He has done his work superbly and will continue to lead Texas in his soldier work. Texas Baptists have always been interested in their army camps and have been constantly doing religious work among soldiers. At this time seven of our Texas Baptist preachers are employed to do religious work in the army camps. This work is directed by Dr. Miller", exclaimed Dr. Melton.

West Texas Gas Company

To The Tax-Paying Voters Of The City Of Littlefield

We understand that a petition is being circulated today requesting the City Commission to call an election to vote revenue bonds for the purpose of building a municipal light plant, and that the City Commission will soon call such an election.

We are, of course, interested in this matter; both from the standpoint of the large investment we have made for the purpose of serving your City, and also for the reason that if the City enters into a venture of this kind and it proves a losing one this Company, which is a part of your City, will likewise suffer, since whatever hurts Littlefield of necessity hurts our business in Littlefield.

This Company entered business in your City in February 1925 when we bought the local light plant. At that time the top step for electricity for residential use in Littlefield was 25c per kilowatt hour. Immediately upon the completion of the purchase this Company reduced the rate to the top step of 16c per kilowatt hour with a rate on all kilowatt hour in excess of thirty to ten cents per kilowatt hour. In 1928 the Company voluntarily reduced the residential rate in Littlefield to a top step of 14c per kilowatt hour and all current in excess of forty kilowatt hours to seven cents per kilowatt hour.

Since that time the Company has from time to time, as business conditions would justify, voluntarily reduced your electric rates in Littlefield, (the last reduction being in 1939) so as that now your rates for electricity for home use is one of the lowest in the State of Texas. Your commercial rates have had similar reductions, so that now the rates in Littlefield will compare favorably with any City of similar size in Texas, according to the last report of the Federal Power Commission.

We honestly believe that this is not a wise time for the City to undertake the building of a municipal plant. At this time the cost of labor and materials, and particularly of the materials that are used in the construction of an electric generating plant and distribution system, are abnormally high. At this time also the materials necessary to build a light plant are far more vitally needed in the preparation of arms, munitions, ships, and aeroplanes; necessary to our National Defense. If there were a shortage of power here, then the building of a municipal light plant might be defensible as a part of our National Defense Program, but where there is already ample electric power available, why should the City spend a large sum of money and use copper and other materials vitally necessary to our National Defense to duplicate already existing sources of electric power?

No doubt, during this campaign, you will hear specious promises from advocates of the municipal light plant that if you will vote for it that it will materially reduce light rates. All we ask of you is that you find out the facts. Find out whether the light rate here is higher or lower than the rate charged at Brownfield, Texas, where they have had a municipal light plant for years? Find out whether it is higher or lower than Spur, Texas, where they have had a municipal light plant for years. Find out whether the recent building of the municipal light plants in Floydada and Crosbyton has resulted in any material reduction of the light rates there. You will find out on investigation that your light rates here are lower than they are at Brownfield or Spur. You will find out that when they built the municipal light plant at Floydada and Crosbyton the City authorities passed a minimum rate ordinance freezing the rates for electricity then in effect so that the private utility could not reduce its rates and that the rates charged by each of these cities are identically the same as that charged by the Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company.

There are other questions which we believe the voters ought to be interested in, such as:

- (1) What will this plant cost?
- (2) Will the plant earn enough in competition with this company to pay the interest and sinking fund on its bonded debt and leave anything over to pay on the other bonded debt of the City.

We shall in succeeding advertisements undertake to give you the facts from which you can answer these and other questions material to your decision, and we believe that when you know the facts you will vote against the municipal light plant.

Respectfully Submitted,

Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company

AMHERST METHODIST CHURCH

The Christian experience of many people is about as mysterious as Rudolph Hess. Where, how, and when did he come, where, how, when did he go?

The sort of a revival most seriously needed in the world today is a revival of individual responsibility.

One does not need to agree with what a preacher says to get good from a sermon.

If church membership is not necessary for the best interests of all people, why did Christ institute the church?

At the Methodist church, Sudan, Texas July 19th at 6:30 there will be a covered dish supper served as the opening feature for Methodist Youth Caravan. Youth of the church and churches near are expected to go. Each one takes a covered dish for this first service. A program follows. Carvan thru 7 to 25th. The South West Advocate carries some pictures of workers.

Our people are getting more accustomed to attending services in bad weather. Our attendance last Sunday was good. Our visiting speaker was pleased and he gave some excellent thoughts.

Sunday 11 A. M. "Belief In God". At night, "From Blackslipper to Soul winner."

We trust people are reading their church papers for another angle on the war and world conditions.

Officials Discuss Special Session State Legislature

Judge Stanley A. Doss attended a district meeting of county judges and commissioners in Plainview Tuesday.

The group discussed the petitioning for an immediate special session of the state legislature to pass road bond assumption legislation.

Lamb county, like other West Texas counties has found itself high and dry since the Texas legislature failed to extend the bond assumption act, so the counties could have their road bonds retired by the state with money diverted from one cent of the gasoline tax.

A representative group from this section will probably go to Austin, if a special session of the legislature is called.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henderson and daughter, Martha, of San Antonio arrived Monday to visit several days with Mr. and Mrs. H. Harvey of Spade community.

Second National Drawing Tonight

Sequence numbers for young men who have reached the age of 21 years, and who registered July 1, will be drawn in the Second National Selective Lottery to be held this evening, Thursday, in Washington, D. C.

The sequence numbers will determine the order in which these new registrants will be integrated among the old registrants who have order numbers larger than the last selectee of their local board who was involuntarily inducted before midnight, June 30, 1941. General J. Watt Page, State Director, stated.

For an example, he said, "if a local board should happen to have 10 new registrants and 100 old registrants on its list whose order numbers follow that of the last involuntary inductee as of midnight June 30, then one new registrant would be placed in each group of 10 old registrants."

Any induction made after midnight June 30, will be ignored in the integration of new registrants among old ones, General Page stated.

The lottery, which will determine the sequence in which new registrants will be integrated among old ones, will be held in the Departmental Auditorium, Washington, D. C., at 7 P. M. (E. S. T.) Thursday, July 17.

A set of serial numbers, each preceded by the letter "S", from "S-1" to include the largest number used by any local board in the country in assigning serial numbers to July 1st registrants, will be drawn by lots. Approximately 800 numbers will be drawn, General Page said.

The serial numbers in the order they are drawn in the lottery will constitute a master list to be used by local boards in assigning "Sequence Numbers" to their July 1st registrants, in this manner.

Registrants in each local board area whose serial number first appears on this second master list will be given "Sequence Number 1" in his area; the registrant whose serial number is next closest to the top will receive "Sequence Number 2", and so on until each July 1st registrant has a sequence number.

As was the procedure in connection with the previous national lottery in October, 1940, local boards will cross off on the second master list and ignore those serial numbers that are not held by any registrant in their area.

When sequence numbers have been assigned to all new registrants, the local boards will assign each of these registrants an order number to be determined by integrating them among the old registrants. This means that the new registrants with Sequence No. 1 in his local board area will receive the lowest order number assigned to his group, and the registrant with the largest sequence number will receive the highest order number for the same group.

Hitler's Prize in Soviet Union Campaign

Graphically explained on the above map are some of the principal reasons for the outbreak of hostilities between Russia and Germany. (1) on the map indicates the location of the oil and grain supplies of the Ukraine. These have long been coveted by Hitler. Also a conquest of Russia would provide a route (though an indirect one) to the battlefronts of Syria and the Suez canal. (2) on the map is the city of Damascus which has reportedly fallen to the British. (3) is the city of Alexandria and the Suez area, vital objectives of the Nazi drive against Britain.

here in Littlefield.

Consideration of this matter has proceeded to the point that we have been petitioned by the CITIZENS LIGHT COMMITTEE and by many other citizens to submit the proposition to a vote, and being in full accord with the judgement of the committee and other citizens, we are calling the election for August 5, 1941. The laws of Texas provides for such elections, and requires due notice, which you will find elsewhere in this paper.

We understand and appreciate fully that there are those who will not favor this project, and we want you to understand that we recommend this to you solely from a business standpoint, that we hold no ill will for the firm which has enjoyed a monopoly of this electric business here in our town, and remind you that we did not and cannot give them or any one else an exclusive franchise, and since they know that their time must expire some time, we know that we are simply exercising our constitutional right in going into this business.

We urge that you consider this project thoroughly, that you read the election notices carefully, in order that you will understand that if the election carries, the system will be built and paid for entirely out of the net profits from the operation of the system, and please do not sign any petitions in connection with this matter if any are presented to you, at least until you know what you are signing. Also, do not let any one tell you that taxes may be raised to handle this project, because the law provides that the plant must be paid for out of the profits of the plant.

There is ample time between now and election day to fully acquaint you with what we have found out about these plants, and we are going to make all this available to you in the next few days, so if there is any question that you want answered, bring it to your city commission and we will see that you will get the nearest correct answer.

You have elected us to run the affairs of the City of Littlefield, and this we are doing to the very best of our humble ability. If the best interests of all of us were not being served we would not ask your support. We are determined to keep as much Littlefield money at home as possible, and we need your wholehearted help in this matter, which we consider more important than any other thing we have ever come to you with.

To vote in this election, you must be a qualified voter, which means that you must have a poll tax, or be exempt from such tax, and you must have rendered property for taxation before the election date.

"The Drug Store on the Corner"

Sunnydale Splashes

By J. D. JORDAN

All right, all right, go ahead and say, "I told you so", anyhow I wish it would come a good shower. I believe it would help all the crops and especially the feed that is beginning to head.

Quite a lot of progress was made in cleaning out the crops the past week in fact some are looking mighty nice. Our hats are off to the team farmers this year. As a whole they have by far the cleanest fields. In fact everything looks mighty good out our way.

Gordan Cape who is spending the summer with his uncle, Huger Cape spent the week end with his parents in Sudan.

Several from this community met Sunday and hoed the Church cotton, and enjoyed the picnic lunch out of all.

Most of you have been hearing about the aluminum drive as a part of the National Defense, well the country organization has been persuaded and I have charge of the Sunnydale Community. Anyone having any aluminum to donate may leave it at Wingo's Store, Sunnydale Community House, or if you had rather, I would come and get it personally if you will get in touch with me. Let's all cooperate, I ain't asking much for us to give you worn out or discarded pan and pot but yours and mine, plus millions of other aluminum articles will mean a lot in the defense program. Let's do our part, and remember if not convenient to leave at Store or Community House, I will come and get it. So I'll be seein' ya . . . So Long

WILL YOU KEEP LITTLEFIELD MONEY AT HOME

If You Build A Municipal Light Plant?

It has been stated that people ought to vote for the municipal light plant so Littlefield money can be kept at home. This argument is contrary to facts because-

The money expended for fuel, lubricating oil, repair parts, supplies, and material necessary to the operation of the municipal plant, will have to be sent out of Littlefield because none of these items are produced locally.

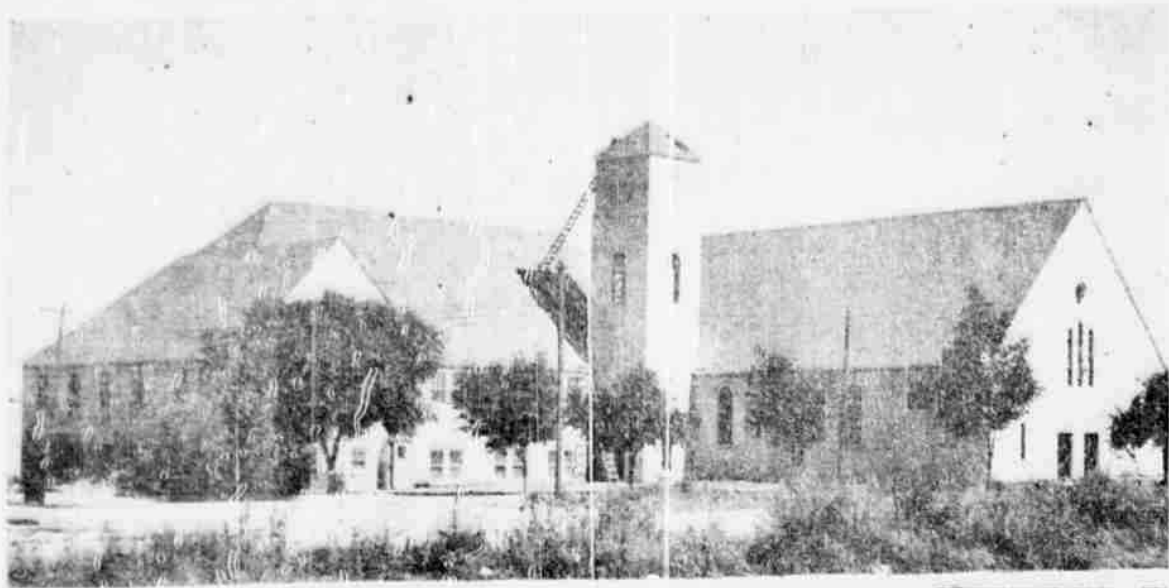

THE PLAN TO BUILD THE MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT IS BASED ON THE SALE OF REVENUE BONDS. YOU HAVE TO SEND OUT OF TOWN EACH YEAR A LARGE SUM OF MONEY TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THESE BONDS AND TO PAY THEM OFF AS THEY MATURE. DURING THE LIFE OF THESE BONDS MORE THAN $300,000.00 WILL HAVE TO GO OUT OF TOWN INTO THE POCKETS OF THE BOND BUYERS WHO ARE NOT RESIDENTS OR EVEN TAX PAYERS IN THE CITY OF LITTLEFIELD.

WHEN ALL OF THIS MONEY THAT WILL HAVE TO BE SENT OUT OF TOWN FOR OPERATING EXPENSES AND DEBT SERVICE IS ADDED UP THE SUM WILL REACH SEVERAL HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS MORE BEFORE THE BONDS ARE RETIRED IN TWENTY YEARS. DURING THIS TIME THE SYSTEM AND EQUIPMENT PURCHASED BY THE FIRST BOND ISSUE HAS WORN OUT OR BECOME USELESS AND MONEY WILL HAVE TO BE FOUND TO REPLACE IT. THUS A NEVER ENDING CIRCLE OF LOANS OR BOND ISSUES IS STARTED.

WE SUBMIT THAT THIS BRIEF RECITATION OF THE FACTS REFUTES THE ARGUMENT OF KEEPING LITTLEFIELD MONEY AT HOME.

Texas New-Mexico Utilities Co.

Littlefield's New Methodist Church

Brick work on the New Methodist church, located on the corner of NIT drive and fifth street, across from the post office has been completed, and outstanding progress is being made on the erection of the beautiful edifice. A special service has been planned for Sunday night, with the turning on of the lights in the tower and the illumination of the glass cross.

David Storey Wins Title In Amarillo Tennis Tourney

David Storey, Texas Tech tennis player from Littlefield copped another tennis title in Amarillo last week end, and added another trophy to his collection, after defeating Bob Wheatley of Amarillo 4-1, 6-3, in the City Open Tennis tournament.

Storey's double partner, Lloyd Brunson also a ranking player of Texas Tech was taken into camp the first day of the tournament 6-3, 6-4, by an alumna of the Texas Tech team, Harry Rosenhan.

The Brunson-Storey combination won out in a match Saturday afternoon, but put themselves among idle players in the same manner 8-6, 8-4, by an Amarillo team.

Declared to be the "very tennis sensation" Storey was subject for favorable comment in Saturday's issue of the Amarillo Daily News, written by Tom Thompson, sports writer. The article about Storey follows:

"David Storey, lanky player of Texas Tech, turned in the smoothest hitting performance in the men's singles when he out-placed, out-lashed, out-ran and out-lasted Joe Lokoy, veteran Amarillo player, 6-3, 4-2. Although Storey won the junior division of the City last year, his game today exhibited 50 per cent more sparkle and polish than Amarillo fans witnessed in his playing last summer. His game yesterday was chiefly a backcourt game and he kept his opponent, who is normally steady at the net, pounding clay in back of the concrete courts and doubling team side to side after down-the-line shot and amazing angle placements."

paid a penalty of $21, which is the equivalent of 3 cents per pound. If he elects to sell the cotton this year, however, the 7 cents per pound penalty would be in effect and he would pay 7 cents per pound penalty on only 300 pounds for the $21 total penalty since this is the amount of the total penalty for 1940. The remaining 400 pounds of cotton would then become penalty-free."

TAKE A FOOTBALL

one mountain and through the tall pines for an 18-hour trip. The boys realized they were lost about four o'clock in the afternoon. They didn't have any food nor a gun, but they had their football! They wandered around and finally climbed to the top of a mountain and "got their bearings". By the time they reached the bottom of the mountain again, it was so dark, so they sat down and waited for the moon to come up.

The high altitude didn't exactly agree with Pryor, Jr., and Babe and Maxey had difficulties getting him back to camp. They arrived at 3:20 the next morning, footsore and weary.

Their parents had watched and waited all night, and if they had not arrived when they did, a posse would have been sent to look for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Hummels and the boys joined Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brittain and son, and Mrs. Brittain's sisters, who are vacationing near Red River, had planned several hiking trips, but after the boys' experience, they put thumbs down—their feet were so sore to put down, and declared that they had had enough hiking for a year.

However, the group did make a short trip and got caught in the rain. The result—they all had sore throats for several days!

Mr. and Mrs. Bascoms and the boys returned home Tuesday, by way of Tass, Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Brittain and son will return Sunday.

Pryor, Jr., and Maxey continue to carry a football around with them, in preparation for college football, and Babe will be content to be the star next another year on the local Wildcat team. They have played football all of their lives!

METHODIST CHURCH

Members of the church are contemplating extending an invitation to the Northwest Texas Conference to meet in Littlefield in November, 1942, and the invitation will probably be made if the new building is completed this year. The conference will meet this year at the St. Paul's Methodist Church, Abilene.

lake. He returned to shore in a few minutes and learned that Farhlender had been injured and had been pulled from the water by companions.

Mr. Gage took off his shirt, and with the assistance of another man pulled it tight around the injured leg to prevent loss of blood. The injured man was brought to the Payne-Shotwell Hospital by Buck Medlin, who was accompanied by Medford Scifres and Belvin Simmons, all Bula young men. The distance from Monument Lake to Littlefield is approximately 40 miles and acquired almost an hour to make the journey.

Farhlender was treated at the hospital and up to Wednesday morning had received three blood transfusions, the blood being furnished by Marion (Buddy) Blackman, Bula young man, and a friend of the injured man, for one of the transfusions.

Dr. I. T. Shotwell his physician at the hospital, reported that Mr. Farhlender suffered a complete severance of all the muscles in the calf of his left leg, which was practically cut off, and that he lost a lot of blood.

The hospital reported Wednesday that Farhlender's condition was fair but satisfactory.

ALUMINUM

The government's aluminum campaign was launched with a goal of 20,000,000 pounds. But scattered reports of the first day's collections exceeded expectations that officials at Washington headquarters began to flak of 30,000,000 or even 40,000,000.

Apparently the entire nation is cooperating with the government, with enthusiasm, in the drive for old metal.

Other than the drive to purchase defense savings bonds, this campaign is the first to be declared "all out for National Defense", and it is a drive in which the entire nation can cooperate.
