THC Plans Development Of Two County Roads

Highway Commission announced plans for construction of 9.5 miles of farm roads in Lamb County as part of the 1968 Texas farm road program.

Lubbock said the estimated cost of the work is $178,000. The Texas Highway Department engineer in charge of the work will be Rhea E. Bradley, of Littlefield.

Location of the two planned projects are as follows:
One From FM 54, four miles west of Littlefield, south to the end of FM 1490 at the Hockley County line.

The other location will be from the end of FM 2197, 2.7 miles east of US 385, east to FM 1072.

The 1968 farm to market road program includes the addition of 545 new miles, bringing the designated mileage of the Texas FM-RM system to almost 39,500 miles.

The Texas farm to market road system is one of the most highly developed networks of rural highway facilities in the nation, exceeding the total mileage of the entire highway systems of most other states.

The program includes advance stage construction on some roads already begun in addition to new mileage. Total cost of the work is $23.8 million. Each day during the school year, almost half a million Texas youngsters are transported to school and back home by an estimated 8,000 school buses. Trips to school and back daily amount to more than half a million miles of travel, much of it over FM roads.

Rural mail carriers drive an estimated 50 thousand miles a day over the FM-RM system. In recent years, farm to market and ranch to market routes have taken on additional roles, providing access to recreational areas, daily trips between urban homes and rural farms or suburban homes and urban employment.

Green Bugs Hit Grain Crop

Pesticide Spraying Increases In County

The heaviest infestation of Green Bugs and Corn Leaf aphids in recent history has struck farm crops in the area, Buddy Logsdon, Lamb County Agent, has informed the Leader-News.

There is no need to become overly excited about it as yet, however, because it is still too early to determine how severe the infestation will become, Logsdon said.

As of now the insect population buildup is not far enough advanced to make pesticide spraying an economical measure, although there are a good number of farmers throughout the county who are spraying, or who have already sprayed, he added.

"Everything considered, it takes a rather heavy and durable infestation to make chemical spraying an economical proposition," the agent said, "and there are some in the area who are already spraying who might have jumped the gun and caused themselves an expense they could have avoided."

"Inspection of the grain sorghums around the county indicates that the bugs are still down low on the plant, mostly on the bottom two or three leaves, and are not causing serious trouble at the present time.

It's when they get up to the top where the plant is heading out that they do the most harm," Logsdon stated. "That is when spraying becomes mandatory, and use of the proper chemicals will quickly rid the crop of the insects," he added.

The agent warned against the use of improper chemicals which he said would result in burning on the plant, with red and discoloration on the leaves.

There are some factors that may very well work in our favor that could depress the population buildup and possibly make it unnecessary to resort to spraying.

The Green Bug likes cool weather and at temperatures over 90 degrees it ceases to flourish. The principal cause of the present infestation is the cool weather and extended rains we have had this year. If we should get a hot, dry spell beginning soon, they may never have a chance to reach destructive proportions, Logsdon said.

Another factor working in the farmers' favor is the population buildup now taking place of the Junebug, Wasp and Lacewing Fly which are all natural predators of the Green Bug. They could make decisive inroads on the pests, he stated.

The present infestation appears to be rather evenly spread over the entire county, Logsdon said, and represents the first appearance of the Green Bug since they were present in appreciable numbers on wheat crops in the spring. As the grain heads out the honeydew created by the aphid can become a major problem and make spraying a necessity.

AERIAL WARFARE ON LOCAL GREEN BUGS--Spray planes get "bombed up" with pesticide chemicals in preparation for their aerial battle against the Green Bugs that have invaded Lamb County with the largest infestation in recent memory. The two shown above are a part of a multi-plane dusting company that was engaged in spraying Castor beans and grain sorghum fields near Oton Monday. The aircraft are specially modified and equipped Steermans.

Mayor Devotes His Time Representing Littlefield

Besides a heavy schedule of putting Littlefield before other communities interested in following the beautification leadership of this South Plains city, Mayor J. E. Chisholm has accepted an appointment to an important committee of the Municipal League of Municipalities.

The Mayor flew yesterday to Orange to speak before the Chamber of Commerce and other interested citizens on Littlefield's downtown beautification project.

Chisholm was to speak at a meeting in the Orange Yacht Club.

Friday, Chisholm is scheduled to attend a meeting of the TML Legislative Committee on Revenue and Taxation in Austin. He was appointed, along with Lubbock Mayor Dub Rogers, by El Paso Mayor Judson Williams.

Rounding out a busy and far-reaching schedule, the Mayor plans to speak Monday evening before a joint meeting of the Downtown Amarillo Committee, Amarillo City Commission, City Planning Commission and the Amarillo Citizens Advisory Committee.

Chisholm says his talks to business beautification project committees is usually carried on mainly with a film slide presentation, while he explains the reasons why Littlefield went into the project, how it was financed and the community's reaction. The Mayor further explained that the reason he accepted so many invitations to make such presentations was that a good number of his talks are in industrial cities, where such favorable information and background could fall on the ears of industrial people looking for a new, progressive community in which to settle.

"With this in mind, I can't hardly turn down such opportunities," he related.

Clayton Is Included On Important Lists

State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake, Texas, is being listed in two important 1968 reference publications, of leaders in Texas.

He is listed in the first edition published of "Who's Who in Texas", which lists Texans who have distinguished themselves in various fields. Clayton is cited for his legislative and civic leadership, particularly in the development and conservation of water resources.

Another book, "Community Leaders in America", to be published early this fall, will include Clayton, and will list his achievements in church, civic, area and state activities that benefit his community.

Clayton is currently serving in his sixth year as a representative of the 78th Legislative District, comprised of Farmer, Deaf Smith, Castro, Lamb, Bailey, Oldham and Cochran Counties.

A farmer and businessman, Clayton and his wife, Delma, have two children, Brenda, a senior at Springlake-Earth High School, and Tommy, 13. They are members of the Baptist Church. Clayton is a native of Lamb County and is a graduate of Texas A&M.

YOU CAN EARN A FREE BIKE

Though 41 youngsters are out selling subscriptions to the Leader-News, more are expected to sign up as salesmen.

Why? Because they have a chance to earn for themselves brand new bicycles...just for selling either 15 or 25 new subscriptions.

The campaign is not a contest. The young salesmen cannot lose. Should they not sell enough subscriptions to earn the bike, they will be paid 25 per cent of their sales as commissions.

Salesmen are reminded that Friday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. is check-in time. Even if a subscription hasn't been sold, the report is wanted that progress can be assessed.

And those who aren't Leader-News salesmen yet, there's still plenty of room and hundreds of sales prospects to the best newspaper in a community its size in Texas, the Lamb County Leader and the County-Wide News.

Check Charge

Johnny Wells, of Littlefield, was lodged in the county jail Monday on a worthless check charge, a sheriff's report indicates.

Wells pleaded guilty in county court later in the day and was fined $100 and court costs. He failed to pay the fine and was still in custody as of late Tuesday.

STORY OF CUCUMBER HARVEST

From Picker--To Sorter--To Packing Plant

HERE IS WHERE IT BEGINS--A young harvester displays one of the lush crop on a 50 acre patch east of Spade as the Lamb County cucumber harvest rounds into full swing. He is one of the estimated 500 workers who are hard at work from dawn to dusk picking the prospective pickles which will find their way to our tables at a later date. A foreman at the field informed the Leader-News that wages for pickers are averaging approximately 60¢ per half-sack in the county this year.

AND IT GOES THROUGH HERE--A seemingly never-ending stream of cucumber loaded trucks wait to be unloaded into the large grading machine which segregates the crop into three grades according to their size, which will determine their future use. The smallest are graded #1 and make up the fancy sweet and sour pickles, #2 grade goes to larger dill and sweet pickles and #3 is used for sliced pickles or ground up for catsup and chili sauce.

AND COMES OUT HERE--Following the sorting and grading process, the cucumbers are weighed out and carefully entered in the tally sheets as to weight, grade and grower for future reckoning and payment to the farmer. The crate shown above is filled with #1 cucumbers and weighed in a startling 1,104 pounds. From here it will be forklifted on to a truck for transport to the cannery where it will find itself irrevocably consigned to the "briny deep".

AND DEPARTS FOR THE CANNERY HERE--A large fleet of huge trucks loaded to the gunwales with tons of the sorted cucumbers depart at all times of the day for the long journey to the Brown-Miller Pickle Company at Texarkana where they will be processed and canned. So, the next time you bite into a delicious pickle at your table, you just may be able to say you saw it here first.

Harvest the Rewards in Profit, Production and Protection...

The success of today's highly mechanized farm depends to an ever-increasing degree on the safety practiced by today's modern farmer. When safety is your constant companion, you run a more efficient and productive farm.

As a modern farmer, you put heavy dependence on the proper operation of costly, often specialized equipment. Be sure it is safe to use... keep all machinery in tip-top shape.

Accidents are fewer when your farm area and buildings are neat, clean and in good repair. And even your youngest farmers-to-be should practice safety. The best way for them to learn is by following your good example.

Safety is a full time job. Practice it all year around, and you'll never stop harvesting the benefits.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

The REAL America

BY LIBBY MUGDETT

What is the REAL America? Who are the REAL Americans? Is America the sick, insane, murderous, evil land portrayed on TV news, and by other news media, or is that news slanted? Is the average American basically sane, productive, healthy and good, but ignored by the news? Or is the rugged individualist, the independent, resourceful and courageous person a relic, an almost forgotten breed?

THE TV INDUSTRY is beginning to ask itself these very questions as a result of a little heralded, little promoted documentary about the grass-roots sections of our nation. It wasn't even carried in our part of the country, I suppose because of lack of sponsorship. But it was carried in enough sections of the land that it has caused a flood of mail and comments by TV professionals to rock the foundations of the TV news world itself.

THE PROGRAM was aired by NBC, conceived, written and produced by a Bob Rogers and was entitled "Home County USA". Chet Huntley opened it with these words: "For the space of this program, let's declare a cease-fire in the painful but necessary process of searching, scholding and scaring ourselves. For a change, we will consider some of our virtues, instead of our faults."

THE PRODUCER says that in the process of filming the documentary he found people that reflected the virtues of the good side of America everywhere, regardless of terrain, income, race or accent—people mature in the basic human knowledge that you only get out of life what you put into it.

READ SOME of the responses that flowed in to NBC. An AP reporter: "It was like soothing balm."

A Boston critic: "There's still a strong backbone running down our Nation's anatomy."

A Wac: "I couldn't go to bed tonight without saying thank you. I have never been to those communities. I'm so glad they exist."

Another producer of documentaries: "It was so thrilling to see these people. They were so real. This show gave us essence of the American character. The terrific integrity and self-reliance I can't tell you what it meant to me."

AND ON AND ON. The result is that newscasters are taking a second look at themselves. Says one: "The responsible man, the productive man, the man without a chip on his shoulder, is 'The Forgotten American'. You hardly ever see him on TV."

And why not? "Because everybody's covering urban problems."

From newsmen Huntley: "It's true. Our attention has certainly been turned to the cities. That's where the problems are. But it is distorted. It doesn't reflect the total country. We're ignoring the rest of America."

HOWARD K. SMITH of ABC: "TV news isn't telling people the way life is. We're giving the public a wholly negative picture on a medium so vivid that it damages morale with a bombardment of despair."

So now the questions that the TV industry, in the words of producer Rogers, is asking itself is, "Do the networks have a moral obligation to present a balanced view of EVILS, or do they have a moral obligation to present a balanced view of the NATION—the evils AND the virtues?"

WELL, we out here in the boondocks knew all along that there was plenty of good around where we lived and it's sort of amazing that the high and the mighty of the reporting world are just now finding it out.

Better late than never, though, and it remains to be seen if they will change their ways and let us see some everyday people on TV, or if they will continue to only badmouth our beloved country.

In the meantime, we can always hope for the better.

PAUL HARVEY

Religion

Every generation of students at some time violated the rules; this generation is the first to repudiate the rules.

Our generation violated moral standards; today's young reject the standards themselves.

A generation ago jobless men might have demanded jobs; this generation many demand to be paid—work or not.

Some branches of Judaism have practiced activism far longer than the Christian faiths which have recently interested themselves in extra-religious activities.

Rabbi Arthur Hertzberger is himself an activist, advocating withdrawal from Vietnam and so on.

BUT HE CONCEDES it is not good for the churches to get thus involved in secular matters. "The very moment that clerics become more worldly the world goes to hell all the faster."

Paradoxically, much of the clergy is turning away from what we used to call "fundamental religion" at a time of increasing hunger for it.

There is a human craving for something transcendent. Religious tradition for thousands of years knew the meaning of life and the purpose of death and the individual's proper place in the here and in the hereafter.

NOW A VACILLATING, contradicting, codeless "modern church" has compounded our confusion and left, in the place it once filled, a vast, dark emptiness.

Church involvement in civil affairs is not unprecedented. During the Buchanan Administration the churches were divided over the issue of slavery.

But historically the church injected itself only where issues of morality were debated. Today's activist churchmen presume to prescribe law, diplomacy, welfare, civil rights. The World Council of Churches in convention in Sweden this year overwhelmingly supported young men who resist the draft "for particular wars".

IF CHURCHES were made stronger by this extra-religious involvement; it might be defensible. On the contrary, church membership, which soared in the 1950's, is stagnating in the 1960's.

Of America's adults 49 per cent regularly attended church in 1955; today 44 per cent do.

A GALLUP Poll shows 10 years ago 60 per cent of Americans thought "religion is increasing its influence." Today 57 per cent say it is "losing its influence."

PROF. WILL HERBERG of Drew University believes that the explosion of new scientific knowledge—the vetoing of old scientific truths—has caused doubt about religious and humanistic preconceptions. We've lost our rudder.

SO THE hippie protests that each of us has a right "to do his own thing."

That's what Hitler was doing.

This Is Littlefield

Boasting approximately 37 acres of city parks, Littlefield probably provides more municipal recreation area within its city limits per capita than most any community in the state of Texas.

16 acres. The largest, Crescent Park, has just over a full 20 acres. And Dunbar Park is an acre large.

Besides the three best-known parks, two other areas are maintained by the city which could be figured into the same statistics.

These are the travelers' rest area in front of the Santa Fe Railroad depot and the Campers Site on Hall Avenue.

According to City Manager Jim Shea, these areas, as well as the maintenance and upkeep on the cemetery and the downtown beautification area, require three full-time employees as well as a part-time worker for about half a year.

Work at the cemetery, however, is limited for the employees only to ground keeping, of which there are about 40 acres. The recreational parks are highly popular for their playground facilities, as well as picnicking areas with barbecuing stands. Crescent Park even has tennis, basketball and croquet courts, with excellent night time lighting for the tennis and basketball areas.

Total operating budget for the 1967-68 fiscal year, which ends in September, is $17,165,000—money well spent for the city and enjoyment of Littlefield and area people.

A community proud of its parks and recreational areas....This is Littlefield.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

The Bare Facts

BY BOB WEAR

CAUSE STILL produces effect, and every effect has its cause. We cannot choose and travel the wrong road, and ever reach the right destination.

The seeds we sow determine the harvest we reap. This law works relentlessly, and while human beings long for better homes and communities; the majority continues to stubbornly behave according to cheap, inferior and downgrading standards and customs.

WE CANNOT give our time, energy, money and support to degrading habits and activities, and find our lives enriched and ennobled.

We cannot put unwholesome and low class ideas and impressions into our mind, and get wholesome and high class speech and action in our living.

We cannot be immodest, even to the borderline of nudity, and create a desirable and badly needed climate of morality and decency. In this area, as in every other area we must recognize the unchanging and constantly working law of reaping as we sow.

WE CANNOT continue to put second and third rate things in first place, and ever have a first rate life. If we want a first rate life, we must be diligent to put first things in first place.

It is impossible to continuously think about the impure, the dishonest, the untrue, and unjust, the inferior, the bad reports and the unlovely things; without experiencing a declining, distressing and miserable life experience.

IF WE WANT a satisfactory life, we must think about the true, the honorable, the just, the pure, the lovely, the good reports, the virtuous and the things worthy of praise.

A few days ago some very disturbing information came to my attention. If it is accurate, and there is no reason to doubt its accuracy, it is a clear view of what is wrong.

This information may be ignored; nothing may be done to change the headlong plunge downhill to ruin. This is a decision to be made, and we have the time and opportunity to make it.

ACCORDING to this report, only one person out of twelve attends church. This is not in some country where religious freedom has been abolished, but it does mean that it is long past the time when we can claim that America is a Christian nation.

The report continues. Seven out of eight children quit Bible School and church before they are fifteen years of age. This percentage of loss is appalling, and we are seeing the outcome everyday in the present human tragedy. It could be changed; it does not have to be this way.

WE BELIEVE that better adult examples would provide some of the light and strength and help that the young need.

Here are two distressing items from the report.

In our country, we spend $750,000 for amusements for each $100 given to the church. For each hour spent in Bible School, eight hours are spent at the movies. All of us know the tragic results, and we weep.

"We are sowing the wind, and reaping the whirlwind." There is only one way to improve the harvest. We must sow better seed.

Dear Turnrow Tunkel:

DID YOU KNOW that tennis is one of America's fastest growing sports? I'VE NEVER PLAYED tennis; and from what I've seen of the game I don't think I'll take it up, at least until they figure out a way for players to use electric carts.

ACCORDING to a political expert, a big factor in President Johnson's decline in popularity was the opposition of "Eastern intellectuals."

I WOULDN'T know about Eastern intellectuals, but some of Lyndon's Great Society programs didn't go over too well with a lot of us Western ignoramuses.

WHAT DID YOU think of Earl Warren's statement that he will remain as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court unless the Senate approves Abe Fortas as his successor?

WHEN he puts it that way, the Senate doesn't have much choice. It's a matter of the known against the unknown, and in this cast the unknown is the lesser of the two evils.

DID YOU KNOW that a New York travel Agency is offering a Las Vegas divorce package for $1000? The price includes a lawyer and sight-seeing trips.

SOUNDS like a bargain. A lot of people spend that much in Las Vegas and come home with nothing to show for it—not even a divorce.

FIRST FOR HER, LAST FOR SANTA FE

Historic Train Ride Thrills L-N Editor

Leader-News society editor Joella Lovvorn went the old saying "and even the last shall be the first" one better by physically adding "and the first shall be the last" at the Littlefield Santa Fe depot Friday morning.

While discussing the imminent end to train passenger service to Littlefield after 55 colorful and history-filled years, it was suddenly disclosed that Joella had never in her life—of an undisclosed number of years—enjoyed that time-honored, typical slice of "Americana" known as "a ride on a train".

Within minutes the Leader-News staff had convinced her that she should take this last chance to take the last ride—which would be her last chance to take her first ride—and possibly go down in local history as the person whose first ride was the last ride westbound on the "old Santa Fe".

Totally confused by now, Joella turned to her horoscope for the day and was most encouraged when she read under Pisces, Feb. 20 to March 20: "Travel strongly denoted in Pisces charts. Trips may be short, but they'll be fun."

Fortified by all this support—but accompanied by no one due to the early hour, Joella made her rendezvous with the last westbound Santa Fe passenger train,

"Old 75", at 5:57 Friday morning.

Somewhat sleepy-eyed, and just a little terrified, she exhibited her abbreviated ticket to Texico, N.M., for the inspection of conductor L. Perdue, of Slaton who had the honor of conducting "75" on her last ride.

She later revealed that at first hesitant and timorous, she gradually warmed to the new-found thrill of her first, last and only train ride.

"It was a new and strange thrill for me to hear the 'clickety-clack' of the wheels on the track and feel the new sensation of the swaying motion of the coach," she said later, "and as I looked back to the east over the beautiful plains country, the depressing thought came to me that this is the last time the sun will come up to bathe its light on a westbound passenger train."

"My thoughts turned naturally to my early childhood and the stories and legends of the early settlers on the High Plains and of the many pioneers seeking their place in the sun who arrived here on this very railroad line.

"Many tales had I heard of the eventual arrival of the train, when virtually the entire towns-people would rush to the station to see the giant steam engine come roaring in, with the bell clanging and the steam belching out in sudden and violent bursts. "Drama upon drama would unfold before the discerning eye," according to the stories, "as sodbusters, looking for the golden land, ranchers seeking the great "spread", fresh-faced lawyers, neophyte doctors, earlier left-behind wives and many others alighted to begin their quest for "a fresh start", a "a new life", "a new stake", or whatever else their restless spirit urged them on to undertaking.

"The great influx has long-since past and the wild and woolly era of the cattle barons and cowboys, which was the principal product of the early railroad in this area, has given way to modern towns and to the cotton and feed grain farms presently dotting the plains.

"Perhaps," the thought crossed my mind, "the passenger train has fulfilled its place in the history of our plains country just as the ranching, pioneering phase has run its course, and progress and modernization will somehow fill the void that is left.

"It is difficult and unpleasant to believe, however, and it will be hard to replace in our remembering minds the lonesome wail of the train whistle and the bustle and excitement of the old days at the station.

"As we pulled into the quiet, shadowed station at Texico, the getting-off point for my journey back to Littlefield, dawn was emerging into a typical High Plains burst of beauty reminding me that though trains may come and trains may go, only God's works are permanent.

"I was in a thoughtful and reflective mood as I watched the red light on the back of the train passing into history and turned from the now-deserted little station to be driven back to Littlefield where I would give my impressions of the adventure to the waiting staff," Joella reminisced.

The trip had been thrilling and a lark for me, but its significance was sobering, making it difficult to dwell on the lighter side of my experience, she added.

"I guess I could sum it all up by saying that I am grateful that Santa Fe could provide me with my first train ride, even though it would regrettably have to be their last."

Thrash Takes Title; Burk Takes Luster

Though Tommy Thrash holds the distinction of owning the title as the 1968 Littlefield City Golf Tournament champion, Dr. Glen Burk managed to take some of the luster away from him. Thrash easily outdistanced the field of four championship flight finalists in 148-154.

But Burk put together rounds of 39-35-38-35 for a 147, one stroke under champion Thrash, to cop the championship flight's consolation bracket.

J. R. Chamberlain edged Jerry Kirby 157-158 for First Flight honors, and Ardis Barton paced the Second Flight field with a 168. But Barton had to fight off a Sunday rally by Jim Upton, who carded a 171.

Adrain Martin's 75 Saturday was one under Rodney Nichols in the First Flight consolation battle. And he took that bracket's money when the two tied with 86 Sunday.

Second Flight consolation money went to Conel Norried, who fell six strokes behind Marcel Hall Saturday, 86-92, but came back with an 85 Sunday while Hall was having his troubles and carding a 93 to lose, 177-179.

Thrash had a sub-par 34 on his first round Saturday and followed with a 39 for a first-day score of 73. Sunday he had a 40 at the turn, and pared the back nine with a 35 to insure his victory.

Doyle Patton was runner-up to Burk in the Championship Flight consolation bracket, but his 151 was good enough to have placed second in the winning bracket, three under Barton's score.

Local Golfers Place Second

Littlefield golfers Jim Graves and Johnny Talburt placed second in the Lobo Flight of the Levelland Summer Partnership Golf Tournament last weekend.

The pair was tied at 230 with James Harder and J. T. Pugh, but lost in a sudden-death playoff on the first extra hole.

Road Runners Look For Win

One of Littlefield's Pee Wee teams, the Road Runners, is still looking for its first win of the season after a rather depressing four games of its schedule.

In three matches with Amherst, they came out on the bottom 12-8, 10-5, and 6-4. Their only other game was played against Barr, which they also lost, 12-8.

Head Coach Lonny Birkelbach has been doing a fine job along with Managers Blaine Spencer and Johnny Clayton, teaching the sluggers of the game.

Look into a Chevrolet pickup

See more truck for the money!

Start with the Chevy pickup's frame. If the gauge of the steel seems extra heavy—it is. To make it truck-tough. And notice the solid, tight double walls of the cab.

Next, take a look at the truck-designed coil springs at all four wheels. A Chevrolet exclusive. And the independent front suspension for a ride that's just like a car's.

See how the fender liners are smooth as soup bowls inside. Road splash and dirt run right out. And check the engine compartment. Power plants go all the way up to 310 horsepower. And Six or V8, they all use regular gas. Pickups built this strong ought to be looked into. Your Chevrolet dealer's the man to see—today.
