Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses.

Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on only one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Wednesday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.

Advertising that does not show in its text or typography that it is paid for must be marked as an advertisement. All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, it matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.

Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm, or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Lamb County Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

Now A Radio Tax

Owners of radio sets around Muleshoe will probably be hearing ere long about a "radio tax" in this country. An Ohio congressman has a plan to tax the advertising programs now cluttering up the air. He says the money derived from such a tax would serve to restore postage to the 2-cent rate.

If it is a tax on the ones using the radio for advertising, then it will be one that cannot very well be passed on to the consumer. If it is a tax on the listener, then the advertisers are sure to suffer, for few there are who would pay anything to listen to the programs they are now broadcasting. They have to give them away if they can't get anyone to listen. So here at last appears to be a tax that is justified.

Considering the class of stuff that is filling the air these days the ones sponsoring the programs really ought to be taxed for asking the public to listen to their old-time medicine show ballyhoo and their jokes that once made Joe Miller's Joke Book a ready seller.—Muleshoe Journal.

A good many New Yorkers are studying amateur magic. The toy shops report an unusual demand for magicians' kits.

Here's A Suggestion

In his column in the Current-Argus, Will Robinson in commenting on the proposed formation of a new state of West Texas, suggests that it would be a good move if some means could be contrived to add the eastern counties of New Mexico to this state.

The state of West Texas would be one of the most progressive and prosperous states in the union, and if eastern New Mexico could be included in this move, it would work to the advantage of this section of the state.

The Curfew Law

Over at Littlefield they have a curfew law now in force. This is a good thing if impartially enforced, but in a town where we once lived, they made a difference in the children of old Banker Billions and those of Clem the Cobbler. We will state for the benefit of those who may think we become prejudiced on account of a hangup with the "law," that we were then several years too old to come "within the law."—Terry County Herald.

Bill of Sale For Slave Will Be Placed in Museum

Pampa Dailey News: Documentary evidence of the sale of negro slaves in Texas has been given T. D. Hobart, longtime official of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, by George Berry.

Mortgages written in longhand tell of the "sale at public outcry" before the Rusk county courthouse of a negro woman named Pat, 25 years old, and "all her future increase" for $980. The date was April 7, 1857.

Another document reads as follows in another transaction: "Rusk county, Texas, May 15, A. A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

Fifteenth Installment

Finally he turned around and smiled at her again. "Well, there it is. And what happens next? Does the beautiful Belinda depart forever in proud wrath and leave the poor insulating worm to live on with only the memory of his one daring deed or—"

Leaving his sentence unfinished, he took a cigarette and lighted it. Joyce watching, saw his hand shake as he held the match to the tip.

Why did he not come back to her and take her in his arms again? Why did he not tell her he loved her? She had not repulsed him.

"Dickie," went on Ainsworth, sitting down on the step and picking up the dog who was nudging at him for attention, "it should be possible, one would think, for a sweet, beautiful girl to visit a man, even in a lonely place like this without being . . . or . . . manhandled." He smoked furiously. Joyce, feeling her knees trembling, sat down on the arm of Dickie, it's time for us . . . to go." Ainsworth jumped to his feet, dropping Dickie unceremoniously, and came to her. "Look here, Joyce! Don't go. You're—oh what shall I say?" He took her in his arms and kissed her again and again. Then he looked into her eyes, met her anxious smile and said softly, "Oh, what is there to talk about? We don't need any words, do we, darling?"

Joyce shook her head without speaking. She was swept back again to the heights of joyous happiness and she clung to him now unquestioningly.

At last however, she drew herself away and stood up straightening her silk blouse with nervous hands and hastily combing her hair, which Ainsworth's caresses had ruffled. As she stood in front of the mirror, he came up behind her and put her arms gently around her body again. His eyes met hers in the glass. He was so much taller than Joyce that his chin rested on the top of her curly yellow head. She leaned back against him, suddenly aware of the fact that she was almost limp with fatigue after the emotional storm she had passed through and smiled into the mirror. At that, he whirled her around and crushing her to him again buried his face in her neck. "Oh . . . dearest . . . most beautiful . . ."

She put her arms around his shoulders and whispered shyly, "Oh, am I all that to you?"

"And so much more that I can't put it into words!" he murmured, kissing the tip of her ear. . . .

After a while Joyce was able to put on her hat and then, with his arm around her, they set out to walk to the car through the woods. . . .

After she was in the car, with Dickie on the seat beside her, Ainsworth leaned against it with his arms still around her and gave her a final kiss. "Can't I do the calling next time?"

Joyce sat at her dressing table and stared dreamily at herself and was away on business, she returned home, a poet whose she had always admired. When she returned home, she decided to be as good as dead to Neil than Frills had. But this line was dangerous, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back her love. At his request they call upon Neil's mother, and Joyce finds adorable. Later, she and the poet, Robert Ainsworth, and Neil times stopped for lunch at his when she was horseback riding. day he started to make love to one of the big redwood chairs and listened silently. "But, you see, Dickie, damn it, I've been living here all alone for months and months, and a man gets to fooling himself with his smart decision that he's self-sufficient, that the lid is on good and tight—until, suddenly, along comes a girl, not just an ordinary girl, you know, Dickie, but one with sweetness and beauty and intelligence, one who is a particular joy to be with, and—well, then, bang everything is off!"

A chill descended on Joyce. She felt a vast sickening fear settle down benumbingly over her. What did he mean? Did he—was he sorry for what had happened? A flame of white humiliation burned Joyce with intolerable pain. She must get away quickly and hide herself from this thought . . .

She stood up and tried to speak in a casual, ordinary voice. "I think,

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Ainsworth lifted his head, put his hand under her chin and stared down at her face. Joyce's whirl of happiness filled her so full of emotion that could not hold it all and a little of it spilled over in tears. Her heart beat in accord with the violent beats she could plainly feel thumping in Robert Ainsworth's breast. He drew her down then and kissed her eyes and her lips. At first, just lightly, and then each time a little harder, and more intensely—until finally her mouth crushed down on hers and as if she were lifted out of her and had lost her identity.

For a few moments he released her abruptly. Joyce, so weak, she had fallen against the bookshelves to the floor, watched Ainsworth to the door and stand there with his back to her. She could not see. It seemed to her that they were thus for an eternity.

4-H CLUB GIRLS TO MEET SATURDAY

Girls who are members of the Littlefield 4-H club are urged to meet their sponsor at City Hall, Littlefield, at 4 p. m. Saturday. Important matters are to come before the club.

LOCAL SCHOOLS ARE REPRESENTED AT TWO-DAY MEETING OF STATE BOARD

Littlefield schools were represented at the two day session of the State Board of Education held in Lubbock Friday and Saturday by J. W. James, President of the local school board; C. O. Robbins, Trustee, Senator Arthur P. Duggan, former Littlefield school head, and H. C. Arnold, secretary of the local board.

According to Mr. Arnold, every effort was made by the Littlefield group to place the Littlefield's outstanding bonds with the State, and this matter was discussed fully with the State's officials at the meeting. "It will mean a saving of around $28,000 to the Littlefield schools. It will be about three weeks before we will receive the decision of the State in this regard."

Due to the present accumulative deficit of $4,500,000, members of the State Board of Education delayed until July 31, the setting of the State per capita apportionment.

Chairman Nat M. Washer of San Antonio had dispatched the board's request to Attorney General James V. Alfred for a departmental ruling on whether the three-year deficit would have to be absorbed during the next ensuing scholastic year. A previous ruling by hurried telegram from one member of the attorney general's department had said the deficit must come out of the funds for the next ensuing year.

Indications were that should the attorney general hand down a ruling calling for absorption of the deficit next year, the board would carry the question of its constitutionality to the supreme court. There was also a probability that a special session of the legislature might have to be called in order to provide a special appropriation for absorption of the deficit before the schools open their terms in September.

Should the deficit have to be taken out of next year's available funds before the apportionment can be set, the per capita apportionment will fall below $9. The past school year it was $16 and the year before, $17.50.

Causes Are Cited

Gasoline tax evasion, decline in sulphur consumption, delinquent tax payments and numbers of causes were cited as bringing about the huge deficit.

Purchase of school bonds, consideration of certain phases of the new rural aid school law and the setting of a number of new regulations, reading of reports and recommendations from various departments and other routine matters occupied the time of the board Saturday.

Program Is Favored

Upon the recommendation of J. J. Hendricks, manager of the textbook division of the state department of education, the board went on record favoring the adoption of a curriculum program and set-up worked out for elementary schools as suggested by 870 superintendents over the state in questionnaire. The program would bring about development of the junior high school theory.

The board voted to adopt a general junior high school mathematical test upon suggestion by J. O. Guleke of Amarillo.

Bonds purchased by the board were as follows: Yeleta, El Paso county, $20,000 for new building; Judson, Gregg county, $25,000 for new building; Ward county, $4,000 refunding; East Mountain, Upshur county, $14,000; Lawn, $10,862; Smithville, $90,000; Sabinal, $44,000; Meadow, Electra, $26,000 and Liberty, Lubbock county, $10,250. Issues of the Smithville, Sabanal, Meadow and Electra districts would be met in four payments by the board.

Schedule of maximum teachers, salaries for rural aid schools for 1933-34 was as follows:

One-teacher schools, $80 per month two-teacher schools principal $85, assistant $75; three teacher schools principal $95, each assistant $75; four-teacher schools principal $105, primary $85 and other assistants $75; six-teacher schools principal $110, primary teacher $85 and other assistants $75; seven-teacher schools principal $120, primary teacher $85, high school assistants $85 and other assistants $75; schools above seven teachers, principal $125, primary teacher and high school assistants $85 and other assistants $75.

The board voted that no portion of rural aid funds be allowed for transportation by bus of students living less than two miles from school.

Two years of college work will be the training minimum of all teachers in rural aid schools after next year under a ruling adopted.

Suspend Insurance

The Texas School for the Deaf was created as an independent school district.

The board also voted to suspend inuring of textbooks by local boards.

4-H Club Girls Clothing Contest To Be Held June 29

Two hundred home demonstration club women attended the county club Women's Encampment held at the County Fair Grounds at Amherst June 8 and 9. The annual clothing contest of sheer and print dresses was held the first day. The women and children modeled their dresses and the Judges, Miss Nannie Hill, Home Demonstration agent of Hockley County, and Mrs. Joy McGee of Amherst scored the dresses on the appropriate line, design and color of the dress, its fit and suitability to the person wearing it. Seventy four dresses were entered in this contest and the County Home Demonstration Council made suitable awards to the winners in each class.

A business meeting and songs were enjoyed the second morning. In the afternoon Mr. K. M. Renner, head of the Dairy Manufacturing Department of the Texas Technological College, gave a demonstration to the women on ice cream, sherbet, and water ices. After this each guest was permitted to enjoy each of the frozen desserts.

The first county encampment and clothing contest for 4-H Club girls will be held at the County Fair Grounds of Amherst June 29th and 30th. Each club girl is to model a dress, either sheer or print, that she has made herself. Most of the time will be devoted to recreation well directed. The Home Demonstration Club women will furnish suitable awards for winners in each class. Girls will enter their dresses according to their year as a club member as: first, second, third, and fourth.

MANY BUILDING PROJECTS ARE BEING PLANNED

Cities of County to Take Advantage of Public Works Fund

Representing the recently created Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission, Tom Hanlon of Dallas addressed about a hundred public officials and business men Thursday morning of last week, in the Hilton hotel at Lubbock. He informed them of possibly far-reaching benefits to the South Plains from President Franklin D. Roosevelt's vast public works program.

Practically every town and county in the territory was represented in the conference in which provisions of the public works act and methods of securing loans on various projects were explained by Mr. Hanlon.

Projects Announced

Project surveys listed in the meeting were as follows: Lubbock, 16; Hale, 7; Garza, 10; Lynn, 4; Youkum, 2; Bailey, 2; Hockley, 2; Dickens, 4; Gaines, 2; Lamb, 11, and Crosby, 3.

Lamb county is planning to carry out a great variety of projects.

At least two applications for funds will be made by the County of Lamb, and the several cities of the counties will make one or more applications for money.

Littlefield contemplates making application for funds to extend the waterworks system; to build a huge recreational center at some location within a few miles of the city, and to construct a large covered swimming pool within the city limits.

Olton has application for funds with which to build a waterworks system.

The Lubbock meeting was attended by Mayor L. R. Crockett, City Commissioner Carl Arnold, Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, J. W. Hale, secretary-manager of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and County Commissioners Ellis Foust and C. E. Strawn.

$3,300,000,000 Available

Title 2 of the measure known as the National Industrial Recovery act is to be the president's "ungloved, knockout blow" at the depression, Mr. Hanlon said. The act put $3,300,000,000 in the president's fist for this specific purpose.

On acceptable projects the federal government will make an outright grant or gift of 30 per cent of the construction cost, and will loan the balance of 70 per cent at a low rate of interest.

Lubbock Hubbers Defeat Amherst

Sled Allen's Lubbock Hubbers registered their first victory of the season under the newly installed manager, but in so doing scored enough runs to make up for the lack of tallies in former games. The Hubbers Tuesday defeated Amherst, 29 to 16, in a wild and woolly game on the Amherst field.

The outcome of the game cinched the championship of the first half of the South Plains League season for Skip Taylor's Bulldogs, who now may lose their remaining two games in the first half and still emerge as champions. Amherst, holder of second place, fell into a tie with Slaton, Lovelland, Enochs and Lubbock for second place, each with four games won and four lost.

Cutting-Horse Contest To Be Feature of Rodeo

A contest which tests the skill of the horse rather than the rider will be a feature of the cowboy rodeo to be held in connection with the Fourth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford July 3, 4 and 5. The test is known as the cutting-horse contest and as far as can be learned is not held in any other rodeo.

The contest to decide the best cutting-horse was inaugurated at the reunion last year and proved so popular that it is being repeated this year with changes in rules which will make the competition more difficult. The test has proved popular with the cowboys due to the great pride which they take in their horses. While the ability of the rider is considered by the judges, the winning of the contest depends for the most part on the

Wednesday, June 28

The summer yacht races on Grand Lake, Colorado, where it is more than a mile above sea level, hold a decided appeal for Carveth Wells, Continental Oil Company radio entertainer who on Wednesday, June 28, will devote his last broadcast of the season to a second description of the Columbine state.

Among other Colorado scenes which the famous globetrotter considers phenomenal are the mountain sunsets, the stone formations in the Garden of the Gods near Colorado Springs, Yampa canyon, the Great Sand Dunes in the San Luis valley, and Carbon Mountain, the peak that is shaking itself to pieces.
"Tourists who would like to see a real old fashioned gold rush should go up into the mountains near Canon City," says Wells. "Hundreds of excited people are busy panning the precious yellow metal there right now."

The Conoco program may be heard

General Motors Bldg.
Thilling Spectacle
At Night at Fair

"The General Motors building rears its bulk aloft, a giant shaft of gold," says one writer describing the magnificent panorama of the Century of Progress Exposition by night. With the Fair but a few days old, the General Motors building is recognized as one of the most thrilling spectacles at night.

Three hundred and fifty flood and projector lamps bathe the orange, yellow, red, silver and blue building.
The orange-gold tower is the focal point of attention, rearing its 177 foot height conspicuously into the many-hued heaven created by the genius of Joseph Urban, supervisor of color and lighting for the Century of Progress.

Exterior lighting of the General Motors building alone consumes enough electricity per night to pump water for a city of 25,000 inhabitants or to provide home and street lighting for a city of 7,500 inhabitants.
An average of two million, three hundred thousand watts of electricity a day is used. Monthly consumption amounts to sixty-nine million watts.
This is equal to 92,000 horsepower
a month.

How Times Have Changed!

Floyd County Hesperian—Postmaster J. D. Starks, the only living member of the original group of ten cowboys who punched the first herd of cattle on the famous Matador Ranch, back in the spring of 1880, went "home" last Saturday and attended another round-up on his old "stompin' grounds."

It was the first time he had been to a round-up on the ranch in 45 years. "I had a good time and the food wuz great. They have got the best wagon cook I ever et after," he said in typical cowboy descriptive English.

More Style Nowadays
Mr. Starks was accompanied by R.
L. Henry, city and Harry Campbell, of Matador. They went to the roundup at the head of Wolf Creek in Motley county last Saturday. About 350 calves were branded.

"There's a little more style used in the round-up these days. They keep the different classes of cattle in separate pastures and it is not such hard work. Back in our day we had all classes together and it was a job to cut them out from the big herd."

"They have a big tarp that covers the end of the wagon and the cook can work in the shade," he explained.
There is enough room under it for the boys to sit on the ground and eat.
We didn't have any kind of a shade when we wuz punchin' and we just

Projects Make Them Pals

If a father grows tired of reminding a son continually of chores that fall to his share of the work, get the boy started on a 4-H project. That will change things all over according to a New Hampshire club boy. The lad should know for he says club projects have made him and father real pals.

The boy is George Gilpatrick, Jr. of the Concord vicinity, and he is a state poultry champion. No longer, in fact not for some time, has Father Gilpatrick been heard to say: "George do the hens have water?", or something else like it which many boys have heard so often they feel they are being "dinged" at.

It is all changed when the boy is given a proprietary interest in the hens, or what else he has to care for. It is a very handy arrangement for a boy to have charge of the poultry because the returns are daily, or at least so during most of the year. The egg yield tells the story of what the flock is doing, as there are eggs to be gathered every day during the productive season.

If Johnny fails to feed or water the hens properly he knows full well it will tell its own story. The New Hampshire boy got so deeply interested in poultry after he started that in three years he has built up a fine producing flock, using three houses, all electrically lighted and fully equipped. He started with 10 hens which his father sold him, and built the first house with lumber laying around the place. The boy uses nothing but the best stock and produces fancy broilers as well as select eggs.

You can buy white mice in New York for four and a half cents each. There was a time when you had to pay as much as 31 cents. The city's health department bought 7,500 mice recently for experimental purposes.

You won't believe it but snakes in New York are commanding more money than ever before. A garter snake sells for 75 cents. A python brings as high as $350.

"I am getting along fine. Have about 5000 tobacco plants set out; have an acre and a half of water-mellons, and it's raining today. Have all kinds of garden stuff growing, have been picking gooseberries, soon have raspberries to pick and dew-berries and blackberries. I like here fine but like Lamb county better.

Penalty, Interest On Delinquent State Taxes Is Reduced

The penalty and interest that has accrued on state and county taxes, delinquent on or before February 1, 1933, has been released by a bill passed by the recent session of the State Legislature, providing, however, that a penalty of one per cent is now due on taxes delinquent at this time regardless of the year or years.

The bill which releases penalties and interest on delinquent taxes is a fusion of the O'Neal bill in the Senate and the Leonard bill in the House.

The bill provides that all taxes delinquent to the State and county and other political subdivisions of the State on February 1, 1933, may be paid at any time prior to July 1, 1934 with interest and penalties which have already accrued deducted. If these taxes are paid prior to October 1, 1933, there will be added a penalty of one per cent; of the year paid between October 1, 1933 and December 31, 1933, there will be added a penalty of two per cent; if they are paid between January 1, 1934 and March 31, 1934, there will be added a penalty of four per cent; if they are paid between April 1, 1934 and June 30, 1934, there will be added a penalty of six per cent. These provisions do not apply to cities, independent school districts or special school districts unless the governing boards pass an ordinance or order adopting the plan. Delinquent taxes due all self-governing political subdivisions not including State and county taxes, may be paid in the following manner if this plan is adopted by the governing boards.

The tax payer who is unable to pay all his delinquent taxes at one time may, prior to September 30, 1933, make affidavit of such inability to pay and tender the affidavit to the tax collector, together with a sum equal to not less than twenty per cent of the taxes due. The tax collector shall accept this payment and the taxpayer will be allowed to make four subsequent payments, each to be not less than 20 per cent of the total due. These four payments shall be made on or before June 30, 1934, December 31, 1934, June 30, 1935 and December 31, 1935. The first of these payments, that made on or before September 30, 1933, shall have added to it a penalty of one per cent. Subsequent payments shall have added to them interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from September 30, 1933.

The failure of the taxpayer to comply with the provisions of the law shall cause the addition to the taxes of all penalties and interest released by law.

Dimmitt—The first load of the 1933 wheat crop was brought in Tuesday, June 13. It was raised by L. E. Tucker on his farm in the Sunnyside community, and was bought by the Dimmitt Elevator Company.

This load of wheat was purchased on a 62 cent basis and Mr. Tucker received a $5.00 premium. The grains were nice and plump and indicate that the county will have first class grain although the crop is short.

PLANS TO CARE FOR INDIGENT SICK ARE GIVEN

Medical Association Seeks Co-operation Of County

Two plans for caring for the indigent sick in Lamb county, recently drawn up by the Lamb county Medical association, have been presented to the Commissioners Court.

No definite action has as yet been taken on the plans submitted, however, the commissioners have indicated that they will take the matter up sometime in the near future.

In an announcement from the association, it was said that the county physicians only wanted to contract with the county to stand the actual expense of giving medical treatment to those who could sign a papers oath.

In a report to the Leader from the association, a summary of the two suggestive plans for caring for the indigent sick, submitted to the commissioners court, is given. The report follows:

Flat Rate Basis Plan

The association will contract with the county to give medical service to all true and actual indigent cases in Lamb county, for which it is to be paid a fixed sum by the county. This amount to be divided among the doctors by agreement among themselves in proportion to the amount of such work each has done.

This service will not include serums, drugs, vaccines, treatment for venereal diseases, special appliances, or hospital fees.

One of the following persons shall determine if a case is entitled to this charity services: a county commissioner, a city commissioner, a social service worker, a justice of peace, or the county judge.

Fee Basis Plan

This plan follows the general principle of the first plan, except the physician is to be paid a fee individually by the county for every charity case he attends. The rates for the various services being fixed at amounts greatly below those prevailing as regular charges, this reduction to constitute the physician's personal contribution to the cause of charity.

The amount of payment under either plan is not sufficient for the physician to make a profit on any case, nor does he desire a profit on work for the unfortunate; but the association is asking for some such arrangement as either of the two plans submitted above, on account of the fact that the physician is no longer able to treat such cases at his own personal expense.

The Association will welcome any discussion on this matter by any citizen through the columns of any Lamb county newspaper.

Highway—

as share of the federal unemployment relief funds for highways probably would amount to $25,000,000 for the next two years.

No definite action was taken at the meeting, but delegations were told by John Wood, chairman of the commission, highway projects most urgently needed would be designated for quick attention.

The commissioners did reveal that Highway one between Dallas and

Fort Worth and Highway 8 in East Texas, serving a big part of the great oil field of that section would be placed on the preferred list.

Gib Gilchrist, state highway engineer, was instructed to open negotiations with the state of Louisiana for construction of a free bridge across the Sabine river at Penleton on Texas highway 21. T toll ferry is operated there.

Commissioner W. R. Ely said Texas would join on a fifty-fifty basis in constructing the bridge.

Texas Exhibit—

enter upon the task with an open mind, and with a full intention of making the sole object of their intervention the furthering of the undertaking of placing a fitting exhibit at Chicago. They will act in the interest of no faction and against no faction, but in the interest of Texas. And they will act in the faith that not only the great body of newspaper men in the State, but all patriotic Texans, will support a disinterested course in this matter.

Cost Is Not Large

Meantime, two things should be said as being almost self-evident. One is that Texas should have an adequate exhibit at Chicago; the other is that Texas can, without much difficulty, put up the money to provide an exhibit at Chicago. To provide and maintain an adequate exhibit at Chicago will not require more than $75,000, or only a fraction more than one per cent per capita of the population of Texas. To date, more than a million and a half persons have been in attendance at the exposition. Many millions more will attend the exposition during the next few months. If a million and a half persons should view a Texas exhibit at Chicago, and such exhibit cost $75,000 to install and maintain, that would be about five cents per person viewing the exhibit. And it is certain that if a Texas exhibit is installed between now and August 1st, much more than a million and a half persons will visit and view it before the exposition closes.

The real question, of course, is whether the people of Texas want an exhibit at Chicago. We think they do and we think the press of the State generally is of the same opinion. The committee is going to try to find out whether the people of Texas want such an exhibit. Meantime, we would urge upon the newspapers of the State to speak out in this matter, in order that the importance of having such an exhibit might be fully appreciated. Our object at this time is simply to place the matter before our readers and before the press of the State. We shall have more to say about it during the weeks ahead.

What About Our Centennial?

One thing, however, should be added, and that is that unless Texas is adequately represented at Chicago within the next few weeks, all thought of holding a fitting celebration of our own centennial in 1936, or during any year later than that, might just as well be abandoned. If we cannot become interested in the celebration of such an event as the centennial of the city of Chicago, we must not expect the people of other States to become interested in the celebration of our own centennial. Indeed, it might be said with a large degree of truth that if we are not sufficiently interested in having Texas adequately represented at an exposition like the one at Chicago to put up such a relatively small sum as $75,000, it is not likely that we ourselves will be sufficiently interested in our own centennial to provide for a fitting celebration.

It is true that we have just gone through a period of extreme depression, and that we are still facing the necessity of supporting many thousands of our people by charity. But we now have adequate ground to believe that we shall conquer the depression in the months ahead, if we work with a proper will toward that end. The city of Chicago itself and all other States and countries which are participating in the Century of Progress Exposition have experienced quite as great a degree of depression as we have experienced. The spirit that will conquer the depression is precisely of the kind that will see that Texas is represented at Chicago, and that will put over our own centennial celebration.

FIREMEN ON FISHING TRIP

Several members of the Littlefield fire department left Tuesday for Paint Rock on a fishing trip. The party was composed of Alfred Dunagin, Troy Howton, W. A. Coatt, Jim Roles, and L. W. Wynn.

PLAYGROUND BALL TEAMS ORGANIZED; SEVERAL GAMES ARE PLAYED HERE

A playground ball team was organized by the Odd Fellows of the Littlefield lodge last week, and the first match game, with Bob Cox, captain of the one side, and T. E. Dobyns, captain of the other side, was played Tuesday, June 13, when the score was 29 to 18 in favor of Bob Cox's group. Thursday afternoon another game was played, at which time T. E. Dobyns' side won 30 to 10.

Littlefield Scouts also organized Monday afternoon, under the leadership of "Cotton" Egan and Marshall Burleson, and the Odd Fellows and Scouts met Tuesday afternoon at Beckner's Park, when the Odd Fellows were victorious, the score being 13 to 16.

The Boy Scouts and the Odd Fellows also met in a game last night.

Cotton—

mated output of the land he retires from production.

These options will be offered him at 6 cents a pound or nearly 3 cents below the current market price. He may order these options exercised at any time up to next January, his profit being the difference between the 6 cents and the price cotton is selling for at the time he sells.

The full schedule of payments worked out by Secretary Wallace for cotton acreage reduction under the two alternative plans which will be made available to growers, follow:

Table with 2 columns: Yield per Acre, Benefit Payment in Pounds. Per Acre With Option. Rows include 100-124, 125-149, 150-174, 175-224, 225-274, 275 and over.

In all of these cases the amount of cotton on which the grower will be entitled to obtain an option will be equal to the yield of the land he retires from production.

The yield of his land will be determined on the basis of past production of the land and the appearance of his crop this year and its general condition.

The plan providing for cash benefits without options calls for these payments:

Table with 2 columns: Yield per Acre, Payment per Acre Without Option. Rows include 100-124 pounds, 125-149, 150-174, 175-224, 225-274, 275 and over.

Wallace said operation of the whole plan was contingent upon the degree of co-operation shown by growers during the week's campaign to obtain contracts.

Unless Wallace is certain that he can take a large amount of cotton out of production, equivalent to at least 2,000,000 bales production, he is not prepared to proceed further with the plan.

However, he indicated that he was confident of the success of the campaign and his associates said there was virtually no doubt but that the plan would be employed and that about $100,000,000 would be distributed in rentals to growers in the next few months.

Wallace will use about $54,000,000 from the $200,000,000 made available by the farm act and subsequent laws to acquire full title to cotton on which government loans were made by the Farm Board and other agencies. He is making settlement for the cotton, which is under the control of the new Farm Credit Administration at the rate of 9 1/2 cents a pound.

Wallace in whose name the pool cotton will be held, may sell any portion of it he desires up to March 1, 1936, when the law requires that he must complete disposition of it.

While fixing a 2,000,000-bale minimum, Wallace hopes to take out of production land capable of producing at least 3,000,000 bales.

When the contract offers to be gathered up during the campaign have been brought together, the official decision will be made as to which shall be accepted.

The campaign will be handled by extension workers and other agricultural officials and will involve contact with nearly 2,000,000 cotton producers. The drive will be conducted on a county basis with an effort made to distribute rental payments as widely as possible in order to make the moneys serve the purpose of widespread business stimulation.

A float entered by Dick Johnson, with Dick Jr., as chief functionary, came in for extra special attention: In fact it recalled the old days and reminded viewers of the parade of the new days in Texas which may come after August 26. In other words, Dick's float was just a miniature bar with all the trimmings.
