THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

CURE FOR COUGHING

WHEN a person is taken with a fit
of coughing and strangling—
such, for instance as when a piece of food "goes down the wrong way"—he or she can be at once relieved by putting a pair of scissors down inside the clothing next to the skin. This piece of emergency folk-medicine is practiced both in this country and Europe and the prescription is one of double potency, for it is compounded of two ingredients, magic and spiritism. In the first place a pair of scissors being made of steel—which is the same thing as iron—are sure to scare away
the evil spirit which is trying to strangle or choke the patient. Witches and other evil spirits abhor iron—there is nothing the evil spirits fear more. They have abhorred it and feared it since iron was first worked from the ore. That is the spiritism part of the prescription. The magic part is contained in the fact that scissors cut. They cut actually and so can cut sympathetically.

DADDY THE DAIRY

TEST ASSOCIATIONS OF GREAT BENEFIT

The cow-testing association is the simplest, surest and cheapest method for the rapid improvement of dairy cows. It affords the average dairyman an economical means of obtaining a record of how much each cow produces and what it costs. Such records require regularity in testing and weighing of milk and feed, and a systematic form of keeping the data. The difficulty of this work is eliminated by the cow-testing association, which furnishes a more economical way of obtaining such records than if each dairyman undertook to keep his own.
writes E. M. Harmon in the Farm Life.

A cow-testing association is a group of farmers, usually 20, who agree to co-operate for the purpose of improving their dairy herds. They form an association and hire a man whose duty it is to weigh and test the milk, and to keep a detailed record of the production of each cow in their herds,
together with the cost of production.
This man, called the tester, spends one day every month on the farm of each member, where he weighs and tests the milk from each cow. From these figures he calculates the amount of milk and fat produced during the month and its value at the market price. The tester also weighs and records the amount and kind of feed given each cow, computes its value and estimates the total cost of feed for the month. When this amount has been charged against the value of the milk and fat produced for that month, the owner is able to determine the profit or loss on each cow in his herd. He then knows the amount returned for each dollar expended for feed and the exact cost of producing a pound of fat, or 100 pounds of milk.

The tester also assists in selecting feeds and figuring the most profitable rations. He also offers suggestions on breeding, management and other phases of the business as deemed advisable by the attitude of the member.
He will not make suggestions nor advocate changes for any farm unless he feels that they will be welcomed by the owner.

The tester comes to the farm in the afternoon with his outfit. With the owner, he weighs and estimates the feed given each cow, and at milking time they weigh and take a sample of the milk from each cow. The next morning these same operations are repeated, the Babcock test is applied to the mixed sample representing the morning and evening milk of each cow,
the outfit is washed and the necessary computations are made and recorded in the member's herd book. When this is completed the tester goes on to the farm of the next member.

It is the duty of the members to keep as accurate an account of the milk produced and feed consumed between the visits of the tester as is practical under ordinary farm conditions, so that they may give reliable information to the tester.

The cost of keeping records of the dairy herd is one of the smallest items
of expense attached to the dairy farm, and when once started it is found to be simple, easy and interesting. Most important of all, it is very profitable.

TURKEYS WILL BE HIGHER IN PRICE AT THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving turkey eating will be somewhat more costly this year than in the past two years, according to holiday prediction recently made. The turkey crop is not as large as it was last year or the year before, and a prediction of 45 to 48 cents a pound for this year's Thanksgiving turkey is not considered pessimistic.

The cool weather this fall has been favorable "turkey weather." So long as the days and nights are comparatively warm, turkeys continue to roam
the country and fail to put on flesh.
When the temperature falls, they are content to cease wandering off, and settle down to grain feeding which rapidly adds pounds to turkey meat.
The crop generally is further advanced than at this time in several years,
and reports from the country consistently tell of the high quality of the turkeys. In Texas, which is the big early state for turkeys, the crop is believed to exceed last year when many of the young poults were lost during the hot, dry summer. Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Ohio are expected to have fewer turkeys for the market this season, while the other states report flocks of
about the same size as last year.

Stocks of turkeys in storage are less than half as large as at this time a year ago, and 40 per cent below the five-year average. Reserves of frozen turkeys, therefore, will be less of a market factor this season than last.
Holdings of chickens and fowls are five million pounds larger than a year ago and ten million pounds larger than the five-year average, however, offsetting to some degree the decline in turkeys.

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OFFERS $10,000 IN CASH PRIZES FOR BEST GRAIN SORGHUM CROP RAISED

The executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its fall meeting held in Fort Worth, devoted much study to the agricultural situation that now obtains because of the present low price of cotton.

Two special committees were appointed to go into more exhaustive studies of the problems. The first was a special cotton committee, with Clifford B. Jones of Spur as chairman; the second a committee upon the matter of a proposed Food, Feed and Conservation Contest.

The food, feed and conservation committee held its first meeting in Abilene, November 1st, and decided to offer a line of prizes: first, for the greatest production of grain sorghum upon five acres of unirrigated land; and second, for the best crop records. These prizes to be as follows:

Highest Yield Threshed Grain Sorghum.
First, $500; 2nd, $250; 3rd, $200; 4th, $175; 5th, $150; 6th, $125; 7th, $100; 8th, $100; 9th, $100; 10th, $100; 11th, $100; 12th, $100—Total $2,000.

For Best Crop Record.
First, $125; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $75; 4th, $50; 5th, $25; 6th, $25; 7th, $25; 8th, $25; 9th, $25; 10th, $25—Total $500.

The term grain sorghum to include kafir, milo, hegaria, feterita, and all hybrids between grain sorghums or selection of grain sorghums, but does not include seed grown from sweet sorghums nor hybrids between grains and sorghums.

The special committee was of the opinion that the contest would entail an expenditure of not less than $10,000, and that a third larger fund would make the contest of much greater importance. This, for the reason, that in addition to the cash prizes mentioned, it would be necessary to employ a specially trained man to take charge of the campaign, and to prosecute it in all of its angles.

Nun to Marry

Miss Anna Lebrun, a nun for 25 years in the Gray Nunnery at Montreal, Canada, has been granted a special release from her vows by Pope Pius. She will marry Sergt. Frank Levesque of the U. S. Army, stationed at Ft. Humphrey, Va.

This man would have to have scientific knowledge of the grain sorghums, and in addition to this, be an organizer, and speaker of outstanding ability. Besides this, there would be a necessity for having a large amount of printing and publicity work effected.

It was decided that various members of the committee would interview special interests without delay, and ascertain the probability of financial and moral support in the undertaking. These committees expect to report at a district meeting of the organization to be held in Ballinger, Nov. 15, to which all interested parties in West Texas are urged to attend. Invitations have been extended to Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. College; P. W. Horn, president of the Texas Tech College, to be present upon this occasion and deliver addresses. Besides these, President Arthur P. Duggan, and other prominent men of West Texas will be present and discuss the plan. The special committee expects to formally launch the campaign at the Ballinger meeting mentioned, and the call is made for all who are interested to attend this meeting.

It is a conceded fact that there is an over production of cotton and that the present prices will not add prosperity to West Texas. The evident hope therefore, is to begin practical plans of diversification. The More Food, Feed and Conservation plan is one that the committees believes will appeal to all. This in its realization means more livestock, poultry, living at home, and thrift. West Texas is at the cross-roads. This section of the state has more adaptations to real diversification than any other section of the Southwest. It is evident that other plans than cotton raising must be decided upon, and if this is not done, the country will be at a standstill instead of forging ahead.

CALLING IT A "FUNERAL"

IN ALL modern languages there are certain words whose meaning is indicated by their sound. This principle, which in rhetorical parlance we call onomatopoeia, is exemplified in words like hiss, hiss, slap, boom; also in the words funeral, funeral, where sound so agrees with their sentiment that we naturally assume that their etymology is in accordance with the meaning they convey.

But we find the last have a curious derivation that takes a story to bring out its relation to their use today. The Romans, pagans that they were buried their dead at night—by the light of the moon when they could. But as there was moonlight for only a short period in the year, they used torches, which were the lighting system of the day. The Latin word for torch is funis, from which they had funerals, a torchlight procession. And not from "corpse" or "death" or "mourning" comes the word funeral, but from "torchlight procession."

THE UNDER-DOG

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MY SYMPATHIES are always with the ordinary sort of person. My sympathies are all with Smith. Not Algernon Fitzroy MacPherson. The common road I like to jog. And help the rest, at least I try to. And no one loves the underdog. I know, the least bit more than I do.

In fact I frequently jump in (That is, I often used to do it) And help the underdog to win. When he's in trouble, help him through it. I used to—but I grieve to tell. Just how the matter often ended: But I've been bitten much and well. By underdogs I have befriended.

I hope I won't appear unkind. But I am getting rather wary; And when an underdog I find, Instead of (as is customary) Assuming he's the really straight, The upperdog the evil-hearted, I often now investigate And find just how the trouble started.

In underdogs we all believe; I hate to see convictions shaken; And yet I was (although I grieve To say it) now and then mistaken. There were occasions all along. When other dogs would bite and chew him. The underdog was really wrong And getting what was coming to him.

PARCHMENT

WE ARE all familiar with parchment and its imitation parchment paper from their use in making lamp shades and for other decorative purposes. The original use of parchment, however, was strictly utilitarian, the genuine and original parchment being the skin of a sheep or goat which men in an early period of our history prepared for material to write on.

The invention of parchment is credited to Eumens II, king of Pergamum, in Asia Minor, in the Second century B. C., the circumstance being the prohibition by Ptolemy of Egypt of the exportation of papyrus, the contemporary writing material. In other words, the invention of parchment was the outcome of Egyptian conservation of home products.

The manufacture of parchment rose to great importance in Rome and its use spread all over Europe and continued until the invention of paper made from rags. It is from its birthplace, Pergamum, that the name "parchment" is derived, through the Latin "pergamina," and subsequently the French "parchement."

Drew Revolver Only With Deadly Purpose

The old-time cowboy seldom touched his weapon or its holster unless to draw and shoot, for witless fondling might invite a shot, and, unlike the bad man, he almost never carried more than a single gun. Not only was a second gun cumbersome, but it denoted a state of war or of armed neutrality. Getting the drop and then not bring was what the Texan and the westerner, unlike the synthetic puncher, rarely bothered to attempt. Usually the Texan or the westerner, when he seriously drew a weapon, did so with the purpose of giving "a lead ticket to Gehenna Junction." Employment of the pistol as a means of admonishing strangers' feet and inviting them to dance, or as an instrument for either lancing hats or snuffing barroom lamps occurred so seldom as to have amounted to little more than the foundation of amusing legend, but it has become, upon both the motion-picture screen and the printed page, one of the cowboy's diurnal functions.—Saturday Evening Post.

CROP ON FORTY ACRES PAYS FOR EIGHTY AT $62.50

Last fall J. H. Breshears and B. B. Thigpin purchased 80 acres of irrigated land two miles east of Portales, paying $62.50 per acre. The broke out and planted 40 acres of this land this year and have just finished gathering their crop and here are the figures they gave us last week: 32 acres sweet potatoes produced 6,135 bushels which will very easily sell for $1.00 per bushel. Sold $425 worth of tomatoes to canning factory here and will sell at least $300 worth of peanuts. These gentlemen are allowing $1,760 for paying all expenses for labor, water and other expenses of making this crop which they state will more than take care of their expense account not counting their own labor. We doubt very much if there is a country anywhere that farming one acre will pay enough from one crop to pay for two acres, but this is no unusual thing to happen in Roosevelt county, and there are many farmers who are making enough from the cultivation of one acre this year to pay for two acres of land. Messrs. Breshears and Thigpin state that all the above 40 acres was sod land and they did not put forth any special effort to make this land produce more than the ordinary land will produce here and they farmed other land this year which produced as well as did this tract. They will put into cultivation the remaining 40 acres of this tract next year and we have a promise from them to advise us just how many dollars and cents they make off the entire acreage. So keep tab on this paper and next fall we will advise our readers just how well they come out with next year's crop.—Roosevelt County Herald.

Stamford—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is making an effort to check a new form of "bootlegging" being practiced by unscrupulous hog dealers who are spreading hog cholera through their careless introduction of infected or exposed swine into West Texas and federal aid is being sought by the regional organization in the matter.

Graham—A novel storage system has solved the cotton problem for a farmer in this section. Asa Vaughn and sons of Wilbarger county are using a hay baler to put up their seed cotton as it is picked. Dispensing with the cost of ginning and storage, the cotton seed bales are to be held in Vaughn's barns during the present crisis, and will be released to the market at a latter date. When ready for marketing, the cotton seed bales will be loaded and taken to the gin.

Fort Worth—The committee named by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to investigate the cotton situation in Texas went on record at its recent meeting here as endorsing the Texas Cotton Corporation to be organized with a $5,000,000 subscribed capital stock by a special cotton committee of the Texas Bankers Association in accordance with plans adopted by six Southern States for the retirement of 1,250,000 bales of Texas

SOME EASY PINEAPPLE DISHES

THERE are so many appetizing and attractive ways of serving pineapple that the wise housewife will keep a few cans of this delicious fruit on her supply shelf and will add new recipes to her collection. In purchasing pineapple it is well to get both the sliced and the crushed, as there are many recipes in which the one or the other is specifically desired.

Baked Apples and Pineapple
 Pare and core six large apples. Mix one cup of crushed Hawaiian pineapple with one-third cup sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter and one-fourth cup chopped raisins. Fill the centers of the apples with this mixture and arrange in a shallow baking dish. To the remainder of the mixture add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and one-half cup water and pour around the apples. Bake until tender, basting frequently with the liquid in the pan.

Pineapple dishes, are, as a rule, very easy to prepare, if the canned pineapple is used. For the turning of a can opener brings to sight the golden colored fruit, already shelled, cored, and sliced, or crushed. It takes only a few minutes to combine it with other ingredients and the proper seasoning and it is ready to bake or saute according to the recipe.

Crisp Cross Pineapple Pie
 Heat 2 cups crushed Hawaiian pineapple. Mix three-fourths cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons flour. Add to the hot pineapple and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly, and add 1 teaspoon butter. Cool slightly, add 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Pour into pastry lined pie pan and arrange strips of pastry across the top. Put into a hot oven. After 10 minutes reduce heat and bake 30 minutes longer.

The following recipes have been worked out with care and should be a welcome addition to the cook book of any woman, and particularly of one who entertains often:

Pineapple Isles
 Place 6 slices of Hawaiian pineapple on a buttered tin, and sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon chopped nuts mixed with a few grains salt. Add 1 tablespoon water to whites of two eggs, whip very stiff, then beat in 4 tablespoons sugar. Heap in center of pineapple. Bake in slow oven for twenty minutes or until delicately brown. Nuts may be omitted.

Any one of these three recipes will serve six persons. The first two recipes may be served with the main part of the meal, while the Crisp Cross Pie makes an excellent dessert. All are likely to prove popular with the average person whose palate seeks the tang and exotic flavor of tropical fruits.

FIRE HERE TUESDAY.

Box Car Full of Cotton Ready for Shipment Seriously Damaged.

An A. T. & S. F. box car, No. 49700, was burned Tuesday noon. It contained 40 bales of cotton, billed out and ready for shipment, which was damaged about 50 per cent, according to report.

The car was located on a switch just north of the Gulf Refining Co. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. The local fire department made a quick run to the scene of conflagration and did excellent work in extinguishing the flames.

The cotton was insured for its value.

KEITHLEY-HENDRICKS.

In the presence of a few friends last Sunday morning Alvin Hendricks, of Littlefield, claimed as his bride Miss Wilda Keithley, of Lubbock, the marriage ceremony being solemnized by Rev. Jess Mitchell at his residence.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keithley, residing in the Hub City. She is a particularly charming young woman, was formerly a teacher and is very popular with a wide circle of friends in her home city.

The groom is too well known locally for commendation. Coming here little more than two years ago, he purchased the local telephone system which, under his management has grown and developed, keeping pace with the growth of the town and surrounding community and reaching out to surrounding towns and neighboring vicinities in the ramifications of its successful operation. Recently a merger was perfected whereby it became a part of the State Telephone Co., a million dollar corporation, and Mrs. Hendricks was honored as one of its principal officials. He is one of the most successful young business men of this section of West Texas, having a wide acquaintance and large circle of friends who heartily extend their most sincere wishes to himself and bride.

Recently Mr. Hendricks purchased the Clayborne Harvey residence in Littlefield and is having it completely overhauled and rejuvenated for the occupancy of his bride. They left immediately following the ceremony for Roswell, El Paso and other points west on their wedding trip, and after two weeks will be at home here to their friends.

BOY RUN OVER BY TRUCK.
 See of G. B. Ritchson Sustains Broken Leg from Accident.

Floyd Frances, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ritchson, who live in the southwest part of town, was run down Saturday afternoon in front of his home by a truck driven by Mr. Billman, of Pop. His right leg was broken just below the knee.

According to reports, the child was in the road watching a tractor that had just passed and owing to the fact that two cars were between the child and the house the oncoming truck was obstructed from his view. As he caught sight of its approach he turned to escape and at the same instant he was observed by the driver, who immediately put on his breaks, causing the car to skid about thirty feet. The accident was entirely unavoidable by each party as the situation was one of such sudden circumstances it could not be met by either.

M-SYSTEM GROWS FROM ONE STORE TO 500 IN 3 YEARS

From one small store to over 500 within the short time of three years is the record of the "M" System, according to Otto Jones, local "M" System merchant, who calls attention to the fact that L. W. Reed, head of the system has just been elected president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Reed is also president of the L. W. Reed Company, wholesale grocers, in Galveston, and at the head of that great system of retail stores turning more than $700,000 worth of groceries per month. That he is a man of large public and patriotic interests is further evidenced by the fact that he is a member of the Galveston school board, treasurer of the Galveston Mills, and holds the appointment of honorary vice consul for Costa Rica and Guatemala.

Three years ago Mr. Reed conceived the idea of pooling commercial interests under one directing buying head in the interest of the buying public, thus entailing a saving of thousands of dollars every year. That his idea is meritorious and appreciated by the public generally is well proven by the marvelous growth enjoyed by "M" System Stores, of which Jones Brothers are the Littlefield representatives.

Local Merchants' Secretary Reports Interesting State Meet.

She reports an excellent meeting. All of the directors and officers of the state organization and secretaries from various towns over Texas were in attendance and splendid programs were rendered. Much benefit was derived by the secretaries from discussions of different phases of the work and questions asked and answered.

"One of the most helpful points of the conference was in giving the secretaries an opportunity to become personally acquainted, as it will help in securing co-operation to know the

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man; he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich.—Prov. 21:17.

Pleasure is far sweeter as a recreation than as a business.—R. D. Hitchcock.

RENTER TO OWNER

There is perhaps no better section anywhere in the Southwest for a farmer to get out of the renter class into the owner class than on the South Plains of Texas. The hundreds of farmers who have actually done this is sufficient proof of the fact.

In this section around Littlefield where virgin land may be bought at from $25 to $35 per acre—land with almost unlimited possibilities of production and such a wide range of crops that one hardly has to be particular in the choosing—any man with a little money and plenty of industry can soon lift himself from tenancy to ownership, becoming boss of his own affairs and monarch of his own destiny.

Occasionally is found some man who has come out here and made a failure, but we have yet to find the first instance of such where the country is to blame. Folks really interested in the future of the South Plains country have more to worry about the people who inhabit it than they do of the country itself. The country has already proven what it will do when properly handled, but it has not been entirely proven what the people will do with the country.

Most instances of failure in this section are due to unfamiliarity of farming conditions, to over confidence, enlarged ideas, lack of business judgment and physical inertia—and the country itself is responsible for none of these. Occasionally some fellow makes a failure, moves out of the country cursing it; but where one moves out a half dozen others come in. The country keeps growing better and better all the time, and those who remain are always glad to get rid of the failures.

No one is able to predict the fruitfulness and prosperity of this country five, ten or fifteen years from now, its possibilities are unlimited. In the main it is being settled by as thrifty and wholesome class of people as may be found anywhere, people with the true pioneer spirit and the indomitable will of the conqueror. Many of them came here renters, but they are rapidly attaining ownership. Soon they will be captains of their own destinies.

The reins of government are powerful, but they don't help the farmer's crops very much.

AN ILLUSTRATION.

Concrete illustrations of facts are generally convincing, and one does not have to go far to secure one relative to the virtues of diversified farming.

Just across the line near Portales, New Mexico, the farmers of that vicinity are enjoying great prosperity because of diversified farming. So far this year 26 car loads of tomatoes have been shipped from that point. Elsewhere in this newspaper is the story of one man who paid for 80 acres of land with the crop raised from 40 acres this year. Numerous other similar instances of prosperity in that section are on record. In fact, just such instances are the rule rather than the exception.

In the Portales country the farmers raise a little cotton, but plenty of feed, some sweet potatoes, tomatoes and other garden truck, keep a few good brood sows, a bunch of milk cows that brings in a cream check every week, a good flock of chickens—and, they always have money to buy what is needed with a little extra cash lying in the bank.

It is a worthy example for the farmers of this section, and the quicker they take advantage of it the quicker they will get on the road to prosperity.

It's always a good idea to see live that your obituary notice in the papers won't be considered good news.

BEGIN PLANS NOW.

It is not too early for farmers of this section to begin planning the crops for next year's growing. Judging from past experiences, there is little doubt but what most of the farmers of this vicinity will desire to make more or less changes in their crops and cropping system, and the wise farmer is the one who studies well his past experiences and capitalizes on previous mistakes.

It should go without controversy that variety of crops is advisable. The day of success with the one-crop farmer is passed, whether he be a cotton farmer of the South, a wheat farmer of the northwest or a hay farmer of the northeast. One-crop farming is uncertain, one-crop farmers are soil robbers. The man who diversifies and rotates his crops, keeps his fields in a high state of fertility and enjoys the greatest annual income.

Wheat, oats, rye and barley offer the farmers of this section a variety of small grains for winter planting, while maize, kaffir, feterits, broom-corn, sorghum, corn, cotton and beans offer a wide choice for spring row crops. Alfalfa, sudan, sweet clover, soy beans, cow peas and millet provides hay and soiling crops.

The farmer who intelligently selects and plants his crops now will be the farmer ahead this time next year.

Our idea of a chump is the man who marries a widow and then goes down in his pocket for the price of a tombstone for her first husband.

COTTON CRAZE.

There is little use in disguising the fact that the South Plains country has gone cotton crazy. This section of Texas has been so far and widely advertised as a cotton country, that along with the cotton produced elsewhere the farmers of this portion of the state are now feeling the raw end of the price slump.

The advertising has not been incorrect. It is a cotton country, and cotton can be raised here easier and cheaper than nearly anywhere else, but cotton continued will ruin any country, and the low prices paid for staple this year may in reality be a blessing in disguise.

According to authentic figures, the value of the Texas cotton crop for 1926 will be around $28,250,000 less than it was last year, this notwithstanding the fact that the yield this year is around a million and a half bales more than it was last year. Naturally in sections of the state where cotton has been raised almost exclusively as a money crop the loss is being felt the keener. Probably there is nothing but that can be done this year but for the raisers to take their medicine; but next year the cotton acreage should be cut into at least half, while diversified farming should be the slogan of every farmer.

Time heals many wounds, and after a few years fighting nature forgives everybody except the mistakes that brought them.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Be Yourself

A common slang phrase now is "Be yourself." It is used in various instances.

It has a good deal of intelligence in it. Few people object to you when your motives are considered to be sincere and genuine. You are only objectionable when you put on motives that do not belong to you.

The thing people do not like most of all is to have you think that you can deceive them. As long as your actions are genuine and real, they know how to deal with them, but when they are convinced that you are endeavoring to overcome them by trying to borrow words or actions or motives from someone else, they do not like it.

So they tell you to "be yourself."

Of course we cannot express all of our emotions for feelings perfectly. There is a certain amount of self-control required by ordinary decency, but at least those feelings that we express should be those that are ours unquestionably and not those we think we should have.

A good many people are sorry for themselves, not because of the hard time they have, but because of the hard time other people think they ought to be having. It is very easy for a preacher or an actor or some such one to think that he is working hard when everybody says that he is. If he would honestly look at himself and consult his own feelings alone, he would realize that he is not working hard at all.

Self-pity arises from a sort of borrowed notion of ourselves.

Oliver Wendell Holmes said that there were several Johns in one person—the man John is, the man John thinks he is, and the man John other people think he is.

If everyone of us could distinguish between the man we are and the man other people think we are, it would do much to facilitate our getting along with each other.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY.

The Saturday Review, an early New York newspaper, said away back in 1868: "The modern girl is a creature who dyes her hair and paints her face as the first article of her religion. Her sole purpose in life is plenty of fun and luxury, and her dress is the object of all her thought and intellect. Her main endeavor is to outdo other girls in extravagance. It all leads to slang, bold talk, fastness and uselessness at home."

That was 58 years ago—but we'll leave it to any Littlefield girl if she hasn't heard lectures along this same line? The old newspaper comment, regardless of how much truth it contains, proves one thing—that girls haven't changed very much since their grandmother's day, and most of us are still commenting on them in about the same kind of language our grandfathers used.

Probably in another 58 years it will not be any different, either.

The covered wagon just had to pass no. It got so slow that it never ran over anybody.

LITTLE LEADERS

It's almost as hard on the average Littlefield home to get the children to go to bed as it is to get father to go to church on Sunday.

For getting around from one place to another, Shanks' mare is getting to be a relic around Littlefield.

Any Littlefield boy who is thinking of getting married can save himself a lot of worry by getting the idea out of his head that he is going to live any happier with his wife than other men live with theirs.

How many Littlefield people can remember the days when a fellow could buy a ticket in the Louisiana lottery without being set down as a gambler?

It won't be long now before some Littlefield citizens will begin to suffer with cold at night because the extra bed quilt is being used to keep the flivver warm.

Funny how the average Littlefield boy can hold a 110-pound girl on his lap for two hours but can't hold his baby brother for two minutes.

According to our observation, the average single man in Littlefield can't tell you very much about women—and the married man is afraid to.

Why is it that the average Littlefield woman regards crocheting as a pleasure and darning socks as work?

We have yet to find the first Littlefield woman who can understand how her husband can still love her if she dresses in clothes that are not over three months old.

The more a Littlefield man watches other women the more his wife watches him.

It is our opinion that prohibition will not become 100 per cent effective in Littlefield until stomachs can vote.

When a girl elopes from her bedroom, these days the Old Man generally goes out and holds the ladder for her.

TO LECTURE HERE.
Mrs. Waggoner, of Egypt, Here for the Study Club.

Mrs. C. J. Waggoner, of Lubbock, will lecture here Friday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church at 3:30 o'clock.

She is coming in response to an invitation from the Woman's Study Club and all church auxiliaries of the city are invited to attend.

Mrs. Waggoner recently made a tour of Europe with her husband, Dr. C. J. Waggoner, and children, and has also spent three years in that country, teaching in the City of Cairo. Her address promises to be one of great interest.

WIND DOES HAVOCK.

A hard wind swept this section of the Plains all day and far into the night Tuesday causing considerable havoc with telegraph wires, cutting off communication over the lines as far east as Slaton and as far west as Clovis, New Mex. The derrick over the Yellow House well No. 1, located fourteen miles southwest of Littlefield, and the 123-foot windmill at the Yellow House ranch headquarters were blown down.

THE PROGRESS OF TEXAS AS MEASURED BY PUBLIC UTILITIES

A glance backward and a look ahead which business men take at the beginning of a year shows that Texas has made progress during 1925. It shows that the prospect for further advancement during 1926 is good.

And in every phase of the review and prospect is seen progress of the several essential public services upon which growth and achievement have depended.

The service of the telephone in this community is one of those that have made for development here and without which development of the past year could not have been accomplished in the outlook for the present New Year this company is expecting to be a major factor in the building of this community still better service to the people.

The service of the Panhandle Telephone system and growth of this community go hand in hand. Our aims and plans, if they are right, are identical.

What are You Doing for Their Future?

When your children grow up and start into the world their own, competition will be greater and a living harder to get.

It is just as much your duty to provide for their future their present, and every advantage and every aid you can give them will make their life's path smoother and brighter.

Take education for example. You from your own experience can see how valuable a good education is even today. The makes room for brains, pays well for intelligence. Tomorrow college education will be absolutely essential to success, as essential as a high school or grade school education is today.

It is your duty to provide the necessary financial means for higher education. By starting a savings account now, and small deposits you will be accumulating how it will grow into funds—and make your children's future a guaranteed success.

$116,000,000 INCREASE IN CROP VALUES FOR TEXAS THIS YEAR IS SHOWN BY GOVERNMENT REPORT

Lates Government estimates show that the total crop values of Texas this year will exceed the total of last year by more than $111,000,000, an increase of more than 22 1/2%.

This is in spite of the fact that the gross receipts of Texas farmers from this year's crop of cotton will be less than those of 1925 by more than $28,000,000, or more than 7% of the total value of the 1925 cotton crop in Texas.

The Texas cotton crop for 1925 and 1926 was: 1925, $379,250,000; 1926, $351,000,000. Decrease, $28,250,000.

The 1925 figure is the Government's estimate. The 1926 figures represent the latest Government estimate of 5,400,000 bales at the estimated average price of $65 a bale.

A remarkably favorable season has, however, been responsible for tremendous gains in the value of all other crops. Prices are slightly less all down the line but production runs as much as 250% above last year.

This year Texas is producing 108,600,000 bushels of corn with a total value of $100,998,000 at the figure of 93c fixed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the average Texas price to farmers. Last year's corn crop of only 26,809,000 bushels at a farmer's average price, Government estimate for Texas, of $1.10 brought only $29,490,000.

In like manner grain sorghums, oats, wheat, barley, hay and some other crops are much in excess of the value of the 1925 crop.

The Government's estimate of the hypothetical value of all Texas crops last year based upon the total of the crops definitely estimated was $799,330,000. This figure is arrived at as follows:

The Government keeps figures on each of the principal crops of the State each year and on each fifth year a census of all crops is taken. The ratio of the value of major crops to the total on census years is applied in arriving at a grand total for years when a census is not taken.

The estimates of this year's major crops will indicate a grand total of more than $910,000,000 for Texas. Such an estimate is considered fully justified this year in view of Texas movement of about 55,000 carloads of truck products.

REV. SCOGGINS TO LAS CRUCES, N. M., ED THORPE HERE

At the annual session of the Methodist conference held at Childress last week Rev. H. C. Scoggins, pastor of the Littlefield church, was transferred to the New Mexico conference and stationed at Las Cruces. He has an excellent church at that place, the edifice is of brick with pipe organ and three or four pianos in the building and the parsonage is also of brick. The membership is about 600 and the salary considerable more than his previous charge. He is moving this week to his new work.

Rev. Ed Thorpe, of Idalou, was appointed as pastor to the Littlefield church for the coming year.

Rev. D. B. Doak was retained as presiding elder of the Lubbock district, Rev. E. E. Robinson was returned as elder of the Plainview district, and Rev. Will Pierce, of Abilene, was made presiding elder of the Amarillo district.

The principal feature of the conference session was the discussion relative to orthodox institutions. At the session one year ago the conference ordered that educational institutions should not receive financial appropriations until the professors of such schools had first made statements as to their orthodoxy regarding Armenian theology. At the meeting last week a resolution was introduced and passed which modified the former action requiring only that the president of such educational institutions should make the required statement of orthodoxy relative to their teachers. Rev. Lewis M. Stucky, of Amarillo, led the fight for the resolution, while Rev. Bob Huckaby, of Rotan, was the leader of the opposition.

Other appointments in this vicinity were E. E. White, returned to First church, Lubbock; Silas Dixon to 19th street, Lubbock; Z. B. Pirtle, Leveland; J. E. Payne, Muleshoe; Morton to be supplied; C. H. Tedger, Sudan and Amherst; Hamilton J. Wright, Shallowater; W. H. Terry, Hale Center; L. N. Lipscomb, Plainview.

Section 2. All owners of outside toilets or privies now in use and not conforming to the above specifications shall move same within sixty days from the date and passage of this ordinance and its legal publication, also all owners of business houses, residences, or buildings within the above eight numbered blocks that have commodes, sinks, lavatories, washtrucks, bath tubs shall be given sixty (60) days in which to make connection with the sewer system, from the date of this ordinance and its passage and legal publication.

Section 3. Any person or persons who shall violate this ordinance shall be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction in the Corporation Court of said City shall be punished by a fine in any sum no less than $1.00 or over $10.00 per day, for each and every day that this ordinance is violated.

LITTLEFIELD SCHOOLS ARE MAKING RAPID PROGRESS NOW IN THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS OF ACTIVE TRAINING

Resulting from a recommendation made by a supervisor from the State Department, who visited the local High School last year, a library for the school is being arranged, books have been ordered and equipment has already been installed totaling a value of $600.00.

A class room has been converted into a place for this purpose, a row of shelves six tiers high extend the length of one end of the room and two tables three feet wide and six feet long have already been installed. These were built by C. C. Perryman, instructor of manual training, and his class. The only cost to the school board being the price of the material from which they were constructed. The books ordered consist of poetry, fiction, drama, biography and reference works. Teachers of the high school, assisted by students, will have charge of the library at different periods.

Excellent work is being accomplished in each department in the school, according to B. M. Harrison, superintendent.

Students taking physical training and public speaking under the direction of Mrs. Elena Kent Allen, are doing their work very enthusiastically. She has charge of classes in both the grammar and primary grades twice each week, besides a class composed of the high school girls which is taught 15 minutes daily in the gymnasium. F. O. Boles, principal of the high school, has charge of the boys class in high school, who gives sitting-up exercises on the grounds. Mrs. Allen is also doing some splendid work in the direction of expression and public speaking.

Vocational agricultural students, numbering 20, are receiving some helpful training under the direction of R. A. Freeman. A farm shop has been provided and the class is given actual experience in repair work on harness and farm machinery.

C. C. Perryman, teacher of manual training, has 45 students under his direction, seven of whom are girls. Two classes in both mechanical drawing and bench work are being taught, one-half of whom are second year students. A much better opportunity is this year and especially to secure affiliation, which requires a complete school term, as they were delayed in getting started on account of having to erect their shop, leaving only about one-half of the year to complete the work required for one year. The classes have just completed essentials of lettering in mechanical drawing and are now making footstools and taberets. They will soon start work on cedar chests, library tables and other pieces of their selection. All the latter work comes under bench work.

Despite the fact that the Home Economics department is greatly handicapped at present on account of so many of the students who are out to help gather cotton in this vicinity, the classes have been making rapid progress under the direction of Mrs. M. M. Brittan. Both teacher and students have been highly commended on various occasions for their ability in preparing and serving food. An example of their skill was evidenced last Friday evening by the splendid food and efficient service rendered at the banquet that night when the business men entertained the football squad and some faculty members.

A FEW OF THE JOBS THE FARMALL DOES

Plowing. Under average soil conditions the Farmall will plow 7 to 10 acres a day. This is equivalent to the work of three men and nine horses.

Middle Breaking or Listing. The Farmall will bed up or list more than 20 acres a day, doing the work of two to three men and six to eight horses.

Planting Corn or Cotton. In planting corn or cotton, two rows at a time, the Farmall will easily cover 20 to 30 acres a day.

Making Hay. When the Farmall is equipped with mower attachment it will cut 20 to 25 acres a day, replacing two or three men and four to six horses.

Cutting Grain. When the Farmall is hitched to a tractor-binder it will cut 30 to 35 acres a day. It can be kept going because it is not affected by hot harvest weather.

Harvesting Corn. The Farmall furnishes steady, uniform power for pulling the corn binder or corn picker. A man and a boy can pick three or four times as much corn with this outfit as they can by hand.

Only one other building is planned by the Tech this year, a warehouse and storage room, which will also be erected near the engineering building. It will be of frame construction and much larger than the building described above.

The Hotel Stenographer

"O O O O O!" yawned the Hotel Stenographer. "I didn't get home till a couple o'clock this morning."

"Dancing?" asked the House Detective.

"No." The girl put her hand over her mouth to hide another yawn. "I went automobile riding with a new sweetie. Closed car so we were not cold."

"Dangerous business riding around with some one you do not know very well," said the House Detective with a shake of his head.

"Kelly," smiled the girl, "are you worried over the danger the man was in or over the danger I ran?"

"Of course the fellow generally expects to kiss you along about midnight, but that doesn't mean he does it. You don't have to make a guy mad when you don't let him kiss you. All you got to do is make him understand you are a perfectly proper girl, and in his simple and childlike vanity he thinks you are all right because he cannot imagine there is anything personal in the refusal. The average chap can't understand any girl not wanting to kiss him, if she is willing to kiss at all."

"A kiss is anything from an insult to a proposal of marriage. Men are so stupid they cannot understand why a girl sometimes wants to knock their block off for kissing her, and does knock it off all over again for failing to kiss her at another time."

"Most men who kiss women ought to be sent away to come back Friday night, anyhow."

"Why Friday night?" asked Kelly. "Why, it is amateur night everywhere. If I didn't know any more about kissing than the average man, I would get some woman to give me a lesson. Many a kiss has been ruined because the poor boob didn't know how to do it without tangling up the buttons on the back of his coat sleeve in a girl's hair net."

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

UPSETTING PINS

IF YOU should accidentally upset a box, a cup or other receptacle containing pins; and if all the pins spill out, be prepared for quarreling with your friends or family, perhaps losing your job. But should the pins not all spill out—should even one pin remain in the receptacle—then you may be assured of continuous paying employment—you need not fear losing your job quarreling. This common superstition is one of several relating to pins, and is as old as pins themselves. In fact it is older, for it is but a variation of the "blinding" idea and must have attached itself to whatever our ancestors used for pinning purposes—thorns maybe. Its basis is that confounding of facts and ideas which was the weakness of primitive man's reasoning and which is the vice of many of his descendants to this day—notable sociologists and doctrinaires.

Pins are used to attach one "something" to another "something." You are "pinned" to your job. You spill the pins and, by sympathetic magic, you spill this binding force; your job is "unpinned" from you. But if one pin remain unspilled that holds you and your job together. "What is associated in thought is associated in fact"—theory of the ancients. The idea that if all the pins are spilled you will have quarrels has a like basis. The bonds of friendship and unity are "unpinned" and, of course, you quarrel.

A SLIGHT ERROR.

The preacher was on his way to attend a party for the children of the congregation. Leaving his hat and coat in the hall, he opened the living room door at the same time dropping to his knees and crawling in—making a strange noise meant to sound like the neighing of a horse. A dead silence greeted him. Sensing something wrong he looked up into the amazed faces of people at dinner.

The party was next door.

Mary Astor

This is the latest picture of charming Mary Astor, the motion picture actress, beloved by the thousands who are witnessing "The Wise Guy," in which she has a prominent part.

The Hotel Stenographer

"HOT cat!" cried the Hotel Stenographer with enthusiasm. "I met him last night for sure and certain. He is handsomer than Rudolph Valentino, braver than Bill Hart, an outrance Ted Shawn and every petal on his daisy reads 'he loves me.' I am for him big!"

"He must be a wonder," laughed the House detective. "Did he kiss you good night?"

"He did, finally," answered the girl.
The others were how-de-do, good evening, glad to meet you, and all the greetings anybody ever said to anybody."

"Little promiscuous, isn't you?"

"Nix, Kelly," assured the girl. "I am just a poor working girl. The only blessings working girls have are love and kisses. We can spend these like a sailor ashore. Where rich women spend cash or credit for fine clothes and Peek dogs, limousines and private bathing pools, afternoon teas and saddle horses, country homes and Palm Beach trips, all we can spend freely is love and affection. I intend to be the grandest little spender who ever danced a hole in a slipper.

"That's the reason a poor little chorus girl who marries a wad blows
the money like she had dreamed it.
All her life she has spent love and affection and she thinks money is as easy to get as these. The average working girl knows what a man's intentions are. She has been up against landlord and laundry bills, darning cotton and ash cans and is a practical sort of somebody. She knows where to put her kisses and where to get
'em back without a 'fresh paint' sign on 'em.

"This new sweetie is a nice guy and I am going to love him to death."

"How long?" asked the House Detective.

"As long as I feel cold chills run up my spine when he calls me sweetheart," answered the girl, grinning.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—"Holworthy Hall," the Novelist, Desired to Be a Publisher.

"A T THE age of twenty-one I was a senior in Harvard university and my ambition was to become a publisher.

"I cannot remember that at this time I drew any distinction between magazine and book publishing—or between editorial and executive work. I merely knew that the appeal of printer's ink was irresistible.

"Within a few months of my twenty-first birthday, however, I realized that I wanted to write fiction. Accordingly, I began to write, but without losing my earlier desire to be a publisher.

"For the next eight years I was a publisher—and I am still writing fiction. But perhaps I should add that this fulfillment of ambition was hardly accidental; for I had been brought up from childhood in the atmosphere of a magazine office.—Holworthy Hall."

TODAY—"Holworthy Hall" is a familiar name to magazine readers.
The real signature, however, should be Harold E. Porter, for that is the novelist's name.

Mr. Porter is one of the best known fiction writers in the country, and there are few magazines which have not published a series of his stories.
He is also considered an expert on the theoretical side of short-story writing and is said to have proved that a formula can be used for writing stories, even stories of literary worth.

DENTON WHEAT IS POPULAR.

Denton wheat is a new find of the Texas Experiment Station which bids fair to become very popular, particularly in the North Texas wheat belt.
The new variety has averaged three bushels per acre more than other strains and varieties of winter wheat tested at the Denton Station since 1923, and it has shown an average test weight of slightly more than 60 pounds per bushel. It has medium large soft red grain. The heads are long, compact and bearded, and show no tendency to shatter when full ripe. The chaff is brown. The straw is strong and stands up well during wet periods on heavy lands. The plant is dark green in color with flat winter growing habit and is drought resistant. It is one or two days later in maturing than the average Mediterranean types.

Denton wheat is a selection from the Mediterranean wheat found in general use on North Texas wheat farms, but which was found, in fact, to be a mixture of many strains. The type was purelined through the head-to-row process beginning with some 600 heads selected at random
in a field of supposedly pure Mediterranean wheat. After six years of systematic testing of the most promising of the offspring of these selections, one strain was found to possess
more desirable qualities than the others and it was accordingly increased and distributed to the farmers through the usual Station channels. It is sufficiently distinct from the general field-run Mediterranean to require a variety name and has been officially named "Denton" wheat. Special precaution has been taken by the growers under the guidance of the Denton County Purebred Grain Association to keep the variety pure. Reports to the Station indicate that all of the pedigreed seed of this variety has been sold for planting this season and that the acreage in Denton wheat will be considerable throughout North Texas from Texarkana to the Panhandle and from Hill County to Central Oklahoma. The growers are expected to preserve the purity of their seed supplies and growers in the soft wheat

section should, within another season,
have access to seed of this superior variety for their general plantings.

A Kentucky woman, hunting a bear,
found that three bullets wouldn't stop him, so she took a club and beat him
to death.

Imagine coming home late to a wife
like that!

Any henpecked husband admits the strength of women's clubs.

3,980 BALES GINNED.

As this paper goes to press a total of 3,980 bales of cotton have been ginned in Littlefield, according to local ginner.

More than 30 car loads of cotton
are on the grounds awaiting transportation and in all probability 20,000 bales will be ginned in Littlefield this year.

COULDN'T STAND ONE.

"So you didn't take any vacation
this year?"

"No, I thought I needed a rest!"

About all that some copules lap up for old age is a grudge.

WEST TEXAS

We've heard of "God's own country,"
And the wonders contained therein
And some have chosen to call it
"The land where the west begins;"
But there seems to be a question
As to just where the boundary lies,
But I'll prove they meant West Texas
With her bluest of all blue skies.

They speak of the flowing oil wells,
And mines with their products for trade;
Of the value of natural resources
No estimate can really be made;
'Twould be difficult to mention
All of the industries there—
Does that not sound like West Texas,
The land of the fresh batmy air?

They tell us of rolling prairies,
With their wide fields of waving grain,
And vast herds of lowing cattle
Idly grazing on hill and plain;
They picture the fleecy cotton
Making perfect this beautiful sight—
To me that's just like West Texas,
With her rains and sunshine bright.

There is also an abundance
Of flowers and fruits rare;
The climate is quite delightful,
No place in the world can compare;
There is scenery of wondrous beauty
Unsurpassed in the realm of man—
That is so much like West Texas
That only God could plan.

There are villages, towns and cities
Dotted the land here and there;
And better seats of learning
Cannot be found anywhere.
There are culture and refinement
In which everyone may share—
May not that be said of West Texas,
With her fairest of women fair?

Then, there is that strong, warm handclasp,
That friendship so close and so true
Binding one and all together,
A people with red blood—and blue.
There are homes and cozy firesides
In this land of romance and love—
Of course, that's our great West Texas
None like it 'neath the stars above.
