By Jim Nelson

Some 250 students of three Littlefield bands will perform Tuesday night, February 20, at 8:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The three bands performing are the Intermediate, composed of second year students, mostly in the seventh grade; Jr. High, composed of eighth and ninth grade; and the Wildcat Band, composed of high school students.

A program is planned with a variety of music of all three bands.

Admission is 75¢ for adults, and 50¢ for students; however the Band Boosters Club will be selling membership cards for $1.00 and these cards entitle members to all privileges of the club, including admittance to all band concerts.

This program is the same as that of the concert of January 29 that was called off due to flu and other illnesses.

I don't know how each of you feel about the New Frontier, I think it's been the greatest to comedians since Harry to accompany Margaret, less Kennedy's working hard, I still haven't decided who wants to beat most - Russia Yale.

Of course, Kennedy inherited a few problems from the preceding administration, Cuba Berlin were both left in charge, and he's worked to solve them. Someone mentioned that they had missed Sigafos Adams, lately, Well, he dropped by the office the other day and left this:

Sigafos Adams, the soft spoken, handsome, modest, intellect, died today at the home of his close friend and admirer, Elizabeth Taylor.

The name Adams will always be associated with such great works as, My Fair Lady, Star Dust, Beowulf, The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, and the complete works of Ernest Hemmingway.

Adams is credited with averting World Wars III, IV, VI AND VII. As you remember WW V was fought on a Monopoly board, and we lost the Gulf of Mexico and subsequently, Jayne Mansfield.

Adam's best painting is hanging in the Louvre Museum in Paris. It is a gold and magenta etching which says, "Gentlemen."

Sigafos was survived by his wives which include, Elizabeth Taylor, Daisey Mae Youkum, Margaret Chase Smith, Catherine the Great, and Marilyn Monroe.

Miss Ross Is Crowned Sweetheart

Miss Melva Lynn Ross was crowned choir sweetheart at the annual February concert. Melva Lynn was chosen from the Junior and Senior girls of the choir program.

She was crowned in a ceremony between the songs of the boys and A Cappella Chorus by choir president, Keith King. Melva Lynn has been in the choir program for six years and an accompanist for the last three years.

A very pretty girl in Altoona, Pa., had a persistent but unwanted suitor in New York. When she refused to see him any longer, he resorted to an intensive mail campaign, sending her a special - delivery letter twice a day for 47 days. On the 48th day his strategy produced results. The girl eloped with the mailman.

Dear Judy

Persons wishing to write letters to Dear Judy may deposit them in the Journalism box in the principal's office of the High School. All letters become the property of the Journalism class and none will be returned.

The Journalism class also reserves the right not to print any letters it deems in bad taste or libelous.

Dear Judy: I like a girl very much in another town but she is going steady with another person. I went with her a long time ago and I want to again. It has been nearly 5 months since I have seen her. How do I let her know and should I even try? I keep telling myself no, but then I remember that old saying "If you want something bad enough, you can get it."

Dear Broken - Hearted: The best thing for you to do is to write the girl in the other town. If she answers your letter chances are she would like to see you again.

Be honest with her in the first letter but don't go overboard. Tell her you would like to see her again.

The reason she may be going steady with someone else is that you never thought of asking her.

Why have you waited five months to see her? Did you have a fight or did you just get tired of writing or driving to

Dear Giftless: Have you ever thought of sending him a Valentine two or three days before Valentine's Day? Although it isn't very tactful, it will at least jog his memory that February 14 isn't far off.

Since Valentine's Day has already past this year so it is advisable to wait and use this method next year. A little reminding now and then never hurts either.

LHS students running around school with a pair of dirty, untied tennis shoes aren't necessarily beatniks. It's just that the tennis team, working out in Crescent Park, can't afford dressing rooms.

The seven girls, and about the same number of boys work out every day, weather permitting; and after basketball season they intend to practice in the gym during bad weather.

The entire team will travel to the Amarillo Relays and six players will compete in district competition under divisions of girl's singles and doubles, and boy's singles and doubles.

The team boasts three returning district competitors from last year's team.

New Milk Tests Now Being Used

Two methods of testing for milk solids are now being used in nation-wide studies of milk composition, reports A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist. The tests, which were developed with the aid of dairy farmers' research funds, are being used at 35 state and federal experiment stations on a total of 13,750 cows of 5 breeds.

Field testing of the Watson lactometer, which was developed by the USDA, was accomplished at the University of Maryland with the aid of American Dairy Association grants.

Financial support for the Golding Plastic Beads test has been provided to Washington State University since the fall of 1955, says Meekma. This test has proved simple and practical for field use.

The USDA has found both of these tests to be as accurate for measuring milk solids as the Babcock test is for measuring butterfat content.

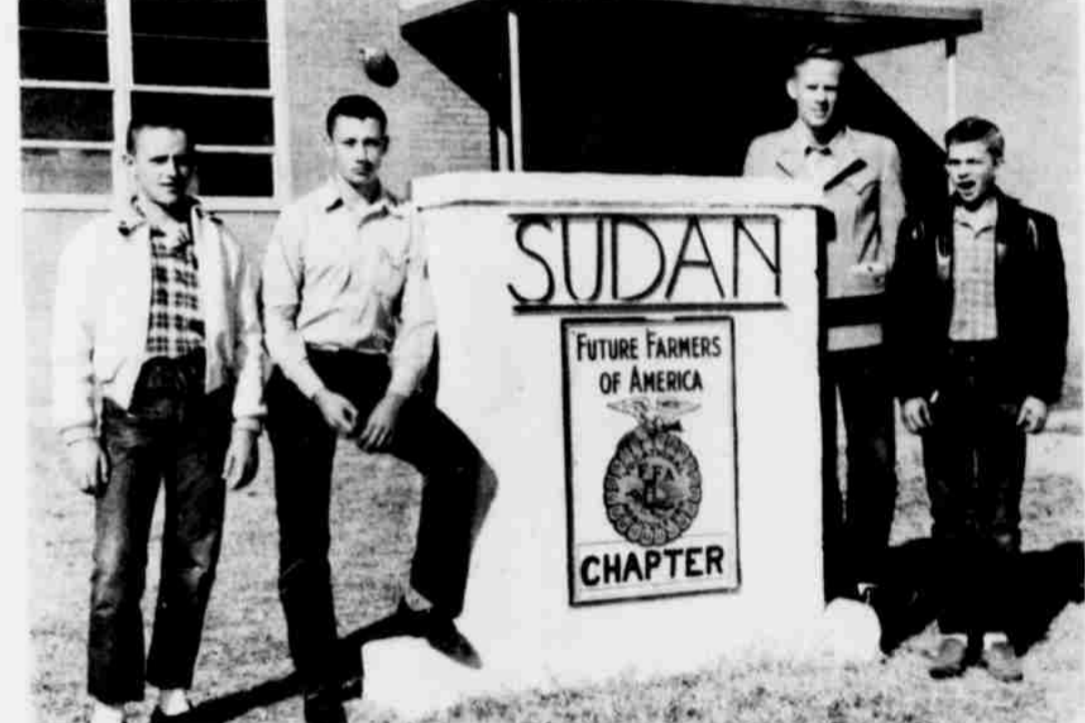

Changes in consumer attitudes toward butterfat is what brought this increased attention to other nutrients in milk, says Meekma. He predicts the results of the present nation-wide studies will be used in guiding the breeding and selection of dairy cattle in the future. Solids testing may also become a basis for evaluating and pricing milk.

Old West Code, TV Style Needed In Today's Foreign Policy Makin'

Editor's note: The Sandhills philosopher on his Johnson farm discusses a new frontier in foreign relations, his letter this week reveals.

I got tired of working on a position to the farm problem every day and just to rest my mind shifted over to working on the problem of foreign relations.

This came about because I had just read that Castro reportedly is setting up some guided missile launching sites in the mountains over there in Cuba. They're pointed at the United States, only 90 miles away, and is just about point-blank range of those things.

Now here's our problem: up to now in international law, what that is, there has been a wrong in building guided missile launching sites. So long as Castro doesn't launch one of those missiles at us, we do nothing. Our hands are tied. We have to sit around and wonder if or when he's going to pull the trigger.

At this very point is where some heavy thinking needs to be applied, and I have come up with a new theory of international law. Well, it's not really new, it's based on the law of the West, which 150 million Americans who watch TV Westerns are familiar with.

This law says if a man starts to pull a gun on you and you tell him to draw and shoot, the United States Marine's hands are tied. It was a case of self-defense, and any Marshal or Sheriff who tried to charge you with murder would be laughed out of the West.

Now the fine point about this is that anybody can carry a gun, it's only when he goes to pull the trigger that another man is entitled to fire first if he can manage it.

This brings up my contribution to foreign policy. All the United States has to do is to decide what stage in launching a guided missile corresponds to the moment when a passenger makes a play for the gun. The code of the West doesn't say you have to wait till the other man fires. No, you have to wait only till he starts for his gun, then you can go for yours and shoot him even before he gets his out of his launching pad. I mean holster, if you're fast enough, and the law is satisfied.

Right now, not having any guided missile launching sites on this Johnson grass farm to study, I can't say exactly what point in the enterprise corres-

Texas Sweet Potato Industry Is Examined

Whether you call them yams or the more sophisticated sweet potatoes, there's still a lot of them produced in Texas. Even with a decrease in acreage and number of growers, sweet potato production in the state is becoming a larger operation.

The industry is not without its problems, however. In 1940 sweet potatoes represented 16 percent of the $26 million farm value of the 20 major vegetables in Texas, but in 1960 this figure had declined to 6.9 percent of the $64 million farm value of the 20 major vegetables.

What are causing the problems in the industry? Marketing problems developed from variations in quality caused by cultural practices, small acreages and low yields. Compounding these marketing problems is the fact that consumption per capita is decreasing, and the fresh and canned products compete with each other for the consumer's interest.

In a survey conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, sweet potato growers, shippers, and wholesalers expressed the feeling that improvement of seedstock and better advertising of the industry are the most important needs for industry improvement.

Something else that concerned the entire industry was obtaining the most desirable package for their products.

There are other problems confronting the sweet potato industry in Texas, and most of the people in the industry are interested in solving them. Perhaps a concerted effort on the part of everyone concerned will help some of the problems.

For a complete report of the findings of the Experiment Station survey, write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and request a copy of MP-540, "Problems of the Texas Sweet Potato Industry."

Predator Bounty Is Questioned

Many Texas counties are still using the bounty system in an attempt to control predators. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, says there is good evidence that this system is ineffective.

Under the bounty system, the county or perhaps a livestock association, offers a reward for killing animals which occasionally prey on livestock or crops, or otherwise create a problem. The reward ranges from as little as 10 cents per head for crows to as much as $75 for large animals such as wolves or coyotes.

Another weakness of the system is that dishonest practices usually occur. For example, people have been known to bring in coyotes killed in other counties to collect the bounty, and there is no way of disproving their claim. There are known cases where dog ears have been substituted for coyote or wolf ears where bounties are paid on the scalp alone. Another scheme which worked involved an individual who repeatedly retrieved the same scalp from the court house garbage cans and received payment several times. Another operator actually operated a coyote kennel where the animals were raised and then presented for bounty payment.

Although nearly every wild animal has some definite positive values, control is sometimes necessary. The bounty system is not the way, however, says Cooper.

There are few, if any, recorded instances where the offering of a bounty reduced predator numbers to the point where the problem no longer existed. This in itself should discourage perpetuation of the bounty system.

It has also been found that those suffering losses will attempt a control program, regardless of whether or not a bounty is offered, points out Cooper.

around with their guns drawn, finger on the trigger, and pointed at somebody else? If you can't legitimately defend yourself before that point, you ain't got much chance.

This is a point in Foreign Policy the experts ought to be working on a lot harder.

Texas Home Ec Members Will Meet In Dallas

Texas Home Economics Association members will be in Dallas February 16 and 17 for the annual meeting of the organization.

Professional improvement will be emphasized and new directions in home economics explored during the two-day meeting at the Adolphus Hotel. The program will be developed around the general theme, "Professionally Yours."

Approximately 400 home economists in extension, home-making, business and related fields are expected to attend, according to Miss Louise Mason of College Station, president of THEA and extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Speakers for the opening session at 10 a.m., February 16 will be Mrs. Florence Low of College Station, president elect of the American Home Economics Association, and Miss Mason, whose subject will be "Blueprint for Progress, AHEA - THEA." Mrs. Low is assistant director for home economics with the Extension Service.

Other featured speakers Friday will include Bill Meyers, associate director, Peace Corps, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Eugene R. Been, economist, Sperry and Hutchinson Company and George McKinney, rural development specialist, Texas Power & Light Co.

Banquet speaker Friday will be Charles H. Rutledge, manager, special services, Du Pont Co. A highlight of the banquet will be the introduction of the "home-economist of the year" and the presentation of awards to her.

About all that can be said in favor of the bounty system is that people feel that something is being done about the predator problem, says Cooper. This is wasteful, however, because effective programs can be developed with the same money.

The Texas Predator and Rodent Control Service employs professional trappers who can do effective predator control work. This program involves a cooperative effort between the federal, state and local government, or organization, explains Cooper. County agents can supply information on how to institute this program.

The program will continue through noon Saturday. Speakers the final morning will include Dr. Ivan E. Danhof, professor, department of physiology, Southwestern Medical School, Dallas; Dr. Gladys Brown, clinical psychologist, Dallas. Bringing the address at the closing luncheon Saturday will be Dr. H. Guy Moore, pastor of Fort Worth's Broadway Baptist Church.

Since many diseases can live over in seed, it is unwise for the home gardener to save seed from his own garden unless the seed is known to be free from disease.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

STIN, Tex. -- Candidates for this capital city as the deadline arrived. Polls came to town to pay files for state offices at both state democratic headquarters and the republican camp. Thousands of dollars were in many ways: One thousand-dollar bills, one hundred-dollar bills, and various contributions from friends and candidates.

Former athlete brought a full of ex-football stars to show that he had a fighting chance.

There were very few surprises at the State Democratic Executive Committee; gubernatorial candidates John Connally, Bill Formby, Will Wilson, Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and paid before the deadline. Don Yarborough was expected, and everyone knew Gov. Daniel would show up after a TV announcement.

Assistant Attorney Bob Looney showed at the last minute to Tom James, Tom Reavley, Gene Carr, W. T. McDonald and Les Proctor in the attorney general's race.

Wheatley, 27-year-old Ford oil operator, decided to oppose Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey in the May primary.

Looney and Wheatley without paying, but plunked down their $1,000 fees by Feb. 8 deadline.

R. Pool, Dallas attorney, Les H. Stevenson, Jr. of Des Moines County and rancher Phil Kaufman of Kaufman County, made the same sort of financial sacrifice as candidates for congressman-at-large.

Dustin businessman Robert Harvey and Mitchell County District Judge Eldon Mahon forded their right to run for congressman-at-large when they decided to follow filing with payment of filing fees.

Indicative of the expected over in both House and Senate is the democratic line-up for lieutenant governor: Speaker of the House James A. Turley, Senators Preston Smith, Ward Secrest and Robert Carter, all are abandoning previous posts to seek the state's highest position. Gene Carr of Fort Worth is the only legislative candidate for lieutenant governor.

REPUBLICANS RALLY -- Birth of the republican party in Texas has been widely discussed. It was quite evident when filing time was over that considerable progress had been made. If the party wasn't reborn, it certainly was revitalized.

Breckenridge oilman Jack Cox -- former democratic candidate for governor who announced for the GOP months ago -- got two opponents at the count-down. One was Amarillo rancher - publisher Roy Whitenburg, who polled 185,926 votes when he opposed Ralph Yarborough for the US Senate in 1958. The other was Harry Diehl, Houston factory representative, who was one of the 71 who ran for Lyndon Johnson's senate seat last year.

Republican line-up for house and senate seats is imposing. Fourteen republicans are campaigning for 10 of the 31 senate seats. And 74 republicans have filed for 70 of the 150 representative offices. Two already are members of the House. They are George Kirkmas of Texas City and Kenneth Kohler of Amarillo. They seek re-election to offices they won in recent special elections.

VALLEY FREEZE CREATES FOOD SHORTAGE -- Agriculture workers "frozen" from jobs by the recent freeze in the Valley caused a stir of activity in the commodity distribution division of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Division Director W. M. Herndon has just returned from two trips to the Valley to talk to county commissioners in Cameron, Zavala, Willacy and Hidalgo counties. There, the need for emergency distribution of government surplus foods is desperate.

DPW is distributing food for 5,000 in Cameron County, 4,000 in Willacy County, and 2,500 in Zavala County. Also it is adding 20,000 people to the program at Hidalgo County, which provides food for 600 needy people on a regular basis.

Most commissioners look for the emergency to end within 30 days, when business in that area is expected to recover.

UNIVERSITY HOUSING BATTLE -- Attorney General Will Wilson has more windmills to tilt than Don Quixote.

In his "spare time," he's fighting five opponents in the Governor's race.

On a current job basis, he's engaged in a battle with the University of Texas' Board of Regents and the three outside attorneys UT hired to defend the school in a housing suit brought by several Negro students.

Wilson, as attorney general, also is defending the University and mightily opposing the intrusion of outside help. He filed a brief, citing Supreme Court ruling and legislative authority to prove his contention that only the attorney general can represent the state in appellate courts.

UT's private attorneys pointed to another regents' case where they noted "with much interest that a distinguished array of counsel headed by former Gov. Dan Moody represented the Board of Regents."

Wilson produced evidence that Governor Moody was the Attorney General of Texas at the time of the suit referred to, and "the distinguished array of counsel" were his assistant attorneys general.

SALES TAX RULINGS KEEP COMING -- Governor Daniel's announcement that he hopes to amend the sales tax structure probably caused groans in the Comptroller of Public Accounts' office, where they're constantly busy interpreting the two per cent sales tax as it now stands.

Most recent interpretation involves advertising agencies which finance their operation on a 15 per cent commission basis, rather than by charges. Comptroller ruled that the tax does not apply to intangible services and therefore excludes the commission from taxation.

But clients must pay tax on drawings, paintings, lettering and printed matter, and with the fantastic volume of this type of production involved in a campaign year, the state ought to net a fair-sized income from advertising agencies.

TEXAS CRIME ON UP SWING -- Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, stated that major crime in Texas increased 2.2 percent in 1961 over 1960, with an estimated 203,285 offenses for the year.

Murder and homicide cases increased from 1,080 to 1,088; theft from 108,869 to 117,619; rape from 1,196 to 1,264; and aggravated assault from 12,128 to 12,166.

Garrison said this means that in Texas during 1961, "there was a murder every eight hours, a rape every seven hours, an aggravated assault every 43 minutes, a robbery every 10 minutes, and theft every four and one-half minutes." He said it also indicates a 60 per cent increase in major crimes in the state since 1955.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES -- Governor Daniel appointed Jack Drake of Weslaco and Jack Martin of San Antonio to fill vacancies on the Industrial Commission.

Drake is executive vice-president of the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Martin is president of the Texas State Building and Construction Trades Council.

SHORT SNORTS -- Governor Daniel has received a total of $187,071 from the people of West Berlin for the relief of Hurricane Carla victims.

 At last count there were 1,499,927 Chevrolet trucks over 10 years old still working—424,381 more than any other make.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMASTER TRUCKS built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time... cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years... consistently bring a higher trade-in price... and, as a result, are bought by more people.

We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid feel of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

-  Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between as insulation against cold, heat and noise.
-  A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.
-  Quality independent front suspension fights road shock more effectively than other types—provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.
-  The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are more modern engines to choose from.

See your Chevrolet dealer for trucks that keep running and running!
