Drilling of Littlefield's First Deep Test Oil Well Still Uncertain

oil well in Littlefield, are not yet acquired.

According to C. J. DUGGAN, Murchison's personal representative in Littlefield, Mr. Murchison will be in Littlefield the first of next week to decide whether to take his $15,000 forfeit money out of the bank, or accept what acreage is now leased and proceed to spud in the well, or return leases to owners and let Littlefield find another operator to drill.

According to the escrow agreement now in the bank along with the money, Murchison has the right to withdraw the funds if 700 acres in leases are not acquired. Should he accept what leases we have already in the bank, he will spud in a well within a very short time, and proceed to drill to 7700 feet unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities at lesser depth. It is the plan to go to granite in case nothing unfavorable is found at a 7700 foot depth. This is Littlefield's one great opportunity to get a deep test and it is hoped that Mr. Murchison can see his way clear to go ahead with the plan with less than the 700 acres in leases.

There are many parties, according to Duggan, who have not signed their leases though they had them prepared in his office. They cannot be counted until they are in the bank in escrow. Those who have not signed are urged to come to his office in McCary and Son's office and execute them, or phone to Duggan, phone 1095 and he will send notary to their homes. It is urgent that all leases be executed at once. The deadline is up, but Mr. Murchison has extended the time for acquiring the required amount another week.

Dedication services will be held at the First Baptist Church, Earth Sunday, April 26, for the $70,000 auditorium and educational annex. Rev. Bruce Giles is pastor of the congregation.

At the 11 a. m. worship services, Reverend Giles will preach the dedication sermon. M. E. Kelley, deacon and chairman of the building committee, will say the dedication prayer.

Dedication of First Baptist, Earth, Is Set For Sunday

Special music selections will be presented at services throughout the day by the adult choir, under the direction of Frank C. Mills, Jr., the church's director of music and education.

Lunch will be served at the church at noon.

At 2 p. m., messages will be delivered by Rev. Franklin E. Swanner, district missionary of Plainview, and Rev. Earl Landroop, Plainview, a former pastor of the church. Reverend Swanner will speak on the subject, "The Church and Its Mission."

A. M. Sanders, former music director of the church, will be in charge of the song service at the afternoon meetings.

Also, special recognition will be given to former pastors of the church, members, charter members.

Just Peace for All Is President's Plea

President Eisenhower, in his address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, presented to the new leadership in Russia a challenge to help effect a just peace for all the peoples of the world. This new Soviet leadership, despite ties to the past, "now has a precious opportunity to awaken, with the rest of the world, to a point of peril reached, and to help turn the tide of history."

Reviewing first the tragic loss of common purpose among allies of World War II soon after that conflict ceased, the former supreme commander in Western Europe then alluded to the cold war struggle between the respective civilized and power concepts of the free and Communist worlds. The result has been tragic for the world, but ironic for the Soviet Union because the threat of aggression has cemented the free nations into common cause of mutual security against danger.

Under the course forced upon the world, however, the President envisioned no true way of life in a mad rearmament race under the cloud of threatening war, but only "humanity hanging from a cross of iron." Even the Soviet Union has come to the point of sharing and suffering the very fears it has fostered in the rest of the world.

Grimly aware of war itself as well as the post-war struggle, the President cited the possible sequels of atomic war as the worst outcome and, at the best, "a life of perpetual fear and tension; a burden of arms draining the wealth and labor of all peoples; a wasting of strength that defies the American system or the Soviet system or any system to achieve true abundance and happiness for the peoples of this earth."

This arms race is "spending the sweat of its laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children." The cost of one heavy bomber was cited as the equivalent of a modern school in each of 50 cities, 50 miles of concrete highway, or two fine, fully equipped hospitals. The price of a new destroyer would finance homes for more than 5,000 people.

These tangibles of today's world power struggle penalize impartially peoples on both sides of the Iron Curtain. The cost of consumed wealth, energies and thought could be diverted to building a world without poverty, fear and uncertainty.

If this recitation of the tribute exacted by an armament race embraced familiar material, it nevertheless has a bearing on the world crisis which President Eisenhower would abate by a just, lasting peace.

But, as the chief executive reminded, there can be no effective disarmament without the sincere desire for peace and free inspection in all countries under auspices of the United Nations. None of the proposals advanced by the President would be easily attained, but the pressing necessity for a just and lasting peace may be realized by realistic consideration of the harsh alternate courses of war and cold war.

The President held that the first step to peace should be an honorable armistice in Korea. There should be avoidance of direct or indirect aggression against Indochina or Malaya, and solutions of the ramified problems in Europe. In lieu of undeclared war and cold war, there would be the inspiring objective of an offensive against poverty and need throughout the world.

The President's speech embraced an able exposition of our foreign policy and the nature of today's power struggle. It presented true peace as the supreme mission challenged mankind. It has opened the door wide for Soviet collaboration for liberation of the world from the shackles of conflict, fear and the innumerable ill assailing peoples today. The President made clear the fact that America has no ax to grind, only the attainment of peace and good will for all.

The speech should appeal to the hopes of peoples, and strengthen their faith in ultimate justice and good after the mad lust for power and gain has run its course. We're persuaded with the President that "the hunger for just peace is in the hearts of all peoples—those of Russia and China no less than of our own country."

Our aspirations, so well defined by the President, are only the "lifting, from the backs and hearts of men, of the burden of arms and fears, so that they may find before them a golden age of freedom and peace."

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

BY TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH—Spring time is often a time of year that leads cattle and sheep raisers into a feeling of false security with regard to the current crop of calves and lambs. While lush early grass and weeds in many sections make it look like feeding would be silly, it is well to bear in mind that hot summer sun will scorch that greenery in a few weeks in most sections and then the "bloom" is likely to leave those lambs or calves in a hurry.

During the past year we have talked to hundreds of cattle and sheep men at the Fort Worth livestock market from all sections of the Southwest. Many lost lots of money during the year. Some made a little money. But in most cases the stockman who creeped his calves and lambs fared better than the producer who did not.

The reason was the additional pounds he sold because of the creepfeeding. Plus, the better weight of his cows because the calves did not pull them down as badly. Or the better condition of the ewe for the same reason. The mothers were in all cases far heavier when their offspring were creepfed.

Don't overlook the fact that industrialization of the Southwest is bringing hundreds of thousands of new meat eaters into this section. Fat calves and fat lambs, right off their mummies, this summer and fall will be needed to feed folks right here in the Southwest.

Last year trainloads of beef were shipped here from the Corn Belt! Let's get into this market and not depend entirely on stocker and feeder demand to take care of our same old calf crop. If calves are out of plain cows, creepfeeding is almost a MUST. But for the best quality calves or lambs the two-way market will help.

Fact is a young animal eats very, very little until he is near weaning time. To capitalize on creepfeeding the young animal should be sold or put in drylot when weaned and not allowed to "shrink" off that bloom.

Don't let early pasture keep you from setting up a creepfeeder. Those extra pounds are the cheapest gain you can put on any animal and the price they bring will just about double the cost of the feed.

The Southwest will be more prosperous when they sell more livestock for slaughter at heavier weights at home, and every indication is that feeder buyers in the North will be BEARISH in the coming season after the feed lot losses of the past season!

HOW BAIL IS SET IN CRIMINAL CASES EXPLAINED BY BAR

Why persons accused of crime are released on bail is a subject on which most of us have little knowledge but considerable curiosity, according to the State Bar of Texas.

In the United States a defendant in a criminal action is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt. His guilt or innocence is established at his trial—not when he is arrested.

With this concept in mind it is not hard to see why the right to bail in criminal cases is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, with the exception of capital cases. A capital crime is one which the punishment may be death. In Texas, murder, treason, rape and robbery with firearms are capital offenses.

All prisoners are bailable in Texas except where the proof is evident that a capital offense has been committed and it is probable that a jury will assess the death penalty.

An officer making an arrest is required by law to take the accused promptly before a magistrate. It is the duty of the magistrate to examine into the truth of the accusation made. He determines whether the accused should be discharged or bailed or held without bail. If bail is set for the defendant, the magistrate must determine the Court of Criminal Appeals.

When an accused is on bail when his trial commences he has the right to remain on bail during the trial of his case. Where the punishment of a defendant has been assessed at confinement in the penitentiary for fifteen years or less the defendant has the right to remain on bail pending the appeal of his case. If the penalty is more than fifteen years the defendant is kept in custody from the moment the jury returns its verdict.

The Constitution also says that bail may not be set in excessive amount. What is considered a reasonable amount depends largely upon the circumstances and the risk involved. Bail must be set high enough to assure the court and the state that the person will not run away, but will return and submit to trial on the date set.

The judge usually will ask the and F. F. A. Junior Live-Show trip was a huge success. We wish to take this opportunity to thank each merchant and member of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce for their contribution to the trip. The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, is due a round of applause for arranging the trip. It was mapped out and made it possible for the boys to see and do many more things than can usually be worked out in a few days.

Parents of the boys are also a round of applause for the boys that they are raising. After all is the thing that they are trying to do. That is to raise a boy instead of feeding a pig. Each of you have a son to be proud of the boys for perfect gentlemen on the farm.

What to do now is to start the boys show. Warm weather approaches, and insects will follow. Use common sense with insecticides for safety and insect control. Insects have a place when used, to prevent damage to household enemies as roaches, flies, and clothes. Carelessness can cause serious diseases.

Which bother man, his belongings, thrive especially in cities where households are together. But generally today, household insects have become as necessary as cleaning fluids or furniture, and should be treated with the same caution. Most insects are not dangerous than any other household item. The use of insecticides in Federal and State insect control. Precautions as well as instructions for use are given on the labels of the containers. If you follow the instructions, you can feel safe.

Specific precautions are, the insecticide away from silverware or cooking. If you spill a concentrate on yourself, wash it immediately with soap and don't expose yourself to spray mist in the air. Proper ventilation by opening windows when extensive dusting jobs are done. If you use insecticides in liquid form, don't expose yourself to the spray mist in the air. Don't smoke or drink while using them.

When you have finished applying insecticide, dispose of the containers or return them to the dealer. Clean the sprayer or wash with soap and water. Change your clothes if you have used insecticide on them.

Some of the most important things to think about your labor needs for the year. Agricultural production can help to solve labor problems later by planning for labor needs and by crops which will allow for distribution of the labor crops are planted which are ready for harvest all at the same time, the required labor for harvesting may not be available.

We suggest planting more acres of the crops which can be handled by machinery. Cotton production requires a great deal of hand labor and USDA officials have asked cotton producers to reduce their planting by some 18 percent under those of last year. A crop of 12 to 12.5 million bales has been set as the national goal and a crop of this size, will supply domestic and export outlets and leave an adequate amount of reserves. A larger crop could result in acreage controls for 1954. Acreage not planted to cotton could be shifted to feed and forage crops which can be handled by machinery or to pasture crops which can be harvested with livestock or to legumes which may be grazed or machine harvested for seed.

We suggest that farmers register their labor needs with Mr. J. D. Jordan, representative of the Texas Employment Service, so his labor placement officers can know in advance approximately the number of laborers needed within a given area.

Producers are reminded that good housing, continuous employment and other attractive employment conditions are factors which are important to the laborer.

Ever go out to find holds in the leaves of your garden vegetables? Or perhaps some of the leaves missing? You are sharing your garden with insects and diseases which you can prevent with certain control measures.

The control measures should be initiated before the insects appear, by means of dusts and sprays. We have suggestions for this control. Write or call our office for a copy of C-323, GUIDE FOR CONTROLLING INSECTS AND DISEASES.

As April 14th is the last average frost date you can plant your garden, and set out your plants beginning next week. Of course we can still get a killing freeze or frost, but the chances are on your side now to get them by.

TEXAN HONORED AT MEDICAL EVENT—Dr. L. H. Reeves of Fort Worth will represent Texas at the First Western Hemisphere Conference of the World Medical Association in Richmond, Virginia, April 23-25. The 75-year-old physician is shown here in his office after Governor Allan Shivers designated him to represent the Lone Star State. Ailing with 47 other doctors born in 1878, Reeves will be honored by leaders of the medical societies of the United States and Latin America at the conference which will commemorate medicine's greatest advances. Puts a Good Mark on a Man!

Regardless of where he drives, no man is wholly a stranger to the people about him—if he sits at the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

His name may be unknown—and also his occupation—and, likewise, the whereabouts of his home.

But he is not without standing. For his Cadillac marks him as a man of character and substance.

Wherever he may be, let him arrive at the door of a distinguished hotel or restaurant—or let him seek the ear of anyone for direction or information . . . and he has the courtesy that goes with respect.

And let it be said for Cadillac owners that, almost invariably, they respond in kind.

Indeed, the honor which Cadillac does to its owners is the fruit of the honor they have so long bestowed upon Cadillac. When so many wonderful people favor a particular make of car over such a long period of time—the car must inevitably become a mark of distinction.

All of this, of course, comes to the owner of a 1953 Cadillac as an extra joy and satisfaction.

It comes in addition to the magnificent performance of Cadillac's 210 h.p. engine and improved Hydra-Matic Drive . . . the wonderful comfort of Cadillac's new Air Conditioner . . . the car's soft, easy, relaxing ride . . . its marvelous balance and handling ease . . . its long life and dependability . . . and its truly amazing economy of upkeep and operation.

Put them all together and they spell the grandest satisfaction in all the world of motoring.

Have you seen and driven the 1953 version of the "Car of Cars"?

If not—we should be happy to see you at any time. Why not come in today?

Map Error Caught Saves Town $4000

An error of 200 feet on a map and the curiosity of 200 local businessmen has saved the last buyers of Littlefield about $4,000 in a fire insurance premium.
In a recent report issued by Board of Insurance Commissioners it was indicated that Littlefield sustained enough fire losses in the past year to warrant a 10 per cent increase in fire insurance premiums.
Two insurance agents, Tom bun and Jim Mangum, questioned the figures and a check of the showed that two of the fire losses had been outside the city by about 200 feet. The city been charged with the losses.
Correct maps and other papers were prepared and sent to the Board before the April 1 deadline. A ruling was obtained removing the five per cent penalty, affecting premium savings.

Raymond Elliott
Speaker At Sudan
Annual Banquet

Nearly 200 persons gathered at Sunday Friday night annual Sudan Chamber of Commerce banquet and a nostalgic trip through the field of folk songs by the voice and extemporizing of Raymond Elliott, an instructor of music at Texas State University.

Highlights of the gathering include the formal introduction of the new officers; Joe Adams, president, R. D. Nix as vice-president, Wayne Brown as secretary, and Mrs. Ferguson as assistant secretary.

Featured attraction of the Elliott led his listeners through a short explanation of the folk songs which affect the music of the South. The tour included a rendition of some of the folk songs which have grown and spread down from generalization in America.

Climate, geography and political conditions affect the music of the people, said Elliott. Examples of Irish, Scottish and English folk tunes, then in turn, he went into its pioneer and other folk songs.

He explained the meanings and sang to such tunes as "When I Was Young, Maggie," "I'm Only With Thine," and "The Star Banged."

Elliott's address cut the lack of time—the Sudan and their visitors from Mexico, Muleshoe, Littlefield and Lubbock heard Out-Board Brown discuss the past year. The

To Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Adair will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday, April 26, 5 p. m.

The Adairs were married April 26, 1903, in Hunt County, home of the bride, whose name at the time was Miss Eustace Newland. They came to Sudan in 1941 and have been interested in the baking business part of the time, having retired several years ago.

Sudan Fall Festival was the high point in the year's activities and Brown expressed confidence this year's exposition will be "an even greater success."

Smith then took the stand to introduce Watkins, who acted as Master of ceremonies for the program. Special entertainment was provided by a group of Muleshoe youngsters, under the direction of Lloyd Alsop. Offering musical selections were Don and LaVon Copley, Ellen Allen, Loretta Sullivan, Carroll Pool, Bill Don Barbour and Alva Lee Shofner, all of Muleshoe.

Joe Salem, a director in the organization, introduced the principal speaker. Other directors introduced for the 1953-54 year included Guy Walden, Simon D. Hay and Noel Lumpkin.

Salem himself was paid special tribute for his work in the community during the past year especially the part he played in overseeing the Fall Festival.

The banquet was staged in the school cafeteria, with those present retiring to the grade school auditorium for the program. There, they laughed and applauded as Elliott gave his address, growing suddenly serious when he said "I wish more of our service clubs would sing the last verse of 'America' instead of only the first. It is a beautiful prayer—for a great country!"

Those Seeking Notary Republic Commissions Must File Bond

Secretary of State Howard Carney has announced that he will reappoint all persons who now hold Notary Public Commissions and that all such persons must qualify by filing an oath and bond with the County Clerk of their resident between June 1, 1953 and June 10, 1953. The law specifically requires County Clerks to approve Notary bonds and individuals should not send money or requests for commissions direct to the Secretary of State. All Notary matters can only be received by the Secretary of State after the County Clerk acts thereon.

Secretary of State Carney said, "Each person applying for a commission as a Notary Public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the County for which he is appointed; exact names and permanent addresses should be given to the County Clerk in applying for a commission, as location of the Notary may be necessary long after he has notarized a particular instrument."

Any person who has not heretofore been a Notary Public, should apply to his County Clerk between May 1, 1953, and May 23, 1953, if he desires to have this application given prompt attention in the State Department, as the rush of reap-pointing all old Notaries may slow up the ordinary process of making new appointments and issuing commissions.

Of about 100 different elements known to modern scientists, only nine—copper, tin, gold, iron, lead, sulphur, mercury and carbon were known to men who lived before the year one.

--- Doll Royalty Takes To The Road ---

ELIZABETH I—1559 . . . This exquisite portrait doll shows Queen Bess at the time of her coronation, when she was only 25. Elizabeth I was fond of long strings of pearls, drop diamond earrings, and was the first queen to wear a watch on her wrist.

QUEEN VICTORIA—1897 . . . The aging queen is shown in the black gown she wore for her Diamond Jubilee in 1897 when she had reigned for 60 years. She donned her lace wedding veil, and the rose diamond and silver crown now in the Tower of London.

ELIZABETH II—1953 . . . Portrait doll wears coronation robes, jeweled crown and scepter. Tiny crown was made by Frederick Wettstein, in exact replica.

It is coronation year in the doll world, too, and Mrs. Mary E. Lewis of Brooklyn, N. Y., is touring America with a "court" of little queens only a foot high.

Mrs. Lewis, founder of the National Federation of Doll Clubs, will exhibit her collection of royal dolls in jewelry stores throughout the country. The dolls are exquisite miniatures reproducing to the last tiny diamond and buttonhole the jewelry worn by British queens of history. Jewelry worn by the doll queens is made of real diamonds and other gems.

The exhibit illustrates royal fashions from Elizabeth I to Elizabeth II—almost four centuries.

Mrs. Lewis has gathered her collection of portrait dolls for many years. The most recent addition, Queen Elizabeth II in her coronation robe, is considered the finest

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

"First Aid" should be truly AID and should not harm the patient. There are very few real emergencies, that is, conditions which if unchecked may cause death. Too much or prolonged bleeding, lack of breathing, or poisoning are three in which it is necessary to act fast and do the right thing.

First aid usually doesn't involve extensive treatment. For the inexperienced, some don'ts might be memorized. (1) Don't move the patient unless danger exists in leaving him where he is; consider the use of splints if he must be moved. (2) Don't waste time treating minor wounds if he has deeper injuries. (3) Don't force fluids down if he is unconscious. (4) Don't give whiskey as a stimulant, as a rule. (4) Don't use a tourniquet if bleeding can be controlled by other means.

In most cases, it will be enough to keep the patient quiet and warm, relieve pain as much as possible, and reassure him while the doctor or ambulance is on the way. When the doctor is called he should be informed where the patient is, how serious his wounds are, what kind of first aid equipment is available, and what treatment (if any) is being given. Accurate directions for reaching the patient must be given or valuable time may be lost.

What if an unconscious, unidentified patient is found lying in the street? Assuming there had been no traffic accident or apparent injury, the good Samaritan would be wise to call (1) a doctor or ambulance and (2) a policeman. Even supposing the victim is an epileptic or diabetic patient who carries a card stating what should be done and the name of his doctor, a search might be interpreted as an attempt at robbery. Also, the right kind of treatment might take a medical expert.

Another reason for calling the legal authorities is the possibility of attempted murder or suicide. All traffic accidents should be reported, of course.

Once the patient has been identified, his next of kin should be notified and his own doctor, if another physician hasn't already been called. The patient's head and shoulders should be lowered when possible so that if he vomits, his breathing won't be cut off or the stage set for pneumonia. If the victim regains consciousness, he may be able to tell what should be done for him, such as giving a piece of candy or other sweets if he is diabetic.

To stop bleeding, one of the following methods should be tried:

ASTHMA COUGHS

Don't let difficult breathing, coughing and wheezing, due to recurring spasms of Bronchial Asthma or simple Bronchitis ruin your sleep and energy without trying MENDACO. Works through your blood to help loosen and remove thick, stranding mucus. Thus usually allows coughing which permits freer breathing and sounder sleep. Get MENDACO under money back guarantee at druggists.

(1) Press against the wound, using a freshly ironed handkerchief or sterile gauze. (2) Press the fingers against the blood vessel above or below the wound as it crosses a bone. (3) Tie a tourniquet (a band of some kind, such as a handkerchief, tie, belt) around the limb to cut off the circulation. Loosen it every thirty minutes to see if bleeding has stopped and keep it in sight so that it will not be forgotten.

If the patient quits breathing, remove any obvious cause such as a heavy piece of metal on the chest, any foreign object in the mouth (loose teeth, dentures), or tight clothing. Do not place your fingers between his teeth because the bite that may result may be dangerous and troublesome. If these measures fail, start artificial respiration and keep it up until the patient begins and continues to breathe naturally.

For suspected poisoning, search the patient's surroundings to find out whether he took or was given poison and if so, what kind. Give several glasses of water to dilute the substance, make the patient vomit, and give the antidote if it is known. One exception in which vomiting should not be induced is if a strong acid or alkali has been swallowed, because the stomach wall may rupture.

So that first aid may be given promptly after an accident, a kit should be kept in the home or camp, automobile, and office or factory. A good kit will contain at least a first aid manual, eye pads, large and small steril gauze squares, finger dressings, adhesive tape, absorbent cotton, rubbing alcohol, baking soda, aromatic spirits of ammonia, an antiseptic, a burn ointment such as petroleum jelly, three 2 inch roller bandages, and two triangle bandages made of muslin or other strong material. In addition, a good flashlight should be carried in the car.

AMERICA'S NEW RAILROAD

"I want a ticket on the Atomic Super Chief!"

Well, sonny, just hang on to that dream. By the time you're a full fare, it might come true!

Of course there is no "Atomic Super Chief" ... yet.

But, don't sell American ingenuity and progress short. At the rate things grow new for you on the Santa Fe, you only need to squint your mind's eye just a little to see tomorrow streaming toward you down the track!

You can almost feel the future of Santa Fe in the quickened tempo of its progress in the recent past.

Just count the growing number of Santa Fe diesels that speed your freight and smooth your ride today.

Nineteen years ago there weren't any. Today there are 1422 units. By year's end there'll be 97 more. Steam is disappearing fast. And more than 250 coaling and watering stations have bit the dust.

Santa Fe folks just don't dally when it comes to building new.

For today the Santa Fe is America's new railroad. And it's going to stay that way by growing newer every day—in every way that can mean new safety, better service, new comfort and dependability for you.

It costs millions of dollars to serve you so. But it doesn't add a penny to the taxes you pay. Santa Fe folks are proud of that, too—proud that the newness of the Santa Fe is a part of American progress that pays its own way.

Hardware Store Holds Opening

Last Friday and Saturday, the Emmons Hardware and Auto Parts observed their formal opening in a new location and building next door to the Wagner Grocery and Market in Amherst.

Since Claude Emmons purchased the business from Butler Hardware in July of 1951, many new and nationally famous brands of merchandise have been added to the stock. Emmons came to Amherst as assistant county agent on March 26, 1946 a position which he held for six months before purchasing the drug store from James Turner. In February of 1951 he sold the business to Glenn O. Render.

For several months he worked for an insurance company in Amarillo but did not feel quite at home there and returned to Amherst and purchased the Butler Hardware. He, his wife and two children, Claudia, age nine and in the fourth grade and Mark Elliott, in the first grade, reside in their home on North Main Street.

He is a member of the Lions, American Legion and South Plains A. and M. Club and Amherst Church of Christ which he and his family attend. Mrs. Horace Holt is a full time employee of the hardware store.
