M. W. Whitney Will Return To Lamb County This Fall

Lamb County friends of M. W. Whitney, former resident of Sudan, but now in the real estate and brokerage business at Sweet Home, Oregon, will be interested in learning that Mr. Whitney thinks more of this county as a place to live than any other place and plans on returning this fall.

The Leader received a letter from Mr. Whitney Friday enclosing a subscription, stating in part as follows:

"The writer is formerly from Lamb County, lived at Sudan, and am planning on returning back there some time this coming fall. I still have our household goods stored at Amarillo. They can all have this Pacific coast country that wants it, but Texas is good enough for me, first last and all the time."

Soldiers Promised Their Jobs On Return

FORT WORTH, July 2. (U.P.)—City employees here who may be called to U. S. Army service in event of mobilization, were promised today that their "jobs would be waiting when they come back."

City manager Sam Bothwell, in a discussion of President Roosevelt's recently granted authority to call out the National Guard in case of emergency, said leaves of absence would be given and guardsmen affected.

Bothwell remembered the last war. He remembered what happened to thousands of doughboys who left jobs to go overseas.

"Yes, when they came back, their jobs had been taken by others and some of them had tough sledding," he recalled.

National Guard mobilization would hit hard the ranks of city employees. An accurate check has not been made, but included in the list were Dr. Burke Brewster, health and welfare director, a major in the 111th medical regiment, and his assistant, Dr. E. A. Heffner, captain in the same unit.

Meanwhile city officials considered a plan—already adopted by Dallas—to give employees three weeks' paid vacation during the National Guard maneuvers in Louisiana in August.

Stories and sets out to raise the late ship, G. C. Chambliss Jr., of Beaumont, has hired Rep. Price Daniel, a lawyer of Liberty, Texas, and they have started out to salvage the vessel in legal fashion.

Chambliss says the facilities of modern science can raise the ship.

Receives Scholastic Recognition On Honor Roll

Ernestine Cundiff of Littlefield received scholastic recognition on the honor roll for the second semester at West Texas State College Canyon in the list of sixty-three students out of an enrollment of around 1150, according to an announcement of Registrar D. A. Shirley this week.

Miss Cundiff was a member of Group V, the academic ranking for students receiving four "A's" and two "B's", and appeared on the honor roll for the second time this year.

Junior Baseball League Organized

By Jimmie Robinson

There is a fighting little baseball team in Littlefield that hardly anyone has heard of. It is the JR. Baseball League that has just been organized. The little CATS will play a fine game of baseball against Sudan Sunday on our local field and would like to have a crowd out to see them go. The boys have a fine manager who is an ex-player on the Lfd. Grays, Shorty Sikes. The business men helped the boys buy their equipment so they want to try it out. The boys have been working hard so be there with your rooting clothes on to watch them go.

Chevrolet Dealers Sell 34,328 Cars, Trucks in 10 Days

DETROIT, July 2.—The greatest June second-10-day sales period since 1936 was reported by Chevrolet dealers today, it was announced here by William E. Holler, general sales manager, who reported the sale of 34,328 new passenger cars and trucks in the past -10 days, a gain of 11,880 units over the same period last year. This represents an increase of 52.9 per cent, he said.

Hewitt Chevrolet Company are local dealers for the Chevrolet cars.

At the same time, new car sales continued the steady advance that has characterized the Chevrolet sales since 1930. The second 10 days of June topped the first 10 days by 23.3 per cent. The June 20 total of 34,328 new cars and trucks compares with 22,448 in the same period last year and 27,843 in the first 10 days of June this year.

Concurrently, used car sales showed a distinct upward trend, a total of 66,152 units being retailed. This represents a 39 per cent increase over the comparable period last year and an 18.5 per cent gain over the first 10 days of this month.

For the month-to-date, Mr. Holler said, new car sales are 34.9 per cent in advance of the first 20 days of June, while used car deliveries are 27.7 per cent ahead over the same period.

Ship Scuttled 120 Years Ago To Be Brought To Surface

AUSTIN, July 2. (U.P.)—Maybe there's a lot of gold in the old vessel and maybe there isn't. At any rate, modern science will delve deep into a Texas lake to attempt recovery of a ship that Jean Lafitte scuttled 120 years ago while trying to escape a U. S. revenue cutter.

The long-lost brigantine—90 feet long, a broad 30-foot beam—dashed into a shallow lake a little way up from the Gulf and there La Fitte

Lamb 4th Largest County In District

Preliminary reports for the census in Lamb county show that this county is the fourth largest in the 18th congressional district, with an increase in population over a period of ten years, it was announced last week end.

For 1940, Lamb county census is 17,650, while ten years ago it was 17,452.

Lamb county is one of the ten counties in the district that have gained; Lubbock county is again the largest, and an increase is also shown in the reports for Andrews, Bailey Cochran, Dawson, Garza, Hockley, Howard, and Terry.

For the first time population of South Plains, as shown by the 19th congressional district, has exceeded that of the North Panhandle, or the 18th district, preliminary reports show.

Reports from 23 of 25 counties comprising the 19th district show 264,474 as on April 1 this year, ago. Ten of the counties show an increase compared to 250,207 ten years ago and 13 a decrease. The two not yet reported, Gaines and Yukon, both will show increases.

For the 18th district, 27 out of 28 counties show 236,711 inhabitants, a loss of 16,083, there being 253,904 residents ten years ago. Howard county is second in the 19th district, the only one other than Lubbock with more than 20,000 population. Hale is third with 18,800.

Work of Education Cause Crime Says L. A. Woods

July 2.—It's high time started considering the high ignorance, and not the high education, State Superintendent L. A. Woods believes.

Woods noted the federal crime law that the cost of crime is more than $500,000, annually.

More than one per cent of the state penitentiary ev-

"Many of these 100,000 children who are not in school are roaming the streets, and naturally form themselves into small bands of petty pilferers. From here on the development into real criminals is just a matter of time.

"If we can get these boys and girls back in school, the chances of their becoming criminals and wards of the state will be halved."

Woods urged that civic clubs and churches make this project part of their work.

Local Junior Boys Bow to Okla. Flats In Baseball Sunday

By Jimmie Robinson

The Littlefield Junior boys baseball team tangled with the Oklahoma Flats Juniors here Sunday afternoon, as a large crowd of fans watched the local boys lose their first game to the tune of 9 to 15.

This was the junior boys' first game and they were not quite prepared for wins, but they played a good one, regardless.

The starting line-up was:

B. Bradshaw, catcher; J. Sparks, pitcher; J. Robinson, first base; R. Grisham, second base; E. Graham, third base; N. Singer, short stop; A. Jackson, right field; E. Rhodes, center field; D. Cary, left field.

The Juniors will play the Whittarral Juniors at Whittarral Sunday.

Aliens to Register Be Fingerprinted

President Roosevelt signed into law Saturday a bill requiring registration and fingerprinting of approximately 3,500,000 aliens in the United States.

In a statement issued simultaneously, the President expressed hope that no "loyal aliens" would be subjected to harassment in the course of this program but added:

"With those aliens who are disloyal and are bent on harm to this country, the Government, through its law enforcement agencies, can and will deal vigorously."

In effect, Roosevelt repudiated some States and communities which have undertaken to deal with aliens individually.

"The only effective system of control over aliens in this country must come from the Federal Government alone," his statement said. "This is as true from a practical point of view as it is from a legal and constitutional point of view."

"Since Congress by the act, has attempted to provide a single and uniform method of handling this difficult problem of alien registration in this country, it seems to me that attempts by the States or communities to deal with the problem individually will result in undesirable confusion and duplication."

Eliminates Guesswork In Making Jelly

Jelly makers used to cross their fingers and hope for good luck this time of year, but modern science has taken much of the guesswork out of jelly-making.

Grace I. Neely, specialist in food preservation of the A. and M. College Extension Service, has compiled a list of rules for each step in the jelly-making process, and if these are conscientiously adhered to success in the undertaking is virtually assured. Here are the rules:

Select good quality fruit that is fresh and firm. A mixture of ripe and slightly underripe fruit is usually best since overripe fruits are low in acid. But they will make jelly if one tablespoon of strained lemon juice is added to each cup of fruit juice.

To know when the syrup forms jelly is important in cooking it the right length of time. The jelly test most commonly used is called "sheeting off." To make the test, dip a large spoon into the boiling syrup and lift the spoon so that the syrup runs off the side. Stop cooking when the syrup no longer runs off the spoon in a steady stream but separates into two distinct lines of drops which "sheet" together. If the jelly is not cooked long enough, it will be soft and runny. And if it is cooked beyond the point of jelly formation, it will become a gummy mass.

In preparing plum jelly one-half cup of water to each pound of prepared fruit is the best proportion for extraction of juice. Time of boiling for the extraction should be from 15 to 20 minutes. In extracting juice from grapes the boiling time is from five to ten minutes, Miss Neely says. Concord grapes will require from one-fourth cup of water to one for each pound of prepared fruit, and wild grapes will require about one cup per pound.

BRAID EDGED

Don't you think it's one of the prettiest ideas for cotton prints that ever bloomed in the spring—all set for a summer of great popularity? There's something so perky and young about 8716, with its choice of low-cut or tailored collar finished with a come-hither bow, and panels outlined in braid to call attention to the supple slimness of your waist! It's simple enough to wear around the house, but it's much, much too pretty to spend all its time at home. Wear it to market and for runabout, too.

Make this of plaid or checked gingham, polka dot percale or plain-colored chambray, with ric-rac braid.

Pattern 8716 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20.

Pattern 8715—if you're expecting a baby, of course you'll simply live in the smock-top frock this summer making it up time and again. It's by all odds the most youthful, concealing and becoming thing you can choose. This one has a pleated top, and an inverted pleat in the adjustable skirt, for a more graceful line. And to vary the monotony, different necklines.

Using this same pattern (8715) you can make some of your dresses with square neckline and some with a soft, turnover collar and tie ends. It will look entirely different, and both necklines are equally smart. This is a style that makes up well in every material—flat crepe, small-figured print, sheers, and summer cottons.

Pattern No. 8715 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40, 42 and 44.

Sodium Fluoride Kills Cockroaches

Sodium fluoride either pure or mixed with equal parts of flour is the ticket for killing cockroaches.

Cockroaches will tackle almost any kind of food and usually poison themselves several times more than they usually eat. The pests hang out in the kitchen or pantry or other places where food is kept.

For control, dust sodium fluoride in the places frequented by the roaches, especially along the edges of the rooms. The best results will be obtained by use of a dust gun which will force the dust into cracks and crevices.

The insecticide is most effective when applied in the evening, since roaches do not move much in the day time.

"Sodium fluoride is toxic to man and animals and should not be used where children may get at it," warns Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service. "It can be swept out each morning, but I recommend ground pyrethrum in homes where there are small children." Pyrethrum is not poisonous to humans.

The entomologist says commercial sprays are not effective unless the insects are actually hit by the spray.

Homemaking Exhibit

achievement day for the sewing girls of the Sudan school was held at the auditorium Saturday afternoon, when exhibits of the various projects were on display for the public. Joy Beauchamp, Elnora Boyles, Ruth Damron, Doris Hammock, Betty Hardy, Arlene Johnston, Donna Gene King, Quata Little, Mildred Luttrell, Burma Lybrand, La Rue Ormand, Myrtle Olds, Ruby Ser-ratt, La Fern West, Nell White, and Sybil White have completed pockets, tucks, pleats, gathers, lace clothing projects. Zippers, plackets embroidery, worked and bound buttonholes, were problems the girls applied to these garments. A quilting project has been completed by Maurine Templeton and Joy Beauchamp. Geraldine Feagan and Juanita Moses have demonstrated how to make use of old by renovating some garments they had on hand. Theresa Davis, Ima Jean Briscoe and Mildred Luttrell have applied different embroidery stitches to household articles. They have made for their hope chests. Ima Jean Briscoe applied the mitered corner on her tea towels. This was a new problem for her and is a difficult one for many housewives. Jessie Lee Parks has acquired a skill with knitting. Her room will be made bright and gay with the rug she has knitted from old sheets. She has also demonstrated economy. Burma Lybrand and Ima Jean Briscoe have completed lovely and inexpensive window curtains for their homes. Burma has made her bedroom more attractive and convenient by an orange crate dressing table. Bernice Nix has refinished the woodwork in her home and made an old piece of furniture more modern and attractive. Nada Francis Bridges, Helen Damron, Audrey Gilbert, and Margie King, have improved their yards by providing walks for both the front and back yards and putting out flowers, shrubs, grass and trees. Nada Francis got her father interested in her yard and as a result they have a curved walk in the front yard. The girls have planted seeds, transplanted plants, and put out cuttings since early spring. Some of them have a variety of rose bushes. Another outstanding and useful project is the garden. Earnestine Pennington and Gwendolyn Wilshire have demonstrated the garden on the city lot, while Destarce Williams has represented the rural girl with her farm garden. The families of these girls have been enjoying vegetables from these small plots for some time. The frame garden was demonstrated by Betty Hardy in the early spring. Her family used vegetables from this garden in early March. The total cost of her garden for a family of eight was 40 cents.

A weak, undernourished condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get a foothold; thus leads to much of woman's suffering from headaches, nervousness, and other periodic discomfort.

CARDUI'S principal help for such distress comes from the way it usually stimulates appetite; increases flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion; helps build energy, strength, physical resistance to periodic pain for many.

Another way, many women find help for periodic distress: Take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time." Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

The SNOOPER SAYS...

Mr. and Mrs. So... and their daughter...

And, that my dear friends, is the result of having the end of my right finger off, and trying to type.

I've never had an operation, nor a broken bone, but I've had my share of cuts and bruises, sprained ankles and black eyes...

...also been in 2 automobile accidents... the first was a collision, when I was seven years old, and I was thrown 20 feet from the car and was unconscious... hurt my head, too...

...guess that's what has been the matter with the head through the years... But my latest was cutting my finger while operating the electric saw in the newspaper plant. I'm thoroughly convinced now that I have graduated from being a printer's devil!

Monday ushered in July, and today is Independence Day. Here are a few interesting facts that you may not know concerning the month and holiday:

July has 31 days because Julius Caesar was born that month! When he rearranged the calendar, he gave his name to his birth month and added a day, so no other month would be longer.

Three presidents died on July Fourth, two of them the same day of the same year... Thomas Jefferson and John Adams died in 1826, and James Monroe in 1831.

Thomson, the poet, called independence "Heaven's next best gift to that of life and an immortal soul!"

"The rockets' red glare, The bombs bursting in air, Gave proof through the night That our flag was still there."

More than a century and a half has passed since Francis Scott Key penned these immortal words. His song, which so eloquently expressed the spirit of '76, has never been more meaningful than in 1940. Today, a United States at peace is firm in its hard-won right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, free from control by nations across the sea.

An ocean lies between us and the bombs bursting in Europe. The rockets whose red glare will paint the skies this Fourth of July will be set off by the hands of peaceful celebrants of America's successful fight for independence.

Did you know that less than 100 miles from the University Texas McDonald Observatory — located on Mount Locke in the Davis mountains — are the oldest living trees on the North American continent and possibly the world? Botanists say they may be 10,000 years old. Microscopes must be used to see their annual rings.

No—I've never had hay fever, and the other day I sneezed in a tone that was positively original, as well as musical.

It's hard for my friends to get any real satisfaction out of a violent attack of hay fever. But science, that purveyor of hope to the hopeless, has now come to bat with a thesis that may make hay fever almost a pleasure.

A professor in the University of Michigan has come to believe that there is a definite relationship between allergy and intelligence. Ten years ago he thought he noted an unusual number of high-honor students among his allergy patients. He kept records. It proved out mathematically, he believes.

So the next time you are rocked and racked by sneezes and reduced to that pitiable pulp that is the fate of the hay fever victim, console yourself with the thought, "Gosh, I'm smart!"

I'll be seeing you MARGIE

In observance of July the 4th we honor the memory of heroes whose sacrifice bears witness that there is character in humanity, faith in men, courage in the world... Let us read again the names of those who died for the preservation of the American tradition of Independence... of spirit, of thought, of action...

As we review their deeds may we acquire in our own hearts part of their valor... May they live again in our renewal of courage... We fail to live up to our heritage when we cease to pay tribute to those who gave their all in carrying through to victory in the dark days of War!

Clients To and Medical Tues. Night

Program For Coming To Be Explained FSA Officials

and clients of the Farm Administration in Lamb County are urged to attend a meeting at the Methodist church Tuesday, July 9, when full details of the medical and group hospital program for the coming year will be explained.

In the past two years the Farm Administration, with the cooperation of the Lamb County health department, has worked out a medical program whereby the clients of the FSA get their medical care for a small fee, based on the size of the family. This fiscal year for this medical program ends June 30 of each year. On the first of July this year it is necessary that a new agreement be worked out between the Farm Administration, the health department, and the clients of the county.

The agreement is the same as in the past, as far as medical care is concerned. Fred Nix, Lamb County farm supervisor for FSA, said that due to the fact that it is necessary in the past for security to make loans or to take care of hospital bills, officials believe that the new agreement will be much more satisfactory to all parties concerned. A. J. Nix, who is head of the medical program for FSA, has been working on an agreement for group hospitalization, whereby, with a fee for approximately $7 per year, will get all hospital bills

Letter Addressed To "Uncle Lee And Aunt Ida" Reaches Right Party

Postal clerks in Littlefield often read addresses on letters written in foreign languages, but W. P. Fewell, postmaster at Fieldton remembers first names of his patrons.

Recently, a letter was received at the local post office addressed, "Uncle Lee and Aunt Ida," with the return address, Zeima, Coan, Botan, Texas. Postal clerks wrote on the letter, "try A. L. Coan, Fieldton."

When Mr. Fewell received the letter, he remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bennett's names were Lese and Ida, so he delivered the letter to their son, Donald, who resides on their farm near Fieldton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, who reside at 820 east Sixth Street in Littlefield, purchased the farm at Fieldton last Spring and Mr. Fewell drew the land deed to the place.

It was unusual for him to remember their first names, but it was convenient for them.

Zeima Coan is Mrs. Bennett's niece, and she graduated from high school at Rotan in May. The letter she sent "Uncle Lee and Aunt Ida" was a thank-you for a gift they had sent her.

There was an attendance of 58 last Sunday. Community singing was held at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium, and at 4 o'clock baptismal services were held at the Hopping Lake near Fieldton. Announcement was made that Brother Williamson, former pastor of his church has accepted an invitation to conduct a revival at the First Baptist Church, beginning Saturday night on July 27.

Mrs. C. C. Turner, principal of the school here last year and who was re-elected to the same position, has resigned to accept a teaching position at West End.

After listening to the news cast over the Radio last Sunday night about the cloudburst and deluge of rain near our State Capitol—the Colorado River by an 18 inch rain which fell in 3 hours—we couldn't help wondering what that much water would do for West Texas if spread out nicely.

"but one ISM in America --and that's AMERICANISM

IT'S GREAT TO BE AN AMERICAN LET'S KEEP IT GREAT

Since the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 these United States have made much history. Time and again there have been national crisis. And time and again the citizens of the land have risen to a successful conquest of besetting evils, strengthening the deep significance of that first Declaration with each new victory, each new gain . . . And beneath those national victories of which we are so justly proud lies that fine, though intangible thing we call American character! It is the thing that accounts for victories both national and personal—the ability to set a course and keep it. That way lies permanent independence!

was spring. At first, emerg- from the shade of the club- into the brilliance of the olina sunshine, Len Rollins saw court and the surrounding ds slightly out of focus. He ds as he went forward, drink- deeply of the still cool air.

the pattering of applause, at first ht, became louder as he ap- ched to where referee, ball boys officials were waiting grouped one side of the court, near a ll table. He peeled off his rac- on a chair, retaining one. applause started again and he ed over his shoulder to see Clark, his thin figure outlined st the green background, com- forward.

"Howya, Rolly?" Clark asked. "Hotten."

They laughed. "To work?" Clark asked. "Sooner we start, sooner we're ough."

The thin young man made a ure with one hand. "Hope that 's all dried up. Looks damp in one corner."

en shrugged. "It didn't rain h, just a couple of hours. We- played on worse."

"Sure we have! Let's go!" they walked out on the sunflod- core. Racquets fell nonchal- urely; the ball danced back- forth between them as they med up.

en was not afraid. He had ed the final at Aiken. The ment all the members of the s Cup team had played in, the rament every Davis Cup hope- had entered in an attempt to recognition. And he had reach- ed the final. Only this thin young a across the net from him — Clark, America's number one and world's number three re- ned. Len was sure of a place on team. They needed him to try to wrest the historic Da- Cup away from the indomita- men, bring it back to Amer-he was a success! That's what ee had wanted him to be. Only —this was a hell of a time to thinking about Grace Worthing-

They were through, finished, ed-up. And it was all her t. She had her fool ideas about not playing tennis. As if a r or two of playing could affect whole life. He was only twenty- l. His whole life lay before — He'd never had anything — says had had to work. Why dnt she see that and under- d that he had to have a year two of fun before he settled n? And this sort of fun was cent. If he batted around with r girls or did a lot of drinking anything like that—then she'd e something to kick about. But ing tennis, and playing it well ough to reach the Aiken final— f it was as silly as unimportant Grace claimed, then why did eing out here with the musical ad of the racquets in his ears, a Don Clark across the net eing noiselessly to and fro, the occasional thunder from stands in his ears, with this idness rampant within him— y did all of this lift him out himself and make him feel like t?

That last scene with Grace old it really have been six (ths ago-) returned clearly, viv- y. It was the day before he was ing to play in the Southern ampionships in Florida. "Marry ow, Grace," he had pleaded. ght away. We'll go south to- er."

"No, Len," she had replied quiet- "I'm afraid. You've promised many times to give up tennis and you're still playing. You'll ably be playing forever."

But it isn't forever, Grace; t you see that. I think I'm y way to win a place on the s Cup team. That's something e dreamed of ever since I first a racquet in my hand. And t that my ambition may be ized I can't give it up. I can't, e miserable, and you would e knowing you were keeping me m something I wanted to do much as I want to go to Europe and help win back the Cup."

He had wanted to take her in his arms but she had taken a step backward.

"No Len. Not this time. You want to play tennis, big-time tennis. And I don't want you to. I don't want to be a tennis bum's wife, traveling all over the world living out of a suitcase. So this is goodbye forever—unless you change your mind. If you get a job and feel you still want me, need me, send me a wire and I'll come."

And then she had turned quickly and run from him and he had thought that she was crying as she ran.

The voice from the top of the referee's ladder broke in on his thoughts.

"Len Rollins versus Don Clark for the Aiken Club championship. Best three sets out of five. Mr.

dead. But only for a second it was dead. Then searing, wracking pain—pain like thousands of nails being driven simultaneously through the ankle—gripped him. A dark and merciful blanket shut out everything.

Getting the job hadn't been so difficult, after all. He had read in the newspaper about a European princess who had found a position as de luxe saleslady in an exclusive women's shop on Fifty-seventh Street. Why then, Len had decided wouldn't a sporting goods organization such as Talbot's with stores throughout the country, possibly want to have someone like him serve their tennis department?

At nine-thirty the morning after his release from the hospital he presented himself at the executive offices of Talbot's Fifth Avenue store. After a short wait he was ushered into Henry Justin's office. He sat in a deep armchair facing Rollins will serve. Are you ready, gentlemen? Linesmen ready?" "Play."

Like a bird getting ready for flight Len poised on his left foot, served. Clark's return of the service was weak. Len went quickly to the net for the kill. "Fifteen-love," came the voice of the referee from above.

Len forgot now, as he ayways did once a match was under way, that people inhabited the earth and that there were grass and sky and air. The crowd in the surrounding stands fell away. A girl named Grace Worthington did not exist. The white ball flying back and forth, the boundaries of the court, the sloping net, Don Clark, crouching, running, sweating on the other side of it—of these only was he aware. This now was his one and only world.

They changed courts and Len realized, with cool elation, that he was leading two games to one. They paused at the table to sip lemon water and wipe the racquet handles. If he could break Don Clark's service he'd have a lead the Davis Cup star would never overcome. It was going to be a battle all right, but he would win.

He gripped his racquet tightly; the ball spun up off the grass. He stroked it to Clark's backhand. The return from Clark was to his own backhand. Drop-shot. Clark racing in frantically, reaching the ball but unable to do anything with it. Coolly Len banged it away.

Back it came, low and hard. Again the racquet flashed and again the "screw ball" was good. He was "on" today all right. The lob was high and deep. He had to go back. Far back and to his left—toward the corner. He ran swiftly, in pursuit of the ball already over his head and quickly descending.

The ground suddenly opened under him. His feet no longer were on firm grass. He was strangely in the air. His arms flayed but failed to find anything to cling to. Don Clark's words flashed alarmingly in his brain: "Hope the courts all dried up. Looks damp in that corner."

He went down heavily, trying desperately to keep his left leg free—and failing. He heard something crack sharply, yet peculiarly muffled. And then his foot went the tall, heavy-set, gray-haired sales manager.

"I read all about it in the papers," Justin said. "Most lamentable."

Len nodded. "One of life's tough breaks, I guess. Naturally," he went on, "I must get to work; forget about tennis now that I'll never be able to play again. I'm looking for a job, Mr. Justin, and I thought perhaps Talbot's might find me of some value."

Justin was silent for a long time. Len watched his face eagerly, but his expression was inscrutable. Only the soft staccato drumming of the well-kept fingernails had relieved the tension.

Finally Justin asked: "You would not be averse, Mr. Rollins, to working in the racquets department? Most of our salesmen start at twenty dollars a week, with commissions of course. But because of the value of your name associated with Talbot's tennis department we would start you with a slightly higher salary. Say twenty-five dollars."

Len leaned forward in his chair. "If it's all the same to you, Mr. Justin," he said evenly. "I'd just as soon start at twenty, like the rest of the beginners."

The sales manager's eyes widened slightly in surprise, but only for an instant. Then suddenly the tattoo against the blotter stopped. "You start at nine tomorrow, Mr. Rollins. Report to Mr. Weir in the racquets department on the fifth floor; he'll show you around."

Len's heart somersaulted. "Thanks, Mr. Justin; I'll do my best."

The elation he felt as he left the Talbot Building defied analysis. His step became suddenly springy despite the limp, as he made his way to the nearest telegraph office and wrote on a yellow blank:

SECURED POSITION WITH TALBOT'S AT TWENTY PER WHEN MAY I EXPECT YOU ANSWER ST ANDREW HOTEL LEN

And as he dined that evening at the modest and inexpensive St. Andrew, after a day of happy, fantastic dreams wherein he was buried under mountainous orders and rose from lowly salesman to Henry Justin's desk, the answer came:

She was crying as she ran.

ARRIVING TOMORROW 6:15 PM MEET ME IF POSSIBLE MUCH LOVE GRACE

There were three other salesmen in the tennis department. Johnson, the youngest, seemed terribly impressed at Len Rollins actually here in the flesh working at his side. He was a tennis enthusiast and had seen Len play more than once. The second salesman, Carey, was slightly condescending, but Len suspected this to be a pose more than anything else; a pose by which he tried to get over to Len Rollins that for all his past glories he was, after all just a salesman like the rest of them.

The third clerk, Martens, was definitely unfriendly. The grip of his hand lacked warmth, and his tone was surly as Len was introduced. Len wondered if perhaps fear for his job caused Martens' unfriendliness.

"Of course," Weir, the manager explained, "you understand that any customers who come in and ask specifically for you are your customers. There's a notice in the morning papers."

Len procured a newspaper and flipped through the first four pages before he saw set in a small oblong space, a dignified announcement:

TALBOT'S Takes pleasure in Announcing the Acquisition to its Racquet Department of Mr. Leonard Rollins American Tennis Star beginning today, June 27th

At first he felt a certain sense of resentment toward Talbot's for having publicized his position. But the advertisement was bound to steer plenty of customers his way,

TWO OIL TEAMS LEAD IN LOCAL SOFTBALL

Wendell Willkie

Games Scheduled For Monday And Tuesday Nights

Panhandle To Scrap Vaughn's, And Phillips 66 To Play CCC Team

The Panhandle Refitting Company Softball team is leading with one game for champions in the local softball league, as the first half of the league nears an end. Phillips 66 team is following for a close second. The deciding game will be played one night next week.

The CCC Camp team, winners of the league in other years, is deepest in the cellar this year. They have only led the score in one of six games played.

The two oil company teams were tied for first place until Monday night, when the Panhandle squad trampled the orange and black crew with a score of 8 and 6.

Panhandle has only been defeated by the Firemen, who have won four games and lost four. The oilers have won five games.

Phillips 66 have a record of winning four games and losing three. Vaughn's Dairy team has made an even break, winning three and losing three games.

Last Thursday night the Firemen turned the hose loose on the Panhandle, winning 10 to 7.

Friday night the orange and black defeated Vaughn's Dairy 7 to 4.

Tuesday night the Fire boys trampled the CCC team 7 to 4.

Games scheduled for this week end will be played next Monday and Tuesday nights, officials reported. Panhandle will scrap with Vaughn's Monday night and Phillips 66 will play to win over the CCC team Tuesday night.

Tourist Cottage Project Underway On Highway Seven

A deal was closed last week end whereby W. G. Todd of Fort Worth purchased the small frame building, and the land in connection therewith, located on Highway 7, East of town, from Gordon Roberts, which has been used as a lumber office.

Construction is underway by Mr. Todd in the erection of a unit of three cottages, which will be completed next week. It is the plan to construct 12 cottages on this property, which will be built as a court with a spacious lawn for the use of the tenants.

It is also the plan of Mr. Todd to put in a sandwich and coffee shop in the front of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Todd came here two weeks ago. He has been in the bakery and creamery business for a number of years.

Mrs. Todd is a sister of Mrs. Jack Sparks of this city.

Distance Doesn't Mean A Thing To This Tom Cat; Take Him Any Place, He'll Be Home Again

Tom sure does like his home in Littlefield!

Tom is a large cat who has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Reid in the Broadacres addition for the past three years.

Recently Tom started catching and eating chickens, so Mr. Reid put him in a gunny sack and took him to the Reid farm, five miles southeast of Littlefield.

Three weeks went by, and one morning Tom was waiting for the Reid family on the back door step. He didn't like farm life.

Three weeks ago Monday Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Reid, who drives a transport truck for a local gas company, and makes daily trips to Odessa, put Tom in a gunny sack and took him to Brownfield, via Lubbock.

Last Saturday morning, Tom had returned, and when the Reid family started their daily chores, found him on the back door step, wanting in the kitchen for milk.

Howard and his sister, Mrs. Jack Wingo, who visited in Pampa last week end, took Tom with them as far as Amarillo, where they again "put him out into the world."

Mr. Reid says he will give Tom three weeks to come from the north plains town. If he returns, they will probably kill the chickens and keep Tom!

The cat has been a household pet, and last winter, Mrs. Reid fed him milk and kept a bed for him, during the daytime, behind the stove. Sometimes he drank a quart of milk a day, she said. He is quite large, and his fur is gray.

After Tom returned from Brownfield, he didn't say where he stopped for his meals, or whether he came back by way of Lubbock, all of those 80 miles. Some cats don't talk much!—Meow.

Employed At New Food Locker Plant

JOHN STANDIFER

Mr. Standifer, a meat cutter of almost 15 years experience, has been engaged in that capacity to work at the frozen food locker plant of the Littlefield Farmers Co-operative Gin. He has been a resident of Littlefield for the past four years, coming here from Lockney.

Lamb County Singing Convention to Meet Here Monday 2 P. M.

The Lamb County Singing Convention will meet at the Littlefield High School Auditorium, Sunday, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when plenty of good singing will be enjoyed.

The public are cordially invited.

Public Invited To Inspect New Food Storage Service

Visitors To Be Escorted Through Plant And All Features Explained

The formal opening of the frozen food locker plant, owned and managed by the Littlefield Farmers Co-operative Gin, will take place this Saturday.

An invitation to the general public to attend the opening has been extended by the directorate and management.

Many persons possess the erroneous belief that lockers may be rented only by members of the Littlefield Farmers Co-operative Gin. Any person may rent a locker . . . farmer, business man, farm or city resident.

The new locker plant is located on the gin property, Highway 51, and just north of the Santa Fe tracks.

Latest Food Preserving Method
Visitors Saturday will be conducted through the plant and every phase of the operation of the business and the service offered, will be explained, Earl Hobbs, manager, announced. Cold drinks will be served.

The new locker plant offers the latest and most modern facilities for the preserving and storage of all kinds of meats, fruits and vegetables. Many plants similar to that erected in Littlefield have been built throughout the country. One of the chief functions of freezing food is to provide an all year around balanced diet.

The Littlefield plant has facilities for 400 lockers with an average capacity of 300 pounds of package meat.

Butcher Is Employed
All meat brought to the plant will be chilled, prepared in cuts desired by locker patrons, wrapped, frozen and stored. Facilities for grinding meat also will be available. Patrons wishing animals slaughtered can make arrangements with the management for this service.

John Standifer, who has about 15 years experience as a meat cutter, has been employed in that capacity at the new locker plant. He came to Littlefield from Lockney about four years ago, and has been employed in Littlefield markets. He is vice-president of the southern half of the Lamb County Singing Convention and is a member of the Littlefield Quartet.

York System Installed
The new locker plant was built under the supervision of Mr. Hobbs with E. J. (Shorty) Newgent as superintendent of construction. It is of stucco construction. The York system for frozen food locker plants was installed by the Panhandle Supply Co., Lubbock. John Bell is the owner of the Panhandle Supply and F. E. Baker was the engineer in charge for the Littlefield installation.

Roy McQuarters is president of the Littlefield Farmers Co-operative Gin, and the directors are J. J. Cook, J. R. Montgomery, J. M. Roberts, and L. C. Gregg.

Salvation Army Celebrates 75th Year With Street Meeting

The 75th anniversary of the Salvation Army was observed in Littlefield Tuesday, July 2, when special street meeting was held 6 p. m.

Local ministers, members of the Advisory Board, Post Commander of the American Legion, Otto Jones, and Homer Hall, city mayor, paid tribute to the Salvation Army. Musical numbers and songs were included on the program.

Seventy-five years ago the Founder of the Salvation Army stopped on one of the streets of East London, and stood on an empty soap box and preached to the people of the district. The people heard the gospel gladly, and he sided that he would devote the remainder of his life to preaching the gospel to the poor and neglected people.

The needs of the poor were so great and varied that the work quickly spread into many sides.

Today, the Salvation Army is teaching the Gospel in more than hundred languages and in 97 countries and colonies. Included in its great work are orphanages, homes for fallen girls, homes for aged, emergency homes for all boys' clubs, and youth organizations for all ages to build character and keep them from the streets.
