"farmer" or a "ree-cruit." Any slouchily dressed soldier is a "G.I."—from government-issued uniforms thought of as ill fitting.

On the target range a miss is called "Maggie's pants," because a red flag is waved. When a miss is erroneously credited as a hit, the gunner is "Santa Claused."

A machine gun is a "bean shooter," and the majority of other weapons are called "pieces."

Flapjacks are commonly called "saddle blankets," but the men say you can't insult an army cook.

Trying to get a promotion by catering to a superior officer is "bucking."

Soldiers say their pet names for reveille are unprintable.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Lair received a letter recently from their son, Paul, who has been in the United States Army the past eight years.

Since Paul visited his parents here last summer, he has been stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. He seldom ever gets off the ship to see what is going on on land, and he describes his stay there as "floating around," for even cruises, like the great cruiser "Trenton" awaits orders from the government these days.

Paul has been on the "Trenton" since he first started sailing as a shipman.

Will you tell me—How can I organize an stock company without any money of my own, retain controlling interest, get nearly all the profits, and still be honest?

All of us have five senses—sense of smell, sense of sight, sense of taste, sense of sound and sense of touch.

But few of us have three other senses—common sense, sense of promotion and sense of humor.

C. M. Sparkman, that jolly man who is 70 years young, who is only seen on the streets of Littlefield early in the morning, told us the other day that he had been night watchman at the Union Compress and Warehouse Company here the past six years, and had not missed a night during that time until the past Christmas week when he had the flu.

That record exceeds the average person's who is working the business world.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparkman came to Littlefield when the compress was built here back in 1924, and he worked in the day time until six years ago. They live one-half mile north of Littlefield, "where the beautiful flowers grow in the summer time" as Mrs. Sparkman takes a special pride in her yard.

They are the parents of Castro and Talmage Sparkman, who are now in California, and they have two other sons who are in Slaton.

That's all—for today. MARGIE.

HENRY SAYS: Contrary To Popular Opinion-- Valves do need grinding more often than before. Leaky valves are the first sign of loss of power and economy that in turn cause a host of troubles, such as leaky rings, worn cylinders, worn bearings, ruined crankshaft, etc. Today's Automobiles Call For Today's Service Methods No longer is the old hand valve reamer and hand valve grinder considered efficient enough for the modern, high compression, high speed motors. Nothing but the very best in precision can possibly give the performance and economy in today's cars that the manufacturers built into them. We Have Just Installed— Complete Hall Valve Reconditioning System which more than 70 manufacturers of cars, trucks and tractors use in building new motors. HALL employs the exclusive patented eccentric grinding process which gives the utmost in precision and finish. Also we use the Hall Method of synchronizing valves to make them deliver every ounce of power of which they are capable. This method produces quieter valves and eliminates valve tappit adjustment on L-head motors. If your car is not performing as good as it did when new, let us check the compression and see if all cylinders are delivering their full share of power. ### Buford Bradshaw Wins In Slaton Tourney Last Week

Buford Bradshaw, that leather-slugin' boy from Littlefield who recently went to the semi-finals in the state Golden Gloves at Fort Worth recently, carried away top honors again Friday night at the invitation boxing tournament at Slaton.

He won with a technical knockout in the first round over W. C. Coker of Hale Center.

Dale Odum, Lubbock, Lubbock High school quarterback and popular welterweight boxer, completed the job he started late last month at Littlefield but barely failed to continue in the Lubbock District Golden Gloves tournament, when he knocked out Howell Steen, district Gloves champion, in the second round of their title fight in the Slaton boxing tournament.

Odum's kayo over steen in their third meeting of the year featured a ten-fight card that ended a three-night program of ambitious mitt-slugging in the Slaton High gymnasium.

In another feature the District Golden Gloves flyweight champion, LaVern Roach of Plainview, who lost only to the champion of Texas in the recent State tournament at Fort Worth, won a close decision over the district TAAF champion, Martin Jimenez of Idalou. It was one of the better fights of the tournament, and Jimenez gave the champion about all he could handle.

The Slaton champions and results of their final matches:

In the 85-pound class, Vernon Vandever of Enochs outpointed Billy Roach of Plainview.

"Mouse" Tate Losses

In the 100-pound class, Harley Mansker of Slaton won a technical knockout over Sammy "Mouse" Tate of Lubbock and Texas Tech.

Turbulent Sea in Far East

Reports that Japanese battleships, like those shown above steaming through waters of the South Pacific, were concentrating near the Dutch East Indies led Britain to mine the sea lanes near her great naval base Singapore, and have swung the spotlight of war to the Far East. Map shows various points in area where trouble may erupt.

Flyweights — LaVern Roach of Plainview outpointed Martin Jimenez of Idalou.

Bantamweights — R. C. Brackeen of Slaton won a decision over G. W. White of Tahoka.

Featherweight — Buford Bradshaw of Littlefield won with a technical knockout in the first round over W. C. Coker of Hale Center.

Lightweights — Harry Bell of Shallowater won with a second round technical knockout over "Rooster" Gilbreath of Lubbock.

Welterweights — Dale Odum of Lubbock won with a knockout in the second round over Howell Steen of Lubbock.

Middleweights — Dewey Henry of Plainview knocked out Walker Burgess of Hale Center in the first round.

Light heavyweights — Roy Williams of Lubbock won with a first round technical knockout over Woody Culpepper of Littlefield CCC.

Heavyweights — Jimmy Jay of Texas Tech won by default over "Punchy" Henderson of Texas Tech.

The crowd came to its feet in the first round of the second fight between 100-pounders, Mansker and Tate, and stayed there during the Jimenez-Roach flyweight battle. Buford Bradshaw, the district Golden Gloves Featherweight champ outlasted Coker of Hale Center and the fight was stopped in the first round.

Walter Burgess, Hale Center middleweight, struck the hardwood floor of the ring with his head when knocked down by Dewey Henry, and it was several minutes before he regained consciousness.

Odum and Steen fought bitterly in the first round, although Odum kept jarring the district champion with a left punch. In the second round, Odum bounded off the ropes, whence Steen had pushed him, and landed a hard right to Steen's face.

The latter went down, and it was for more than a ten count.

Most of the fighters here plan to compete in the Tahoka invitation tournament next week, while others will compete in the Hale Center tournament, scheduled for the same time.

CHAPTER XII

Synopsis

When Mark Alexander's beautiful wife, Ellen died, he was left with Valerie, Ellen's daughter by her former marriage. All of Ellen's family and intimates save Shirley want to adopt Valerie—and the last fund which Ellen left her, but Mark will have none of it. He takes Valerie on a trip and on the way home, they meet Lucy Tredway whom he engages as Valerie's tutor. Elise, wanting to marry Mark, is furious about this bringing another woman into the house and is making things as unpleasant for Lucy as she possibly can. Elise is just returned from a party at Mark's house and is so disturbed that she barks at her maid, who immediately gives notice and walks out.

Elise slammed the door on her, and pulled nervously at the fastenings of her velvet dress. She peeped out of her things, leaving them where they fell. But a certain canny sense left over from many days whispered it would be as well to pick them up and hang them away. She did this, then pulled a negligee around her, and sat down at her dressing table to stare sullenly into the mirror. She pushed back her hair, and looked closely.

She was, she thought, far more beautiful than Shirley. Or than the brown-eyed idiot of a Lucy, with her golden hair. What more did a man want than beauty?

She got up, lighted a cigarette, and lay down on her couch to think.

As she lay there, it came to her quite suddenly and sharply that she had lost Mark. That was how he put it to herself. Deep in her heart she realized she had never had him to lose. The first thing to do was keep him from marrying Lucy. It should not be difficult.

She lay there planning until a faint streak of yellow dawn lay like a brush across the sky beyond her window. Then she got up, slipping a little, pulled her negligee closer, sat down at her desk, and began a long letter to Dorothy.

Looking back on that Christmas at Wide Acres, Lucy decided it was her final glimpse of heaven. It was far from traditional Christmas weather. Except for one light snowfall, the days were crisp and clear with a warm mid-day sun.

If it had to be winter, which she despised, Valerie said, it could hardly be improved. Although the leaves were gone, the place wore almost a summery green. There was an enormous planting of evergreens and pines about it, with masses of rhododendrons, glossy and sleek against the bare trees. No Christmas could have had a more perfect setting.

Valerie went to a small party the night before; and Mark and Lucy and Chiltern trimmed an enormous tree for her at one end of the long library.

After Chiltern had gone, Lucy sat beside Mark, watching the flames in a complete companionship neither had known before.

Once a bell sounded far off in the house. They looked at each other and waited, half expecting Elise to push aside the draperies and shatter the quiet peace.

But Elise was at that moment the life of a night club party in town, where she was trying unsuccessfully in the midst of a particularly hectic celebration to remember what she had written to Dorothy. She had to be very gay to drown the recurring fear that gripped her whenever she thought of the letter.

The very fact that Dorothy had not answered made it all the more ominous. She had kept as far as she could from Wide Acres, even refusing invitations she thought might possibly include Mark.

The peaceful interlude came to an abrupt end two days after Christmas. Lucy looked back on it as a special sort of compensation for the pain that followed.

She and Valerie and Mark came in from a holiday matinee in town to find Dorothy unpacking in Ellen's old rooms, having reached Wide Acres half an hour after they had left it. They would hardly believe Chiltern when he told them.

Dorothy appeared at dinner. She acknowledged Mark's introduction to Lucy affably enough. Lucy breathed more freely. She hadn't known exactly what she expected from Dorothy, but it wasn't pleasant.

It was wonderful what a difference nine months and a little money had made in Dorothy. She had managed to put on a little flesh and had lightened her mourning to pale grays and mauves which softened her righteous angularity amazingly. She even chatted with them in a sort of fictitious gaiety, which somehow made them strangely uneasy.

"I didn't suppose I could tear you away to visit me," she said coyly to Valerie, "so what could I do but come to you?"

"Oh, no!" cried Valerie. "I couldn't possibly leave." Her own dismay struck her ears so rudely that she hurried to repair it. "You see—there are my lessons. We have school every day. It's very important. And of course, there are the parties—a few—"

Dorothy grabbed that "Parties?" she repeated.

Lucy thought she could hardly have looked more shocked if the child had confessed to arson. She bit her lips to keep from rushing to Valerie's rescue. She looked quickly at Mark.

But Mark had already leaped into action. "Just some children's

"I won't pretend that this is a social call," Dorothy said somehow when it's bright, don't you think?"

Dorothy stared at her for a moment without answering. "I won't pretend that this is a social call," she said at last.

If she expected Lucy to question her further, she was disappointed. The girl merely went on with her darning.

"You were unknown to this house on my last visit," Dorothy said. "Or at least, I suppose you were. You established yourself after I had gone back to my own responsibilities. You probably know that I was here to bury my sister seven short months ago."

"Nine, wasn't it?" Lucy asked cheerfully. "Almost a year ago. Time does fly. There was no answer. She added, "She must have been very lovely."

"What my sister was doesn't enter into this discussion. I'm going to speak very plainly, Miss Tredway, because I have a duty here. Also because there is no one else to do it. Would you care to tell me just when and where my brother in law found you?"

Lucy started. "Found" was such a terribly accurate description

"Judge Brown of Allington, and Mr. Barrows, president of the Melton bank, recommended me," she said. "They were old friends of my father."

"When?" asked Dorothy. "I mean, how long has it been going on?"

"If you mean how long is it since Mr. Alexander engaged me to tutor Valerie, I'm afraid I don't know exactly. Sometime in the early summer of last year."

"Have you a mother?"

"No," said Lucy flatly. She added nothing to the statement.

"That may explain it. At least partially. How old are you?"

Lucy put down her darning. She was very careful about it, laying her mother's gold thimble in its case, and putting away her little scissors. After this was done, she looked deliberately at Dorothy.

"Do you know, I'm just a little tired of answering questions," she said. "Wouldn't you like to tell me what it is you want?"

"Very well, then. I want you to pack your things and leave this house. You may take whatever gifts my brother in law may have given you, but I want you to go as soon as possible. I see no reason why it shouldn't be at once."

"Perhaps you'd care to tell me whose authority you have for dismissing me?" asked Lucy. She was surprised to see how quiet she was, and how cold.

"The authority of common decency. The authority of my concern for my sister's only child." She was annoyed and a little afraid of this cool-eyed young woman who looked at her so disconcertingly. The girl had not taken the thing as she expected. "Come, my dear Miss—what is your name?"

"Tredway," said Lucy. "Have you forgotten? You used it only a moment ago. Mr. Alexander engaged me to come here. Anyone can see what my influence on Valerie has been. It was my idea that if her father wanted to get rid of me he would naturally let me know."

Dorothy sat staring at her. "You're a great deal harder than you look, aren't you?" she said. "Perhaps this isn't altogether a new experience for you. I'm perfectly willing to speak more plainly. In the course of my visits with a dozen different women during yesterday, I made a point of questioning them. They were all my sister's friends. Women of wealth and position. They assured me—all of them—that if present conditions continued here, they would refuse to allow their children to remain friends with Valerie."

Lucy had no way of knowing that this was the purest fiction, invented at the moment to bolster up a falling argument. She couldn't, of course, tell that Dorothy and Elise had spent a quiet gossiping afternoon in Elise's apartment. She stood and clasped her hands tightly. If this was true—if she was really hurting Valerie—there was only one thing to do.

"But I'll have to speak to Mr. Alexander first," she cried. "How can I just sneak away, as if I'd done something I was ashamed of? I've been terribly happy here—they've been so good to me! I couldn't bear to have them think me ungrateful—"

Anton Girls Win District Basketball Championship To Play In State Tournament At Waco

District Champions—That's the result of many, many victories this season by the Anton High school girls basketball team, pictured above.

Anton's undefeated girls basketball team won the district championship and right to compete in the state tournament at Waco this week, defeating a troublesome New Deal team Saturday night, 27-20 at the New Deal gym.

The Anton six will represent the South Plains in the state meet, which starts today, Thursday.

Anton advanced through the semi-finals Saturday afternoon by out-scoring Amherst, 31 to 18, while New Deal eliminated Southland 21 to 12.

The Meadow team won the consolation title by whipping a traditional rival, Ropes, 21 to 17, Ropes had won from Wilson, 29 to 27, and Meadow had defeated Hale Center 36 to 21 in the afternoon games.

Whiteface, one of the early favorites to win in the tournament, won the sportsmanship trophy.

The final game between Anton and New Deal was close all the way. The Lubbock County six led at halftime, 10 to 10, and stayed ahead until the fourth quarter. Then the Anton team began to pull away. In the final analysis it was Anton's superior height that made the difference.

RECORD BEET PRODUCER

S. N. Twilley, farmer near Anton, made a record as a sugar beet producer on the South Plains last year. Mr. Twilley's production of 16.93 tons per acre on his ten-acre crop was more than a ton above the next highest production. He attributes his high production to an extra cultivation he gave his crop after most others quit.

Named Chairman of Rural Aid Bill

A young West Texan who used to walk nearly three miles to a three-teacher country school has been named chairman of the highly important committee in the Texas senate to handle the $16,000,000 Rural Aid bill for 1942 and 1943. Senator Marshall Formby of Mculloch, of this senatorial district, is chairman of the five-member subcommittee which will handle the bill in the Senate to dish out about $8,000,000 per year for the next two-year period. It is reported that all appropriation bills will be passed out of the Senate almost two months earlier than usual this year. The appropriations for the Judiciary already are ready for passage in the senate.

Homemaking Class Studies Personal Grooming For 6 Weeks

The first year Homemaking class of the Littlefield high school has been studying "Good Grooming and It's Value To A High School Girl," Miss Eloise Gamble reported recently, when she wrote the following article:

"One week was spent in studying the points which make a person look well-groomed. Then we took the different units and studied them more thoroughly.

"First we studied the care of hands and nails. Miss Ernestine Cundiff, teacher, demonstrated the correct procedure in manicuring nails and we worked on each others hands.

"We then studied the care of the hair. In this, we chose the kind of faces and the styles of hair arrangements which are most becoming to the various types of faces. In class we shampooed the hair of Alta Dean Sevier and Rena Ruth Willingham and arranged their hair according to their types of faces. We fixed their hair three different ways and we took pictures of the three different types. We are going to compare these and see which hair style looks the best.

"Next we studied faces and make-up. We 'made up' Wilma Lois Russell's and Hazel Smith's faces. Through this we learned how to match our make-up to our complexion.

"Then we studied posture. Three girls, Modena Hutson, Mary McElhahan and Eloise Gamble, models in evening gowns, and Edna Woods and Kathryn Evans modeled in bathing suits. Each girl had to walk around the room and was criticized. Through this we learned our good and bad points. Miss Cundiff told us some exercises to take to correct our bad ones.

"We feel, as a class, we have been benefitted by our study during in the past six weeks. It is found that the average high school girl spends a day on her personal grooming."

BANKS Are PARTNERSHIP AFFAIRS

A bank properly serving a community is, strictly speaking, a co-partnership composed of borrowers, depositors and stockholders.

Borrowers are those who merit consideration because of an established credit standing in the community. Depositors are those who prefer a safe place to keep their funds, and a prompt return of their funds when needed. Stockholders have every reason to expect a reasonable return on their investment.

Army Now Has 951,000 Men

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said Friday in Washington, D. C. that between 130,000 and 150,000 draftees will be called for service during March, putting the army's strength beyond the million-man mark.

He estimated the army now has 951,000 officers and men, a peacetime record.

He said that the army expected to have 20 of its 21 new replacement centers ready to train selectees by April 1.

Stimson said that about 105,000 of the selectees called during March will be assigned to the replacement centers, with the balance going directly into existing Army and National Guard units.

Two good mixers are better than one.

THERE you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises.

Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action, giving you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftly, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

And owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

Mayor Hall Asks For Re-Election

Homer Hall, who has been Mayor of the City of Littlefield for the past two years, made the following statement to the voters:

"To The People of Littlefield: I'm asking you for the second time for your support for the office of mayor of your city, of Littlefield, Texas.

"In the campaign for mayor two years ago, there were no "wild" promises made, and there cannot be such promises made at this time, as world conditions are such that no one can tell very far ahead, just what can be done.

"I am in favor of the general plan of improvement that has been underway during the past two years in Littlefield, and will wholeheartedly support continuation of this program, in so far as the citizens and the city finance will permit. I have in the past, co-operated with the City Commissioners in all city problems that have come before the City Commission.

"I will greatly appreciate your support for mayor in the coming regular City Election, April 1, 1941.

Sincerely Yours

AMHERST, METHODIST CHURCH

The Compassion Day service was well received last Sunday and a good response in money for the number we had at services. You may yet have a chance to contribute to this if you like. We thank the papers for their free publicity for this all worthy cause. We are sorry that such calls have to be made but the war is causing this.

There are many people in Germany who are opposed to this war as we are. Germany has not always been a warring nation, nor are all of the Germans warring people today, as we have frequently said. They seem to be more subjected to military ambitionist than others.

Next Sunday morning the District Superintendent will be with us to preach and he announces quarterly conference at 2:30. He asked us to have all the new blanks for the reports. These have been ordered for sometime and we shall send them out as soon as they arrive.

At night the league will have the services in charge holding their Hughes-Capperton Memorial service. On next Tuesday, the 11th, the ladies zone meeting will meet at Littlefield at 10 A. M. With this short distance there should be a good attendance.

$50,000 of the money Methodists proposed to raise last Sunday is to be a help to people, many of whom have no church to attend and many of them are not permitted to attend church. Suppose more people hold church. Suppose more people hold blessing as well as a duty. Many do not appreciate a privilege it is lost—then it is too late. Many are worshipping today under the surface of the ground.

One of the purposes of subscription campaigns is to get all readers paid up. If your Leader is in arrears at conclusion of contest your name will be taken from the list. Please cooperate and hand your renewal to a candidate—help her earn either a commission or a cash prize.

Starts Series Of Articles On AAA Program In County

Pointing out the benefits to be derived by individual farmers from the new supplementary cotton program and the special home food conservation program to be administered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Aubrey W. Bingham, a administrative Officer of the AAA in Lamb County this week begins a series of question and answer article on the program.

"Now that the war has closed many foreign markets, the need for holding down the already huge surplus of cotton continues to be acute" the AAA official said. "With this reduced outlet for cash crops, it is more necessary than ever that farm people produce more food and feed for home consumption."

The supplementary cotton program puts added emphasis on the effort to reach the objectives of the national farm program through special payments. A total of $25,000,000 worth of cotton stamps will be made available by the surplus Marketing Administration for distribution by the AAA to cooperating farmers. In addition, $3,000,000 in cash payments will be added to encourage additional food production and storage for home use.

This week's question and answer article seeks to show how to earn the cotton order stamps, which will be issued farmers for voluntarily reducing their cotton acreage. These stamps can be exchanged at local stores for cotton goods and clothing.

How To Earn Cotton Order Stamps
1. Q. How will cotton farmers be compensated for making an additional voluntary acreage reduction in 1941?

A. They will receive cotton order stamps, which can be used to purchase cotton goods. These stamp payments are in addition to the regular payments provided for under the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program.

2. Will under planting of the 1941 cotton allotment affect the farm cotton allotment in future years?

A. No. Underplanting of the cotton acreage allotment on any farm in 1941 will not affect the cotton acreage allotment for that farm in 1942 or subsequent years, except in case no cotton is planted in 1941 on a farm on which no cotton was planted in 1939 and 1940.

3. Does participating in the supplementary Cotton Program affect payments under other phases of the Triple-A Program?

A. No. The supplementary Cotton Program provides for additional payments under other phases of the AAA Program.

4. Who is eligible to participate in the Supplementary Cotton Program?

A. Any farm owner, operator tenant, or sharecropper entitled to share in the 1941 cotton crop or any farm for which a cotton allotment was established for 1941, provided cotton was grown on that farm in 1940.

Q. How may a farmer earn cotton stamps?

A. By planting in 1941 an acreage of cotton less than the 1941 farm cotton acreage allotment or 1940 measured acreage for the farm whichever is smaller.

6. Is there any exception to this provision?

A. Yes. If the County Agricultural Conservation Committee finds that the acreage of cotton measured in 1940 was reduced because of drought, flood, hail, insect pests, or any other natural cause beyond the control of the operator, the 1941 Cotton acreage allotment shall be used to determine the acreage voluntarily reduced under this program.

7. Q. Is it necessary for every farmer to give advance notice of his intention to participate in this program?

A. Only the operator of a farm on behalf of himself and all other interested in the cotton crop, must sign a prescribed form before June 15, 1941, showing the number of acres he intends to take out of cotton production as well as other pertinent information.

8. Q. What will be the result if the 1941 cotton acreage is reduced by more than the amount set forth in the intentions?

A. Stamp payments will be made only for the amount of reduction set forth in the statement of intentions.

9. Q. What will be the result if the 1941 cotton acreage is reduced by less than the amount set forth in the statement of intentions?

A. Stamp payments will be made for the amount actually reduced.

10. Q. Will there be any penalty for failure to carry out expressed intentions of acreage reduction?

A. No. The Supplementary Cotton Program is entirely voluntary.

11. Q. What is the basis of payment for voluntary reduction of cotton acreage?

A. A farm payment in cotton stamps will be computed at the rate of ten cents a pound times the normal cotton yield determined for the farm under the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program times the acreage reduced for stamp payment.

Rev. Roy Shahan, Littlefield, Pastor, is to do the preaching. The Pastor, Aubrey McAuley, will have charge of the music.

The song service will start promptly a 10:30 each morning, and at 7:30 in the evening. The preaching service will start at 8 o'clock sharp each evening. Good crowds are expected, good singing and better preaching. New song books have been bought, and every preparation is being made. A warm welcome is extended, and a warm house and a heart warming message is awaiting you. Come and enjoy it all with us.

Mattress Project Closes Until April

According to Mrs. J. D. Dodgen, who has been supervisor of the Mattress project here, there were 108 mattresses made for low income families during the three weeks that the work was underway.

The project closed Monday, and will remain closed during March, but will reopen in April. In the meantime applications may be made at the County Agent's office, Amherst.

Those eligible for mattress material are persons one half of whose income comes from farm labor, provided their income is not over $500 for the year 1940.

Provisions will also be made to make comforts at the local project, the Government furnished 10 yards of percale and 4 lbs. of cotton for one comfort.

A number of changes in ownership is taking place in Morton. Mrs. Winnie Bryson has opened the new Modern Inn, a drive-in place for soft drinks and sandwiches. She is catering to service for the oil workers employed in the nearby field.

Quant Caudle, a cowman, has bought out the Ledbetter Dairy. Mrs. Caudle will operate the business. More cows for milk are being added to the herd, to take care of new customers.

J. L. Jones, who operated a big cafe at Hobbs, N. M., for nine years, has leased a building at Morton and is to open an oil men's cafe March 1. Jones has followed the Oklahoma-Texas oil booms since 1912.

Roach, who is handling business properties, says there is only one vacant store room left in the town. All other vacant rooms have been leased or sold, it is reported.

Roach announces that a grocery store now operating has been sold on contract to a firm from Slaton. A cash deposit was made as a forfeit and following the inventory, the balance is to be paid when possession is to be given, he announces.

Nazi Griefs One Sues, One Boos

Both these ladies have grievances with Nazis. Top photo shows Mme. Betty Winkler, Parisian editor and author, now a refugee in the U. S., who in an interview bitterly indicted the Nazi rule over occupied France. Bribery, racketeering and legalized theft are prevalent, she says. Mrs. Alice Crockett (lower photo), divorced wife of a U. S. army officer, is suing German Consul-General Fritz Wiedemann of San Francisco for $8,000 she claims is due her for her services as his secret agent in Berlin. She alleges he hired her to sound out Nazi officials as to his rating in the party.

Hydramatic Drive Popular With The New Oldsmobile

Oldsmobile Sixes and Eights equipped with the exclusive advantage of Hydra-Matic Drive have now reached a volume, since this feature was first introduced, of more than 75,000 cars, according to a bulletin issued yesterday by D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile's general sales manager.

Smith Motor Company are local dealers for the Oldsmobile.

"Inroads on the vast bank of unfilled orders for Oldsmobile cars with this feature have been consistent throughout the past several months," said Ralston. Gradually our transmission department has achieved a manufacturing program that has enabled us to care for an increasing percentage of this consistent and growing demand for Hydra-Matic equipped cars. Dealers today, for the first time in the history of Hydar-Matic Drive, are in a position to promise buyers early delivery of 1941 Oldsmobiles with this feature. Approximately one half of the new Oldsmobiles built each day are now equipped with Hydra-Matic Drive.

Farm Debt Problems Be Discussed At A Meet Monday

Special consultations on farm debt problems will be available to farmers and creditors of Lamb County on March 10 at the Farm Security Office in the City Hall of Littlefield, when Peter F. Murray, district debt adjustment specialist of the FSA of Lubbock makes his regular visit to this county.

This announcement was made today by Fred L. Nix, county rehabilitation supervisor for the FSA.

Mr. Nix said all farmers or land owners having difficulty in working out debt adjustments that will enable present operators to continue farming and take care of outstanding debts are eligible for this confidential service.

Debt adjustment for both debtors and creditors," Mr. Nix said, "is a service made possible by the FSA. Every effort is made to work out a voluntary and equitable agreement that will enable the debtor to continue his operations on a sound basis and still prove satisfactory to his creditor."

Consideration is given to all possibilities for consolidation of debts, extensions of contracts and some cases refinancing if necessary, it was said.

Mr. Nix said that creditors and debtors may obtain complete details about this free service by contacting him at his office in the City Hall.

AAA Office Is Enlarged; New Equipment Added

The Lamb County AAA office has been enlarged by adding to the old Triple A office, an office occupied by the Halsell Co. This additional office was made possible by Ewing Halsell, who moved his office of the Bell Cattle Co. to a smaller building in the same building. Quite a bit of work has been done on the arrangement of the AAA and Extension Service office.

Home Demonstration Agent, Beatrice McCurdy, County Agent V. F. Jones, and Assistant County Agent H. T. Duke, occupy recent offices in the office originally occupied by the county agent and assistant county agent.

The Lamb County Commissioners purchased equipment to equip the AAA office and also a car for Miss McCurdy.

The equipment and rearrangement in the AAA office was necessary in carrying on the AAA work in the county. The additional office will especially help during months of compliance. The addition will also be used for meeting room of the County and Community Committees, and meetings held by the AAA and Extension Service, and also to carry on other AAA work.

Parents Of Dr. M. V. Cobb Arrive Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cobb of Brunswick, Maine, arrived by automobile in Littlefield Saturday for a several months visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. M. V. Cobb, and son, Bradford. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were accompanied on their trip by Miss Evelyn Ward of Brunswick, Me. and Mrs. Evelyn Stetson of Reno, Nev., who left Littlefield for Nevada Wednesday.

This is the first time Dr. Cobb's parents have visited Texas or any of the middle western states, and they are very well pleased with the climate and people here. Mr. Cobb said they didn't even mind that sample sandstorm Sunday.

They left the state of Maine on Sunday, Feb. 23, just before a snowstorm struck the eastern states, and the snowstorm they drove into near St. Louis, Mo., that was "bad" to settlers there, was just another sample for Mr. and Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. Stetson and Miss Ward.

Mr. Cobb plans to take treatments from Dr. Cobb while they are here.

"Northwest Mounted Police" With Gary Cooper To Be Shown At Palace Theatre

Cecil B. DeMille, master Producer-Director, has assembled the greatest cast of stars ever to appear in any of his productions for his new picture for Paramount "Northwest Mounted Police," which will have its first local showing at the Palace Theatre, opening Saturday midnight, and continuing through Sunday and Monday, with Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll in the top starring roles.

An epic-sized tale of blazing and indomitable courage, DeMille has seen fit to place such starring players as Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Walter Hampden in important roles, rounding out a top cast which ranks with any ever seen in one motion picture. Moreover, because of the backgrounds and the importance of the story, he has filmed the picture entirely in Technicolor the first time DeMille has ever made a complete picture in the medium.

The import of the story can only be judged from the fact that it has its basis in a real revolt against the Canadian government back in 1815 by a tribe of people known as the Metis, made up of half-breed voyageurs and the like, and a murderous group if there ever was one. The revolt of the Metis, as a matter of record, amounted to a Civil War which almost rent Canada asunder, and might have if it had not been for the courage of five hundred loyal Mounted Police.

Dr. And Mrs. Woods Establish New Jewelry Business

A new business enterprise for Littlefield will be the Woods Jewelry, which will be established by Dr. and Mrs. Ira E. Woods next door to the optometrists' office, operated by Drs. Woods and B. W. Armistead.

Announcement of the exact date with further details will appear in next week's issue of the Leader.

According to Dr. Woods, a watch maker will be employed.

Jane Withers Comes To Ritz Theatre In "Golden Hoofs"

Every top screen personality can boast of a record in one way or another—but few can come close to the records chalked up by talented Jane Withers.

The popular young actress recently completed her 26th starring film for 20th Century-Fox, "Golden Hoofs", which comes to the Ritz Saturday midnight continuing on through Sunday and Monday, with Charles (Buddy) Rogers in a featured role.

No other star on the movie horizon has equalled that number of starring films for the same studio during the past five years. Although her services have been sought repeatedly by other studios Jane has never been involved in a loanout.

Starting in 1935 with "Ginger", her first starring picture, Jane marched right through the awkward age without a pause. In 1937 the peppy young Georgia "peach" ranked fifth among the first ten boxoffice champions. Each year finds Jane well up on the list of screen names that draw at the nation's boxoffices.

New Town Sedan Introduced By Oldsmobile Company

Wide public acceptance of Oldsmobile's new Town Sedan, introduced last week in the low priced field, was reported by D. E. Ralsin, Oldsmobile's general manager. Smith Motor Company is local dealer for the Oldsmobile.

"Our new Town Sedan model was designed to make Custom Cruiser styling also available to buyers of Special Series cars," said Ralsin. "The new model won instant favor and our dealer organization reported sufficient orders to justify a production this month beginning that of January," he added.

"This new body style which has attracted so much to Oldsmobile's record of Custom Cruiser modification introduces a distinctive style note in the low price field. With a wheelbase of 119 inches, big car comfort and roominess are also available. Options of either a 100-horsepower six cylinder Economaster engine or a 110 horsepower Straight engine, I feel that the Town Sedan model will soon be one of the leading sellers in Oldsmobile's line."

Lenck Trial—

Large Crowd At Trial

Large crowds were present throughout the trial. For a considerable part of the duration of the case, the district court room could accommodate only a portion of the crowd.

The first witness for the state was Melvin Theford, brother of the slain man. He identified a sketch of the location of the different rooms and doors of the house where his brother lived at the time he was killed.

"I did it; I did it; I did it," is the way J. W. Estes, who lived near the Theford home, described Mrs. Lenck's statement when she arrived at his house. Estes told how he asked her "did what?" and Mrs. Lenck then told him to get the sheriff as she had killed Leonard because he was beating her daughter. He related that Mrs. Lenck was waving her hand in which she held the revolver and when he told her to lower the gun she replied "there is no danger. It is empty."

Mrs. John Estes was the next witness and her testimony was about the same as her husband's.

City Marshal Ab Anderson testified about getting a call and going down to the Theford home where he found Leonard Theford dead, slumped down in a bedroom closet. He testified that Mrs. Lenck said: "Well you came after me," and that he then asked her if she was the one who killed Theford and that she said she was.

C. V. Ray, manager of a laundry located on the same block as the Theford home, told how Mrs. Lenck came to his place of business and asked him to get her a doctor from Lubbock.

Wounds Are Described

Linton Smith, employed by Hammons Funeral Home, who handled the body, told of finding a bullet hole in Theford's left leg, one in his left arm, one that went into the front of the body, and then into the right arm, one that went through the body near the heart, and another that just burned his leg.

Dr. R. E. Hunt of Littlefield told of probing the wounds of the dead man. He described the locations of the wounds and expressed his belief that the one that pierced the body near the heart would cause death immediately.

Other witnesses for the prosecution included Sheriff Sam Hutson and Deputy Sheriff Sid Hopping.

Takes Stand For Defense

Mrs. Leonard Theford, the widow, was the first defense witness. "We had lots of trouble," testified Mrs. Theford when questioned by Defense Attorney Charles Crenshaw if she and her husband had any trouble.

Mrs. Theford maintained throughout the questioning that she never did see her mother with the gun or at any time during the shooting. She frequently parried District Attorney Martin's question by saying, "I was scared so bad I do not remember." She said after hearing two shots and seeing her husband go to a chest of drawers where some shotgun shells were kept she ran through the kitchen and into the henhouse in the back yard.

Other defense witnesses included Mrs. John Carey, Gaa Shaw, Morene Allan Clark, Dr. W. W. Veach, Mrs. John McDonald, and two character witnesses from Memphis, Tenn.

Total Of 205,138 Mattresses Made

Rural low income families in Texas had made 205,138 cotton mattresses under the cooperative demonstration program late in February. Of this number, 32,426 were made in January. Since the program began, 557 mattresses have been made and received by Lamb county families. Littlefield, Fieldton, Sudan and Olton centers have been working for several weeks. Work, however, will be stopped for a while until other applications will justify opening, again. Other centers have not opened either because of no place to work or no supervisor has been available. Certified families will be notified to report to work.

The latest program regulations provide that a certified family of three persons will be eligible to receive two mattresses and a certified family of five persons will be eligible to receive three mattresses. No further application is necessary. The above certified families will be notified at the time they are to report to make their mattresses.

Every family receiving one or more mattresses under either the 1940 or 1941 programs will be entitled to receive materials for the same number of cotton comforts under a supplemental provision. Making of the comforts in community centers will likely not begin until late in March or early April.

Texas Tech Concert Band To Present Program Monday At H. S. Auditorium

Director

D. O. Wiley, Director of the Texas Tech Bands, is considered one of the nation's finest college band directors. He has had outstanding college bands for nearly 20 years, and thinks that each year's "edition" is the best of them all. His program here Monday morning, at 10 o'clock at the high school auditorium, will be varied and versatile.

An outstanding musical event of the spring season will be the presentation of the Texas Tech Concert Band at the high school auditorium Monday morning, March 10, at 10 o'clock.

Admission to the concert will be 10c and the public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

The Tech Band, under the direction of D. O. Wiley, is one of the outstanding organizations in the nation and will be welcomed by music lovers.

Sixty-five carefully chosen members will make the seventh annual tour, playing three concerts daily during a three day trip. Programs will be rendered at Littlefield, Sudan, Clovis, New Mexico, Bovina, Friona, Amarillo, Tulia, and Plainview.

A clinic will be conducted in Amarillo Tuesday afternoon, March 11. The clinic will be held for band directors and their bands only. A concert open to the public will be played Tuesday night.

The Littlefield band will probably attend this clinic, Morgan Layfield, director, stated.

One of the foremost purposes of the annual tour of the Texas Tech band is to help high school bands to interpret music that they will be required to play at the State and National Band contests held each year. Repertoire of the band, most versatile of its kind in the state, includes the 1941 high school band contest numbers, to be played in each city on the itinerary upon the request of the local band officials.

"In this way, we are bringing the band clinic idea right into each city we visit," Mr. Wiley said.

Besides the contest numbers, the Tech musicians are carrying a library of concert selections and novelties that have scored hits from the South Plains to the West Coast, pleasing lovers of symphonic music and light music lovers alike.

Defense Of Self And Daughter Is Plea Of Accused

Many Witnesses Testify In Theford Murder Case In District Court

The case of Mrs. Lila Mae Lenck, charged with the murder of her son-in-law, Leonard G. Theford, Littlefield druggist, went to the jury in district court at about 5 p. m. Wednesday.

The jury was returned to their quarters and locked in for the night. In the event of reaching a verdict, the jury cannot report until court reconvenes this morning.

The jury was selected Monday from a special venire of 81 men, who reported that morning; Tuesday was occupied in the taking of testimony, and all of Wednesday was given over to addresses to the jury by defense and prosecution counsel, and by the address to the jury by Judge C. D. Russell.

Shot Five Times

The fatal shooting of Theford occurred in his home in Littlefield early on the morning of October 18. Six bullets are reported to have been fired, five entering his body, according to official statements.

The members of the jury were H. V. Lynch, L. W. McClure, Harry Brantley, Solon Higgins, D. A. Vannoy, J. L. Templeton, Floyd Chaffin, J. W. Kelly, B. H. Hunt, J. C. Wozencraft and Fred Schaffer.

Mrs. Lenck was represented by the law firm of Greenhough, Dupree & Millam of Lubbock, and W. Wade Potter of Littlefield. Herbert C. Martin, district attorney, was assisted in the prosecution by J. R. (Billy) Hall, county attorney of Lamb county.

Self Defense Chief Plea

Mrs. Lenck's chief plea was self-defense and defense of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard G. Theford.

Mrs. Lenck, on the witness stand Tuesday afternoon, in her own defense, declared that at the time of the fatal shooting Theford was beating his wife, and that she expected him to attack her next, and that Theford had threatened to get a shotgun and kill them all.

Penitentiary Term Urged

In addressing the jury and court, the prosecution did not ask for the death penalty, urging only a term in the penitentiary for Mrs. Lenck. Judge Russell, in addressing the jury, explained the legal status of self-defense, defense of another person, murder with malice and murder without malice.

The state's star witnesses were Christine Griffin and Wilma Lois Russell, who testified that they heard a shot; saw a middle-aged woman come out on the porch of the Theford home with a gun in her hand; that the woman stood there, then went back into the house. Five shots followed, two close together, then a fifth shot.
