Complete Fall Stocks; Expect Throng

Littlefield's great bargain day of the month — dollar day — will be held Monday, November 1, with the city's leading merchants offering paramount values from the complete fall stocks.

For the past several years local merchants have set aside the first Monday in each month as a city-wide Dollar Day and have used a large amount of newspaper space advertising timely dollar values.

The first Dollar Day of the season held in Littlefield October 5 proved a great success and local merchants, their stores stocked to overflowing with fall merchandise, are looking forward to an even greater trade day this coming Monday.

In this issue of the Leader many attractive Dollar Day values are being advertised by the city's leading merchants.

CONSERVATION PROGRAM NOW IN FULL SWING

Eighty-Five Percent of Farm Acreage Has Been Measured

About 85 percent of the farms that are to be measured have been measured to date, says D. F. Pounds, Assistant County Agent. As soon as these farms are measured, the acreage is figured and a card is mailed to the producer stating the acreage that was actually measured on the place, as designated by the producer. This does not mean that the required acres are correct, according to your work sheet.

I would advise each producer to check the acres and see if he is in compliance. Be sure you have diverted at least 20 percent of your cotton base, then subtract your cotton base from your total cultivated acres and see that your general base of feed base will be. Take 15 percent of that and add to the amount of acres of cotton that was diverted and see if you have the required number of diverted acres. This is very important that you have these acres correct, because it might prevent you from receiving payment.

If any changes are to be made, come to the County Agent's office and designate the changes on the farm map.

The recruiting area for the Fort includes Arizona, New Mexico and West Texas and many men from these localities are already enrolled from these areas, the letter said. Save Feed Crop By Storing In Trench Silos Lamb County farmers are taking advantage of their feed crop this year by storing a large portion of it in trench silos, says D. F. Pounds, Ass't. Co Agent.

By putting the feed in trench silo; it will provide a substitute feed for the winter and store the surplus for a drouthy year. In my opinion it will only be a few years until 90 percent of the farmers in Lamb county will store their feed in Trench Silos, rather than stack it out in the wind and rain and let it get full of sand and dry out to where the stock will hardly eat it.

RESOLUTION TO INCREASE TERM OF COUNTY OFFICES PRESENTED BY MAYOR CROCKETT AT PARLEY

At the convention of the County Judges and Commissioners' association at Dallas, which convened Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Mayor L. R. Crockett was instrumental in presenting and having approved from the floor of the Convention, and adopted Saturday, a resolution increasing the terms of county offices from two to four years.

Mr. Crockett appeared before the Resolution Committee, which body asked him to draft such a document which he did, following which the committee presented it on the floor, and it was passed unanimously.

Mr. Crockett stated that this change will of course, have to be made by constitutional amendment, and voted on by the people.

The resolution at the meeting was extended to cover State and precinct elective officers as well as County, and repeal of the present fee officers' salary bill was also urged by members of the County Judges and Commissioners' association at the Saturday session.

Mr. Crockett, in support of his resolution, stated that at least two years was required for a new official to become fully acquainted with his job, and that four years would give the officers more time to make plans in the carrying out the duties of the office. He stated that "making plans for two years, and then going right back into a campaign so soon does not give time to carry out plans to advantage of tax payers. When one is elected for a four year term he has enough space of time ahead of him to work, and he naturally assumes all responsibility and problems that confront him as being his and not place the burden on the next administration to handle."

G. M. Vann and Hiram Bell, Commissioner Elect, and Commissioner Don Bryant also attended the Convention.

The repeal of the fee officer's salary bill was also asked in requesting the present special session of the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment which would bring about the repeal if passed by vote of the people.

In another resolution in the Judges and Commissioners asked that the present law be amended pending its repeal so that the Commissioners' Courts would have the right to determine the number of deputies employed in county offices and the salary paid them.

Another resolution requested the present special session of the Legislature to make appropriations necessary to pay to counties the 14c per capita provided for in a statute previously passed. This payment is in lieu of fees formerly paid by the State in felony cases.

The Railroads of Texas were hosts to the Judges and Commissioners at a luncheon at the Adolphus Hotel Friday noon, which was followed by a banquet at the Santa Fe Building that evening.

Court of Honor Is Scheduled For Nov. 5th at Littlefield

According to Floyd Coffman, Court of Honor Chairman of the Northwestern District, plans are being completed for the Court of Honor scheduled for November 5 at Littlefield.

Outside of the regular presentation of awards, Scouts from Troop 25 will present a short educational program, Eugene Latimer, in charge. Quite a lot of interest has been created among the various troops about their place on the "Court of Honor Ladder" introduced to the Scouts in this district at the last Court of Honor held at Sudan November 2. Sudan was at the top of the ladder this month and each Scout has determined that their troop will be at the top for November.

An unusually large crowd is expected to attend to equal the large crowd that attended the Sudan court. Troops that will participate are Muleshoe, Sudan, Troop 25 and 26 at Littlefield, Bula, Olton, and Anton.

Suicide of L. O. Cooper, suspect in the brutal slaying of Miss Juanita Kelly whose body was found buried in a shallow grave in a Sudan patch between White face and Morton Monday, led District Attorney Daniel A. Blair of Lubbock to announce Wednesday the case is "closed."

Miss Kelly, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kelly of Morton, recently sold her interest in a restaurant in Clovis, N. M., and had been at the home of her parents for approximately a week previous to her disappearance on the night of October 17.

Body Found Monday
She was last seen at a dance hall about one and one half miles from where her body, slashed at the throat and badly decomposed, was found Monday afternoon.

Cooper, arrested by Cochran County Sheriff J. S. Crockett Monday afternoon as a suspect in the case, was being held in the Lubbock county jail after undergoing two days of grueling by officers. At no time did he admit the slaying.

Cooper, a Cochran county farmer on whose farm the mutilated body of the girl was found, said Miss Kelly had been struck over the head with a heavy, studded wine bottle. He said her body had been taken into a sudan patch on his farm. Her throat was slit and she was buried there.

Suspect Denies Killing Woman
He did not admit to officers, however, that he slew the woman. He said "two other men" who approached him and Miss Kelly as they sat drinking in his car on the night of October 17, had slain her. The knife they used, he admitted was his.

Under continued grueling, the Cochran county farmer told officers he was left with the body. Frightened, he buried it in a sudan patch on his farm. He said he made three trips to the house before he finished the grisly task. He said he burned his own blood-stained clothes afterward to destroy the evidence.

Found Dead in Cell
Cooper was found dead in cell in the Lubbock county jail Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff Parum Possey after the prisoner the night before had told officers: "If you'll let me sleep, I'll finish it up for you in the morning."

The prisoner had slashed his arm above the elbow and death was caused from loss of blood.

Charges that Cooper had murdered Miss Kelly were filed by Sheriff J. S. Crockett of Morton with Justice of the Peace J. P. Taylor early Wednesday morning. Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney was informed late the same day.

Find Knife and Bottle
Sheriff Crockett was in Lubbock when the Lubbock officers returned Tuesday night with the knife and wine bottle. On returning to compete in the finals at a date to be announced later.

"This is not an ordinary style show," said Mrs. Davis, who besides acting as co-director of the revue presides as mistress of ceremonies, "but something different in entertainment."

The revue will be staged here two nights, the first being a merchants preview night and the second devoted to an elimination contest of the selection of the queen and court.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have directed and staged over 300 revues in the east and south in the past two years.

Will It Be "Queen Wally?"

Next to the question of who will be elected President of the United States on November 3, probably more people in this country are interested in the question whether King Edward VIII of England is going to marry the vivacious American woman, Mrs. Ernest Simpson, after she gets her divorce, which her husband said he would not contest when the case came up for trial in an English court. Nobody knows the answer but the King and Mrs. Simpson, but the underwriters of Lloyd's the great English insurance exchange, are asking a 25 percent premium to insure London merchants against the postponement of the King's coronation, which had been set for next May. That is taken to mean that British financial minds believe that the King will get married—to somebody—with the result that all plans for the coronation will be changed.

Meantime, the gossip of both sides of the Atlantic are busy speculating as to whether the King intends to marry Mrs. Simpson, whether he can legally marry her whether if he marries her she can take the title of Queen, and whether he ought to marry her, anyway. All America is interested, because she is an American. Everybody who ever knew the former Miss Wallis Warfield of Baltimore speaks of her in the highest terms as a lady who can hold her own in any society, and whose lineage, if not royal, is at least as good and as well authenticated as that of King Edward himself. She has been the King's constant companion for a long time, and numbers among her friends many of the highest figures in the British peerage. But she is an American, though a British subject by reason of her marriage to Ernest Simpson.

Can the King of England marry a commoner? Nobody seems to know of any law to prevent him from marrying anyone he pleases, except the Act of Succession which prohibits him from marrying a Roman Catholic. But Mrs. Simpson is a Protestant so there seems to be no legal obstacle in the way of her marrying the King if it so pleases both of them.

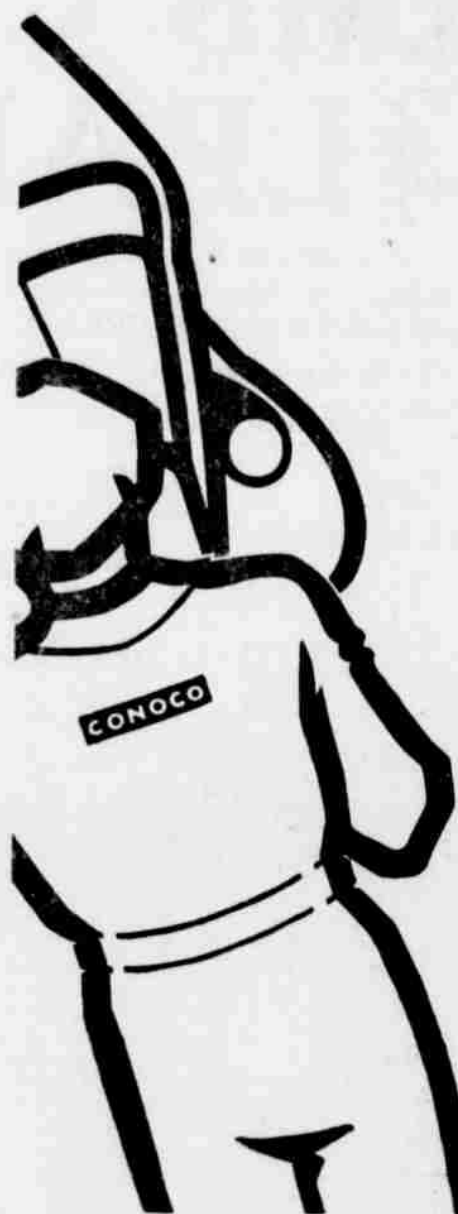

To be sure, no King of England has married a commoner since Henry VIII took Anne Boleyn to wife; but that is not to say it can't be done. An old English law prohibits any member of the royal family from marrying without the monarch's consent, but surely King Edward could give his own consent to his own marriage. And if the question of nobility is a serious one, nobody can prevent the King from making Mrs. Simpson a duchess or a marchioness before he marries her. Kings have ennobled their favorites in the past—without marrying them. King Charles II's blood runs in the veins of some of England's proudest families, descendants of his illegitimate children of whom Nell Gwynne was the mother, and upon whom he conferred titles of nobility.

It seems to be true that whomsoever the King legally marries becomes the Queen, although the husband of a reigning Queen does not automatically become King. Queen Victoria's husband had only the title of Prince Consort.

It is all interesting speculation, especially in view of the fact that "Wally's" forthcoming divorce will be her second. King Edward's great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, would not recognize or receive a divorcee, but times and moral judgments have changed in the 35 years since Victoria died. It is hardly likely that anybody would try to snub "Queen Wally" if things should turn out that way.

OIL-PLATING DONE HERE

(BUT BE SURE YOU READ ALL THE OTHER WINTER OIL ADS, TOO)

You will find most of the emphasis these days, on an oil that flows freely.

Well and good. You SHOULD use your correct Winter grade, but... You can see that the more freely any oil flows, the more freely it FLOWS DOWN OFF the pistons, cylinders, and other parts when you stop.

Then in starting up cold, where is mere free-flowing oil?

It is waiting to be pumped up on the job. And even in much warmer weather than this—according to engineering opinion—those oil-starved waits can cost you more engine wear than all the rest of your driving!

But this Winter with free-flowing Germ Processed oil, you can have your engine Oil-Plated! ... much more than a change to OUR Conoco Germ Processed oil... really a change to unbroken Winter lubrication for YOUR engine. It may stand cold for hours—days—weeks. Yet the slippery Oil-Plating formed only by patented Germ Processed oil, will always be UP IN ADVANCE. Pistons slip easy. Starter spins. Oil-Plated engine obliges— and lives the good life, on a stingy diet of Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

Excellent High School Band

With the first six weeks gone by and the students busy at their work, we turn our attention toward the high school band. This band under the supervision of Mr. Layfield has been working during these weeks getting ready to put themselves into the limelight of Littlefield.

There are thirty-one members of this band and all but four are setting with the other members at regular rehearsal. If those absent from the rehearsal will work, they too may be setting in the band within a week.

There are a few outstanding beginners who can read eight notes with fair skill already.

The music stands made by the woodwork class are of great help to the class during practice periods.

Mr. Layfield announced that there would probably be a concert given by the band at the Halloween party at the school house October the thirtieth.

The personnel of the orchestra includes:

Wayne Arnold, Billy Don Boone, Gerald Boykin, Dewey Connell, Joe Douglass, Don Eagan, B. D. Garland, Robert Graham, Charles Heathman, T. A. Henson, D. W. Holloway, Jerald Jones, James Lak-ey, Harold Latimer, Howard Latimer, Ben Lyman, Sam McCaskill, Walter Phipps, H. C. Pumphrey, John B. Rasberry, J. Lee Robins, Junior Walraven, Gene Willis, Alan Winston, Sunshine Burleson, Reba Carrol Neely, Ruth Pace, Mildred Reed, Ouida Mae, Emma F. Weatherly. Director, M. S. Layfield.

State Highway Patrolmen Speak Before Students

In a special assembly Tuesday Captain Legg and First Sergeant Shower, of the State Highway Patrol spoke before the Student Body on safety.

"We are living in a speed age, when the automobiles of today go faster than the aeroplanes during the World war," alleged Sergeant Shower.

Thirty six thousand five hundred people were killed or injured in automobile accidents during the past year.

This amount is more than the number of men Uncle Sam lost in the World war. These accidents cost somebody one thousand dollars per minute.

First Sergeant Showers went as far as to say that if the condition of today was allowed to continue one out of every twenty will be killed in automobile accidents within the next five years.

A plea was made to the students to assist in a safety movement and make traffic safer through their cooperation.

About 900 Enjoy Texas Centennial

There were close to nine hundred people from around Littlefield, who rode the special train to the Texas Centennial, seven hundred and seventy of these were from Littlefield, five hundred were school children of Littlefield public school and one hundred and sixty-six were high school students.

The train left Littlefield about Thursday afternoon, October 15 and arrived at Dallas about seven o'clock Friday morning. Breakfast was served and everyone entered the Centennial grounds about seven thirty. The school children were divided into groups with a teacher appointed to go with them, each group given a list of special places to see.

Everyone met at the train at ten-thirty and started for Littlefield at eleven o'clock, Friday night. This train arrived at Littlefield about twelve thirty Saturday.

Everyone enjoyed a swell time and wishes to express thanks to the Railroad company vbkg ETAOINN Governor, State Superintendent, Railroad company, Depot Agent, Peyton Packing Company, School board and teachers for making it possible for students to make this wonderful trip.

Home Ec Girls Give Recipes

The Home Economic club girls exchanged candy recipes at the club meeting Tuesday. The girls who read recipes were: Lois Cunningham, Pauline James, Hazel Grisham, Zoia Stevens, Earsey Cothorn, Bettye Alyce Thaxton, and Evelyn Griffin.

Pep Squad Remain Loyal

Although most of the Pep squad girls attended the Texas Centennial during the Crosbytown - Littlefield game, those remaining here were true to their team and were down on the sidelines boosting those fighting wildcats.

L. H. S. Scattered All Over The World in 1936

On a tour through various countries of the world in the year of '36 was very interesting and I saw many sights that I never dreamed of while I was attending L. H. S. in '36. The time spent in Europe was the most interesting of all.

Ila Green and Farrah Beckner were working in a Delacatessen shop in Madrid, Spain with Ramey Wilson as the manager.

You all remember that dazzling redhead in our school, Sunshine Burleson, she was noted for her posing for the famous artist, Virginia Walker.

I attended a theater while in Paris, named "Mona Liza." At the door I met the former Miss Ruby Nell Cobb and Joe Dan Bryan and the Well's sisters who were talking voice in an opera house. You would not have thought that would you?

I stopped in at a tea shop on my way to the hotel and guess who I saw as a waitress—that graceful Minnie Kate Grissom and Sam McCaskell in the door of the kitchen with a large white cap and apron on. I chatted with them for a while and they told me about seeing Lela Faye Walker go into her place of business, a pawn shop, because she had failed in poetry writing. I could hardly believe it because she always had such high intentions.

I went up to the beautiful land of snow the next week. The mountains were very pretty, covered with evergreens. I went to a well known resort to spend a week or so. The resort was kept by two of my very good friends of Littlefield high school, Camille Arnold and Margaret Coffman. They had each been married three times and just couldn't make a go of it so they came up here to get away from masculine pursuers.

Bess Lair and Hall Rowe had become great speakers in The House of Parliament in England.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot about the big old Ma-Mas baby, Lucy Burleson in L. H. S. that was such a thrilling moment for a girl when he would write her a love letter. He was living in a log cottage close to the Alps as lonely as could be and still wanting someone to love. You know he never did have.

South America was my next trip. I landed on the coast at Rio De Janeiro, the city of beauty. The first thing I did when I got off of the steamer was to call a taxi to take me to a hotel. I never had the slightest idea I would run on to an old friend—but I did and guess who it was? Nobody but Bernard Lambert. On the way to the hotel he told me about his wife, Annie Laura and their new home. He insisted that I come to see them while I was in Rio De Janeiro. He told me about a good opera that was being directed by Delbert Falls starring that wonderful American pair of singers, Charles Heathman and Lat Boone.

On my trip home I met several news reporters, who were going to New York. They were Mildred Reed, Alice Lynn Street and D. W. Holliday.

Science Club Hears Report

The members of the Science club enjoyed the program of last week. The program consisted of a report on transmitted by Sam Blessing, Hall Rowe gave a report on the experiments with the cosmic rays, and several volunteer reports were given by various members.

A new program committee was approved by the President. They are, Byron Lindly, Sam Blessing, and Pryor Hammons Jr.

For the Students Council Hats Off By LELA FAYE WALKER Dedicated to the Student Body Hats off, its an old southern custom when you're walking down the hall. Hats off, little boys, big boys, teachers and all.

Hats off, when the ladies you pass Hats off, when you enter your everyday class.

With your head covered with a hat, you, we cannot see, We'd like to look at you, a monkey, a student or whatever you be. But really boys, wearing your hat in the house is not nice, And if you only think once then you'll always think twice.

Home Makers Second Club

Home Makers Second club met Wednesday, Oct. 21st and decided on what stunt we would use for the Halloween program.

A committee of three, Leona Giennstman, Mildred Houk, and Jean-wanne Honea was elected to plan the speaking part.

We also welcomed a new club member, Lorene Avery, who has recently entered school from Gainesville, Texas.

Miss Mitchell And Wade Britt Wed At Sudan Saturday

Miss Mardell Mitchell of Amherst became the bride of Wade Britt, also of that city, at Sudan Saturday, October 24.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Waid Speck, Pastor of Sudan church of Christ, at the parsonage, at 9:30 p. m. in the presence of Mrs. Doyle Oswald of Lubbock, sister of the bride; Donald Britt, brother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Stine, Garland Jennings and Miss Jewell Hipp, all of Amherst.

The bride is the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell of Amherst. She was graduated from the Amherst High School with the 1934 class, and for some time was employed in the County Agent's office.

She is now owner and manager of the School Cafeteria, Amherst. Mrs. Britt was very becomingly

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies, such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licurice Root, fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

Miss Martha Kelm
And Lavell Wilson
Wed Here Sunday

Emanuel Lutheran church was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday afternoon, when Miss Martha Kelm was united in marriage to Mr. V. Lavell Wilson.

The attendants were: Maid of Honor, Miss Mary Alice Arend; bridesmaids were Mrs. Dotty Spear and Miss Marguerite Friday. Mr. Herman Kelm served as groom's man, and Felix Kelm and Alexander Kraushaar as ushers. The flower girls were Ruth Beisel and Wilda Kelm; train-bearer Bobbie Jean Yeager; ring-bearer Harol Ray Beisel. The bride was given in marriage by her father Mr. R. A. Kelm. The bride was beautifully attired in white bridal satin, her veil being held in place by a wreath of white roses. Her three attendants were attired in pastel shades; Miss Arend wearing orchid taffeta; Mrs. Spear pink taffeta; and Miss Friday blue taffeta. The two little flower girls, Ruth Beisel and Wilda Kelm were dressed in pink and blue taffeta, respectively. The train-bearer wore net over pink taffeta, and the ring bearer black velvet suit trimmed in white satin.

Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kelm, and has been a resident of this city for the past fifteen years. She obtained her education at the local schools, and was a student of Littlefield high.

The groom is connected with the C. C. Camp, Littlefield, where the couple will make their home.

A fitting address was delivered by the pastor on Psalm 67, verse 1. A mixed quartette rendered the selection, "O Love Divine."

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents, to the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Luecke; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beisel; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Timian; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boriack and baby; Mrs. Dave Beisel and children of Hobbs, New Mexico; Mrs. Harry Arend and children; Mr. Fred Kraushaar and son; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kelm, beside the wedding party. The table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake presented to the bridal couple by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herring and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Yeager of Hobbs, New Mexico.

Members of the Emanuel Lutheran church gathered at the home of the bride's parents and presented Mrs. Wilson with many beautiful gifts.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Littlefield, Texas

We are beginning to enjoy our work with the church here immensely. Last Lord's day we had a full house for the morning worship and also a good attendance in the evening. We invite you to be with us next Lord's day. We have nothing to offer but simple New Testament worship with gospel singing and preaching. If this interests you, you will enjoy these services.

We want 200 present in Bible study next Sunday. Will you help us to reach that number? Last Sunday we had 151. We have classes for all ages.

Our order of services follow:
SUNDAY:
9:45 a. m. Bible study.
10:45 a. m. Preaching service.
11:45 a. m. Communion service.
7:15 p. m. Young Folks' Meeting.
7:45 p. m. Evening preaching service.
Monday, 3 p. m. Ladies' Bible class.
Wednesday, 7:45 p. m. Mid-week service.
A hearty welcome awaits you at all times.

J. D. ROTHWELL, Minister.

METHODIST CHURCH
J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

Church School 9:45 a. m.
Public Worship 11 a. m. and 8 p.
Leagues 7 p. m.
Subject of morning sermon, "The Voice of the Prophet." Evening subject, "The Cross in the Cross Section." At each session good music will be rendered. At the evening service hymn, Old Rugged Cross will be illustrated in song.

Worship with us!
The church comes to the end of its year next Sunday. The pastor comes to the end of his third year as pastor of the church. The annual conference assembles in the First Presbyterian church, Houston, as a part of the Centennial conference, next Wednesday, Nov. 4. The pastor here feels grateful for all the co-operation he has enjoyed in the church and out. These have been eventful and, in many ways, happy years. It is with a deep sense of pleasure that he has been given opportunity to know and enjoy the friends here. No one can tell what an Annual conference will do in the appointment, and the pastor and his wife leave for that conference, if present plans mature, Monday morning.

During these three years the membership has been greatly increased. The organization has been welded into a good working body. The church and parsonage are greatly improved. The indebtedness has been reduced on both. When the present plan is perfected the entire indebtedness, both church and parsonage, will be $700.00. The congregation is in excellent shape to enter into larger years of accomplishment.

REV. AND MRS. J. W. HENDRIX LEAVE MONDAY FOR CENTENNIAL CONFERENCE AT HOUSTON, TEXAS

LUTHERAN CHURCH NEWS

A special Reformation Service will be held Sunday night to which the public is cordially invited. The pastor will speak on the subject, "What the Reformation Means to us Today." This service begins at 8:30. Morning services will begin at the regular hour.

Tomorrow night at 8 p. m. the choir will meet. All members are requested to be present as practice will be begun on several new Christmas selections.

Tuesday the Pastor will be in Lubbock attending the special one-day conference. Do not forget the special Lutheran broadcast to be heard daily at 2:30 over the Amarillo station KGNC.

ROCKY FORD NEWS

Sunday school was very well attended Sunday considering the inclement weather.

Bro. Dixon of Amherst failed to be present to fill the pulpit at the morning hour. We had singing Sunday night after quite a lot of hard trouble.

Mr. Clifford Rogers has his irrigation well going fine. Quite a few people visited the well Sunday eve. and saw the sparkling water gushing forth and a veritable river spreading out over his farm. Water is that and only necessary element that we do not always have that will make this rich chocolate loam produce more than abundant crops of many kinds.

Mr. Archie Yandell and family who have been living in Nevada for a while spent Friday night with relatives here, on their way to Stanton, where he goes back to his old job with the Railroad. Another proof that times are getting better and the depression about over, on every hand we see undeniable evidence that we are coming out of the slough of Bankruptcy.

Reno Rochelle and family, E. T. Bussanmas and family were dinner guests in the W. H. Reddell home Sunday.

Floy Chafin and family visited in the Garland Yandell home Sunday.

S. A. Wallace and the Barnes girls spent Sunday in the home of J. W. Cowan.

Hobson Grant and wife and L. L. Dunn and family, together with John Rogers and family of Olton, were Sunday visitors with Claude Rogers and family.

Old and young alike enjoyed the party at C. B. Rogers Thursday night.

Jay Parks and wife were business visitors at Plainview, Thursday of last week.

J. D. Nixon and Joe Dunn visited for a little while near Sunny Dale Saturday night.

Our people were making hour-count gathering the fleecy staple until this murky weather stopped them.

Plenty of ice Friday, yet nothing killed, not even tomato vines. First time such a thing has happened in the memory of this scribe. Tho a lot of things have happened that our memory does not retain.

Robert Crowell of Seymour and Herbert Dunn and wife of Amherst visited relatives and friends here Sunday eve.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hands of Tulsa arrived Wednesday of last week, and plan to stay a month in Littlefield. Mr. Hands owns a farm at Spade, which is being worked on a crop basis by C. B. Blankenship and A. B. Green, and he is looking after his farm interests.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hendrix leave next Monday for Houston where they will attend the Centennial conference celebrating one hundred years of Methodism in Texas. The meeting will be something new under the sun. So far as history goes never has such a thing occurred before—six annual conference, five of the Church South, one of the North Church, will be in session in six different church buildings at one time. These sessions will be held in five of the downtown churches, using other denominational accommodations where needed. The conference covering this area—the Northeast Texas, will hold its business sessions in the First Presbyterian; another will meet in the First Baptist, First Christian, etc.

Mrs. Hendrix is a day delegate of the conference, of which there are at least eight in each district in the Annual conference. There are nine districts in this Northwest Texas conference. Even the lay representation will be large. The ministerial attendance is expected to reach better than two hundred to each conference. They will represent over 600,000 members. Each morning session will be held separately, the afternoon and evening sessions be held together. The program will include some of the most famous men in our country.

"Stage Struck" to be Featured at Ritz Saturday Midnight

"Stage Struck," heralded by First National as the gayest and snappiest of all its long list of musical comedy hits, comes to the Ritz Theatre, beginning Saturday midnight, and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

There is an all star cast, which includes Dick Powell, Joan Blondell, Warren William, Frank McHugh, Jeanne Madden, and the four Yacht Club Boys besides a large number of supporting principals and hundreds of extras.

The picture is filmed on a lavish scale with spectacular chorus numbers. There is still another in which Powell sings "Fancy Meeting You" to his lady love, Miss Madden, in the New York Aquarium with all the piscatorial aggregation as listeners. This catchy song as well as another, "In Your Own Quiet Way," Sung by Powell and Miss Madden together, were written specially for the production by the famous tunesmiths, E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen.

Powell in the leading role has the part of a dance director, who is driven to distraction by his star, whom he can not discharge because her money backs the show.

Make Believe Bride

around, passing Patsy's room, she heard a sleepy voice cry, "How did it go, Maris?"

"Oh, great," she answered, glad that Patsy could not see her tragic face. There was no need of telling her how the girls had treated her. At least Stan was satisfied, and Patsy's would likely benefit by the show.

But as she took off the gorgeous gown and the flimsy undies that had made her so happy a few short hours ago, all her dreams of stepping up in society lay crumbling at her feet. Slipping on her old silk kimono and pushing her dainty feet into her shabby mules, she huddled down into a boudoir chair by the window.

Over the roof she looked, past the tall towers with their blinking lights, up to the dark blue sky where the moon, now beginning to wane, looked like an enormous half dollar against the sky. Her throat constricted. Tears were near her eyes, and somehow as she lived over again the humiliation that the girls had showered on her, her sensitive lips quivered.

How dared they act like that; how dared they speak so about her when there wasn't a word of truth in it? If only Stan had heard surely he wouldn't have stood for it.

The chilly air blew in and she drew her shabby bathrobe more closely about her. Maris wouldn't have believed anyone could be so mean to a stranger, especially when she was taking a part at a moment's notice. She thought of the girls she worked with. Not one of them would have been guilty of such rudeness, such lack of fine feeling. Of course Milly was a bit of a vamp and didn't hesitate to take every chance of making a hit with the men, but never as long as Maris had known her had she done anything so contemptible as had those girls whose parents' names illuminated the pages of the Social Register. Perhaps, though, they weren't all like that.

Somehow she had always envisioned the daughters of the four hundred plus as lovely girls, whose manners and general conduct were something superior to the girls she worked with. Milly had told her that was all baloney, that they were a hard set; but, as she studied their pictures in the papers, she was sure Milly knew nothing about what she was discussing.

"But now, Maris' soft lips curved in a smile of derision. "I bet Milly's right!" she thought.

Soon Maris opened her windows wider and slipped into bed. But she could not sleep. From one side to another she tossed, then turned over her pillow; but still sleep would not come. Her brain was working with tireless activity.

"Gee, if I don't get to sleep soon I'll be hearing the milkman," she murmured to herself. "This will never do I must try and forget those vicious society buds. I can't afford to let their gall keep me from sleeping."

Then, suddenly, as though a hand had pulled back a curtain in her memory she saw as plainly as tho she were there, the dark Ramapo Hills and the wide waters of Greenwood Lake. A year ago Rod had taken her to spend the day. It had been a crisp autumn morning when they reached the lake and as they got in the rowboat he'd engaged she was glad she'd worn a coat. But as the day advanced it was once more like summer and when they landed on the shore to eat their lunch, there was no need of any extra wraps.

Make-Believe Bride

by Ruth Harley

EIGHTH INSTALMENT
 Synopsis: Maris Trevor is discouraged because Rod O'Rourke spends all his money developing an invention which he hopes will provide an income so that they can marry. Maris thinks they should enjoy the present rather than deny themselves for the future. She becomes uncertain of her love for Rod. Perhaps there would be more happiness with someone else . . .

did think he'd be here to see you before you left. It's too bad that Rod's still in the West."
 But even as she spoke, the bell rang and a moment later Jimmy was standing awestruck, looking at Maris. "Going to beat us to it are you?" he questioned looking around. "I must say Rod didn't lose any time. Just saw Charley Gordon and he said Rod's gadget's going over big."
 "Oh, Jimmy," laughed Maris hysterically. "I'm not a real bride tonight, I'm just going to wear this gown at the exposition—to advertise Fayson's crepe."
 He turned with incredulous eyes to Pat. "What's that the girl's saying? She means she's not going to marry Rod?"
 "Oh, sure she'll marry Rod when the time comes, honey, and be glad to," answered Pat. "Only it won't be tonight, for she's just a pretense bride tonight."

 "Now I see a light, Patsy. Well, say, she should make a hit all right. Better not let anyone run away with you, Maris. Think Patsy and I had better come along?"
 "Oh, no there's no need for that. I know you'd rather stay at home. Gee, I bet that's my taxi! Where are the flowers?"
 "They're in the ice-box, Jimmy. Get them, and wrap them up in the paper that's lying on the table, so they won't drip on this magnificent cloak." Then Pat caught up the evening wrap of glistening white and silver lame and draped it about Maris' shoulders.
 But when she reached the sidewalk, it was not a taxi driver, but a liveried chauffeur who opened the door of the luxurious sedan which old Fayson usually rode in to his office. When he raised his eyes to hers, for a moment he looked as though he had seen a ghost. But, remembering his place, the look of surprise was quickly followed by the impersonal glance that is the mark of the well trained servant.
 As Maris leaned back against the softly upholstered cushions and glanced about her, she felt as though she was at last in her proper setting. All sorts of luxuries were revealed in the fittings of the car, and in the vases were delectable hothouse blooms whose delicate fragrance suggested exotic loveliness.
 The car drew up to the curb. A man in livery hastened to open the door, and escort Maris within the hall. As she crossed the threshold, Stan stepped forward and eagerly clasped her hands.
 "I'm so glad you've come. I wanted to call for you myself, but I've been in a frightful rush ever since you left."
 "Well, it will soon be over," answered Maris.
 "Oh, yes, and I hope we put it across. You see the old man has been rather skeptical about my ideas, but I think he's beginning to see the light." Then as Mrs. Bryce approached, he added, "The other girls are in the dressing room. Mrs. Bryce will introduce you." Then with a whispered, "You look lovelier than ever," Stan hurried into the hall.

 Sounds of music drifted to her through the half-opened doorway, and as the visitors hurried back and forth, Maris felt a strange thrill of excitement sweep through her. This was what she liked—music, soft lights, gaily dressed women with attentive escorts, and the pleasant tingling sensation that made her feel something wonderful was going to happen.
 But in a moment she was in the dressing room and Mrs. Bryce was presenting her to the other girls, and giving them all some last minute instructions. There was frank admiration in their eyes as she took her wrap off and stood revealed in the magnificent gown that was destined to usher her into a thrilling adventure.
 Once in the hall, they presented a series of tableaux, but it was not till Maris appeared in the role of a wistful bride, that a sudden roar of applause brought the spectators hurrying to the Fayson salon. Time and again she was recalled. At last, as she stepped down from the platform and sauntered slowly among the crowd, she saw Stan.
 "You did splendidly," he whispered, as he caught her hand. "You were the hit of the evening. I'll see you later." And squeezing her hand he hurried away.
 Then as she raised her eyes, she caught sight of the girl who had passed her in her limousine, but the once smiling were now like two little daggers. Suddenly Maris felt afraid of her. But light-heartedly she turned to one of the debs who had been in the show with her.
 "It's been awfully good fun," the girl said to her, smiling sweetly, "although I can't understand why Rowene didn't come." Then glancing upwards she caught sight of Rowene's friend and darted toward her. For a moment Maris was hemmed in by the crowd, but as she struggled to move forward, the girl to whom she had just been talking exclaimed as she glanced at her spitefully, "So that's the reason Rowene didn't come, Little gold-digger," she hissed, "and we were all so nice to her, thinking poor old Rowene had had one of her frightful headaches again."

 "She might well have a headache when the man she was engaged to has probably been fooling around with this stenographer for dear knows how long," retorted the other girl with a cruel glance at Maris, she's given him up, I asked Stan the minute I got here, for I passed this girl on the way and almost mistook her for Rowene."
 "Well, if that's Stan's type Rowene'll be happier without him." Again she turned with a withering glance at Maris.
 But the gleam in Maris' dark eyes was not lost on a young man nearby, who hurried toward her and tried to speak to her. However, she had had enough, and without even waiting to see Stan again, she slipped into the dressing room, got her wrap and hurried home in a taxi-cab.
 So that was what they thought of her! Tears trembled on Maris' long dark lashes, but she would not let them fall. She would not let those girls have the satisfaction of knowing they had hurt her. And now as she stood at the door of her apartment she was glad she had held her head high when she had hurried down the stairs and reached her taxi.
 Her wonderful evening had brought her nothing but disappointment. All the triumph that she felt in her reception by the spectators was poisoned by the chatter of the girls. What right had they to talk like that? How dared they hint that there was anything between Stan and her? She'd hardly spoken to him—and even if she had romantic dreams about him, certainly no one in the office had ever had occasion to link her name with his?

 She caught back a sob. She would not let Patsy know of the bitter aftermath to her glorious evening. While they had been waiting to go on the improvised stage, the girls had been charming and friendly. They'd raved about her gown, too, had talked as though Rowene had been kept away by sickness. Was her non-appearance her non-appearance?
 Everything would doubtless have been lovely if only that other girl—Vi Kent—had kept her mouth shut. But Maris knew instinctively that those girls saw the line that separated a girl who worked in an office from one who was born to wealth.
 Yet as she opened the door, a faint ray of hope flickered in her mind. Stan was so pleased with her work. He had said he would see her again. Perhaps if she hadn't dashed home so impetuously he might have brought her back in his car, but the thought of staying a minute longer where those girls might point to her with scorn or hold her up to ridicule, was more than she could bear.
 If only she had glanced back as the taxi sped on its way, she might have seen Stan rush frantically toward the curb; she might have realized he was sincere when he promised he would see her later.
 She was glad when she entered the apartment that no one was
