The deep oil test, which is being drilled southeast of Littlefield, was reported at a depth of 6515 feet Tuesday afternoon. There has been some showing of oil in this well. Salt water was reported encountered Tuesday, with a strong evidence of gas. The well is now being drilled ahead to a greater depth. There is also a rumor that five wells will be drilled immediately in this immediate section.

LET'S GO AHEAD LITTLEFIELD!

SOME OF THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF YOUR PRESENT CITY COMMISSION COMPOSED OF A. C. CHESHER, MAYOR, L. C. HEWITT AND LON CAMPBELL, COMMISSIONERS DURING THE LAST FIVE YEARS.

WATER DEPARTMENT

75,050 feet of water mains bought and installed in 2 to 16 inch sizes.
 55 fire hydrants were bought and installed.
 750 new water connections were made.
 50 close connections were made between the new water system and the old one.
 2 new water wells were drilled and put into production.
 1 new booster pump and electrical apparatus incidental thereto including two connections to underground reservoir has been installed.
 1 new posting and billing machine bought and put into service.
 8 men have obtained water operators licenses and two men have obtained both water and sewer licenses.

SEWER DEPARTMENT

Approximately 800 new connections have been made by the sewer department, eliminating many out-door toilets.
 About 25,000 feet of sewer mains have been laid in six to eight inch sizes.
 Over 80 manholes have been constructed.
 Old Sewer system was cleaned out with about 50 tons of sand, dirt, rocks, and trash being removed—thereby increasing carrying capacity by about 20 percent.
 3 pumps have been installed in the lift station in the park, and one pump installed at the disposal plant.

STREETS DEPARTMENT

170 blocks of new paving has been done and 200 blocks of seal coating was applied.
 No low places or water holes have shown up in this new paving.
 1 used Oliver tractor has been purchased.
 1 Le Roi tractor loader has been purchased.
 1 — 6,000-gallon asphalt tank bought.
 1 new Austin-Western street sweeper bought and put into operation.
 Cracks in old cement paving have been filled.
 New maintainer bought, and this equipment has been put to good use.
 Southwestern Public Service Company has installed new mercury vapor street lights, and placed additional street lighting in other parts of town.
 Over 1,000 loads of dirt and caliche have been hauled to streets that have been low.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

3 new police cars have been bought and in operation.
 Parking meters installed and are helping with the cost of operation of the City. It is interesting to note that Littlefield kept their over-parking charges at 25c, whereas other towns and cities in the area are charging much more.
 2 men have been added to the department, giving increased protection.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Wrecked fire truck repaired and back into operation.
 A used truck has been converted and made into a fire truck to service rural fires.
 Recreational building for firemen has been erected in the City Park.

PARK DEPARTMENT

Three (3) thousand feet of irrigation water lines were bought and the department has been charged for 1,000 feet of sprinkler system.
 New lawn mower has been bought and put into operation.
 2 rest rooms have been installed.
 The park has been brought from a waste area to one of real beauty.

GARBAGE DEPARTMENT

Daily garbage service in the business part of town and weekly garbage service in the residential part of town has been in operation since 1948. Six men were added to this staff and the department is now using the third set of trucks for the garbage squad.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

A part-time sanitarian has been added; fogging machine bought and in use; and this department has conducted periodic clean-up campaigns each year.

WAREHOUSE DEPT.

The warehouse department is now equipped with a tank and pump to issue gasoline to City owned vehicles, and has purchased an army surplus barracks building for warehouse use. Savings have been effected by this department in buying oil by the barrel and dispensing their own gas and fuel oil.

The new construction work listed above could not have been done without the services of an engineering firm or a city engineer. Since Littlefield had a city engineer, this work was done by city employees at a much lower cost than it could have been done if it had been let to contractors and private engineering firms.

TAXES

The tax rate has been increased from $1.50 to $2.00 per $100 assessed valuation, based on approximately 33 per cent of present day value of the property. This is below the average for cities of comparable size in this area, as published by the League of Texas Municipalities.

Our assessed valuation is low because of the court order under which the city has to operate. In the late 30's the town was on the verge of bankruptcy and the courts established the tax rate necessary to retire the bonds. This amount has been reduced twice and we are now in shape to receive another reduction. But, due to the order, it is necessary to keep the valuation fairly low and have a higher tax rate. A comparison of taxes paid: In Hereford, a piece of property with a present day value of $50,000—the assessed valuation would be about 75 percent or $37,500. With their tax rate of $1.35, the total tax paid would be $504.25. In Littlefield, the assessed valuation of this same property would be no more than $16,000 and at our rate of $2.00, the total taxes paid would be $320.00, or difference of $184.25.

Water rates were raised once to take care of $1.00 per meter for Garbage service and once in 1951 to offset the higher costs of operation.

Of course, some towns that have not grown and expanded still have lower rates than Littlefield, but who wants to live in a town that does not grow?

THE CITY OF LITTLEFIELD HAS ACCOMPLISHED ALL OF THIS EXPANSION and ADVANCEMENT WITH ONLY A SLIGHT INCREASE IN BONDED INDEBTEDNESS and the CITY HAS LESS THAN $7,000 OUTSTANDING WARRANTS OUT AT THIS TIME AND THESE WARRANTS WERE ISSUED FOR CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS AT A LOWER RATE OF INTEREST THAN THE CITY IS PAYING ON ITS BONDS. SOME $200,000 WORTH OF NEW CONSTRUCTION HAS BEEN DONE OUT OF CURRENT FUNDS IN ADDITION TO PAYING ALL OPERATING and MAINTENANCE EXPENSES DURING THE TIME. THE CITY IS IN BETTER FINANCIAL SHAPE NOW THAN IT HAS BEEN IN MANY YEARS. PROOF OF THIS FACT IS THAT THE CITY DID NOT FIND IT NECESSARY TO BORROW LOCAL FUNDS DURING THE PAST YEAR and THAT YEAR WAS the FIRST IN WHICH LOCAL FUNDS HAVE NOT BEEN NEEDED FOR MANY YEARS.

The minutes of the City reflect a remarkable achievement. According to the official minutes, there has been only one issue acted upon by this commission in which there was a division of votes between the two commissioners with the Mayor having to cast the tie breaking vote. On all other issues passed by the Commission, the vote has been unanimous. Much of the advancement made by this city during the past five years has been due to planning made previously and to the times. However each member of this commission is entitled to a share in the credit for this outstanding success. The fact that the Mayor has been required to vote only once in over five years indicates the oneness of purpose and the cooperation necessary for these achievements.

Much has been said recently about a supposed rift in this Commission. It has been rumored that one commissioner has been opposed to several projects and issues attempted by the City and that he had been outvoted on them. The minutes of the City fail to reflect that this is the case.

THE OIL DERRICK or THE OILY NEWS

By C. J. Duggan

By C. J. Duggan

THIS WEEK, FOLKS, we have good and bad news for you about our oil business. The good news is that many of the churches have had their meetings and are letting us have their leases, and many individual property owners have cooperated by letting us draw up their leases. BUT, the BAD NEWS IS, that we do not yet have enough acreage to meet the requirements of John W. Murchison who is to drill the first deep test oil well for Littlefield. He is asking for only 700 acres out of over 2000 acres in the city limits, and we need about 200 more acres before we are ready to spud in the first well.

When talking to Mr. Murchison over long distance this last week, he told me that he was sorry that I did not have all of the acreage ready, as he had a free rig that he could have over here and spud in this week. MY, if only you could have heard that statement! Perhaps, you would lease, for the longer you wait to cooperate and put in your lease, the longer it will be before a well can and will be spudded in. So many have told us that they would let us have their lease IF WE JUST HAD TO HAVE IT.

WELL, FOLKS, we just have to have it NOW in order to meet the requirements, and we have only a short time in which to get it in the bank. Those of you who have had us prepare leases, please come in and execute them, for we cannot count them until they are in the bank in escrow along with our $15,000.00 draft to the City of Littlefield in case we fall down on our part of the agreement.

ACT TODAY, FOLKS, phone us 39 or 1095 and give us the information to draw your lease, then come to office and execute it before notary public, or let us know and we will send notary to your home. We MUST have your lease now if you want a test well drilled within city limits of Littlefield.

The Lessor Honor Roll is so very large this week, that it would take a whole column to give all names, so a few are given only: Enloe Smith, C. A. Miller, Mrs. Mayme Chesher, Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan, Sr. (Arthur Jr. had to make a special trip to California to get his mother's signature to the many leases). The Missionary Baptist Church, the St. Martin's Lutheran Church, (other churches

Abernathy visited the latter's sister, Mrs. M. D. Burrus and family Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Wren has returned home after minor surgery in Littlefield this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hughes, Misses Margaret and Carol Beth Hughes and Glen Hughes accompanied by Miss Mary Socorra of Pep, spent Sunday in Welch.

Mrs. Clyde Woolard of Cross Plains has been the guest of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Edwards and family for several days.

A. B. Roberts, who lives north of Oklahoma Platt suffered an injury last Monday east of Lums Chapel while working on a shaft from the pump to tank on a butane truck. Catching his glove in the revolving shaft, he broke both bones of the lower left arm and shattered the bones in the wrist. He spent several days in the Littlefield Hospital.

ARE YOU 5 FT. 8 INCHES or more? See the Fall Fashions of California at Louise Dress Shop, 102 Phelps Ave.

are holding required meetings before they can execute lease). Mancil Hall, Jack Christian, V. M. Farr, E. J. Foust, Roy Gilbert, Mrs. Ruby Blair, Mrs. Cleoda Goodwin, Bob Cox, Otto Jones, Robert Kirk, Morley B. and Ethel M. Drake, W. B. Little, J. B. McShan, et al, T. A. Henson, and a lot of others. We appreciate the wonderful cooperation many are giving us. BUT, FOLKS, we need your leases NOW. We do not have men to send to ask you for your lease, so please let us have them voluntarily.

We really have to take our hats right off our heads to one of our real pioneers of Littlefield—Clyde Willis, for his untiring efforts in volunteering his services as notary to go with our men into the homes to take acknowledgements where the ladies cannot come to town and to our office to execute their leases. Clyde has been in Littlefield many years and has always been known for his co-operation in anything that is beneficial to Littlefield. Thanks, Clyde, publicly, for your willingness to help.

There are many ways in which one can tell who is BOSS in the home, and one sure fire way is to try to get husband and wife to act jointly on any major project. We are sorry to report that we have a few cases of where the husband told us to draw up his lease, then his wife refused to join him in signing it later. There are other cases where the wife wants to cooperate and lease to us, but the husband balks at the signing. SO, FOLKS, let us all cooperate, even husband and wife, in this one step for progress in Littlefield. Bury your petty jealousies and misunderstandings and come in and help us get up the required acreage. We need every lot and acre we can get to make it possible for the first well to be drilled.

Oh, yes, there are at least two divorces coming up, or rather contemplated, as an excuse not to lease. Say, wives, if you have TOUGHED IT OUT this far with that old man you call HUBBY—why not continue to make life happy with him by joining him in this one big step for progress... lease us your lot or acreage. It takes six lets to make an acre, and every one counts.

We trust that you listen to your radio, for we are having three plugs per day announced in an effort to get your co-operation. Every word that is told you is the solid truth. We are not speculators in leases, we want and must have at least 700 acres within the city limits of Littlefield before we are willing to spend $100,000.00 or more on a deep test well here. Will you help yourself by helping us get this required acreage? Don't wait for other fellows to act—you act and be a part of that host of friends and neighbors who are wanting an oil well brought in here.

Did you know that the Texas Oil and Gas Producers pay 67.3% of all state, business and property tax? Further that the Texas Oil Industry Taxes provides: 37.8% of available School Fund... 54.9% of Foundation School Fund—41.1% of General Revenue Fund, 57.3% of Old Age Fund, 42.3% of State Hospital Fund, 58.3% Farm to Market Fund — and 58.5% Teachers Retirement Fund? It does, folks, and when we bring in a producing well in Littlefield, it will also help pay for your courthouse and schools.

Well, here's a joke that is not OILY, but has to do with HOT COFFEE, and who has not burnt his lips with the java, one time or another? A rich, selfish lady was on the Santa Fe train going to California, and those who ride trains (few do these days for they use automobiles and airplanes now) know that the Santa Fe has wonderful eating places called Harvey Houses, and all passengers must get off at eating stops to get their meals, and not go back to a diner to get them. Well, this lady ordered her second cup of coffee, when the conductor yelled "ALL A-BOARD" and she refused to leave the counter by saying "My coffee is so hot I can't drink it and I am NOT going to leave until I do." The other passengers cat-called at her and the conductor continued to yell "ALL ABOARD," but the determined lady told them again that her coffee was too hot to drink and she was not going to leave until she drank it, whereupon a typical West Texas cowboy drawled out: "HERE LADY, YOU CAN HAVE MAIN—IT'S ALREADY SAUCERED AND BLOWED"

MORE NEXT WEEK, FOLKS, BUT I do really hope that you have had dreams and can't sleep until you let us have your oil lease. HOW ABOUT IT? Don't divorce your husband or wife, get together and come to our office to happily sign your lease.

FARM NEWS

Lonnie Cole, assistant agent, called us to the line on last week's column. It seems we said that if a pound of lint seed contained 4,500 seed, a pound of delinted seed contained 4,100 seed—since 10% of the weight of cotton seed is lint. A pound of delinted cotton seed contains 4,900 seed just a matter of subtracting instead of adding 10% of the number of seed.

The second annual Farmer-Businessman Forum which will be held at the Youth Center in Littlefield, April 15, 1953, is shaping up. A more detailed report can be found elsewhere in the paper.

The Forum strives to help a little toward a clearer understanding and a better appreciation of our mutual problem, responsibilities, interests, and opportunities. We believe that you should make it a point to attend part or all of the Forum.

C * A * C

The Secretary of Agriculture has asked that all farmers voluntarily reduce cotton acreage this year. If a large crop is produced this year farmers face cotton acreage allotments in 1954. All farmers should reduce their acreage by as much as 14% in 1953 to save themselves the headaches of having cotton acreage allotments.

Increased cotton plantings in 1953 will not result in larger 1954 allotments for the vast majority of farms under present provisions of the law in the event marketing quotas are in effect.

If acreage allotments and marketing quotas are proclaimed for the 1954 cotton crop, present provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1953, as amended, provide that:

(1). "The national acreage allotment for cotton for 1953 and subsequent years shall be apportioned to the States on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton (including the acreage regarded as planted to cotton under the provisions of Public Law 12, Seventy-ninth Congress) during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the national marketing quota is proclaimed, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions during such period." Public Law 28, 81st Congress, prohibits the use of 1949 cotton acreage in determining State, county, and farm allotments. The base period, therefore, for establishing 1954 State acreage allotments is the five years 1947, 1948, 1950, 1951, and 1952. The 1955 base period will be the five years 1948, 1950, 1951, 1952, and 1953 and each year thereafter the first year will be dropped and the year following the last will be added.

The State acreage allotment, less than State acreage reserve withheld by the State committee, shall be apportioned to counties on the basis of the same five-year period that is provided in apportioning the national acreage allotment to States.

The 1954 county acreage allotment, less the acreage reserve withheld by the county committee, shall be apportioned to farms on which cotton was planted during any one of the three years 1951, 1952, and 1953, primarily on the basis of a county uniform percentage of cropland on the farm excluding the acreage devoted to specified crops. If cotton was planted on the farm in either 1951 or 1952, the farm will be eligible for a 1954 allotment as a regular cotton producing farm regardless of whether cotton is planted on it in 1953. Also, if more than 5 acres were planted in either 1951 or 1952, no additional benefits can the minimum 1954 allotment for a farm shall not be less than the smaller of (a) acres or (b) the highest acreage planted to cotton on the farm during the three years 1951, 1952, and 1953.

The maximum acreage which can be allotted to a farm in apportioning the county allotment on the basis of a uniform percentage of cropland will be the highest acreage planted to cotton on the farm in the three years 1951, 1952, and 1953. In 1950 only a small portion of the farm allotments of more than five acres were limited by the highest cotton acreage history in the three-year period—1946, 1947, and 1948. The above statements are all based on the present provisions of these provisions relating to base period and method of apportioning allotments, the statements may be altered. We will hold a series of community meetings in April to discuss this serious problem.

Water Problems Solved Tuesday

Complete agreement on provisions of legislation to develop a surface water supply on the Canadian River north of Amarillo to serve 12 Panhandle-Plains cities was effected in a meeting Tuesday night between officials of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District and Mayor Murrell Tripp, and members of the Lubbock City Water Resources Board.

Removal of all references to underground water in the bill now pending before the Texas House of Representatives and confining of provisions of the act to surface water alone featured the agreement and resulted in a pledge of support of the bill by the High Plains group.

Copies of the corrective amendment to the bill were immediately drawn up after the conference by City Atty. Vaughn Wilson and Arthur Duggan of Littlefield, attorney for the High Plains group, and were to be air mailed to Austin Wednesday.

The action is expected to put to an end a threat to passage of the legislation in the House. The House sub-committee now has the bill under consideration, and the bill is due to be acted on by the whole committee by next week.

A few changes were discussed in the basic rules, but it was a very good meeting, inasmuch as it afforded an opportunity for open discussion of the weak and strong points of the commercial type junior livestock show.

The meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce committee for the purpose of getting any and all suggestions on how to build the best commercial type show possible in our county.

Safe Guarding—

Dr. John S. Carroll, Lubbock, who is a member of the national board, where he serves as national rural service chairman, will also attend.

The pre-conference board of managers' meeting will be held from 3 to 5 Monday afternoon, April 6. A formal dinner honoring the district board will be held at 7:30 Monday evening at the high school cafeteria under sponsorship of the Lions club, Rotary club and Jaycees.

An address by Mrs. Jackson will feature the Tuesday morning session. A life membership luncheon will be held Tuesday noon. Workshop demonstrations under the direction of Supt. Nat. Williams of Lubbock and Prof. Donald, Texas Tech, co-chairman, will make up the Tuesday afternoon program. Election of officers for 3-year-terms will also be held.

Mr. Robery Blakely of the Ford Foundation, Chicago, will address the assembly Tuesday evening on the topic, "Leadership, Education and Responsible Citizenship." Following the address, Dr. Per G. Stansland, Texas Tech, will evaluate the conference.

Reports of committees will be given and the 1954 meeting place will be selected Wednesday morning. The conference will end at noon Wednesday.

Conference sessions will be held at the Littlefield High School auditorium.

C. J. Duggan Urges Signing of Lease So That First Well May Be Drilled

"A drilling rig would have been in here this week had the leases been ready," stated C. J. Duggan Wednesday.

John W. Murchison advised Mr. Duggan that he had a free rig and would have had it here this week to spud in the first well if the leases on the required 700 acres had been ready. It is necessary, stated Mr. Duggan, to have 700 acres under lease with leases in escrow in the bank before the first well can be spudded in.

A special Easter sermon delivered by Dr. W. Meers, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church Drive and 8th St., this morning. Dr. Meers is on a two-weeks evangelistic tour to his own pulpit, Monday and evening Sunday.

A sunrise Easter breakfast has been planned by the Young People's department of the church.

Maid of Cotton to Tour Four European Capitals This Month

When 1953 Maid of Cotton Alice Corr of Selma, Ala., visits Paris and three other European capitals this month, she will show European women the latest and smartest fashions of the season as interpreted by American Designers in cotton fabrics.

The attractive Alabamian serving as the cotton industry's fashion and goodwill ambassador on a 65-day international tour of three continents carries with her throughout her six-month journey a complete all-cotton wardrobe. Her stunning collection includes nearly fifty outfits in every imaginable cotton fabric for occasions around the clock. She has coats, suits, evening gowns, swim suits, play clothes, cocktail frocks, raincoats, and even her accessories—gloves, purses, hats—are made of cotton.

One of the Maid's striking travel ensembles is by Leonard Arkin in a sheer cotton tweed-like weave. It is practical, as well as pretty, combining a trim, figure-fitting with a slim dress. The fabric is excellent for travel, for it has a crease-resistant finish.

When April showers come, the Maid of Cotton will be prepared to meet them in her smart raincoat by Bonnie Cashin in a lustrous cotton surah which sheds rain. It is designed along smock lines, tied at the neckline in a becoming bow, and gathered at the sleeves into huge cuffs.

After-Five Costumes
The pretty Cotton Maid can pick from any number of fashionable cottons for her after-five occasions. One eye-catching cocktail dress is designed for Maid Alice by Cell Chapman in an exotic zebra-like print. The lines are simple to accentuate the striking print. A halter-necked dress, with full, full skirt, is topped with the briefest of jackets.

The believe-it-or-not fabric of the fashion world, cotton denim, is used for one of the Maid's glamorous theatre dresses. The sturdy cotton that once went only to the factory or field now is going to

New Uses for By-Products

After a lifetime of faithful productivity in the dairy barn, Old Bossy might wind up as a vital component of the new plastic curtains in your kitchen. And the porker in your pizen might conceivably be a part of your next tablecloth.

It's all because of a new development in which specially treated inedible animal fats and vegetables oils can be used as plasticizing agents in the manufacture of new plastic products. Hence, the garden vegetables of today may be the garden hose of tomorrow. Or today's farm animals can be tomorrow's farm implements.

Sounds fantastic? It's really very simple, according to Dr. G. E. Hilbert, industrial chemist of Philadelphia. The acid portion of the inedible fat is treated with hydrogen peroxide in such a way that a specially oxidized oil results. This is used as a softening agent in plastic manufacturing.

Some of the final products of this research are plastic floor tile, drapes, tablecloths, table place mats, upholstery material and refrigerator gaskets. In some cases, this new product is superior to previous agents. It is especially valuable for chlorine-containing plastics, shielding them from discoloration and weakening caused by hydrochloric acid. This acid forms when plastic is exposed to heat or sunlight. And, unlike other modifiers, the new plasticizer does not make the final product opaque or hazy.

This new utility of inedible animal fats represents a forward step in the battle to find uses for the acute fat surpluses. Animal fats are by-products of the meat packing industry and the surplus has increased rapidly. Hilbert says this burdensome overflow amounted to approximately 700 million pounds in 1953.

The discovery also will be useful in case of full-scale war production. Plastics can serve as metal and rubber replacements for many essential military needs. Since the supply of plasticizers is usually low in wartime, modified fats and oils prepared by the new process may relieve this shortage.

One thing is certain—in a way, it gives Old Bossy a new lease on life. Reincarnation, so to speak.

Few people know that lawyers have a code of ethics more strict than the law itself. It is called the Canons of Professional Ethics and has been in effect in the United States since 1908.

"In America, where the stability of the courts, and all departments of government, rests upon the approval of the people, it is peculiarly essential that the system for establishing and dispensing justice be developed to a high point of efficiency and so maintained that the public shall have absolute confidence in the integrity and impartiality of its administration," reads the preamble of the Canons. Then follows a set of written rules for the conduct of lawyers which establish a high standard for their dealings with the people, the courts and with one another.

All members of the State Bar of Texas are required by Rules voluntarily adopted by them and ordered into effect by the state Supreme Court to observe 43 separate and distinct canons of professional ethics. In addition, there are canons of Judicial Ethics governing the conduct of all our district and appellate judges.

It is rare that one finds a lawyer who willingly and knowingly departs from the ideals of the code. It is more strict than the law itself, and many acts which are lawful are frowned upon by the code as improper conduct for attorneys. A lawyer may find himself criticized severely by his fellow lawyers and the courts, or even called upon before one of the Texas Bar's 21 grievance committees, because he had something which, though lawful, is contrary to the Canons.

Here are a few of the principals which lawyers have pledged themselves to follow: A lawyer may not represent clients with conflicting interests except with the client's consent after they have full knowledge of the situation. He is bound to give a frank opinion on the merits and likely results of a lawsuit, and should advise his clients to make a fair settlement if he can avoid or end a lawsuit.

He should not overvalue or undervalue his services. Ability to pay is no justification for an excessive lawyer's fee, although lack of finances on the part of the client may require a reduced fee or none at all. And he must never regard his profession as a money-getting trade but always remember that it is a branch of the administration of justice.

The same code requires that he be fair to other lawyers and that he be frank, co-operative and respectful to the courts. He is responsible for decisions regarding

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Hospitals have come a long way. In medieval times, and well into the eighteenth century, they were little more than workhouses or almshouses for the poverty stricken or dying. Today nearly everyone can share their benefits, and it has been estimated that at least one member of the average American family of five will spend four days in a hospital during the course of a year.

At first glance hospital costs may seem high. New drugs and more skillful medical and nursing care mean that patients pay more per hospital day than they did, say 65 years ago. However, they save in the long run by having to spend less time in the hospital and by losing less time from work. For instance, in 1888 the average of patient days spent in the hospital was 52 days, today it is less than 8 days.

The dollar the patient pays the hospital has to go a long way. From 58 to 75 per cent of it may go into salaries of hospital personnel. The rest has to stretch to cover other operating expenses such as food, utility utilities, and laundry. For future construction and expansion, funds usually must come from other sources such as taxes or private philanthropy through endowments, community chests, special drives or campaigns.

With the higher cost per day of hospital care and shorter hospitalizations during which it may be paid, more and more people are finding it hard to pay their bills in a lump sum. A great many of them find it to their advantage to budget for hospital care in some way—through insurance premiums or arrangements with the hospital for installment payments, either before or after they leave the hospital.

Anyone who thinks he may have trouble meeting his hospital expenses would do well to talk at the earliest opportunity with the hospital officials, who can advise him what to do. They can explain, for example, what part of his bill will be covered by insurance and what part he can bear personally. Even if he is unable to pay anything, federal, city, or county hospitals can provide needed care. Furthermore, social service workers in these institutions, in co-operation with community welfare agencies, can help him get back on his feet, financially and medically speaking, after his discharge.

The hospital have several other jobs besides caring for the sick. They train future doctors and nurses, provide facilities for medical research, and provide facilities (outpatient clinics, for example) for the actual prevention of disease, thereby raising health standards of the community. Citizens play varied roles in relation to the hospital. First, they are patients. Next, they pay its expense otherwise as insurance policyholders, taxpayers, or donors to hospital funds. Finally they may work in the hospital on a paid or volunteer basis, and through membership on the hospital's governing board even may help set the institution's policies.

Hospitals belong to the community's citizens, and that's as it should be. What they want from their hospitals they should be able to get by working through the proper channels. Public opinion alone can be a tremendous factor in determining hospital policies.

"REMARKS BY THE COUNTY AGENT"

By DAVID C. EATON

will soon be cotton planting in Lamb County. The main reason now is to get the soil to caliche. The more water can store in the soil the better prospect you will have for an increased yield. Last year at the Lub Experiment Station the lint on dry land cotton was 15 1/2 pounds, with 7 1/2 inches of water the yield was 500 pounds, and with 8 inches of water the yield was 600 pounds.

however, we find that 10 days difference is all we got.

Therefore, we think that the best time to plant cotton is from May 10th to May 20th to harvest a normal crop of cotton.

The High Plains Water District has an advisory board composed of several fellows in the High Plains that are interested in the prospects of water application program.

They would like to have four or five farmers in Lamb County that would cooperate with them for a period of three to five years on a 10-acre plot or less to try experiments in water application.

The thing has been that if water were applied according to the recommendations of the board that they might be able to teach a lot of farmers through actual observation the facts that certain practices are either good or bad from a conservation and economic standpoint.

We would like to have any farmer who is interested in this type of program to contact us as soon as possible.

Plans should be made to provide the dairy herd with ample pasture and forage during the next 12 to 15 months. At least one acre of Sudan for summer grazing, six tons of silage and two tons of hay for each cow in the herd, should be the minimum goal set.

The first step in the forage production program is to collect and submit soil sample for testing not only from crop land but pastures as well. Soils can be over or under fed the same as a dairy cow and the only accurate way for determining what is needed in the soil, is through soil testing.

Competition and milk prices, are factors which are now calling the signals in the dairy industry. To meet the situation, operations must be made more efficient. The dairyman who puts into practice the known methods for cutting costs will continue in addition to growing most of the roughage at home, another mighty important consideration for the dairyman is the growing of replacements for the herd. It takes as long to raise a heifer as it does to build a battleship, so do a good job.

And finally, membership in the Lamb County DHIA organization will provide information needed to improve production and efficiency in operating the dairy.

THE STORY OF EASTER

ANOINTING AND REBUKE

AP Newsfeatures

The Easter story starts with the prophets. They had for hundreds of years predicted the coming of the Messiah. But the tense drama which reaches its climax with the risen Christ began to take shape in Bethany at the home of Simon, the leper.

It was there that Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus, took a pound of costly ointment of pure nard and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped His feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the fragrance of the ointment.

JUDAS DEPARTS

But Judas Iscariot, one of His disciples (he who was to betray Him), said 'Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii and given to the poor?' And others reproached her.

But Jesus rebuked them saying: "Why do you trouble this woman. For she has done a beautiful thing to Me. For you always have the poor with you, but you will not always have Me. In pouring this ointment on My Body she has done it to prepare Me for burial."

JUDAS WITH PRIESTS

Indignant, "not that he cared for the poor but because he was a thief, and as he had the money box he used to take what was put into it," Judas left.

Finally he "went to the chief priests and said, 'What will you give me if I deliver Him to you?' And they paid him thirty pieces of silver. And from that moment he sought an opportunity to betray Him."

But the disciples did not yet understand that Jesus had announced His own death. Their preparation for that event was continued in further episodes of the story.

Gardening this Week

By RUSSELL STANTON
Rutgers University,
College of Agriculture

Written for AP Newsfeatures

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Back in my early days of gardening I laid a pair of oddly shaped carrots before a veteran Green Thumb and asked for a diagnosis.

He took a look at my miserable specimens that apparently had been crossed with a corkscrew and gave me an after-hours lecture on thinning seedlings. Purged of the big words and boiled down, it ran like this:

"You can't grow two carrots or even two junior grade radishes where there's room for only one."

The professor went on to say that this is a hard lesson to learn, but once a back yard gardener takes hold of the idea he is well on his way to success. Pulling weeds out of a row of vegetable or flower plants seems so commendable, that it's sometimes hard to understand that too many plants can be weeds, too.

My two sad specimens would have had a chance at a fuller life of I had thinned them to stand about 2 inches apart. When you thin root crops you have to try to visualize how big you expect each vegetable to be and then attack the thinning job with bravery.

Thinnings from a row of beet seedlings can be successfully transplanted, but few root vegetables can stand this treatment.

Vegetables that produce their crops above ground also need room to grow. If too many in a row have to compete for sunshine, soil moisture and plant food, none will be successful.

Lima beans especially appreciate elbow room—about 6 or 10 inches between each plant—because they need plenty of air circulation to prevent molding.

THINNING of lima beans and other plants is important.

Pulling unwanted plants and weeds from the row takes time, of course, but it's one of those jobs you can do while you're resting from more vigorous garden exercises.

But if you keep up with your garden, there's no special reason why weeds between the rows should give you much trouble. The same oldtime who advised me about thinning said he liked to stop his weeds before they get started.

He takes his rake into the garden after every rain, as soon as the soil is dry enough to walk on. The light raking that is needed to kill the weeds starting to come up is hardly enough to give him even a ruddy glow, he says.

Raking at this time has the added advantage of preventing a crust from forming so that air can penetrate into the soil around the roots. When you follow this system you naturally have to have all rows far enough apart so the rake will fit between.

If for any reason weeds get such a start that they must be chopped with a hoe, be sure the hoe is sharp. This sounds like simple advice, yet a good many gardeners who like to do their chores the hard way are apt to ignore it.

JESUS AT LAST SUPPER

JESUS LESSES DISCIPLES

"IS IT I?"

AP Newsfeatures

"And he will show you a large upper room furnished and ready; there prepare for us," Jesus told His disciples.

"And as they were at table eating, Jesus said, 'Truly I say to you, one of you will betray Me, one is eating with Me.' They began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one after another, 'Is it I?'"

It was a quite meal they had in the upper room, but it was charged with emotion for the participants, and weighed with portents for the future.

Jesus "poured water in a basin and began to wash the disciples feet." And they urged Jesus to tell them who would betray Him.

"It is he to whom I shall give this morsel when I have dipped it," they were told, "He gave it to Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot. Then ateth the morsel, Satan entered into him. Jesus said to him, 'What you are going to do, do quickly.' So, after receiving the morsel, he immediately went out."

And Jesus "took bread, and blessed, and broke it, and gave it to them, and said, 'Take; this is My body.'"

And He took a cup, and when He had given them, they all drank of it. And He said to them, 'This is My blood of the covenant, which is shed out for many'.

"You will all fall away," Jesus told them. They tested their faithfulness.

"Peter said to Him, 'Even though they all fall will not.' And Jesus said to him, 'Truly, I say to you, before the cock crows twice, you will have denied Me three times.'"

The scene changes to the Garden of Gethsemane. "And He took with Him Peter and James and John, and began to be greatly distressed and troubled. And He said to them, 'My Soul is very sorrowful, even to death; remain here and watch.' And going a little farther, He fell on the ground and prayed. 'Father, if Thou art willing, remove this cup from Me, nevertheless not My will, but Thine, be done.' And there appeared to Him an angel from heaven, strengthening Him. And being in agony He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down upon the ground."

Three times He returned to the three, finding them asleep.

"And He said to Peter, 'Simon, are you asleep? Could you not watch one hour?' But at last He said, 'It is enough; the hour has come; the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. Rise, let us be going; see My betrayer is at hand.'"

Judas was at hand with a band of soldiers and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees with lanterns and torches and weapons.

"Now the betrayer had given them a sign, saying 'The One I shall kiss is the Man; seize Him and lead Him away safely.' And when he came he went up to Him at once, and said, 'Master!' And he kissed Him. And they laid hands on Him and seized Him.

Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's slave and cut off his right ear.

"But Jesus said, 'No more of this!' And He touched his ear and healed him.

"Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled."

Later, a repentant Judas tried to return the 30 pieces of silver to the priests, threw the money down in the temple and "Went and hanged himself."

A girl or boy who can think up new party games will never be left sitting at home when a party is in progress. Such popularity is deserved because new games are hard to come by as any party goer or giver knows.

A big lift for Debs who yearn to be popular is offered in a new handbook of party games called "How to Run a Successful Party," published by Toby Press (35 cents).

Favorite games of movie stars—Ann Sheridan, Gene Tierney, Gordon Macrae, Robert Montgomery and others—are offered. The ideas for seasonal and regional parties should perk up any dull neighborhood.

A hit with kids who have played it is "The Game," Robert Montgomery's choice. It is too involved to go into here, but if you've never played it, and your friends don't know it, you can find directions for it in this little handbook. It is lots of fun and should keep your guests interested and amused for hours.

Another game suggested in the book sounds like fun. It is "Where Am I and What Am I Doing?"

The object of the game is for the players to guess the identity of one of them who is known as the "tourist."

The "tourist" decides where he is and what specific thing he is doing at the place. The other players must establish where the tourist is and what he is doing. This is done by players asking a question in turn, which may be answered only by "yes," "no," or "I don't know."

A total of 25 questions may be asked. If the other players have not guessed the whereabouts of the tourist and what he is doing within the time limit set, the game ends and a new game starts, with any other player assuming the role of tourist.

The "tourist" can plan to be any place in the world, doing anything, no matter how fantastic it might

FLOGGING PREPARED

JESUS BEFORE PILATE

PILATE WASHES HIS HANDS

APNewsfeatures

After the betrayal, Jesus appeared before four officials. He was beaten, scourged, abused, ridiculed and then taken out to be crucified.

First, He came before Annas who was father-in-law of Calaphas, who was high priest that year. Then He was taken for a hearing before Calaphas. It was at these hearings that Peter denied Christ three times as the Savior had prophesied he would. "And he went out and wept bitterly."

Jesus was then taken before Pilate. "I find no crime in Him," the Roman governor told the mob. He proposed to chastise Jesus and then release Him. But the mob screamed for death.

Pilate discovered that his Prisoner was from Galilee and therefore was a subject of King Herod, who happened to be in the city. He therefore sent Him to Herod to be tried. But Herod sent him back to Pilate who pointed out that His own king had found Him innocent.

The crowd still "howled for death." So, when Pilate saw that he was gaining nothing, but rather that a riot was beginning, he took water and washed his hands before the crowd, saying, "I am innocent of this Man's blood; see to it yourselves." And all the people answered, "His blood be on us and on our children! Then he released for them Barabbas, and having scourged Jesus, he led Him away to be crucified.

"Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus the praetorium, and they gathered the whole cohort before Him. And they strapped Him and put a robe upon Him, and plaiting a crown of thorns they put it on His head, and put a reed in His hand, and kneeled before Him they mocked Him, saying, 'Hail, King of the Jews.' And when they had mocked Him, they took off the robe, and put His own clothes on Him, and led Him away to be crucified Him."

be. His imagination can be useful in a game of this sort. It is best to try to find out where the player is before finding out what he is doing, in order to avoid asking too many questions. Assuming that a tourist has decided to be in Madison Square Garden knitting, he starts by saying: "I am in New York State."

A series of questions and answers goes like this:

- Q. Are you in New York City? A. Yes.
- Q. Are you indoors? A. Yes.
- Q. Are you in a residence? A. No.
- Q. Are you east of Fifth Avenue? A. No.
- Q. Are you on a main thoroughfare? A. Yes.
- Q. Are you in a sports arena? A. Yes.

The questioner goes on to ask further pertinent questions to discover where the tourist is and then what he is doing in Madison Square Garden. Actually this is a short-cut illustration. The game is more time-consuming usually, unless you are just lucky enough to hit the proper stride in the beginning.

When players catch on to the game the tourist does not need to tell the country or state he is supposed to be in. The game is more exciting, starting from scratch. The nicest thing about this game is that it can be played leisurely while sitting around a room.

Some people prefer to play it while a buffet meal is being consumed. But that doesn't give the "tourist" much chance to eat.

THE STORY OF EASTER

PROCESSION TO CALVARY

JESUS CARRIES THE CROSS

AT Newsfeatures
The procession to "Golgotha" (which means place of the skull) began. There were Jesus and two robbers, each carrying a cross. There were the mob and the Roman soldiers. And there were the disciples of Christ.
Due Jesus had been scourged and abused for many hours. He faltered. They came upon a man of Cyrene, Simon by name; this man they compelled to carry His cross.
They offered Him wine mixed with gall which He refused to drink. They crucified Him between the two robbers. They mocked Him.

"Save Yourself!" they said. "If you are the Son of God, come down from the cross." So also the chief priests with the scribes and elders mocked Him, saying, "He saved others; He cannot save Himself. He is King of Israel; let Him come down now from the cross and we will believe in Him."
They put a sponge of vinegar to His lips. "And Jesus cried again in a loud voice and yielded up His Spirit."
"And behold, the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom; and the earth shook, and the rocks were split; the tombs also were opened, and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised,

THE CRUCIFIXION

ON THE CROSS

and coming out of the tombs after His resurrection they went into the Holy City and appeared to many.
"When the centurion and those who were with him, keeping watch over Jesus, saw the earthquake and what took place, they were filled with awe, and said, "Truly this was the Son of God!"
"There were also women looking on from afar, among whom were Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the younger, and of Joses, and Salome, who, when He was in Galilee, followed Him, and ministered to Him; and also many other women who came up with Him to Jerusalem."

soon as the champion threw it down: another time a portly Dymoke, unused to wearing medieval armor, fell down and could not get up. The last Dymoke to ride into Westminster Hall borrowed a circus horse trained to walk backwards out of the royal presence—and was embarrassed to find himself being backed in as well as out.

The lord high constable and lord high steward both figure in a list of five "great officers of state" that reads like a cast list from "The Mikado."

Heading the officers is the lord high steward, followed by the lord high chancellor, the lord great chamberlain, the lord high constable, and the earl Marshall. Two more great officers—never appointed now—were the lord high admiral and the lord high treasurer.

These great officers or state were the king's right hand men in the days as reigned.
In two cases—the constable and the steward—the posts became too important and were abolished by prudent monarchs.

In two more cases—the earl marshal and the great chamberlain—the posts have been whittled down to a fraction of their former importance.
At one time the earl marshal was the lord high steward's deputy, responsible for internal law and order. Today, his duties are purely ceremonial and concerned mainly with stage managing coronations and royal funerals and with running the royal college of heralds, where armorial bearings and family trees are kept.

The office, first created in the 14th century, has been held for the last 300 years or so by the Dukes of Norfolk.

The office of lord great chamberlain dates back to Norman times. In those days the lord great chamberlain used to be the monarch's financial wizard, responsible for keeping the royal coffers filled.

His duties gradually fell to his deputy, the lord chamberlain—in these days the man who runs the monarch's household. Today, the lord great chamberlain's job consists mainly of looking after the royal palace of Westminster—the official name for the Houses of Parliament—and making the arrangements when the sovereign formally opens the parliamentary session every year.

In the old days, the lord great chamberlain was responsible for dressing the sovereign on the morning of his coronation, and could claim as his fees the royal bed and night clothes.

This job came to an abrupt halt in the days of Queen Anne, who was reportedly extremely annoyed when the lord great chamberlain of the day arrived in her bedroom on coronation morn and announced his intention of dressing her.

Nominally, the office is hereditary, but is claimed equally by Lords Lancaster, Cholmondeley and Carrington.

To save undignified squabbles, the three families agreed some years ago to take the job in turn. For this reign, the 70-year-old Lord Cholmondeley is lord great chamberlain.

The lord high chancellor is the only great officer of state still retaining his political powers.

He represents law, justice—is "keeper of the king's conscience"—and is the monarch's chief legal advisor.

His office is a political appointment carrying a 28,000 dollars a year salary, plus a palatial apartment in the palace of Westminster. He acts as speaker of the house of Lords and presides over the Lords when they sit as the country's highest appeal court.

THE TOMB IS SEALED

AP Newsfeatures

Joseph of Arimathea begged the Body of Jesus from Pilate and buried it in a new tomb. He rolled a great stone to the entrance. The priests, fearing that His disciples would "Steal Him away, and tell the people 'He has risen from the dead,'" got Pilate to give them a guard of soldiers. They sealed the tomb and set the guard.

"And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone, and sat upon it. His appearance was like lightening and his raiment white as snow. And While they were perplexed about this, behold, two men stood by them in dazzling apparel; and as they were frightened and bowed their faces to the ground, the men said to them, 'Why do ye seek the living among the dead?'"

Two of the disciples also saw the empty tomb. But Mary Magdalene stood weeping outside the tomb. And it was there that she saw Jesus. But even the disciples found it hard to believe that Jesus was alive, especially lead men."

He said to them, 'It is not for you to know the times or seasons which the Father has fixed by His own authority. But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria to the end of the earth.' And when He had said these things, as they were looking on, He was lifted up, and took Him out of their sight."

Additional Revenue Needed Should Come From Gas Tax, Says A. F. Shelby

If additional revenue is needed to finance teacher's pay raises, super-highway progress and other projects now being debated in Austin, the money should come from a tax on natural gas, A. F. Shelby, president of the Lamb County Farm Bureau declared.

"Natural gas does not now pay its fair share of the tax bill. Gasoline is being taxed at about 30 percent of its retail value, yet natural gas is taxed at only about 1 1/2 percent of its retail value, Shelby said.

There are some special interests which would like to see all taxes borne by the people in the form of sales taxes, etc. the county farm leader said. He pointed out that the governor already has proposed that the sales tax on gasoline should be raised from four to five cents a gallon. Also mentioned was the fact that Shiver's school financing plan which is embodied in House Bill 3 would place more of the tax burden on the people in this district.

Another issue which is expected to come up any day now in the state capital is the super-highway program advocated by E. H. Thornton, chairman of the Highway Commission. The program would cost an estimated $100,000,000 extra each year for the next five years. The rural road program, the county bond assumption monies and the tractor gas refund also may be jeopardized if this plan is approved, Mr. Shelby said.

In referring to a tax on natural gas, the county farm leader pointed out that some two-thirds of Texas' natural gas is piped out of the state. In Michigan, this Texas gas is being pumped back into the ground for storage. In some other states the gas is taxed heavier than it is in Texas, he added.

"This great natural resource is incombustible," Mr. Shelby said. "The natural gas that is leaving Texas today can never be replaced. There will never be another opportunity for Texas to benefit from a tax that would enable that diminishing resource to pay its fair share of the tax burden."

Parents With Physically Handicapped Children May Enter Them In School Here

Inasmuch as there are only four children in the physically handicapped class in the Littlefield schools, and it is necessary that at least five students qualify for instruction, in order that the schools receive state support, parents of the students now attending urge that any parents interested in entering their handicapped child call 658-J, Mrs. E. A. Hall.

Children who are polio impaired, hearing, and vision, with bone deformities of any kind, who have rheumatic fever, or any other physical defect, which keeps them from attending regular classes, are in line to attend the classes.

Special Service At Lutheran Church Friday

"Behold Your Suffering Savior in Noonday Darkness" is the Good Friday meditation at Emmanuel (West 3rd) Lutheran Church, Friday, April 3, at 10:00 a. m. Emmanuel Lutheran's open door policy also includes this special service which will remember the anniversary of the painful yet life-giving death of Jesus, man's only Savior. This Good Friday worship hour will include the celebration of Holy Communion. The church's Pastor, Rev. H. A. Heckman will deliver the morning's message.

A room in the primary building is equipped especially for the handicapped children's classes, and to care for the children.

The parents of the four handicapped children are anxious to retain the school, but point out that there must be five qualified students before state aid is allowed.

In an interview with a Leader reporter Friday, Mrs. Hall pointed out that handicapped students in Lamb County may qualify to attend.

To Be Held At Youth Center In Littlefield

Farmers' viewpoint — Robert H. Gibson, manager of Paymaster Farms, Lockney, Texas.

Noon speaker is to be Marshall Formby from Hereford. Mr. Formby is a member of the Texas Highway Commission.

The second question is "By increasing research, would it be possible to eliminate the need for Subsidies?"

Paris Hitches Tapestry To Modern Fashion

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Newsfeatures

PARIS—The woman who introduced tapestry to modern fashion is protesting against imitators.

Madame Claude Saint-Cyr, the Paris hat-maker, has circularized fashion writers with a letter deploring the "uproar" in the press, particularly in America, hauling the adaptation of tapestry to fashion. She points out:

Hers is the only genuine tapestry; her rivals use a Swiss-made imitation.

Tapestry wasn't really new this season; she started using it two years ago.

Madame Saint-Cyr says it was her husband, the decorator Georges Martin, who gave her the idea for tapestry hats when he redecorated her salons in this fabric. Says she:

"I wanted something that could not be copied, for a beautiful hat should be a unique piece, like poetry. Artisans at the Aubusson tapestry works at Felletin, France, were specially instructed in turning out pieces for hats instead of large wall hangings, and the nearly-dead industry took a new lease in life."

This season the young newcomer to the Paris fashion world, Hubert de Givenchy, has delighted the style magazines with "tapestry" roses on evening gowns and jackets, and other designers have adopted the mode.

The material used is, in fact a Swiss embroidered imitation of petit-point, as Madame Saint-Cyr points out. She adds rather tartly:

"I've been using real Aubusson tapestry for two years without any uproar being made over it. It seems to me that the word 'innovation' (in reference to other designers)

FRENCH HEADLINER, Aubusson tapestry is used in this stylish chapeau by Saint-Cyr. It is inopportune, and the word 'tapestry' (in reference to imitation) is improper. In any case, romantic roses are one of the new things of fashion.

Receives Special
Appointment in Piano

Mrs. Norma McCarthy of 101 S. Westside Ave. has received a special appointment to teach the Progressive Series (of piano lessons) in Littlefield and surrounding territory. Miss Winnifred Alvis, field director from the St. Louis Conservatory, flew here this week end from San Antonio for an appointment with Mrs. McCarthy, who more than met all the qualifications demanded of a teacher to carry on this work.

With this appointment goes the responsibility and leadership of the Pi Mu Chapter already established here. Mrs. McCarthy and Miss Alvis have made some wonderful plans for the future of this National Music Society.

Miss Alvis will be in Littlefield again in June, at which time she will meet with the entire Chapter in a meeting and social gathering.

Included in the local chapter are the following enrolled students: Misses Sue McCown, Paula Sue Jensen, Jo Ann Parrock, Carol Rodgers, Peggy Ann Grey, Johnita Gallini, Barbara Ann Mouser, Carrie Anita Ivey, Mrs. E. D. Bingham, and Mrs. Virginia Howard Williams.

Harvey G. Reese of Los Angeles, son of Mrs. Dove Reese, of Littlefield, arrived Thursday night to visit his mother and other relatives here. He left for home Tuesday.

Mrs. R. M. Richey, president-elect for the next two years, and Mrs. Norma McCarthy are to represent the Forum at the Texas Federated Club Convention for the Seventh District to be held in Hereford on April 8-10. Mrs. Lovelle Zoth was selected to be alternate delegate.

easy, since designers on both sides of the Atlantic have come to an agreement that the season's suit silhouette should be slim yet subtly feminine, softly tailored and flattering to the average figure.

You'll find this spring's suits are shaped to the natural lines of the body, with waistline gently nipped, shoulders unpadded, skirts slim and jackets usually hipbone length, with details of lapels or trimming which give a feminine touch.

Fabrics are handsome and varied, with silk-and-wool mixtures highly popular, smooth worsteds important, and colors ranging from grays and beiges through the perennial navy blues.

Prices are no higher than last year's levels, and in some cases lower. And there are smart, flattering outfits to be found in all price brackets.

Elizabeth To Wear Father's Robes for Arrival at Abbey

By ANNE KRAMER
AP Newsfeatures

LONDON—A slim brunette stood on the stone staircase of the Palace of Kensington in a shimmering red and gold robe which fell becomingly around her youthful figure. Her grandmother, waiting below, nodded approval. The girl stooped gracefully to kiss the hand of the wise old lady.

Both queens, the 26-year-old Elizabeth II and the 85-year-old Queen Grandmother Mary, had just made a decision—that Elizabeth will wear her father's Robes of Estate when she arrives at the Abby for her Coronation on June 2.

The two ladies drove to the Palace, now a royal museum, for a fitting last June. The Queen wanted to try on the Coronation Robes of her late father, King George VI, and those of Queen Victoria, the last Sovereign Queen. Even a Queen must economize. And if either one should fit it would save the expense of making a new garment.

The attractive robes of the tiny Victoria, who was under five feet in height, were much too short. Her father's stately robes required little alteration.

But these robes will see the queen only as far as the Abby. For on Coronation Day she must wear four different sets of clothes. She must change clothes inside the Abbey and twice during the ceremony. For the more difficult changes, she retires to the seclusion of St. Edward's Chapel.

The other three costumes are being made. She cannot wear those of her father because the ceremonial garb worn by a King differs slightly from that worn by a Queen. The new robes must fit, so the Queen must endure the usual tortures inflicted by alteration hands.

The Queen arrives at the Abbey in a rich crimson robe of velvet with matching velvet cap. Underneath she wears a gown of heavy silk adorned with gold and silver encrusted embroidery of her choice. Her stockings, of sheer silk, are white. Her court shoes have medium heels and are larger than necessary to allow for her feet to expand during the long ordeal of standing.

As soon as the first part of the service, the Recognition, is over the Queen quietly disappears into the Chapel to change into the Colobium Sindonis. This grand-named garment is just a simple linen dress trimmed with lace. It is pure white and looks like a bishop's rochet or alb. The Queen will wear it when the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher appear in the Abbey in such scanty garb and thus over the simple dress she wears a dazzling golden tunic falling to the feet, which is known as the Supertunica in ceremonial terminology.

Fortunately for the Queen the mighty men who worked out the whole ceremony with pencils and puckered brows are human. The Chapel, normally damp and chilly, will be heated when the Queen undresses there. And if she is hungry there will be dainty sandwiches at hand. There is no chance this time that the altar will stagger under the weight of chunky sandwiches and bottles of wine, a sight which enraged Queen Victoria at her coronation.

The quick nip into the Chapel to change into low-cut linen dress is a prerogative of the Queen. A King has it much easier. He remains where he is and throws off his crimson robe in full view of the spectators in the Abbey. In fact, way back, King William IV created a scandal. He discarded his crimson robe and presented himself to the Archbishop of Canterbury for anointing in full admiral's uniform.

After the anointing Dr. A. C. Don, the Dean of Westminster, hands her the Royal Vestments, the Armilla and the Dalmatic Robe. The Queen dons these garments while standing beside her throne.

But before she puts them on she must "lightly touch" the Goldeg Spurs which are brought from the Altar.

Then the Dean places the Armilla, a heavily embroidered golden stole, round her throat. No one today really knows the true significance of this piece of clothing. A similar band was found lying across the breast of Edward I when his tomb was opened in 1774. Knowledgeable people claimed this was a medieval custom. Today the stole is an emblem of the religious part of the ceremony. As soon as she wears it the Queen becomes a "yoke-fellow" of Christ in the carrying out of her duties.

After the Armilla the Dean hands her the Pallium or Dalmatic Robe, a heavy mantle made of stiff cloth of gold and lavishly embroidered with eagles. It has patterns of fleurs de lys for the Lost Kingdom of France, crowns, and stylized roses, thistles and shamrocks for the Three Kingdoms, all rigidly laid down in a book of rules, the Liber Regalis of 1350, preserved at Westminster Abbey. The mantle is four-square and represents the four corners of the earth all subject to the Sovereignty of Christ.

The Lord Great Chamberlain, the Marquess of Cholmondeley, fastens the cloak. After she has been given the regalia—orb, sceptre and ring—the Queen is crowned with the massive St. Edward's crown. Drum beats and trumpets sound.

THE BIG PARADE... fabric called Merisse, which is a mixture of silk and worsted, with unusual texture, a permanently pleated skirt and long tabbed collar. At right is William Bass' combination of jersey and worsted in a casual suit with push-up sleeves.

TOPPERS... Here are in imported gray sharkskin with soft jacket, stem skirt and white lined suits designed with narrow sharkskin collar. At bows, at right, sophisticated flat-terry in light blue English pin-check suit with asymmetrical yoke of white linen inset beneath the roll collar.

NEWS OF ANTON--"The Town With A Purpose"

Show Sponsored By Gragg Darden Is Outstanding Entertainment

The show sponsored by Gragg Darden at the school auditorium Tuesday night was some of the best entertainment Anton has seen in years.

The master of ceremonies was tops and it was a shame that his harmonica shrunk but those things will happen. I am sure that next time he will use a sanforized one.

I really feel sorry for some of our straight faced ladies a little on the hefty side. I am sure that business picked up the next day at the girdle counter and all because of that little comedian . . . He just should not have ACTED that way!

The organist was not quite up to the balance of the show but it was at least better than any of us could have done.

The dogs and the magician especially interested the children, but I think the pretty juggler probably raised more blood pressure than anything has done in that old school building for many a day. Some of the ladies seriously regretted taking their husbands but really I think it was probably safer to have had them at their sides, because those old boys who had been sitting around TAMELY looking at TV, realized that this was

Local Man Passes Away

Asa Bryant, a long time resident of Anton and veteran of World War I, passed away about two p. m. Sunday at his home here, of a heart attack.

Asa has not been in good health for years and this did not come unexpectedly to his family and friends. Garland Bryant, a brother succumbed to a heart attack about two years ago.

Funeral services were held in the First Baptist Church at two p. m. Tuesday and interment took place in the Anton Cemetery.

flesh and blood in action and you had better handle them with gloves on, gals, THEY MAY BREAK AWAY YET!

And if for some weeks to come they continue to have that far away look in their eyes, don't be too hard on them . . . It was all the fault of THAT PRETTY JUGGLER!

What Were Your Ambitions?

Two weeks ago this same question was asked and about twelve ladies gave very interesting replies. So many seemed to enjoy this that the same question is being asked another group.

In the issue between, high students were asked what they planned to do after graduation. We had some very interesting definite answers that showed thought but it was surprising and disappointing that some right on the eve of graduation could give no answer to this question at all. They did not have the remotest idea of what they would do next. It seemed that they had not given it a thought. I believe that this is not the children's fault. Probably the subject should be brought up in the home to start them thinking.

If this isn't done both the parents and the children may regret this later and their story may also be one of unfulfilled ambitions.

My ambition was to be a wife and mother, to raise my children well and to have a good home. I have enjoyed my life at it has been and would make the same choice, I believe, if I had it to live over. I did have a little notion earlier that I would like to be a private secretary to an important man and feel that incidentally I am the private secretary to a man that is IMPORTANT TO ME.
Mrs. Joe Ashburn

My Ambition after I finished high school in Anton was to prepare to be a private Secretary. I started by taking a business course and this auctioneer husband of mine changed my plans entirely. I am happier as it is and my job is surely permanent.
Mrs. Clarence Mathews

I always wanted to be a nurse and felt that I would be very happy in being able to relieve and cheer the wounded and sick.
Mrs. Don Love

When I was in school I wanted to be a Home Economics Teacher. I think it is one of the most important things for a woman to know how to take care of her home and her children and then I could have taught thousands of other girls the same thing.
Mrs. Alvin Crews

When I was young I wanted above everything else to be a nurse or a seamstress. Girls then did not have the opportunity that they do now and we were expected to be content with just knowing how to keep house and raise children. I have enjoyed that but these two things would certainly have been helpful to me.
Mrs. J. P. Jackson

When I was young I wanted to be a nurse but I had no one to back me financially and later I decided I would just like to have a husband, a nice home and six little boys . . . but the little boys just didn't FIND ME!
Mrs. Gene Bourlon

I wanted to become a stenographer. Girls then did not have a chance to learn anything except how to do the house work and to work in the field. I am glad that more things are open to women today and hope young folks begin

Anton Wins First Place In One Act Play Contest Friday Night

The one-act play directed by Mrs. Gossett Greer and presented Friday night at the school auditorium won first place in the district.

Billy Lyda, Wynona Richards, Don Love and James Burdette were the cast in the play entitled "The Sweetmeat Game".
The Scene was laid in Chinatown, San Francisco.

Billy Lyda was chosen best actress and James Burdette best actor Wynona Richards was placed on the all-star cast. They will complete with five other districts on April 11 in an area contest to be held in the evening at the Lubbock Junior High School.

to think early and work toward their goal.
Mrs. E. D. Criswell

When I was very young I wanted to raise flowers, especially Iris and to embroider. I am doing these things and my mother and I surely enjoyed our home life because we had similar ambitions and achieved them.

Francis Collins
My two ambitions were to be a nurse or a beauty operator, but I finished high school during the depression years and money was so scarce that I was not able to reach either goal.
Mrs. Bud Bishop

I always wanted to keep house, to embroider, to knit and to crochet. I learned to do these things early and have surely enjoyed my life with my daughter who has the same hobbies. There is never a dull moment for us.
Mrs. Kate E. Collins

When I was a child I was very anxious to become a nurse but my family discouraged it and I had a neighbor who continually told me the bad side of it. I regret that I did not go ahead, because I remember that the nurse of all nurses, Florence Nightengale's family threatened to disown her if she became a nurse. It was considered disgraceful then but she went ahead in spite of all that discouragement.
Mrs. Dewey Stephens

My ambition in life was to be a good seamstress. We did not have Home Economics then but I did learn to sew and surely enjoy it.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE ABOUT OUR CEMETARY AT ONCE

No desirable lots are left in our cemetery. We are up against this—either we buy more land north and east at $10,000 for the 40 acres or start a new cemetery elsewhere.

We do not need the whole 40 acres, nor will it be easy to raise the money for it. But to arrange for waterworks, etc., and new location would also entail an expense we would like to avoid.

The Lions have been giving a great deal of thought and effort to this matter for several months. They would like the opinion of the general public. If you have any helpful suggestions or are interested, see the committee appointed by the Lions—Ed Hart, Clarence Herren and Ellis Williams. This community problem must be solved in the near future.

Seoul, Korea, March 4, 1953.
 Darling Mom, Dad and sweet ones, I've been writing letters for a long time but the hardest one I've ever had to write. Mom, I'm home but I've got to go with Leon so I will be in about 15 days. I'm going to San Francisco and I'll meet them there. Mom, please be a favor. Don't you worry, I know it's hard on all of you. I can't sleep at night. I'm not hungry. I've been so much until my eyes are sore. Mom our Lord and Jesus Christ, He knows I've prayed that He will answer all of you and I'll answer it too. You have often said I can do anything, but some days I will meet again in my home above. Mom, I have to come back to the captain in Seoul getting everything ready to come home to the ones I love so much. Now mom, don't worry. I will be home soon and you answer right well. Mom, I will close, write Norma. Bless all of you. With all my love,

Brotherhood Meeting Held at First Methodist Church Friday Night

Sixteen men were present at the Brotherhood meeting at Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church Friday evening where they were served a delicious meal of hot rolls, roast beef, vegetable casserole, a raw vegetable salad, chocolate upside-down cake and coffee by Mesdames Alvin Crews, Donald Love, Carl Rushing, Harlan Black and Ed Hart.

Harlan Black had charge of the program and showed pictures of their recent trip to Honolulu. Well, this editor rather expected Harlan Black to sneak back some little Hula Miss doing the Wacki-Woo in action and color. And I am sure it was INTERESTING but whether or not it was exactly conducive to real religion I can't say. Who am I to judge? and anyhow, I wasn't there. It is highly probable that those little Hula Hula girls were censored clear out for church purposes!

Dimmitt Hospital Bond Issue Carries

City officials have announced that the $80,000 hospital bond election held at Dimmitt Saturday appeared to have been passed by a comfortable margin.

All but one of the 14 boxes had been counted late Saturday, with the totals standing at 482 votes for the bond, 360 against. The one outstanding box is believed to contain no more than 25 votes.

Passage of the bond provides for the purchase or erection of a new hospital in Dimmitt. About 50 per cent of the city's eligible voters cast their ballots.

The bond election was called on March 4, at which time a petition signed by 10 per cent of the city's qualified voters was presented to the city.

TO PROPERTY OWNERS IN THE CITY OF LITTLEFIELD:

You Have The One Chance Now To Get A Deep Test Oil Well Drilled Within Your City Limits.

John W. Murchison would have Spudded the Well in this week, had the required acreage of 700 acres been acquired. The longer you wait to lease us your lot or acreage, the longer it will be before a well can be drilled. We are giving you an 1/16th override instead of a small cash payment, which will be worth much more to you when oil is discovered, than the cash would be. Then you are helping yourself and neighbors get a test well drilled by co-operating and letting us have your lease.

Please call our office, 1095 or 30 and let us have the information to draw up your lease, then come down and execute it without cost to you. When we need your abstract, we supplement it to date at our expense and give it back to you when we are through with it.

If you want a test well drilled in Littlefield, act now for we have only a short time in which to acquire this acreage. We need every lot and acre tract to make up the acreage. You will be proud when the well comes in that you helped us get it by coming in with your lease.
