A LION OR TWO

The Tail Twister says that there is a new gadget that makes a car run quieter. It fits over her mouth.

A well known speaker lectured to the member of a Lions Club. At the end of his address the secretary approached him with a check. This he politely refused, saying that it might be devoted to some charitable purpose.

"Would you mind," asked the secretary, "if we added it to our special fund?"

"Not at all," said the speaker. "What is this special fund for?"

"To enable us to get better lecturers."

Little Glenn Miller, son of H. J. Miller, is in Kerrville at the Texas-Lions Crippled Children's Camp enjoying the luxuries therein. Lion Hamer Garrison of the Littlefield club flew him down Monday morning. We wish everyone could have joined the members of the local club in seeing him off. It would have done anyone the world of good. Through the combined efforts of the Lions of Texas such a camp is possible. We'll give you a report on his return. Last year your Littlefield Lions club, through projects and individual subscription of the members donated $362.00. This year the club gave over $400. If you had seen the faces of the Lion members present you could hardly wonder at their getting up in the early hours to see the little fellow off. Our thanks to KVOW for recording the departure.

If Adam came back to earth, the only thing he would recognize would be the jokes. And here are some more of the same:

The fellow who thinks himself a wit is usually half right. Men are just opposite from guns; the smaller the caliber, the bigger the bore!

The only thing that can keep on growing without nourishment is an ego.

You've heard of the Lion member that found that what he wanted was always illegal, immoral, or fattening.

Our appreciation to all those who attended the pancake supper on Tuesday night by your Lions Club. It's really wonderful how these folks turned out when we try to give them something worthwhile. We don't believe a 5 cent cigar would have been a better bargain. As soon as we have compiled the figures, statistics, logistics, and the number of pancakes, we'll give you a report on it. A word to the wise: Don't mention "pancakes" to Lion Boyd Roberts for at least a week.

The Lion Tamer says that it is a good idea not to believe more than half you hear and less than that of what you think.

There's a bright side to everything, but there's no joy when it's on your blue serge suit.

FORT WORTH—Movement of livestock around the major market circle Monday was 25,000 cattle short of a week ago, and for the first time in many weeks the offering was below the comparable day a year ago. At Fort Worth, however, the cattle receipts were some 1,400 above a year ago, and calf receipts were 500 below a year ago.

The beef buying program launched by the government last week with purchase of 3,495,000 pounds of beef and gravy and 128,000 pounds of frozen boneless beef will require some 25,000 to 30,000 cattle per week to satisfy their demand for ten million pounds of beef per week. While this program has not been underway enough to be felt in the trade, it was deemed certain to have a beneficial effect.

The buying side was aggressive Monday at Fort Worth. Fat calves were in keen demand, and butchers and packers took most of the offerings that were fat, leaving stocker buyers a relatively small per centage. Cows were another 25 to 50 cents higher. Compared with ten days ago, most cattle and calves are about $3 higher, with some spots $4 to $5 over the low time ten days or two weeks ago.

station intramural athletic trophies. He leaves Hawaii this week after 15 months at Kaneohe, during which time he has built the recreation program at the new air station from scratch into a well-rounded schedule of activity in which all of Kaneohe's Marines have taken part at one time or another. Wiggins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wiggins, Amherst, Texas.

Major Austin Wiggins, Jr., the man who has built recreation at Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, from nothing into a 100 per cent participation program, will leave the islands this week for the states.

When Wiggins took over the top recreation job at Kaneohe Bay in April, 1952, three months after the station's commissioning, facilities were far from adequate.

He has rehabilitated Kaneohe's nine-hole 18-tee golf course, cleaning out the roughs and improving greens and fairways. More recently, a new golf club house has been built and Hawaii's Jimmy Ukauka was hired to act as course pro.

The program of Kaneohe's 1,000-seat theatre was expanded, and nightly movies are supplemented with special shows which have brought entertainers like Tennessee Ernie, April Stevens, and Sally Rand to the Windward Leathernecks. An outdoor theatre is being built to handle the large crowds of the expanding air station.

The station's two swimming pools were re-opened, and the boat house equipped with sailing surf boards, sail boats, motor boats, and a 22-foot sloop with auxiliary engine.

Baseball, softball and football fields were built for intramural and 14th Naval District games, and a make-shift gymnasium was set up in one of Kaneohe's large hangers.

More recently, a library of over 5,000 books and magazines and a hobby shop have been set up. Athletic gear rooms provide equipment for sports and games of all kinds.

Wiggins and his staff have organized teams for 14th Naval District competition in basketball, baseball, softball, swimming and golf. Ground plans are being laid for a football team to enter district competition in the fall.

In addition, an extensive intramural program has been initiated, in which Kaneohe squadrons and companies compete in most of the popular sports. Captain James F. Bemis, Marine Air Group 13 special services officer, estimates that about 2,000 men participate yearly in Kaneohe's on station sports program.

Wiggins, for whom sports is a secondary interest, returns stateside for duty in his primary specialty—flying for the Marine Corps. He will go to El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, California, to fly a refresher course, after which he expects to be sent to Korea.

One of Kaneohe's most decorated pilots, Wiggins holds three Distinguished Flying Crosses, nine Air Medals, a Letter of Commendation and a Purple heart. He received them flying missions with the Marines in the South Pacific during World War II. The Marine major is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wiggins, Amherst, Texas. He, his wife, Gloria, and children, Carol, 6, and Vicki, 4, have been living in quarters on station.

Verdict of Justifiable Homicide Returned Monday in Earth Shooting

A 30-year-old Latin American was shot to death at Earth Sunday night after he became involved in a fight with Sheriff's Deputy L. H. Randolph of Earth. The victim, Sam Trevino, of Route 1, Muleshoe, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Amherst Co-op Hospital.

According to officers investigations, Randolph noticed three Latin Americans prowling around in an alley in downtown Earth about 8:30 p. m.

When he went to investigate their activities one of the men "jumped him", deputy Randolph said. In the ensuing struggle, Randolph managed to reach his pistol.

He is said to have fired one shot that caught Trevino in the chest. The other men fled.

An inquest verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by Justice of the Peace Marcus Messer at Earth Monday in a J. P. hearing. About 12 witnesses were heard in the preliminary hearing, including Trevino's brother.

The case will be turned over to a Lamb County grand jury which convenes August 3, County Attorney Curtis Wilkerson said.

Funeral services for Trevino were held at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the Sacred Heart Church, Littlefield, with Rev. Father F. M. Higgins, minister of the church officiating.

Interment, in charge of Hammons Funeral Home, took place in the Littlefield Cemetery.

Survivors include deceased's mother, three brothers and a sister.

Special Service Is Held Here To Pray For Rain

Littlefield church goes joined thousands of other Texans Sunday in prayers for rain to end the drought.

Special prayers were offered at both morning and evening services in several of the Littlefield churches.

The special day of prayer was in answer to an appeal last week by Governor Allan Shivers that all Texas ministers lead their congregations Sunday for showers.

Twelve Littlefield churches participated in a prayer service at the First Baptist Church from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. Sunday. KVOW broadcast the first 30 minutes of the service.

Rev. John Taylor, pastor of Parkview Baptist Church and president of the Ministerial Alliance, presided over the meeting.

Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the First Methodist Church brought a brief message followed by a session of prayer, directed by Dr. Weldon Meers, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church.

E. C. Hock, Music Educational Director of the First Baptist Church, directed the music and led the singing of several numbers, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Houk.

Also included in those taking part in the prayer service were Dr. Lee Hemphill, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Mosley, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

J. P. Nafzger, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nafzger, of Olton, remains unconscious and in a serious condition. He was transferred Sunday from the Lubbock Memorial Hospital to a Dallas hospital for special treatment.

He was picked up unconscious near his home two weeks ago and believed to have fallen or thrown from his horse. He was taken to the Olton Hospital, and later to the Lubbock Memorial Hospital, where physicians were of the opinion that he might be suffering from a sunstroke or spinal meningitis. He was transferred to Dallas, therefore, for special treatment.

Mrs. Farmer asked the Leader to express her appreciation for the co-operation and help of the members of the Cancer Board, and all the workers in Lamb County. She said, though the fund was somewhat short of the goal of $1,600, she felt that all the workers did a beautiful job, and should be commended for a job well done.

Feed Available To Farmers For Foundation Herds

David Eaton, County Agent, announced Monday that applications are now being taken in the emergency drought program at the PMA office, and that they are processing them out daily.

According to Mr. Eaton the government has available cotton seed cake or meal at $35.00 per ton; corn at $1.00 per bushel; wheat at $1.15 per bushel; oats at 50 cents bushel, and the farmers may buy this grain at these prices, which are 40 to 60 per cent below market prices.

The County Agent said that the PMA office are processing the applications and then placing the orders for feed with the Commodity Credit Corporation. "In other words," stated Mr. Eaton, "this feed is in the government's stockpile, and the feed is available to any farmer or rancher for the maintenance of his foundation herds with the following exceptions:

1. Not available to anyone who has feed on hand.
 2. Not available to any person who has livestock as a side line.
 3. Not available for feed lots except where the animals already in feed lots have only a short period of time to finish them for market.

Cotton Classing Schools To Be Held In Lamb County August 12-14

Two one-day cotton classing schools will be held in Lamb County, August 12 and 14, county agent David Eaton announced this week.

Eaton said the two schools will be held at places to be announced with one in the north part and one in the south part of the county.

L. O. Buchanan and his staff from the Lubbock cotton classing office will conduct the classes, designed to give farmers and ginners a better understanding of what causes lower grades, and problems of cotton classing in general.

The morning session of each school will be devoted to explaining grade and staple length; what causes two sided bales; gin cut cotton, and dusty and grassy cotton. Afternoon classes will allow those attending to class actual samples and be graded on their knowledge.

Eaton stated that this is the first time such a school has been held in this county.

The earliest log cabins in what is now the United States were built by Swedes.

The Surest Antidote for Price Inflation

The greatest foe of inflation is abundance, and of that economic truism we have just had striking confirmation. Wages in the steel industry have been increased, and steel companies have announced compensatory advances averaging approximately $4 a ton in the price of their product.

Unlike the situation in previous post-war years, it is notable that in the wake of higher prices for a material basic to many manufactured products there has been an almost absence of alarmist predictions of a new surge of inflation. Even in the automobile industry, which is highly sensitive to changes in the cost of a main ingredient of its products, there are no signs of a move to offset higher steel prices with higher motor vehicle prices.

Why the difference? Several factors are involved in the explanation, but they all are based upon one central fact—the relative abundance of steel as compared to other recent years. Competition is becoming keen in many fields, particularly in those such as automobiles and home appliances in which steel is a chief material. This competition results from heavy production made possible by the availability of steel and the fact that this year there was no long drawn-out strike to create actual shortages and fears of still greater shortages.

Another factor seems to lie in figures indicating that many companies have stockpiled supplies of steel in anticipation of the price rise. But the main one may be that some of the largest manufacturers are finding that, despite the increase in prices, the steel they use will not cost them more.

This is due to one of the technicalities of the trade called "conversion". Steel is produced in several basic forms, and further processing is required before it is suited to the requirements of a particular industry. During the period of shortage, manufacturers bought steel in whatever form it could be obtained and had it converted to the form required for their use. This was a costly process which added many dollars a ton to the price of the steel they consumed. With supplies more plentiful, this added cost is eliminated.

Abundance, as was said at the beginning, is the most effective restraint upon inflation.

Set Summer Type Tomatoes for Fall Production

The commercial tomato crop this year in many sections of the state was not up to par and the same has been true for the home garden. Adverse weather conditions during the fruiting season for the standard varieties is given as the big reason for the drop in production. The standard varieties shed their blossoms and don't set fruit, says B. G. Hancock, horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, when the average temperature starts climbing and this happened early this year.

A wide selection of varieties and planting dates will alter this situation and will give the home gardener a supply of fresh tomatoes right on through the summer and fall. Plants for production in late July and August should be set now. Varieties that have the ability to set fruit under conditions of high temperature and low humidity should be used, says Hancock. The Summer Prolific, Porter, Firesteel and Danmark varieties are good for this purpose. The fruit size of these varieties is small when compared with the standard type varieties, however, they have good quality and are excellent when quartered or halved and used in salads.

Good cultural practices, especially fertilization and irrigation, are necessary to carry these plants through the hot summer months and to keep them producing fruit of good size and quality. The varieties named above will produce fruit until frost if given good care, says the specialist.

Plants for early fall production should be set in the garden as transplants in late July or early August. The same varieties recommended for summer production will also work well here. Irrigation will be needed to carry these plants through the late summer months.

Keep the family supplied with good top quality tomatoes by extending the tomato season right on to frost, says Hancock, by setting now and again later plants of the recommended varieties. Give them the proper attention and the tomato situation can be solved right in the home garden.

USE YOUR LEGAL NAME, AVOID TROUBLE

What's in a name? Legally, this is a practical and important question. Many do not use their names, and this is apt to cause confusion and extra expense in legal proceedings. Every grown person should use the name given him by his parents and appearing on his birth certificate for all business and legal matters.

Take the hypothetical case of Albert Charles Smith. When he died and his lawyer filed the petition for his estate, the petition was entitled, "In the Matter of the Estate of Albert Charles Smith, also known as Al C. Smith, also known as Charles Smith, also known as A. Charles Smith, and also known as A. C. Smith". With such a simple name, what did Mr. Smith do to make the probating of his estate so complicated?

When Albert Charles Smith was born, the attending physician filed a birth certificate with that name. During his school years, his friends called him "Al".

Mr. Smith went to college, and decided that his name would look more distinguished if he wrote it "A. Charles Smith", and he was so regarded. His college diploma carried that name.

Starting out in business, Mr. Smith took a job that required him to write his signature many times a day. To simplify the work, he signed his name "A. C. Smith". His bank account and telephone number were recorded that way. Mr. Smith lost a part of his identity, since there were 11 "A. C. Smiths" listed in his telephone.

Mr. Smith decided to get married, and he rushed to the Clerk of District Court to get his license. Without giving the matter action asked for his full name. The deed was filed under the name "Albert Charles Smith".

A life insurance agent had previously written a policy for Mr. Smith under the name, "Al C. Smith". During his middle life Mr. Smith took out other policies from another agent, and all of them carried the name "Albert C. Smith". He took a position with a railroad and appeared on the pension roll as "A. C. Smith".

Mr. Smith owned some securities and several pieces of real estate, and they were listed under various combinations of his name.

Then Mr. Smith made his will under the name of "Albert C. Smith". A year later he died. That is when his attorney started work to find out who Mr. Smith was. Mr. Smith's heirs now probably will have to sign affidavits to show that all of the names he used during his lifetime belong to Albert Charles Smith, and that he had interests in the properties listed under the various combinations of his name.

What's in your name? Every person should use the name appearing on his birth certificate and should make sure that all documents which have a legal bearing, such as school diplomas, deed to property, certificates of stock and bond ownership, and insurance policies, carry the same name. This often will avoid complications in the probating of an estate.

The following was news in the Lamb County Leader of August 9, 1934:

Littlefield's newest dry goods store, The Fair, will open here within the next few days, William "Bill" Bayouth of Wellington stated. It will be located in the building formerly occupied by the Lion's Variety Store.

The Fair is owned by R. N. Kayal of Lamesa, who has a store there and at Snyder.

An estimate of the cotton production for the South Plains area has been made by W. O. Jennings, northwest Texas Representative of N. P. Anderson & Company, when he set the probable 1934 crop at 120,000 bales.

Lamb County will lead the area, Mr. Jennings believed with Terry and Yoakum second, Hale third, Lynn fourth, and Lubbock fifth.

Miss Ara Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Baker of eight and one-half miles northeast of Littlefield, became the bride of Mr. Haskell Stephens, son of Mr. R. M. Stephens of Littlefield August 6.

Mrs. Ford Bishop, sister of the bride, witnessed the ceremony.

In compliance with the NRA code for lumber concerns Littlefield's companies are announcing in an advertisement in this week's issue of the Leader a general reduction of 10% on lumber and building materials.

The year 1934 is the driest and hottest on record, thus far, according to the government weather bureau, and it has been keeping tab on precipitation and temperatures for 10 years.

The buying, shipping and killing of Lamb County's cattle under the government drought relief program is going forward steadily, with the veterinarian and appraiser working in a different community each day, shipped or killed. Applications for sale are still coming in daily. J. T. Elms, member of the cattle committee, stated. Indications are that probably 5,000 head will be taken from Lamb County, if applications continue as they now are, he said.

This action on the part of the Express Company was secured by Mr. Pumphrey after a considerable effort on his part.

The second attempt of jail break within two weeks at Littlefield was frustrated by authorities Sunday night about 11 o'clock before any of the prisoners gained freedom, L. A. Ratliff, deputy sheriff and prison guard, stated.

Clarence Brown and Virgil Stalcup, who were held in the Littlefield jail for several weeks and who were tried at the district court at Olton on Wednesday of last week, and were taken to Dickens that same day by Sheriff Len Irvin and State Ranger Driscoll Irvin, escaped from jail there Saturday morning. They were still at liberty late yesterday.

Littlefield experienced the hottest day of the week Tuesday between one and three, when the temperature registered 103 degrees.

of a long line of cooks from that part of Southern Italy often called 'the Ankle,' his book has the virtue of being representative of the cooking done all over Italy. Here's a delicious example, from Mr. LaPolla's book, of real Italian spaghetti sauce. To cook the spaghetti to go with it, add 3 tablespoons salt to 6 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 1 1/2 pounds spaghetti so that water continues to boil; cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender and drain in a colander.

TOMATO AND MUSHROOM SAUCE
What you have here will be sufficient to pour 1 1/2 pounds of spaghetti and will serve 6 persons. Grated cheese makes a desirable topping. Caution: Except for a short period of fast cooking to allow for evaporation of some of the liquid from the mushrooms, the cooking should be slow. What you need to serve 6:

1 pound of button mushrooms thoroughly washed (if other mushrooms than button are used, slice thin)
2 onions
2 cloves of garlic
1 No. 3 can of tomatoes
1 No. 2 can of tomato juice
1/2 can of tomato paste, and an equal amount of water.
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons of olive oil
What you do:
Bring olive oil to a high heat. Soften onion and garlic in it, but do not brown. Add mushrooms, cover, and cook 15 minutes—very

He's Driving His Cares Away!

There's a great industrialist in Detroit, and a well-known scientist in New York, and a famous statesman in Washington who will tell you that the best way to relax from the cares of the day is to get behind the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

And there are also thousands upon thousands of other Cadillac owners throughout America who will gladly add supporting testimony to these revealing statements.

For these motorists know, from their own personal experience, that there is no faster or surer way to relax and refresh than to take to the highway with a smooth, comfortable, quiet Cadillac car.

It makes a man feel good just to sit behind the wheel. As he glances about his Cadillac's gracious interior, he's reminded that he has made something out of his years—and that, in itself, gives a lift to his spirits.

And then, once he's out on the highway—well, in no time at all, he's as happy and contented and trouble-free as it's possible for a motorist to be.

He is surrounded with comfort—and his driving is so relaxing and effortless and enjoyable that his mind clears, as the miles go by—and his heart grows gay and his outlook bright and hopeful.

He has literally driven his cares away!

You really ought to try it sometime. Come to think of it, you ought to try it today . . . after your day's work is done.

The car is waiting—and so are we.

First Services Held Sunday In The New Hart Baptist Church

First services of the new Hart Baptist Church were held Sunday. Former pastors, former members, present members and all friends of the church were present at the morning and afternoon services and enjoyed the big basket lunch at noon.

The Rev. E. J. Keith, the pastor, delivered the sermon at the 11 a. m. service. Rev. T. F. Boushy, Plainview, and Rev. G. C. Applewhite, Lockney, were among the former pastors to appear on the afternoon program which opened at 2 o'clock.

Milton Sharp, music director, and Mrs. Sharp, pianist, had charge of arrangements for special music for both services.

Payment on the $60,000 light colored brick building and its new furnishings is near completion. The funds used for the new church were raised during a two year period.

Members of the church give Rev. Keith the credit for much of the faith and leadership which they say made the new, modern church possible. Members say that many of them were skeptical of the possibility of raising the large sum.

Members donated generously. Others in the community also participated. The remainder of the cost of the church was provided on a note at the Hale County State Bank in Plainview.

The auditorium and balcony will seat more than 400 people. There are two Sunday School rooms in the church. The former church building located on an adjoining lot is being used for Sunday School, Training Union and other group meeting purposes.

The Hart Church dedicated a new modern stucco parsonage before work was begun on the new church.

R. W. Davidson, superintendent of Hart schools and formerly of Plainview is the Sunday School superintendent. Harvey Davis is

How Driver, 65, Set Pacing Mark

By HENRY CLUKEY
Written Especially for
AP Newsfeatures

WESTBURY, N. Y.—I was surprised when I walked into the racing secretary's office at Roosevelt Raceway. Walter Gibbons, the man who classifies the pacers and trotters, had put Hi Lo's Forbes in with free-for-all pacers.

Hi Lo's had yet to run at Roosevelt this year, but I guess he qualified for free-for-all company when he was beaten a head in a 2:02 mile at Yonkers three weeks previously. I had forgotten about Hi Lo's last start in which he lost by a length in a 2:07 at Baltimore's Rosecroft Raceway.

Gibbons came over to me and said, "You know, Roosevelt Raceway is putting up a $5,000 bonus for the owner of the horse that paces a mile in two minutes or better."

I thought Gibbons was ribbing me. After all, I would have been satisfied with a 2:01 mile that's what I expected out of my horse that night. He was sharp in the pre-race warmup.

It was nice to draw the No. 4 post. It was the best spot Hi Lo's had all spring. He was in the last slot or next to last in his four previous starts, the first two of which he won at Yonkers.

Well, when the race started we were fourth at the quarter-mile mark and fourth at the half. Going into the backstretch for the last time I made my move. I was very lucky that night, lucky to think about racing room. I was afraid that I would be pinned in by Irish Hal, who was racing on the outside with less than a half mile to go. Hi Lo's had to pass him on the outside.

If we hadn't have passed Irish Hal we surely would have been pinned in.

We won by a tight length and I was awfully surprised when I saw 1:58-3/5 on the board. I thought I must be looking at the wrong spot on the board. It was a wonderful feeling to realize Hi Lo's Forbes had set a world record for the mile over a half-mile track. Why, before this spring he had beaten only 2:04 once, and that was on a mile track.

When the race was over Hi Lo's Forbes' owners, Wilma and Earl Wagner of Landover Hills, Md., offered me more than my usual 10 per cent of the $3,000 earned by the winner and the $5,000 bonus. I refused. They are wonderful people and Earl is going right on driving a wholesale milk truck despite the fact that Hi Lo's Forbes is in such demand. The colt only cost $265, yet today this 5-year-old could command a $3,000 stud fee.

Henry Clukey, 65, driving Hi Lo's Forbes to a world record track of night racing in this 1:58-3/5 miles at Roosevelt Raceway.

The Wagners have interest in their pacer. Mrs. Wagner's father, the late David Cantwell, said in 1950 just before he passed on: "If anything happens to me I don't care what you do with the horses, but be sure to keep that black colt (Hi Lo's Forbes). He's got the makings of a real good pacer."

No truer words ever were spoken.

Having been the leading driver at Yonkers in 1952, I saw Hi Lo's Forbes pace on a number of occasions. I had seen him raced by two other drivers who had him. Last spring he was not so sharp. He lost here in 2:11.

When I took over his training I decided to work on him in a different way. I trained him for a fast three-quarters instead of a fast mile. He won his first race for me.

Being a blacksmith helped me. I made a radial change in his shoes. I had to get the right length shoes on his hind legs. I had to take off a bit of hoof, but over a period of time. Each time I filed the rear hoofs I liked his gait a bit better. Then I went to the extreme and got the hoofs even shorter without drawing blood from the bottom of the hoofs.

The fact that I only weigh 113 pounds probably helped too. It's easier for a harness horse to pull a light driver than a heavier reinsman.

Setting the record was one of my big thrills. My biggest came in 1939 on Hambletonian day at Goshen when I drove Dusty Hanover. He almost beat Billy Direct. He's the pacer that holds the world's record of 1:55 over a mile track. He set it in 1938. Dusty Hanover ran the last half in 57 seconds and the last quarter in 27 1/2 at Goshen.

Then there was the time in Hartland, Me. My father had some pretty good harness horses and he was always wondering why they didn't win.

He had a trainer who was much bigger than me, and he used to hit the bottle.

One day around 1909 or 1910 I nosed around the barn and my dad's driver started grumbling.

"If you can do better than me, go ahead," he said in a challenging way.

I had been playing baseball. In those days you drove in any thing, mostly overalls. So I got in the sulky with my baseball suit on and did all right. That same day I found an empty bottle in the stall. My dad had a new driver. a long way. So has Hi Lo's. Yes, harness racing has some bes.

Area May Yield 935,000 Bales

Boosted by acreages of irrigated-land, the South Plains still could produce 935,000 bales of cotton this fall, the July report of the Lubbock office of Wells and Stanton, cotton brokers, forecast Saturday.

The 18 area counties included in the forecast produced 1,414,537 bales last year. Despite droughts and recent cases of "blow out", the area could stay close to the million mark if there were no worsening of present conditions.

Rainfall Drop Cited The brokers pointed to the huge drop in rainfall during the first half of the year. The area normally has nine inches of rain from January through June. This year the fall was only 3.56—leaving a deficiency of 5.44 inches.

Despite some rainfall during June most of the area received approximately one-half inch. This amount was too light to permit widespread dry-land planting.

Some Scalding Reported Hot, dry winds during the first half of June resulted in some young irrigated cotton being watered down the row, thus "scalding" some tender plants.

The report said this practice encouraged the planting to set a surface root system which in turn would leave it highly vulnerable to high winds which may be expected at any time.

Sudan Man Present At Signing Of Freedom Declaration By President

President Eisenhower at Washington, Thursday, signed a solemn declaration that "the heritage of freedom which we cherish as Americans is from God."

The signing of the large leather-bound brochure touched off a year-long "March of Freedom" sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals "to emphasize the fact that freedom depends on faith in God."

A group of clergymen and laymen active in the "March of Freedom" attended the signing ceremony. The group included F. O. Masten of Sudan, Texas.

The President issued a proclamation also calling on Americans to observe July 4 as a day of prayer.

Eisenhower said as he signed the declaration that the principles "expressed here are the foundation stones of our country. This is a deep, profound and simple idea—like most great truths."

The declaration, to be signed later by other leading government officials, cites the seven "divine freedoms" guaranteed in the 23rd Psalm—freedom from want, from hunger, from thirst, from sin, from enemies and, finally, the freedom to live abundantly.

Saying, "the forces of evil in the world are bent on destroying our religious freedom as guaranteed by the constitution," the declaration says America "needs to be reminded of its spiritual heritage and its responsibility to almighty God as its sovereign ruler."

The declaration concludes: "We do therefore affirm that the heritage of freedom which we cherish as Americans is from God, who is the author of seven freedoms in the 23rd Psalm, and—

"We do further affirm that only those who have an obedient faith in God are assured of freedom and the abundant life, and that only those nations will live and be free whose people have his faith."

The Evangelical Association sponsoring the declaration describes itself as a voluntary association of denominations, individuals and local churches comprising about 10 million Americans of protestant faiths.

Following Eisenhower's signature the document was to be presented to Vice-President Nixon, Chief Justice Vinson, cabinet members, governors of the states, congressmen and leading mayors.

Sponsors say the "March of Freedom" is being conducted "to acquaint all Americans and, especially to reach the grass roots of the nation, with the truth that our democratic heritage and the freedom which we cherish comes from almighty God as does the right to worship is guaranteed by the Constitution of the States."

A July 4 ceremony at the Lyric Theatre at Washington in connection with the campaign will be followed by meetings, parades and other ventures culminating in a parade to the Washington Monument, July 4, 1954.

The first game on the Lion's exhibition schedule is the All-Star game in Chicago August 14.
