Highways In Two Precincts of Lamb Co. Are Being Conditioned

The principal highways throughout Lamb county are now being conditioned for the fall hauling, a considerable accommodation to farmers bringing their crops to market.

Commissioner C. E. Strawn has finished working the roads in precinct three, putting in tip top condition all the principal highways of the district, including the roads over which the school trucks pass bringing pupils to and from school. Some in that district never worked have felt the influence of the work this year, and it is said that roads in that precinct are now in better condition than ever before in history.

Commissioner Simon D. Hay, of the fourth district, is now working the highway running north from Littlefield past the Lowmore gin. As that is finished he will give road to Whitharral a thorough over, and then the Pep road receive a dressing up that will put it in first class condition for fall winter service.

State Commission Makes Ruling Now Favorable to Lfd.

Showing of interest to Littlefield of vital importance to the county now being installed here, was the decision to the effect that no city made by the State Railroad Commission of cotton may pass a compressor having said shipment compressed. Therefore it has been optional for cotton shippers as to where they have their cotton compressed and graded, and the matter of compression is still left optional, but, according to the recent ruling which became effective October 1, the cotton must be pressed at the nearest compression route to concentration point.

South Plains Fair Greatest Ever Held in Lubbock History

South Plains fair held at Lubbock last Saturday night with attendance, and, according to reports of officials, it was the best ever held. Plans are now all under way for enlarging it this year. Before have the agricultural fairs been so numerous and so contested. Hals county won but she was followed closely by other countieis. The livestock show was said to have been the best ever seen at a fair in West Texas. Lubbock merchants outdid themselves in their fair exhibits. There was a fine display of agricultural implements and machinery of all kinds. The fireworks were said to have been the best ever held there. Five automobiles away furnish interest-creating each afternoon.

ANOTHER GIN FOR LFD.

The Cameron Co. have sold the former site of the J. W. Porcher lumber yard to the Lummus Gin Co., of Dallas, who will put in another cotton gin in Littlefield.

The gin will be managed by J. C. Barton, and will be ready for service by the time cotton picking is well started.

Tahoka Battles The Littlefield Squad to A Game Without Score

Thursday of last week the Littlefield Wild Cats battled the Tahoka Bull Dogs to a scoreless tie on the gridiron of the South Plains fair grounds, at Lubbock.

The Bulldogs apparently had the edge in offensive playing over the Littlefield squad, but the Littlefield lads, being strong on the defensive, though light in weight, held the opponents away from the goals in fine style. The report of the game as given by the Lubbock Avalanche was as follows:

Time after time did the Bulldogs with Edwards, right halfback, carrying the brunt of the attack, drive within striking distance of the Littlefield goal line, only to loose the ball. Fumbles and penalties were largely responsible for these losses.

Once it appeared that Littlefield had won the game, when a pass deflected from someone's back fell into the waiting arms of a Tigor player, but Umpire Condray ruled the pass incomplete, as the receiver was ineligible for it.

Goertz, big fullback for the Littlefield eleven, was the dynamo for the team on both offense and defense. His punts kept the Littlefield line from being crossed frequently. The work of Gray for Littlefield at the end also stood out.

Littlefield is to play five games this season, according to F. O. Bolen, principal of the local high school, and he says, "We are counting on having the united support of all Littlefield boosters. We had rather see a little team do its best than to watch a big team loaf. Come out and see that little team do its best every game."

Littlefield plays Olton Friday, said Mr. Bolen, at the Olton fair. "The county seat gridsters claim they have a team of championship calibre this year. Let's beat 'em Friday!"

300 NOW IN LEAGUE

Austin, Texas, Oct. 5.—Texas Interscholastic League football, including most of the important high schools of the state, is now underway, according to Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the University of Texas. The high schools are now chiefly off practice and preliminary games, Mr. Henderson says.

The lists of schools enrolling in the League closed October 1 with nearly 300 schools enrolled. Those schools whose scholastic enrollment last year exceeded five hundred students are included in Conference A, while those with less than five hundred last year fall in Conference B.

Baptist Meeting Is Closed With Call To Rev. Nix as Its Pastor

The Baptist revival, conducted by Rev. J. F. Nix, of Clovis, New Mexico closed last Sunday night.

There were several conversions during the series of services, and 28 new members received into the church. Rev. Nix was called to the pastorate of the Baptist church in Littlefield, and that his mind might be free from the physical cares of life to be the more concentrated upon the spiritual duties of the church, he was offered a salary of $4,000 per annum as one of the inducements to accept the local pastorate. While refraining from expressing definitely his decision to the pulpit committee, he stated he would give them an answer within the coming two weeks.

Rev. Nix, who is now pastor of the Baptist church at Clovis, has accomplished a great work at that point, and during his two weeks labor in Littlefield has made a very favorable impression upon the members of the Baptist church here.

The Littlefield church now has a membership between five and six hundred, a fine brick church building well adapted to its needs and desires, and offers an excellent opportunity for a minister desiring a place of service where real accomplishments are possible.

"MAUDE" GETS THE WORST OF AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

While on their way from Plainview late Sunday afternoon, Mrs. M. M. Brittain and baby, Jim Tom, accompanied by Miss Pauline Hardesty, happened to quite an accident when a mule ran across the road and Mrs. Brittain was unable to stop her car. Luckily none of the occupants were hurt, but the car was badly damaged and the mule had two legs broken.

City May Have the County Grader For Some Street Work

At a meeting of the directors, Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday noon, and attended by Commissioner Simon D. Hay, it was stated by Mr. Hay that he now had men and machinery working on the highways in the Littlefield territory and they would be put into condition as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Hay stated that he was very much handicapped in his road work for lack of funds, which had been expended for various other purposes, such as machinery for the county, to meet previous warrants issued, etc., and because of this shortage his district generally could not have the road work he desired to give.

Next year he stated his district would receive 40 per cent of the special road fund, and in all there would be available around $10,000 for road purposes in precinct four.

It was stated that there was now to the credit of Highway No. 7, in Lamb County, which is about 32 miles long, the sum of $9,900.00. The gasoline tax in this county has been estimated at around $80,000 per annum, the what part of this would come back to the county is unknown.

Mr. Hay stated that the county now owned about $20,000 worth of road-working machinery. He very generously offered the officials in Littlefield the use of one of the big county graders, without charge, so that some of the principal streets here might be placed in first class condition.

"MEET ME AT THE CHURCH"

Now that the Baptist revival is over I wish all Methodists to "meet me at the church next Sunday morning," said Rev. Ed Tharp, local pastor.

Chevrolet Caravan Here Tuesday With Big Line of Trucks

With whistles blowing, sirens screaming and horns honking the Chevrolet caravan arrived in Littlefield Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of demonstrating their line of truck productions.

The cavacade was headed by K. N. Chase, assistant sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., Oklahoma City, and is one of nine caravans now touring in the middle west of the United States. This caravan started out in Oklahoma August 27, now is traveling through the Panhandle country, expecting to complete their tour about October 20.

In the caravan there were 14 trucks of different types, also several different types of touring cars. Included in the party were also representatives of the H. M. Knight Supply Co., Boardman Tank Co., Martin-Parry Body Co., Southern Motor Supply Co. of Oklahoma City, and the W. C. Nabors Trailer Co., of Mangfield, La.

Mr. Chase stated that the caravan was proving a very great success in an advertising way and that numerous sales had been made enroute at the different points where they stopped. There was a large crowd of interested spectators in Littlefield to greet the caravan here Tuesday, many of whom were vitally interested in this particular line of trucks.

TO PLANT COTTON ACREAGE

That A. S. Underwood, manager of the cotton compress now being built in Littlefield is favorably impressed with Littlefield territory is further emphasized by the fact that he is now negotiating with a large land holder of this section for the rental of 1500 acres which will all be planted in cotton the coming year.

Lamb County Leads State in Members of Farm Bureau Assoc'n

Lamb county now leads the entire State of Texas in members of the Texas Farm Bureau, according to J. W. Hammock, county representative.

One of the features of the South Plains fair, at Lubbock, closing last week, was a booth maintained by the Bureau, and arranged by the county representatives of Lamb and other adjoining counties. This booth had an exhibit of special interest, and on Thursday, which was Lamb county day, more than 2,400 people had the pleasure of seeing it.

The representatives had in this booth a moving picture machine showing the Bureau's buildings, warehouses and methods of handling their members' cotton. Several new contracts for membership were obtained during the fair.

Mr. Hammock states that with the constant upward tendency of cotton prices there is every indication that the members of this bureau are coming into an era of financial prosperity unprecedented in the history of the South Plains country.

The Olton Fair Will Be Held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7-8

The Olton fair, advertised as a Lamb County Free Fair, will be held Friday and Saturday, October 7th and 8th, according to placards posted in Littlefield last Monday. A catalog of 24 pages, printed by the Plainview Herald, in Hale county, gives a list of the attractions and premiums offered.

Exhibits are opened to communities and individuals of Lamb county, premiums are offered on agricultural, poultry, vegetables, livestock, domestic products, including canned goods, of various kinds, cookery, sewing, embroidery, rugs and knitting, also for flowers and old relics. FACTS ABOUT FIRES AND THEIR LOSSES

The dollar loss from fires in the State of Texas for the year was approximately twenty million dollars.

The dollar loss in the United States for the year 1926 was approximately $560,548,624.00.

The dollar loss in Texas from January 1st to September 1st, 1927 was approximately $11,621,446.74.

A conservative estimate of the fires in Texas that are preventable is 85 per cent. The same per cent is estimated for the U. S.

There were 126 lives during the first six months in the State of Texas.

Ten thousand lives were lost in the U. S. in 1926.

Twentyfour towns in Texas have a fully paid fire department.

Ninety eight towns have partially paid fire departments.

The towns protected that have wholly volunteer fire departments are 216.

Life Loss by Fire

Statistics placed the loss of life by fire during 1926 at 10,000. This is a reduction of about 34 per cent in the last three years largely due to the extensive educational work carried on in the interest of fire prevention. There has been a serious increase, however, in the number of persons injured, as the statistics available show an average of two persons injured to one killed. This, on the basis of our estimate, should show at least 20,000 persons injured by fire. The largest percentage of both injured and killed are of the dependent class, namely, mothers, children, the sick in hospitals, and unfortunates in institutions. It is also noticeable that a large percentage of casualties are among the ones engaged in fire service.

Property Loss from Fire

The preliminary estimate of fire loss for 1926 is $560,548,624. This is an average of $1,585,750 per day, or $1,066 for every minute of the year. A comparison of figures for the last decade shows an alarming increase in fire losses.

Who Pays the Fire Loss?

It is generally the impression that every time the fire bell rings one or more insurance companies sustain a loss. This is partly true, but the loss sustained is only for a temporary period. Insurance companies are but collectors and distributors of the fire loss. The bread we eat, the clothes we wear, the books we read and the machinery we operate, all have in their cost a part of the national fire loss.

Where Fires Take Place

Over 60 per cent of the number of fires take place in the homes, which means a home fire every four minutes. Each day, on an average, five schools, five churches, 15 hotels, one hospital, four warehouses, 96 farms, six department stores, two theatres, eight public garages, three printing plants and three dry goods stores are burning.

What Are The Causes

Matches, cigars, cigarettes and other "smokes" started fires causing a loss of $37,880,000. These are preventable.

Defective flues and chimneys are responsible for $27,092,000 loss, and stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes caused a loss of $25,521,000. Many of these fires originated in oily or paint-smeared rags, oil mops and the like. These are preventable.

Sparks on roofs destroyed $18,350,000 worth of property. These fires are wholly preventable by the use of fire retardant roof covering. If your city does not prevent wooden shingles by ordinance, it should do so.

Electricity and electrical appliances caused a loss of $18,961,000. Of all these fires 46 per cent were due to carelessness with electric irons. These fires were preventable. Electrical fires are largely preventable by proper wiring installations.

Oats make a splendid feed for dairy cows if they are ground and properly mixed with other concentrates, crude protein as wheat bran. They should be mixed with other feeds, such as corn, wheat bran and cottonseed meal.

A flaming meteorite, 25 pounds in weight is reported to have caused a recent forest fire in the Walla Walla section of the Umatilla National Forest in Oregon. The meteorite, according to the Forest Service, broke off a 299 inch tree 20 feet from the ground and lodged in the stump.

KEEP RECORD OF DAIRY COW

Spring Scale Placed in Convenient Place Will Make Matter of Weighing Easy Task.

Keep a record of the number of pounds of milk given by each cow. Hang a spring scale in a convenient place where the milk can easily be weighed, and mark down the weight of each milking on a chart prepared for the purpose. At the end of every month, add up the amount of milk produced to determine the monthly record. The year's record will show the amount of milk produced by each cow.

WATER AND SALT ESSENTIAL

Two Important Ingredients Must Be Supplied to Calf for Its Best Development.

At all times calves should have access to a quantity of fresh water. In the development of the calf, water is a very essential factor and plenty of it is not amiss. When the calf is four weeks old it should have one-fourth ounce of salt each day and the quantity should be increased as the animal matures. In six months it should be able to take as much as one-third ounce per day. Salt should be fed in connection with the feed.

SUPERIOR RATION FOR CALF

Important to Get Young Animal on Skim Milk With Grain and Hay Soon as Possible.

Get the calves to take a good ration of skim milk with some hay and grain as soon as possible. For the first two weeks after birth a small calf such as an average Jersey should receive about eight pounds or four quarts of milk daily fed in two or three feeds a day. A large calf such as a Holstein may be given ten or twelve pounds daily.

Cause of Calf Bloat.

Bloat in calves is often caused by too much leafy clover or alfalfa. Except in severe cases very little treatment is given. In severe cases it may be necessary to use the trocar to let out the gas. In such a case a competent veterinarian should be called.

Vermin Pester Calves.

Lice on calves are common. They make the calf uncomfortable, take its strength, and make the hair come out in patches. Many methods of getting rid of lice have been practiced.

It takes an accomplished liar to hand a woman satisfactory compliments.

THE DUCK FAMILY

"Quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"Quack, quack," said Sir David Duck.

"Quack, quack," said the little ducklings.

"Now you know how you must sleep, don't you, precious ducklings?" asked Mrs. Duck.

"Yes, Mother Duck," answered the little ducklings. "Yes, quack, quack, we know."

"And we will show you, Mother Duck, so you will see that we know."

"That is right, quack, quack," said Mother Duck.

"That is right, quack, quack," said Sir David Duck.

So the little ducklings showed Mrs. Duck and Sir David Duck and all the "Quack, quack," said Mother Duck. "You all know your lesson well, and it delights Mother Duck's heart."

"You do, indeed, know your lesson well," said Sir David Duck. "You are good, bright ducks. No one could complain of you."

"I should say not," said Mother Duck. "No brighter ducklings ever lived."

"Every time I see you wobble I think of how beautiful you are."

"Ah, yes, you're mother's beautiful ducklings. And though some may say you're not beautiful, I think you are."

And Mother Duck looked very proud and happy. Sometimes she was called Mother Duck and sometimes Mrs. Duck. Of course Mrs. Duck was what she had been called but she quacked so proudly about the beauty and the brightness of her children that most of the barnyard creatures, as well as her own ducklings, began calling her Mother Duck, too.

"Grant, grant," said Sammy Sausage. "You may think you're very bright and a very good mother, and that your children are very bright and very good children, but I think all of you are absurd."

"Quack, quack, what in the world, or the barnyard, do you mean?" asked Mrs. Duck.

"I cannot understand it. Not for a moment can I understand your strange speech."

"Well, I suppose if you understand it for a moment you would be able to understand it for a longer time, too," said Sammy.

"I will explain to you, however. I do not think you're bright and I do not think you're a good mother. Neither do I think your children are bright, nor do I think they're such good children."

"I should think you'd teach them that the most important thing in the world is food and that the brightest thing a creature can do is to grab all they can."

"And if the children were bright of their own accord they would be practicing such lessons instead of the absurd one you've just taught them."

"Quack, quack," said Mother Duck. "I'll have you know, Sammy, that I do not teach my children to be pigs. I teach them to be ducks, and ducks they are. I'm thankful to say."

"You poor duck, how foolish you are," granted Sammy. "But I am glad that there are people with little sense—it leaves more food about for those who think of it appreciatively."

older ducks how they would be able to sleep in the water, which was what Mother Duck wanted to know.

They showed her how they would hold one foot up under them and with the other they would keep their same position in the water.

That is, they would paddle with that one foot even as they slept—it was very simple and easy to do after a short time and they would keep in the same place that way. Of course on the farm they could not go far.

But it was well to learn all duck lessons, for if ever they should be sleeping in the open—in a large body of water—then they would need to know this lesson.

TESTIMONY OF THOSE WHO KNOW

Littlefield, Texas.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In 1924 I bought two farms near Littlefield. Three crops have been made on this land, and a year ago myself and family moved to Littlefield.

I have farmed in Williamson county, Texas, all my life, and it is my candid and unbiased opinion my land near Littlefield will produce more one year with another than my Williamson county land. And will further state there is no question in my mind but that a man can cultivate two acres on the South Plains as cheap as he can on the black land of Texas.

The Littlefield section of the South Plains has excellent educational advantages, good railroad facilities and, to my mind, presents one of the greatest opportunities in Texas for home-seekers and investors.

Yours very truly,

J. R. WALES.

DAIRY COW FEED

Dairy cows while milking should not be overly fat. They can well be fed enough to put on some flesh during the dry period and should be fed so as to keep in good condition while in milk.

The general principles for correct feeding are (1) feed a balanced ration, (2) feed according to production—all the good roughage that the cow will consume and generally one pound of concentrates for each three to three and one-half pounds of milk produced. If a balanced ration is fed and the cow gets too fat, the amount of feed should be reduced somewhat. If she is producing heavily and getting too poor in flesh, she is either not receiving enough feed or the ration is not properly balanced.

This is— AN ELECTRICAL AGE

Housewives are now turning to Electricity for cleaner, faster and more economical service in every department of household activity.

There is nothing more satisfactory than to be able to "switch on the juice" and sit down to enjoy a good book or magazine without having first to clean an old coal oil lamp, and then not have one-half the illumination that comes from a modern Mazda bulb.

Electricity too, comes in mighty handy for the toaster at the breakfast table, for a quick cup of coffee in the percolator, for quickly heating the curling iron, running the vacuum cleaner, and a hundred and one other things for which it is always a ready obedient and satisfactory servant.

Above all, its the nicest thing in the world to cook with. If you haven't yet tried it, you haven't yet had the full enjoyment of perfect cooking. Why not step into our office today and let us show you some of the choice electrical ranges we sell. Also, a full line of other electrical appliances and accessories.

CHIROPRACTIC

—Nature's Way
No, not medicine to load your system with non-assimilable material, that whips what little force your diseased body has left into action in order to eliminate same, thus making you believe that the stimulating effects thus received has benefited you, when the contrary is true. No we advocate doing that.

The minute the effects of a stimulant has worn off your body experiences a reaction and you are worse off than before you took the medicine.

Chiropractic

does not go at your troubles this way. The Chiropractor locates the region in which your nerve force, or as it is known in the profession,—"mental impulses,"—is shut off, adjusts to open these impingements, and you are restored to Health the natural way—the way your Maker intended. No need for any stimulants or depressants, as the body is self-regulative when it is receiving the proper nerve supply. Give this little thought and possibly it will dawn on you why this science has made the wonderful progress it has in spite of all the opposition and obstacles it has had to overcome—by far the greatest advancement of any health science ever established on earth.

Chiropractic is just in its infancy—the youngest of all health sciences of today, and second to the number of adherents, I venture to say that in another ten years it will be first without doubt.

The Chiropractic recognizes the need of surgery in a few instances but does not advocate the free use of the knife which is so often made.

If you are sick have the pressure released along the spinal column and get well and happy.

SAVE TIME WITH OVEN COOKERY

Editor's Note: This is one of the best of cooking articles by 6 famous cooks appearing exclusively in this paper. Paste it in your cook book.

When days are fullest, and time is most precious, try an oven-cooked meal. You will save yourself many minutes in preparation and watching.

And you will be able to serve a tasty meal—the kind which will make your family exclaim, "Let's have this again soon!" The menu given today is by Mrs. Bella DeGraf, San Francisco, home economics counsellor.

MRS. BELLE DE GRAF

A Delicious Oven Meal

Beef and Macaroni, San Francisco
Baked Lima Beans, Paprika
Pineapple and Cheese Salad
Stanford Prune Whip Pie
Beverage

The actual cooking time for this meal is three hours. But, with a reliable stove, the cook does not need to stay in the kitchen more than half an hour!

First, heat the oven well for 3 minutes to 425 degrees, while you make a pie crust. Bake for 15 minutes. Then put meat and beans into oven, and reduce heat to "moderate," or 350 degrees. You need pay no more attention to this cooking for 2 hours, when meal is ready to serve.

A heat regulator takes the guesswork out of baking. It registers the exact degrees of heat. One, made especially for oil stoves, may be fastened easily to practically any glass-door oven.

Beef and Macaroni San Francisco

Select about 2 pounds of lean beef, cut into pieces suitable for serving. Sprinkle each piece with salt and dredge with flour.

Heat drippings of fat, flour, salt pork in a frying pan, then add macaroni and quickly brown each piece on all sides. When browned, place in a large casserole and pour over 2 cups of tomato sauce, or pureed tomatoes, one teaspoon of salt and enough hot water to cover meat. Add 12 or more ripe or stuffed olives. Cover casserole.

Place in a moderate oven and cook about 2 hours. An hour before meal is to be served add 1/2 cup of butter, margarine or melted butter, broken into small lengths. If more liquid is needed add either tomato or stock.

Baked Lima Beans, Paprika

Soak lima beans overnight, or at least for several hours. Drain, cover with fresh cold water and get over the fire, bringing slowly to the boiling point. Drain again, and place in a casserole or bowl, yet

Cover with water, add 1 teaspoon of salt, 2 teaspoons paprika, and 1 tablespoon butter. Cover and cook with the meat, allowing about the same time.

Is your oven so built that you can cook fish, cake, and onions in it at the same time with no blending of flavors? One manufacturer is selling just such ovens. They have such perfect air circulation that all odors are carried away. There is not the slightest blending of flavors.

Pineapple and Cheese Salad

Allow one slice of pineapple for each serving. Place a tablespoonful of well-seasoned cottage cheese in the center of each slice or make cheese balls with butter ball padding. Make a French dressing with lemon juice.

A good French dressing is made as follows:

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 cup lemon juice or vinegar
- 1 cup olive oil (or other good salad oil)

Oil and juice should be cold. Put all ingredients into fruit jar and shake well.

Stanford Prune Whip Pie

Make a pie crust, then add the prune whip:

- 1 cup prune pulp
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg white unbeaten
- 1/2 cup finely shredded almonds or walnuts

Put stoned stewed prunes through a coarse sieve. Put sugar, prune pulp and unbeaten egg whites in a bowl and beat with a whip egg-beater until stiff enough to hold its shape. Fold in part of the nuts, then heap mixture in the baked pie crust. Sprinkle nuts on top and bake on top grate of oven until nuts are delicately browned.

This is a good, substantial meal which hungry folks will relish. There are innumerable combinations which may be oven-cooked, too. For example, roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, potatoes browned in the pan, onion soups, and custard pie. You can readily think of many others.

If you wash rice in two warm waters instead of one it will remove the starch much quicker.

Kansas Cow Sets New Milk Record

Twelve gallons of milk a day, or more than triple her weight during the last four weeks, is the record of the Holstein cow owned by R. P. Brown of Columbus, Kas. Her average has been 96 lbs. per day. She weighs 900 pounds.

Our Practical Pattern

No. 1223

Women whose good taste demands smart simplicity in clothes, will be delighted with this new model. They will notice at once the clever combination of materials—silk, yet strikingly carried out by trimming, the graceful lines and sleeves of the blouse with bands of the same material as the skirt.

For instance, the effect of a white crepe blouse trimmed with black satin which also forms the skirt, would be stunning. Equally good looking would be a beige crepe combined with the new chestnut brown satin.

No dressmaking experience is needed to make Design No. 1223. Pattern may be obtained in sizes 16 to 44. Size 36 requires 1 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for blouse and 2 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for skirt and trimmings. Patterns will be delivered to any address upon receipt of 25c in cash or U. S. Postage. Always mention size wanted. Address Pattern Department, this newspaper.

ESSENTIAL TO MILK COW DRY

Pays to Spend Few Minutes in Stripping Udder to Make Sure of Getting All Milk.

Milking cows dry is essential. When milk is left in the udder after each milking, the glands will gradually slow up on secreting milk and ultimately the cow will dry up. It pays to spend a few extra minutes stripping the udder to make certain that all the milk has been extracted.

ROOTS DESIRABLE FOR COWS

Greatest Objection to Mangels is Amount of Labor Involved in Harvesting.

Mangels or roots make a very desirable feed for dairy cows. The greatest objection is the labor involved in growing, harvesting and storing them. This renders them more expensive than silage and for this reason they are seldom grown in large quantities where it is practical to build silos and fill them with a satisfactory crop.

Pigs Require Good Care.

It isn't the number of pigs that are fattened so much as the number saved that counts. The first ten days in a pig's life are the most critical. Give both sow and her litter special attention then.

Benefits From Cows.

Cows earn while they are making the soil richer. During the bad weather when farmers cannot work in the field they may feed and milk cows and thus receive wages for their labor in addition to improving the soil.

Lots of men are failures because they never attempt anything.

Instead of regretting yesterday get busy and prepare for tomorrow.

It's surprising how many things a girl can learn at a boarding-school that will never be any use to her. Occasionally a man climbs so high that he roosts above everybody else—then he begins to get lonesome.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he.—Proverbs 33:7.

Many men's thoughts are not acorns, but pebbles.—Charles Buxton.

ANOTHER TAX CUT

With November elections, but a short time away we are due to hear a good deal and to read a good deal about tax reduction. Both of the major political parties are promising to give this favorite subject their attention when Congress reconvenes in December. One party feels that a reduction of $150,000,000 can again be safely made; the other sees no reason why the reduction cannot be as much as a half-billion.

But no matter how much federal taxes are cut by the next congress, few residents around Littlefield will benefit to any noticeable extent. Only those with incomes of $10,000 or more will feel the effects of further federal tax reductions, and there are not many of us in that class around here.

What the average family really needs now is relief from the growing burden of state, county and local assessments. The time has come to put the brakes on a little bit, because increasing taxes has come to be pretty much of a habit instead of an actual need. It's all right for a state or county to have an eye for the future, but it's dangerous to look too far ahead. Congress can do more to provide relief than merely cutting taxes, especially when the cutting relieves only those in position to pay heavy taxes. Give the country at large farm relief, and the Mississippi valley flood relief. Then everybody can be happy.

Having a ready imagination is a fine thing, but it isn't worth much when it comes to paying bills.

AN EDITOR SPEAKS

There is a belief in many quarters that most newspaper men are a little bit careless about facts; that they would rather print something interesting than something strictly true. Don Marquis, widely known New York World man has this to say on the subject, and he speaks our sentiments exactly:

"The constant aim on the part of editors is for accuracy—it is their only protection if their should be a come-back of any sort. They really want to print things right, and usually when they print them wrong it is because they have been lied to by some more or less interested party whom they credited. The reader would be surprised to know how many lies are handed to reporters and editors in the course of a day's work. I have observed that it is the very people who give out tales that do not square with the facts who are always saying: 'You can't believe anything you see in the papers nowadays.'"

If it wasn't for silk stockings and permanent waves there would be fewer working girls.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

A month ago Littlefield boys and girls bade goodbye to vacation days and greeted the yawning school desks, wiped the dust from off their books, and got down to their fall and winter studies.

Littlefield has always taken a great interest in its school system, of which it may rightfully be proud. Last year showed considerable improvement, and an advanced position in affiliation, thanks to the Superintendent, his corps of teachers and the members of the school board. This year the school should go still farther forward.

Schools are something that can not be too good, and the co-operation of all patrons and citizens toward making each succeeding term more profitable to our boys and girls is indeed valuable work. Right now those who are delinquent in their taxes will confer a special favor upon the school by paying them as soon as possible. The borrowing of money to carry on a school as large as this one entails considerable extra cost and should be obviated as much as possible. In fact, it could all be eliminated if the taxes were paid as they came due.

Aside from the financial side of the school, there is much the parents may do in co-operating with the teachers toward desired results, and any suggestion which you may feel would be to the benefit of the system and the elevating of the school standards will be appreciated when presented to the proper authorities for their consideration.

The hardest thing of all for Col. Lindbergh on his tour over the U. S. is the flights of non-stop oratory he is constantly running into.

NOT ALL DEAD

These are the days of the county fair, and while we have considerable proof in various states that it has suffered quite a decline in recent years, there are still enough of them left, and successful ones, to allay the fear that they will soon become totally extinct.

There will always be a place in the county fair in communities that look upon it as something more than a money-making proposition. Always there will be a desire in the hearts of former residents to return for a reunion, with friends of other days. Fraternalism is still a fact, changing conditions cannot wipe out a lifetime of friendships. Racing may be doomed and the catch-penny carnival games may be outlawed, there will always be those who want to see how adept their neighbors are at stock raising and how skilled they are in agricultural pursuits.

Housewives will never tire of gazing upon the handwork of those skilled in kitchen work or the needle, and the kiddies, always ready for anything that smacks of amusement, would never be robbed of the county fair if it could be left to their votes.

The number of fairs is declining; in Littlefield will dispute that fact. But those still in operation appear to be on a pretty solid basis, especially those which operate along the lines for which county fairs were originally intended instead of on a dollar-and-cent, money making basis.

Love thrives without money about like flowers thrive without rain.

LOST MAIL

According to word recently received at the Littlefield postoffice from Washington, more than $600,000 was wasted in 1926 on postage for mail matter that never reached its destination. The information shows that during the year 12, 688,567 letters and circulars reached the Dead Letter office in Washington. Most of them had to be destroyed since there was no means of telling to whom they should be returned.

Here we are living in an enlightened age, and yet spending almost a million dollars a year for something that doesn't do a penny's worth of good. Is there any sense in such waste when a few dimes spent with a

Dr. Frank Crane Says

STUDY THESE FOUR MODEST MEN

Modesty is one of the chief characteristics of true greatness. A great man can have no further commendation or no greater bid for popularity than to have it said that he is modest.

This has been a characteristic of President Coolidge. He has avoided the spotlight and attended to the serious duties of his office with becoming humility. His recent word that he did not choose to run for President again should be taken at its face value. It is the solemn dictum of a man who, having achieved the acme of his popularity, desires to step aside.

Another man who is winning all kinds of plaudits and reaping all sorts of popularity from his becoming modesty is the Prince of Wales. Of course he deserves no credit for being born the son of a king, but he does deserve credit for not stopping over. He has managed to say the right thing at the right time and to conduct himself with becoming decorum in whatever limelight he may be placed. While he is not to be credited with the distinction of being born to royalty, he is entitled to the distinction of caring for the duties of this superior place as he should. He is well liked not only throughout the British Dominions, but in the United States and elsewhere throughout the world.

job printer for neatly printed return cards will prevent any piece of mail from going astray?

Where $600, 000 is involved, and some of that probably out of your own pocket, it is a matter worth studying over.

Some men think they have the world at their feet, while others think they have it in their hands.

FAMILY ALBUMS

While we're on the subject of how times have changed" why doesn't some one point to the rapid disappearance of the old family albums that used to have a place in almost every home?

The old albums with the red or green plush covers, may be gone forever, but they have in a way been replaced by the little "snap-shot" albums. Now we have kodak pictures of the family and friends instead of "tintypes." And tomorrow we may have all these recorded in the shape of moving pictures that can be shown right in the family sitting room, since enterprising concerns are making movie cameras and reproducing machines for individual use.

Older residents of Littlefield may miss the "tintype" albums, but their sons and daughters never will. They will sooner or later grow used to seeing pictures of father and mother, or grandpa and grandma, flashed on a screen in their own homes and the homes of their neighbors. It's a mighty fast age we're living in, and sometimes it seems pretty hard for a lot of us to keep up with it.

Another trouble with this country is that there is too much talk about enforcing the laws and not enough about obeying them.

YOUR JOB

John D. Rockefeller last week celebrated the seventy-second anniversary of the day on which he got his first job. He was sixteen years old and is now eighty-eight. Young gentlemen will observe that Mr. Rockefeller took that first job seriously and worked hard at it, although no office boy would condescend to accept twice as much now.

Those that smile when told Mr. Rockefeller still has the first dollar he earned should remember that he also has the first HUNDRED MILLION dollars he ever earned—which is no laughing matter—and the second, third and fourth hundred million.

Also, Mr. Rockefeller, since he took that small job, in 1865, has given away, to science, charity and education, more than five hundred million dollars. It pays, apparently, to take your job, big or little, seriously.

Yes, we'd like to see the farmers have a five-day week, if it wasn't for the fact that the folks in the cities would starve to death.

To those who have met Jack Dempsey personally he has been a surprise. They expected the Manassas mauler to look like a bruiser. They were surprised to find him gentle, well liked by everybody and courteous. His form is slim and his manner is that of a gentleman. He is affectionate in his family relations and altogether those who know him are not envious of his fame.

The fourth modest man that has recently loomed in the horizon has been Lindbergh. After achieving the feat that brought him the plaudits of kings and nations everywhere he apparently was not possessed of the idea that he was a superman, but modestly restrained his claims to those of a flying man. He had crossed the ocean alone in a flying plane, but did not suppose because he had done a stunt with his machine in the air he could do every other kind of thing. It is with a feeling of pride that the people of the country read of the way he demeaned himself in France and in Great Britain and in connection with the officials of this country. As far as we know he has made no enemies for the one thing that makes an enemy is over wearing egotism.

America is justly proud of these four men and principally because they are not proud of themselves especially.

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Castro, M. D.

THE ABUSE OF PRIVILEGE

I wonder if my readers sometimes pause to think of the boundless privileges that men and women possess? There is nothing in or on this big, round earth—no, nor in the skies above, that is not ours to lay hold of, and use as we please, so long as we respect the rights of our fellow-men and women.

Yet, man is the only created being that abuses his divine permit, well knowing that he must suffer by so doing. Like the spoiled child, he spends, does excesses in everything debauches his digestive, eliminative, nervous and sexual systems—there is no privilege that he does not abuse—and the penalties are as sure as today's sunset!

The abuse of privilege is mankind's most outstanding sin; we ought to be ashamed of ourselves, —blessed as we are above all animate species, and defiantly indulging our appetites as if we were damageproof. Who among us has ever observed one of the so-called lower animals violating the natural law? Violating the law of right living? They are seldom ill, and usually live out the full expectation of life unless man interferes. Excesses in food and drink; extravagance in our output of energy; prodigality in things which are sacred; intemperance in so-called luxuries; defiance within the orchard of forbidden fruits—all these are producers of suffering and unhappiness, curtailers of life itself. I am not sermonizing,—I am arguing for temperance in ALL things, and against the violation of our God-given privileges, knowing that life health and happiness are the sure rewards. Right living will, in time, do away with the doctor and his gripful of "pills." There is nothing that we may not use; the danger lies in abuse.

LITTLE LEADERS

A cowlick can worry the average Littlefield boy of 16 as much as an overdue note can worry a man of 40.

The average Littlefield girl who has a soul above a skillet generally has a mind above the average.

Most any Littlefield married man can tell you that it's useless for him to be right if his wife thinks he's wrong.

Some Littlefield parents who can not control one or two children do not hesitate to blame the teacher if she is unable to handle 40 or 50 of them.

There are still a lot of fellows around Littlefield who would rather go to jail for a few weeks than to have to carve a chicken when there's company at the table.

We know some men around Littlefield who spend as much time trying to keep their hair from coming out as their wives spend in trying to keep the wrinkles from coming in.

One thing every man in Littlefield is certain of, and that is that he would be the most liberal man town if he was only rich.

An old-timer around Littlefield one who can remember when domestic science meant cooking meals instead of using a can opener.

We think every Littlefield man should have his photograph made at least once after reaching maturity, then his grandchildren will be sure of having something to laugh at.

Buick tests at that time had shown that oil changes would never be necessary, with the Oil Filter to remove impurities, and the Crankcase Ventilator to prevent oil dilution. Now, more than a year has passed, and Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have also proved that you never need change your oil if you own a Buick—replenishment and inspection of the Buick Oil Filter only are required.

Littlefield Territory Fast Becoming Recognized Agriculture Country Filled with Contented Folks

What for many years past has been considered a vital potentiality is now becoming an assured fact, and that is the undisputed and unequalled fact that the Littlefield section is rapidly becoming a convincing success agriculturally. Crops produced this year further bear out the truth of this statement, for there is not a farmer throughout this entire territory who has been half-way on the job but will reap an abundant harvest for his labors.

For the past five years the eyes of multiplied thousands of people have been upon this section. Hundreds of them have already come and proven to their own ultimate satisfaction the merits of this country, and they, working together with others, will eventually like a great magnet, attract hundreds of others.

When it is considered that only a few years have elapsed since the bald prairie with its bald-faced cattle have been supplanted by the cow, sow and hen program, and during that time an once honored and approved cattle country has been transformed into an agriculture domain, where farming is becoming more and more intensified and contented owners are every year becoming more and more independent of the money-lender and mortgage holder, the change is little short of an economic marvel.

Cotton, practically unknown on the South Plains 15 years ago, is now one of the principal crops; but along with this staple money-producing crop the growing of grain sorghums furnishes a mighty yield from the thousands of acres planted to it each year. Wheat, too, is gaining in favor more and more each year, as certain lands are proving by their production to be well adapted to that small grain.

From the crops raised in the Littlefield vicinity this year there are going to be hundreds of farmers who will take up one, two and three year notes against their recently purchased lands. Some will pay out entirely, and make further improvements on their places. Others who are practically out of debt now will have money to put in the bank looking forward to the proverbial "rainy day." While in both town and country there will be a general toning up in a financial and social way that will reach out in its ramifications of benefit into practically every home, effecting practically every person.

Each year of development witnesses the country growing more stable in its general production, its people becoming more prosperous and contented, its business enterprises more expanding, its highways improving, its buildings enlarging, its population more enthusiastic regarding their new locations, and all looking forward in great anticipation to an even greater and pleasanter future.

Now is the Time for Cotton Farmer to Check Up On Results of Cotton Seed Planted This Year

College Station, Texas, Oct. 2.—Now is the time for the cotton farmer to check upon the results of his year's work by getting squarely down to brass tacks on certain phases of his production, J. S. Mogford, of the agronomy department, A. & M. College, points out.

Among the questions that the cotton grower should ask himself Mr. Mogford said, are the following: Was the planting seed used this year a good one, one that would be preferred for next year? Did the seed germinate 90 per cent or better? Were they clean, pure seed, large, free from disease, and did they produce strong, healthy plants? How long was it from planting to flowering and from flowering to the first open bolls? Were the plants close jointed, strong, healthy and well fruited? Were the bolls large? Were the bolls of all the plants alike? How many bolls were there to the pound? Just exactly what was the acre yield? Was the harvest 250 pounds of lint to the acre or was the cotton produced at a loss?

"Cotton is chiefly grown for the lint it produces and therefore the grower should be sure that the variety grown produces a good, strong fiber that meets the demands of the market," Mr. Mogford said. "If the farmer is unable to determine himself whether the staple is at least one inch long, if it is hard and strong, if all the fibers are of approximately the same length, if there is a heavy body of fibers on the seed, he may be sending his sample of lint to the Textile Department of the A. & M. College, get such information. If your cotton does not come up to the requirements of a good variety, don't start next year's crop with poor seed. Get pure seed, of a good variety, from a state certified breeder.

Protecting Orchards From Mice

The most satisfactory method of controlling field mice in orchards is by the use of poison bait. Put the poison in wooden or other containers, which are accessible to mice but will protect the poison from the weather and also from birds, and place these near the fruit trees. In orchards where the mice are abundant it is advisable to place a container under each tree. The following preparation is designed for use as a permanent bait in poison stations or containers and has also proved satisfactory for general use:

Mix together, dry, 1-8 ounce of powdered strychnine and 1-8 ounce of baking soda. Sift the strychnine over one quart of rolled oats, stirring constantly to insure an even distribution of the poison through the grain. Thoroughly warm the poisoned rolled oats in an oven and sprinkle over them six tablespoonfuls of a mixture of three parts of melted beef fat and one part of melted paraffin, mixing until the oats are evenly coated. When the grain is cool it is ready to use.

Jelled prunes are made with gelatin, in the same way as any jelled fresh fruit. Use the water the prunes were cooked in, adding a little lemon juice to tone up the prunes, and allow one envelope or ounce of gelatin to each three and a half cups of liquid. As with other jelled fruits, a trifle less liquid is needed than usual because of the presence of the solid pieces of fruit. A few pecan or walnut meats scattered through this dessert make it extra good.

Jelly that didn't jell can be used in many ways. As a spread or sauce for pancakes; as a filling for whole stewed or baked apples; in pastry or tart shells, garnished with whipped cream; in jelly roll; in lamb or mutton gravy, if tart; as a foundation for fruit punch.

Many a man who calls himself a conservative is only a coward.

JONES BROS., Proprietors

This Little Dollar Stayed Home

Otto Jones owed Bob McCaskill $2.00; McCaskill owed Carl Ellis $2.00 and Ellis owed Jones $2.00. The three men met; Jones was the only one of the three who had any money with him and, as it happened he only had one dollar. He said, "McCaskill, I owe you $2.00; here's $1.00 on account." McCaskill accepted the dollar and turning to Ellis said, "Here, Ellis is a dollar of the two I owe you." Ellis in turn paid Jones a dollar on account. Jones now had his dollar back which he gave to McCaskill saying, "Now, Bob we're square." Bob said, "Yes, and here Carl take this dollar and that squares us." Ellis then paid Jones the last dollar of the $2.00 debt and Jones went on his way with the dollar still in his pocket. All done with one silver dollar!

Somebody says, "There's a catch in it." But there isn't; it only goes to show how money circulates and we tell this story to illustrate what it means to you to spend your money at home. That dollar that Jones paid to McCaskill went the regular rounds that every dollar goes when you spend it with your local merchant. If Jones had sent that dollar away to a mail-order concern they might all still be in debt.
