FARMERS MAPPING LAND USE PROGRAM FOR 1940

Farm Plan Sheets To Be Prepared Under AAA Plan

Farmers Will Be Aided In Program By County, Community Committees

COLLEGE STATION, February 27—Planned farming goes on a wide front in 1940 when thousands of Texas farmers will map out their own farming plans for the coming year on the AAA's Farm Plan Sheet.

Closely linked with the Farm Plan is the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Handbook for Texas, this year being the first time the state has had a special publication listing only the provisions of the program applicable to Texas.

By studying the Handbook and applying to his farm the practices most needed, the individual farmer can plan his year's operations so as to use to the best advantage the AAA program, according to George Slaughter, chairman of the state Agricultural Conservation Association committee.

The AAA's farm plan will supplement the national land use planning program and, by acquainting individual farmers with the advantages of planned farming, is expected to strengthen land use planning

Athletes In Uniform

NEW YORK CITY . . . Maki is wearing the white snow cloak and carrying the skis he used on active war patrol duty on the Karelian Isthmus. Nurmi has recently been serving as an air-raid warden in Helsinki.

work already started on state, county, and community levels.

Every farmer cooperating with the program will be requested to fill out and sign a Farm Plan Sheet, Slaughter explained, Helping him to select the best provisions for his farm will be county and community committees. AAA administrative assistants and county agents who will assist each farmer, taking into consideration the varying conditions of the individual farms. The committees helping the individual farmer draft his Farm Plan, in many cases, is the latter's neighbor. He himself is a farmer who understands his neighbor's problems and, in addition, is trained to help solve them.

These committees, in turn, are assisted by Extension Service workers and benefit from their technical information and recommendations.

The farmer is given all information needed about the program and the emphasis on soil conservation. He then puts down on the Farm Plan Sheet just how much land he will set aside for what crop for what cash income, how much his soil-depleting acreage will be, what he will do to obtain maximum AAA assistance for soil building, and how much land he will set aside for food and feed for home consumption.

"All in all, the Farm Plan and the Texas Handbook should result in a greater conservation program," Slaughter declared. "Through the Farm Plan the farmer will have a clear conception of what he can do to get the greatest benefit from the program and through the simplified State Handbook he will find it much easier to select the practices especially adaptable to his farm."

U. S. Undersecretary Of State Welles Confers With Hitler

United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, who is now in Europe to study conditions in the belligerent and other capitals, was scheduled to have a conference with Fuehrer Hitler in Berlin Tuesday.

United States Charge D'Affaires Alexander Kirk visited the German secretary of state, Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, for 40 minutes Friday, apparently in connection with Welles' visit.

Although the visit was described by an embassy spokesman as "purely routine," it was known that a tentative program was agreed upon for the visit of Welles, who arrived in Italy Sunday night.

Welles was scheduled to meet German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop on Tuesday or Wednesday, and that immediately after would follow a conference with Hitler.

Grover Dennis New President Of Earth Community Council

On February 8, a large group of business and professional men met, and reorganized the Community Council, an organization made up of those interested in the betterment of Earth.

Grover Dennis, manager of the Earth Drug Store, was selected president and chairman of the committee for a term of one year, with Emmett Vaughn as secretary-treasurer, and O. B. Whitford and Ed Danforth, committeemen. Retiring officers are M. E. Kelley, president and R. G. Johns, secretary-treasurer.

Grover Dennis stated that offices of president and secretary-treasurer are for a period of one year and that of committeemen for a period of one month at which time new committeemen are elected and plans are formulated for the next four weeks.

Regular meeting night has been set for the third Monday of each month, and all interested in the welfare of Earth and community are urged and representatives attending these meetings are to help sponsor any plan that may be brought up by the committee in charge.

Best Way To Keep Informed Is Reading The Lamb County Leader" Says Former Resident

Many friends of Miss Wilda do miss you friendly "West Texans," formerly of this city, interested in learning that the leader has just received a letter from Miss Courtney, who is now by the Amoco Oil Purification Co., Corpus Christi, as follows:

"Thanking you in advance, and with best regards to all, I am Sincerely yours"

Needless to say, another name has been added to the large subscription list of the Leader, and Miss Courtney will receive the Leader this week.

In the Southern states there is an average of only 9.2 acres of cropland per person or 46 acres for the average family.

Texas has 141 oil refineries capable of refining 1,386,000 barrels of oil a day, or 58,212,000 gallons daily.

Stanley's lip curled. "Go ahead; I'm a cripple."

"Yes, and I know how you got it. You'd better make the most of it while it lasts and get well as soon as you can, because when I come back I'm going to give you the damndest thrashing you ever had in your life. Now hand out the name of that village."

"Sorry, but I'll have to pay a stiff price to get it. If you're determined to turn this deed business into a hold-up, I'll get the rest of the story for hard cash and trade it in for your share of the Circle V."

"Keep it," said Lee grimly. "When I get ready to do business with you you'll be glad to trade in for a chance to get out of the state alive. . . . Virginia, I want to see you."

His brief gesture ordered the others out of the room. Lee closed the door after them.

All trace of Lee's anger went with the closing of the door, but a numbing constraint took its place. "Virginia, it can't be true! Whether I have any right to a father's name or not, it couldn't be true of Matt."

ways carry it because your friend Slanty Gano has a habit of going through my cabin when he thinks I'm not around. The deed was made out while I was away, only a short time before Matt died. He wrote me about it, but the letter missed and followed me back here. He said that he had done it as a proof of his affection and confidence, and that I was to come back and the two of us were to run the place in full partnership and make a big thing of it. The deed was placed for safe keeping in Judge Harvey's safe, in confidence, to be given to nobody but me, or to Matt himself. I've played a watching game to protect Virginia's rights, whether I kept the title to my half or turned back to her. But as she has promised to marry me, I think that matter will take care of itself.

He looked for a second at Virginia. Her eyes were warm and lovely, her cheeks flushed with an excitement that cheered him on. He handed a folded document to Bradish. Bradish took it, scanned it swiftly and handed it back.

"You win," he said curtly. He would have said more, but Stanley interrupted with an air of bland insolence.

"Very pretty story, all this Damon and Pythias stuff, but people may wonder why Blair was so generous to an outsider at his daughter's expense.

"You damned little pup, what do you mean?"

Stanley rose hastily to his feet as Lee jerked around and strode toward him. "I mean," he said coolly, "that it was a belated act of justice to an unacknowledged son. There is a little village just across the Mexican border where some people have been well paid to conceal the fact that you are the son of a woman Blair brought there years ago."

Contour Farming Outstanding Form Of Soil Insurance

The use of soil conservation practices in the Soil Conservation Service this year is going to provide an increasing number of farmers with low cost "insurance" against loss of their working "Capital"—the soil, according to W. S. Patrick, Asst. Soil Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service CCC Camp located near Littlefield, Texas.

The premium that farmers and ranchers will pay for this form of insurance is in the form of labor involved in constructing and maintaining effective terraces, improving range and pasture land, setting up improved cropping systems, planting cover crops, properly managing their pastures and woodlands, and arranging their entire agricultural program to provide for the best possible use of the land, Patrick explains.

The use of contour farming methods is one of the outstanding forms of soil insurance, Patrick points out. Good pasture sod gives protection to the soil, especially on the slopes. Strips of close-growing crops such as grain sorghums, combined with terraces and contour tillage, provide bulwarks against erosion on cultivated fields. Many of these practices also aid in the propagation of valuable wildlife.

Like premiums on other forms of insurance, these soil "insurance" premiums often pay large dividends in addition to the protection they give against loss of soil by erosion, Patrick points out. Proper cropping systems maintain the fertility of the soil and serve to increase yields while providing protection against both wind and water erosion. Good range management that sets up safeguards against erosion usually results in increased grazing of hay. Properly managed woodlands not only protect the soil, but also can provide many valuable wood products.

"When every acre on a farm is put to the best use for which it is suited, there usually is assurance that erosion has been reduced to a minimum and that maximum returns in crop yields can be expected," Patrick declares.

NEW PANHANDLE STATION AT SUDAN

Lloyd Robinson, Sudan Panhandle dealer, last week announced that plans were underway for the construction of a new wholesale and retail station, to be built on the highway west of the Terry Gin. Work is expected to start within the next few days.

America would be sleeping each night on seven and one-half million bales of cotton if the 130 million people in the nation were all supplied with a good cotton mattress containing 55 pounds of cotton and ticking, H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, recently said in a talk before agricultural workers.

Many Ducks Reported On U. S. Game Refuge Near Muleshoe

There were, a few weeks ago, probably 100,000 ducks spending the winter on the U. S. game refuge south of Muleshoe, in Bailey county according to Max Lindsey, with the U. S. biological survey in Lubbock, who visited the refuge.

In the refuge are about 7,500 acres of land, including a lake three quarters of a mile long. The lake was made by building a dam across a creek.

The survey has a warden stationed there. He feeds the ducks grain, averaging 500 pounds a day. The grain was raised on the refuge.

Lindsey said he was at the refuge late in December and that it was estimated at that time there were between 175,000 and 250,000 ducks around the lake. "They were so thick on the water you could not see it," he said.

Farmers Busy Preparing Crop Lands In Area

Cotton Allotments For South Plains Reduced

South Plains farmers have already started turning over the ground for spring planting to take advantage of the moisture that fell in December, January and early February.

Present indications are that the approximately a foot of wet soil on top of the dry sub-soil is sufficient to last for several weeks. More moisture will be needed, however, before spring planting, if germination is expected.

Cotton allotments have been approved by the state Agricultural Adjustment administration office in College Station for 19 of the 21 counties in this territory, according to a report from the state office.

County AAA administrators are prepared with farm allotments of cotton acreages. In most counties farmers have received their allotments, which are slightly under those of last year.

For the 19 counties, the 1940 allotments represent 1,336,448 acres in cotton; for the same counties last year they were 1,351,006 acres, a slash of 15,558 acres. Compared with the 1938 allotment of 1,318,030 acres for these counties, the difference is 17,818 acres more this year than two years ago.

General allotments for this year are 2,102,711 acres for 21 counties; compared with approximately 1,626,000 acres for 1939 season.

Neutral or government acres this year have not been approved. They are expected to be slightly under those of last year, as the feed acreage has been increased considerably over 1939.

Little change is expected to be made in regulations governing the harvesting of grain from the neutral or soil conserving acres. Last year crops could not be harvested as grain and sold, although farmers could harvest the crop and put the grain, both heads and stalks, in trench silos.

This item was a factor in the conserving of more than three-quarters of a million tons of ensilage in thousands of silos in 15 counties, as reported by county agents.

Most farmers have a fair supply of feed on hand for feeding of livestock. While the sale of grain has been good the past winter, yet farmers are holding back a supply to see if their feed crop prospects will permit them to sell the crop later.

Due to moisture this winter there has not been as much sand blowing as has occurred in several winters. There also have been fewer dust storms. Whether there will be much dust blowing this year out of the so-called dust bowl area in Colorado-Kansas-Oklahoma Panhandle and New Mexico, is not predicted. Apparently the cover crop in the area this fall and winter was better than for several years; likewise there was more moisture in that area and not as much blowing is expected.

General planting season for crops in this section is in late April and May.

HILLS OF DESTINY

BY AGNES LOUISE PROVOST

SYNOPSIS
Hollister returns unexpectedly from a trip abroad to find Blair, his foster father and owner of the Circle V ranch, dead in his own hand. The ranch is going to ruin and Matt's daughter, Virginia, now owner of the ranch, is living in New York with the late, her aunt and uncle. Her father wants her to sell the ranch to Milton Bradish, one time Matt's partner. Lee persuades Virginia to return to the ranch. Her aunt follows her, accompanied by Stanley, Milton Bradish. Stanley tries to credit Lee in Virginia's eyes. One evening Josefa Ramirez, who has been interested in Virginia since she was a child, throws dances for Lee and throws her into his arms just as Virginia rides past with Stanley. Stanley shoots Josefa, and is shot from the back. Virginia feels that Lee is fighting against her interests and she goes to sell the ranch to Milton Bradish. Virginia and Lee meet Josefa who tells Virginia she hates her because she is jealous of her.

Chapter XI

"Jus' what I say." The tone was still defiant, but the stamp of a small foot was a passionate admission of defeat. "I go to his cabin, I dance for heem and make heem catch me in his arms when I know you will be there to see."
"But Josefa! How could you know that I would be there to see you?"
"Oh, that Stanlee!" Josefa's angry shrug told all the rest. "That peeg! I am one beeg simpleton to believe what he say. I am glad he get shoot. He 'ang 'round me wance too much. Hah, but he get beeg scare! He ron away like silly rabbit!"

It's a cause, it's a fight, it's Matt's memory and your inheritance. Bradish is too anxious to get this place; there's something back of it, and the man who turned a sharp corner on old Don Luis wouldn't hesitate to turn one on you. Give me that year, Virginia."
"Don't! I can't stand it!" She turned her face away from him, and he heard a sharp, indrawn breath. "It's too late." She hurried on desperately. "I want to, Lee; I wish I could, but I can't. I signed the deed this morning."
For the space of about ten seconds he stared at her. Then he turned abruptly and walked a few steps away toward the grey rim

"Bet you a wedding ring that I can."

Josefa's scornful laugh broke off abruptly. She bent her head slightly; she was listening, taut and intent.

"Josefa, you don't know what you've done for me. I want to thank you for telling me—"

Josefa drew back resentfully. "I do not do it for you. I hate you! I do it for Lee."

Again the wary look came. She turned as silently as she had come, and vanished down an almost invisible trail.

Virginia listened also, with shining eyes. A little later, when Brimstone had scrambled up the last grade, Lee saw her beside the black horse, her face turned toward him and one hand stroking Black Lightning's satiny neck.

"Ling told me that you had started up this way. I heard that Bradish was coming today, and I wanted to see you before you did anything about selling the Circle V. I want," he continued, "to make a final proposition to you. I want you to let me take full charge for a year, without pay and without any obligation for you to stay here."

"You would be willing," she asked slowly, "to give a whole year out of your life for this? Perhaps for nothing?"

"It would be the best year I'd ever spent, Virginia. This is more than just land and cattle to me.

rock which looked down on the Circle V. Bradish's Circle V now. Virginia watched him miserably. She found herself explaining in a dead, monotonous voice.

"I went down to meet Mr. Bradish. He came to see Stanley, but he knew I was ready to sell and he had telegraphed ahead for Mr. Morse to have the deed ready. We went direct from the station to Mr. Morse's office. And when it was done," she continued dully, "I was sorry. The thought of leaving the Circle V to strangers—and never coming back—tore me into little shreds. And so I came up here—"

He swung around and came back to her.

"But if you felt that way, why did you do it? I've got to know, Virginia."

Hot color came. It was not easy, but she looked straight at him and made her honest confession.

"I was angry. I believed things about you that weren't true. I think I wanted to hurt you."

He looked puzzled. "That shooting business?"

"No... yes, that was part of it. But I mean the girl—that pretty child. She was just here, Lee. She told me."

"Oh... Josefa." Lee was faintly embarrassed. "She's just a kid," he said apologetically. Then he drew a long breath and came a step nearer.

"And now, Virginia?"

"Oh, Lee, don't you know — by this time?"

A little later she raised her head from a flannel shirted shoulder. They smiled at each other.

"I love you," he declared, "a million times more every minute."

He stopped short at the stricken look on her face.

"Oh, don't be nice to me." She buried her face in his shoulder with a smothered wail. "I hate myself! To think that I've sold it—when you love it so."

"Is that the trouble?" He put a hand under her chin, and for a moment studied her shadowed eyes.

"It looks," he said thoughtfully, "as if we'd better get it back again. Let's get down to cases. Was it a cash transaction? Did he give you a check?"

She nodded, looking perplexed.

"Yes. But Lee—"

"Did you deposit it?"

"No. Somehow I couldn't."

"Good!" He laughed under his breath. "Don't worry, honey. We're going down right now to persuade your Steam Roller Bradish to tear up that deed."

"But I've signed it. I've given my word. You can't do such a thing!"

"You underrate my powers of persuasion." He grinned at her, suddenly gay. He saw her anxious look and laughed again, picking her up for a swift, heady kiss and putting her neatly down.

"Don't be alarmed, I'm just going to convince him that he wants to give it back. Bet you a wedding ring that I can!"

It was the height of confident young folly, but there was something infectious about it. Life was suddenly gay and exciting. Lee could do anything.

Milton Bradish and his son saw them return. The elder Bradish was standing by a window and looking out with pleasant complacency at the wide valley that at last was his own.

Stanley also looked out as the two horses came up to the steps. As steps came down the hall he reached for a magazine and idled over to the other side of the room, looking around with a careless nod as Lee Hollister appeared in the door, but not volunteering introductions. Lee ignored the deliberate rudeness.

"You are Mr. Bradish? My name is Hollister."

"How'd you do, Hollister. I've heard of you... Come in."

"Virginia tells me that you're thinking of taking over the Circle V."

"The deed passed this morning." Bradish looked sharply at his visitor and became bland again. "I'm a rancher now. You know more of this place than I do." He was the personification of brisk frankness.

"I know you have been connected with it for a long time and I know what Blair thought of you. I'm going to make a lot of improvements and have it run right up to the minute. I can't be here myself to boss things, and I need a good man to take charge. The job is yours. Will you take it?"

"Thanks. I'm not looking for a job." The answer came in the mildest of tones. "I came for something entirely different. I've been talking to Virginia about the sale. She feels that the whole business this morning was pretty hasty, and she regrets it. In fact, she feels very badly about it, and I've persuaded her to let me make a personal appeal to you. Her father was a good friend to you once, and you have your chance now to be a good friend to his daughter."

He was taking a folded slip of paper from his pocket.

"This is the check you gave her this morning. I'm asking you to take it back and destroy the deed she gave you."

From the other side of the room Stanley grinned derisively at this extraordinary request, but Milton Bradish did not smile. He favored his visitor with a contemptuous stare.

"You've got less brains than I thought," he snapped. "Business isn't done that way."

"Then you refuse?"

"Certainly. It was a bona fide transaction, the property is mine and I mean to keep it."

"Then I'm afraid I shall have to tell you that your deed is worthless. Matt Blair had only half ownership of the Circle V to will to his daughter. I'm the other owner, and no deed can pass without my signature."

"Prove it!" Bradish's face was purple.

"I have the deed with me. I al-

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

"MARCH TO CHURCH IN MARCH." This motto or slogan has been adopted by our church and a number of other churches in Littlefield. Because of the exceeding bad weather and much sickness during the past several weeks a number of people have not attended church services. It will now take some special effort to find our places in the services.

Because of this situation, MARCH has been designated as BACK TO CHURCH MONTH. Our plan is that every member of the church unless provisionally hindered, make an honest effort and attend ALL THE SERVICES each Sunday during March. The church needs you, but more than that, you need the church.

Plan, Pray, and Work toward a real Revival Meeting in Littlefield beginning March 24th. Five of the churches in Littlefield have agreed to have a two weeks meeting at this time. It is also hoped that each of the other churches will also have a special series of services at this time.

Find your way to the House of God each Lord's Day during March with the entire family. Only eternity will reveal the good that will come from this kind of a program in our lives.

METHODIST CHURCH

Jim H. Sharp, Pastor
 We are asking every member of the church to BE SURE and be at church next Sunday morning as we are going to have something that you will not want to miss. BE SURE and be here Sunday morning.

Let every person attend church some where during the month of March every Sunday. We welcome every one to all the services at the Methodist Church.

AMHERST METHODIST CHURCH

The Christian church owes its vigor, its strength, and its success in America to a very energetic and progressive denominationalism. The early colonists in New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and other states were men and women of very decided, positive, and independent thinking.

Many of the people were inconsistent in their conduct and intolerant of different beliefs. Roger Williams proclaimed the settlement of Rhode Island for religious freedom but he cast Mrs. Annie Hutchinson out because she did not believe as he did. Due to this drastic action then several mothers lost newly born babes or women died due to the winter exposure in this crucial condition.

From the 15th century on for a while there was a period of division working in Christendom but we seem to be turning now to a day of unification. But we do not need today in all our life to renew the positiveness and aggression of our colonial fathers. No, I cannot take a stand that way, it will hurt my influence, business, etc. They were for the right, church, etc., regardless of these.

Word comes to us that Rev. A. A. Gilbreath, former pastor here, was operated on February 26 at Lubbock for appendicitis. Call, write, or go and see him if you can.

Next Sunday is communion day, and we shall make the best possible of the services. The regular weekly services of the church through the week. Don't forget the Wednesday night hour and the book we study.

A good number of our people were lifted with the services at Littlefield Tuesday. Several of them are attending the Worker's school at Sudan this week.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and deep appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness, and sympathy extended us during the illness and at the death of our loved one, J. M. Ramey.

We appreciate every act of kindness more than you can know.

We also especially thank those who send the beautiful flowers.

Mrs. J. M. Ramey.
 Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kent.
 Mr. and Mrs. L. Kent
 Lewis Clark.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL AT LEVELLAND

"Golgotha" Featured In Two Showings Here Monday Last

Two performances of "Golgotha," a talking motion picture, in English, of the life and crucifixion of Christ, was given in Littlefield Monday, sponsored by the members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church.

The first showing was presented to the school children, Monday afternoon at the high school auditorium, and the second at the Rio Theatre Monday night, to the general public.

This talking picture is patterned after the famous passion play that is staged every 10 years at Oberammergau, Bavaria, and of the similar Freiburg play. The actors in this film are said to be those who take part in the two famous outdoor productions.

"Golgotha" is devoted to scenes inspired by Bible stories of the last week in the life of Christ.

GO TO CHURCH MONTH

March Has Been Designated In Littlefield As A Special Go To Church Month ----- Attend The Church Of Your Choice

MARCH IN MARCH TO CHURCH

WILL YOU join with others in the MARCH IN MARCH to some church? The Churches are asking every person in Littlefield and the surrounding communities to attend at least one service every Sunday during the Month of March. This will be a great help to all if we will. We need to do this for our own good and the good of others and the good of our community in general.

There is not a person in the community that would want to live here if we did not have churches, and if this is true (and we believe it is) it is the duty of every person to support these churches in every way. The greatest support that we can give them is in attendance. That is what they are asking for.

The three greatest institutions of our community are the Homes, Schools and Churches. These are not only the greatest in our community, but the greatest ones in the world. One of them cannot do without the other. They must help one another.

Colonial Tea At Boone Home Outstanding Party Of Year

One of the most outstanding social events of the season was the Colonial tea given Thursday evening at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone, when officers of the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star entertained in compliment of the Worthy Matron, Mrs. W. D. T. Storey.

The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of George Washington, decorations and colors suggestive of which were featured.

Members of the house party, dressed in colonial gowns, wearing powdered curls, were in keeping with the occasion, carrying out the scheme of this celebrated event perfectly.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Pat Boone, Mrs. W. D. T. Storey, Mrs. Oscar Wilemon, Mrs. W. J. Aldridge, and Mrs. J. D. Dodgen, with Mrs. J. H. Barnett presiding over the register.

The tea table was laid with a beautiful lace cloth. A reflector, on which were placed miniature George and Martha vases bearing white narcissus, flanked with red, white and blue candles, formed the attractive centerpiece for the table.

Red candles, in silver holders, in the living room provided a soft lighting effect, and made colorful the entire setting.

Mrs. Pat Boone presided over the tea service, assisted by her sister, Mrs. W. T. Wingo. Others assisting in the dining room were: Mrs. J. H. Barnett, Mrs. G. M. Shaw, Mrs. W. J. Aldridge and Mrs. Max Wood.

Favors were little individual U. S. flags.

With Mrs. Q. T. Bellomy at the piano, soft music was enjoyed throughout the evening. Each number on the program carried the name "Storey." The first being the "Storey" of George and Martha Washington was given in a very entertaining playlet with Mrs. B. L. Cogdill impersonating George Washington, Mrs. Boone taking the part of Martha Washington and assisted by Mesdames Wm. Rumback and Max Wood, which was followed by a historical "storey" with Mrs. J. M. Stokes giving an original account of the life of the honoree, which was interspersed by songs by Mrs. G. M. Shaw, with Mrs. Bellomy at the piano. Mrs. Eolon McCaskill rendered a very humorous "Storey," which climaxed as a dream, and Mrs. Arbie Joplin gave a news "Storey," which was a resume of the past events since Mrs. Storey was installed as Worthy Matron.

The concluding number was a "Storey" in song rendered by the hostesses at the close of which, Mrs. Oscar Wilemon, in a very fitting manner on behalf of the local chapter O. E. S., made the presentation of a beautiful floor lamp to the honoree as an expression of appreciation for the capable manner in which she has served as worthy matron.

The guest list included: Mesdames Lloyd Sewell, Jess Seale, G. M. Shaw, J. D. Dodgen, R. E. McCaskill, J. H. Barnett, Quinton Bellomy, O. P. Wilemon, Max Wood, Wm. Rumback, W. J. Hats Off to Uncle John!

One of the most recent examples of fine public service rendered by a large corporation, at a time when assistance was most vital in the saving of lives, was given by the Santa Fe Railway when a great snowstorm, accompanied by extreme cold, swooped down on this section of the Plains, the middle of the month.

Letters of appreciation have poured in to J. A. Gillies, general manager of the Santa Fe Western Lines, and to other officials of the railroad.

Citizens of the Plains are united in their praise of the humanitarian service rendered by Uncle John Santa Fe. He did himself proud . . . and what Uncle John did will long be remembered.

When the intensity of the storm became known, the Santa Fe Railway sent out special trains and crews and hundreds were rescued from severe suffering and possibly death. The railway lines and the highways parallel for considerable of the railway's mileage on the Plains, which facilitated the rescue work, particularly in picking up motorists who were stranded in their cars.

"We speak of the 'heartless' corporations, but old Uncle John Santa Fe has a soft spot in his palpitator evidently when folks are in trouble and his equipment can be of service to those in distress," comments Jack Hull in the Clovis News-Journal.

Continuing, Mr. Hull said:

"Now it cost Uncle John hundreds of dollars to be a big brother in this instance, and for this fine gesture the railroad got not a penny. I think that's mighty fine of railroad officials. It shows, that after all, machinery and facilities are but agencies for humanity and the human side prevails when an emergency exists."

And we wish to add: Hats off to you, Uncle John, we're proud of you.

H. A. Collins has constructed for his second building on his lots on First Street, which will be four rooms and bath, frame and stucco. O. M. Neely is doing the carpenter work and M. C. Moody the plumbing.

Champions Decided In Golden Glove Preliminaries

The champions of each weight division were decided in the Golden Glove Preliminary fights at the Rio Theatre, in Littlefield, Thursday night, February 22. These champions proved their worth in some of the toughest battles that have been staged in these parts in some time.

These champions are going to the Golden Gloves tournaments held in Clovis, New Mexico, February 26 and 27. Winners of this tournament will win a free trip to the annual Chicago Tournament that decides the champions of the current year. Some of the boys from this sector rate a good chance of making the trip to Chicago unless they fall down on the boys backing them. Anyway we know that they'll give 'em heck while they're in there.

C., 50; Bulletins and pamphlets on various subjects, approximately 20; Books being read from Library, 450; One Circulating Library received with 89 books; Scrap books on current events and CCC Employment, is being made by Supervision, 3.

The Civilian Conservation corps, noting that February 22 was celebrated in Texas as Arbor day, as well as Washington's birth date, announced that 45,000,000 trees had been planted in the Lone Star state by the CCC in the past seven years.

Eighty percent of all the crude oil produced in Texas is refined in Texas. Less than 3 per cent of the cotton produced in Texas is processed in Texas and none of the wool or mohair.

Development of East Texas' vast supplies of iron ore will be commercially possible due to enormous amounts of natural gas and oil in that area enabling it to meet competition of coal supplies in the other iron-producing regions of the nation industrial experts predict.

field H. D. Meets At Of Mrs. Dorman Littlefield Home Demonstration met Thursday, February 23, at the home of Mrs. T. M. Dorman, with Mrs. M. J. Wilson, president in charge. After a business session, Mrs. Edwards gave a very instructive and helpful lesson on "good posture." Mrs. Edwards pointed out that good posture adds much to health, personality, and dress. Poor health will cause poor posture. Parents should teach their children good posture if they desire their bodies to be healthy and strong. Some of the causes of poor posture are: backache, constipation, abdominal or chest pain, insomnia, and malnutrition. A great many times poor posture is purely a habit, Mrs. Edwards declared. After the lesson, a recreation period was enjoyed, under the direction of Mrs. Floyd Brown, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments. Three new members joined the club, Mrs. Jack Glover, Mrs. Curtis Chisholm, and Mrs. M. A. Tunnell. One visitor was present, Mrs. Ed Anderson. Members attending were Mesdames Cherry, Roberts, Birkleback, Wilson, Dorman, Dow, and Edwards. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. L. L. Massengill the first Thursday in March at 1 p. m. New members are urged to join and visitors are always welcome.
