

Careless. Slander Of Progress Is A Destructive Force

built in a day. That statement... Careless slander of progress is a destructive force for which there is no excuse. Truly a little knowledge is dangerous when entrusted to some people.

Progress Immense
We who have lived in Littlefield and Lamb county for many years, and who are virtually pioneers, look around us with immense satisfaction at the progress which has taken place. Such development hasn't just happened; it has taken countless hours of study and toil. Into much of that progress has gone the thought, the skill, and the technical knowledge of brilliant men.

Let us look round us: Lamb county is a distribution point for natural gas service; millions of dollars are going into the construction of a gigantic power plant in Lamb county, which will furnish additional power over an immense area; Littlefield is the central point for a vast REA service, and an immense expansion program is underway by the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co. County's Growth Spectacular in a study of gas, power and telephone facilities the thought must be uppermost in our minds that the growth of Lamb county and all its municipalities has been rapid and spectacular, but of a very substantial character.

The Littlefield telephone exchange has been housed in various buildings from the time of the initial installation when this city's main street was just a few scattered buildings. Several years ago the original present telephone building was erected. About two years ago the building was enlarged, remodeled and designed as a central unit serving Littlefield and territory.

There wasn't a chugging motor, there wasn't an airplane propeller, but there were four of the realst, live, honest-to-goodness reindeer you ever have seen in your life, and maybe those reindeer are the very ones who flit through the night, on Christmas eve, and leave all of those goodies and presents for good little boys and girls, and even some, maybe not quite so good, as well, and have been doing so, for yea's and years, and we hope, will keep right on doing it, for all-time at Christmas-time, way into the indefinite future.

City Will Haul Away Trash Put At Street Alleys

A pre-Christmas city clean-up of city streets, alleys, vacant lots, and residential premises, will get underway here Monday morning and continue through the pre-Christmas week.

Not only will the City present a prettier picture for the holidays, it folks generally co-operate in the clean-up, but all will benefit from the sanitary angle of the campaign.

No Polio Here

While there has been no incidence of polio in Littlefield, many calls have come to City Hall, urging a clean-up campaign, as a result of the polio epidemic in the Odessa area—said to be one of the worst in the history of Texas.

Other Cities Follow Suit

Odessa officials, possibly belatedly, started thorough clean-up of that city, and Levelland and other cities and towns in the area followed suit.

There is also said to be some polio in Lubbock, and there are more than the average number of polio patients hospitalized at Plainview, for this time of year. Polio incidence has heretofore generally been believed to be more of a summer epidemic, than one related to or coming in the winter months. The Odessa outbreak possibly proves the fallacy of this line (Continued on Page 4)

Financial Expenditure Immense
Thousands upon thousands of dollars have been spent in the building of new lines, including rural service; the extension of other lines; the installation of new cables and the reconstruction of others, and a new setup entirely has been developed within the new telephone building, serving the purpose for which it was designed.

Adding of new equipment is still in progress. More additions will be made within the next few weeks.

Littlefield long distance operators now handle calls anywhere in the nation, whereas formerly Lubbock completed these calls; more long distance lines are being added in all directions.

Big Increase In Operators

Here are typical figures of the enlarged service at the Littlefield telephone exchange. Last year there were eight long distance lines to Lubbock; today there are 15 such lines. The number of operators have been increased from 27 to 39 in the past three months. Little more than a year ago there were two linemen in Littlefield, today five linemen make their home in Littlefield. Soon facilities will provide for 16 operators to work at one time in place of 13 now. The Littlefield telephone exchange now gives employment to 50 people. New operators have been in training all fall and thus far this winter. Skilled operators have employment, therefore, new operators must be trained.

There is one thought to bear in mind: the telephone company gives preference to local girls in hiring more help. Such a program is healthy for the progress of Littlefield and Lamb county.

Perhaps the service has been a little off because of the expansion program, but bear in mind that when central doesn't answer quite as quickly as you would like that perhaps some girl in your neighborhood is exerting every effort to make good on a new job.

Remember: Today's Triumphs Are Tomorrow's Challenge.
Let's lend a helping hand in all efforts for a greater Littlefield and Lamb county!

of thought.
At any rate, health officials believe that civic cleanliness is a wise and prudent precaution, and Littlefield city officials go along with them, in authorizing the local clean-up campaign here next week.

Alleys To Be Cleaned Up
Property owners are expected to clean up their own premises, and the City will give the streets and alleys a special clean-up treatment. City will also provide trucks to haul away all accumulated trash, that is gathered and placed in accessible street or alley of the city.

They also urge all citizens to cooperate in the clean-up campaign

AP Newsfeatures

MOUNT MORRIS, Ill.—Nelson Potter, who left baseball to return to printing, is coaching the Kable Kolts basketball team, an AAU club no win its 25th season.

Potter, who pitched in the major leagues for 12 years, played with the Kolts in 1942, 1943 and 1944. Kenneth Evins To Be Home From Bob Jones U. During Holidays

Kenneth Evins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Evins is expected to arrive home about December 23rd, to spend the holidays here with his parents and his brother Tommy. Kenneth is a ministerial student at Bob Jones University at Greenville, South Carolina, where he is classified as a junior.

It is expected that he will have a part in the services at the Missionary Baptist church, during the holidays, while he is at home.

DODGERS CAN WAIT

BOSTON (AP)—Bill (Charmin) Sharman, sharp-shooting forward for the Boston Celtics in the NBA, is also a Brooklyn Dodger farm hand. Sharman, however, has a clause in his Celtic contract which guarantees his services to the Boston quintet if the Celtics again make the playoffs. That means that Sharman may miss a lot of spring practice with the Dodgers. Last season he played for Fort Worth in the Texas League.

The Daily Double combination of 5-8 won on the same night two years in succession at Scarborough Downs, Maine.

Wildcats Defeat Olton Mustangs 26 - 22; Streety And Walden Elected Co-Captains

Co-Captains Joe Walden and Keith Streety scored 7 points apiece to lead the scoring attack. Freddy Howard, Garland Thornton and R. L. Rhoten each scored 4 points to round out the scoring.

R. V. Allcorn and Bobbie Copeland led the Mustang's scoring. Keith Streety, junior and Joe Walden, senior were elected co-captains of the team last week.

The Cats defeated the Morton Indians earlier this year and lost to the Amherst Bulldogs by a close score for their only loss.

Sudan Tournament Will Have Some Of The Best Teams In The State Entered

SUDAN, Dec. 12—Sudan High school will be host to some of the outstanding basketball teams on the South Plains Thursday through Saturday as the invitation tournament as the invitation tournament.

Coach Francis Smith's Hornets, rated as one of the better teams in this area, will have their hands full if they expect to win their own tournament. Such powerful teams as Stratford from the high plains and Dimmitt from the region in between will be on hand.

Locally, the potent Levelland quintet, which was undefeated in its first five games and which played in the Hardin-Simmons high school tournament over the weekend, is looked upon as definite threat. The Lobos are led by Harold Phelan and Langford Sneed.

Other outstanding teams entered, teams which can be considered dangerous every time, are Muleshoe, Amherst and Springlake. One team remains to be invited.

In the girls bracket, the Sudan officials have spared nothing to bring in top teams. Powerful Dimmitt and Meadow will be on hand and should be favorites to reach the finals.

But there will be other fine teams in Whitharral, Bula, Stratford, Springlake and Amherst, with the latter definitely rated as a strong darkhorse. Sudan's girls also will be entered.

Sudan is attempting to make this tournament one of the most attractive of the season. All games will be played in the spacious new Hornet gym and large crowds are expected to witness the games.

AFRICA GETTING HEALTHIER

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—The centre of the "Dark Continent" has ceased to be the "white man's grave." The latest figures on European health in the Belgian Congo show a rapid movement from year to year, which brings death and illness figures down to almost European proportions. Death figures dropped between 1946 to 1950 in spite of a substantial immigration. Of the dreaded "killers" like malaria, yellow fever, leprosy, none has numbered more than seven victims during the past year.

WHITEFACE GIRLS PLAYS OLTON IN FIRST GAME

Good Crowds Are Hoped For By Local School

The new Littlefield Gynasium will be the scene of a three-day tournament commencing tonight at 6 p. m. with the Whiteface Girls and the girls from Olton tangling in the opening game.

A large crowd is hoped for as this will be the beginning of a new era in basketball for the local school and the interest of the town is needed to get a good basketball team back in Littlefield. The new gym will seat about 900 people and is quite a change over the old "cracker box gym" that has been used in the past.

Admission for the games will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

BOYS TEAMS

Boys teams entered in the tournament are Olton, Sundown "B", Plainview, Lubbock Cowhands, Morton, Whitharral, Amherst "B" and Littlefield.

Favored in the boys division is the Lubbock Cowhands and Plainview while Littlefield and Whitharral are the dark horses.

GIRLS TEAMS

Teams entered in the Girl's division are Whiteface, Olton, Levelland, Sundown, Abernathy, Morton, Muleshoe and Littlefield.

Favorites to win the Girl's title will be either Whiteface or Levelland while Morton, Abernathy and Morton are the Dark Horses.

Games being played Thursday will get underway at 6 p. m.; 7 p. m.; 8 p. m.; and 9 p. m.

Games will start on Friday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and one will be played every hour until 9 o'clock at night except for an hour delay at 5 o'clock for mealtime.

The Finals will get under way Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and eight games will be played during the day with the last one starting at 9 o'clock that night.

Mary Ann's Game Was Touch Football But Now She's A Star On The Links

By KEITH FULLER

AP Newsfeatures

NEW ORLEANS—A striking 19-year-old brunette with the long-legged beauty of a chorus girl sadly gave up touch football to become the South's most promising golf starlet.

Mary Ann Villegas of New Orleans, the youngest woman's state golf champion Louisiana ever had, literally was pushed onto the links by her dad, Al Villegas, a man who thinks all other sports fall in place behind golf.

First time out, golf bored Mary Ann. "Me, I like touch football better," she said Papa Villegas, after the round.

But Papa's persuasion soon harnessed her natural aptitude to a set of clubs and on an occasional Sunday the lithe-framed beauty with her creamy tan decorated the New Orleans Country Club course.

Sunday golf went on until Mary Ann's game began pushing her dad's, and Villegas is a good amateur with the sticks.

It was the summer of 1950 that Mary Ann's game began to tell. Her drives were long and true, her fairway woods excellent. Only her approach—she calls them "my short game"—needed polish.

Beat Betty MacKinnon

Somewhat apprehensively, she accepted an invitation to the Trans-Mississippi tournament at Dallas and to everyone's surprise, including her own, she upset favored Betty MacKinnon of Mount Pleasant, Tex. She lost the next round but the victory over Miss MacKinnon sent her on her way.

Mary Ann came back from the tournament and entered Dominican College—with the understanding

The brunette who gave up touch football for golf has won five championships this year. She took the New Orleans, Louisiana State and Gulf Coast woman's titles and club championships at both the New Orleans and Metairie Country Clubs.

Mary Ann Villegas, 19, demonstrates the form and power that have made her one of the finest young golfers.

completed only one semester. But as long as the school puts up with me, I'll hang around and try to finish up."

An Iceberg in Tournaments

Mary Ann bounced through several city and club invitational tournaments and the loving cups began crowding a table in the Villegas home.

In her tournament play she was completely relaxed. Older entries subject to freezing and blowing up couldn't keep pace "with that little iceberg."

Mary Ann marks her coolness down to youth.

"If a kid misses a shot," she explains, "well, she figures she'll make it up on the next one. But one day that 16-inch putt that means the tournament starts looking like 16 miles—and you know you're growing up."

On Mary Ann's 1952 schedule is another try at the intercollegiate, the Southern, Trans-Mississippi, Western and the Nationals—a fairly ambitious lineup for a 19-year-old.

But she's reaching for the national women's crown and intends to wear it some day.

Golf occupies a major part of her life but she manages to crowd in clothes, dates and the other interests of a teen-age girl.

Life is uncomplicated for her in the family French Quarter house complete with patio and gardens.

Ring the wall-gate bell at 923 Barracks St. most any day and the chances are you'll find a good-looking gal, barefooted with putter in hand, slapping a golf ball among the expensive furnishings.

That would be Mary Ann Villegas, a future queen of golf.

"Everyone at Dominican was wonderful about my frequent hooky playing," she says. "So far I've to finish, sandwiching business administration courses between fairway trips."

Pay Your Poll Tax --- And Vote

Homefront apathy is letting democracy die of malnutrition while our soldiers in Korea are defending democracy from death by a blow on the head. State Legion Commander Charlie Gibson said in warning Texans that the failure to vote is the greatest weakness today.

Urging Texans to pay their poll taxes promptly to crush apathy, Gibson said that too many eligible voters call the obligations and duties of citizenship "privileges" and think that they can take them or leave them alone.

"It is inexcusable to let American boys die in Korea for the principles of democracy, if we make a mockery of those principles at home," Gibson said on the eve of the Legion's annual state-wide "Operation Democracy" Day, a campaign to wipe out complacency and neglect of citizenship duties.

The tenth anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor found Legionnaires and members of the Legion Auxiliary working as deputized poll tax collectors in an attempt to get out the vote in all elections. Special "Voting Insures Freedom" luncheons at noon last Friday were sponsored by many of the state's 778 Legion Posts in cooperation with civic organizations.

Better Planting Seed In Texas

The Texas State Department of Agriculture is giving a lot of attention toward better planting seed for Texas through better state seed law enforcement and through revising some of the out-of-date seed laws. It is responsible for protecting the public on all planting seed sold which is a sizeable job in a state like Texas that produces about one billion dollars worth of crops yearly.

The Department, in order to improve the seed laws and their enforcement, is following its usual pattern of first getting the counsel and cooperation of others. The Texas Seed Council, Texas Seedmen's Association, and Texas A&M College are a vital part of this better seed program. Jointly, these three groups helped sponsor a week's "Short Course for Seedmen" this past summer at College Station, Texas. The purpose was to better acquaint the seed trade with problems of seed laws and their enforcement in Texas.

Within the Department is being formed a closer knit, more economical, and efficient seed division. Instead of having a seed laboratory division and a seed certification division, these two have been combined into one called the Seed Division.

The seed laboratories, one in Austin, and one in Lubbock, tested about 13,000 seed samples for purity and germination this year for sellers of seed.

When any seed are sold in Texas, the label attached must show this test. The label or test is no better than the sample, and the sample is no better than the sender. Thus, more stress is being placed on official samples. This means samples drawn by inspectors of the Department instead of by sellers.

The seed certification deals with growers who voluntarily meet planting seed standards set up by the State Seed and Plant Board and the Department. By the Seed Division working with these voluntary growers of registered and certified planting seed in seed law enforcement, more than 28 field crops are now standardized, from which one million bags of first quality seed with a cash value of six million dollars will pass into the Texas channels of trade this year. Actual field inspections of growing crops in this program were made by the Department on about 3,000 individual farms this season.

All this seed work is financed largely by fees paid by those getting the service. Heretofore, the Legislature has not permitted the Department to have all these fees it collects to enforce the seed laws. All these fees are badly needed for better seed law enforcement and it has been recommended by the Department.

Banker Finds Success By Joining a Church

A P Newsfeatures

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—William Mark Brown, who founded 52 corporations and several banks, says his first rule of success is to belong to a church.

But that doesn't mean the 89-year-old capitalist expected the Almighty to do his working or thinking for him. He says he attended the Episcopal Church in his home town of Springfield, Mass., "because my folks did. But making friends with the rector was my own idea."

That friendship paid off when the rector, transferred to Utica, N. Y., heard of an opening in a real estate and insurance firm and got the job for Brown.

That started Brown on his way to wealth. He left for Utica without capital or influence. In ten years, he had learned enough about real estate, insurance, railroading and banking to start several corporations and four banks. The 52 corporations he founded were mostly enterprises which helped the newly-founded city of Miami.

His second, third and fourth success rules are closely related to the first:

1. Be an opportunist. (He asked the rector to let him know if he heard of any opportunities.)
2. Never ask for a job outright. Get a friend to recommend you. He can tell of your good points without bragging; you can't.

Information For Veterans

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Who is entitled to receive a burial flag which drapes the casket of a deceased veteran?

A. The flag goes to the next of kin, with preference in the following order: widow; children, according to age, with sons having preference over daughters; father; mother; brothers or sisters; uncles or aunts, nephews or nieces; and others, such as cousins or grandparents.

Q. I've had a permanent NSLI policy on which I failed to pay premiums and which was extended by VA as term insurance for an amount equal to the face value of the policy. Does this extended in-

5. Don't stoy to think how you are going to do a thing if it is in line with your main goal.

5. Don't stop to think how you or localities if the new change lies in the direction of your main goal. (He went from his real estate and insurance job to a railroad job in Florida.)

7. Never work for anyone else if you can go into business for yourself. (With James Pritchard, he started his first bank in Titusville, Fla., although neither had any capital. They agreed that "a bank is not money; a bank is confidence." Capital soon flowed in and they organized other banks in the state, including the first one in Miami.)

8. New transportation, whether by rail, water, highway or air, extends opportunity for the courageous. (Brown invested freely in transportation industries.)

9. When loss threatens, and it often threatens opportunists no matter how well they plan, stall for time. Then use this time resourcefully.

10. Marry a partner who believes in you and won't pull against you when you take chances in changing jobs or going into business deals.

Watchtower Tenant Ready For A - Bombs

By HANNS NEUERBOURG
 AP Newsfeatures

FRANKFURT, Germany—Johann Geiger, 72, lives in a home that has survived a dozen wars—and he thinks it has a chance even to withstand an atomic attack.

With his wife, former locksmith Geiger occupies the Eschenheimer Turn, a watchtower more than 500 years old, which stands in the midst of a busy Frankfurt circle.

He moved into the tower in 1942, when its former resident, a friend of his, resettled in the countryside. "It proved a lucky idea," said Geiger.

About a year later, Allied planes first raided the city and by the end of the war more than 100 heavy bombs had fallen in a radius of 200 yards from the tower. Some bombs missed by only three yards, but they did not shake the stone walls which are 10 feet thick. The basement served as an air raid shelter for the Geigers and 100 neighbors.

The living quarters start at 30 feet above ground and have a picturesque, flower-decorated balcony. There are three rooms, all built in different styles in the course of history, and each is on a different landing.

Until a century ago, tower residents had to toll a bell hourly to prove to citizens that they were staying awake and keeping watch against foes and robbers. The Eschenheimer Turn originally was part of the city wall which girdled medieval Frankfurt.

"In return for their guard duty, the residents did not have to pay rent," said Geiger. "I can no guard and therefore the city charges me 40 marks ($9.52) a month."

Attendance at the first four home football games at the University of Miami this year totaled 175,689 as compared to 170,994 for the first five home games last year.

SILK THREADS STOP PLANES

AP Newsfeatures
A TRICK used by bomber crews in World War II to stop their disabled planes on returning home has been perfected to slow down 600-mile-an-hour Boeing Stratofortresses as soon as they touch the ground. The device is a 32-foot parachute attached under the tail of the 185,000-pound world's fastest bomber. During the war flyers hit upon this idea when their braking systems were shot away. They hooked their own personal chutes to gun mounts and saved many big planes.

WHOA! SAYS THE PARACHUTE, decelerating this Stratofortress on a runway at Wichita, Kan. It gives a big assist to the anti-skid braking system on the tandem-type landing gear.

PACKING the brake chute is fast and simple. The pilot chute at the far end of the table pulls the larger chute into the slipstream. READY FOR USE, the parachute is loaded into a special compartment under the big plane's tail. A cockpit handle pops it into use.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Your feet and your pocketbook are the parts of you most likely to bear the brunt of Christmas shopping. By careful planning and budgeting ahead of time, often you can relieve some of the pocketbook strain, and a little foresight will also help where you feet are concerned.

Everyone gets dressed up to go Christmas shopping but the ladies really needn't wear their very highest heels in order to be stylish. Those who have worn high heels from their early teens, never taking a flat heeled shoe, will probably be more comfortable in some kind of heel but it should be a solid, broad heel of not more than two inches when the time comes to pound the pavement day after day. If your feet and legs are adjusted to a heel of some height, you are likely to develop aches and pains if you put on flats or unaccustomed low heels for the shopping expedition.

So you wear sensible shoes, not a great variance with what you normally wear. And you point your feet forward. If you develop a pain on the inner side of the long arches, you are probably pointing your foot outward instead of forward.

"Sensible shoes" doesn't mean ugly shoes. It does mean the shoe should fit the foot, not the foot fit the shoe. Some people cannot wear narrow-toed shoes; it may be a pretty shoe but if the toes get scrunched up in an inadequate space that causes rubbing and cramping, those toes get unpretty in a hurry with such growths as corns, bunions, and callouses.

Watch the heel fit of your shoes, too. Narrow-heeled shoes on a wide-heeled foot can rub against the heel bone in such a manner as to lead to painful spurs.

You also have arches in your feet. Not only shoes but also the improper fit of your stockings may cause an arch strain, a persistent foot pain, or callouses under the balls of the feet.

There are 26 joints among the bones in each foot from ankle to toe tip, each one having a definite duty to perform to keep your foot flexible and get you around on your daily dozen, which becomes a daily two-dozen during the Christmas season. If your shoes, your stockings or your posture do not bring all those joints and the accompanying parts into proper play with the increased exercising, you are probably going to feel it in your feet.

If they just ache and throb like they might from friction against the pavement, the best treatment may be a contrast bath. Take two tubs of water, one hot and one cold. Put both feet in the tub of hot water for one minute; then stick them in the tub of cold water for one minute. Ten minutes later, after five hot and five cold dunkings, rub your feet briskly with a towel. Then rub the "hurting" spots with your fingers, massaging them gently for awhile. Bend your feet down and up from the ankles and work in a "bye-bye" type of waving with the toes. If your feet have developed corns, bunions, calluses or spurs, you may get relief by padding the toe to relieve the pressure at that point where the growth developed or have the shoe stretched over that area. But don't cut those growths. If they must be trimmed, let your doctor do it. Faring a corn is flirting with danger. Don't do it.

If the arch is your point of foot complaint, you probably need medical advice as to how to overcome the aches and pains. Arches do not fall by themselves; fallen arches result from some injury to one of the main bones of the foot. It may be that an arch support of the proper sort and special exercises for your foot will overcome the muscular weakness that is causing pain in the arch. It may take x-ray to detect the point of faulty weight distribution which shows up in the foot and correct padding of the shoes may be used to eliminate the harmful stresses on the arch.

If your feet burn and itch at the end of your shopping expedition, it might be athlete's foot. Athlete's foot, which is a form of ringworm, usually starts up between the toes with a scalliness and soggy and tiny blisters. Then the soles of the feet and the sides of the toes burn and itch. All these symptoms may then disappear. Like ringworm of the scalp, you think athlete's foot has gone away when the symptoms disappear, but like ringworm, it can suddenly flare up again, worse than before. There may be large, raw, blistered areas of the feet along with severe swelling when athlete's foot makes that return appearance. Then the skin scales off and leaves a thickening of the skin beneath.

It often takes a long time to get rid of athlete's foot and sometimes the cure can make matters only worse. The medicines must be strong enough to kill the persistent seeds of the plant life which is plenty strong. Therefore, the medicine itself may do harm and for that reason you should have the advice of your doctor as to what medicine is strong enough to kill the ringworm and yet not too strong for your particular skin.

Athlete's foot, by the way, is the fifth most common skin disease during the winter.

Variety Of Southern Pea Named 40 Has Been Developed variety of Southern pea, named Cream 40, has been developed by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The new variety was developed by growers who first planted it in 1952 for certified seed peas. Dr. Brittingham, professor of plant breeding, developed Cream 40 between Extra Early Blackeye and a viny, mid-maturing Cream variety.

"The growth habit of Cream 40 makes it well suited for harvest," says Dr. Brittingham. "The pods are borne high above the foliage on long erect stems and are generally bunched at a single level. The moderate amount of vinniness is almost entirely at the lower levels and does not interfere with harvest."

Although the Cream types are generally considered to produce Cream varieties that would compete in earliness and yield with the best Blackeye and Purple Hull varieties have not been available. Dr. Brittingham believes Cream 40 fills this need.

Extra Early Blackeye is the only Southern pea that matures earlier than Cream 40. Results of test at College Station indicate that Cream 40 is only one to two days later than Extra Early Blackeye in maturing 50 percent of the season's total production at the greenshell stage of maturity.

Information on Cream 40 is given in Progress Report 1414, which is available from the Publications Office, College Station, Texas.

March Of Dimes Fights Odessa Polio Epidemic

AUSTIN, Dec. 8—Community action aided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is assuring prompt attention to patient needs in Odessa where polio has attacked in epidemic proportions, Lloyd Gregory, state chairman of the March of Dimes has announced. Equipment and personnel, supplied by the March of Dimes organization, are converging in Ector County from Denver, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Abilene, New York City, and other points as the National Foundation marshals its strength against the sudden, ruthless attack which has caused nine deaths in this West Texas community of 42,000.

Total cases last week had reached 68 as clean-up activities and emergency treatment preparations were taken. Two resident physicians and a teaching nurse were flown in by the National Foundation which has also supplied six tank respirators, six hot pack machines, wool, suction machines, and other equipment. One iron lung was flown to the city when Odessa Medical Center first opened its doors to polio.

Locally, the Ector County Chapter of the National Foundation, under the leadership of Fred McKinzie, chairman, and Mrs. T. E. Brandon, women's chairman, is supplying civic, parent-teacher, and other groups with facts about polio—its symptoms and the precautions to help prevent spread of the disease.

Over the State, many NFIP local county chapters were forced to ask hospitals to defer bills for patient care until after the annual March of Dimes in January. National epidemic aid funds near depletion, the state MOD chairman said, and will have to be replenished by the annual campaign. The March of Dimes will have been mortgaged for over $5,000,000 by chapter commitments for patient care which can not be paid immediately, Gregory stated.

Gregory gave assurance, however, that no patient shall go without needed care because he is unable to pay for it.

Ben Wooten Named Heart Chairman

The appointment of Ben H. Wooten, President of the First National Bank in Dallas, as State Chairman for the 1952 Heart Fund is announced by Dr. Paul V. Ledbetter of Houston, President of the Texas Heart Association.

The nationwide 1952 Heart Fund campaign will be conducted next February to raise the necessary funds to carry forward the Heart Association's program of scientific and Nutrition Specialists, Texas, A&M College.

Cranberry crunch was served at the American Dietetic Association convention in Cleveland, Ohio, this fall and we found it very tasty.

Cranberries are plentiful; plan to use them often.

Use cranberries raw in salads and relishes and cooked in sauces and desserts.

Try some hot cranberry punch for holiday entertaining.

research, education and community heart services.

In accepting the Chairmanship, Mr. Wooten said, "Since tremendous demands are being placed upon the nation's military and industrial strength, we must do everything we can to protect and conserve manpower. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels, the country's leading cause of death and disability, rob us prematurely of too many of our most able leaders in industry, government, science and other vital fields of endeavor.

"Important advances are being made against heart disease. Today's research is producing new surgical techniques, new drugs, new diagnostic methods—new weapons to help fight the nation's primary health problem."

In addition to his outstanding reputation in the financial field, Mr. Wooten has won acclaim for his leadership in civic and philanthropic organizations. He is a Director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Executive Committee of the Dallas County Community

The 1952 Chrysler New Yorker Newport, powered by the 180 horsepower FirePower V-8 engine, is an example of the sleek massive beauty which is typical of the luxurious new Chrysler line.

The interior of the 1952 New Yorker sedan features beautifully designed hardware and newly styled luxury upholstery and trim.

Refinements throughout the line, rather than revolutionary engineering innovations, characterize Chrysler's 1952 models.

Chrysler officials point out that the demands of the rearmament program have precluded the extensive tooling program necessary for drastic model changes. They add that Chrysler introduced more important new features in its 1951 line than ever before were offered by any manufacturer in a single year. These included the 180-horsepower V-8 FirePower engine, Hydraguide power steering, Oriflow shock absorbers and Fluid-Torque Drive torque converter.

Refinements contributing to performance, appearance, safety, economy and comfort have been incorporated in the 1952 line. Features formerly available only in certain models have been extended to cover the entire line.

1952 Line Features 18 Body Styles

The number of body styles offered by Chrysler has been considerably reduced by eliminating those of smaller production and those that are approximated by others retained in the line. Despite this reduction, however, there remain 18 body styles.

All models save those in the Windsor and Windsor DeLuxe lines are powered by the 180-horsepower V-8 FirePower engine. The Windsor and Windsor DeLuxe have an improved version of the Chrysler six-cylinder "Spitfire" engine, higher powered and designed for improved performance and longer life. The torque available from this engine is higher at all speeds than that obtainable in the one it supersedes. The torque curve is much flatter at the peak and indicates an improved performance at normal driving speeds.

The bore remains unchanged at 3 7/16 inches but the stroke has been increased from 4 1/2 to 4 3/4, increasing cubic displacement from 250.6 to 264.5. The engine produces 119 horsepower with a compression ratio of 7 to 1.

Longer life, improved economy and greater scuff resistance result from the use of the new chromium-plated top piston rings and new wide-slot oil rings. Improved cooling in the six-cylinder models is accomplished by a seven pound pressure release vent radiator cap which lessens the possibility of coolant loss due to boiling.

Power Steering Available on All Models

Hydraguide steering, which proved to be one of the most popular engineering advances ever offered by Chrysler, will be available also on the 1952 Windsor and Windsor DeLuxe lines, instead of only on the eight-cylinder models, as was the case in 1951. It will be optional at extra cost, except in the Crown Imperial where it remains standard.

Quieter operation of the Oriflow shock absorbers introduced as standard equipment on all models in 1951 is attained by refinement of the piston and base valve assemblies, permitting a more gradual change in the velocities of the fluids at the discharge ends of the orifices.

Smarter exterior appearance results from the use of new wheel covers and a new tail light. In all models except the Imperial and Crown Imperial the ornamentation of the wheel cover is limited to a beaded ring just inside the tire valve opening and a raised center hub incorporating three concentric stepped rings. The wheel cover is of stainless steel. In the Imperial and Crown Imperial models the centered crown is set in a depression three inches in diameter.

The new tail light used on all models save the Imperial and Crown Imperial projects from the fender and contains an integral back-up light, eliminating the separate back-up lights used on 1951 models.

Interior styling includes improvements in upholstery and trim with an unusually wide choice of materials that are the most luxurious and tasteful that Chrysler has ever offered.

Thirteen solid colors and six two-tone paint combinations are offered.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) The scandals uncovered in the internal revenue bureau have put the spotlight on Texas-born John B. Dunlap, the bureau's new top man, but a second Texan, who holds a key spot in the tax-collecting service, is equally vigorous in defense of the bureau as a whole.

"I want to say I am proud to be with the bureau of internal revenue," says Marguerite Rawalt of Corpus Christi, Tex., chief of the brief review section. "It reserves no black eye because of the conduct of some individuals. The average career employee is a conscientious, able and diligent public servant."

Her job is to make a final check on tax appeals before they go to the U. S. tax court. An attorney, she obtained her law degree from George Washington University here in 1933. In private life she is Mrs. Harry Secord. Her husband is a retired Air Force Major.

Both Dunlap and Miss Rawalt are career employees. The term is applied to federal employees who have come up through the ranks, often from the lowest civil service rating, to distinguish them from political appointees.

Dunlap, who started as a deputy collector in Texas, became commissioner of Internal Revenue August 1, just in time to face the flood of scandals that have shaken the whole tax-collecting agency. His big job now is to clean out the wrongdoers and restore the integrity of the service.

He contends that the dishonest and inefficient are relatively few in number and are being weeded out as fast as possible.

The 48-year-old Dunlap, a native of Texas, studied business law taxation and finance at Southern Methodist University and engaged in highway construction work before becoming a deputy Internal Revenue Collector in Dallas in 1934. By World War II he had risen to chief of the Dallas office's field division.

A Major in the Texas National Guard, in which he had enlisted as a private in 1923, he was called into active service and assigned to intelligence work. He left the Army in 1945 as a Brigadier General, a rank he still holds in the 22nd Armored Division of reserves.

In March, 1949, Dunlap was appointed Internal Revenue Collector at Dallas. For more than a year before that he had served as acting collector during a prolonged political controversy over appointment of a collector. Dunlap finally got the job as a compromise choice.

Last April Dunlap came to Washington to direct a special drive against tax frauds. From that spot he stepped up to the head job.

In a news conference after taking the oath of office, he said he would pick up and head back to Texas if he ever was denied a free hand in doing the job as he saw fit.

Miss Rawalt started with the Bureau here after getting her Law Degree.

Her division handles only civil cases. These are cases appealed to the U. S. Tax Court by taxpayers who feel that the Internal Revenue Service has not been fair with them. Incidentally, two former Texas members of Congress serve on this 16-man court—Luther Johnson of Corsicana and Eugene Black of Clarksville.

Miss Rawalt has the responsibility of reviewing the cases appealed to the Tax Court. The cases vary widely, but mostly they involve large corporations and sometimes millions of dollars.

If she feels that the taxpayer has a good case, she can send it back to the collection district in which it originated with the request that collector involved settle with the taxpayer, thus avoiding court procedure.

One such case she recalls involved a 14-year-old newspaper carrier who had charged bicycle maintenance as a business expense. The boy's father, in filing his return at Atlanta, Ga., listed the boy as a dependent, noting that the boy had earned just less than the $500 limit permitted before he would have ceased to qualify as a dependent. (This limit now is $600.)

The Atlanta collector's office checked the case and said the bicycle maintenance item couldn't be allowed, that the boy's total earnings then came to $500.28 and that the father, therefore, could not claim him as a dependent.

The case eventually came to Miss Rawalt. Recalling it, she told this reporter:

"Can't you imagine the storm it would have brought down on the Revenue Bureau? And all over 28 cents. Fighting the case further would cost the taxpayers hundreds of dollars."

She sent the case back to the Atlanta office with the word that while it might be technically correct, it should weigh the human factors and drop the matter, permitting the father to claim the son as a dependent.

A taxpayer may appeal a court's decision to the Supreme Court, if he feels a case goes beyond the Internal Revenue Service's staff, including no longer concerned. This department less criminal prosecutions.

Miss Rawalt started as a secretary to then Chief while she was taking the work at the University of the mid-1920's. Later she did clerical work in El Paso and came to Washington as a member of the National Board. She attended school at the same time for her law degree.

She is past president National Association of Lawyers and the Federation. She is second of the National Business and Professional Clubs.
