an important element to all the people of Littlefield and the Lamb County territory. Stations time purchased from KVOW. Broadcasting of the returns will begin immediately after closing of the polls at 7 p. m., and will continue until the radio audience has received all information of importance bearing on the outcome of the many county and state contests. To Reach All the People It is the endeavor of the newspaper to bring the latest and most complete results to the entire citizenry, whether they are at home, in their automobiles or walking the streets of the city. On former occasions an election board was set up in front of the Leader office. However, this year, in order to better reach the people, wherever they may be, it is planned not only to maintain an on-the-street service at the Leader office, but to broadcast returns by radio as well. For Convenience of Farmers "Whether you are at home in a comfortable chair, walking the streets of Littlefield, or wherever you may be, you will have access to the latest returns," said Morley Drake, publisher of the Lamb County Leader. The radio broadcast will provide latest returns for many farmers, particularly busy at this time, who may not have an opportunity to drive into Littlefield. A similar broadcast was sponsored by the Leader two years ago. In cooperation with Booth Motor Company. Part of Expanding Program The public has been cordially invited to attend the Leader election party, either in person or by means of the radio.

The service is being rendered as a part of an ever-expanding program of the Leader to provide the public with the up-to-the-minute information of all important happenings, Drake said. "You are cordially invited to the Leader election party," Drake said. "Come to it at your Leader office or attend it at home in your easy chair."

Are We Living In A Civilized Country?

Are we living in a civilized country? We would not think so. Just a group of mean boys, or men, as children could not do, should break into the Scout house, and almost completely wreck the place and furniture, which citizens were kind enough to donate to the Girl Scouts, on which they have worked hard to create a nice place to live. It is impossible to understand.

Second Major Wrecking Nelson Naylor, President of the Lamb County Council of Girl Scouts, who is responsible along with a committee, in the securing of a building and outfitting it as a place for the girls to meet, reported a Leader representative Monday that a second major wrecking of the building and contents had taken place. Much Damage Done Mr. Nelson stated that after the doors open, sheetrock was placed to make partitions, tramped on and broken up, 18 window lights broken out, bulbs shot out (apparently by BB guns), tables turned up-down, some of the furniture was out in yard along with kegs which were slip-covered by the girls. The offenders had even thrown rocks and bricks and knock-

VOLUME XXVII. LITTLEFIELD, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1950 NUMBER 42

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Messer

Mrs. T. A. Messer, 72, passed away Tuesday morning at 5:45 o'clock at her home, one mile north of Littlefield, after a week's illness. Mrs. Messer suffered a heart attack about a week ago, and another Tuesday morning, which caused her death. She was a patient of the Payne Shotwell Foundation for a few days and seemingly improved, was taken home the day before her death. Last Rites Wednesday The remains were taken overland by Hammons Funeral Home to Memphis, Texas, where funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, Memphis, Texas, with burial in the cemetery in that city. Pallbearers were: Nell Landrum, Harold Beck, Lloyd Webster, R. Milton Saunders, Marvin Webster and Jude Gable. Mrs. Messer was born April 19, 1878, in Arkansas. She had lived in this area a year, coming here from Fort Worth. She has constructed a new home near the farm of her son, C. H. Messer, one mile north of Littlefield. Survivors include four sons, C. H. Messer, Gordon Messer of Lubbock; Marcus Messer of Earth; and Jeff Messer of Mulshoe, and one daughter, Mrs. Eula Moore of Gainesville. She is also survived by a brother, Will Billard, of Little Rock, Ark. Her husband passed away about nine years ago.

Tee Hays and Son Attend Reunion

A. C. (Tee) Hays and son, James, spent the week end at Clarksville, where they attended a family reunion. The reunion was limited to Mr. Hays' brothers and sisters and their families. There were 67 present. ed asbestos shingles off the outside of the building. This building is located on the school grounds, and fronts on North Westside Ave. This is, indeed, a deplorable condition. Business establishments have donated furniture, the Girl Scout Committee of several local women, have put forth a lot of effort, and Mr. Naylor has taken of his valuable time to assist in the establishing of a Girl Scout hut, only to have the project wrecked before they can get it completed. Mr. Naylor asked the Leader to appeal to the citizens living in the vicinity of the Girl Scout building, to keep on the lookout for would be offenders, and should they see anyone trespassing to phone Mr. Naylor or the police. Citizens of Littlefield will be doing a worthwhile deed in carrying out this suggestion. In the meantime it's going to take a lot of work and planning to fix up the wrecked building.

Jayettes Plan Annual Style Show

At the regular meeting of the Jayettes Tuesday evening officers for the ensuing year were installed as follows: President Mrs. Nig Whitson; Vice-President, Mrs. George Kirk; Treasurer, Mrs. Durwood Yantis; Secretary, Mrs. Hugo Beyer; Historian, Mrs. Elmo Jones; Reporter, Mrs. Terrell Pettit. Plans were discussed by the group for the holding of their annual style show, which was set for September 1, and a committee was appointed to make all arrangements. The committee is composed of Mrs. E. E. Wesley, Mrs. Durwood Yantis, Mrs. Allan Chambers and Mrs. Bill Holder.

Moisture More Than Sufficient For Crop Needs

Thunderstorms brought high winds, crop-damaging hail and heavy rains to many parts of the county this week. Several hundred acres of cotton six miles east of Littlefield were reported destroyed or badly damaged by hail which fell during an electrical storm late Tuesday. The hail was reported to have begun about seven miles east of Littlefield on Oklahoma avenue and to have turned south and reached Yellowhouse gin. The exact amount of damage will not be known until surveys can be made among individual farmers. A total of 1.35 inches of rainfall were reported to have fallen in Littlefield between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. The rain was preceded by an intense electrical storm which darkened the city with dust and sent pedestrians scurrying for shelter. Eight Inches on Highway Roy Neal, editor of the weekly newspaper at Earth, said a downpour Monday afternoon in a four to eight mile belt west of Earth left seven to eight inches of water across Highway 70 and caused considerable crop damage. Hereford received 5.36 inches of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. today, the United Press reported. Light Showers in Amherst Farmers in Lamb County reported at the end of last week that they had all the moisture needed for the present time. Additional rain has been reported, however, in almost every sector of the county. The recent rains are more than sufficient for crop needs at this time. However, the moisture which has been received in the past ten days will go a long way towards putting a better season in the ground for future crops. The downpour that fell in the Amherst area last week eased up somewhat. Only .25 of an inch were reported after a light shower Tuesday. 5,000 Acres Cotton Destroyed H. G. Richards, editor of the Anton News, reported only light showers so far this week. Heavy wind and sand have swept there, but no hail. Approximately 5,000 acres of cotton were stripped and battered by hail Monday night in Central Crosby county, surveys Tuesday showed.

Series of Meetings To Be Held for 4-H Boys and Girls

During the next two weeks Mrs. Xie M. Collins, acting county home demonstration agent, and James G. Simmons, assistant county agent, will hold a series of joint meetings for the Lamb County 4-H girls and boys. Parents have been invited and urged to attend. Meetings are scheduled for 8 p. m. for the convenience of those busy in the fields at this season. Mrs. Collins said. Films, including one on safety in behalf of National Farm Safety week, will be shown. National Farm Safety week was designated as July 23-July 29. Plans for the annual county 4-H camp will be made during the meeting. Places and dates of the meetings are: Thursday, July 20—Springlake. Friday, July 21—Sudan. Monday, July 24—Littlefield. Friday, July 28—Olton. Monday, July 31—Spade. Tuesday, August 1—Amherst.

throughout the area. Recent showers and rains during the past two weeks, unusually heavy for this period, substantially boosted the growth and left a generally high moisture level in most South Plains counties. While additional moisture will be needed, a majority of the area could go until August 1 without additional rains and still not be seriously hurt.

HOCKLEY COUNTY — Grain sorghum acreage this year shows a 260 percent increase over last season's crop of 85,000. The present acreage is estimated by County Agent Arlie B. Forehand of Levelland as at least 250,000. He said the crop might include even more land. Cotton is on approximately 175,000 acres. While some fields are weedy the crop is generally in good shape.

Rains in the last two weeks have slowed work. At Levelland the fall so far this month has been between three and four inches while some parts of the county have received as much as eight inches.

The approximately 2,000 acres of alfalfa are reported in good to excellent condition. Some fleahoppers and lyceus bugs have been found in some cotton, but so far have done little damage.

HALE COUNTY—An increase of 100,000 acres in grain sorghum has been achieved this year, making the total acreage near 225,000. County Agent Ollie Liner of Plainview said. Both the grain sorghum and the cotton, covering 85,000 acres, are in good shape.

Moisture level is good throughout the county while insect trouble so far has been light and confined to fleahoppers.

Only corn is suffering any setbacks among the other crops. Bud worms are doing some damage to the present crop. 10,000 acres planted. Alfalfa planted on 10,000 acres is good while the 400 acres of sugar beets were described by Liner as unusually good. The small onion and baham clover crops are reported as satisfactory.

BAILEY COUNTY Only about 12,000 acres of cotton are in good condition after a prolonged drought. Grain sorghum acreage is expected to be close to 200,000. County Agent J. K. Adams of Muleshoe said. Last year's grain sorghum planting was about 40,000 acres. Recent rains, however, have slowed farm work. Crops in tomatoes, green beans, watermelons and potatoes are reported good.

COCHRAN COUNTY—Approximately 100,000 acres in grain sorghum are expected here. Only 45,000 acres were planted in 1949. Cotton acreage is 45,000 although the allotment was 52,000. Lack of rain during the planting season forced the setback in cotton.

Price outlook on the crop is not as good. The new government support level has been cut to an average of $1.57 per 100 pounds compared to last year's price floor of 2.00. Increased production expected elsewhere in Texas and other states might also contribute to a surplus that could lower general prices.

KEYNOTE: SIMPLICITY
(A Short Story)
By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

NO ONE had better cause for murder than Jewett. For five years he had been making his plans. Tonight he would kill Geoffrey McElroy and no one would suspect him of the crime.

The motive was age-old: A woman's love. She had chosen McElroy. Her decision had been a knife-thrust in Jewett's heart, yet none of the bitterness, the hatred, that he felt was betrayed. This in itself would divert suspicion. He had pretended to be McElroy's friend. The friends of both had thought him such.

He had gone over every minute detail a hundred times. Over and over he had reminded himself that a murderer always made one mistake. Always one clue was left behind. He, Jewett, would make no slips.

Jewett's mind raced. No, there was no need for alarm yet. The thing to do was continue to act.

Deliberately, like acting a part in a drama that he had rehearsed many times, Jewett raised the automatic, pointed it and fired.

McElroy slumped forward on his desk. Jewett hesitated, making sure that the man was dead, then set to work.

Without undue haste, he wiped the automatic free of finger-prints with his handkerchief, placed the weapon in McElroy's limp hand,

"A friend of yours was murdered last night," the bigger of the men said softly.

Jewett sat very still. It was his impulse to blurt: "Murdered? How do you know he was murdered?" But he didn't. That would be a dead give away.

Instead he looked shocked. "A friend of mine? Who?"

"Chap named McElroy. Geoffrey McElroy."

Jewett leaped to his feet. "Geoff McElroy! Murdered! Why—I can't believe it!" A nice bit of acting, if he did say so.

The policeman nodded. "The janitor found him in his office when he came to clean up. He was sprawled across his desk, a bullet hole through his forehead, an automatic clutched in his hand."

Jewett's mind raced. No, there was no need for alarm yet. The thing to do was continue to act.

"It seems incredible! You say there was an automatic clutched in his hand? But—but that sounds like suicide!"

The policeman eyed Jewett closely. Curiously Jewett felt an icy hand clutching at his heart. It required a tremendous effort to keep his eyes on those of the officer.

"It wasn't suicide," the policeman was saying. "Discovering that was the simplest part of it."

"Simple? But it sounds to me—"

"Pshaw! The man who did the shooting was a rookie at murder. The bullet hole was in the center of McElroy's head. That indicated that the killer was standing in front of him. The automatic which shot the bullet ejects its empty cartridges backwards and to the right. He found this one to the left, indicating that McElroy couldn't have shot himself. Also, death was instantaneous and the dead man's hand was grasping the gun in such a manner that he would have had to let go and grab it again after shooting himself, which, of course, was impossible. See?"

Huston Hoover

ry Pass, Elwood Smith, Bob Hoover, Tad Carlisle and Walter Still, left Littlefield June 21, stayed in Lubbock until June 23, spent one day and night in the nation's capital and arrived at Valley Forge June 27. Altogether 90 scouts and adults attended the Jamboree from the Plains area. A total of 46,634 scouts and adults, 5,000 of which were Texans, attended the affair.

Of all the groups the Texans proved to be the best-disciplined when the necessity arose, Hoover said. "Maybe I could be prejudiced," he added.

Traded Everything
From June 27 to June 30 were days spent in a Jamboree Shake-down, in which scouts set up camp and traded. They traded everything from omelets and burros to pocket knives, horned toads and snails. A good, live Texas horned toad would bring $1.50, Hoover said. A troop of Canadians and Nova Scotians traded off everything except one complete uniform which they said they needed before they would be permitted to re-cross the Canadian border.

Two Texas horned rabbits, mounted by Dean Thornton, were displayed and traded by the Littlefield group. Hoover estimated 50,000 people had seen the rabbits.

Truman Speaks
At 10:00 a. m., June 30, President Harry S. Truman formally opened the Jamboree with a speech.

The Valley Forge Story, a portrayal of what happened there almost 175 years ago, was presented Friday night.

Sunday morning, July 2, seven-teen groups of all religious faiths gathered together in a square mile radius to worship. The main event, as far as the adults were concerned, came Sunday night at the Scout's Convocation, when they rededicated themselves to liberty and freedom. Approximately 12,000 boys took part in the program.

Hour, 15 Minutes Fireworks
The candle-lighting ceremony was something no adult who saw it would ever forget, Hoover said. When the order, "Light your candles," came over the public address system, forty thousand tiny lights flared. It seemed all one movement, the scoutmaster said.

An hour and fifteen minutes of fireworks and a talk by General Dwight D. Eisenhower on July 4 formed the climax for the scouts.

After the jamboree the Littlefield group drove to New York City, Niagara Falls, through Canada and Detroit before coming home July 7.

slight prayer meeting will be able to attend.

The Littlefield Four may be secured to provide music for the rally.

A hat will be passed, or some other means will be taken for collecting contributions to the Anti Polio Campaign, Smith said.

The Jaycees estimate that if each household contributes $1.00, the amount collected will be sufficient to carry out the campaign successfully.

Owners of vacant lots and those who have large, weed-filled yards, have been urged to mow tall grass and clean up their premises to destroy insect-breeding places and thereby lessen the danger of contamination.

The house-to-house canvass planned earlier by the Jaycees will not be put into operation until the results of other means of collecting contributions are learned. "Skipper" Smith said if enough money is collected through direct voluntary contributions, the house-to-house canvass plan will be abandoned.

City Engineer Ralph Douglas is now making tests to determine whether fogging with liquid or dusting with powder is the most effective means of killing flies, mosquitoes and other insects. The best method, whichever it is, will be used.

The City has put their dusting machine to work twice already.

Last year Joe Walters of Walters Drug Store furnished free of charge a crop-dusting plane and all other necessary equipment except chemicals for aerial dusting. Smith said he believes Walters would do the same thing this year, if sufficient funds are raised for the purchase of the chemicals.

Pair Has Two Children
No reason for the victim's wearing mannish clothes was given by either of the women.

The victim said she was the mother of an 18-month-old boy. The Davis woman said a 16-month-old girl was her daughter. Shortly before boarding a bus at noon Saturday the Davis woman said she was on her way to Little Rock. She carried her child in her arms.

Does Work of Man
Both children were under the care of the Davis woman at the time of the accident. She said she had been caring for the two children, and that the injured woman had been working on various jobs as a man since the couple began traveling together two months ago. She claimed she was unaware the victim was not a man.

The victim reported for work at 7 a. m. Friday on schedule and proceeded to perform all the duties expected on the job lifting heavy sacks of cement and pushing wheelbarrows carrying loads of as much as 250 pounds.

Falls in Gears
Ferguson said fellow workmen reported they did not suspect the woman was not a man during the four hours before the accident.

While walking over grating covering a set of machine gears, the victim stumbled and her foot fell through, engaging in the gears which chewed upward beyond the ankle. Welders were called in to cut the gears to free her.

She first told officers she was from Danbury in Brazoria County. Late Friday officers contacted a brother who lives in Alvin. No relatives of the Davis woman had Deputy Sheriff Dyer said invesigation indicated the couple and two infants came to this area recently. The victim had worked a few days on a farm, driving a tractor and doing odd jobs.

Littlefield Trio Injured Seriously In Auto Crash

Three residents of Littlefield were injured, two of them seriously, when their car crashed head-on into a truck 33 miles south of San Angelo on U. S. Highway 87 Saturday night. The driver of the truck, Landrum W. Pavey of Midland, was killed instantly.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moore and daughter-in-law, Barbara Thomas, all of Littlefield, were taken to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo after the accident. Moore, 47, a carpenter of Littlefield, suffered a punctured lung and several broken ribs. He was under an oxygen tent Sunday, and was reported to be in serious condition.

Broken Back
Mrs. Moore, who had vertebrae broken in her back, was placed in a cast, and is reported also to be in serious, if not critical, condition.

Mrs. Thomas' injuries, which included scratches on her face and an injured leg, were not thought to be serious.

G. E. Moore, also of Littlefield and father of L. E. Moore, went with his wife and two more of their children to San Angelo Sunday.

Main theme of the meeting will be "Communications Disaster Preparedness and Social Histories." The Red Cross has been asked to help set up the Civilian Defense Council by furnishing first aid instructors and other instructors trained for emergency measures," said Mrs. Brandon.

Moisture More Than Sufficient For Crop Needs

Thunderstorms brought high winds, crop-damaging hail and heavy rains to many parts of the county this week.

Several hundred acres of cotton six miles east of Littlefield were reported destroyed or badly damaged by hail which fell during an electrical storm late Tuesday. The hail was reported to have begun about seven miles east of Littlefield on Oklahoma avenue and to have turned south and reached Yellowhouse gin. The exact amount of damage will not be known until surveys can be made among individual farmers.

A total of 1.35 inches of rainfall were reported to have fallen in Littlefield between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. The rain was preceded by an intense electrical storm which darkened the city with dust and sent pedestrians scurrying for shelter.

Eight inches on Highway Roy Neal, editor of the weekly newspaper at Earth, said a downpour Monday afternoon in a four to eight mile belt west of Earth left seven to eight inches of water across Highway 70 and caused considerable crop damage. Hereford received 5.36 inches of

We Living In Civilized Country?

Living in a civilized country should not think so. Just a group of mean boys, or even as children could not break into the house, and almost completely wreck the place and furnish citizens were kind to donate to the Girl Scouts, which they have worked to create a nice place to be impossible to understand.

ed asbestos shingles off the outside of the building. This building is located on the school grounds, and fronts on North Westside Ave.

This is, indeed, a deplorable condition. Business establishments have donated furniture, the Girl Scout Committee of several local women, have put forth a lot of effort, and Mr. Naylor has taken of his valuable time to assist in the establishing of a Girl Scout hut, only to have the project wrecked before they can get it completed.

Major Wrecking

Mr. Naylor, President of the County Council of Girl Scouts, who is responsible along with the committee, in the securing of the materials to meet, report- er representative Monday a second major wrecking building and contents had been done.

Mr. Naylor asked the Leader to appeal to the citizens living in the vicinity of the Girl Scout building, to keep on the lookout for would be offenders, and should they see anyone trespassing to phone Mr. Naylor or the police.

Citizens of Littlefield will be doing a worthwhile deed in carrying out this suggestion. In the meantime it's going to take a lot of work and planning to fix up the wrecked building.

NEAR HOME

They say the third time is charm. If the old adage holds true there should be magic in these words. Of course, there won't be. But this is the third paper in which "Near Home" has appeared above words describing what the newspaper sees but can't work into a story.

It happened the first time in the Woodsboro News, Woodsboro (Refugio County), Texas, where the author dried his journalistic wings under the careful and very capable surveillance of Carter Snooks, owner of both the News and the Refugio Timely Remarks.

Near Home, in those days, was composed of the remains in the strainer after the author was sifted through eighteen hours a day editing, selling advertising, writing news and sweeping the floor of the Woodsboro News; and managing the Woodsboro Chamber of Commerce. If Carter Snooks, a real newspaperman with a degree of patience rare in any man, had not been as he was, Near Home would have died an early death.

Near Home next appeared in the San Patricio County News, Sinton, Texas, where it was discontinued in October, 1948, when the author slid all the way below the border into the Republic of Mexico. One year there was spent as a livestock inspector for the Commission Mexico-Americana Para la Erradicacion de la Fiebre Aftosa (Hoof and Mouth Disease Commission) under the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The remainder of the time was spent writing a book and studying the Spanish language in Mexico City.

The newspaper bug that bit Near Home long ago and gave him this disease got the best of him again. So, back to the States, hence Littlefield, Texas, hence the Lamb County Leader, and Near Home is born again.

The newspaper trade and the radio have one great advantage over all the others. They give one a chance to tout one's own horn. This column has done little else so far. From now on, however, it will concern you.

You know about Near Home. Now let's hear about you.

Hughes Family Holds Reunion

The Hughes family, many of whom live in the Lamb County area, held a family reunion in McKenzie State park of Lubbock.

A total of 71 attended the reunion, including children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the deceased Lank Hughes, Altus, Oklahoma; Jim Hughes, Seminole, Texas; Warner Tarlton Hughes, Hollis, Oklahoma, and the late Mrs. Kate Hancock, Sherman, Texas.

Twelve children were present. The Lank Hugheses were Claud Lannie, Altus, Texas, age 71; O'Neal, California, age 71; Lannie, Altus, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Nina Stallings, Altus, Oklahoma.

The Jim Hughes family included Jim Hughes, Jr., of Fort Worth; Harry, Karl and Robert of Seminole, Texas, and their sister, Miss Leon Hughes, Seminole.

The Warner Tarlton Hughes family included Guy T. Hughes of Levelland, Texas; Mrs. Ann Hughes Smith, Littlefield, and Miss Kate Hughes, Hollis, Oklahoma.

Norman Hancock of Tahoka was Mrs. Kate Hancock's son.

Ages ranged from 91 (Uncle Marion Scott of Hart, Texas) to 6-month-old Linda Gayle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hughes, Amherst.

Eight from California and seven from Oklahoma attended. The remainder were from various points in Texas. One of these came from Brownsville, two from Houston, eight from Fort Worth and the remainder from near Lubbock and on the South Plains.

Several of those attending had not met one another in thirty-five years or longer. Many had never met.

Meeting kinfolks and talking over old times were the highlights for the older persons, while younger members of the family spent the time getting acquainted for the first time. Youngest spent a happy day playing in the park.

The bountiful picnic lunch spread at noon in one of the park houses was not conducive to eating.

Group pictures and many snapshots and moving pictures were made during the afternoon. Singing hymns brought the most unforgettable reunion to a close.

L. E. Martin, father of Mrs. Guy T. Hughes and Mrs. Jack Hughes' father, who lives in Fort Worth, were guests.

Red Cross Gives Instructions On Persons In Korea

New instructions for handling inquiries regarding persons in Korea were received this week by Mrs. L. M. Brandon, executive secretary of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

A six-point program for guidance of the Littlefield chapter in advising persons of Littlefield and Lamb county about steps which may be taken to locate next-of-kin in cases of extreme emergency was included in the bulletin.

Home Service, national headquarters, will accept inquiries concerning the welfare and location of dependents of armed forces personnel presumed to be in Korea or who are being evacuated to Japan, the bulletin said.

Routine welfare inquiries, however, regarding military personnel would not be accepted by the local chapter, according to the communication.

Communications facilities to Korea have been temporarily suspended—probably a result of the loaded wires caused by the tension over the Korean situation. When relatives cannot send reports regarding emergencies at home directly to servicemen, therefore, the Red Cross has no means of transmitting them.

Inquiries or reports of emergency at home will be turned over to the military for their decision, the bulletin stated.

LICENSE TO PRACTICE RESTORED . . . Dr. Herman N. Sander, with his wife, speaks on the telephone at their Candia, New Hampshire, home to his friends and patients who called to congratulate the doctor on his being reinstated into the medical profession recently. Dr. Sander's medical license was revoked last April after he was acquitted of a "mercy slaying" charge.

Fogging A Positive Means Of Combating Disease-Bearing Insects

Which community will polio paralyze next with a crippling epidemic? That is a question everyone asks and none can answer. But Texas is meeting polios challenge with all the vigor and enterprise at its command. Throughout the State communities are waging comprehensive clean-up campaigns in an effort to forestall a recurrence of the 1948 and 1949 record total incidence rate.

In 1948 a record total of 1,765 cases were reported which affected 160 of the State's 254 counties, with the most severe polio outbreaks occurring in the Rio Grande Valley and along the Gulf.

In 1949 the cities of San Angelo and San Antonio felt the hardest impact of the crippling disease, with the incidence rate paralleling that of the previous year through the month of June.

With polio then at the epidemic stage, San Antonio hastily organized for the emergency and through the coordinated efforts of the Public Health Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, State and City Health Departments, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, numerous civic clubs and fraternal organizations, military installations, intense and wide-spread publicity given the "Dollar-for-Dusting" drive by the San Antonio Express and San Antonio Evening News, and the dramatic use of the local National Guard Air Force with its planes flying "missions," alone and in formation, swooping low and spraying mapped areas of the city at intervals over a period of weeks, helped arouse public interest to the realization of the grave problem at hand. It encouraged the financial support of the citizens in providing ample funds for a subsequent and more thorough fogging of the city by ground-fogging units.

DDT fogging, as applied by TIFA (Todd Insecticidal Fogging Applicator), is recognized as the most effective, practical and economical method of fogging large, and often inaccessible areas, with insecticides and liquid solutions to kill or control disease-bearing insects and larvae, in that the fogging applicator is available as a single unit for mounting on pickup truck, jeep, boat or other vehicles.

TIFA fog is not in itself a polio "cure." It is not a "medicine," and it is not a poison! It is harmless to humans, animals and vegetation! It is a very positive means of combating flies, mosquitoes and other disease-bearing insects which health authorities and epidemiologists now agree are carriers of poliomyelitis, infant diarrhea and other contagious viruses and infections.

"Stop Polio BEFORE It Starts!," an informative and interesting file prepared by Martin-Smith Co., 325 S. Salado St., San Antonio, Southwestern Distributors of TIFA, is available to municipalities, civic clubs and fraternal organizations, upon request and without charge, who are interested in the physical welfare of their citizens. It outlines, in detail, how their communities can be alerted to the ever present threat of dreaded polio and infant diarrhea, and through coordinated efforts become healthier places in which to live.

Until final victory is won it is the responsibility of every citizen to avoid hysteria should this crippling disease strike his city, and to observe these five precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for safeguarding children from polio: Avoid CROWDS; avoid OVER-FATIGUE; avoid swimming in POLLUTED WATER; avoid SUDDEN CHILLING; and observe the Golden Rule of PERSONAL CLEANLINESS.

Agriculture Exhibit At Fair To Feature Techniques To Raise Income

The Mid-Century presentation of Texas agriculture during the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-22, will feature a greater variety of farm products and highly developed techniques and procedures designed to raise farm incomes, Ray W. Wilson, agriculture department manager, has announced.

Progress of this two-billion dollar industry will be displayed in colorful and spectacular exhibits in the Agriculture Building, he said. The agricultural extravaganza will be colorfully showcased by the Lambert Landscape Company, Dallas, for greater eye appeal.

An outstanding exhibit of Texas soil and soil characters will be featured in the Texas A&M College display. Demonstrations on soil testing and information on plant foods will be given daily.

The Soil Conservation Service and the Texas Foundation will show actual living and growing specimens of more than 40 leading varieties of grasses. Grass is fast becoming Texas' leading crop because of its importance to the beef and dairy industries, Wilson said.

The Conservation Service exhibit will be located in the Agriculture Building. The Texas Research Foundation will develop a permanent outdoor display, located across the street from the building.

Supplementing the grass show will be an educational exhibit demonstrating research carried on by the Plant Research Institute of Texas University in the development of grass farming.

Mid-Century achievements of Texas agricultural researchers and "working farmers" will be displayed through exhibits of leading crops, rural youth activities, irrigation and forestry.

Colorful crop phase displays will include exhibits of wheat, cotton, citrus fruits, grain sorghums, pecans, peanuts, rice, sweet potatoes, vegetables and other leading crops.

A huge, animated "horn of plenty" showing leading farm products in all their natural beauty will tell the story of the growth and development of Texas agriculture.

Walter W. Cardwell, Luling, has been named general superintendent of the Agriculture Show.

Will Wilson, veteran of America's World War II Pacific campaign, this week was winding up his campaign for place one on the Supreme Court of Texas with scores of talks and conferences over the state emphasizing his stand against court-packing or court-fettering.

"The sane and wise check and balance of politically undominated courts which our forefathers established is an heritage vital to human rights, dignity and justice," Wilson said as he unwound his final week's campaigning in Houston Monday, July 17. Ranging thereupon across the state, the racket-smashing Dallas district attorney and former assistant state attorney general described himself as "all along unalterably opposed to loading our courts in any manner to pre-determine their rulings."

SERMONETTE

By Rev. L. Pruitt, Pastor of S. T. Baptist Church (Col.) Littlefield, Texas

Text, Matt. 6: 14-15.
"For if ye forgive men of their trespasses, your Heavenly Father will forgive you, but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your heavenly Father forgive your trespasses."

It is an honor for a man to cease from strife, but every fool will be meddling. Prov. 20: 3.

"Whosoever stoppeth eases the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself but shall not be heard. Prov. 29: 3.

"For he shall have judgment without mercy that have shewed no mercy."

Jesus forgave. He is yet between man and God as a great mediator pleading in the defense of men and we cannot have an advocate with him until man and man become reconciled.

Our route to heaven is by our Brother's home. We are in wars. Rumors of wars. Matt. 24: 6.

Tribal wars. Political wars. Financial wars. Domestic wars. Christian religious wars. They differ.

It is spiritual and not carnal, is for God and not the devil. Of all the multiplicity of sin, there is a forgiving God. There is a pleading Savior waiting for the return of this Prodigal World.

Davis, a graduate of Littlefield High school, is one of the better- known athletes of this city. He attended Texas Technological Col- lege at Lubbock for more than one year, and made one of the highest scores for mental aptitude ever made at the local recruiting office, Sgt. Cutshall reported.

Davis said he hoped to be assign- ed as an instructor of physical training at some airforce base, or sent to officers candidate school. He is the first Littlefield man to volunteer since the new draft law went into effect.

Morris, a graduate of Sudan High school, also attended Texas Technological college for more than one year. He is the nephew of Homer Morris, mayor of Sudan, and has been employed for several months as a printer at the Sudan News.

Also a high scorer on the initial IQ test at the Littlefield recruit- ing station, Morris said he hoped to be either assigned as a printer on an airforce base, or to be sent to officers candidate school.

"Happiness Comes From Within"

MRS. EVELYN BIRCHLER, Newton, Mass., writes me that she has just begun to live. Until a short time ago she lived wholly for herself. Even in doing for her family, she says she was still living for herself, inasmuch as she was living and doing for her own.

She had suffered an inferiority complex since childhood, wholly unwarranted, but still it was there. This caused her to think of others as not being her friends, and as a consequence she didn't like people. She told her- self that people were hateful. She had never ad- mitted the Big Truth that all people have some wonderful qualities, and all have faults. She saw only the faults. Of course, she was unpopular.

Then one day she read somewhere that "Happi- ness comes from within." Did it? Does it? Well, there was nothing within her prompting her to be happy. This sentence, however, stuck in her memory. She began to note others who were happy; they didn't seem to have so much more than she had to make them happy; some of them didn't have anywhere near as much. She listened to some of her friends as they talked, even as they talked of troubles. She began to show real interest in them. She felt better after she had assumed this helpful attitude. One day she loaned her automobile to a prospective mother who was due at the hospital. Now she did feel better, more kindly toward the world and its people. Then she did other nice little neighborly acts. Felt better after everyone of them. There were so many nice people in the world that she felt like smiling. So she did. That seemed to loosen ten- sion somewhere, so she adopted the smiling habit.

She says all she has now that contributes to unhappiness is her regret over the wasted years when she hadn't learned what she now knows.

Littlefield Legion Loses To Olton

After a hard-fought Friday, Olton defeated Littlefield 10-7 in the local diamond to tie for first place honors with Plainview in the north half of district 2 of the Junior American Legion softball league.

With Jones doing most of the pitching for Littlefield, Friday the team took a hard job in the 1st inning when Olton brought home four runs. In the third and fourth, however, Littlefield came back to tie the score 6-6.

Galston was pitched the winning game for Olton, during four no-hit innings.

In the 5th, Olton came ahead with one run, only to be tied again in the 7th.

In the extra inning Olton brought in three runs, two of them from errors, and won the ball game.

The two winning teams, Olton and Plainview of the north half of district 2 of the Junior American Legion softball league, left Monday for Lubbock where they will be pitted against Lubbock and Lovelland winners of the south half.

The two north-district teams piled up 21 wins out of 32 games played, showing a percentage of .657.

In third place with eight wins from 22 games Littlefield finished with a percentage of .367.

Other teams in order of their status are Floydham, Amherst, Himeshow and Earth. Earth retires from the league earlier.

Both Lovelland and Lubbock have a percentage of .517. It was not known which of the two teams from the south half of the district, which includes 18 counties, would play Olton or Plainview.

Vernon Hofack, manager of the Littlefield team, said a coin would be flipped in Lubbock to determine whether Olton would play Lovelland and Plainview play Lubbock, or vice versa.

The winner of the district 2 championship will go to bi-district Hofack said.
