BROADCAST ELECTION RETURNS FROM LITTLEFIELD

Littlefield Gets First Cotton Co-operative Branch in This District

LITTLEFIELD CALLED "THE FEEDING PEN OF THE SOUTHWEST"

GUARANTEE NEARLY DOUBLY SIGNED BY TOWN AND COUNTRY

FRIENDLY SPIRIT GIVEN IN BENEFIT ACTION FOR COMMUNITY

Littlefield has made another record, this time in connection with the Texas Cotton Co-operative association organization.

This city has landed the first branch location outside of Lubbock for this district, according to an announcement by J. W. Hammock, of Sudan, field representative for the association.

The concerted action of Littlefield business men in underwriting the guarantee necessary to secure a branch office of the association for this city, made the latest achievement for Littlefield possible.

Contract Over Signed
"There were 16 Littlefield business men," Mr. Hammock explains, "who signed the guarantee for $500 each, making a total of $8,000, which is $500 more than necessary for underwriting the branch office. But we did not stop at that. Another business man signed for $200 and 21 of them made guarantees of $100 each. Then, we secured 100 farmers of Lamb county for limited amounts ranging from $5 to $50 each, bringing the entire total signed for $12,000."

Co-op. Spirit Shown.
The action of the Littlefield business men is representative of the friendly relations which exist between them and the farmers of Lamb county. As soon as the news of this city learned that the farmers desired such a service as is made possible through the Cotton Co-operative association, they immediately fell into line and did their share in making possible the branch office of the association for this city and county.

County Agent Urges Farmers Attend the Feeders Short Course

The bankers of Lamb county are urging every farmer in this county to attend the feeding of livestock course to the extent of finding a better market for feedstuff to attend the Feeders Short course to be held in Amherst, August 12 and 13.

Frank Holland, president of the Feeder-Breeder Ass'n.; D. Burns of the Cotton Seed Crushers Ass'n.; A. L. Smith, animal husbandman of Extension Service, and others will be present to discuss feeds, rations, marketing and other phases that pertain to the program of livestock feeding. This is a very important meeting, says County Agent D. A. Adam, and every man that can should attend to get what information one can and the bankers would like to know approximately at that time just what amount of calves will be needed in Lamb county this year.

Anyone desiring further information get in touch with your banker, or the county agent, Adam stated.

LEGION MEETS MONDAY

The Richard New post of the American Legion will meet in regular session Monday evening at the Presbyterian church, also the auxiliary unit of the organization. A special program will be rendered and every member is urged to be present. Men and women who are eligible for membership in either organization are invited to attend.

"POLLYTICKS" BUZZ AROUND HEADS OF VOTERS IN SWARMS

Bed ticks, Sheep ticks, and other ticks; but the most popular of all of them this week is "pollyticks." All over Lamb county the effect of this particular 'tick' is being felt, and plenty of voters are scratching the ticks in their cranial thatch in an effort to decide just how they are going to scratch their ballots next Saturday.

There perhaps has never been an election held since Lamb county was duly and properly organized that is arousing such general and widespread interest as the one drawing near. Both male and female voters alike, have felt the inoculation of the proboscis of this particular tick which has been buzzing around them in great numbers for the past 30 days.

This week the candidates—all men and women, good and true—have been scouring the country in personal interviews, making second and third calls "just to be sure," as one of them expressed it, rounding up the scraggling votes and repairing any political fences that opponents may have put a gap in.

There won't be any need for a call on franchise holders to do their full duty election day—they'll all be there with their poll tax receipts anxious to mark their respective ballots as they individually see best.

Next Saturday will be a great day in Littlefield—and all over the county. No real red blooded American citizen who is white and 21 would miss it for any price.

FUTURE FARMERS TO HOLD AGGI MEET AT SCHOOL

The Future Farmers of Littlefield will hold a meeting of all the club members at the Vocational Agriculture room Tuesday, July 29.

At this meeting the regular business of the club will be taken care of. At this time also the feeding out of a number of beef calves will be discussed and arrangements will be made for the securing of the calves. All members are urged to be present at this meeting, and all who are prospective members for the coming year.

BAND CONCERT ENJOYED

A large crowd attended the concert rendered Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at the Midget golf course by the local band under the direction of D. W. Crain, band master.

The band, under the direction of the new band master is making rapid progress and several new members have been added to the band.

FEEDING OF 20,000 HEAD OF CATTLE AND THOUSANDS OF SHEEP HERE THIS FALL OBJECTIVE OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

An outstanding increase this fall and winter over previous years in the number of head of livestock conditioned for the markets at the Littlefield feeding pens is the aim of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, according to announcement Thursday by J. W. Hale, secretary of the booster organization.

In this forward movement for advancing of the livestock industry in Lamb county the chamber is receiving enthusiastic support.

The plan is to have the Littlefield feeding project known among farmers and stockmen of the country as "The Feeding Pens of the Southwest."

May Feed 20,000 Head
The feeding of 20,000 head of cattle at the Littlefield pens this fall and winter is the objective. Efforts also will be directed toward having thousands of head of sheep conditioned for the markets at the pens here this fall and winter.

Last year 20,000 head of sheep and a great many head of cattle were fed at the local pens.

One of the chief objectives in connection with the stock feeding movement, according to Mr. Hale, is to have "every farmer in the county market every pound of feed he raises in the form of baby beef, fat hogs, sheep, dairy products, poultry, and poultry products."

Sell Grain on Hoof.
Mr. Hale points out that a government estimate on the value of a ton of sorghum grains is $47 marketed through being fed to livestock as against an average of $16 per ton when the feed crops are not fed, but are sold.

Last year more than 1,600 cars of sorghum grains were shipped out of Lamb county.

OWNERSHIP OF LEADER CHANGES

With this issue of the Lamb County Leader, the former owner and founder passes its guidance over to other hands, the property having been sold to Morley B. Drake.

During the seven and one-half years we have directed this newspaper, we have seen Littlefield grow from a village of 150 folks to a modern municipality of approximately 3,500 citizens, and peopled by as fine a class of citizenry as could be desired. In the main the business relations of the past have been indeed pleasant, and in relinquishing the publication of this newspaper we take this opportunity of expressing our sincere appreciation to all patrons of the paper for their patronage and friendship.

Mr. Drake is a newspaper man of many years successful experience. He has the future welfare of Littlefield and Lamb county at heart. It is our belief that he will continue to produce a good newspaper, such as will be entirely satisfactory to all interested citizens, and we bespeak for him the same loyal and hearty co-operation that has been accorded the undersigned.

—JESS MITCHELL.

To the People of Littlefield and Lamb County:

We rejoice at this opportunity to express our pleasure at having selected Littlefield as our business home and residence.

We have traveled over practically all of Texas, and no section has so appealed to us from every standpoint as has Littlefield and the South Plains. The people are progressive, courteous, and possess the true Western spirit. The crops are good; the climate is excellent. We do not wonder at the fact that the people of Littlefield and Lamb county are proud of this city and territory.

We wish to express our deep appreciation of the many courtesies extended to us in the short time that we have been in this city, and to assure you that we will carry out the same spirit. It will always be our pleasure to co-operate in every way possible in the future development of this section.

We will appreciate your business, endeavoring at all times to please you, and we will welcome your co-operation in every way in the publication of the Lamb County Leader.

—MORLEY B. DRAKE, Owner and Publisher.

THIEVES SWIPE CHIX RIPENING FOR TABLE

Mr. Sheriff, get your gun! The stealing of a few chickens now and then isn't regarded as anything that should set a community in turmoil. But when it comes to taking along a supply of feed, that is "pouring it on."

While the household of J. G. Curry, on Highway No. 7, west of the city, was sleeping peacefully, party or parties unknown eased their way stealthily into the hen coop and "lifted" 15 plump fryers—and a quantity of said feed devoted to their ripening for the dining table.

Thieves with future designs on the Curry property should beware. Mr. Curry is prepared to give the next thief the kind of reception he will not appreciate.

POLITICAL RALLY AND BARBECUE IS SET FOR FRIDAY

COMMERCIAL BODY TO URGE BIG CROWD FOR THE EVENT

A political rally, with a chicken barbecue as a feature, will be held in Littlefield this Friday under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The event, it is expected, will bring several thousand people to this city.

The barbecue and political rally Friday, and the special arrangements for furnishing of election returns here Saturday, will give Littlefield two big days, which will long be remembered.

The political talks will start sufficiently early to give all candidates a suitable opportunity to present their claims for office. The speech making and the barbecue will take place on the vacant lot opposite the First State Bank. Candidates for state and county offices will be given the opportunity to make talks.

The Chamber of Commerce has arranged the barbecue partially to furnish the organization with additional funds with which to carry on its program in behalf of Littlefield and Lamb county. Tickets for the barbecue will be 75 cents each. Each patron will be served one-half a chicken with all the trimmings.

J. E. Brannen is general chairman. W. T. Jones will have charge of purchasing the chickens, and the committee on arrangements is headed by R. M. Smith. G. M. (Gus) Shaw, "champion chicken barbecue artist of America," will have charge of the preparation of the food. He

BULLETIN BOARD TO BE ERECTED ON LOT OPPOSITE ST. BANK

WILL USE TELEPHONE TELEGRAPH, RADIO FOR RETURNS

Plans for the broadcasting of all primary election returns in Littlefield next Saturday night have been completed, according to E. C. Cundiff, who will have charge of the information dissemination.

This week a big bulletin board 12 feet high and 24 feet long is being erected on the vacant lots on Main street, just opposite the First State Bank, special electric lights playing on the board are being placed, a telephone is being installed on the spot, and as fast as returns arrive they will be promptly posted for public information.

Returns given out will include reports of the voting in county and district as well as the state returns, and will be received both by telegraph and telephone. The information will also be given out over the Littlefield broadcasting station to citizens remaining in their homes or those living in the country who can not get into town for the evening.

Fully 2,000 people are expected to attend the receiving and broadcast party to be held here Saturday night, and many citizens are already planning to make an all night affair of it.

A feature of the evening's entertainment will be an old fiddlers' contest, and there will also be a good bill on the screen at the Palace theater for those wishing some diversion between the receiving of reports.

Amherst to Celebrate Her Seventh Birthday With Party Aug. 8-9

Amherst will celebrate her seventh birthday anniversary Friday and Saturday, August 8 and 9, tentative arrangements for the party having already been made, and the program is this week being prepared.

A feature of the occasion will be a big carnival with plenty of rides and side shows of various kinds.

F. V. Brown and H. Lindsey, of Lubbock, will have charge of the rodeo, which is said will be one of the best ever pulled off in this part of the state.

Jim C. Johnson, of Lubbock, will be present with a six piece negro orchestra to furnish music for three nights dancing.

LUBBOCK EDITOR HERE ON ROTARY PROGRAM THURSDAY

The Rotary club met Thursday at the regular weekly luncheon at the Methodist church, with 22 members in attendance.

T. S. Sales the president, presided over the business session after which the meeting was turned over to C. H. Grow, who was in charge of the program.

Charlie Guy, of Lubbock, was present and made a very interesting talk using as his subject, "The Golf Bug," following which the assembly joined in several songs led by H. F. Brown.

We need just one more law in this country an that's one to prohibit people from calling over the phone and saying: Guess who this is.

It's great to be a Texan!

EYES OF NATION FOCUSED ON LITTLEFIELD AS CITY STEPS RAPIDLY FORWARD IN SEVEN LEAGUE BOOTS

The eyes of the nation are on Littlefield and Lamb county.

From far and near, from unexpected places, inquiries pour into the Chamber of Commerce from individuals and corporations seeking information as to opportunities available in this city and county.

These inquiries are prompted by the enviable reputation this city and district enjoys. Littlefield and Lamb county are famous. Uniformly good crops, with resultant good business conditions, and a citizenship that is 100 per cent sold on this section, has created a solid foundation on which to construct a greater Littlefield, a more populous and prosperous county.

Approximately 250 inquiries are received by the Chamber of Commerce every month. Of the total inquiries, an average of 200 letters are from persons seeking information as to the price of farm land, the crops which may be grown, and if it is possible to rent a farm for one or two years before making a purchase of land.

Many persons write the Chamber of Commerce asking for information as to the opportunities for the purchasing or establishing of a business.

The Chamber of Commerce feels that the number of inquiries, and the fact that many who write move into this city and district is all the evidence that is needed to substantiate the faith of the residents of this city and district that the Littlefield of today is not the Littlefield of tomorrow, or a few years hence; that the Lamb county of the future will be the showplace of the South Plains and of Texas.

SEES HEAVY CLAIMS ON FUTURE BANKERS

American Bankers Association Official Declares That Banking Changes Creating Large Bank Systems Will Call for Broader Social Viewpoints.

Larger scale group or branch banking will inevitably bring a new era of banking organization and operations to the United States and bankers will have to develop "new conceptions, new administrative methods and new economic views," Rudolph S. Hecht, Chairman of the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association, recently told the members of the American Institute of Banking.

The Institute is the educational section of the association and he emphasized the point that the new era in banking demanded "that we must step up our education so that banking shall be fortified for new responsibilities."

What the Future Calls For

"We must broaden our social conception of banking," Mr. Hecht said. "Not only for the technical operations of the new banking must we fit ourselves, but both as individuals and an organized profession we must charge ourselves with serious consideration of the social problems that are involved. Already we hear murmurings and fears and doubts as to whether the changes that are coming about in banking in the extension of group and branch systems do not constitute the coming of a new financial menace, a monopolistic threat not only to the individual unit banker, but to the financial liberty of society in general. I am stating these things merely as facts that must be taken into consideration in our studies.

"Public opinion cannot be ignored by any business, least of all by banking, which is admittedly semi-public in character and is, therefore, subject to special supervision by the constituted authorities. If banking develops tendencies that give rise to public fears, we must so conduct ourselves as to reassure all doubts.

"For this is true,—that business succeeds only by serving society—that no business can permanently prosper which does not both render service to the public and at the same time convince the public that it is rendering that service. Banking, therefore, must take cognizance of what the public is saying of this new era in its development.

"It must be part of the technique of modern banking administration, whatever form our enlarged institutions take, to avoid the creation of monopolies, or even the appearance of such a centralization of financial power as to be able to exercise an undue influence over public or private finance or other lines of business. The public's right to the safeguards of fair competition must be observed.

Must Preserve Individual Initiative

"It must also be an item of management that individual initiative and opportunity shall be maintained. If America has outstripped other nations in the distribution of the benefits of its progress, it is due to the fact that there are no barriers of social caste or business tradition against advancement for character, ability, and initiative. American business has learned that it serves itself best by encouraging by every practical means individual ambition and initiative, and hurts itself most by repressing or neglecting them. Competition for efficiency, both within an organization and between organizations, will prevent any institution from long enduring in which maintenance of opportunity and recognition of initiative are not controlling principles of management. As heads of the greatest of our financial and industrial institutions stand men who started from the humblest of beginnings. Through all the grades of executive authority and reward stand men in positions of keeping, generally speaking, with their individual merits. I, personally, see no reason for fearing that the enlarged banking organizations which the future may hold would necessarily supply future bank employees with any less opportunity for achievement than unit banking.

"Again, a major consideration of administration in any multiple form of banking organization must be its public relations in every community it touches. Its foremost consideration must be actually and visibly to serve the economic upbuilding of that community. No system will be long tolerated whose local members work, or are suspected as working, to draw economic strength from one place to enlarge the financial power of another. The local unit bank has always been part and parcel of the communities where it lives—and no system can last which does not make it a major principle of operating technique to serve, and not exploit, the communities into whose business lives it enters."

Growth of Banking Education

DENVER, Colo.—At the American Institute of Banking convention held here last month the growth in the effort among bank employees to provide themselves with banking education was shown by the fact, as reported by one speaker, that 12 years ago the institute had 80 study chapters, today 235, and that its enrollment in the study courses had grown from 11,300 to 45,000, or an increase of over 300 per cent. The graduates number nearly 14,000. The Institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association through which bank workers are given instruction in theoretical and practical subjects relating to their business.

IF ICHABOD CRANE HAD A FLASHLIGHT

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

WE ALL remember the story of Ichabod Crane and the headless horseman. There was the dark form by the side of the road—thundering hoofs on the Sleepy Hollow highway—and Ichabod fleeing in confused terror before this terrible monster. If Ichabod had only known that his hobgoblin was an inventive rival disguised with a pumpkin head, he would have had a good laugh and gone on with the business of vanquishing his competitor.

What Ichabod really needed was a modern flashlight. Then he would have discovered the trickery at once. Many business men need the flashlight of analysis to uncover the hobgoblins in their business and then they might sit back and laugh at their rivals who hesitate to investigate and learn the truth.

At this time, when business and banking are making strenuous efforts to have a clear vision ahead, it is especially important that the power of research and analysis be employed to their fullest extent. When these twin brothers of good management have been pressed into service in all fields, I am confident we shall see a further lessening of periods of stress. However, I believe business in general has learned the valuable lesson that any prosperity that is not leavened with a little adversity would not seem basically safe or sound.

RESERVE SYSTEM'S DIVIDENDS ANALYZED

Bankers Find Increased Payments to Member Banks Would Be Small Inducement.

Various proposals that member banks in the Federal Reserve System should participate more largely in its net earnings through an increase in the dividend rate above the present fixed 6 per cent "would be a very small financial inducement" to them, it is declared in a recent study of this subject by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is shown, the commission says, by a theoretical forecast, on the basis of the past six years, of additional earnings that would be disbursed to member banks during the next six years under two plans introduced in bills before the United States Senate.

"The Fletcher bill provides Federal Reserve Bank earnings, at present 6 per cent dividends to members and completion of a 100 per cent surplus, should all be distributed extra dividends to the stockholders," the report says. "If the earnings of each Federal Reserve bank were distributed among its own members there would be no extra dividends in the Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and San Francisco districts during the next six years, but the other six Federal Reserve Banks would pay annual extras at the following rates: Richmond, 4.68 per cent; Atlanta, 4.69 per cent; St. Louis, 3.50 per cent; Minneapolis, 9.51 per cent; Kansas City, 5.48 per cent; Dallas, 4.83 per cent.

"If the earnings were pooled and paid out to all members in all districts each member would receive an average annual extra dividend of .78 per cent. Under this plan no franchise tax as now would be paid by the Federal Reserve Banks to the Federal Government.

Another Plan Analyzed

"The Glass bill would provide that, after present 6 per cent dividends, one-half the remainder should be paid to member banks as an extra dividend with the residue going to surplus and Federal Government as franchise tax. The average annual extras to members would be as follows: Boston District, 2.51 per cent; New York, .48 per cent; Philadelphia, 2.05 per cent; Cleveland, 2.09 per cent; Richmond, 3.26 per cent; Atlanta, 4.67 per cent; Chicago, 3.30 per cent; St. Louis, 2.02 per cent; Minneapolis, 4.75 per cent; Kansas City, 2.74 per cent; Dallas, 3.31 per cent; San Francisco, 1.87 per cent.

"If these extra funds were pooled the result would be an extra average annual dividend of 1.73 per cent for each member. Under this plan the system would still pay as now an annual franchise tax, amounting to $1,941,996 on the average."

By way of concrete instance, report says, a member bank has capital and surplus of $200,000, before holding Federal Reserve stock amounting to $5,000 on which is receiving $350 under the present per cent dividend arrangement, and with the addition of each 1 per cent to the dividend rate receive an additional income of $50 a year.

"If each member bank will figure out for itself the dollar-and-cents gain it would enjoy we are confident it will be agreed that the gains are small as against the economic disadvantages which can be pointed out," it concludes.

Edward N. 'Ed' RAY

Candidate for

TAX ASSESSOR FOR LAMB COUNTY

FALSE RUMOR

It has come to my knowledge that a rumor is being spread over the county to the effect that I was fired from the Littlefield public schools as a teacher, and that I was running for county office because I did not have a job.

I wish to state through the columns of this paper that such statements are entirely erroneous and without any foundation whatever, and may readily be verified by seeing any member of the Littlefield School Board.

TO THE VOTERS Of Lamb County Texas

DEAR FOLKS:

I have worked hard trying to see each of you personally, and at the same time attend to the duties of your Clerk's office, yet I now realize there are some of you whom I will not get to see before the primary election day.

Please consider this a personal solicitation for your help on July 26th.

THANK YOU!

T. Wade Potter

---For---

County Attorney

To the Good People of Lamb County:

In asking your support for re-election as your County Attorney, I really do not feel that I am presuming too much, because I believe that I have made you a competent and faithful public servant. My every action as your attorney has been made in the light of day and openly before the courts and the people. Everything is plainly of record, and you have had opportunity to judge of every public act of mine. I have used every effort to serve the interests of the people of Lamb County, and believe I have been reasonably successful.

If you believe I have been faithful to my trust, and will be so in the future, I ask that you record that faith at the polls on July 26th, by returning me as your attorney. I shall deeply appreciate your support, and will do the best that in me lies to show my appreciation by guarding the public interests as I have always endeavored to do.

Faithfully yours,

T. Wade Potter

THE COUNTY AGENT

The consensus of opinion expressed in an interview with citizens residing in all parts of Lamb county is to the effect that the best business investment the Commissioners of this county has made was that of employing a County Farm agent, and especially favorable was the comment relative to D. A. Adam who holds that position.

Mr. Adam, aside from being a very congenial gentleman and having strong executive and organizational ability, is also a man of tireless energy. It was about three years ago he hit the county on the run, and apparently his hurry has not yet ceased, judging from his large accomplishments.

The Leader does not pretend to recall all of Mr. Adam's activities, but it has kept pretty close cases on him all the time. We well remember that there was a case of 75 poultry demonstrations conducted among the first things in 1928. Farm land terracing received his next attention, and to date more than 7,000 acres of land have been put in this moisture-saving manner. About 50 smut demonstrations have been conducted for farmers and farmer boys, and 50,000 pounds of grain treated.

Mr. Adam's work in the dairying lines have been particularly productive of good results. The Cow Test by Mail service rendered was worth hundreds of dollars to dairymen, to say nothing of the teaching regarding rations, butter fat cost production figures, pasturage handling, etc.

During the past two years Adam has been instrumental in placing 25 pure bred bulls among dairymen of this county, 16 of this number going to circle owners. As the result of one sweet clover demonstration, more than 20,000 pounds of this seed has been shipped in for pasturage purposes, and it is estimated that next year will see the cattle on more than 100 farms in this county manufacturing lactal fluid from sweet clover.

Adam has a large number of 4-H club boys, that number increasing yearly, with 73 now, doing active work, and plans for 50 or more feeding demonstrations are on foot for the coming fall and winter. It is also planned to hold 100 feeding demonstrations this winter among adult farmers showing them the value of marketing their feed on the hoof. Conservative estimates among citizens of this section are to the effect that around 20,000 cattle and 40,000 sheep will be fed in the vicinity of Littlefield during the coming winter.

The fact of the 100 per cent cooperation Mr. Adam has received relative to his work in this county is sufficient to attest the popularity of his service and high standing he occupies in the estimation of citizens generally throughout the county. Not only among the farmers, but also among the citizens and business men of the towns in this county he is greatly appreciated, and everywhere the County Commissioners are commended for employing a county agent for Lamb county, and Manager Sterling C. Evans thanked for sending Adam out here.

WEST TEXAS GROWTH

A gain of 370,224 in the population of West Texas during the past 10 years isn't at all hard to look at or think about. Recently published census statistics show that the population of 114 counties in West Texas have increased a total of 1,520,019, or 32 per cent, while the state as a whole shows an increase of 24 per cent or a total of 5,810,683.

Speaking specifically of the South Plains area, the population increase has been immense during the past 10 years, the increase of 19 counties being from 66,979 to 184,566.

Still further narrowing the subject Hale county shows a population of 20,192, with Lamb county running a close second in a population of 17,449. This county's population 10 years ago was only 1,175, and while the district as a whole shows a population increase of from 68,619 to 161,363, or 74 per cent, the percentage increase of Lamb county tops the state record of counties with a percentage of 1,385.

Anyone who knew the sparsely settled conditions of this county 10 years ago, and who has watched the rapid and steady increase during the past decade would not be surprised at such staggering figures. No county in the state possesses greater or more attractive virtues, no county has had more people looking forward to visitation and home-owning than has this, and no county has attracted to itself a higher quality of citizenry.

Lamb county has just pride to pat itself on the back, every town and city within its boundary has a legitimate right to throw back its shoulders and assume a boastful manner, the wonderful crops produced here give every farmer and business man a right to be "chesty" over the fact that he is one among many who exercised the best judgement possible when he established himself in this county and began taking an active part in its marvelous development.

The Escape of the Good Old Stage

By Albert T. Reid

Nor is the end yet here! The county has not yet struck its real stride. The agricultural land is not yet one-third populated, and the towns and cities have before them yet larger periods of growth and prosperity. Verily, the latent possibilities have scarcely been touched, and what the growth of another 10 years may be no citizen here is sanguine enough to accurately predict.

THE WAY OF LIFE

By Bruce Barton

LIONS

There was one year in my life when it seemed as if everything went exactly wrong.

The resulting accumulation of worries and problems loomed up like a range of mountains. It hardly seemed worth while to try to get on top of one of them because there were so many others beyond.

Wise old Talleyrand, when he could not see his way clearly through a difficult situation, used to take to his bed and give out word that he was ill. It was his experience that many difficulties solved themselves if one only let them alone for awhile.

Adopting his example, I went away for a couple of weeks and played golf. When I got back the troubles and problems had not disappeared, but I was a different man.

I went down to the office, made a list of all of them, and decided to tackle the toughest one first. I cleaned it up in one day and started after the others.

An amazing thing developed. Some of the worst situations proved to be the easiest, and not one of the whole lot turned out to be worth half the worry I had given it.

The lesson was valuable. I ought to have learned it much earlier in life, for I had been given plenty of opportunity to observe the ways of successful men in such matters.

One of my first bosses made it a rule every morning to ask for the bad news first. He said: "I want to get the tough things off the calendar while I am fresh. I never deal with the same thing twice. When I pick up a paper from my desk I don't lay it down until it's settled. Procrastination is poison."

An acquaintance of mine is a prominent operator in Wall Street. I asked once if it were true that at different times he has taken tremendous losses.

"Losses," he exclaimed, "I've taken millions in losses. Any man who tries to get through life without taking losses will never make any money. The trick is to take 'em quick and forget 'em. Amateurs worry about them in advance and brood about them afterward. The worry and the brooding break their nerve."

The Book of Proverbs, which said pretty nearly everything that can be said—and much better—has this verse:

"The slothful man saith, There is a lion without, I shall be slain in the streets."

Worrying about the lion, the slothful man is eaten by fear, which is a more terrible death.

The wise man steps out boldly. And more often than not the lion proves to be just a motion picture lion, with his claws cut short and his poor old teeth all gone.

Big Crowd Attends The Candidate Speaking At Lums Chapel Last Saty.

Contestants in the county election presented their claims for votes at the primary this Saturday, at a well attended rally at Lums' Chapel, Friday night.
The meeting was featured by stirring addresses, punctuated on two or three occasions with personalities.
Lon Morris was Chariman. Refreshments were served by the women of the Lum Chapel community. Music was furnished by the Littlefield band.
J. E. Brannen, Littlefield postmaster, and active civic worker, issued an invitation to attend the political rally in Littlefield this Friday night.

Small Is Represented.
Bart Denton, who spoke in behalf of Senator Clint Small, candidate for governor, was the first speaker at the Lums Chapel rally. He declared that Senator Small is the only candidate for governor who "can do any business" at Austin for the people of West Texas.

Other speakers with a few exceptions candidates for county offices, included:
For county judge, C. W. Benge and Judge Simon D. Hay; for sheriff and tax collector, J. L. (Len) Irvin, G. R. (Bob) Crim, and O. H. Brown; for county and district clerk, A. H. McGavock, A. M. Holt, and J. W. (Jake) Hopping; county treasurer, M. M. (Jimmie) Brittain, Miss Bessie Bellomy, and G. W. Hargrove; for tax assessor, A. A. Whyte, Roy Gilbert, and Edward N. Ray; for county attorney, T. Wade Potter, Herbert C. Martin, and J. E. (Bert) Dryden; for superintendent of schools, Mrs. E. S. Rowe, Carl G. Clift, and L. D. Rochelle; for tax collector, T. L. Matthews, Gaston Patterson, and W. G. Street; for justice of Peace, L. E. Key; for constable precinct four, Fred Hoyer; for district clerk, Malory W. Etter; for public weigher, precinct four, W. H. Bell.

Chicago citizens now fear that the next generation may be cross-eyed from looking into muzzles of six-shooters.

Instructions To Voters Approaching Primary

Every election held and in every voting box there are ballots that have to be thrown out either because they are mutilated, improperly, incorrectly or illegibly made out. Therefore it behooves every voter to exercise the utmost care in the marking of his or her ballot that it may be duly accepted and counted by the judges holding the election in their precinct.
As instruction for voting the following suggestions are offered:
Scratch the names of candidates you wish to vote AGAINST, leaving the names of candidates you wish to vote FOR unmarked. If you put a cross mark opposite the candidates name you wish to vote for, your vote will not be counted. The voter is at liberty to scratch all names printed on the ballot and write in the name of a candidate of his choice if he desires.

It is to be noticed that names of all precinct officers will appear on all ballots. Voters are instructed to vote for precinct officers of his precinct only. If you do not know the number of the precinct in which you are entitled to vote, get this information at once at the court house, and vote for your precinct officers only.

CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES

In the coming primary, the Democrats of the Eighteenth Congressional District, composed of Fifty-three Northwest counties, will no doubt show their appreciation of a conscientious, wise and capable public servant by voting for Marvin Jones for Congress.

Mr. Jones was first elected in 1917 and has served continuously since that time. By native ability and thorough industry and experience he has become one of the most effective and highly respected men in the House.

If the entire House of Representatives were composed of men like Marvin Jones the standing of the National Congress would be a source of general pride. Mr. Jones does not seek the limelight. He does not speak merely to get into the record, but when he does speak he has something to say, and the members of the House always listen to him.

Mr. Jones has had very little opposition, and in the few instances when it has developed his opponent has accepted defeat with little surprise, and everybody seemed to have a good time. His merit is recognized, and each huddled year finds Mr. Jones more strongly entrenched in the confidence and esteem of his constituents. Even those who disagree with him occasionally on national questions are proud of the manner in which he serves all of the people of the district, and of the record he has made.
The people of the Plains are always glad to support Marvin Jones.

OF SHEEP HERE THIS FALL

"Think of the great revenue which would have accrued to Lamb county farmers, and the amount of money which would have been put into circulation, had the 1,600 cars been fed in place of shipped," Mr. Hale declared.
Littlefield has gained a wide reputation as an advantageous location at which to feed livestock in preparing them for the markets. Many stockmen who fed at other locations last year have declared that they will feed at Littlefield this fall and winter.
Banks Back Beeves.
In addition to the thousands of head of cattle and sheep which will be fed at the Littlefield feeding pens, and at other points in the county, 2,000 baby beeves will be fed out on the farms of the county under the direction of the county agent and vocational men. This project is largely in the nature of a demonstration, and will further present what may be accomplished by feeding as against the shipping of the entire crop.

The program to feed 2,000 baby beeves is receiving the enthusiastic cooperation of the banks of the county. They will loan money with county purchase baby beeves to be which. This commendable support fed out. of the banks in the fur-on the part of the livestock industry gathering of those instituted last year. Lamb county

Panhandle Plains Ass'n. Organized at Slaton To Handle Poultry Markt's Enthusiasm of First Meeting Index of Interest That Will Bring Success.

J. W. Hale, secretary of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and Leonard Kimmel, Littlefield hatchery owner and prominent in the poultry industry for many years, represented this section at a meeting at Slaton last Thursday at which organization of the Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show association was effected and at which it was decided that an annual poultry show will be held at Slaton in early winter. Representatives were present from more than two score towns of the 54 counties in the area.

Organization of the Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show association is an outgrowth of a successful poultry show which has been held annually at Slaton. This event has attracted exhibitors from many states.

Mr. Kimmel, who was a resident of Slaton previous to coming to Littlefield, is credited with bringing about the first Slaton show.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Kimmel returned to Littlefield much gratified with the accomplishments at the Slaton meeting. Both declared that the organization of the Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show association was an accomplishment of immense importance in the development of the poultry industry in the Panhandle-Plains area, and that the work of the organization would result in improvement of the character of poultry raised.

Lamb County Interested
Lamb county is one of the leading sections of the Panhandle-Plains area in the raising of the poultry, and this county will undoubtedly loom prominent in the poultry shows at Slaton.

L. A. Wilson, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, was selected as temporary chairman of the association, and William A. Wilson, secretary of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, was chosen temporary secretary. David F. Eaton, Lubbock county agricultural agent, was elected chairman of the committee on permanent organization. Six other members will be selected and this committee will report on findings and a by-laws and constitution at a later meeting.

The meeting discussed whether or not it will be advisable to plan the annual show with prizes offered for both "show" birds and production birds. The organization committee will further discuss plans to make the event appealing to the poultry farmer who takes pride in appearances of his flock.

Show at Slaton

In submitting proposals to the organization for holding the show at Slaton, that city's Chamber of Commerce announced intention of providing all facilities and all expenses for holding the event.

Mr. Wilson outlined the purpose of the gathering. He declared the need long had been felt for a regional poultry show for the Panhandle-Plains, similar to the dairy show held annually at Plainview.

Among the speakers at the Slaton meeting, other than Mr. Wilson, were T. E. Roderick, publisher of the Slaton Slatonite, who very warmly welcomed all visitors; Mr. Eaton, who served as one of the principal organizers of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show, and its first president; A. B. Davis, secretary-manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; P. C. Bennett, of the Amarillo Board of City Development, and William A. Wilson, of Lamesa.

Mythological

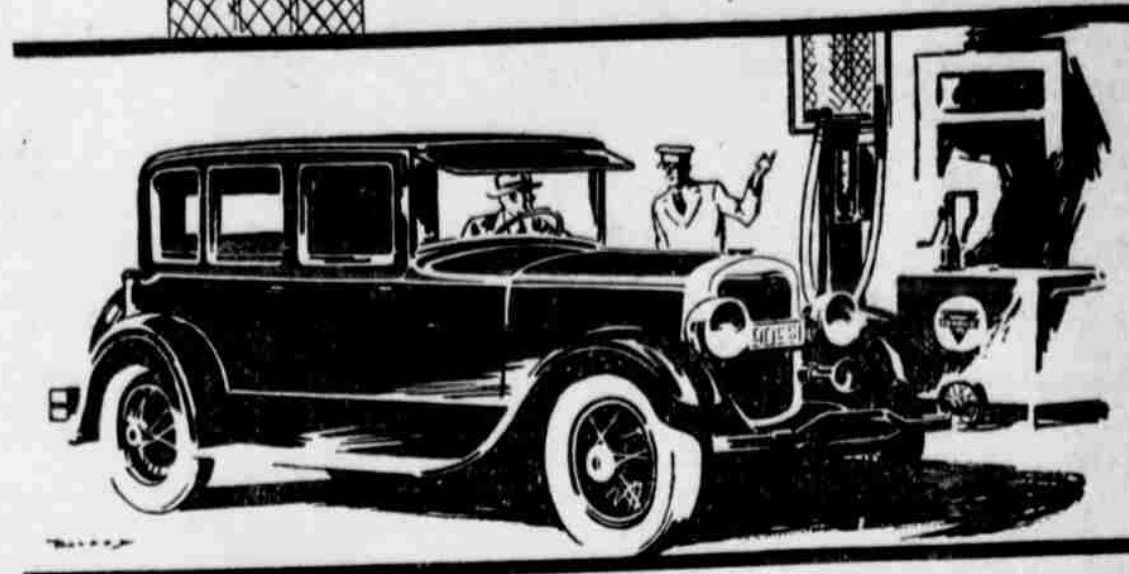

The nine muses were the mythical daughters of Jupiter and Mnemosyne goddess of memory, and presided over the arts and sciences as follows: Calliope, epic poetry and rhetoric; Clio history; Erato, love poetry; Thalia festivals and comedy; Melpomene tragic poetry; Terpsichore, dancing; Euterpe, instrumental music; Polyhymnia, singing and rhetoric; Urania, astronomy.

They say there will be music in heaven, but we hope that when we get there we won't find a lot of mosquitoes singing in the chorus.

VOTE FOR W. G. STREET --FOR-- Tax Collector

If mature business experience and fidelity to past public trusts count in the realm of economic affairs, I should make the citizens of Lamb County a good Tax Collector.

Thanking you in advance for your favors in the coming Democratic Primary next Saturday, I am,

Modern Beauty Salon Has New Equipment

Responding to a popular demand the Modern Beauty Salon of this city, which is owned and managed by Mrs. Sam Hutson, has installed the Navette Croquignole permanent wave machine. Other new additions to this strictly modern beauty parlor include two Arnao Sphinx hair dryers.

The new equipment arrived Monday, and was immediately placed in service. Mrs. Hutson has received many compliments on the work which is turned out through the use of the new equipment.

The placing of the new Croquignole wave machine in use was made a special occasion at the Modern, Mrs. B. L. Lipole, owner of the Chicago Human Hair Company of Dallas, spent Monday and Tuesday as guest operator. A large number of women of Littlefield and district took advantage of the installation of the new equipment and the presence of Mrs. Lipole to obtain permanents and to get the benefit of her wide experience in beauty culture. The visit of Mrs. Lipole was made the occasion of the acquiring of the very latest in beauty work by Mrs. Hutson and her staff of expert operators.

The new Arnao Sphinx dryers are the very latest in this equipment. They are silent, a feature which is very much appreciated, and dry both sides and the back of the head in one operation.

Mrs. Hutson, who has had many years of experience as an operator and owner of beauty shops, came to Littlefield three months ago. She has enjoyed an excellent business from the outset, and has made it a policy to introduce at all times both in Littlefield and other locations the very latest in beauty culture and equipment. The addition of the new permanent wave machine and dryers is another example of Mrs. Hutson's progressive policy.

READ: WHAT SOME OF OUR GOOD CITIZENS SAY ABOUT THE LITTLEFIELD SECTION OF THE FAMOUS SOUTH PLAINS

THESE MEN MOVED HERE FROM THE BLACK LAND BELT OF CENTRAL TEXAS, AND AFTER FARMING THE FERTILE LAND OF THE LITTLEFIELD SECTION FROM FOUR TO FIVE YEARS, HAVE GIVEN THEIR VERDICT WHICH SPEAKS FOR ITSELF, AS FOLLOWS:

Littlefield, Texas, November 12, 1929
To Whom It May Concern:
I bought a farm on Yellow House lands in Littlefield section in June, 1924, moved my family here in October, 1925.
Rented this land out one year and have made four crops on it myself.
Have had no failures and can cultivate two acres of my Littlefield land as cheaply as one acre of black land, and make as much cotton and more feed per acre.
The health of my family has improved and we are all delighted with the Littlefield section of the South Plains.
Very truly yours,
F. C. BEYER.

Littlefield, Texas, October 31, 1929
To Whom It May Concern:
I bought two farms from Yellow House Land Co., near Littlefield in 1924 and moved my family here in the fall of 1925.
This year makes my fifth crop in the Littlefield section, and have had no failures. In fact, have produced more feed and cotton on my land here than on the black land I own in Williamson County.
For diversified and successful farming, I would not give my land near Littlefield, acre for acre for any black land in Central Texas.
Yours very truly,
J. R. WALES.

Littlefield, Texas, February 18th, 1930
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
In the late fall of 1925, I purchased a farm about four and one-half miles from Littlefield in Lamb County.
Have made four crops on this land.
In the year 1926 I had 105 acres in cotton and picked 68 bales. The same year my maize crop weighed out 4280 pounds per acre and hegar 4181 pounds per acre; also made 45 bushels of corn per acre.
In the year 1927, I had 105 acres in cotton and gathered 47 bales. The same year my maize and hegar averaged two tons per acre and corn 50 bushels per acre.
In 1928 I had 120 acres in cotton and picked 90 bales. During the same year my maize and hegar weighed out and averaged 4450 pounds per acre.
In 1929 I had 130 acres in cotton which made 142 bales. The same year my maize averaged over two tons per acre.
The above is a correct statement of products off my farm for four years as per the records carefully kept, and, in my opinion, the Littlefield section of the South Plains is the best diversified farming country in Texas.
Very truly yours,
(Signed) L. A. RATLIFF
Sworn to and subscribed before me this 18th day of February, A. D. 1930.

This demonstrates beyond question that the Littlefield section is a cotton country second to none, and everybody knows it is a wonderful feed country.
With these facts, and the rapid settlement of this section by good farmers from Texas and other states, there can be but one result — THESE GOOD LANDS MUST ADVANCE IN PRICE!
Why not secure one or more of our 100 per cent farm tracts, or combination propositions in the center of development while same can be had at present low prices!

Great Violin Maker

There are no actual data as to the first violin made by Jacobus Stainer, who was born in 1621 and died in 1683 in an insane asylum. He was apprenticed to a maker of stringed instruments and is estimated to have produced violins of his own about 1641. Later he studied at Cremona, where he discovered Italian methods of violin manufacture and became a master in the art. He was a German, born in the Tyrol.

Favor White Hollands

White Holland turkeys are greatly esteemed by those who raise them. They are inclined to be more docile than the other breeds. Probably they are not quite as vigorous. The question of health is one of foundation stock and care.

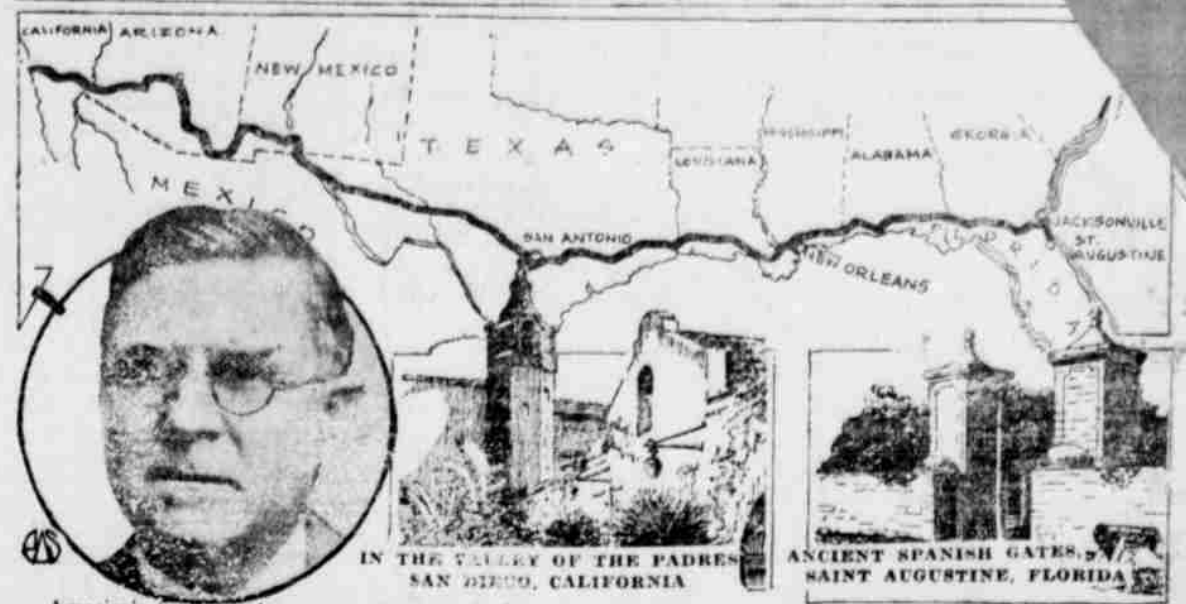

Undoubtedly the feathers of the White Holland are more highly prized than those of other breeds. The Bronze is the largest breed and undoubtedly excels the other in vigor and vitality.

Renewing Hen Flock

It may not pay to replace entirely your older hens with pullets every year, especially if you have Leghorns which are likely to lay pretty heavily in their second season. The cost of raising an entire new flock may offset the gain from a larger egg yield. But about half the older birds ought to be replaced with pullets, and the sale of the old hens and broilers, together with the heavier egg production will usually show a profit from this course.

One sure way of cutting down the wheat acreage would be to teach more farmers to play golf.

The Family DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES M.D.

SERIOUS WARNINGS

Big headlines in the late newspapers announce that several hundred citizens have become paralyzed from drinking "jake" or tincture of Jamaica ginger. This is a somewhat surprising conclusion, but, even science cannot know everything; we are learning day by day, often by very painful and afflicting experience.

Of course alcohol is the preserving agent in all vegetable tinctures. "Jake" is a medicine, pure and simple. It has no mortal use as a beverage; the guzzler of this poison must expect to take the consequences.

The purpose of this letter to my readers is, to warn against the use of any unnecessary thing. Life and happiness are too precious to be fiddled away in foolish habits. The man or woman without sense enough to obey the law of self-preservation—a law which even dumb brutes recognize—must expect to reap the fruits of such serious folly.

Can legislation put sense in the human head? Or would teaching be better? Can I compel my neighbor to abstain from being a hog? Must I imprison him for months and years in order to educate him? These are vital questions, capable of shaking the foundation of a republic. Wars have resulted from disputes over less vital things.

I shall never swear out a warrant for any man's arrest who does not interfere with my rights unjustly. But I have a right to say to my patient, my friend, my neighbor, "If you are no better custodian of your most precious possessions—life, health and happiness—than to fritter them away drinking "jake" and corn whiskey, then take the consequences, and blame nobody but yourself." I might say that tincture of aconite would go a quicker job for you—and save your family a lot of worry! I have no use for "jake" even as medicine.

FORD

I visited Henry Ford's great plant at Dearborn the other day. As I came out of one of the buildings I saw a rope stretched across the brick pathway.

"We'll have to walk on the grass," said my guide. "There's a kiddier's nest down that path. Mr. Ford saw it the other day and had us block off the path. The kiddier, you know will leave its nest and let its young ones die if it is disturbed."

I didn't know that fact of natural history, not having been brought up in the prairie country where the killdeer flourishes, but as I looked down the path and saw the mother bird hovering over the nest in a low bush I felt that I had got a glimpse of another phase of Henry Ford's character.

Higginbotham - Bartlett Co. Sued for $60,000 In Littlefield College Affair

Lamb County District court, Judge Charles Clements presiding, will convene at Olton, August 4th for a three weeks session.

The first and third weeks will be given over to the trial of civil cases while the second week will be devoted to cases of a criminal nature. The docket for this term is reported to be exceptionally heavy, and it is already doubted by attorneys over the county if all cases listed will come to trial.

College Case Filed

One of the cases of particular interest to Littlefield will be that of a suit on the part of financial subscribers to the Littlefield College fund, wherein recovery of a part of their subscriptions is sought. Lumber Company Sued

Suits have been filed by E. K. Kitchen, W. H. Bell and Mac Weatherford against the Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., each in the sum of $20,000 alleged damages and relating to the moving of several residence buildings from the college grounds about the time bankruptcy proceedings were filed.

County Court

Community Building

Learn From Other Cities

Is Most Excellent Plan

New York has just been told that it can learn many things of value from other cities. In Chicago it can learn what to do with a water front which the metropolis is accused of shamefully neglecting. Boston, Cleveland, Detroit and Los Angeles are among the cities which New York is informed it might profitably study. In the list St. Louis is mentioned as a city that can teach New York the value of hospital beds.

Doubtless the advice given New York could as aptly be given any other city. Cities, like individuals, have specialties in which they excel. They have their distinctive flairs, influenced, of course, by their necessities, traditions and assets.

Is there any one thing that every city needs? Any one outstanding gift or trait of quality without which it is doomed to plod along laboriously, but given which it can just about perform miracles. We believe there is, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Given official courage, official intellectual integrity and capacity and any city is pretty sure to go impressively ahead.

In a city so governed it is patent that political buncombe would be a dead word. Officials of that caliber would know a good deal about what other cities had done and were doing. They would, of course, know their own city thoroughly. Its defects of character and methods as well as its physical requirements, and when occasion demanded, they would tell their city its faults and how to correct them. There would be no taffy, or flattery, or trite old city hall balderdash. They might incur temporary unpopularity, but that would not weigh at all with men of such measure.

Can such men be found. We believe they can be. Certainly they are worth looking for. Certainly they will not be found in partisan organizations maintained primarily, if not solely for holding office and apportioning the spoils.

Bronze Plate to Certify Quality of Brick Walls

For the first time in the history of the ancient craft, masonry walls are to be built to standard and certified. Beginning January 1, the Common Brick Manufacturers Association of America inaugurated a plan to safeguard principally the home buyer and home builder, by causing to be placed in masonry walls, built of certified brick, with proper design and workmanship, a bronze marker as an evidence of quality.

The certification idea will be carried to other types of construction than homes, and in the carrying out of the plan the national association will have the co-operation of its 400 manufacturing members, located in practically every state in the Union, and its 17 district organizations located in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Boston, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Denver, Salt Lake City, New Orleans, Hartford, Conn., Norfolk, Va., and Raleigh, N. C.

Clinker Bricks Bring

Top Prices on Market

Clinker bricks, the erstwhile worthless discard of every brickyard, doomed to the refuse piles and the dump heaps, are today the darling little Cinderellas of the building materials field. Today they sell at face brick prices if they are sufficiently fused and adequately pitted with the bubble scars of the searing flames. The history of the clinker brick is one of the romances of later day material development. One day, less than a decade ago, a Chicago architect poking around in a brickyard for something odd and out of the usual run of bricks, dug one of these shiny discards out of the ash heap. The result of that incident was perhaps the first example of skintled brickwork, deliberately done, in America. It scored an instant hit. Today hundreds of skintled brickwork homes dot the country.

Controlling Billboards.

Investigation of outdoor advertising with the idea of ascertaining how it may best be controlled in the interest of conserving the beauty and desirability of residence districts in cities and of scenic countryside has been undertaken by the National Association of Real Estate Boards following a conference on city planning at which the advisability of such control was discussed.

The conference recommended that a committee of three be appointed by the president of the national association to co-operate with a committee from the General Outdoor Advertising association for the purpose of studying the best methods for controlling the placing of billboards.

What Does It Mean?

It is a long ways from the flint, steel and spark method of getting light and heat to that of the sulphur match, then another great advance to that is the electric current.

All other methods of light, heat and power was under individual control. But in the matter of the electric current, to make it practical and utilize it to its fullest extent, the control must be centralized. Therefore, the Utilities Companies are a necessity to modern progress.

So, whenever you connect your electric stove or iron, or turn the switch that floods your residence, business house, or streets with lights, it means that such would not be possible without a strong capitalized company.

BETTER YARDS AND GARDEN EVENT IS VERY EFFECTIVE

WOMAN'S STUDY CLUB PLAN IMPROVING CITY LAWN

Enthusiastic interest is being manifested in the Better Yards and Garden Contest, which is being conducted by the Woman's Study Club, of which Mrs. F. G. Sadler is the president.

Fifty residents of Littlefield have entered this contest which promises to have a marked effect in improving the appearance of Littlefield. The Woman's Study club is to be congratulated on the undertaking of such an important project.

The summer inspection was conducted late last week, and in spite of the fact that a number of the entrants in the contest are on vacation, all the yards and gardens presented an excellent appearance.

The final inspection will be made early in September, at which time the awards will be made.

The inspection was made by the judges in the contest. They are: R. A. Box, chairman; J. W. Hale and W. J. Chesher.

The judges were accompanied on their tour of inspection by Mrs. Sadler.

TAKE IT FROM DAD

By Frank H. Cheley

Do You Believe Another Great War Is Likely?

Dad Smithhough sat by the dying embers of the grate fire waiting for Bob to come home before he would retire. Shortly, there was a key in the lock and in bounded Bob.

"Some debate tonight, Dad. Oh, boy! almost as good as a football game! Some battle, too, and according to the arguments there is bound to be another world war and that before I'm out of college. Dad, do you believe it could be so?"

"My boy, I don't know. I hope not with all my heart. Certainly it will be very much more difficult to generate a war spirit in this country than ever in the past."

"Why, Dad, wouldn't everybody respond just as they did before it war was actually declared?"

"No, my boy, I do not believe they would. America and the whole world for that matter is much better informed about war, its colossal costs and its absolute ultimate futility, to give any war support again because there is a better and more effective way.

"Bob, the late World war cost the world the lives of twenty-six million men in the prime of their lives plus three hundred and thirty-seven billion dollars in money plus the moral deterioration of whole nations. For a hundred years the nations will be rebuilding the loss and damage and for centuries mankind will be laboring under the taxes of war."

"But, Dad, we have always had wars haven't we—ever since time began? What makes you think they will stop now?"

"Yes, my boy, war has been a very real part of society from the days of the first simple savage gang. It has been imbued in men, this love of struggle, this love of combat. Our ideas of heroism, of courage, of bravery and self-sacrifice have largely had their root in war. It would be folly to say that this spirit of struggle has not played a great and significant part in the progress of civilization but with the very great enlightenment of the Nineteenth century, the vast inter-communication of nations, the world has become a neighborhood and the time has now come, because of our utter and absolute inter-dependence, to make of the world a brotherhood and transfer this love of fight into the moral realm—war against ignorance and disease and poverty.

"The new day will demand soldiers, my boy, vast armies of them, trained to a nicety in self-control and unselfish service for others, who can marshal the vast resources of the world for health and happiness and intellectual and spiritual unfoldment of mankind."

"But, Dad, that isn't the question. We'll have another war in spite of you older folks everywhere who think like you do. Isn't it a fact that economically war is a necessity?"

"Sadly enough, my boy, we cannot escape the fact that hatreds, fears, huge armaments, desperate economic rivalry, coupled with the desire for revenge and restitution are unstable foundations for an enduring peace.

"That's a big question, Bob. Let's get some help upon it. Look there on the top shelf over your head and I think you will find a very splendid and entirely dependable book by my old friend Kirby Page on 'War, Its Causes, Consequences and Cure.' That's it. I read and re-read it several months ago. You'll find it worthy, of careful study and here in chapter three is the answer to your question, at length. How can further wars be prevented? 1. By Abandonment of Economic Imperialism. You will marvel at the information given there. At the very root of war is our insatiable desire for money and more money and rich territory. You'll see how near we have come to war time and again in our zeal to protect investments in foreign countries. 2. By Disarmament. Bob, according to seasonably dependable figures it takes 75 per cent of every dollar of combined governmental receipts to pay for past wars and to prepare for future wars. Only 2 per cent of our total national budget was last year available for education, research and development work. 3. By Abolishing All Secret Diplomacy. Which simply means, Bob, a greater degree of democratic control of foreign policies. 4. By Establishing International Processes of Justice, which would mean the outlawry of war, the establishment of a World court and an operative League of Nations. Bob, I believe that such a thing will ultimately be and that it is our duty to help in every possible way by creating sentiment. 5. By Creation of an International Mind which means World Brotherhood.

"Boy, do you feel war-like? Do you think you'd like to distinguish yourself in the service of your country and of mankind? Do you really hanker for a scrap of glory, then line up with these five great actualities in 1917. Will there be as many as 100 million of the youthfulness in the world as there were in 1917? Will there be as many as 100 million of the youthfulness in the world as there were in 1917? Will there be as many as 100 million of the youthfulness in the world as there were in 1917?"

NEGROES WILL NOT VOTE IN DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

To do or not to do is a much mooted question this week in the matter of negroes voting in the coming Democratic primary; but that they will not vote in Lamb County is the information given the Leader this week, according to a ruling made by County Chairman Guy Willis.

Notwithstanding a ruling by the U. S. Supreme court to the effect that refusing the negro voting privilege in the primary is a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of the U. S. Constitution, a recent Texas decision is to the effect that negroes may be legally barred.

It is understood that aside from two or three counties, every county in Texas will not accept negro ballots in the July primary.

Lfd. Aggi Students Are Making Good Progress In Projects, Says Box

The Vocational Agriculture students of Littlefield are making good progress in their summer project work, according to R. A. Box, agriculture instructor. The 30 members of the class are carrying on a total of 90 home projects, an average of three projects per pupil. The boys are averaging 10 acres per pupil in crop projects, and most of them in addition have some kind of livestock project.

Several pure bred hog projects are now in progress. The following boys are now growing nice litters of pigs: Earnie Mitchell, Melvin Ross, Paul Roberts, Buell Murray, Coyt Smith, and Wilburn Mansell. These hogs are being fed a balanced ration of home grown grain and skim milk, augmented by a good commercial supplement. Where possible, sudan pasture is being used to advantage, also.

Another pupil, August Clark, has a nice flock of Barred Rock chickens as his major project. He has caponized over one hundred cockerels, which he will grow out. From the pullets he will select 50 of the best for his project next year. In addition he has a registered Jersey heifer which will soon freshen, five acres of Wes-Tex cotton, and five acres each of hegari and red top sorghum. He intends to feed out a number of beef calves this winter, utilizing the feed crops which he is now growing.

Dumas Haynes has five acres of milo and 10 acres of cotton which are looking good. These crops were planted from pure seed. Dumas was also caring for the home orchard for project work this year, but had hard luck on account of the freeze. He has it pruned in excellent shape, and has continued to cultivate it through the summer, so that it will be in good condition for bearing next season.

Coyt Smith is carrying on four projects: five acres each of cotton and kafir, a brood sow, and a flock of baby chicks. He is doing good work in all these enterprises. His is a good illustration of the diversified type of project work that the boys are encouraged to take.

MAKE ME YOUR NEXT SHERIFF Of Lamb County

In presenting to the citizens and voters of Lamb County my candidacy for the office of Sheriff, of Lamb County, I do so with the feeling that I am well qualified to successfully and efficiently perform the duties of that office to the eminent satisfaction of the people living within the bounds of this county.

It will be my aim to render to you the most consistent and continuous service possible while in office. I fully realize that the day of the two-gun man or the double-fisted official of the "bully" type has long gone into the discard. Most people now days, and especially so in Lamb county appreciate courteous treatment, even the criminal element. I have had years of experience in handling all types of men in public service, and am confident I can handle any criminal situation that may arise. Generally speaking, it shall be my policy to be kind but firm in prosecuting my duties of this office, and at all times I will be found ENFORCING the LAW without fear or favor.

I respectfully solicit your favorable influence and your votes at the coming Democratic primary to be held Saturday night.

Thanking you in advance for your favorable consideration, I am,

Very truly yours,

Revenue From Spanish Moss
New Orleans, La., raises a $1,000,000 crop annually in its two city parks. Spanish moss, which festoons oak trees, was sold for approximately $1,000,000, the money being used for city upkeep. The moss is gathered and cured for six months. It is then ginned and sold to mattress manufacturers.

Skull Out Temptation
If a man instantly turned his ears and mind away, the assault would be easily repulsed; but as soon as he opens his ears so far as to dwell upon and daily with temptation, he is at ready well nigh conquered, and the strife is at the hardest. - John Tauter

Anyway They Stared
An Emporia school ma'am says the Gazette, went to California last summer and ate her first meal in a dining car. "Yes, I wore my new kimono to breakfast," she said, "and the way everyone stared at me, they must have thought it was pretty." - Upper's Weekly.

MRS. FLORA STANLEY
No wonder Konjola has won a million friends; no wonder seven million bottles were used in two years! Would you not like to know all about the medicine that wins such triumphs? Ask your druggist about it, but right now before you do anything else, read the words of Mrs. Flora Stanley, 315 North McMasters street, Amarillo, Texas. Praising Konjola, Mrs. Stanley says: "I was in miserable health for five years, the result of stomach and liver disorders. My back ached, my feet and ankles were badly swollen. Gas formed each meal, and I endured pains. Dizzy spells and bilious attacks were other sources of my trouble, and now I have a good food digest as it should, biliousness is gone and my back is back to normal. We will recommend Konjola after what for us."
Konjola does work swiftly full treatment of from six bottles is advised for best results. Konjola is sold in Littlefield at the Eagle drug store, and the best druggists in all throughout this entire section.

TAXES, POLL TAX AND NO TAXES

There are in Lamb County where from 500 to 1000 gasoline pumps. They are sticking on every corner all over town and county. They do not belong to filling station operators. They belong to the oil companies. They are exploiting the trade and traffic of Lamb County. They pay no taxes. They are not even on the tax rolls. Why? Who exempted them? These pumps are worth $150.00 each - 1000 would be worth $150,000.00, to say nothing of oil pumps and other equipments loaned to filling stations and now escaping taxation. It is the duty of the County Judge to see that this property is put on the tax rolls and made to pay taxes. He has been on the tax board for six or eight years and has not done so.

How do you like, Mr. Farmer, for your wife and daughters to drag a heavy cotton sack over your fields to get money to pay taxes on your home and farm and at the same time drive up and have your car or tractor filled with gas and oil from tax free property? How do you like, Mr. Business Man, to work and save and economize to pay your taxes with the diamond-studded millionaires free? What is the County Judge for anyhow?

While they are pussy footing around and going over tax rolls to see if some poor fellow has paid a poll tax there is more than enough of this property escaping taxation to pay the salary of the County Judge. I'll take the job for the taxes that I can get out of them and the county can keep what it is paying the County Judge now. Vote for a man that will see that these millionaire oil companies will pay taxes on this property in Lamb County. I did it in Cherokee County.

POULTRY

RAISING TURKEYS IN CONFINEMENT

America's great holiday bird is getting ready to strut again in the Middle West just as his proud ancestor did years ago. The wild gobbler was once monarch of the feathered family in the woods that stretched up and down the Mississippi valley. As he disappeared from the timber, turkeys were brought into the barnyard and an attempt was made to tame them so they could be handled as chickens are today.

But disease drove them out. Then came the apparently erroneous theory that turkeys were delicate and could not be raised successfully unless they were given an open range where they could get plenty of exercise and catch grasshoppers and bugs. That theory has been disproved.

It is now known that turkeys can be successfully raised in close confinement. This may change the entire system so that in the future the laying, brooding and marketing season can be greatly lengthened. Turkeys may eventually be produced almost the year around and be brought in fresh from the farm every month in the year. Instead of turkey raisers marketing practically all of their surplus birds at Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons, as they do at the present time, they will be able to furnish fresh ones winter and summer.

The production of squab turkeys, weighing from eight to ten pounds, on a year around basis may be developed in the future. It is at least made possible through the use of artificial incubators and brooders and the development of the confinement method of handling the birds. Breeders will have to change the laying habits of the turkey hen just as the poultrymen did with the chicken hen.

June Chicks as Easily Reared as Early Birds

June-hatched chicks are no more delicate than those hatched during the early part of the year, although some poultry-keepers think they are.

What makes them more difficult to rear without loss in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred is that they are run over ground that has been occupied by broods of chicks for months past.

You'll find the June chicks go ahead without mishap if only you'll give them a piece of fresh ground—ground that hasn't been used for any kind of fowls for four or five months. If you haven't much space you'll maybe find this difficult to manage, but falling grass land there is no reason why you shouldn't turn them out onto a piece of "turned" soil.

Test to Find When Eggs Will Become Fertile

A test conducted in Canada shed some light on the question of how soon after the male is introduced eggs become fertile. In this test five days after the introduction of the male half the eggs were fertile. On the seventh day 70 per cent of the eggs were fertile, and the per cent of fertility remained fairly constant at this figure.

Another test was conducted to see how long the eggs remained fertile after the male was removed. For the first four days 70 per cent were fertile. On the seventh, half of the eggs were fertile. On the tenth day after the removal of the male all were infertile.

Poultry Facts

Ask your county agent about the confinement method of growing chicks.

Feeding and housing of hens are the most important factors affecting the hatchability of eggs.

As a whole grain in the scratch feed, wheat is a very useful feed. It can be ground and used in the mash with good results.

If a turkey hen settles upon a suitable place to make her nest she should not be disturbed, but it is best to remove the eggs every day, leaving a china egg in the nest.

All notions of the warm house should be abandoned and a house built along lines that will furnish the best shelter.

As soon as the ducklings are all hatched, pick up the hen mother by the feet, hang head downward and ruffle the feathers before dusting well with insect powder.

Cannibalism among young chicks usually starts either from idleness or lack of a proper ration. Be sure chicks are fed properly and then keep them busy at all times.

Fine sand is best for the floor of the brooder house. The sand should be clean, sharp and sifted for young chicks.

Overcrowding the young chicks will cause heavy losses. Each four chicks should have at least one square foot of floor space in the brooder house.

Toe picking and cannibalism are common poultry worries. The cause is crowding too many chicks together under one flover, or an unbalanced ration—lack of protein and green stuff.

For-- COUNTY TREASURER:

In making my last request for favors from Lamb County citizens in the coming Democratic primary to be held Saturday of this week I am doing so in full confidence that my past service has been honest, faithful and satisfactory to the county at large.

During my tenure of office as your County Treasurer it has always been my highest aim to handle the affairs of that office in a thoroughly competent manner and with all due courtesy and co-operation to the public at large and to other office-holders.

Try as I may, I have not been able to see quite all the voters throughout the county and make a personal solicitation of their favors, and am taking this opportunity of inviting their vote and their influence in my behalf when they go to the poles next Saturday.

Thanking you in advance for your favorable consideration, and assuring you of my continued desire to give to the citizens of this county my very best services, I am,

Very truly,

M. M. "Jimmie" BRITTAIN

—FOR RE-ELECTION—

COUNTY TREASURER

Lamb County

TO THE CITIZENS Of Lamb County

In the last lap of this race for county office, I have just a few words that I feel should be said to you.

In my race for County Judge of Lamb County for a second term, I ask the place again only as a recognition of duty performed. It has been my constant endeavor to keep faith with you, and feeling I have done those things that you elected me to do, then I should like your support again.

If you believe in obedience to the laws by all the citizens, I want your vote. If you believe in endeavoring to make Lamb County a better place to live in, I want your vote.

When I entered this race in February of this year, I had the same sentiments that prompt me today—sentiments of friendliness and confidence in our people. Furthermore, I realize that when this campaign shall have closed on July 26th, every candidate and every voter in this county will still be a citizen, and that only sentiments of friendliness and co-operation can make us win for our County and State.

Having confidence in the voters of this county, and feeling I have made myself worthy of your support, I assure you your vote will be appreciated on July 26th.

LITTLEFIELD IS NUMBERING AND MARKING STREETS

COMMISSION PASSES AN ORDINANCE TO AID NEW PROJECTS

An important project underway at this time in the development of Littlefield is the numbering of all business houses and residences, and the erection of street markers. This work is to be followed by the publishing of a city directory. Completion of the projects will give Littlefield numbered business houses and residences, marked streets and a city directory for the first time in the history of the municipality. There will be a street marker at each intersection. They will be mounted on iron posts, over six feet high, which will render it very easy for strangers to find their way throughout the city. All streets are being numbered by blocks, which is the modern method of numbering. For example, there will be the "100 block," the "200 block," and other designated blocks of every street. These projects are in line with the progressive policy of Littlefield to maintain civic services in keeping with the growth and development of the city. The numbering and marking of the streets and the issuing of the city directory is in charge of the Taint Directory and Advertising Co., Oklahoma City. An ordinance providing for the numbering and street marking program was passed this week by the City Commission and appears in this issue of the Lamb County Leader. Don't let the mail order houses deceive you!

TO THE VOTERS of Lamb County

Friends, when you go to your voting box on the 26th inst., I want you to give my candidacy for a careful consideration. I have tried to see every voter in Lamb County, make their acquaintance and set before them my qualifications.

If you feel that I am the man to be the next Tax Collector, I can most heartily assure you that your vote and influence will be appreciated.

I was reared on a farm, taught school two years, was in the army service during the World War, going into battle three times in France, received a machine gun bullet wound in my left arm, yet I am not disabled. I have made my home in Littlefield for the past nine and one-half years.

If elected to the important office of Tax Collector, I intend to be on the job myself six days each week, and with all the help necessary to efficiently handle the duties of that office.

TAKE IT FROM DAD

By Frank H. Cheley

Why Men School Teachers Quit

"Dad, our school is all going to pot. I tell you, it's slipping mighty fast."

"So," said Dad Smithbough. "What's the matter now, are they starting cooking classes for boys?"

"No, Dad, worse than that! Mr. Sneed, the chemistry teacher, has resigned and gone to selling insurance. Dad, he was a swell man. He knew boys as well as chemistry; square as a die; knew his stuff and every fellow in school knew he had at heart, one friend. Suppose we'll do some dear old lady about eighty-six, who'll make chemistry about as interesting as cube root."

"How many men teachers does that leave you, Bob?" asked Dad. "I'm sorry to hear what you say, I've known Sneed these many years and he is a man."

"Well, let's see, four left, counting the two coaches, and seventeen women. Dad, it's a downright shame. Something ought to be done about it. Women are all right—of course, we've got some tooting good women teachers but, dad, a school that's a real school needs a bunch of he-men around, too. Our present faculty would make a dandy bunch of inmates for an old ladies' home. From the standpoint of classroom stuff, I suppose they are all right but, Dad, school isn't all just studies, is it? Makes me sick every time I go down in the shops and find a woman instructor there where Old Baldy has been for so long. He was a teacher! You know that was the best course I ever had, because I learned a heap of things that weren't shop. I was always interested in his work every minute. The fellows used to hang around, and hang around after school, and Old Baldy would lend them a book or explain some piece of machinery, or take a gang to a factory. Every fellow got his work and cried for more, and he up and quit and became manager of a big wood-turning factory. Dad, why, that's what I want to know! Why do most of the good men teachers quit and go into business?"

"Well, my boy, there is just one main reason, and it is a perfectly legitimate one, but a very unfortunate one for the millions and millions of boys in our public schools. In America the scale of living of the average man has been rapidly rising for the last quarter of a century. The average man of today lives like a king—no doubt he should—I'm not arguing that point now, but the fact is, the financial demands upon a school man to live upon the scale he desires and feels that he must live upon, drive him to seek a larger income than teaching pays. There are thousands of opportunities open to a man in modern business who has the thorough-going mental training and experience demanded of a successful man like Sneed and Baldy. Why should they continue to teach school when they can double their income at something else and at the same time develop a future which school work does not offer except for a very few men who grow into supervisory positions or into the administrative end of education.

"In the business world the old and more experienced a man gets in a line the greater is his security, and, Bob, as you get older you'll discover that one of the great concerns of maturing men is to feel themselves financially secure, while in school work, men constantly talk about the dead line, that point in their teaching when a younger man at less salary will fill the bill.

"But, Bob, your question of 'what can we do about it' is also quite pertinent, for there is another side to the whole matter, and that is the parents' side. Every parent who stops to think knows that growing boys need men teachers, with all respects to the ladies. Boys need the man point of view and the man contact and the man stimulation, and about their only chance to get it outside of the various boy organizations is at school. But to get and keep more high-grade men teachers in our schools means more salary, for many individuals means more taxes, and there you are. When all the dads of all the boys believe as we do and are willing to foot the bill, we'll have more men teachers. Teaching is a wonderful profession with very large altruistic values in it, and there are many high-grade men who would respond but they can't afford to do it. They have got to earn a living for themselves and a family, keep a car, and as the old saying goes, 'keep up with Joneses,' so first one then another slips out into the business world to better himself.

"Son, the average wage of teachers the country over last year was considerably less than a thousand dollars. The absolute minimum living wage for a family of four in that class of the modern teacher is eighteen hundred, so there you are. The only other way, Bob, is for the dads to get on the job anew and make up for the loss of man power in the schools by giving their sons more of their own time. Bob, we just about get what we pay for in school teachers or automobiles."

LIVE STOCK NEWS

SWINE AILMENT WORRIES OWNERS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Reports from field stations of the United States Department of Agriculture show that much trouble is being experienced by swine owners through the rather wide-spread prevalence of necrotic enteritis in hogs, a condition sometimes referred to as necrobacillosis. The ailment is characterized by inflammation of the intestines, causing diarrhea, later an impairment in appetite, unthriftiness, weakness and emaciation. While it may be produced by a specific organism, a similar condition may be induced through the feeding of irritating material, such as caustic agents in stock food or medicine and in garbage, and the taking in of foreign matter when feeding on wet, dirty ground.
Necrotic enteritis frequently occurs as a complication of hog cholera. In many cases it is entirely overlooked in the diagnosing of the more serious disease, hog cholera. In some cases the ailment found uncomplicated is erroneously diagnosed as cholera itself and the simultaneous treatment applied when not indicated. The virus given in connection with serum in the simultaneous treatment for hog cholera, when necrotic enteritis is present, only serves to aggravate the existing conditions in the herd and is a waste of time and material. New centers of cholera infection have been created through such serious errors. Then, again, there may be instances when necrotic enteritis is present, but has not sufficiently developed to make a correct diagnosis possible. However, the result of giving virus is the same—unfavorable.
Necrotic enteritis originates in practically all cases from filthy conditions under which hogs are compelled to live, and so the disease is one that can easily be guarded against through the adoption of sanitary measures in swine raising. Once the ailment has advanced there is not much that can be done in the way of treatment. Rough feed and some so-called stock foods and tonics that may contain irritating ingredients should be avoided. The animals should be kept in clean pasture, if available. The feeding of hogs on muddy ground is a dangerous practice. Feeding platforms that can be thoroughly cleaned should be provided in the feed lot.
Pulverized copper sulphate (blue vitriol) added to the drinking water in the proportion of 1 ounce to 25 gallons, is recommended as being of some value.

Big Doses of Santonin Needed When Fed Hogs
Hog raisers who have been using santonin for controlling worms will be interested in the announcement of R. F. Bourne of Colorado Agricultural college that experimental work by the United States bureau of animal industry does not uphold the claims made for it.
If this drug is used at all, advises Doctor Bourne, it is highly recommended that it be given after a fast of 18 to 20 hours, and in larger than the usual doses, repeated on several consecutive days. When proper preventive measures are taken, he states, it is apparent that the necessity for treating infected pigs as well as serious losses in health and condition is minimized.

BALANCED RATION IS NECESSARY FOR GOOD COTTON STALK

To produce a prize winning stalk of cotton for the National Cotton Show, which will be held at the Memphis, Atlanta, and Dallas fairs this fall, good seed should be planted and special care should be taken to see that the plants have everything that they need in the way of good cultivation and plenty of plant food. Good care and plenty of plant food will bring out the good qualities that have been bred into this particular strain of cotton.
Although, as in the production of a beef animal, the cotton stalk should have all of the balanced plant food it can use to make rapid growth and put on fat or fruit, some care must also be exercised not to throw the plant "off feed" by overfeeding or by using an unbalanced ration.
There is little danger of overfeeding a crop of cotton, in fact there is no question but that more profitable crops of cotton would be made if better balanced plant food rations were fed to the crop, and there is danger of overfeeding or producing too much stalk at the expense of the fruit where unbalanced fertilizers are used in forcing a stalk too early for development.
The prize winning stalks of cotton at the National Cotton Show, which is being sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation and the Soil Improvement Committee of The National Fertilizer Association, will likely be produced by farmers who have found good cottons that are well adapted to the particular soil conditions where grown and who appreciate the importance of ample amounts of balanced plant food.

Your Vote Will Help

To the Voters of Lamb County:

With election day almost here, I wish to again call your attention to my qualifications for the position of Tax Collector for Lamb County.

I am not without experience in the duties of the office, having served as office deputy under Mr. Irvin, the present Collector, for the past two and one-half years, where I have become familiar with every detail of the office. In my official capacity I have always endeavored to give you, one and all, a square deal and to handle the finances of the county in a manner acceptable to the people.

I was born and reared in Comanche county, Texas. Eight years ago I moved to Lamb County and settled on a farm one and one-quarter miles south of Olton, where I still reside.

I do not claim to be a super-man, or to be able to render super-service; in fact the position does not call for this type of man. I do, however, claim the qualities of honesty and diligence, and promise you these to the fullest extent. I refer you to any friend who knows me and knows of my past record.

Yours for Honest Service

Gaston Patterson
