MODE O'DAY

400 Phelps Littlefield, Texas

Take your problems to Church this week — millions leave them there!

NOT BY ACCIDENT

A baby doesn't "just happen." He is created through a slow and intricate process designed by God. Neither does a delinquent "just happen." He, too, is created—gradually—by little wrongs and big, all human-caused.

Insecurity, improper associates or environment and lack of love often push a child into developing criminal tendencies.

Neglect, lack of guidance, lack of education and religious training will cause him to weaken and become sick morally and spiritually.

Responsible mothers and fathers will endeavor to protect their children from these evils. They will love a child. They will supervise his activities, and see that he has adequate religious education.

They will see that he goes regularly to Sunday School and Church, and they'll go along with him.

As a responsible parent, be sure that you create a Christian—not a criminal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Editor:

The natural interest of one farmer after, I've been keeping up with all the news from his farm at Gettysburg, and I was especially interested in a new tractor somebody gave him.

Tractor, as I understand it, is equipped with everything, including a radio and a lighter.

All along I have suspected some of the gifts, say like this new tractor, are from Democrats who hope to make Ike so attractive he will give up the House for it, but the point I want to make is that it doesn't make any difference what gadgets a tractor has to relieve fatigue, nobody has ever figured out how to eliminate a driver, and that's where the trouble comes in, as if you hadn't already seen farmers standing up occasionally to equip a tractor with a radio, telegraph, cigarette lighter, coffee maker, ice box, high fidelity phonograph, two-way radio, push-button transmission, wraparound windshield, power steering, white wall tires and an engine that uses atomic energy for fuel, but essentially it's still a plow that goes up one row and down another, and there are some worse jobs, you sit for eight or ten hours and you won't be able to watch a television program invented yet to take up past bedtime.

They're experimenting with tractors operated by remote control, set the dial and they'll plow all day un-manned, but you can't hit a field with a few point rows between two terraces or a field with a few rows or stumps, and you're gonna have to be on your hands with a nervous owner.

Stand, I'm in favor of all these new gadgets, riding a tractor beats following on foot, but sitting on a bank fishing is either one. In fact, as I understand it, of tractor manufacturers, it's to get the tractor that takes all the work out of farming. I've found fishing does the same thing without nearly the investment.

Let me trick you with those gadgets, farming is work.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mahon Sends Letters To Littlefield Implement Dealer

(Editor's Note: The following copies of government letters were mailed to Earl Luce by Congressman George Mahon last week after they had had some correspondence and discussions of the current farm problems.)

Dear Congressman Mahon:
This is in reply to your letter of November 16, 1955, with which you enclosed a portion of a letter pertaining to the quality of cotton produced in the Lubbock area and in which you asked whether cotton produced in that area is more of a burden on Commodity Credit Corporation than the cotton which is produced in other areas of the Cotton Belt.

The short staple cotton problem and the drop in demand for such cotton has been getting much more acute in recent years. Several years ago, the percentage of unredeemed loan cotton which had a staple length of 15-16 inches or shorter did not materially differ from the percentage of the entire crop which was of such staple lengths. However, recently there has been a very sharp increase in the percentage of the production of short staple cotton (15-16 inches or shorter) which has ended up in CCC's inventory. For example, in 1953, when 93 percent of the cotton produced was 15-16 inches or shorter, about 22.8 percent of the un-redeemed loan cotton from that crop consisted of those staple lengths. In 1954, when 22.5 percent of the cotton produced was 15-16 inches or shorter about 49.5 percent of the unredeemed loan cotton from that crop consisted of those staple lengths.
In 1955, based on present indications, it appears that a much higher percentage (perhaps as much as 75 percent) of the short staple cotton in the Lubbock area may go into the loan and a large part of such cotton will, no doubt, end up in CCC's stocks.

As you know, the average length of the entire crop has been increasing for a number of years and mills have indicated a considerable preference for the longer staples (especially 1 to 1 3/32 inches) at the current differentials. Indications are that the cotton industry, both domestic and foreign, will primarily buy the longer staples unless there is a substantial differential for the shorter staples. In the past, loan differentials have been based primarily on prior years' premiums and discounts. This has had a deterring effect on the widening of differentials between the shorter and longer staples, thereby causing a larger proportion of the short staple cotton to end up in CCC's inventory. If the current trend continues, the quantity of short staple cotton in CCC's inventory will soon be completely out of proportion.

On August 13, 1955, CCC announced a special cotton export program to be effective after January 1, 1956. Under this program, not more than one million bales of cotton having a staple length of 15-16 inches or shorter will be made available for sale. This cotton will be offered for sale on a competitive bid basis, possibly at prices somewhat below the minimum price limitations which control most CCC sales, and this may help to dispose of some of the shorter staple cotton now owned by CCC.

No determinations have been made with respect to the differentials for the 1956 program and the level of support has not been announced. However, the spot market differentials between the shorter and longer staples have been widening to some extent in recent months and it appears that the 1957 cotton loan program differentials between the shorter and longer staples should be larger than in 1955. As a matter of fact, we are of the opinion the differentials should be increased between these two groups of staple lengths in order to slow down production and increase the use of these shorter lengths.

Very truly yours,
F. Marion Rhodes
Director

Dear Congressman Mahon:

This is in reply to your letter of November 8 requesting information with regard to the legal restrictions placed on sales of cotton by the Commodity Credit Corporation and the composition of cotton exports during the 1954-55 marketing year.
You also inquired regarding the export outlook for the current season.

Section 407 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 provides that the CCC shall not sell for unrestricted use any basic agricultural commodity acquired in price support operations at less than 105 percent of the current support price, plus reasonable carrying charges. This restriction does not apply to sales for export. However, it has been the policy of the Corporation for a number of years to apply this minimum to sales for export as well as domestic sales for unrestricted use. You are aware of course that the Department has announced a program under which up to 1.0 million bales of CCC cotton having a staple length of 15-16" and less will be offered for sale for export after January 1, 1956, upon the basis of competitive bids.
It is naturally assumed that prices received for this cotton will be below the legal minimum prescribed for sales for unrestricted use.

During the 1954-55 marketing year, 3.4 million bales of cotton were exported from the United States. Of this quantity, approximately 1.2 million bales were financed under special programs, including grants and sales for foreign currencies.
Procurement authorizations have been issued covering the sale of approximately 1.3 million bales for foreign currencies during the 1955-56 season.
However, because of the wide disparity between prices at which United States cotton can be bought and prices at which foreign growers are being sold, very little cotton is now moving under these programs. Dispatches from our attaches indicate that foreign cottons are underselling our cotton by 2 to 5 cents a pound. Practically all United States cotton exports are handled by private trade.
Only a very small quantity moves on a government to government basis, and this is mostly for relief purposes.

Foreign consumption during the 1954-55 season exceeded foreign production by approximately 3.3 million bales. In the absence of any appreciable changes in stocks, this residual is the quantity of cotton normally required by foreign countries from the United States when foreign cotton is underselling ours. During the 1955-56 marketing year, it is estimated that foreign consumption will exceed foreign production by only a little more than 2.0 million bales. Under these circumstances, it is unlikely that our exports during the current season will rise above 2.5 million bales.

We are enclosing copies of a release of August 12, 1955, which contains some additional background information on the cotton problem.
If we can be of further service kindly let us know.

Sincerely yours,
Gwynn Garnett
Administrator

Blackmailer "Friends"

Our attempts during the first few years after World War II to buy good will abroad have shown how futile that policy is. Our policy appears to have changed under Eisenhower to one of fairness and friendliness but less paternalism. Present policy seems to be to encourage self-development and self-reliance instead of having them look to us to cover their budget deficits every year.

But this is a disappointment to some of our "friends" who had gotten used to the idea of our playing Santa Claus the year around. For instance, Egypt now is threatening us with the possibility that they will let the Russians help them with the huge dam they want to build on the Nile, unless we come through with what they want by January 1.

To a country boy this would seem to be the point at which we should call a halt to dollar diplomacy. If that's the kind of friendship our previous dollars have bought, we made a bad deal. We might well take a second thought about letting them have the $40 million earmarked for emergency relief there.

And it would serve them right if we just let the Russians help them. It is unlikely they would get much real help from the Russians, who talk a good game but rarely deliver the goods. They can't because they are hard pressed to help themselves.
At any rate, we've never seen a blackmail-er who could be relied upon as a friend.

"We Planned for

says MRS. JOHN C. CORNELL

When you plan for modern electric living, as the Cornells did, you plan for pleasant, gracious, comfortable living.
"My husband's experience in the home building business helped us in planning enough outlets and wiring circuits to enjoy all of our electric appliances."
You, too, can call on the experience of your builder and qualified electrical contractor for electric wiring that will meet your present day needs — and those of the future. Good home wiring — the lifeline of pleasant electric living — never costs less than it does when you are building a new home.
Plan for modern electric living, as the Cornells did, and you plan for living at its best.

Mrs. Cornell's all-electric kitchen features built-in electric range and refrigerator units.
"We chose built-ins because of the convenience and space saving features which they offer."
"Automatic and exact", that's the kind of heat Mrs. Cornell gets from her electric range.
And that's the kind you'll get from an electric range, whether your choice is for built-in units or a conventional range.
"Plenty of freezer space was one of our goals in planning our new home. This built-in freezer-refrigerator takes very little space, and gives Mrs. Cornell plenty of right-at-hand food storage capacity.
"Our electric washer-dryer combination is wonderful because I can do my laundry at any time — day or night — with such little effort". Here's the real beauty of electric living, you can do the work when you want to, and, because it is done electrically, there's less work to do.

MRS. LESTER LA GRANGE

Amherst Pioneer Gathers News For The Last Quarter Of A Century

My maiden name was Lenore Hudson Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. W. L. Smith of Henderson, Texas. I was born and reared there but people often ask me if I am a product of the "deep south." This is due to the fact, I suppose, that my mother was from Tennessee and my father from Mississippi.

James Claiborne. I do not seem to have any real hobbies, unless "news gathering" can be termed as such.

I am a real pioneer of Lamb county as we came in the summer of 1923 and stayed in Sudan until shortly after Christmas, and lived in the brand new Amherst Hotel in 1924 and 1925.

It was during this time that I first became interested in "news for Amherst." Regularly, each week the late Mrs. B. C. Lynn or Miss Theima Collins, would contact me for news for the Amherst Argus, the paper published here by Mr. J. L. Tullis and his son.

This interest was implanted further in the spring of 1925. The newly organized Amherst Parent-Teacher Association sent me as a delegat to the district convention in Canadian. (We were a part of Eighth district at that time). The Panhandle Press Association was to be held in Amarillo the day after the convention closed. Mr. Tullis asked me to represent him and the Argus at that meeting. As I recall it only 20 or 25 were in attendance.

I was a member of the Panhandle Pen Women's Society a number of years ago, but I did not have journalism in my high school or college work. If I gleaned it from my daughter, who had this as a major in her college degree.

I've always had a flair for cooking, and at 16 won first prize with a devil's food cake in the Rusk county fair, over many with much more experience. I decided not to enter the cake when the king was not a success, but my mother encouraged me to make a different kind to cover the first. It turned out well and the "double icing" made a "hit" with the judges.

Mr. La Grange and I are charter members of the Lamb County Pioneers. I served as vice president when the late Judge R. C. Hopping headed the organization. I have served as secretary and treasurer, and Mr. La Grange as a member of the Board of Directors.

I am a charter and life member of the Amherst Parent-Teacher Association and was on the district board. I am also a charter member of the Amherst Study club, have served as president, and am State and District chairman of yearbooks, for the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, now I am an active member of the Methodist church and have served as president of the Woman's Society and on the district board several years. Another one of my interests is serving as a member of the Museum Committee at Texas Tech, and a member of the Southwest Collection committee there.

I had the distinction of being the first woman in the county to serve on a jury, last spring. It gave me a new interest, that is, court and court proceedings. It was during the first court session held in the new Lamb County Courthouse.

One of my "pet likes" is hats. Others are piano playing, candy and fancy desserts. Since counting calories has become so popular I "count" part of the time. Though far from being a finished musician, I did play regularly, primarily for relaxation. Now, that time seems to go in viewing television at certain times of day and night.

I am very fond of flowers and birds. I do not have a "green thumb" but I occasionally have a flower specimen of which I am proud. I always hear the whistle or song or any strange bird, even if here for a short time, in migration. I often put out grain or other feed to attract birds to our lawn or garden.

Our son Lester Junior, is a chemical engineer in New York City. He, his wife, son, Arnold, eight years old and daughter, Anne Walton, three, reside in a suburb of the city. Our daughter, Mary Lenore, is a teacher in South Texas, near Corpus Christi.

Mr. La Grange is a native of Iowa, and I of East Texas. Since we were here when our town was organized in August 1923, and after more than 30 years of continuous living here, we feel that the term "natives of Amherst" could well be applied to us.

Five Amherst Students See Naval Center

Five Amherst high school students visited the Naval Training Center at Lubbock at the regular meeting of the organized reserve Wednesday night, Dec. 7, to obtain information before joining surface division 8-87.

The five included Donnie Bowman, and Arthur McLelland, members of the Amherst football squad, and Francis Young Lee Roy Nuttall and Jerry Polvalo.

Chrysler Assists Driver Training Programs

Chrysler Corporation will give assistance to its dealers who provide automobiles for high school and college driver training classes. L. L. Colbert, president of the company, announced today.

"Driver training in the public and parochial schools is one of the principal parts of the nation's over all highway safety program," Colbert declared, "and Chrysler Corporation wants to further such training through its dealers to the fullest extent possible."

Under the new program, he explained, dealers will receive a special payment of $125 from Chrysler Corporation for every new car loaned by them to schools for driver training classes. The plan goes into effect immediately.

"Many of our dealers are already assisting driver training programs in their communities' schools by lending cars," Colbert said. "We believe this valuable contribution by our dealers to highway safety can be extended considerably under this new assistance program."

The $125 special payment will be given to any Chrysler Corporation dealer as soon as he reports the loan of a new car to a high school or a board of education in his community for student training through the school year. This payment will help the dealer defray the costs he encounters in providing such a car—installing special equipment, reconditioning the cars when they are returned to him and absorbing depreciation.

Each division of Chrysler Corporation—Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler—will administer the program with its dealers, depending upon the make of car provided to the school.

Cotton Letter

By SMITH B. COLEMAN of V. R. Jones & Co.

United States agricultural exports in the July-October four month period of 1955 are estimated at $990 million, compared with $910 million for the corresponding period of 1954, a gain of nine per cent, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Values of exports of nearly all major commodity groups were up for the first four months of the 1955-56 fiscal year. Grains and feeds showed an increase of 39 per cent; tobacco, 27 per cent; vegetable oils and oilseeds, 18 per cent; fruits and vegetables 7 per cent and livestock products, 8 per cent. Cotton exports however, were down 67 per cent.

Cotton Economic Research, University of Texas, reports average fineness for Mid-season cotton from 22 locations here on the High Plains (Lubbock area and south) to be 3.9 micronaire units for the Mid-season as compared to 4.5 for the same locations in early season. Tensile strength was found to average 73,000 pounds per square inch for Mid-season against 75,000 for early crop.

Unofficial laboratory reports on current receipts show a drastic drop in micronaire to as low as 2.0, with a corresponding drop in tensile strength. Finding an outlet for this cotton is difficult as most mills require 3.6 micronaire and above.

With continued favorable weather conditions the harvest of this year's crop will be 95 per cent complete by the end of the week. Many gins are now only running during the day.

The Dept. of Agriculture issued their final crop estimate on December 8th, for the South Plains as 1,340,000. The U. S. production 14,663,000. The present outlook is for 80 per cent of this year's South Plains crop to enter the loan.

The new leaner pork trim being applied to primary pork cuts by major packers, if maintained, spells the doom of the overfat and fat-backed type hogs. The excessive lard which packers will be trimming off will soon result in orders to their buyers to pay a premium for the hog that will produce lean pork and penalize the overfat hogs to take care of the higher prices for better hogs. This will revolutionize hog buying practice all over the nation and probably will eventually eliminate the practice of buying hogs according to weightentials. The old idea that "pigs" will give way to "hogs," and buying them, on and quality. Breeders of type hogs will profit and premium prices to which have been entitled all the

Santa Fe Is Participating In Credit Cards

Santa Fe passenger officials have reported that during the past four months, more than twice as many credit card travelers have taken to the nation's rails as ever before in railroad history.

They point to statement by Earl B. Padrick, chairman of Rail Travel Credit Agency, Chicago, revealing that a sales and promotion campaign by the railroads has jumped the number in-use credit cards to 'well over 200,000,' against a previous high of 110,000 for a formerly-used railroad credit card.

Santa Fe Railways is one of the road participating in the Rail Travel Credit Agency credit card system. Rail travel credit cards are honored by 47 major railroads and permit the holder to purchase railroad and Pullman tickets as well as meals in the diner or refreshments in the club car.

More than 50,000 firms and individuals now hold the travel cards. The largest number of credit cards held by any one company, an eastern radio and electronics manufacturer, is 1,450.

Padrick reported that personal credit cards now account for more than $1 million a month in railroad passenger billings and that passenger officials expected the total to reach the two million mark "very shortly — perhaps within thirty days."

Retired Railroad Worker And Interesting Life

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Long, Sudan, shown looking at pictures made during his 32 years with the Santa Fe. In the background is a pillow bearing the Mason insignia. Mr. Long, a member of the Masons since 1920, has his membership in the Sudan Lodge. (Scott Photo)

By MRS. EVELYN M. SCOTT

It was a long road with many a stop for the Arlie Longs of Sudan during the thirty-two years Mr. Long served as a dragline and ditcher operated with the traveling work crews of the Santa Fe railroad. Mr. Long retired August 1 of this year.

Home is where the heart is, had to be true in the case of the Longs, who sometimes averaged moving once a week.

Night or day, Mr. Long was at the beck and call of the railroad when emergency repairs were needed on tracks in other places. At times they received only thirty minutes notice to get ready to move out and though they lived in a "living car" (a rail road car on wheels that was moved by locomotive) this was hardly time to take down the clothes line and gather in the tubs, to say nothing of making things secure from breakage. Mr. Long usually made the moves with the work train while Mrs. Long brought the car through. In the early days they owned a 1924 Model T and the roads were dirt and unpaved. In rainy weather traveling the muddy roads was a headache for Mrs. Long.

Often they would arrive at their new location ahead of their living car and would have to stay at tourist court while they waited for its arrival.

In speaking of his years with the railroad Mr. Long uses such railroad vernacular as, crawlers, shovels, draglines, ditchers, work train, bumping in and living car. The states he has worked "all over" include Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

The Longs moved so often their only child, a daughter, was able to be with them only during the summer months and spent the other months with a grandmother in Oklahoma in order to attend school. Like all men engaged in making a living, Mr. Long had little time to mind the moves or become lonely. But Mrs. Long, never in one place long enough to make friends, sometimes found time heavy on her hands. She crocheted for pastime, making numerous small pieces, table cloths, five bedspreads, one which proved a blue ribbon winner at a Needlework exhibit held two years ago in connection with the Fall Festival.

In the many years of repairing the tracks, Mr. Long had only one narrow escape from being hit by a locomotive. It was on Thanksgiving Day in 1928 when he was operating a ditcher near Amherst and the flagman failed to warn him or the engineer of the train. All that saved him was a wide by-pass. Ten years ago the Longs were assigned a coach as their living quarters. Though a vast improvement over the old boxcar style, the many windows proved a problem. There were twelve in the living room alone and drawing the shades was no small undertaking. This new home had all the modern conveniences, including inside toilet facilities, electricity and modern stoves for cooking and heating purposes. Sudan was one of the many stoves made by the Longs during the mid-thirties and it was then their daughter, Pearl, met and married a Sudan boy, T. P. Wingo. Thus, the reason for the Longs building a home in Sudan in 1940. After completing their home here they used it as a base for vacations and to visit their daughter and family.

Married in 1910 near Portales, New Mexico, Mr. Long is a native of Texas, while she was born Gertrude Thomason in the Cherokee strip of Oklahoma. The couple met when Mr. Long was engaged in farming near Portales and the Thomasons moved there for their daughter's health. Since retiring and settling down in Sudan for keeps the Longs have been busy making frequent out-of-town trips and visiting the three Wingo grandchildren who live next door.

Mr. Long does most of the housework as she suffers an ailment which makes it difficult for her to walk.

Although the couple have a life time traveling pass with the railroad, they recently purchased a new car and are now making plans to tour some of the neighboring states.
