LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL SPONSOR MUSICAL STAGE ATTRACTION TO BE HELD FRIDAY

The Littlefield high school is sponsoring a musical stage attraction, Hansel and Gretel, in the high school auditorium tomorrow (Friday) opening at 10 a.m.

This show is a brilliant all-adult professional New York singing and dancing cast, with colorful costumes and fairyland scenery. When "Hansel and Gretel" arrive in town they will be accompanied by seven real live dwarfs who will sing, dance and entertain young and old alike. They are not ordinary dwarfs, but very outstanding entertainers including the best from stage, screen and top ranking circuses.

These dwarfs are featured in a comic, show-stopping "Mushroom ballet" in the second act, especially adapted to bring to the waiting public once more these little men who captured your hearts in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

Jimmie Jackson, featured in a leading role, that of "Scratch," Casper's conscience brought to life, who appears from out of nowhere to correct Casper, when he is about to do wrong, has appeared in many movies including "Saragoga Trunk" . . . Leo Stapp, the dancing harmonica player who appears in act one, together with the children of the village visiting Hansel and Gretel, comes from the New York stage where he has been playing for many years and has appeared in such shows as "Finian's Rainbow," "Life with Father" and many others. Glenn Styres in mushroom ballet, is an accomplished musician and a graduate with honors from Juillard School of Music. He will be well-remembered for his comic portrayal of "Professor" in Snow White last year. Louis Lee, is a nimble acrobat, the shortest of all the dwarfs reaching only 42 inches. He has been a featured attraction with leading circuses for the past 15 years. Pussy Di Carmo, is also an acrobat and can spin on his head without his hands ever touching the floor. George Thornton, last seen as "Grouchy" in Snow White, is a well-known figure on the stage having been in show business for almost a half a century and has worked with such notables as Al Jolson, George M. Cohan, Eddie Cantor both on the stage and in the movies and was the original "Mutt" in the show "Mutt and Jeff." George is the only living dwarf who has a real beard. He is 89 years old but just as nimble and quick as some of the young dwarfs who are only 50 years or so. Last but not least is Ray Holgate and everyone who saw his "Dopey" in Snow White will long remember his unforgettable portrayal of this not so smart brother.

Number of School Children to Be Transported to Classes on Increase

The number of school children to be transported during the present school term will show an increase over last year due to increased population and better school attendance, the Texas State Teachers Association pointed out today.

Facilities for transportation were expanded during the last school term to take care of the 320,000 living two or more miles from the school attended. This represented an increase of 25,212 pupils over the number transported during the 1948-49 school term.

Although better than $10,000,000 was provided by the state to reimburse the district for the cost of transporting school children, there is every indication that the amount provided was inadequate in many of the districts. L. P. Sturgeon, associate commissioner of education, stated that the official records show that only 23 counties were reimbursed by the state in amounts equal to the actual cost of operation. This means that the remaining counties received less money from the state than it cost them to operate the buses. The financial loss to some counties and school districts was small while in others it was heavy.

Such losses had to be made up by individual schools from local funds. In many cases school systems had to reduce other vital phases of their program in order to pay the cost of transportation. Sturgeon pointed out that official reports show that the actual cost of transportation in Texas exceeded $12,000,000 during the last school term. This means that the districts had to supplement funds provided by the state in the amount of $2,000,000.

Previous surveys show that 22 percent of the school buses have been in operation for more than six years and should be replaced. This means an additional burden to local districts since reimbursement from the state is less than actual cost of operation.

The Texas Education agency according to Sturgeon is making a thorough study of representative counties throughout the state to determine the cost of operation of Texas' vast school transportation system. A formula to determine the costs on a more scientific basis is being applied in more than 20 Texas counties. It is hoped that such a formula, when applied

Grain Sorghum Crop Is Estimated at 300,000,000 Pounds

The grain sorghum harvest is well underway on 100,000 acres of grain sorghums planted in Lamb county. This is mainly on irrigated land, and the yield is running between 2500 and 3000 lbs. per acre.

With a normal frost there will be an estimated 300,000,000 lbs. of grain sorghums produced in Lamb county.

An early frost could cut this production from fifty to seventy-five million pounds, whereas a late frost could increase our production above the 300,000,000 lbs.

The county has about one and a half million bushel commercial storage. This won't take care of over half of the crop. The rail car situation is very tight with from 6 to 8 cars a day being received in Lamb county. As it would take 800 cars to handle the commercial storage here, indications are that this car situation is not going to improve very fast, thereby causing a storage problem in the county. Approximately one-half of the grain sorghums will have to be stored on the farm.

WEATHER BOOSTS SOUTH PLAINS COTTON CROP OUTLOOK

Perfect weather during the week has added to the assurance of another bumper cotton crop in the South Plains this fall.

There was a report concurred in by K. N. Clapp, area manager for Anderson-Clayton & Houston, and members of Lubbock Cotton exchange.

Clapp, however, made any revision of their Oct. 1 forecasts of approximately 801,000 bales above the Caprock this year.

Larger crops have been produced in the South Plains, such a crop would be the largest in production to acreage in this area's history.

Bumper Crops Recalled

Clapp bumper crop years, and approximate total ginnings, were: 1949—1,644,000 bales; 1948—1,400,000 bales, and 1948—1,400,000 bales.

Clapp, however, the acreage in 1949 estimated 2,750,000 and during the two bumper years about 1,000 acres. Clapp estimates present acreage at about 1,000 acres.

Clapp and other observers agreed that the battle against the most serious insect threat in the area's history has been won.

Clapp estimated the loss from the pests will not exceed 10 percent of the total potential crop. Without the vigorous fight that has been waged against the bugs, he said, the losses might have run to 70 percent or more.

Reports to him indicated that most farmers, satisfied their crop is safe, have discontinued poisoning.

Leafworms, however, are busy in a good many fields. They are hastening defoliation, which precedes the harvest. The activity of the worms is enabling a few of the farmers to start their boll pulling sooner than otherwise would be the case. But they also are retarding the maturing process in the fields they infest, reducing the yield.

Widespread use of chemical defoliants has not been started, attributed chiefly to the lateness of the crop. Prospects are that the chemical won't be used in anything like the quantities of last year. Most of the farmers probably will let nature do the job of defoliation, which means, simply the drying of the cotton stalk foliage so that it will fall off naturally.

Clapp expects the harvest which has been getting under way slowly, to reach about 4,000 to 5,000 bales a day before the end of the month. At the peak, some 10,000 to 15,000 bales daily will begin moving toward the gins.

There is no uneasiness about the crop being harvested. Even if labor supplies should be reduced by the ban on the employment of children under 16 years of age in the cotton fields during school hours, the farmers still will get their crop to the gin.

If the field labor is not available, the harvesting will be done mechanically. Farmers of the South Plains own about 4,000 of these machines — more than will be

Slaton Tigers Beat Morton 6-0 in Tilt

Slaton's visiting Tigers edged a stubborn Morton eleven 6 to 0 in a thrilling district 4-A football game at Morton Friday night before 1,500 fans to give Coach Tony Poulis' team its first win in conference play.

The lone score of the night came early in the game when half-back Bobby Lambert of the Tigers took a pitch-out and raced around his left end for a 40-yard touchdown gallop. A running try for extra point failed.

It was a hard fought game which saw Coach Herman Raphael's Indians unfurl a brilliant passing attack with Quarterback Lamar Burns doing the throwing and End Waydelle Hill acting as his favorite target. The Indians threw a total of 12 passes and completed seven. The Indians had a total of 11 first downs while the winners pield up 13 firsts.

Several Tiger offensive threats were stifled inside the Indian 20-yard line as the Morton line led by Tackle Leon Mills stiffened on defense.

The visitors had 272 yards gained on the ground while the Indians had only 189 yards on the ground. For the Tigers, Lambers and Leon Moore, a tackle who occasionally games while the Indians were led turned fullback, turned in good by Burns, Hill and Don Baldwin.

found in any comparable area in the world. Many farmers would prefer to use field labor. But they have the mechanical pickers to get the staple out of the fields, if they choose to use them.

He can tell whether the difference in your voice is a minor detail or whether a more detailed check of the throat would be advisable.

Health Talk on Throat and Neck By State Ass'n

The throat and neck carry a lot of weight in a physical examination and can be very revealing. Things are pretty congested in that area, both inside and out, so that any obstruction or irregularity that develops is frequently quite obvious.

The throat really starts back of the nasal cavity where tissue known as adenoids may collect, but the first thing you see when you look in your own throat is that hole back of the tongue with a couple of sets of arches and the thing-a-ma-jag that hangs down in the middle.

That thing-a-ma-jag is the uvula, it's hanging down from the soft palate, and the arches are known as pillars of the fauces. Between those sets of arches may hide or protrude the tonsils tear-drop shaped masses of tissue. Protruding sufficiently, the tear-drops may not be confined to the tonsils since they can become drastically inflamed and cause heaps of trouble in children they are frequently enlarged, however, without causing trouble; when they are the seat of infection or interfere with breathing though they are generally removed.

In adults, the tonsils are responsible for quinsy, which sounds like an old-fashioned disease, but is actually inflammation and abscess of the tissues around the tonsils.

Then you come to the hole that takes a turn downward and eventually spits into two tubes. That hole is the pharynx, serving for both breathing and eating, until it branches out with food and drink going into the esophagus, at the back of the throat, and air going into the trachea, towards the front.

Food is shoved into the proper channel by an appendage known as the epiglottis, which flaps down over the trachea when something more solid than air comes along. Under this trap door known as the epiglottis, towards the front and allowing passage for the trachea, is the larynx, which is the organ of the voice.

The esophagus, which goes on to the stomach, is better known as the gullet, of course, and the trachea is commonly referred to as the windpipe, leading on into the bronchial tubes and thence to the lungs.

When any of these many parts of the throat get out of whack, or if the mucous lining of the throat gets irritated, you have a sore throat. The soft palate may fall to move up and down at the proper times, the uvula may get red and swollen, and the tonsils may start the spread of infection through the whole area, and so on down the tract. All of this your doctor checks when he has you stick out your tongue and say "AH".

If your voice is husky, rough, or sounds a bit out of normal tone, he will probably poke a mirror on the end of a stick back into your throat which enable him to see the voice box and those two strings that make up the vocal cords and produces sound as they weave back and forth towards each other. He can tell whether the difference in your voice is a minor detail or whether a more detailed check of the throat would be advisable.

Infections in the throat may cause swellings in the neck, and a number of other things may cause swellings in the neck, too. There are all kinds of glands, veins, muscles, tubes and such connected with the neck which he examines by feeling your neck. When he has you raise your chin and swallow again as he holds on to your double chin, he's checking your thyroid gland, which is most commonly known as getting out of order and causing goiter. Veins that stand out, muscles that are prominent, rashes and eruptions such as boils and carbuncles may all change the picture of a normal neck and may be important to your physical examination.

The position and movement of the neck as well as of the jaw, may usually be spotted, too, as not quite normal with the bones coming in for a little manipulation. Unless you have a history of pain or complaint of some sort with your throat, neck and jaw, the examination of those items is apt to seem pretty quick. For the most part, any difficulty at these spots will make you aware of it or else be fairly evident in the physical examination. In the short time it usually takes to make the throat and neck examination, your doctor really sees a lot.

Great Religious Feature to Be Shown Here

Final arrangements have been made for the showing in the field of "The Prince of Peace" new Hallmark production, or release on the life of Christ. It opens at both the LFD in theatre and the Rio theatre Thursday, Nov. 2nd.

Based on the famous Oklahoma Easter pageant annually in the Wichita area near Lawton, the feature conveys a realism of setting with unusual and deeply effective clarity on the part of the 2,000 homans who take part in the "Peace" is so tremendous and so human in its theme this film has been breaking office records from coast to coast. Its glorious and thrilling score and strong sermons has caused clergymen of faith and educators at all levels call the film the most moving motion picture ever to come Hollywood.

At the time when the atomic war hangs over the world and the future of people seems dark and gloomy, "The Prince of Peace" casts a ray of light to bring peace, hope and faith for those who see it. A new and deep understanding and appreciation of the age-old story of Jesus is revealed. A non-sectarian film, people of all faiths, colors and creeds will find a personal message in the "Peace".

Playing the role of Jesus in the film is Millard Coody, a Littlefield native. The national impact of his sincere and reverent portrayal of this role carries the beholder back to Biblical times when Jesus walked the earth. A. S. Dierker, head of the ordinance department at Fort Sill has approved the famous Easter pageant 1926 which gave him the distinction of having rehearsed for 25 years before actually bringing it on the screen. Mrs. Bridges, a Lawton housewife mother, plays the role of the virgin Mary with great sincerity and understanding.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Lucille Martin of Gary, Ind.: I don't remember the little red schoolhouse, but I do remember the three-room red brick school building with each room heated with a pot-bellied soft-coal stove. The building usually was set in a small cindery yard. There was a red-composition water bucket in each room with a tin dipper which was shared by about 60 pupils—a far cry from the more sanitary drinking fountain.

From Abigail M. Temple of New York City: Who remembers the songs of Col. Will S. Hays? A few of his most popular numbers were: "Evangeline," "My Southern Sunny Home," "Little Log Cabin in the Lane," "Take This Letter To My Mother," "Mollie Darlin'," "The Drummer Boy Of Shiloh," "I'll Remember Your Love In My Prayers," "Fourteen Years Ago," "Tilden and Reform," "Driven From Home," "Old-Fashioned Roses Are Sweetest" and "Nora O'Neal."

From Mrs. Mary Stewart of Chicago: I remember getting matches in long boxes containing 1,000 pine sticks with sulphur tips. A box seemed to go fast. Diamond was the most wanted brand.

From Mrs. Maude Phillips of Ontario, Calif.: Those song-titles sure bring back old memories to me. Those I remember best include: "When You and I Were Young Maggie," "Nellie Gray," "On the Lone Prairie" and "My Old Kentucky Home."
