Springlake's Wolverines, with an open sore after losing to Kress last Friday, will host Hale Center. The Wolverines were undefeated until last week-end when they went down 28-14 in a district 3-A game. Hale Center took last year's contest 41-0, but the story should be different this year.

Sudan, idle last weekend, will host the mighty Kress Kangaroos in a district 3-A contest. Kress, with a record of eight wins and no losses is expected to make it victory number nine, but don't understate the Hornets. Sudan has won three, lost three and tied one.

Whitharral's Panthers, playing on - again, off - again football, will travel to Meadow for a district 3-B contest. The Panthers downed Whiteface 53-0 last Friday, but lost to Anton to be one-one in district play.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grant had as guests Sunday their daughter, Mrs. Bill Davis and children, Artesia, their daughter, Mrs. Ray Aldrich and children, Lubbock, and their son, Billy Tom Grant and family, Littlefield.

Cotton Burs Are Cheap Way To Add Humus

Cotton growers have found that an easy and cheap way of adding humus to their fields and increasing its water-holding capacity is by returning cotton burs and gin trash to the soil. Kimbrough said that development of labor saving equipment for the leading and spreading of the burs has done much to stimulate their use for this purpose.

The use of burs provides additional humus and improves the physical condition of the soil as well as increasing the water holding capacity. Not only is the method of application an easy one, but it is also economical. Ginners like the method also for it reduces the nuisance of burning gin trash and permits a saving in construction costs. Ginners feel that improving the cotton land will give them a chance to gin more cotton from the same land. Fire and smoke hazard is also eliminated. Plans for building a leading hopper at the gin and a gin trash distributor for a truck are available at the county agent's office. Additional information can also be obtained on this practice.

There is a ASC practice which pays $100 a ton up to $5,000 per acre for applying burs back on cotton ground or any ground which does not have a good stubble. This practice is to prevent wind erosion and cannot be plowed under with a breaking plow but can be chiseled to keep the cotton burs on top of the ground. Signing date for the ASC practice is December 1 - 15. The money will be divided into the number of people that sign up.

ASSUMING you're an average U.S. taxpayer, you are already spending a fourth to a third of your working life earning money to pay taxes. Even if taxes don't go up, the average 29-year-old employee today has a pretty gloomy prospect ahead of him: he'll spend 10 of his remaining 36 yrs before retirement earning $47,000 in tax money. --True, 5-61

THERE was the wife who complained to her husband, "Look at the old clothes I have to wear! If anyone came to visit they would think I was the cook." The husband replied, "Well, they'd change their minds if they stayed for dinner."

WE'RE giving away bicycles to the ambitious youth of the trade area... all they need is to get out and sell 20 subscriptions to the Littlefield newspapers for a year, and they've earned a sparkling new bicycle. It's good to see that there are still youngsters who don't mind working for rewards. I suspicion that most of us parents used to have to work for what we got... and we know that we'll rear a better crop of youngsters if we teach them the value of a dollar... teach them that hard work and thrift will offer rewards that are most important through a lifetime. At present a little eight-year-old girl is leading the field of salesmen!

WHILE on a hike in the country, the pretty young miss came to a secluded little lake. Unable to resist temptation she took off her clothes and dove in. After her swim she returned to where her clothes were, only to find a lanky farm youth seated on them waiting. The sweet young thing was nearly in a panic when she stubbed her toe on something buried on the bottom of the lake. Reaching down she found it was a rather large old dishpan. Holding it in front to cover her nakedness, she walked directly up to the lout and said heatedly, "Look you! Do you know what I think?" "Shore I know!" leered the farm boy. "You think there's a bottom to that dish pan!"

Heads you win! Tails you win!

"Some things are always a gamble. The toss of a coin, the fall of the cards, the spin of a wheel. And at times even the weather defies prediction. Fortunately, there need be no gamble where your community's future is concerned. Your town's tomorrow is not a matter of chance, it's what you and your fellow business men will make it."

"Your local chamber is leaving nothing to chance. It's already at work to insure that your town will be a better place in which to live and work. However, it can do an even better job with your help. Why don't you join your local chamber in this important task? You will find it a winning proposition!"

Philosopher Doubts If Mr. K Can Do Farming In 6-Hour Day

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm views the six-hour day proposed for Russian farmers. The six-hour day is something he may be an expert on.

Dear editor:

As everybody pretty well agrees, the Russians are ahead of us in space and behind us in farming, and while I won't say this proves us farmers are smarter than our space scientists, still it's hard to argue with a fact.

But what I started out to say was I read about Mr. Khrushchev's twelve-hour speech before a big Communist party gathering in Moscow last week, a six-hour speech one day, followed by another six-hour one the next day. That is, I read a few highlights; one of the choicest freedoms of democracy is the freedom to not listen to a one-hour speech by a politician, not to mention a 12-hour ordeal.

And down toward the end I noticed that Mr. Khrushchev has promised all the Russians, including farmers, that by 1980 they'll be working only 6 hours a day, five days a week, and, he added, everybody will have paid vacations, including farmers.

Incidentally, he added also that if farmers don't start producing more right now, somebody's going to get sent to Siberia.

But what interests me most is this six-hour day Mr. Khrushchev is going to give farmers.

Now I have tried a six-hour day out here on this Johnson grass farm, and I like it fine, only I have found out that if everybody else tried it, I'm afraid the Secretary of Agriculture would stop worrying about too much food and start worrying about too little.

Maybe the present Russian farmers are smart enough to work twelve hours a day and still not produce a back-breaking surplus, but American farmers have never been able to swing it. The more they work, the more they produce, and the more they produce, the less they get for it, and the longer they have to work to come out even.

I am afraid though that before Mr. Khrushchev gets all his farming done in a six-hour day, he's going to have to control the weather, produce a flat-free tractor tire, a perpetual battery, an ever-lasting crankshaft, a dust-free carburetor, abolish insects, and outlaw fishing, and I doubt if he'll be able to do that by 1980 which is only about 18 years away. If I was a Russian farmer and wanted to try the 6-hour day, I believe I'd cross the border.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

recipe for a P. T. A.

By Mary Jane Goding

First—take some parents, many or few.

If you can't get fifty, twenty will do. But be sure they believe in American youth.

And are eager to join in a quest for truth.

Be sure that they have a realization that as parents they owe a debt to this nation.

Next, take some teachers—all in your school—

But don't forget the simple rule: That teachers must teach school, come what may!

Don't expect them to be your P.T.A.

Then, take some problems and follow them through—

What makes boys and girls do what they do?

Some common problems of home and school.

Then find out the Why? the What? and the How?

Take lots of work—it's the main ingredient!

And when you've used all that seems expedient.

Put in some more! This mixture is such that you just can't possibly get too much!

Mix all these together with greatest care.

Knead in much faith and many a prayer.

Season with fun and with laughter.

And there you have your P.T.A.

Cotton Institute Receives Cooperation From Area

Prospects for a record crop and wide grower response indicate participation in the Cotton Producers Institute in the High Plains will be greater than the original estimate of one million bales the first year.

The optimistic outlook for the voluntary grower plan to achieve a 25 per cent increase in cotton markets and acreage was pointed up this week by Roy Forkner, Lubbock, Chairman of the High Plains Committee for the Institute.

J. C. Mills of Abernathy feels the $61 million research gap between cotton and its competitors must be narrowed. "Synthetic manufacturers are expanding their production, and they're out to get as much business as possible," he added that commitments on more than 12,000 bales were made at the initial Abernathy meeting.

Growers are attracted by the Institute's agreement with the Board of Directors of the National Cotton Council to use Council facilities and staff for supervising projects.

"This means no overhead. Every dollar a farmer invests will go for research and promotion," pointed out David Anderson of Bailey County. "Also this gives us experienced personnel.

We can get moving on getting our costs down and selling people about cotton products."

Don Anderson of Crosbyton pointed up the non-political aspects of the Institute. "It is strictly a cotton program for cotton producers. It's based on a sound business idea we all can get behind solidly. We initiated the plan in Crosby County this week, and feel we'll hit the 50 per cent mark shortly."

Since the Internal Revenue Service has ruled this investment is tax deductible, cotton farmers have the same option as synthetic producers to charge research and promotion off as a business expense, explained A. B. Carpenter of Yoakum County, where participation is over 60 per cent.

Growers are looking to stepped up research to provide basic answers to cutting production costs. "Diseases are costing more and more each year, and we've got to stop this increase," stated Jack Broyles of Dawson County.

The idea of cultivating customers for cotton appeals strongly to producers. This was summed up by R. C. Mitchell of Lockney, when he said, "In this day and time, we've got to promote our products. Our competitors are doing it. They're out promoting cotton 15 to one, and I feel a dollar per bale is a mighty good investment for me."

Allen Webb of Castro County said, "This program has a solid base of producer leadership behind it all across the Plains. In addition, it has strong support in our area because we vitally need the 25 per cent increase in acreage the program offers."

Weaver missed the Morton victory over Olton, the Farwell win over Hale Center, and Texas Tech's upset over Baylor. Otherwise his entry was correct. One contest was incorrect on the entry blank and was not counted against any of the contestants. This was the California vs Southern California which USC won.

Second place went to last week's first place winner, Kathy Pirkey, Star Rt. 1, Littlefield. She picked Littlefield to win 20 - 15 with the score being 19 - 14. Her father, James Pirkey told a Press reporter how she picks the games. She simply takes all the local teams and picks them to win and the others, she takes the largest town or the school she has heard the most about. Her father said she always picks Texas Tech. A check for $5 will be sent to Miss Pirkey.

Third place went to A. A. Blair of Box 511, Amherst, who also missed four games and picked Littlefield to win 22-20. He has also been a winner in the contest before. A check for $2.50 will be mailed to Blair.

Control Leaf Spot On Greens

Leaf spot disease is a problem in all mustard green-producing areas, says Harlan Smith extension plant pathologist. Disease damaged greens are of low quality, and buyers and housewives discriminate against them.

The fungal leaf spot occurs on leaves as round, gray spots with tan margins, explains Smith. The spots may be up to a half inch across, and light comes through the spots if the leaf is held between the eyes and the sky. Severely affected leaves may curl and dry out.

Higher than average rainfall or sprinkler irrigation provides conditions highly favorable to the disease, but cool, dry weather usually helps hold the disease in check.

Leaf spot is caused by a fungus, and there are indications that the fungus may be carried on the seed. The disease also occurs on turnips, says Smith.

Home gardeners can reduce the disease by not planting turnips or mustard greens in the same spot each year. Susceptible crops should be grown only one year in three on the same soil, and old, diseased trash should be buried deep when plowing so it will not be brought to the surface during cultivation.

On commercial plantings the disease may build up after the first cutting of greens, says Smith. To prevent this, a spray made up of 3 pounds of copper sulfate, 3 pounds of hydrated lime, and 50 gallons of water should be applied immediately after the first cutting. If further protection is needed, a ferbam spray can be applied ten days after the bordeaux spray is used.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
In a recent letter to Gov. Price Daniel I requested that he submit the tax issue to the special session of the Legislature in order that we might be able to amend and clarify the sales tax law under which we are now operating. I also ask that he submit the tax issue in order that we might repeal the State Ad Valorem Tax so that the Cities might be able to use some of the tax.

Many people believe that the sales tax passed by the last Legislature will more than adequately finance the State, and that we would abolish the ad valorem tax as far as the State is concerned.

Will appreciate having your views on same and you might want to comment editorially. Sincerely,
Jesse M. Osborn

Santa Fe hauls 2.3 million bales of western cotton to markets

King Cotton has moved west.

In 1945, only 36% of the nation's cotton was grown in the West. Today over 62% of it comes from states served by Santa Fe.

This year Santa Fe will haul over 2,300,000 bales of cotton to markets in 34,000 box cars—enough box cars to make up a train 284 miles long.

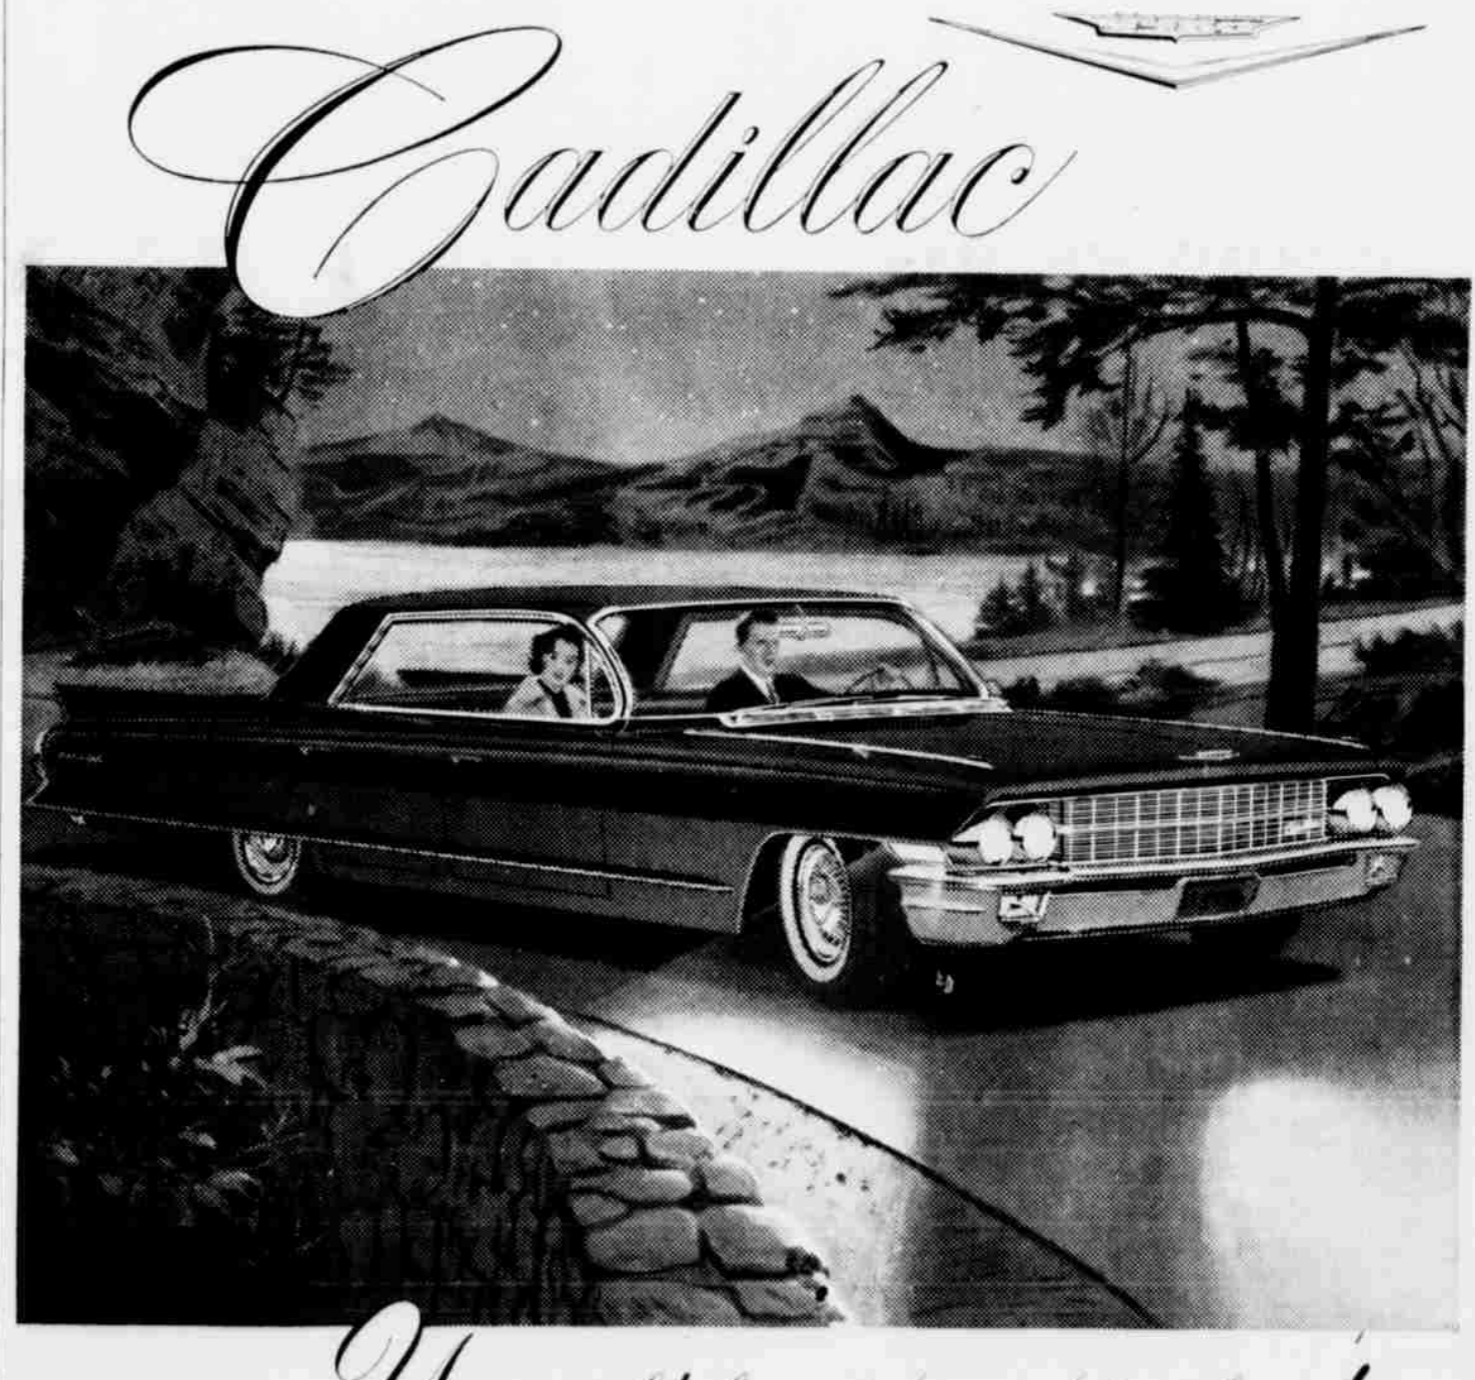

Hauling cotton and other important crops, materials and products from where they are grown or made to where they are needed is another example of how Santa Fe is meeting the transportation needs of a growing America.

1962 Upland Cotton Quotas Announced

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials have announced a national marketing quota of 15,714,000 bales and a national acreage allotment of 15,101,718 acres for the 1962 upland cotton crop. The acreage allotment includes an allocation of 100,000 acres from the national acreage reserve to take care of minimum farm allotments.

The referendum on marketing quotas is to be held December 12th, and at least two-thirds of the upland cotton producers voting must approve them if they are to be effective. Based on recent planting and yield trends, the 1962 allotment is expected to produce about as much cotton as will be used in the 1962-63 season leaving the carryover on Aug. 1, 1963, at about the same level as the carryover for Aug. 1, 1962.

The national acreage allotment for 1962 crop upland cotton will be apportioned to states state allotments to counties, and the county allotments to farms. Individual farm allotments will be made available to producers prior to the referendum, the USDA reported.

If marketing quotas are approved in the referendum, price support will be available to growers who comply with their farm allotments at such level as is determined appropriate by the Secretary. If marketing quotas are not in effect for the 1962 upland cotton crop, the allotment program will remain in effect and price support will be available to cooperators at 80 per cent of parity.

Under the 1962 quota program, growers who exceed their farm acreage allotments will be subject to penalties of 50 per cent of the cotton parity price as of June 15, 1962, on the excess production. Also, none of the upland cotton produced on the farm will be eligible for price support.

The USDA also announced national marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1962 crop of extra long staple cotton. A referendum on these quotas will also be held on December 12th.

These new gels revert to liquid when heated and thicken again when cooled, while the foams are unusually stable. Both of the products are bland in taste and appearance, but they proved compatible with various added flavoring and coloring materials.

Development of pilot plant procedures for producing the new gels and foams has not yet been attempted. But the simplicity of the laboratory procedures, plus the commercial availability of the soybean protein, indicates commercial production would be feasible.

They're called Plentiful Foods by the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Two traditional Thanksgiving foods - turkeys and cranberries head the list of November plentiful foods in Texas. Turkey marketings this month will be about 25 percent more than a year ago, and the 1961 cranberry crop is estimated at 15 per cent above average.

Lighter, more highly mailable foods also will be plentiful all month. They are apples, potatoes, cashews, pecans, almonds, pork, vegetable fats and oils, and dry beans, the Service advised.

Careful menu planners can take advantage of this abundance by serving these items often. Producers and the food industry often conduct special promotion activities on plentiful foods, in efforts to give consumers the advantage in price and quality, the Service said.

Two Soybean Products Are Developed

Development of two new products by USDA research chemists may create new markets for soybeans. The new products, made from refined soybean protein, are edible gels and foams. According to the USDA, these gels and foams can add variety to diets and improve nutrition, especially in countries where meats are less plentiful than they are in the United States.

A combination of the refined soybean protein and cereal products would provide a diet well balanced in amino acids, the researchers believe.

The gels and foams may also prove useful in industries as glue binders, coatings, and thickening agents.

Many Foods Plentiful For Thanksgiving

Grateful hearts have just reason to give thanks for the abundance of American agriculture this November, as throughout the year, thanks to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Huge supplies of any number of tasty, nutritious food items are available. What's more, at least 10 important foods are in supply that exceeds normal de-

ARE YOU A MAN IN THE DARK?

"How often have you felt that important things are going on... and you know little about them?"

"How does your knowledge 'stack up' on what's likely to happen in your community—in education, in civic government, in health and welfare? Are you still in the dark?"

"Progressive business men are seldom in the dark. In fact, they seem to be into everything. They are always standing up and speaking up on issues that affect the community welfare."

"How about you? It's not hard to do—and besides, speaking up is part of your community responsibility."

"Here's all you do. Join and support your local Chamber of Commerce. There you can bring to light your ideas about community problems and, incidentally, find out what everyone else is thinking, too. You'll also earn new respect and recognition of your views."

"Sign up with the other progressive business men in your local Chamber of Commerce who are working for the good of business and your community. Remember, when you belong to and support your voluntary organization you're helping to encourage the growth and development of every person who has the capacity to grow."

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

"COLD" or "HOT" WE MUST RESIST

If wishing were horses, we could all ride, is an old saying. If wishing could resolve the international situation, and if wishing could make go away the realistic things of our day and age which we do not wish, we'd probably just wish ourselves into a state of inertia.

The anatomy of cold war is difficult to comprehend. Our nation knows altogether too well the anatomy of war. The public has come slowly into comprehension that the communist conspiracy is relentlessly aimed at world domination, and that we, the United States of America, are one of its targets.

Undoubtedly the USA is the major detriment and hindrance to the communist aim of world domination.

Vigilance is necessary during this cold war period, alertness is demanded. And, while we must combat and offset the big show which the communists are putting on in space efforts, propaganda and economic competition, and while the national policy is to grant military, political and humanitarian foreign aid, we cannot afford to tire or fail to persist.

In the cold war there is presence of forces, as in East Germany, threat of force, such as Mr. K's talks of 100-megaton nuclear bombs, the assistance given Red China in the Korean War.

There is that indistinct area between cold war and hot war. Police action, limited war, graduated retaliation are steps to unrestricted, all-out war.

The dangers we face today are real. The dangers we faced throughout the period since the cessation of hostilities in the second World War have been real. They have not been too clearly defined.

By now every thinking American citizen knows that we must persevere to surmount the dangers of the cold war, all the time being so well prepared for hot war that our very strength will be a deterrent, and will mean survival should we come to grips in all out force with any adversary, anywhere.

We must be capable of fighting, and capable of winning, cold war or hot war, and both, if it means mobilization in a non-military war of all our physical and material resources.

If we but have the faith that is our heritage, born of the courage and wisdom of those who have gone before us in this nation, we can solve our domestic problems, and there is no foreign force we need ever fear, anymore than we have feared in the past.

One thing we need to know, and never forget, succinctly and without reservation, the communists are the avowed and eternally active enemy of the cardinal principles of the government and the system under which we live.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

Here lately, a second grade student has been winning in the weekly Press football contest. Kathy Pirkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pirkey, won first last week and second this week. When she won first last week I kidded her dad about helping her with her entry, and he quickly assured me that he didn't help her and that he and his son, Gary, did work together on Gary's entry. James said he and Gary studied the team records of all the teams listed, checked the sportswriter's opinions and then made their selections, while Kathy simply picked the teams from around Littlefield and Texas Tech, regardless of who they were playing. When it comes to High School games out of this area she asked her dad which town was the biggest, and picked that one to win. The college games were picked by taking the school she was most familiar with. So far her system has won her $12.50, which isn't bad in anyone's book.

This is just for the people of this country who work for the Communist Party of the United States. Do you wonder what happens to the high ranking members of the Party in Russia when they get too big and too powerful? Here is a list of top ranking members of the Party and former big wheels in Soviet politics.

Klementi Y. Voroshilov - A former president of the Soviet Union heard himself being denounced this week by Khrushchev. His fate is pending.

Lazar Kaganovich - A former deputy premier and brother-in-law of Stalin is living in retirement on a pension in Moscow. He is sometimes seen riding the subway that once bore his name to the Lenin library just outside the Kremlin walls.

Mikhail Perukhin - A former member of the party's ruling presidium, is currently the Soviet ambassador to communist East Germany.

Nicholas Bulganin - The former premier is the man Khrushchev replaced is reported living on a pension in a Moscow suburb.

Maxim Saburov - An economist who also was once a deputy premier and member of the presidium, was last reported working as a factory manager at a plant on the Volga River.

V. M. Molotov - The former foreign minister is residing in Vienna as the Soviet's No. 2 man to the International Atomic Energy Agency headquarters there. Charges were leveled against him also this week.

Dmitri Shepilov - A former foreign minister before he fell in disgrace, was sent to central Asia as director of an economic institute there.

Georgi M. Malenkov - The man who became premier after Stalin's death in 1954, and was later replaced by Bulganin. There has been little word of him since he was exiled to operate an obscure electric plant in the far reaches of Siberia. At last report he was still somewhere in the east.

Not that this list is complete as far as former big wheels are concerned because there is no mention of Marshal Zhuchov or former premier Beria, but they supposedly committed acts against the Party and were disposed of permanently. Is your position in the US Communist Party any more stable than some of these? Enough said.

Accidents took the lives of 51 school - age children in Texas during the 1960 - 61 school year, 17 less than the 68 recorded during the 1959 - 60 term. Forty nine of the 81 deaths were listed as "out of school" and were not related to the school accident record but 32 of the deaths resulted from accidents in school or on the way to and from school. Let's see if we can reduce this number by 17 more this year. Drive with care in or near the school grounds. The minute you lose while driving by a school may be a small child's life you save.

The Levelland football game will no longer be the last game of the season for the Littlefield Wildcats. Since Perryton joined the district 1-AAA, a shuffling took place because the new school didn't want to take the other district teams on during their open dates. Next season will be the first for the new schedule which has the Wildcats playing Perryton here on October 26, at Dumas, November 2, at Levelland, November 9, Hereford here, November 16 and Phillips here, November 23. Tradition has been broken in the schedule and we certainly hope it will help the Wildcats break the tradition of losing the last game and whip Levelland earlier in the season.

Wot d'ya mean, I have to choose between you an' baseball?

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. - City officials in Texas got a warning from Chief Engineer John Vandertulp of the State Board of Engineers.

He said Texas had better get moving on its water projects. Vandertulp's staff has just completed a water study outlining ways in which Texas cities and industries could meet their water needs for 1980. Half of the 14 reservoirs now under construction in Texas will be too small to supply their service areas by then.

Secretary of State Rusk, in a prepared statement, admitted differences between the Allies over Berlin, but stressed their complete agreement on defending "our vital interests" and the need to prepare for "a severe crisis" if one develops.

A spokesman for the French who regard our emphasis on negotiation as indicating weakness to the Kremlin said: "But we are all together in the same boat and we don't want to rock it."

Mr. Rusk also said he thinks Mr. K. understands "the seriousness of Western determination". Perhaps so. But we don't think the American people are too sure of it.

It is going to take $1,000,000-000 to build the reservoirs, treatment plants and distribution systems to provide water the Texas of 1980 will need. It will also take planning and working -- starting now, -- to get the 45 new reservoirs proposed by the Board of Water Engineers' plan built and full of water by or before 1980.

Plan is endorsed in most details by the U. S. Study Commission.

SALES TAX MODIFICATION - State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert thinks it's time to change the oil tax plan just adopted by the Legislature.

Constitution allocates the new sales tax on motor oil to the State Highway fund for road building. Consequently the corner service station man must keep books on this tax separately from sales taxes he collects for the State's general fund.

Calvert plans to suggest to the Legislature that this oil tax be levied at the jobber level, same as gasoline sales taxes. This will simplify bookkeeping and collecting.

Speaker James A. Turman agreed that there are inequities in the new sales tax which the Legislature should correct. First to talk openly about paying the tax under protest were the vending machine people. They can't collect sales tax on items selling for less than 25 cents, but they must pay sales tax on their gross sales.

Texas Merchandise Vending Association plans to ask for a court ruling.

LAST GO-ROUND - Sale of $25,000,000 in bonds for the Veterans Land Board completes the borrowing by the State government for that program. Voters authorized $200,000,000 to finance purchases of farms and ranches for veterans.

In the last year, about $37,500,000 has been invested in land since the program was revived after an increase in the authorized interest rate.

L. H. Page of Carthage, member of the Veterans Land Board estimated that veterans will pay enough extra interest that the state will have made $100,000,000 profit on this program by 2005. That is when the last loan is supposed to be paid off.

MORE STUDY - Governor Price Daniel asked the Legislature back into session in January. He wants up-to-date facts on the subject of regulation of interest rates and lenders. Regular session just could not reach agreement.

He will ask also for passage of a bill extending the new escheat enforcement procedures to unclaimed bank accounts in banks and savings institutions.

Speaker James A. Turman appointed a special House committee to make a follow-up study of escheat laws. Reps. Franklin Spears, San Antonio; Ted Springer, Amarillo; Richard C. Slack, Pecos; Paul Haring, Goliad; and Reed Quilliam, Lubbock, are its members.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS - Gov. Price Daniel assigned Dr. James A. Turman (no kin to Speaker Turman) Texas Youth Council director, and Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth to attend the National Governors' Conference and Delinquency and Youth Crime in Denver, Colorado.

They'll come back armed with arguments on why Texas needs juvenile parole officers in more than just the five biggest counties. That's extent of present program.

Governor Daniel is asking the Legislature to expand the five man juvenile parole set - up it created this year. Kennard has sponsored juvenile parole legislation.

FIRST RUNNER - Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock became the first candidate for lieutenant governor in the Democratic primary next May 5.

Smith, who served three terms in the House of Representatives, and five years in the Senate, ran third in the 1950 lieutenant governor's race. That was the year Ben Ramsey won the run-off and started the first of his six terms in the office.

Senator Smith, 49, is a theater operator.

HIGHWAY SPEEDUP - Faster feeding of federal-aid money into highway construction is reflected by the State Highway Department's monthly report.

As a recession-trimmer, U. S. cash was sent out faster than had been scheduled. On October 1, there were $325,000,000 worth of highway construction contracts outstanding in Texas averaging at just about 50 percent completion.

During last month, highway contractors completed $10,684,270 worth of new construction. Figure doesn't include the maintenance work the Highway Department does.

The electroplating industry in both the United States and Europe used substantially more nickel in 1960, mainly as a result of the use of improved plating techniques which produced higher quality nickel plating.

By varying the nickel contents, alloys of either low or high coefficients of expansion can be produced.
