COTTON PRICES RISING

CROP AND FEED LOANS MAY BE INCREASED

REPORTS GIVES 9,195,000 BALE FOR 1934 CROP

Cotton Advances $2 Per Bale
Middling 12.5 On Local Market

A new low for cotton production was set when the Government report was issued Wednesday with an estimate for the 1934 crop of 9,195,000 bales as compared to final ginning figures for 1933-4 of 13,047,262. Cotton went up $2 per bale when the report came in, making middling 12.5 cents on the Littlefield market, and setting a new high for cotton price over the last four years.

Condition of the crops over the nation was estimated at 60.4 per cent of normal, as compared with 74.2 at the same date last year.

This report gives the yield per acre as 160.9 pounds per acre as based on the estimated bales for this year's production on the 28,024,000 acres planted to cotton up to July 1.

The 28,024,000 acres of cotton for this year is the lowest acreage since 1905, according to reports from Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Ginning of the 1934 crop up to August 1 was reported at 99,536 bales, most of this coming from the Valley regions of Texas.

The extreme heat and dryness of the last few days is expected to seriously detract from the number of bales produced this year, but was not considered in this last report. When the next report comes out September 8, it will carry figures on the number of acres abandoned since July 1 and will be subtracted from the 28,024,000 acres estimated to be given to cotton at that date.

Dr. Cox in his report points out that as American production decreases, foreign cotton countries are increasing their production. "Uncle Sam again finds himself playing Santa Claus to the other countries of the world because other growths of cotton can be substituted for American," he said. "It is generally admitted that the 1929-30 program proved a boomerang to the cotton growers. The burning question now is, can the United States prevent the American cotton farmer from paying dearly for the temporary relief in the way of some price advance and rental payments gained through forced reduction of cotton production? To date no cotton policy has been advanced to accomplish this most desired objective."

Further reports show that there is less cotton now on hand in the United States, American cotton in foreign ports and afloat, than there was at this time last year or the year before.

SCHOOL BOARD TO SETTLE BUS ISSUE TONIGHT

Some Members Would Rescind Previous Vote to Buy 19 Chassis

At a meeting of the Littlefield school board Monday night at City Hall, called chiefly to determine something definite about the purchase of school buses, nothing was done before adjournment, but it was decided to meet again tonight and finally dispose of the business on docket, Carl Arnold, secretary states.

Several weeks ago the board voted to buy 19 truck chassis for the coming school term and have since inspected the products of several companies and received quotations from each. Specifications and plans for a truck shed have been drawn and bids received. But due to the drought prevalent this summer and to other facts brought out in the investigation of school-owned busses, some of the board members have suggested that they do not buy busses this year, but continue under the old system of hiring a driver with his own truck.

The meeting Thursday night is to finally determine the definite course to be followed.

And He Wore High-Heeled Boots and Sombrero And Packed a .44 On His Hip

When a big he-man from Texas goes visiting, all the people stare and call to mind the tales they have read of the wild and woolly West.

At least that has been the recent experience of Sheriff Len Irvin of Littlefield who went to Boise, Idaho, for a prisoner. A Boise newspaper had the following to say about Sheriff Irvin:

Westerners get tired of radio cowboys and the synthetic types which are the movies' versions of wild and woolly west characters, so it is a real treat once in a while to see a man who is actually the caliber of the rough and ready gentlemen who once populated these desert states.

Boiseans were treated to such an experience Wednesday when Sheriff Len Irvin of Littlefield, Texas, arrived to take a prisoner back to his state.

Towering well above the six-foot mark and wearing one of the wide-brimmed sombreros for which the Texas officers are famous, Sheriff Irvin was barely able to get through the door of the Ada county sheriff's office without stooping.

Conditions are being made by the Credit Administration whereby a certain amount of crop and feed loans will be increased from the $400 to $750, Congressman Jones of Amarillo has been advised in Washington.

Chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, Mr. Jones introduced a bill to increase the amount of crop and feed loans, and he stated that the increase is needed by the farmers who cultivate wheat. The wheat farmers will benefit, he said.

It is expected to be able to authorize the increase within the next several weeks, Norman Monaghan, assistant director of the emergency crop and feed program, wrote to Congressman Jones.

Final for Exemption Tag Applications

The date for the signing of the applications has been set for Wednesday midnight, August 8, in a wire to D. A. Adam, county agent, from E. R. Eudaly, director of the State Allotment program. Adam announced Wednesday.

Applicants are urged to get their applications into the hands of their county agent by Saturday night, August 11, if they desire to be able to get their cotton free of tax this fall.

Applicants who do not get their applications in by that time will not be able to get their cotton free of tax, according to the administrative rulings issued by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Applications of time will be allowed, Adam stated.

Added Attractions on Dollar Day Are Being Planned For Future

Dollar Day in Littlefield Monday continued to uphold the precedent set by other such days in increased business among the merchants of the city.

Merchants who prepared for Dollar Day and offered specials for that day report a big increase in volume of business, stating that the response to the offers was excellent, especially considering the general condition of the country now.

As these special days continue and more and more business men join in the offering of special bargains which cannot be duplicated at any store on any other day, the buyers of the Littlefield territory are learning that it does pay to trade at home. With this as the purpose of the trade day, it is pleasing to those interested in the development of Littlefield and vicinity to note the response that has been granted this effort.

Plans are being discussed for the enlargement of the Dollar Day attractions for the coming month. Probably more stores will be included in the special sales and it is likely that prizes will be offered, those who are working on the project, suggest

THE WATER BOND ELECTION

The bond election set for August 29 to determine the issuing of $39,000 of revenue bonds to meet the requirements of the Federal appropriation of approximately $9,000 for additions and extensions to the water system of Littlefield is a matter of civic and economic concern.

It is a matter which deserves the investigation of every voter. It is important that he know the situation from all sides before he casts his ballot.

The city commission, in last week's issue of the Leader, published a complete statement of the existing situation and an explanation of the proposed changes. It was pointed out in this statement that the bonds proposed were revenue bonds and were to be repaid over a period of 40 years from the sale of water only. Under no conditions can they be paid from taxation. Therefore, the commission states, the tax figure of the Littlefield property owners will not and could not be raised by the issuing of the bonds.

The present fuel cost of pumping 1,000 gallons of water to the standpipe for sale is four and nine-tenths cents. Under the new set up, the same amount could be pumped for one and three-tenths cents according to figures checked by a government engineer. Thus, it is estimated that with no increase in the water rate, the saving in fuel costs alone would take care of the interest and sinking fund on the bonds.

The statement shows that the supply of water from the four wells now in use is actually failing year by year in amount produced whereas the demand for water is increasing each year. With the pumps running day and night, the commission says that it is barely possible to take care of daily needs and impossible to store a surplus for emergency.

For several years, the people of Littlefield have realized that something must be done about the water supply if the city is to expand any more. And attempts have been made previously to obtain government loans for the extension of the water system. Now that an appropriation has been approved, it behooves Littlefield's citizens to do something about the opportunity offered. It is worthy of your consideration.

Infantile Paralysis a Summer Disease

AUSTIN, Texas, August 5.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, states that infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever and bowel disturbance of infants, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any month of the year, over half the total number come in July, August, September and October. To date, 41 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health in 1934.

Direct contact between persons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum, of human contact during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, bowel disorder, drowsiness and irritability followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

After the acute state of the disease has passed and walking is finally permitted the patient, under no circumstances must the affected part be fatigued. It is thus observed that the secret of a successful rehabilitation lies in continuance of professional guidance and large doses of patience.

Texas Farmers to Receive $34,930,793 in Cotton Reduction

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 8. — (Special). — The flood of money to be paid Texas Farmers participating in the federal government's cotton acreage reduction program this year will total approximately $34,930,793, it is revealed in records of the Texas Cotton Review Board at Texas A & M College. Of this amount $26,777,280 will be paid in the form of acreage rentals and $8,153,513 will be in the form of parity payments.

The board's figures including the 223 "cotton" counties of the state, show a total of 236,183 contract signers agreed to reduce their land planted to cotton by 5,322,368 acres from the total of 14,126,746 acres which they averaged in cotton planting for the five-year period 1928-32. These 14,126,746 acres, the figures further reveal, produced an average of 2,047,131,619 pounds of cotton annually during this period.

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934 have the toughest, longest wearing tread Firestone has ever made. They have a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber giving you more than 50 per cent longer non-skid mileage.

For 15 consecutive years, the winning cars in the 500 mile Indianapolis speedway race have been equipped with Firestones.

For seven consecutive years the winning cars in the Pike's Peak climb, where a slip meant death have been equipped with Firestones.

MARFAK GREASE

Marfak is the oiliest of chassis lubricants, a heavy bodied mineral oil made to stand heavy loads.

It is exceedingly adhesive and clings to all parts lubricated — cohesive and stays put resisting rain and road-water.

Use Marfak and increase mileage between chassis lubrications. Insures greater riding comfort and reduces maintenance costs.

The City Hall Texas Station has gained for itself recognition for complete, prompt, and pleasant service.

You can drive in and get a complete line of Texaco motor products, Texaco Firechief and Indian gasoline, Texaco Havoline and Crackproof oils and Marfak grease. You can get your flats fixed, your car washed and greased and polished or you can have it Simonized. You will get your radiator and tires checked and your windshield cleaned.

If you need a tube or tire, you can get those famous Firestones at the City Hall Texas Station.

This is not a company operated station, but is independently owned by Mr. Dennis Jones. He asks you to come by and get acquainted if you are not already a regular customer, and if you are, to come in again.

CITY HALL TEXAS STATION

DENNIS JONES Prop.

When the Federal government issued a list of specifications for gasoline far beyond that of any existing gasoline and asked for bids, Texaco was the first to meet them—and not only to measure up but to surpass them. Firechief is the best of the best — powerful, easy starting, economical.

Texaco makes a competitive motor fuel, Indian. Though it is low in price, it is high in quality and more than meets all government requirements.

TEXACO OILS

Texaco Havoline motor oil is a wax-free lubricant. It is the oiliest of oils and has extreme power of endurance. In a recent 60,000 mile speed test in California, in which six cars took part, Havoline protected the motor better than any other oil, according to laboratory measurements. It is always dependable.

Texaco also makes Crackproof a more economical oil, yet one which more than meets all government standards for motor lubricants.

PROPRIETOR

DENNIS JONES

Mr. Jones is proprietor of the City Hall Texas Station and has been since the first of 1933 when he bought the business from Sam Hutson. Before taking over the Texas Station, Mr. Jones was bookkeeper for one of the local firms.

Under the management of Mr. Jones, the station has gained a long list of customers who like the product and the type of service given by him and his assistant, Roy Heard. Fair dealings, pleasant relations and prompt service have made the City Hall Texas Station a favorite with many motorists.

TEENTH INSTALLMENT THE STORY SO FAR

Gordon trades herself in with Dr. Richard Morgan thousand dollars—to save from the disgrace of her theft of that amount. Nancy loves penniless Roemer, and Richard is Helena Haddon, a sophisticated married woman, King, Helena's husband, sees but holds his counsel. Ceremony, Nancy returns home and continues to urge her to divorce Mr. Gordon, to release him from what he considers marriage, sells his house and Major Lomax, who rents original owner. Helena is Richard's interest in Nancy she knows nothing of the and tries to make trouble. comes to Nancy's home here to her, Nancy is frantic Page but refuses to bargain with Richard.

go on with the story. back me, Helena." Richard angrily, looking down. "It's diphtheria." she cried, "you're where's the nurse? Who's—Nancy Gordon?" facing them sullenly, felt a fright. because of the storm." apply, "I'm going now!" up the road. Page, help the hill; she's exhausted. Helena sweetly, "been sick night, I suppose?" "No, she can't stay, and Helena," said Richard. "Roemer, can you take for me? Send my man. I'll phone—I reckon me up. Mrs. Haddon, with Nancy and me?" of the door, looked back. faces. She was outlined machine, small and slight defiant. going in the car, I'm going said flatly. "Richard, I'll send the nurse, if she can leave her case."

"Nancy—" Richard took a step forward, but she never turned her head. They could see her walking straight and steady across the wet path to the road.
Page uttered an exclamation and ran after her. Nancy was at the top of the hill when he overtook her.
Unconsciously, the other two stood at the door and watched. They saw Page reach her and Nancy turned, said something, and walked on. But the young man, nothing daunted, pressed close behind her.
Helena, watching and listening keenly, heard the fierce catch in Richard's breath. Then she looked up at him and stood still, her heart beating heavily against her breast. All the life and the light had run out of his look. "A lovers' quarrel," she said lightly, "they were together yesterday at the inn. It was a quarrel that made her run out—he's been mad looking for her."
Richard stood rigid. Helena's hand tightened on his arm. She dared it all in one toss of the dice!
"Page is a good fellow," she said dreamily, "and—it's a pity—I don't think she's worth it, is she?"
He turned and looked straight into her face. "I love her!" he said with magnificent simplicity. Then he shook her hand off. "You'd better go home at once, Helena. You'll get diphtheria here!"
She broke down wildly, clenching her hands against her breast, her long eyes blazing the anger at him.
"I wish I could," she panted, "I wish I could."
But even her fury did not move him now; he sent her home.
Helena was late coming home that day. Haddon had returned from the bank, and was sitting in his study when he heard his wife enter the house.
"How's Polestar?" she asked lazily.
Haddon stopped smoking for a moment. "He's going to get over it. I sent for Arlou—first rate man, you know. That confounded boy!"
Helena laughed hysterically. "It wasn't the boy's fault," she said.

He had been out with Page Roemer searching for that girl—you know she ran out of the inn in the rain? Page is in love with her, and I had to help him find her. Where do you suppose she was?"
Haddon shivered. "How the devil do I know? With Morgan I suppose."
His wife started. A new and rending suspicion laid hold of her.
"You took fugged out. Better get Johnson to make you a stiff cup of coffee," he advised coolly. "You look all right."
"She was with Morgan. She'd gone down that wretched Kinney woman's back. The child's down with diphtheria. She and Morgan were there all night, if you please, taking care of that child."
Haddon threw his head back and laughed heartily.
"Mighty convenient to have diphtheria sometimes, isn't it?"
His cool enjoyment of a thing that was biting into her very soul infuriated Helena.
"You met Nancy Gordon in Washington—I mean, you saw her there once, King," she said slowly, with studied coolness. "I remember your saying something—what was she doing there anyway?"
He laughed shortly, a malicious light showing in the back of his eyes.
"She was with Dick Morgan, that's all," he answered her dryly. "They left here together—the day I went to the golf tournament. Afterwards, I went to register at the hotel. I've never said a word about it—and, look here, Helena, you can't either. Mind that, I won't be party to a scandal!"
"Why?" she asked in a smothered voice.
"They'd registered as man and wife, that's all!"
Helena drew a long breath. Before his eyes she grew as white as a dying woman. He half rose from his chair with an inarticulate exclamation, but she rallied, straightened herself and stood erect. He sank back in his chair with a foolish laugh, like a man in sudden relief from pain.
His wife was summoning all her strength to walk slowly to the door. She must be alone! Something in the suppressed fury of her look worried him; he knew he had been rash.
"Helena!" he said sharply.
"What is it?"
He leaned forward earnestly, cautioning her with a raised hand of warning.
"Mind not a word of this!" he said sharply, "no scandal involving me—even in hearsay."
She looked over her shoulder at him with an odd twisted smile.
"Do you really think I care—one way or the other—about that girl?" she asked scornfully.
"No," he said dryly, "but I'm pretty damned sure now—that you do—for the man."
She had her hand on the door and she met his eyes with fire in her look, and hatred. But she said nothing.
Up in her own room, Helena was sitting on the edge of her bed, white teeth set hard. She was going over and over those crazy moments when she had made a fool of herself, and lately—yes, lately she had been no better than a mendicant begging the alms of love!
And all the while it was Nancy Gordon! He loved the girl! Yet the tide of her hatred was turning—not on him—but on Nancy, Nancy was a woman, and Helena knew where to strike a woman. Fury rose in her like a tide.
She was ripe for any madness.
Before she knew it, before she had time to think of the incredible wickedness of what she did, she went to the telephone.

feet in the hall. Angie came in, dropped into a chair by his desk and began to cry. The major eyed her for a moment, then laid down his pen.
"What's the matter? Shut off the water-works! What's wrong now, child? Who's hurt your feelings?"
Angie dashed away her tears, choking and gasping.
"I'm not hurt, I'm mad!" she said fiercely. "Uncle Robert, they're saying things—perfectly awful things about Nancy Virginia."
The old man picked up his pen mechanically and added up two sets of figures. His niece strangled another sob.
"It's about Richard Morgan—it's—it's perfectly awful. Uncle Robert."
One thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine plus—The major suspended his pen.
"Tell me the whole business, Angie."
The girl's eyes fell before his.
"It's a horrid thing, uncle!"
"Humph! Where did you get it?" Angie told him. The woman had a good name, not much of a gossip either, she had it on good authority. "Everybody knows!" Angie sobbed. "I'd like to kill Dr. Morgan!"
"You haven't told me what it is yet," said her uncle dryly.
"I hate to soil my mouth with such talk!" his niece cried, her face aflame.
Little by little the old man drew the story out of her. It had grown since Helena started it, and it was very reasonable.
The major drummed on his desk with his fingers, his eyes fixed on the distant view from his windows. He had known Richard from boyhood. Not a usual boy, a good deal of a man always, the major thought.
"It's a damned lie, Angie," he said finally.
"Of course it is!" she agreed, "and you've got to stop it, Uncle Robert."
The major patted her hand. "That's right! I like to hear you, but you can't stop women's tongues, child. You'd better get Nancy to come out with the truth. That's the way to meet it."
"As if she had anything to tell—she can't have!" Angie turned indignant eyes upon him.
He shook his head. "No! But there's something at the bottom of it; too much smoke, Angie."
It was ten days before Haddon heard the story, a garbled story, but he came home white with rage.
"By God, Helena, if I thought you'd started this!" he stormed fiercely, finding her alone in her room.
She looked him over from head to foot, beautiful and insolent.
"Do you imagine you were the only one to read that register?" she asked cuttingly.
He recoiled in spite of himself. Of course he had been a fool and floundered the handle about nothing.
"No," he answered coldly.
"Lord!" he said, "women are the devil!" and he heard his wife's laugh, as he shut the door.
At first, Nancy suspected nothing, but she felt a change, subtle, complete, chilling. The old friendly atmosphere seemed to recede and leave her marooned. She fancied that it had something to do with Polestar. Haddon had made a great deal of that incident, he had discharged Henry and told the whole story. Major Lomax overtook her one day on her way home.
"Going down to Warrenton tomorrow to spend the day with Angie and her cousin?" he asked pleasantly.
Nancy smiled. "Why, yes, Angie asked me—she says her cousin told her she might bring a friend. There's Old Major Lomax, just recovered from his prolonged attack of gout, got to his desk and began to figure on William Gordon's indebtedness to him. Not even the house had quite tipped out Gordon's initial plunge. It wasn't like Gordon. Of course there was a reason.

Lomax had his own suspicions, fed up by letters from his cousin in the trust company. Old man Beaver had conceived a chronic distrust of young Gordon. "Going on another bat, I think," he wrote Lomax. "something eating the boy—women or wine or something, can't make it out. Don't lend the old man too much."

Major Lomax rubbed the end of his nose with his pen. He was thinking of Nancy when he heard the front door shut violently and the rush of

The church makes the following offering of service to the public on next sabbath. At 9:45 a. m. Church school with a class fitted to all, from the least child to the most advanced in age, and in each class a teacher with a prepared lesson. At 11 a. m. the first hour of public worship—the pastor will deliver a sermon using as subject, "The Gospel for the Privileged." While he was away he spoke to the First M. E. Church in Las Vegas, and this is the same subject.

delivering a sermon using as theme, "The Way Into High Society."

Last Sunday the church was lead in the worship in songs by a very large choir. It will enjoy this same treat this coming Sunday, no doubt. The choir feels it renders a real part in the service; no service in the church is complete without their service. The church is one of the most pleasant places, as regards heat, in the town. And it isn't nearly so hot as a place we read about!

The church was greatly pleased to have a former pastor, R. E. Freeman, in the pulpit last Sunday at the morning hour. He brought an excellent message, a most profitable one. He was rejoiced to see the church making such growth, see the work done toward finishing the basement, and the growth in membership, in the character of the new members entering. His words to the pastor were most encouraging. It gives us all the deepest pleasure to see that Bro. Freeman has so greatly improved in health.

Comfortable House Frock

A new and becoming house-frock ever so often is an absolute necessity to those of us whose work is in the home, and the larger woman especially finds it a problem to obtain the right kind of dress for her needs. So this design is made with the larger woman in mind, from its notched collar and vestee to its slenderizing side panels, and lack of belt. The sleeves are interesting on account of the sashed openings and it is fitted in at the back by means of darts. The making of this frock can be accomplished in a few hours. Printed percale, chambray or batiste would be the most effective.

OVER FOUR MILLION DOLLARS TO GO TO FARMERS IN CORN-HOG REDUCTION

County by county figures released this week for the first time by the Corn-Hog Review Board indicate that 32,104 Texas farmers in 228 counties have contracted to participate in the corn-hog reduction program. As cash return for their cooperation $4,805,500 will be coming to these farmers.

The work of the Corn-Hog Review Board was inaugurated by a statewide trip of the Chairman, E. N. Holmgreen, accompanied by F. E. Finley, statistician from the crop estimates division of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics, meeting county committees and county Extension agents to discuss and explain the contract. After this Mr. Finley remained at College Station and handled the statistical end of the Board's work throughout the entire time. That the work of the county committees has been well done is shown by the fact that when the contracts of the first three Texas counties, Delta, Coryell and Gillespie, reached Washington they were immediately approved and passed for payment.

The Board has now made contract allotments in all but seven counties. Already county committees in 108 counties have made their adjustments within allotments. The movement of county contracts to Washington will proceed rapidly now, Mr. Holmgreen states, and returning checks will be coming right along as the contracts receive final approval and are passed for payment.

The Board's figures show that 222,000 acres have been contracted for $1,129,496, two-thirds of which is immediately payable, the remainder to be paid in November and December.

The quota of hogs raised for market which is the average for the past two years totals 985,073 head. For cutting their production one-fourth farmers will be paid at the rate of $5 per head for the remaining three-fourths. For thus restricting their output to enable consumption to catch up with supply these farmers will be paid $3,694,003, of which two-fifths will be paid in August and the remainder in two payments in December and in February.

Fall Semester At Tech Opens Oct. 1

The fall semester opens October 1 at Texas Technological College, according to the 1934-35 annual catalog, which is now ready for distribution. The catalog will be mailed upon request to the registrar's office.

The contract for the completion of the two new dormitories, with a capacity of 640 students, provides that the dormitories shall be ready for occupancy on October 1. It seemed desirable and necessary, therefore, to delay the actual opening of school until October 1. It should be noted that this does not seriously delay the commencement exercises of June, 1935, or the summer school of 1935. All students should report promptly, however, on October 1.

Officials Return From Interviewing Highway Commission

Judge Simon D. Hay and County Commissioners Ellis Foust and Don Bryant returned Thursday from Austin, where they went Monday to appear before the highway commissioners in the interest of further improvements on Lamb County roads.

The purpose of the trip was to urge the surfacing of Highway No. 7 from the Lubbock county line west through Lamb County, and the grading and drainage construction on highway No. 28 from Spring Lake west to the county line.

The commission gave them an attentive ear and informed the officials that they had the continuation of this work in mind, and would attend to these matters as soon as possible.

SOFT BALLERS TAKE HIT FROM LOCALS 11-5

The Tech Softball team, including members of the school now in progress, defeated the locals on the field under the lights. The team assembled an array of talent from various teams of affairs. Guy Aldridge, Bob Cox constituted the Tech team, while the local team consisted of Puryear pitching and the Tech stars of various teams. Yancey Price, of football fame, and Kerr who are local sportsmen.

counted six times to take a very lasting lead. The local squad did not start to function until the second when Jim Etter and Art Mueller opened the 2nd inning by doubling in succession to account for one run. The other three runs came in the 6th and this wound up the scoring for the home team.

Puryear pitching for the Tech coaches, showed the locals a brand of twirling that caused most every man to face him to fan one or more times. A tantalizing fast-ball mixed with a decided change of pace made the locals look sick and void of batting tact. The hitting of the visitors was noticeable however with heads up playing behind Guy Aldridge the game was well contested after the 3rd stanza.

Sunnydalers Trim Oilers Crew Monday To The Tune of 9-4

Monday afternoon P. S. Hanks and his Sunnydale villagers used but nine men to hand the peppery oilers a licking and put the suburban tribe in the win column in the second half percentages.

The first four men to face Baize the Oiler Chunker scored to give the farmers a nice lead. The best the Oilers achieved was one tally in their half of the first inning. Cape, pitched for the winners with Brandon as his battery mate. Baize and Herald handled things for the Oilers.

Errors cost the Oilers many calculable chances of winning from the Daylers.

Firemen Routed By Firemen 10-2 In Monday's Game

The Firemen waged a game with the AllStars in which they did with apparent ease taking a one run lead in the first inning. The Firemen came back seven times, batting around the bases, but were unable to score. To make sure this game was not disputed they annexed the 4th. No more scoring was made in the 5th for the Firemen. The sum total of the game was 10-2.

Swimming Classes Take Last Tests For Awards Monday

During the recent "Learn to Swim Campaign" sponsored by the Local Chapter of the Red Cross 122 persons received instruction in some phase of the program of swimming and Life Saving. A good per cent of these people have successfully passed some test and received the award for their achievement.

The test for the last class was completed Monday morning of this week. Those who passed the Swimmers tests were: Clyde Willis, Louise Thornton, Alice Lynn Street, Mildred Wiseman, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. Warren Rutledge, Mrs. Ann Louise Wiseman, Ernestine Cundiff, Mrs. Arbie Joplin, Mrs. Lena Poreher, Mrs. W. G. Street, Mrs. Wilma Teeters, Winifred Thornton, and Avonio Hawthorne.

Business Men Show Class When They Beat Allstars 5-4

The businessmen's club put up some extra effort to good advantage and made good a rally in the 6th inning for three scores to net them a victory over the Allstars who are the champions for the first half of this seasons play. Otha Key mound artist for the businessmen, pitched a neat game of ball. Except for two costly errors in the 6th his support was first class.

The Allstars extended the pitching assignment to Graham who pitched winning ball, however, he gave up hits when it meant runs for the businessmen. Captain Davenport relieved him in the 7th and checked any further scoring.

The businessmen are improving fast and their last two exhibitions will bear this statement out. In a previous encounter with the Legion they made things go into extra innings though they lost to the Legion Crew, in a closely contested affair.

Boy Living Near Sudan Missing Since July 5

Morris Scott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott, whose address is Rt. 1, Sudan left home Thursday evening July 5, and his parents have heard nothing from him since.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott is very anxious to locate their son, and asks that anyone knowing the whereabouts of his son to get in touch with him immediately at the above address.

Morris left home with a brother, Noel Scott, and Harold Sparks to attend a meeting at the church in their neighborhood, but on arriving at the building left the other boys, remarking as he walked on past the church "I'll see you sometime." Mr. Scott describes his son as being of dark complexion, with brown eyes and hair height 5 feet ten inches, and rather large for his age, weighing about 145 pounds. When last seen he was wearing white corduroy pants white cap, khaki shirt with short sleeves, and a dark green summer weight sweater.

Thinking probably Morris had gone to California, where Mrs. Scott has brothers and sisters living at Lancaster, Hanford and Porterville, they have waited until this time to try to secure information as to his whereabouts, but report that he has not arrived in California. Mr. Scott thinks he might be in South Texas.

If any reader of the Leader knows the whereabouts of Morris Scott, they will render a valuable service by advising his parents.

School Faculty Win Victory Over Legion With 7-6

Earl Hobbs and his School educators put on a spurt in the final inning with two out and the score 6 to 5 against them to annex their game with the Legionaires last Thursday night. Wobbly support at times cost the Legion their chances of success with the school crew.

Cotton Eagan pitched one of the best performances of his career and as a consequence he held the timber welders for the Veterans to a few scattered blows. He fanned some of the best time and again when hits would have mounted the score for the losers.

Manuel Kelm Buys Airplane Monday

Raymond Kelm, who is employed in the mechanical department of the Leader, had the pleasure Monday noon of flying to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Texas Centennial Week Starts Aug. 13

The week of August 13 has been proclaimed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson as "Texas Centennial Week." She urged all Texans to discuss plans for a celebration in 1935 commemorating 100 years of Texas independence.

The Governor suggested that the Texas Centennial should be discussed in every social and club meeting at every dinner table, and at all other places where men and women congregate, to the end that Texas shall become "centennial minded." She urged that this movement be encouraged, so that this great project be an outstanding success.

If you have extra good tomatoes it will be cheaper to save seed from your own crop than to buy it next spring, says J. F. Roeborough, extension horticulturist. Cut the best specimens in half, place in a barrel half full of water, and when the pulp separates, pour and comes to the top, skim off the pulp and scoop out the seed from the bottom of the barrel. Rinse and dry in the shade. Store in tight containers.

Final Figures In Cotton Reduction Are Made Public

Reporting that contracts from every cotton county in Texas have been approved and certified to Washington the State Cotton Board of Review presented this week the final figures in the cotton acreage reduction campaign. A summary of the certificates of the 223 cotton counties shows a grand total of 236,183 contracts affecting 4,282,723 bales of 478 pounds net weight; 14,126,746 adjusted base acres and 5,322,365 rented acres. The contracts show that 37.7 per cent of the base acres were rented to the Government. The total rental payments amount to $26,777,280 and the parity payment of one cent per pound will amount to $5,153,513. In most cases the checks for the first rental payment have been received by the farmers. The second rental payment will be made in early fall after the land has been measured and the compliance certificates sent to Washington. The parity payments will be made in December.

In connection with these final figures it is of interest to note that Texas has about one-fourth of the cotton counties and one-fourth of the contracts in the United States representing nearly one-third of the lint, and over one-third of the cotton acreage.

It is generally conceded, Board members declare, that the acreage reduction campaign saved the cotton farmers from again having to sacrifice their cotton at low prices because another big crop in the face of large world carryover, together with lack of demand, could only have meant disastrous prices. Furthermore, it is pointed out that the benefit and parity payments take the place of crop insurance for the many farmers who will make little or no cotton due to the drought, while the rented acres will supply additional food for livestock on farms wherever the drought did not completely destroy the crops.

Accepted from farmers and stockmen for the purchase of seed for farm and range livestock and to plant forage crops in drought areas, Miss Stella Lloyd is in charge of the local office and the county committee consists of J. T. Elms, J. C. Hilburn, J. O. Garlington.

Upon receipt in the Dallas Office in proper form applications are given immediate consideration and checks are mailed to the borrower promptly. Every effort is being put forth to expedite the disbursement of these funds and in most cases twenty-four hour services is being given.

In connection with the emergency feed loans, no lien is required. However, chattel mortgage lienholders, if any, are required to sign a non-disturbance agreement to accompany the preliminary note and application. The agreement specifies that the borrower's property rights will not be disturbed until January 1, 1936, without written consent of the Governor, Farm Credit Administration.

Loans will be advanced in monthly installments, with a supplemental application necessary for each month's requirements.

Applications must be submitted to the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan committee for the county in which the applicant's livestock is located or forage crops to be planted.

Blackberry and dewberry canes which have borne fruit will not bear again. J. F. Roeborough, extension horticulturist, says. These canes should be cut after the crop is gathered leaving room for the new growth which will carry next year's fruit. A hoe is a satisfactory implement for chopping out the canes or a mowing machine could be used where a large field of berries is to be cared for.

this Great New MOTOR OIL

... Climaxes Continental 59 Years of Leadership

Continental Oil Company's half-century of quality leadership reaches a climax in New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. It is the result of over two years of research and experiment and 963,000 miles of road tests.

This great new oil has these advantages:

1. Two to four times greater film strength than any straight mineral oil.
2. Penetrates and combines with metal surfaces—the "Hidden Quart" that never drains away.
3. Stability under all conditions; will not thin out.
4. Prevents carbon and sludge troubles.

Here's proof that it gives you greater motor protection and lower oil consumption: Tested at Indianapolis Speedway against five other nationally known oils in identical cars, five quarts of New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil carried its car 4,729 miles—3,015.8 miles farther than the first oil to fail, 1,410.2 miles farther than the best of the five other oils!

C. of C. Resumes Meetings After Summer Vacation

The Chamber of Commerce met for luncheon Tuesday in the basement of the Presbyterian church for the first time in several weeks, having discontinued the regular meeting during part of the summer because of poor attendance.

At the meeting, it was decided to send a committee composed of men from Lamb and Bailey counties to Portales soon to discuss with that committee the exact place where the East-West road through those counties would cut the New Mexico line. New Mexico is carrying on an intensive road building program in that section and wants to know immediately just where their end of the road is to meet the Texas end. With that point decided, and several miles of grading through Lamb and Bailey counties, it was stated that the road would be in condition to be presented for designation.

W. H. Cunningham made a report to the group on community centers as observed in his recent trip to College Station. His report on the leather tanning project and the home curing of meats especially met with the approval of the members and it was decided to ask for them in connection with the community canning plant which has already been approved for this section.

Joe Hale, secretary of the chamber of commerce, reports that the canning project has received final approval by the relief commission, but that for some reason, the actual issuing of cash for building has been held up. It is expected that the work will begin in the very near future.

Mood Enlarges His Cafe by Including The Sweet Adeline

Moody's Cafe has merged with the sweet Adeline in the same building and now present one of the largest and best appointed cafes in Littlefield.

Across one side is the counter and stools as in the old establishment. Across the other is the beer and sandwich counter as in the Sweet Adeline. Between the two are tables and chairs. In the rear Mr. Moody has built booths for the convenience of his customers.

With the two establishments operated together, with the added room and convenience, and with the renovation given the entire place, Mr. Moody now offers the public one of the choice dining places of the city.

story Albert is reported to have told. Some of the boys hereabouts have great ambitions to establish a new fraternal organization to be known as the Grand and Exalted Order of the World's Most Accomplished Liars.

Now holding membership in this new organization doesn't mean that a man or woman must be downright ornery and one in whose word there can be no trust whatever; this new club is supposed to be made up of men and women who are honest and decent in their everyday walk of life, but who delight to tell such stupendous lies as to cause their great, great, great grandparents to turn over in their graves and moan over the present generation—and "sich" things.

Jim Davenport, partner of Albert Touchon in the operation of the LFD Garage, is being boomed for president. He has a snake-stovepipe story, or a stovepipe-snake story that is causing all the other accomplished liars to blush in shame at their inability to expound in a manner worthy of the brethren and sisters of such a noble order as that of the Grand and Exalted Order of the World's Most Accomplished Liars.

Watch this newspaper for Jim's snake-stovepipe, or stovepipe-snake story which we hope to publish next week. We want to give Jim at least one week to work up the details into a state of perfection that will assure his election to the presidency of that great organization which we have explained in such detail.

Of course, Nemonations haven't been closed; step right up, ladies and gents, expound to the Ascension or suspension. BANKRUPT HUBBY GETS BIG SURPRISE (From the Portales Valley News)

Bill Dollar tells a good story of a man who found himself bankrupt, and came home to break the news to his better half. She did not seem as depressed as he had expected, and asked him to go with her to a certain bank where she opened a safety deposit vault and showed him a great stack of bills sufficient to put him back on his feet.

"Whose is this?" asked the man. "It is ours," replied the wife. As his wonderment increased he asked her how she had saved so much.

"You remember when we were married you promised me one dollar for each kiss . . . You always kept your word. I saved the money and this is the result." In his astonishment the man exclaimed, "I wish I had done all my kissing at home."

"The above is a fine example of trading at home," said Bill Dollar.

The strapping big officer had a pretty hard trip from Texas on account of car trouble, he said. Also there was bad news from home. No sooner had he arrived in Boise than he received a telegram that one of his deputies had been killed in an auto accident.

PLEDGES OF LEGION OF DECENCY BEING CIRCULATED IN LITTLEFIELD

Pledges of the Legion of Decency—a national movement looking toward the removal of certain alleged objectionable features from motion pictures—are being circulated in Littlefield and territory at this time.

The movement has as its sponsors churches of all faiths, civic and semi-civic organizations, and individuals.

The Legion of Decency is not striking at the motion picture theaters, but is directing its efforts to bring pressure to bear on producers of pictures.

The pledge which is being signed reads as follows:

I wish to join the Legion of Decency, which condemns vile and unwholesome moving pictures. I unite with all who protest against them as a grave menace to youth, to home life, to country and to religion.

I condemn absolutely those salacious motion pictures which, with other degrading agencies, are corrupting public morals and promoting a sex mania in our land.

I shall do all that I can to arouse public opinion against the portrayal of vice as a normal condition of affairs, and against depicting criminals of any class as heroes and heroines, presenting their filthy philosophy of life as something acceptable to decent men and women.

I unite with all who condemn the display of suggestive advertisements on bill-boards, at theatre entrances and the favorable notices given to immoral motion pictures.

Considering these evils, I hereby promise to remain away from all motion pictures except those which do not offend decency and Christian morality. I promise further to secure as many members as possible for the Legion of Decency.

I make this protest in a spirit of self-respect and with the conviction that the American public does not demand filthy pictures, but clean entertainment and educational features.

No dues whatever for the Legion of Decency.

No meetings. Millions of Americans, pledging themselves individually, can rid the country of its greatest menace—the salacious motion picture.

BISHOP LUCEY COMMENDS MOVEMENT

A letter from the Most Reverend Robert E. Lucey, D. D., Bishop of Amarillo, has been received by the Rev. Charles J. Dvorak, pastor of the local Catholic church, in which the bishop discusses the Legion of Decency—a national movement directed toward eliminating certain alleged objectionable features from motion pictures.

The bishop enthusiastically commends the aims of the Legion of Decency and urges Catholics and non-Catholics to execute the pledges in order that the producers of motion pictures may be discouraged from making certain types of pictures.
