

COUNTY COTTON ALLOTMENTS FOR 1962 CROP ARE REDUCED

Acreage Still Above 1960

By David H. Penn, Editor

Lamb County's cotton allotment will be cut more than the nation-wide 1.9 per cent drop from this year's allotment. L. D. Aten, County ASCS office manager, said he was not permitted to release the exact figure but continued that the County would have been cut even if the total national acreage had remained the same.

He continued that the figure is based on a five year average, and "we dropped a big year (1955 -- 203,165 acres) and picked up a small year (1960 -- 180,677 acres) which dropped the average. Under the law, the cotton acreage is based on the five year average, with allotments being set by the State ASCS committee in College Station. The current average is 191,433 compared with last year's average of 195,930.

Aten said even with the cut in the 1962 allotment the figure will still remain well above the 1962 acreage. There was a 16 per cent increase from the 1960 to 1961 allotments and the decrease this year will run between 2.5 and 2.7 per cent. Taking these factors into consideration and the 1961 allotment of 211,406 acres, the reduction will run close to 5,500 acres which will leave the 1962 cotton allotment somewhere near 206,000 acres. "The exact figure will be released in the next few days," Aten said.

Total cotton acreage for the State was set at 7,698,869 acres which is several hundred thousand acres less than in 1961. Aten continued that "allotments have already been computed for all county farms for 1962" and pointed out that he was "awaiting permission to mail them to producers."

Farmers can plan on losing two and a half to three acres per 100 acres of 1961 allotment," Aten said. He continued that the County (See Cotton, Page 7)

FROM YOUR CHAMBER OFFICE

By Gene Garrison
Words cannot express our appreciation for the large number of people who came to town Monday night for our Christmas Parade. Evidently, this type of non-commercial program suited the needs and wants of a large number of people. We are pleased that it was made available to you, and that so many of you came to see it.
It should be noted that the Parade, Monday night, was not the kind of program the Chamber as an organization could provide; all we can do is sponsor such a program. Success requires the cooperation of the Churches, School Bands, Faculty and student organizations, scout troops, etc. This is what we had and the program went. We who enjoyed the parade, owe our appreciation to these organizations and the chairmen who organized the different phases of the function.
We have another program coming up, Tuesday night, December 15, that I think you will enjoy equally as much as the Parade. A Community Sing-

Cotton Producers-ginners

JUST ARRIVED -- The FIRST break in prices for cotton sold on GREEN CARDS as we advised it would. This lowering of prices on GREEN CARDS was not because of a flooded market, but was due, in large, to a high percent of low micronaire cotton coming from all areas. A buyer cannot possibly distinguish high from low micronaire cotton by looking at a GREEN CARD, therefore he has to cut his price on all cotton that is bought on green cards. This method PENALIZES the farmer who has mature cotton; for he will have to take the price of low micronaire cotton -- IF IT IS SOLD ON GREEN CARDS, regardless of the volume in which it is sold. YOU DO NOT HAVE TO BE SATISFIED WITH THE PRICE OFFERED FOR LOW MICRONAIRE COTTON.

THE PRICES HAVE NOT BEEN CUT ON COTTON WITH A HIGH MICRONAIRE -- IF THIS COTTON IS SOLD ON ACTUAL SAMPLES. This is our method of selling cotton and we are offering our facilities to sell your cotton for YOU and show you a better profit.

By using our method, you will receive the maximum value for your individual cotton. If your cotton is mature, why be penalized for the low micronaire cotton in your area. Our method of selling cotton promotes good growing practices, good harvesting practices, and good ginning; since the producer receives what his individual cotton brings, it induces him to try to grow the best cotton possible.

We are available to sell cotton for ANY producer, regardless of where he lives, where he gins or what kind of cotton he has. Most independent ginners are available to help you place your cotton for us to sell, but ANY ginner can help you if he desires. IF YOUR ginner doesn't have the particulars as yet, have him contact us.

We remind you once again to consider our method of selling cotton before your cotton is sold for too small an amount over the loan. We have advised previously as to what prices we think you should probably sell and what prices you should let us sell your cotton. When your cotton is sold for a little over the loan, you are also selling your equity in this cotton and this equity could be worth a good deal of money next spring. Also on ANY cotton you plan to put into the loan, we think we can make you more money, and even if we shouldn't it hasn't cost you anything, because we do not make a charge unless we sell your cotton for a profit.

If you feel your cotton is mature and good micronaire and if your cotton is to be sold on green cards, regardless of the volume of the sales, then you may be getting the low micronaire price, but if we sell your cotton on samples, you will receive the full price.

Cats Lose To Tom S.

It was a long cold night for Littlefield's Wildcat Basketball team as Tom S. Lubbock defeated the locals 96 - 29 in Lubbock Tuesday night. The "B" team also tasted defeat as they went down 85 - 34 also to the Lubbock school.
The Wildcats jumped off to a 2 - 0 lead as Billy Thompson, high scorer for the locals with 13 points, hit a short jump shot. But from that point the game belonged to the Westerners.
Littlefield was able to make only five field goals during the contest and the locals were outscored in every quarter. Trailing at halftime 34 - 15, the Wildcats were held to two points in the third quarter while Tom S. jammed the nets with 33 points.
Others scoring for Littlefield were Grover Pigum with six, Ducky Johnson with four, Larry Wood with five and Pete Estrada with one. High point man for Tom S. was Rob Westenburg with 15 points.
David Jones was high point man for the "B" team with 10 points while Joe Dobbs with 17 points lead the Tom S. Cowboys.

Rites Tuesday For Mrs. Baker

Penn Point

By D. H. P.

When our forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence, they were signing one of two things . . . a document declaring their independence from Great Britain or their own death warrants. Had the Revolutionary War failed they would have been dead men. But they believed and were willing to stand for a principle even at the risk of their lives.

There have been millions of Americans . . . people you knew and some I knew . . . who have given up their lives on such grounds since that time. In the past we have always been quick to rally when someone threatened to destroy the freedom our forefathers bought so dearly.

But what about now? These are also times that "try men's souls", as were the earlier days of our great country. The American people are at war . . . call it hot, cold, lukewarm, or whatever you want, it is still war.

The war is against a mistaken enemy who demands total victory . . . total destruction of our freedom . . . total subjugation of our people . . . total abandonment of our churches and our religion . . . total obliteration of our God.

This enemy fights in a different manner from others we have had. He does not send fleets of ships to our shores, rain bombs on our cities, land troops on our land. His methods are new, more subtle and infinitely more dangerous because if they are successful the effects will be permanent. These new tactics have caused an unawareness among our people of the seriousness of the crisis. But we have now begun to slowly awaken.

I don't think going out and killing every Communist in America would be the way to handle the problem or end the war. What each of us must do is to settle down and decide just what we are willing to give up. If each of us made a list of these things we would give up, the list would not include such things as Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Religion, Freedom of the Press and all the many other freedoms we know we have . . . but forget just how precious they are to us.

Chances are the list would include such things as a new car, a new house, a new dress or suit, and on and on with MATERIAL possessions of this earth. And yet, we live daily just for these material possessions, and the acquisition of more. To this charge, I plead guilty and you do too. I only hope each of us will be able to get up off our soft seats long before we are consumed by this enemy.

King James I of England has been dead more than three centuries but the translation of the Bible that he commissioned continues to be the best - selling book of all time, and to make its impact felt on the life culture and institutions of the English-speaking world.

There are newer translations, but the 350-year-old King James Bible remains "The Greatest Bible of Them All." Some books sell a million copies and a few ten millions. But only one book has had sales measured in the hundreds of millions. That is the King James Version.

Critics call it "probably the most beautiful piece of writing in all the literature of the world." Our guess is that the King James Bible will continue to be a best seller as long as there are people who read.

Did you know that the first and only truly American drinking whiskey . . . made from this continent's native "Indian Corn" . . . was distilled by Rev. Elijah Craig, a minister in Georgetown, Ky? This was in 1789, the year the Constitution became effective. George Washington became the first President and the first temperance movement was organized.

You may not have known this, and you probably don't even care, but this was brought out in a history of whiskey at a meeting of physicians during a three-day symposium on "Alcohol and Civilization."

I sure am glad there are second halves played in football, especially after last Saturday's Oklahoma - Nebraska contest. Nebraska was ahead 14 - 0 at the end of the first half and Oklahoma won the second half 21 - 0 to make the final score 21 - 14.

Found out a little more about the Keeling-Crump sign painting. Ole Ray Keeling and his wife painted the windows of Jim Crump's business right after the game Thursday afternoon. Ray said there were lots of people who drove by on the highway and stopped to watch the proceedings.

After they finished painting the sign, the Keelings went to get Jim and take him out so they could see some wallpaper samples (pretext only). To their surprise, Jim just threw the Keelings the keys to the building and told them to make sure it was locked when they left. (This proved the only unsuccessful event of the day for the Keelings.)

So you see Ray was really trying to show Jim the handiwork, prior to the time he opened up Friday morning. By the way, the score of the Texas - ASM game hasn't changed, only the sign on Crump's window is gone.

Funeral services for Earl Carley Glass, 75, a retired farmer who died at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at his home were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in Parkview Baptist Church.

such an emergency, so I'll put off building a fall-out shelter," Lamar Aten: "I do not have a fall-out shelter, but my family would go to the basement of the courthouse for protection," Murphy Street: "I've risked my chances with tornadoes before, but I'd just as soon die with everyone else," Don Hatley: "No I don't have a fall-out shelter, but I think it is a good idea, and I plan to build a shelter in the near future. If there is never an atomic war, a person can always use a shelter for tornado protection," Name withheld by request: "I think that the idea of fall-out shelter is ridiculous, but I sure do wish that I were in the business to sell them," Tommy Adkins: "Most people in this area have storm cellars, and it cost very little more to build a fallout shelter, which will meet Civil Defense specifications, and also serve as a good storm cellar. I wish more people would build shelters, because the more people who survive, the better the chances are for everyone," Jerome Kirby: "I just completed my shelter a couple of weeks ago, I thought that if the President thought that it was necessary, that I was no one to argue with the matter," Foy Watson: "I rent my house, so I won't be building a fall-out shelter. I hope they come on the market with a portable shelter for the convenience of us who do not own our homes, and I've thought about taking off to one of those abandoned mining caves in Colorado," Charlie Calvert: "Guess I'll just die with everybody else, I don't have a fall out shelter... may build a storm cellar later on with a fall out vent on top," Buster Owens: "I don't have a fall-out shelter, but we would go to the courthouse basement," Mrs. Leo Teck: "We have a basement and Leo is going to do some venting to it," B. T. Kisner -- "I am seriously thinking about building a fallout shelter because I think it is something we should have in case we need it, either in war or if they keep testing bombs in the air, I feel it is something to get excited about, but not too excited, if a bomb were exploded over Lubbock today, I guess I would go to the basement of the City Hall, Court House or the Baptist Church," Don Hatley "No, we don't have a fall-out shelter... guess we'd go to the neighbor's cellar," Don Page: "We would cover doors and windows of our home if we were endangered by fall - out," F. L. Newton -- "I'm not the least bit worried about the fallout and I don't plan to build a shelter," Tom Rice -- "I'm not worried and don't plan to build a shelter," Jack Wattenbarger -- "If the effects of the bomb and fallout are as bad as they say, I don't want to be around to look at the rest of the people, I don't plan to build a shelter," Bill Fudge -- "I'm not too worried about the fallout and don't plan to build a shelter anytime soon, I guess I'll just suffer with the rest of the people," The general feeling of the persons interviewed is not one of lack of interest or thinking, but one that the construction of shelters is not warranted at this time. It was evident that fallout from the atom bomb and nuclear radiation had been given serious consideration by each of those interviewed. The roving reporter was able to find at least six persons who have or are building fallout shelters. These include Rhenard McCarty, Tommy Adkins, Jerome Kirby, Paul I. Jones, John Crawley and Al Bowen. There are others unknown to the press at this time. Taking into consideration the number of storm (tornado) cellars and fallout shelters, the ratio in Littlefield is about one shelter per 40 persons.

and all of the various committee heads who worked for the huge success of this beautiful parade are to be congratulated for a job well done. The religious theme was enjoyed by everyone... the Littlefield Ministerial Association... a fine job of organizing... on this theme... the parade was wonderful. I hope this type of parade can be a continuing event each Christmas from now on.

OUR ROVING reporter got out the street and talked to many persons this week about the pros and cons of building a fall-out shelter. The supposition was that a bomb falls on Lubbock and it hits Lamb County. Many remarked they would die with everybody else... another said if he built one he'd have to stand at the door and keep everybody else out with a shotgun, one, obviously a Democrat, said that he had faith in the present administration not getting us into an atomic war. Well, they all stood around and laughed at Noah when he was building his Ark... so I'll be the last to say the idea of a fall-out shelter is ridiculous. And, I won't pull an Ann Landers, who recommended a fall-out shelter, yet didn't even have one of her own.

Still don't have good tornado protection, perhaps I'll be able to build a combination tornado and fall-out shelter... a fellow always needs some extra storage for canned fruit etc., anyway.

One of my buddies said if I build a fall-out shelter, Tooley and your family would come over and I wouldn't have room for you. If I turned you and other friends away and we all died, I'd be without friends. You were all killed, I'd be on my way with Saint Peter having turned you away... it's a losing proposition either way!

HERE'S AN interesting report from Jennie Slipper, neighbor from town to our west. You'd think a little matriarch erecting a statue to the mule would be simple enough. In Muleshoe are find however, that there are unexpected complications. Started last August when organized the Mule Memorial Association. The main was to put up a monument to the farm animal for whom West Texas farm center named. Chairman of the Association mule committee, manager of Radio Station KL reported today a lease been signed for a plot of land in the business district. Eventually the plan is to erect a life sized bronze replica mule for the monument site. He's hope enough cash will

COTTON (Continued from Page One) ASCS committee made the reduction straight across the board on every farm so that everyone get the same per cent of cut. "Farmers can look for their allotments in the mail during the week of December 4, well ahead of the December 12 referendum vote," he stated. The marketing referendum voting will be conducted between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. to determine whether marketing quotas will be in effect on the upland cotton crop. If more than two-thirds of the farmers voting over the nation approve marketing quotas, penalties will apply on farms having excess cotton acreage in 1962, and price support will be available to co-operators within the range of 65 to 95 per cent of parity, the exact level to be announced later. If more than two-thirds of the farmers voting do not approve marketing quotas, there will be no penalties on 1962 crop cotton and price support to co-operators will be a rate equal to 50 per cent of parity. "We all know that the number of farmers voting in marketing quota referenda in recent years has been trending downward", L. D. Aten, County ASCS office manager said. "But it is the responsibility of every farmer and his wife to go to the polls and vote on this very important election because you are the one to be affected." The polling places in Lamb County are as follows: Community B, Olton Co-op Gin; Community A, Earth Co-op Gin; Community C and H, Spade Co-op; Community G, Farmers Co-op Gin, Littlefield; Community E, Farmers Co-op Gin, Sudan; Community D, and F, Farmers Co-op Gin, Amherst; Community G, ASCS Office, Littlefield; and Community A, Paymaster Gin, Springlake.

MAYOR TURNS ON LIGHTS - Mayor E. J. Foust, Sr., turned on the street lights bedecking Phelps Avenue just prior to the start of Monday night's parade.

CHRISTMAS PARADE

YOUNG CAROLLERS - The Littlefield First Methodist Church provided this float with a huge pipe organ, large candles and three young carollers. The float was one of 11 entered in Monday night's parade and Santa's first visit.

GOD'S GIFT, HIS SON - The Littlefield Missionary Baptist Church entered this float depicting a cradle, like the one in which Jesus might have been placed when he was born. The theme of the float was "God's Gift, His Son."

LITTIEST ANGEL - Beta Sigma Phi sorority entered this float depicting the story of the Littlest Angel. All the floats entered had religious or Christmas themes.

SMALLEST SANTA -- The smallest child to turn out to see Santa was the one-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Lofin of Littlefield. Little Rene, all decked out in her Santa Claus suit didn't know just what to think of the real Santa in his beard and was quite wide-eyed about the whole affair. Don't know what she asked Santa to bring her, but he will probably see that her wish comes true.

SEASONS GREETINGS -- Huge letters saying "Seasons Greetings" were placed on the front of the Lamb County Courthouse, Monday afternoon and were turned on for the first time just before the big parade that evening. Workmen from Southwestern Public Service are shown putting in the bulbs.

SANTA'S FIRST VISIT TO LITTLEFIELD -- Dear Ole Santa Claus and his Littlefield helpers climaxed the parade Monday night and Santa spent about an hour after the parade talking to children to see what each wanted for Christmas. A crowd of about 4500 persons turned out to welcome Santa and many brought toys to be repaired and given to needy children at Christmas.

FALL OUT SHELTER? . . . Larry Messer, owner of the dump truck pictured above, seems to think that fall in shelter would be a more appropriate name for this hole in the ground that was being dug for a fallout shelter Messer had contracted to build for Rhenard McCary. The truck was backed up to the hole to be loaded when the ground under the rear wheels gave way, and the truck wound up at the bottom of the ten foot hole.

West Texas, Tech Square Off Saturday

West Texas State, sparked by Pistol Pete Pedro, nation's second leading scorer, and Texas Tech wind up their 1961 schedule in Jones Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Assured of the school's best record since 1957, the Buffaloes have posted a 6-3 win-loss mark. The Red Raiders, who dropped a 28-0 decision to Sugar Bowl bound Arkansas last week while the Buffs were idle, are 3-6.

Pedro, a Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College transfer from Lynn, Mass., has scored 22 touchdowns this season and lacks only two of matching the record set by Arizona's Art Lupine in 1954. He needs eight points to catch New Mexico State's Preacher Pilot.

West Texas has beaten Brigham Young, Texas Western, Hardin - Simmons, Arizona, Trinity, and New Mexico State and has lost to Wichita, Arizona State and Bowling Green.

Texas Tech holds decisions over Texas Christian, Baylor, and Boston College. Losses have been to Mississippi State, Texas, Texas A&M, Southern Methodist, Rice, and Arkansas. A crowd of more than 30,000 is expected.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

Goldwater's Future: The Senator from Arizona returned last week after a prolonged vacation abroad to find a very challenging situation, in respect to himself and his party.

He finds himself far and away the preference of the party professionals over Rockefeller and Richard Nixon (all the more so, in view of the defeat of liberal Republican Mitchell). Nixon has abdicated his place as an aspirant for the crown in 1964. The Human Events poll (see issue of November 3) recorded the preferences of more than half the delegates and alternates to the 1960 Republican National Convention, showing Goldwater with 53 per cent, Nixon 30 per cent and Rockefeller far in the rear with 17 per cent.

Today, Capitol Hill believes that this 53 per cent rating of the Arizona is an understatement as of this date; that, if the poll were taken again this week, Goldwater would rate perhaps 60 per cent.

All pros agree that when the first poll was taken early in October many of those polled had not yet accepted as final Nixon's statement of withdrawal from the 1964 Presidential race. These sceptics now realize he meant what he said (witness GOP Chairman Miller's official acceptance of Nixon's withdrawal). Hence, it is believed that many of those who early in October voted for Nixon have shifted by now; the majority to Goldwater, a minority to Rockefeller.

Despite a Gallup organization claim that Rockefeller has a big lead over Goldwater among the GOP rank and file and among "Democrats and independents," the GOP pros in Washington think otherwise. They know that labor - liberal politicians privately acknowledge that actually Goldwater would be more likely to tap the "Democratic and independent" vote than Rockefeller. And they know the weaknesses of the Gallup polling apparatus. (For particulars, see "Will Gallup Put Rocky Over?", an article by James L. Wick in Section IV of this issue.)

In short, Senator Goldwater is confronted with the situation of being way in the lead as the Presidential preference of his party as of today. Whether he remains in this advanced position depends on whether he organizes the impressive support among pros, rank-and-filers and grass roots that he has attracted in the past 18 months. Many pros on Capitol Hill maintain that what he needs is a political adviser to consolidate his gains and to push forward his flag.

Already, speculation in the Capital runs to this effect, such a political adviser might well be none other than Leonard Hall, former GOP Chairman under Ike.

Hall is known to have favored Nixon for '64 in recent months, at least until Nixon's very recent retirement from the national race. Perhaps the latter event has left Hall "at liberty." Few who know Hall's mind believe that he would even consider organizing for Rocky. The alternative is Goldwater whom he is said to admire very much.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Tex. - With nearly 30 per cent of the state's population over 65 years old, the State Welfare Department's tandem medical care program for Old Age Assistance recipients will be a significant solution to the problem of providing nursing service and medical treatment for all aging oldsters.

Welfare Department institutes a program of nursing home care for OAA recipients January 1. Program will affect every old person who has to rely on nursing-home care, whether he be indigent or financially self-sufficient. Rating of nursing homes which apply for payments under the plan should result in a general upgrading of nursing home standards.

Despite efforts of nursing home operators' associations and Health Department officials to define this difference, there has been some public confusion about the difference between nursing care and custodial care. Relatives seeking homes for old folks are not always able to determine whether nursing care offered is sufficient for their kin's needs.

Introduction of state and federal money -- about $5,000,000 a year -- is certain to result in more and better homes for the aged.

The $23,000,000 Blue Cross policy for Texas' 230,000 OAA recipients -- also effective January 1 -- may pave the way for more thorough medical protection for old folk.

Policy sets a precedent, as no other insurance company has ever provided such extensive coverage for people over 65. If it does not prove too costly, other companies may offer similar coverage for elderly people on an individual basis.

MORE MILEAGE FROM TOURISTS -- Gov. Price Daniel's "Texans for Tourists" group will get together to discuss passage of a legislative appropriation for advertising the State's numerous attractions. Although the Legislature passed a voter-approved Constitutional amendment to allow for tourist promotion in 1958, no funds were allotted for this purpose.

While the Texas Highway Department distributes attractive brochures through its eight state border stations, nothing has been accomplished on a national basis.

Meanwhile the state is losing money on tourism. The $600,000 out-of-staters who came here last year contributed $23,000,000 to the state's tax till. They spent $427,000,000 while here. This was a drop of one million visitors from 1960 and a drop of almost two million from 1959.

Other states consider tourist advertising a sound investment -- figuring they get hundreds of dollars in return for each dollar spent on advertising.

CHEAT OR ESCHEAT - Governor Daniel told the special

House Committee investigating escheat laws that emphasis in his fight to include banks "has been in the wrong place."

He said that instead of battling to get banks to turn over money in dormant accounts, emphasis should be on passing legislation to help find unknown heirs of missing depositors.

Statement was made after State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner testified that dormant and inactive accounts "make it easier" for would-be embezzlers. He said it's easy for bank officers or employees to manipulate dormant accounts. Falkner stated that "a few" state banks have eventricted to make charges against dormant accounts, converting the money to profit, but that his department has been successful in stopping such procedures.

The State Commission has no jurisdiction over the practices of national banks within the state. It is his understanding, however, that many national banks do make service charges against inactive accounts.

Falkner estimates that between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 lie dormant in state banks, and from $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 in the national banks located in Texas.

VETERANS LANDSUITS UP - State attorneys still are trying to recover more than $500,000 paid for land under the Texas Veterans Land Program some seven years ago.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones heard pre-trial arguments in four civil suits from State Assistant Attorney General J. Arthur Sandlin, and John D. Cofer, Austin attorney who represents Brady land dealers B. R. Sheffield and L. V. Ruffin. In addition to the land dealers, 54 Brady veterans have been named as defendants.

Jones took the motions under advisement.

JUVENILE PAROLE PROGRAM UNDERWAY - Now that the five most populous counties - El Paso, Dallas, Tarrant, Bexar, and Harris - have agreed to provide office space, travel expenses and secretarial help for regional officers working in the Texas Youth Council's Juvenile Parole program, the council is ready to consider hiring a state director to coordinate the program.

Council hopes to hire five officers in time to pick a director when its board meets December 14. Bexar County parole director James Lewis has been mentioned frequently as a possible prospect for the post, which combines heavy responsibility with a $7,200 annual salary.

BUILDING ON THE RISE - Residential permits issued in October ran 42 per cent above the 1960 figure for the same month.

Apartment construction is largely responsible for this rise.

A total of 101,079 construction permits was issued last month: 60,658 for residential; 40,421 for nonresidential, and 10,496 for alterations and repairs.

Alterations and repairs on residences were up 19 per cent. CATTLE DISEASE - Texas Animal Health officials feel that the Federal inspectors at the border are not using tight enough controls to be absolutely certain that no diseased cattle enter Texas.

Fever tick, long ago eliminated in Texas, is the big fear of cattlemen. Last month, 17 herds of Mexican cattle were held up by Federal inspectors for dipping when they were found to have ticks upon arrival at the export pens.

Bigger spreaders make it practical now to fertilize distant, often-neglected fields. Engineers say a 175-bushel model can carry a five-ton payload and cover up to a full acre in one trip.

Farm family workers account for over 75% of all farm workers in the U. S.

Sorghum Yields Told By High Plains

The top yield for 1961 in the test of sixty-two hybrids and varieties of grain sorghum was 8,552.88 pounds per acre. This yield was 300 pounds greater than the top yield in 1960. The top yield in the test of irrigated grain sorghum was 8,123 pounds per acre. The average of the entire sixty-two hybrids and varieties was 200 pounds higher in 1961 than the 1960 average in the tests conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway.

The test plots, planted June 18th, were irrigated July 31st, August 10th, September 5th, and September 19th with 2.5 inches per irrigation. Rainfall received between June 1st, and October 1st amounted to 9.67 inches. All varieties received a side-dressed application of 120 pounds anhydrous ammonia on June 27th. The field was planted in rotation in 1961. There was no serious insect or disease damage to any of the sixty-two entries in the irrigation tests. The research reports on these tests include: the yield, early vigor, bloom date, percent stand (unusually good), percent lodging, plant height in inches, head length in inches, exertion in inches, head compactness and percent moisture. The chemical data will be reported later.

There was no significant difference in the yield of the top sixteen hybrids of the sixty-two hybrids and varieties tested under irrigation at the Foundation. The yields of these top sixteen hybrids at 14% moisture were: WAC 750, 8,552 pounds per acre; Paymaster Apache, 8,367; Taylor - Evans TE77, 8,564; Asgrow Double T, 8,507; P. A. G. 625; 8,385; R. C. Mitchell's Standking, 8,326; Lindsey 788, 8,303; Shelby Howell's Excel B-52, 8,245; P. A. G. 515, 8,201; WAC 700, 8,196; P. A. G. 665, 8,152; Richardson's 303R, 8,145; Steckley R106, 8,122; Steckley R-212, 8,077; Texas 660, 8,044; and Northrup King 310, 7,869. The remaining forty-seven varieties in the test were high. Space does not permit the complete list of all in the report.

These tests are being conducted as a part of the Foundation's continued efforts to determine the best adapted grain sorghum hybrids and varieties for the High Plains. Dr. Earl H. Collier, Chief Agronomist, said in releasing the information.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

GRAIN SORGHUM PRODUCERS LEAD WAY IN MEETING NATIONAL FARM PROBLEM

Announcement of a forthcoming meeting of grain sorghum producers in Hereford brings to mind the success of a strong national organization, which had its birth in this community, and, without doubt, is doing an excellent job for farmers all over the United States.

The grain sorghum association held initial meetings in the courthouse in Hereford, then spread to Amarillo and over the Panhandle. Now it includes members all over the nation. More important still is the fact that the association, now headed by a Deaf Smith County man, is performing a tremendous service.

By bringing in prospective customers from Europe, Japan and many other nations, the association has carried on an educational campaign which has helped tremendously to curb over-production of small feed grains, generally with a profit for the customers. These exports, in addition, bid to grow and expand as the years pass. Research for new uses does not seem to have achieved such favorable results, but it is still a major part of the association program and in the future might well develop tremendous new outlets.

Born from sheer necessity of survival, the grain sorghum association is a good example of American ingenuity. Those involved faced their problems squarely, then went to work to create new markets as a substitute for additional government subsidy which had already been refused. The problem is far from being completely eliminated, but, without question, small feed grains are in much better condition than when the organization was established. Needless to say, these results have, at the same time, upheld a standard of living on the Plains and in many other portions of the nation.

It is also possible that the grain sorghum people may have set an example for other types of farmers and producers in the United States. These people, too, could easily find themselves in serious trouble in case the Department of Agriculture should how to constant demands on the part of numerous factions to shave all crop subsidies to a minimum.

While the grain sorghum association proves the ability of the American farmer to meet and combat emergencies, it dis-proves at the same time the old wives' tale that farmers cannot organize and function for the benefit of all. Frankly, we doubt if any phase of organized labor functions more smoothly or beneficially than has the organization of the grain sorghum producers.

While the rest of the world is plagued with shortages and starvation, the American farmer faces the problem of over-production in a nation of over-weight people. The problems are different, but out of the crisis, it seems to us that the grain sorghum growers of Deaf Smith County pointed the way to conclusive proof that there always is an answer.

Once again, America has provided that answer in a truly democratic fashion.

COOPS SIGN NEW POWER CONTRACT

Many people in this area have carefully followed the proposal of 15 area electric cooperatives to construct a power plant, which would serve the generally termed "REA" users.

The major result we see from the wrangle centers around new power contracts, which are estimated to save the cooperatives a total of $210,000 during the next five years. We wonder if this might not have been the motivating force behind the argument all of the time.

Meanwhile, we note that the cooperatives plan to continue their survey concerning a central power plant, -- and we see nothing wrong with such a plan.

The Rural Electrification program was originated to bring electric service to areas which power companies found unprofitable. Since that time, some of the coops have no doubt sought to develop other areas and expand into new fields. Considering all factors, it seems to us that they might well remain within their original bounds, and continue to do an outstanding job in the field they were created.

On the other hand, if they can actually produce power far cheaper than it can be purchased, we see no reason why the user of rural electrification should be penalized. By the same token, we definitely do not mean that they should be subsidized to compete with private power companies which are entitled to make a reasonable profit.

Meanwhile, both sides appear to be happy with the present arrangement, which appears to be sensible and practical. (Hereford Brand)

Philosopher Wonders About New Problem Russia May Be Facing

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discovers an amusing problem for the Russians in his letter this week. It is something to think about.

Dear editor: Ever since Russia startled the world by being the first to put a satellite into orbit, not to mention a man into orbit, the rest of the world has sort of lost its sense of humor about that country.

For example, too many people get the notion that every test the Russians make comes off successfully the first time, that it just never does make a mistake, that it has no problems to speak of, etc.

Well, I've been thinking about one of Russia's problems, and I'm surprised nobody else has mentioned it. You know, the late Stalin, who was a hero in Russia for a long time, has now been re-classified as a bum by Khrushchev, and the Russians are busy trying to eliminate all reference to him. History books are being re-written, Stalin's body has been removed from Lenin Square, his statues are being torn down, his pictures are coming off of walls, etc., etc.

Now I can see how they can change the name of Stalingrad to Leninville, and Stalin Avenue to Lenin Alley, and things like that, but have you ever stopped to think that during the long dictatorship of Stalin, when he was the Russians' substitute for God, there must have been thousands of babies named after him? What are they going to do about that?

There must be hundreds of grown men in Russia, born when Stalin was a hero, named Stalin Jonesky, Stalin Smithsky, Stalin Brownsky, etc., etc. After all it'd be the natural thing to do.

In our country, we've got hundreds of George Washington Smiths, Roosevelt Browns, and such like.

This is bound to be a ticklish problem in Russia right now. After a man has been called Stalin Smithsky for 20 years or more, it's mighty hard for him to switch with a straight face and say, "My parents made a grave historical error, my name is really Nikita Smithsky and I hope you'll bear it in mind." You know that when a friend yells, "Hey, Stalin, let's grab a bite of borsch and go bowling," he's bound to respond before he remembers his first name is really not Stalin, starting week before last. And what's Nikita Smithsky going to do when whoever replaces Nikita Khrushchev comes into power? There are a lot of funny things happening in Russia these days, and the rest of the world is missing a bet if it doesn't start laughing at them.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Research Opens Way To Better Milk Taste

Evaporated milk that tastes and looks like fresh milk when diluted with water may be nearer reality, according to A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist.

Laboratory studies by USDA's Agricultural Research Service indicate that the addition of a stabilizing compound to prevent gelling in storage opens the way to improving evaporated milk by the use of high-temperature, short-time sterilization. These findings were reported at a recent milk concentrates symposium held at the University of Illinois by Abraham Leviton, a chemist in the laboratories of the Eastern Utilization Research and Development Division, USDA.

Evaporated milk sterilized by the high-temperature, short-time process retains fresh-milk flavor and color but to gel in storage. Because this gelling tendency, Meekma says processors have not been able to use the process. It involves the application of prolonged exposure to heat required to sterilize evaporated milk is responsible for the characteristic color and cooked flavor.

Meekma stressed that venting the gelling of evaporated milk in storage, is an important advance, that means a completely stable, quality product has been achieved. It does mean, however, that scientists can now take advantage of the high-temperature, short-time sterilization process in developing improved evaporated milk.

Purdue University agronomists say a light top-dressing of manure on this year's corn soil protects against a seedling in wheat. It should be applied in February when ground is frozen, they say.

All-Cotton Stretch Yarn Developed

Texas cotton producers could profit materially from recently announced U. S. Department of Agriculture research. Three methods for manufacturing all-cotton stretch yarns and fabrics have been developed, according to Dr. C. H. Fisher, who heads the Department's Southern Utilization Research and Development Division, New Orleans.

He listed the methods as slack neutralization of fabric to impart specific amounts of stretch; back-twisting pests - treated yarns, which causes them to take the shape of tiny helical coil springs and crimping yarns that made them stretch by chemical treatment.

The first method is now undergoing industrial evaluation by one company for use in plastic - coated automobile upholstery and interior linings. Other manufacturers plan to evaluate the three methods of making fabrics for knit bathing suits and dresses, hosiery, foundation garments, sweaters, knit shirts and furniture slip-covers.

Consumer demand for high-stretch fabrics is increasing rapidly, and imparting stretch to cotton can help increase consumption of this agricultural commodity, Dr. Fisher said.

These developments are a result of the broad program conducted by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service to find new uses and new markets for cotton.
