

Weather Keeps County In Turmoil

Nearly News

BY BETTY WILLIAMS

Lots of good stories are coming out of Monday night's emergency. Jim Mangum was one of the battery of volunteers who worked frantically to telephone the entire populace and warn them about the encroaching tornado.

His one-sided conversation went something like this:

"This is Jim Mangum. A tornado is approaching. You are warned to take the necessary precautions."

After receiving such a warning, Susan Wilemon went back to the phone to try to round up her family. Everytime she picked up the phone, all she could get was more of the same.

"This is Jim Mangum. You are warned to take necessary precautions"

Finally, she interrupted his monologue and said,

"Jim, what precautions do you think we should take?"

After a brief silence came the reply,

"Well, I'm not sure This is Jim Mangum. A tornado is approaching. You are warned"

And through all the turmoil, the town's ardent bridge players responded with the valor you would expect.

It was the regular meeting of the Toastmistress club which is made up of some of our true bridge enthusiasts.

The players calmly continued through the thunder and lightning . . . and were undaunted by the warnings of the police sirens.

Finally, Alvin Webb called Janie and excitedly told her she must come home immediately. The police had stopped at his mother's house and insisted she get to shelter. There was no doubt, we were really in for trouble.

Janie agreed that there was real danger and that she should take the whole thing seriously and come home. However, like a real trooper, she calmly replied,

"But Alvin, I MUST finish this hand."

SEEKING REFUGE in the county courthouse basement Monday night, these people were among hundreds in the county who sought shelter as tornados threw a scare into the area. About 100 persons went to the courthouse. SEE STORY BELOW.

Here's What Happened When They Said:

'A Tornado's Coming'

By Bill Turner

Lamb County tensed Monday night as sirens wailed all over the county, and the populace waited uneasily as one word kept it on guard for 76 minutes.

The word was "Tornado!"

In Littlefield, city police and the county sheriff's department blasted out warnings at 9:30 p. m., sending their officers screaming through streets with sirens going full.

At Olton, fire trucks raced through the city roaring warnings from their shrill, piercing horns.

The immediate reaction from the first warnings was "What is it?" Most people in Littlefield thought that officers were after burglars as police cars dashed up and down streets sending their spotlights toward homes and keeping their sirens at full blast.

But the rumor, and it turned out to be fact, of tornados in the area soon reached everyone in the county. Some heard it on television and radio, others got the word from their neighbor, and still others drove to the county courthouse to ask law officers.

Some headed for the safest parts of their homes, others for stores, others in the county courthouse. But many, many persons stood on their front porches watching the sky that lit up at intervals as lightning made its jagged marks.

Many persons, too, went out sightseeing. The curious drove through the city making the job harder for police to get through Littlefield with their warnings.

But through it all, there seemed to be no wholesale panic. It cannot be said that the people of Littlefield were "ready," however, and if a tornado had ravaged this city, there possibly would have been many, many deaths.

Even so, there were heroes in the 76-minute period that seemed like 76 hours. Many of them went unidentified, because people were too concerned about the weather to remember names or individuals.

One of them was Charles Jones, the county clerk, who stood at the door of the county courthouse, directing persons to the basement of the building and reassuring them that they would be safe there if the tornado hit.

Two others were an unidentified couple who walked out in the weather when the storm was still coming to lead an aged couple to the courthouse.

But the largest share of honors went to city police and the sheriff's department, who ranged far out into the storm area tracking the tornado and relaying their information via radio to Sheriff Dick Dyer in the radio room at the courthouse.

During the height of the storm, one officer anxiously reported:

"The cloud is about seven miles south and one west of Littlefield now and is dipping down. I can see the funnel now! It's got the rumble of a freight train along with it. We're leaving! It's getting too close!"

Down in the basement of the courthouse, people sat along the walls and remained calm.

"We should have had some way of knowing what the sirens meant," Mrs. Hamp McCary said. "We all thought the police were chasing burglars at first," she continued.

The 76-minute period was not without its humorous moments. A man standing in the southwest door of the courthouse knocked over a milk bottle and it broke up. Immediately, heads turned in that direction. "Well, I hope that's all the damage this tornado does," a woman laughed.

Sheriff Dyer sat through the period at his radio desk, monitoring reports from Whiteface, where the storm was first sighted, Levelland, Anton, and from his own deputies in patrol cars.

One man, an employee of Norman Enfinger, called in to Dyer during the storm and reported that "hail as big as golf balls" was falling at the Enfinger farm. He said that the farm had a half-foot of hail on it when he called.

On numerous occasions, deputies reported that the storm was headed straight for Littlefield, and of two funnels which were spotted, one dissipated as it got directly over the city.

At one storm cellar, 17 persons were huddled together as the door fell down. They looked up startled, thinking that the tornado had hit. On the other side of the door, however, stood a man who said:

"Well, the all clear's been sounded. It's over."

It was 10:46 p. m.

Tornados Throw Scare Into Area

Rains Saturday night followed by tornadic conditions Monday night kept Lamb County farmers and businessmen alike wondering what to expect next after more than a week of unpredictable weather.

The weather bureau put out another bulletin late Tuesday afternoon for another weather-troubled period in the western half of the Panhandle.

Moisture for the period ending after Monday night's tornadic conditions was 7.20 inches for the year in Littlefield, with 3.31 of that coming in May. It was considered high at this time of the year.

The Monday night turbulence resulted in only .18 of an inch of rain in Littlefield, but it sent people all over the county scurrying for shelter as three tornados threatened the area for about two hours.

One funnel developed near Anton, passing this area quickly. Two others, however, both of which developed south of Littlefield, caused the most alarm here.

The tornado which sent city and county law officers out with sirens blazing was one which was first spotted near Whiteface about 9 p. m. Whiteface radioed Littlefield about 9:30 p. m. that the funnel was headed this way.

Patrolmen tracked the funnel as it neared this area and found it to be heading the usual northeasterly direction. It passed east of Littlefield near Anton at about 10 p. m.

The second tornado to alarm Littlefield was first discovered seven miles south and one west of the city by officers. People anxiously waited as reports at the sheriff's office had the funnel moving nearer this city by the minute.

Radio messages from the patrolmen had it that the storm broke up as it went over Littlefield, never touching the ground.

Moisture from the storm generally hit the south and eastern parts of the county, and no rain was reported at Amherst, Sudan or Earth.

County agent Bill Kimbrough said Tuesday afternoon that nearly every farmer in the county now "has enough rain to plant." He added that an area in the dry land section would still need more in June to keep crops going there.

Soil Conservationist James Abbott also voiced a good planting outlook.

Abbott had just returned from a trip around the county in which he saw farms in all areas and described hail damage in this way:

"The hail damage is confined to an area of about 7,000 acres in the southeast quarter of the county."

Of course, amount of damage varies in that section, but he estimated that about 15 farms in that area have some hail damage, and some of the farmers there may have to replant. The area is between Littlefield, Spade and Fieldton.

Much of the damage came from rains and hail Saturday night and Sunday morning. Littlefield got 1.41 inches that night, bringing its total for the week to 2.25. Spade and Fieldton picked up about two inches with hail.

Amherst got the most moisture Saturday night as officials there reported up to three and one-half inches in some spots. Earth reportedly got 1.50 Saturday night.

In the dry land part of the county, the area around Enochs and Lum Chapel recorded about an inch.

He said that the boys fought in the Memorial Day address at the Memorial Park.

Dr. Bosen directed the congregation to those who were in the service, American flags on the graves of veterans with red, white and blue.

Street Paving Plan Chances Better; Participation Up

Possibilities of having Littlefield's unpaved streets improved are getting better, City Manager Guy McCraw said Tuesday.

"We have had many favorable calls on the project," McCraw said.

"Of course, a lot of the enthusiasm came after the rain left these streets muddy," he said. "We still need all the participation from the citizens we can get," he added.

The program started two weeks ago when the city commission announced it would pave as many streets as public participation warranted.

Springlake Men Receive First Turkeys

Springlake's newest enterprise got its start this week as the first shipment of turkeys for a turkey growing business arrived.

The first shipment went to Bill Burrow and James Sanderson, who along with Phillip Jones are partners in what will be the largest turkey operation in Springlake.

Burrow, Sanderson and Jones received 3500 eight-week-old birds Tuesday. They will get 6500 more in the near future.

More turkeys are expected to be shipped in Thursday or Friday. Some 15,000 turkeys will be stocked in Springlake all told.

Seven men have taken the lead in bringing the new business to Springlake. Besides the threesome of Burrow, Sanderson, and Jones, Harry Axtell will stock 2,000 birds, and Ronald Cleveenger, Orville Cleveenger and Edd Dawson will stock 1,000 each.

Although high winds gave some of the fences and other equipment for the turkeys some trouble early this week, the equipment has been repaired.

Amherst Depot Is Destroyed By Fire Sunday

The Amherst Santa Fe Railroad station resumed business as usual Monday morning in temporary quarters after the regular depot was completely destroyed when a bolt of lightning struck the building about 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

A passing motorist from Clovis, New Mexico, witnessed the lightning strike and turned in the alarm. Firemen from both Amherst and Littlefield were unable to save the burning building.

The depot was a landmark in the area, having been built in 1912 when the Santa Fe extended its line, west of Lubbock. It was not put into use until early 1924 when this portion of Halsell Ranch was sold off into farms and the town of Amherst was in the process of being built. For many years it was the only building between Littlefield and Sudan.

Station Agent Horace G. Holt stated that there was little freight in the depot at that time. Records of the company and several personal belongings of Holt were lost in the blaze.

City Dads Plot Better Alarm Plan

The city commission disclosed Tuesday plans for better organization and means of sounding the alarm when impending storms threaten the Littlefield area.

Major objectives of the plan would enable the city to:

1. Sound a general alarm over the city.
2. Establish radio contact with weather stations and peace officers from surrounding cities for storm information.
3. Establish a better telephone warning system whereby all people in the city can be notified, and
4. Designate shelters for those who do not have storm cellars.

Although the plans are still in the formative stage, they are expected to be worked out in detail at the earliest possible date.

Preparations for Monday night's storm, although made hurriedly Monday afternoon, aroused the people to take shelter.

Although many wondered what was going on when sirens wailed Monday night at 9:30, they soon learned that it was a tornado warning.

The city also maintained radio contact with Hobbs, N. M., Levelland, Plainview, Hereford, Lubbock and Muleshoe for information on the tornado.

"We received excellent cooperation from police at Whiteface," City Manager Guy McCraw said, referring to the first report of tornadic conditions approaching Littlefield.

"Citizens can be proud of the deputies and police officers who went out to track the storm, actually risking their lives in doing so," McCraw added.

Although storm shelters for the city are yet to be designated, McCraw said that the county court house and city hall will be among those places to be named as shelters.

The city also had disaster teams from Lubbock on stand-by call during the storm conditions, he added. Several men were organized to make phone calls to warn citizens during the crisis.

Drinking Gets One Man Jailed; Four Others Fined

Three Hockley county negro men were arrested by Lamb County sheriff's deputies Sunday. Two were charged with drunkenness and one with driving without a license. One of the two charged with drunkenness paid a $20.50 fine and the other is in the county jail. The man listed as driving without a license was fined $50.00 and released.

Also arrested Sunday were three Latin-American men who were charged with drinking in public. They each paid fines of $20.50 and were released.

A former Littlefield man was picked up Tuesday for violation of the check law. He is currently residing in New Mexico. He paid $5.00 court costs and the amount of the check.

A 22-year-old Latin American, Jerry Garcia, was detained by the Sheriff's office here for Hereford officers. He is charged with non-support.

Deep In The Heart Of Texas

Texas Longhorn Cavern, the world's third largest cave, is one of the nation's most impressive natural wonders. Over eight miles of its labyrinthian splendor have been explored without an end being reached and the lowest point on the guided tour is an eerie 120 feet below the surface. The cavern is a popular attraction for tourists and sightseers, especially in the summertime, because it is a real cool cave. The temperature inside remains at a comfortable 64 degrees even in the hottest summer weather. Longhorn Cavern is located off U. S. Highway 281 four miles south of Burnet.

Miss Brock Is Wed To Richard McCaskill

In a ceremony read Saturday at 6 p.m., Miss Barbara Fay Brock became the bride of Richard Earl McCaskill. Miss Brock is the daughter of Mrs. Almon Whitford of Springlake and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCaskill of Earth.

The double ring service was read by Rev. John T. Williams, pastor of the Springlake Baptist church before an archway entwined with greenery and yellow roses flanked with yellow candles on either side. The bride, who was given in marriage by Almon Whitford, was attired in a street length dress of white polished cotton fashioned with long torso lines, and a square neckline. Her accessories were in white. The bridal bouquet was of yellow rose buds and white French carnations.

Miss Jenna Brock served her sister as maid of honor. Her dress was a strapless blue polished cotton designed with a bouffant skirt. Miss Brock carried a nosegay of white carnations.

A sister of the groom, Barbara Lynn McCaskill lighted the candles.

Dwayne Louder of Sunnyside served as best man.

The mother of the bride chose a pink linen dress with beige accessories and the groom's mother wore a beige dress with brown accessories. Each wore corsages of white carnations.

Guests attended a reception immediately following the ceremony. A white three tiered wedding cake trimmed with yellow roses and orange punch were served.

The serving table was centered with the bride's bouquet and an arrangement of yellow roses.

The couple left for Lake Thomas where they will spend a few days and return to Denver City, June 3rd.

For traveling the bride chose a pink linen sheath dress with matching jacket and white accessories.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Springlake High school.

The engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, June was announced by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gregory of Earth. Miss Gregory and Doug Parish of Springlake will be married at 8 p.m., June 29th in the First Methodist church at Earth with Rev. C. T. Jordan officiating. This will be a double wedding ceremony with Miss Barbara McCaskill and Doug Lewis.

The couple are both 1956 graduates of Springlake High school. The bride-elect served as president of the senior class and her fiancé was selected "most likely to succeed."

The engaged couple plan to reside at Springlake, where the groom will farm.

Homestead dignitaries come to pay tribute to the young cottonland envoy. During her stay at the capitol, she calls on the Secretary of Agriculture as official representative of the nation's greatest agricultural industry.

During National Cotton Week, Maid Pat returns to Memphis, Tenn., for the festive Memphis Cotton Carnival. There, the cotton courier reports to the Carnival's "King Cotton" on her accomplishments in behalf of his fiber. She participates in brilliant parades, balls, receptions, and other gala activities that highlight the week-long celebration.

Summer brings the European phase of the tour. Winging her way across the Atlantic on a luxurious BOAC Strato-cruiser, Maid Pat will land in London for her first appearance. She will spend more than a month abroad visiting European nations in behalf of American cotton. In Paris, her wardrobe will take on international flavor when a number of the world's most renowned couturiers create fashions for the Maid in American cotton fabrics.

Pat's return from Europe late this summer will bring to a close many months and many miles of dedicated activity in behalf of cotton. As a tribute to her service and in recognition of the close working relationship between the cotton and automotive industries, the Memphis District Ford Dealers will award the Maid a streamlined new Ford convertible. Pat will be the tenth Maid to be honored with this presentation by the auto group.

Through the years, the cotton industry feels, the Maids of Cotton have been the most effective single influence in winning high-fashion prestige for cotton and in gaining recognition for the fiber as a versatile, desirable material for year-round wear. No wonder the industry calls its pretty Maid "cotton's greatest salesman!"

Cotton's high absorbency is a major factor in its comfort.

THE WORLD AHEAD

Congratulations to all young people who are graduating this year! Receiving a diploma means you have fulfilled the academic requirements and met the standards of conduct of your schools. They, in turn, have given you a secure world for four years, with work and rules of conduct mapped out for you.

Now all this is changed in a day. The anchor has suddenly pulled up, and the world ahead looks insecure and uncertain. You now have to plan your own work, and set your own standards of behavior.

At this point, a church connection is a strong anchor to spiritual security. Let your Commencement mean a commencement of regular church attendance in the church you choose. Face the new world ahead armed with its firm hope and faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mr. Farmer: Here's How To Collect Gas Tax Refund

Farmers will soon be able to obtain a refund of the Federal excise tax on gasoline which is used on a farm for farming purposes under a new law. Present Federal tax rate is 2 cent a gallon.

John R. Robinson announced today that under the new law first refund payments will be made after June 30 on gasoline purchased and used during the first six months of 1956. Thereafter, refunds will be made for a one-year period from July 1 to June 30.

To get his refund, a farmer will have to file his claim after June 30 and before October 1. Claims are to be made on Form 2240 and are to be filed with the United States District Director of Internal Revenue for the farmer's district. Forms will be available after June 1 at Internal Revenue Offices, county agricultural agents, and at some banks and post offices.

Refunds will be limited to the Federal tax on gasoline which is used by a farmer for farming purposes, in carrying on a trade or business, on a farm located on his farm by a custom operator or a neighbor in connection with cultivating the soil, or raising or harvesting any agricultural or horticultural commodity.

Robinson explains that gasoline shall be considered used for farming purposes if it is used:

- (1) By the farmer or any other person in connection with cultivating the soil, or raising or harvesting any agricultural or horticultural commodity, including the raising of livestock, poultry, etc., on the farmer's own farm.
- (2) By the farmer in the operation, management, conservation, improvement, or maintenance of his farm or its tools or equipment.
- (3) By the farmer in handling, drying, packing, grading, or storing any agricultural or horticultural commodity in its unmanufactured state, but only if the farmer produced more than one-half of the commodity which he so treated during the period for which the claim is filed.
- (4) By the farmer in connection with the planting, cultivating, caring for, or cutting of trees, or the preparation (other than sawing into lumber, chipping, or other milling) of trees for market, but only if the planting, etc., is incidental to his farming operations.

No refunds of tax are allowed on gasoline used off the farm, such as gasoline used on public roads or highways in transporting family members or workmen, equipment, livestock, crop, feed, etc. Also, no refunds are allowed for tax on gasoline used in propcessing, packing, freezing, or canning operations.

Farmers are also given special relief from the Federal excise tax on diesel fuel and special motor fuels used on a farm for farming purposes.

"Farmers who expect to file claims should keep sufficient records to enable the Internal Revenue Service to verify the accuracy of the amount claimed," Robinson cautioned.

Newspapers & Economic Well Being

Anyone still wonders just how valuable the news is as an advertising medium for retailers—in the era when other media are competing vigorously for business—let us go well to study a survey made by the Bureau of Business Research of Michigan State University. The survey deals with the effect on retail sales of last year's newspaper strike in Detroit. It shows that a gain in sales in the Detroit metropolitan area during the period was due to buying in the suburbs. Sales in the Detroit area actually declined by $35 million. Editor & Publisher says editorially: "The Michigan State University survey is one of the greatest testimonials for newspaper advertising that has ever been written. . . . It adds to the volume of data showing that wherever a community is deprived of its newspapers all business suffers. . . . when general business conditions are good customers naturally gravitate to a store. They have to be attracted by advertising, particularly newspaper advertising, to direct to a sales message in newspapers. They do not read the sales message and/or the newspaper is missing, newspapers are essential to the economic well being of the community." That goes for the smaller papers as well as the larger ones and for the villages as well as the metropolitan centers.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD

Supreme Court Justice—Wilson grabbed the spotlight with the announcement that he was resigning on May 1. He devoted his full time to his private campaign for the office of Attorney General. Wilson: "Texas' greatest glory is its vigorous enforcement of its laws. I believe I am Texas' best in filling the high bench." Wilson, who gained fame as Dallas' best district attorney, served six years on the Supreme Court. He was elected in a heavy majority, and is the youngest man ever to sit on the high bench. Wilson felt that most seasoned observers would have selected without opposition to continue as a member of the State's highest tribunal.

HE'S VISIT—Dwight D. Eisenhower's native state, planned by chance came three days after the Democratic State Convention. There, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was endorsed as favorite candidate for President. Texas has two native sons in the race for Chief Executive of the United States. Gov. Allan Shivers, who has said he will support the presidential nominee whom he considers best for the nation, regardless of party, didn't attend the Dallas convention at which Johnson was the main figure. As Texas Chief Executive he did however, welcome President Eisenhower at Waco, where he received an honorary degree from Baylor University. Eisenhower leaders, including National Committeeman Jack Porter, and other Texas Republican notables, conferred with the President briefly in Waco. Also present was Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, late of the President's cabinet and now co-chairman of the national Citizens for Eisenhower organization. Governor Shivers did not take part in the conference.

JOHNSON'S GOALS—Senator Johnson gained his personal goals at the Democratic convention. But his control of the convention was shaky all the way through. Near the end, his personal requests were turned down. His reported choice for Democratic National Committeewoman, Mrs. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., of McAllen, was side-tracked for Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston. She replaces Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin. At so replaced was National Committeeman Ben Ramsey. Elected in his stead was Byron Skelton of Temple. A new state executive committee is not to be named until the usual time—the September convention. Meanwhile, the May convention is not adjourned—merely recessed. This is interpreted as a "foot in the door" to keep watch over the present committee during the summer. Defeated conservatives say that Shivers conservatives and Johnson conservatives soon will be back in the same camp. They think it can happen in time to shift party control again in the September convention.

NEW TAX SUGGESTED
When the 55th Legislature convenes next January, the biggest bugaboo will be a familiar one—need for more money. Budget estimates indicate at least $25 million more a year will be needed for 1957-59 appropriations.

Campaign platforms of legislative candidates show that many think existing tax sources are paying as much as they can. Many suggest that new revenue sources should be found to equalize the load. Few are very specific. A concrete suggestion came last week from a University of Texas economics professor writing for 'Comment,' the Bureau of Public Affairs monthly. A "business activities" tax was proposed by Carey C. Thompson. Such a tax, said Thompson, would be based on value added to a produce by manufacture and hence would hit "only newly-created wealth hitherto untaxed." Michigan, he said, collects about $30 million a year by this means. Alternates proposals, such as income or sales taxes, widely used in other states, have always met strong opposition in Texas.

"RIGHT-TO-WORK" LAW HIT
Labor leaders are elated, state officials grim over the crippling of Texas' "right-to-work" law. U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled such state laws cannot apply in the railroad industry. They are superseded by the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes closed shop contracts. Said Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepherd: "It means 'railroad workers must join unions or go hungry. A man who is refused the right to work unless he supports certain organizations cannot exercise any of the other rights guaranteed by the constitution." Jerry Holleman, executive secretary of Texas AFL, called the decision "a great step forward. Texas Federation believes Congress should extend this same protection to the rest of the workers in the country."

OLD DEBTS COLLECTED
A state auditor's survey of the General Land Office resulted in payment of some long overdue debts to the school land fund. State Auditor C. H. Cavness released a report covering the three year period just prior to Bascom Giles' resignation. It had turned up 24 mineral leases on which annual rental payments were in arrears. These were called to the attention of Land Office personnel, and collections of $9,373, plus $402 interest, were made. Cavness noted that J. Earl Rudder, appointed to succeed Giles as land commissioner, has sought to improve lease handling insofar as funds permit. Restrictive legislative appropriations cause the office to be understaffed, the auditor commented.

Sandhills Philosopher . . .

Editor's note. The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably has his banking terms mixed up, his letter this week indicates. Dear Editor: I ran across an item in the paper the other day, well actually I didn't run across it, at the time I was sitting under a tree in the shade out here thumbing through a newspaper and it just showed up before me, which appeals to me. According to it, a foreign affairs expert in Washington was arguing that the United States ought to get busy and loan some money to a list of countries he'd been investigating because, he said, if we don't Russia will. The fact that the loans might not be any good when the time came to pay them back didn't enter into it, the idea was to loan them home money before Russia did. Now there's a type of banking I admire and I wonder why the banks in this country can't rise above their narrow, local viewpoint and get up on the international level. Take two competing banks. If they'd practice international banking and try to beat each other to a shaky customer just to keep the other one from getting to him, you'd find the wheels of business around here beginning to spin. Banking with an international flavor is what this country needs, or at least what I need. How much lending business do you think Washington would do with other countries if it applied the narrow rules private bankers use? Make the loan before somebody else does and worry about the paying back later . . . that's the system I'd like to see put into effect. One week of this kind of banking and you'd see more merchandise moved off the shelves than you've seen in years, but most bankers just can't see it that way, and even if they could, their stock holders couldn't. If you hear though of any banker getting up on the international level around here and trying to loan me some money before somebody else does, let me know, I'd like to go there before the money's all gone. Yours faithfully, J. A.

WHO'S MARRIED?
It was lunchtime. The elderly worker opened his lunchbox, looked in, and growled. "Cheese sandwiches! Cheese sandwiches! Always cheese sandwiches!" "Why don't you ask your wife to make some other kind?" asked a fellow worker. "Wife. Who's married? I make these myself!"

Letters To The Editor

Many of us have felt a pang of regret when we found ourselves unable to spare funds to help a worthy cause. Yet there is one cause—the cause of needy children and their families—to which we can give real assistance without having to go any further than our clothes closets. Thousands of youngsters in our own United States and overseas are desperately in need of good, used clothing. Possessing little more than a few tattered garments, many boys and girls are unable even to attend school. The Save the Children Federation, of which I have the honor to be a National Sponsor and a Board Member, is appealing for clean wearable clothing to help needy children and adults. Your readers can render a wonderful service by sending such clothing to: Save the Children Federation, Dept. N, Ault Road and Rutledge Pike, Knoxville, Tennessee. The cool autumn and bitter winter months may see a long way off. But by sending clothing now, your readers can be sure that coats, shoes, jackets and dresses will be available to provide warm protection for needy boys and girls when bad weather sets in. Sincerely yours, Faith Baldwin

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE TELEPHONE OPERATORS Littlefield Press. Mr. Bill Turner, Editor. I would like to take this means of expressing my thanks and appreciation to the Telephone Operators who were on duty last Monday night, May 28. I had three (3) calls from Muleshoe and made two (2) calls to Muleshoe, had several local calls and made several local calls. All the calls were as prompt as could be and the operators were so nice and pleasant. I know from one of the employees they had to put on extra help. My family was scattered from Littlefield to Muleshoe. Some of them were ill and we were trying to check on them and I just want the operators to know how much I appreciated their services. I only hope no one else had to use their phone as much as I did. I think I shall try to be more appreciative of them from now on. Mrs. W. D. Chapman

He had heard it time and again from his friends who drive Cadillacs. He had heard, for instance, of Cadillac's marvelous performance . . . and of Cadillac's great comfort and handling ease . . . and of the satisfaction that comes to the man at the wheel. And so, when he took the keys to his first Cadillac just a short while ago, he thought he knew what to expect from the "car of cars". Well, here he is—a few miles out on his maiden journey—and he's learning a great truth about Cadillac: that nothing can adequately prepare a man for Cadillac ownership, save the experience itself. How, for instance, could anyone fully foresee the joys of owning a new Cadillac car? It gives a man a sense of pride and a feeling of achievement and fulfillment that literally defy description. Or how could anyone anticipate the thrill of driving a new Cadillac? Smooth and quiet . . . eager and responsive . . . restful and relaxing—it simply has no counterpart on the world's highways. And how could anyone foreknow the many other pleasures that await him at the wheel . . . the joy of finding that his Cadillac, with all its quality and character, is among the most practical of motor cars to own and operate . . . and the satisfaction we believe he will find in his relationship with us as his Cadillac dealer—and in our honest concern with his motoring well-being. Why not stop in soon for a personal preview of this wonderful experience? We think you will be delighted to learn how quickly you can get delivery and to find how much your current car is worth to us in trade.

Springlake Men Lose Two-Ton Truck In Hay Stack Fire Monday

Exhaust Sets Fire

Bill Burrow and Sandy Sanderson lost a two-ton 1956 truck Monday afternoon in a fire. Texas Oil Pioneers--A Series

Tex Thornton, The Boy Who Liked Fireworks, Explosives

By MODY C. B. ATRIGHT
 The boy's note: Sketch compiled from records of Oral History of Texas Oil Pioneers, University of Texas. Persons who can contribute additional information, documents, or photographs of early oil fields should write to the Archives Collection, Box 7767, University Station, Austin, Texas.
 Away back in 1901, Dr. John W. Thornton of Toccoopa, Miss. took his 10-year-old son, Ward, to a Fourth-of-July picnic. The doctor had known what the consequences of that day's celebration were to be. He would no doubt have left his son at home. For on that day his plans for the boy's future were turned upside down. He had expected Ward to go away to school when he was older, and eventually to become an M.D. and return to Toccoopa and succeed to his father's practice. But at the picnic all this was changed.

Wandering about the grounds the boy found something he had never seen before—a stand piled high with Roman candles, skyrocket, and firecrackers. He saw other boys buying and shooting, and he thought and shot until all his money was gone, and he hunted up his father to beg for more. What appeared to him most were the giant crackers—since outwaded—that made a noise like a cannon. When he got home he couldn't get fireworks off his mind. He didn't want to go to a doctor. He didn't know what he would do, but he knew if he could find a way to make a living shooting off explosives, that was what he would do.

He was 16 when he quit school to join a crew that was using dynamite to blast the stumps from cut-over timberland. Whether it was to earn his son from this occupation or for some other reason, Dr. Thornton moved to Knox county in West Texas where there were no stumps to clear. But the wildcaters were already invading the region, and one day Word Thornton saw a man shoot an oil well. He promptly announced he was in the well-shooting business himself, and as the big pool's name in Ranger, Burkburnett, Electra, Smackover and the rest, he soon had plenty of clients. He also acquired a new name, WORD didn't seem to go with well shooting, anyway, and he was pleased when the workers began calling him Tex.

As he went from field to field he saw a number of fires. He saw men sweating to put them out by smothering them with steam, or mud or by furious turning and plunging. It occurred to him that a burning oil well might be blown out in the same way a candle could, provided you only had a "new" idea. In 1912, he figured, ought to provide the breath. His opportunity to put his theory to the test came in 1919 at Electra. When the owners of the burning well refused to deal with him, he obtained permission to make a try at his own expense. He made a sort of Mother Hubbard garment out of asbestos to protect him from the heat, managed to get the hot metal dragged
