

WEST TEXANS VOICE DISGUST AT STRIKES

They Don't Care on Whose Toes They Stomp.... and the Harder They Stomp the Happier They'll Be

West Texans... in true West style... straight from the older language... are making themselves heard way east in the U. S. Capitol... and they will give a whoop on whose toes they happen to stomp... and the harder they stomp the happier they'll be. AND HOW! West Texas men giving their defense of their country in the United Nations, West Texans are not choosy in voicing their disgust at "ringleaders in labor and management" who are causing "strikes and curtailing of factories to five days a week."

been sent to Washington by Lamson and Brownfield, and perhaps other West Texas cities have done the same thing. And it is expected that additional West Texas towns will send similar messages.

Ready For Action

The Brownfield message to Washington, sponsored by the Rotary club of that city, declared that there were 500 Terry county men ready to take the field against malcontents in labor and management.

The Terry county petition declared that "if Congress will pass laws to make it legal and you will call on us, we are ready to go anywhere in the U. S. A. and furnish the transportation, guns and bullets and kill them, (the malcontents) free of charge to the government."

500 Sign Petition

Here is the announcement issued from Brownfield, relative to the petition:

Terry county's faith in President Roosevelt and in the free institutions of a democracy at war is flexible beyond the "all out"—as may be evidenced from an offer contained in a 500-signature petition.

The strongly-worded petition telegraphed to the president and to Sen. Tom Conally and Cong.

George Mahon, voiced disgust at "ringleaders in both labor and management" who are causing "strikes and curtailing output of factories to five days a week", and made this offer:

"We have boys who lost their lives at Pearl Harbor and others are at scattered points and they will give a good account of themselves if given ships, planes and other modern equipment to fight with.

"When we hear of strikes and factories running only five days a week it makes us so mad that we are ready to shoot or murder somebody, if we only knew who to shoot.

"We are sure you are in possession of the information as to who these ring leaders are, in both labor and management, and if Congress will pass laws to make it legal and you will call on us, we are ready to go anywhere in the USA and furnish the transportation, guns and bullets and kill them free of charge to the government."

Explaining that Terry county could furnish approximately 500 men and that "all you have to do to get them is just to ask them where to report," the telegram further said:

"We are ready to get into this war to our necks, and we want everybody else to get into it—and those that do not want to get in it we want to kill them out, since they have no right to live here.

Hitting at labor and capital malcontents throughout the length of the long telegram, the petition further said:

"We think that a majority of Labor and Management is strong for the government, but we think that they are being held down by the ring leaders of both and that these ring leaders are eating away at our very vitals and that something ought to be done about it quickly.

Drilling Starts In Fieldton Oil Test

Drilling of Lamb county's first wildcat oil test, on the northern of the Permian Basin, is under way.

The test is being drilled for the Shell Oil and Gas Co., and is known as No. 1 J. W. Hopping, 660 feet east and 660 feet north of the southwest corner of section 10 block T. T. A. Thompson surmounting a short distance southeast of town.

The location is 160 feet northeast of the sheep corral and approximately 250 or 300 yards northeast of the residence on the property.

The contract, which was awarded to Noble Drilling Corporation of Oklahoma, provides for a depth of 500 feet, which some geologists believe is sufficiently deep to test possibly to the granitic Davis is the head driller. The tools operated by Diesel electric motors are being used.

Drilling was started Tuesday and by early Wednesday had reached a depth of 100 feet had been attained. By 6 p. m. Wednesday a depth of between 450 and 500 feet had been reached.

Much Interest In Test

Great interest has developed in the Fieldton test, and visitors are flocking to the location.

A rumor was in circulation this week that the Gulf Refining Co. had drilled a test on the Halsell tract, a portion of which is under lease to the Gulf, but this report is not confirmed. A third test also was discussed but the particulars were not available. Those who are close to the oil development are of the opinion that additional tests will not be started until at least some facts are known concerning the present test.

An investigation this week is being brought to light any proposed activity in leasing or the sale of royalty. Activity in that connection also will depend on the developments at the test well.

Neal A. Douglass, Pioneer Littlefield Resident, Dies

Passes Away After Lengthy Illness At Austin Sunday

Pioneer Of City Since 1915; Established First Newspaper In Littlefield

Neal A. Douglass, Sr., 76, South Plains pioneer and former newspaper publisher, passed away Sunday morning March 15 at 6 o'clock at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Neal A. Douglass, Jr., at Austin, after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Douglass had been suffering from high blood pressure for the past three years, and due to this ailment was obliged to live in a lower climate—hence he had been making his home at Austin. About six weeks ago he was stricken with pneumonia, but after ten days in an Austin Hospital, his condition was much improved, and he was taken to the home of his son. He was apparently recovering nicely from pneumonia when death came suddenly Sunday.

The remains were accompanied to Littlefield by train by Neal A. Douglass, Jr., arriving Monday.

Selecting Planting Seed

(AN EDITORIAL)

Low germination, together with the scarcity of seed, renders it advisable and necessary that farmers take special precautions this year in the selection of planting seed, both cotton and sorghums.

The cause for the existence of low germination has not been determined, but it is believed to be due to the excessive rains of last year.

Seed is scarce this year, and farmers will not be able to obtain a supply for several plantings in the event that they fail to get a stand.

The safe procedure, to be reasonably sure of a good stand, farmers are advised, is to rely on the findings of the state seed laboratories at Texas Tech or Austin, or any seed laboratory. Seed are tested at these laboratories and tags giving the germination are issued.

In purchasing seed, farmers are urged to see that the seed they are buying is not too low in germination.

Farmers who plan to plant seed they retained from last year's cotton and sorghum crops, are urged to have their seed tested for germination at the Tech or Austin laboratories, or any seed laboratory. Under ordinary conditions, testing the seed probably would be considered as unnecessary, but on account of the low germination last year seed testing this year is almost crop insurance. Seed of too low germination will produce only a sickly stand, and this year it will be virtually impossible to obtain seed for additional plantings.

Seed men point out that kafir and cane are running higher in germination this year than other seed, and that seed possessing kafir blood this year possesses a higher degree of germination.

On account of the labor shortage, there is a trend toward the combine types of grain sorghums, and quite a large number of farmers are interested in planting seed of that character.

The general seed situation this year can be summed up in a few words:

Know what you plant and make as certain as you can that you will not have to resort to additional plantings in order to obtain a satisfactory stand.

'VICTORY' TAXATION

Those of us who can get pleasure from hitting our heads against a wall "because it feels so good when you stop," can probably get a lot of enjoyment out of reading about the proposed new income tax. It will make this year's contribution to the government appear so small by comparison.

The new taxes so far are just in the discussion stage, but it may not be long before we are actually paying them. For, instead of waiting until next March to collect on our 1942 incomes, the current suggestion is that part of the tax be deducted from wages beginning the first of July.

If the present plan goes through, most of us will pay about double what we paid this month. But whether Mr. Morgenthau's plan is accepted or some other is substituted, we are all going to be turning back a big chunk of our income to the government. In addition to increased taxes, we will also pay heavy taxes on luxuries and may have to contribute four per cent, instead of the present 1 per cent, to Social Security.

There is no doubt that rich and poor alike will find the new taxes a real burden.

But—again for the benefit of the man who enjoys the thrill of ceasing to hit his head against the wall—he can feel glad that he isn't an Englishman. For taxes paid in Britain make even our proposed taxes seem moderate. Under Mr. Morgenthau's plan, a man with two children and an income of $2,500 will pay a $32 tax and a man with an income of $5,000 income will pay a tax of $587. In England, those men would pay, respectively, $530 and $1,655 a year.

Most of us aren't frightened by new tax proposals. We don't want to contribute all we'll be called upon to do if it's going to be wasted, but if the tax program will be, as Mr. Morgenthau anticipates, "an instrument of victory", we'll all dig down to the bottom of our pockets and still consider it a bargain.

HOARDING MONEY

The hoarding of money is the latest problem on our home front and one of the most difficult problems with which to deal.

It seems that until recently the amount of money in circulation in this country averaged between six and seven billion dollars a year. But now there is between 11 and 12 billion dollars in pockets, tin boxes and perhaps buried in back yards.

It is believed that considerable of this hoarded money has been hidden away by foreigners in this country who have seen bank deposits seized in their homelands and fear similar action here.

There is, of course, no reason for such fear in the United States and there is no reason to think that dollar bills are any more secure than defense bonds. The chief difference between U. S. currency and government bonds is that the bonds pay interest and the currency doesn't.

But the hoarding of money does create a serious problem in that it holds a possible threat of excessive spending and inflation at any time.

If it continues, people who have hoarded money may be forced to report it or turn it in, in very much the same way which they are now being required to report their hoards of sugar. One way that this could be done would be to require that old currency, before a certain date or the holder would be liable to a heavy fine when the money is released.

Ordinarily, what we do with our money is our own business. But, if a group of people act to take a sizable amount of money out of circulation, it could disrupt our whole economic system. Our economic system is having enough difficulties to way without permitting this new one to gain too much headway.

So if any of us want to bury money away for a rainy day, let's bury it in the form of defense bonds instead of currency. Then it will keep growing while it is out of circulation and when we dig it up, in ten years or so, every $18.75 bond will be worth $25.

W.N.U. RELEASE

CHAPTER IX

SYNOPSIS

Despite Leonard Borland's protests that his bank account is ample, though the contracting business in New York is dead, his pretty, opera-struck wife Doris resumes her "career," interrupted by her marriage at 19 and the birth of two children. Borland knows her avowed purpose, to bolster the family income, is just another subterfuge. Hugo Lorentz, her teacher, always around, irritates her. After Doris gives a recital, Cecil Carver, opera singer, phones Borland. At her hotel, Cecil says Doris has a good voice but lacks style. Cecil is to sing for war veterans but hasn't the sing for a certain song. He sings it and she says he has a fine baritone voice. Cecil knows of Doris through Lorentz, says Hugo is hopelessly in love with Doris, and that Doris tortures every man she gets in her clutches. Leonard ought to wake her up by giving a recital, she says. "Go get yourself a triumph," Cecil demands payment for lessons—kisses. He pays but declares he loves his wife. He spends much time with Cecil, making good progress. While she is on tour she wires him, he sends in upstate recitals, makes a hit and she gets him an engagement with an opera company. Again he makes good and tearfully Cecil, telling him she loves him, says he can now bring Doris to his feet. He refuses a new contract. A movie audience gives Doris the "bird." She says she's no good and that she loves Leonard. Cecil says a bad good-bye to Leonard but warns him Doris isn't "licked."

When I got back to the house the kids were home and came running downstairs and said did I know we were all going that night to hear Mamma sing. I said there had been a little change in the plans on that, and they were a little down in the mouth, but I said I had brought presents for them, and that fixed it up and we went running up to get them. I went in the nursery where I'd left my bag. It wasn't there. Then I heard Doris call, and we went in the bedroom. "Were you looking for something?" "Yes. Are you awake?" "Been awake . . . You might find it there."

"Where did you go?" "Just down to the office for the mail." "No, but I mean—" "Oh—Rochester, Chicago, Indianapolis, and around. Thought it was about time to look things over." "Did you have a nice trip?" "Only fair."

"You certainly took plenty of glad rags." "Just in case. Didn't really need them." Christine called the kids, and they went out. I went over to her and took her in my arms. "Why didn't you want Nils poking around?" "Well—do you want him?" "No."

"We both laughed, and she put her head against mine and let her hair fall over my face, and made a little opening in front of my mouth and kissed me through that. Oh, don't think Doris couldn't be a sweet armful when she wanted to."

I kept letting her hair fall over my face and holding her a little tighter, and then all of a sudden she jumped up. "Oh, hell! The cocktail party!" "What cocktail party?" "Gwenney Blair's cocktail party. I said I'd drop in before the supper show, and I had completely forgotten it. The supper show—think of that! Wasn't it the darling the trouper then? My, that seems long time ago. And it was only this morning."

"Oh, let's skip it." "What! And have them think I'm crying of grief? I should say not! We're going, and we're going quick. We can leave before the whole job gets there. Hurry up! Get dressed!"

I always loved Doris when she topped the act and came out as the calculating little wretch that she really was. She heard me laugh, and laughed too. "Right." She was dressed in five minutes flat, and for once she had to wait for me.

"Wound, my eye! Leonard, nothing has happened! It's just something that can happen to anybody."

it out without batting an eye: "But I flopped! I'm an ex-headliner!" "You—I Come on. Stop being funny!" "I flopped, I'm out. They gave me my notice."

"How could you flop?" "Oh please, please, don't ask me—it just breaks my heart. And now I can't go to Bermuda! Honestly, it's not the principle of the thing, it's the money! Think of all those lovely, lovely dollars that I'm not going to get!"

She didn't lie about it, or pretend that she had done better than she had done or pretty it up in any way. She had too much sense for that. But in twenty seconds she had them switched off from the horrible part and had managed to work it in that she must have been getting a terrific price to go on at all, and had it going her way. Leighton came in while she was talking, and said the publicity was all wrong and he was going to do something about it. They all agreed that was it, and in five minutes they were talking about football.

She drifted over to me. "Well, that's over. Was it all right?" "Perfect." "Damn them." "Just a few minutes, and we'll blow . . . We've still got my bag to unpack."

She nodded, and looked at me, and let her lashes drop over her eyes. It was Eve looking at the apple, and my heart began to pound and the room swam. Lorentz came in. He didn't come over. He waved and smiled, and Doris waved back, but looked away quick. "I'm a little out of humor with Hugo. He must have known. You did, didn't you? He could have given me some little hint!"

I thought of what he had said, but I didn't say anything. We got separated then, but pretty soon she had me by the arm, pulling me into a corner. "We've got to go. Make it quick with Gwenney, and then—out!"

"Why, sure. But what's the matter?" "The fool!" "Who?" "Gwenney. I could kill her. She knows how crazy I've been about that woman and how I've wanted to meet her, and now, today of all days, she had to pick out—she's invited her! And she's coming!"

"What woman?" "Cecil Carver! I can't meet her today. I can't have her—pitying me! Can I?" "No. We'll blow."

"I'll meet you at the elevator—oh, my! There she is!" I looked around, and Cecil was just coming in the room. I turned back to Doris, and she wasn't there. She was with Wilkins—Cecil, I mean. That meant she was going to sing. There wasn't much talk while Gwenney was taking her around. They piped down, and waited. I was still in the corner and she didn't see me until Gwenney called me out. She caught her breath. Gwenney introduced me, and I said, "How do you do, Miss Carver," and she said, "How do you do, Mr. Borland," and they went on. But in a minute she came back. "Why didn't you tell me you were coming here?" "I didn't know it."

"Is she here?" "Didn't Gwenney tell you?" "No." "It was on her account she asked you." "Her account?" "She's wanted to meet you. So I just found out."

"Gwenney asked you, as a big favor to her. But Gwenney hadn't heard about the flop, and, on account of the flop, she'd rather not. Just—prefers some other time."

"And that's all?" "Yeah, but it was an awful flop." "You're sure you haven't told her about me? Gone and got all full of contrition, and made a clean breast of it and wiped the slate clean—have you? Have you?" "No, not a word."

She turned and headed back toward the bedrooms. "Cecil!" I called. "She had a flop, didn't she? Then I guess I'm the one she wants to walk to." She went on back. I went over and had a drink. I needed one.

I was on my third when she came back, and I went over to her. "What happened?" "Nothing." "What did you say?" "Told her to forget it. Told her it could happen to anybody—which it can, baby, and don't you forget it."

"What did you say?" "Asked if it had ever happened to me. I told her it had . . . She's not bad. I halfway like her." She still didn't look at me, but I had the same old feeling about her, of how swell she was, and thought I'd die if I couldn't let her know.

She nodded a little. Cecil, can I say something?" "Leonard, I cut my heart out after you left. I cut it out and put it in the electric refrigerator, to freeze. So if you've got anything to say you'd better go down there and see if it can still hear you. Me. I've got other things to do. I've got to be gay and sing tra-la-lala, and get my talons into the first man that—"

She saw Lorentz then, went running over to him, put her arms around him and kissed him, and pulled him into a corner. It was gay, maybe, but it didn't make me feel any better. Doris came out then and I hurried to her, and asked if she was ready to go.

"Oh—the tooth's out now. I think she's going to sing. Let's stay." "Oh—you saw her, Leonard?" "She came back to powder. I didn't start it. She remembered me. She came to my recital, you may recall."

"Oh, yes. Well—did you like her?" "Leonard, she's everything I ever thought she was and about a thousand times more. She had heard about it. My flop, I mean. One minute, Leonard, and she had made a different woman of me."

"Poured oil in the wound, hey?" "Wound, my eye! Leonard, nothing has happened! It's just something that can happen to anybody. It has happened to her; it happens to them all. You take a drink and you forget about it."

City Schools To Be Represented At Teachers Meet

Friday, March 20 has been declared a holiday for the Littlefield Public Schools by the local Board of Trustees in order that the teachers may attend the annual meeting of the West Texas Teachers Association which convenes in Lubbock on that date.

This holiday has been declared by the Board, mindful of the present national emergency. An excellent program, including discussions by national Leaders, has been arranged and the local Board feels that the teachers should have the opportunity to get the inspiration and leadership at this time in order that they may better meet their responsibilities through the critical period.

Prominent speakers on the program will be Dr. John E. Brown, President, John Brown University; Dr. Willard Frasier, President, Colorado College of Education; Dr. Homer P. Rainey, President of our own University of Texas.

Several Littlefield teachers will participate on the program, Mr. J. Ernest Jones, Principal of the local Elementary School, has been invited to discuss "Safety in the Transportation of School Children." Miss Wiginton will appear on the program with a Group of twenty of her sixth grade pupils demonstrating the use of the film-projector in the class room. Miss Ranelle Chaney, Speech Teacher in the local High School is listed on the program to be held for speech teachers.

F. A. Hemphill, Superintendent of the local Public Schools, is Vice-President of the WTTA.

Mancill Hall, local automobile dealer, has been invited by the Association to direct group singing on Friday evening, March 20.

Lon Smith, President of the local Board of Trustees, was invited to address members of the Board of Trustees from throughout the Association's district, but was unable to accept the invitation because of conflicting plans made earlier.

Littlefield teachers appearing on the program have been so recognized because of some particular success or special study concerning the assignment which they have. Mr. Ernest Jones discussion will grow out of a special study which he has made concerning the safety an transportation of school children. Miss Chaney and Miss Wiginton have been recognized for special achievement in the phases of work which they will discuss and demonstrate.

It is expected that all Littlefield teachers will attend the Association meeting and Superintendent F. A. Hemphill has asked the local Parent-Teacher Association to send delegates to the Convention. In extending the invitation to the PTA Mr. Hemphill said that it is quite important that parents and patrons become familiar with the public educational program at this time as well as it is important for the teachers to enlarge their point of view. The Convention, which will open with the first general session Friday morning at nine o'clock in the Lub-

Lamb To Get Food Stamp Plan Soon

Judge Stanley A. Doss and County Commissioners M. D. Abbott, Jack Crawford and Lewis attended a meeting at the municipal courtroom, Lubbock, Tuesday, when C. B. Hodges of Austin, state supervisor for the Food Stamp plan, was present, and details were worked out to include the Counties of Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Dawson and Scurry.

Besides representatives from Lamb County, representatives attended the conference from other counties in the South Plains district.

Participating in the conferences with the state supervisor were E. C. McBryde, assistant state supervisor; William McKelvey, formerly issuing officer for the stamp plan in Lubbock who now is office manager at Austin; Forrest Wright, Lubbock area supervisor; and Dan Boyd, Amarillo area supervisor.

The plan has been operating in Lubbock and Hale counties since September, 1940, and during that time nearly $1,000,000 worth of food has been purchased with stamps in the two counties. More than half of it has been business which the participating retail food handlers would not have had without the plan, officials emphasize.

It was intimated at the meeting that the plan would likely be operated by mail out of the Amarillo administrative office.

This would be done, according to Mr. Hodges, for a two-fold reason. One would be the savings in administrative expenses. The other would be the convenience of participants in the plan, who, according to Hodges, "will be as close to the stamp issuing office as to their mail box."

He added that the mail system of handling the stamp plan is by no means an experiment. Six entire states are served by mail. In the Texas Panhandle, 19 counties either are being served in that manner or will be soon, the state supervisor reported.

LITTLEFIELD WILDCATS WIN TRACK MEET BEFORE LARGE CROWD HERE FRIDAY

Notes From County Agent

I think we can expect some trouble from grasshoppers in our county this summer. You will recall that thousands of hoppers came in here last fall and many of them laid eggs here.

With favorable weather and even competition, the Littlefield "Wildcats" won their initial meet Friday the 13th, before a record crowd.

Robbins of Levelland was high point man, with 16.7 points. Benton of Sudan scored 11 points and did some excellent pole vaulting.

Littlefield scored 41.5 points, Levelland 26.9, Lamesa, the only AA school, was third with 26.5 points.

Other teams and points are: Olton 25.7, Sudan 12.5, Springlake 11.2, Tahoka 6, and Anton 4.

Littlefield scored in the following events: Pole Vaulting, Babe Hammons and Roy Hutson tied for second and third and Gene Clark was fourth.

440 Yard Dash, Calvin Carpenter tied for second. Odell Robertson won first in the Discus Throw.

Littlefield won the 440 Yard Relay with Jimmie Yarbrough, Floyd Holberg, Gene Clark and Roy Hutson carrying the baton.

In the final event, the One Mile Relay, Calvin Carpenter, Calvin Lipard, Floyd Holberg, and Roy Hutson placed first with Olton a close second.

The Lamb County Administrators voted to have the county track meet at Littlefield, Saturday, April 4.

The best time to poison hoppers is within a week after they have hatched out, so keep your eyes open and prepare to poison your hoppers when the job is the easiest.

If you haven't fixed up that garden spot, do it right away. Remember food products are becoming increasingly more important, and also higher in price.

We would still like to hear from more farmers who are interested in planting peanuts, castor beans, and sugar beets, particularly peanuts.

Under normal conditions we would not recommend the planting of these crops, but our government needs them in the production of war materials and I feel that we should make some sacrifice to provide the materials so badly needed.

Thirty-six Lamb County 4-H boys have their entries in for the Littlefield Show on March 28. Other 4-H Club boys and FFA boys who plan to show animals should get their entries in to Mr. W. B. McAlister, Secretary of the show by March 20th.

Mr. Leston F. Bain arrived in Amherst the first part of the week to assume his duties as County Administrative Officer in charge of the Triple A. Program of Lamb County.

Starting next Monday, March 23 we will hold a series of community meetings for the purpose of discussing changes in the AAA program for the year and bring that up to date, and other important matters and agricultural problems that are affecting the farmers in the production of war materials.

The following schedule of meetings will be held: Monday night, March 23, Amherst; Tuesday, March 24, Littlefield and Sudan; Wednesday, March 25, Spade and Pep; Thursday, March 26, Springlake and Fieldton; Friday, March 27, Olton and Hartcamp. All meetings will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. We want women to attend these meetings as well as the men.

GEN. MACARTHUR COMMENDS FORCES IN S. W. PACIFIC

The dramatic transfer of General Douglas MacArthur, hero of Bataan, to supreme command of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific gave a lift to Allied morale Tuesday and stirred hopes of early offensive blows against the Japanese foe.

MacArthur, only Allied general who has fought a major Japanese drive to a standstill, arrived in Australia Tuesday by plane, the War department disclosed. His gallant defense of the Philippines already an epic, the fighting general was shifted to his new command with its vastly greater responsibilities and wider opportunities, by the orders of President Roosevelt and at the request of the Australian government.

C. H. Calvert of north of Littlefield underwent an operation for Appendicitis Tuesday afternoon at the Littlefield Hospital, and is getting along nicely.

Names, Numbers In New Draft Call To Be Printed Soon

At Washington Tuesday Number 3485 was the first drawn in the new war's first draft's lottery, intended said Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, to add "millions to that pool of men who stand ready for selection for the necessary tasks, whatever they might be."

Hershey stressed that some of the 9,000,000 men involved in the lottery might be drafted to man factories while their comrades manned guns.

The first number was drawn by Secretary of War Stimson from among 7,000 slips encased in opaque green St. Patrick's day capsules. It meant that among the men who registered on February 16, those holding that serial number would be first in their districts to be called for possible service.

Navy Secretary Knox drew the second number 2850, and the third 4301, was pulled out by Rep. May (D-Ky) of the House military committee.

Names and numbers of all Lamb County men who registered February 16 will be printed in the Leader as soon as the County Draft Board can release this information. This newspaper will then publish each man's name, his serial number and his call number, thus making it unnecessary for registrants to go to the draft board for information.

The local Draft Board already have serial numbers drawn up. As soon as they receive master sheets from Washington based on Tuesday night's drawing, they will list each man's call number and turn the official information over to the Lamb County Leader for publication.

These master sheets are expected to arrive within ten or 12 days, and publication of the information should be within two weeks.

SCHEDULE FOR COUNTY MEET IS ANNOUNCED

From the Littlefield Public Schools comes this announcement of the schedule of athletic events to be held as a part of the County Meet this year:

Tennis: All Juniors at Amherst, 9:30 a. m. March 28, for the drawing and beginning. All Seniors at Sudan, 9:30 a. m., March 28, for the drawing and beginning.

Volley Ball: Preliminaries at Olton and Amherst, 7 p. m. March 28. Littlefield, Amherst, and Sudan will compete at Amherst. Spring Lake, Olton, Spade, Fieldton, and Hart Camp will go to Olton for preliminaries.

Littlefield's first preliminary competition will be with Amherst, there, at 8 p. m. Finals will be with Sudan April 3 at 8 p. m.

Boys Track Meet will be at Littlefield Saturday, April 4. High school and ward school junior boys will participate at 10 a. m.; senior boys at 1:30 p. m.

Travis Gaither left recently for Los Angeles, where he is in training at an Airplane school, taking a six week's course. He then expects to secure employment in an airplane factory.

Palatine, Texas, March 18, (UP) —Grandma Warren just stays home and tends to her own knittin'.

And 'cause she does, friends of Mrs. J. N. Warren, who will be 77 a month from now, nominate her as the nation's champion knitter.

Mrs. Warren, nearly everyone hereabouts calls her Grandma, doesn't have much to say for herself. She can't spare her knitting time to talk. But her knitting record during the first World War and thus far in the second speaks for itself. It's something to make a woolen manufacturer sit up and take notice.

Grandma Warren has just finished her 101st men's sweater since the Red Cross started its knitting program for the British in the summer of 1940.

That's not all. In her "spare time" she has turned out many other garments—sweaters, jackets, dresses, scarfs, turbans and baby shoes for her children, her grandchildren and for some of her many friends.

Her nimble fingers, say those who know her intimately, "just never seem to grow tired."

Grandma Warren is an amateur knitter except on rare occasions. She does most of her work for the Red Cross, most of the rest for relatives and close friends. Only a few times has she commercialized on her talents to knit dresses for pay.

More than two decades ago, during World War I, she produced more than 500 knitted garments—she kept no record of the exact number. She knitted sweaters, socks, helmets, wristlets and scarfs for men in the services. And now she is doing the same thing again.

A virtual shut-in because of rheumatism, Grandma Warren knits because she loves it. In the well-lighted corner of her living room, beside the fireplace, she usually is "at work" by 7 a. m. She finishes her daily

Last Rites For Mother Of Carl Walker Thursday

Mrs. J. D. Hager, 76, mother of Carl Walker of this city, passed away suddenly Wednesday afternoon, March 11, at 5 o'clock, at her home in Lockney, Texas.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, Lockney, with the pastor officiating; and interment took place in the Lockney cemetery.

Mr. Walker went to Lockney Tuesday on learning of her illness, and Mrs. Walker joined her husband Wednesday.

Mrs. Hager suffered a fractured hip in a fall about a year ago, and had been in ill health since. She was confined to her bed, however, only a week when death came.

Besides Mr. Walker, she is survived by another son, Andy Walker of Crosbyton, and a daughter, Mrs. Leona Richardson of Plainview; four step-daughters, Mrs. Elmer Jones, Mrs. Roy Baker and Miss Myrtle Haager of Ralls, and Mrs. Minnie Petty of New Mexico; and four brothers, John and Billy Pate of Sherman; and Jodye and Jim Pate of Milan, Texas.

MISSIONARY INQUIRES ABOUT MAKING ITEMS

Mrs. Elsie B. Green, local Assistant Project Supervisor of the House-keeping Aide Project, recently received a letter from Miss Helen Pearl Scott, a missionary near Livingston, Northern Rhodesia, South Africa, asking a number of questions about furniture which has been made in the project. She inquired how we made a dresser using boxes, how boxes could be converted into other useful articles of furniture, and wanted suggestions for arranging a washing unit in a room or house where water is not piped.

Miss Green and Miss Scott have been friends for several years. They are both graduates of Abilene Christian College, though attended at different times. Miss Green was teaching in Abilene two of the years Miss Scott was in school there.

Red Cross Work Is Outlined

The War Production Committee of the Lamb County Chapter of the American Red Cross is very proud to submit to the people of the county the following report of progress:

The work of this committee was begun about October 1st, 1941, and since that time, through the efforts of the interested women of the county the following garments have been completed and shipped to Red Cross Depots: 75 hospital shirts, 106 layettes (comprising some 3000 garments for babies), 270 girls' skirts, 137 sweaters and 7 baby quilts. There are about 150 girls' dresses ready for shipment, as well as 35 skirts, 35 sweaters and a few layettes. Still to be completed are some 36 skirts, 100 dresses, 30 sweaters, 24 caps and 24 pair of socks.

The different units working with in the county under the supervision of the following chairmen: Amherst, Mrs. Jack Yarbrough; Fieldton, Mrs. Ray Blessing; Earth, Mrs. Herman Haberer, Hart's Camp, Mrs. C. P. Montgomery, Olton, Mrs. I. B. Holt; Littlefield, Mrs. John Hanks and Mrs. Ed Hewitt; Spade, Mrs. W. E. Bentley, and Sudan, Mrs. F. C. Broyles, have indeed done splendid work. Demonstration Clubs, Study Clubs, Legion Auxiliaries and other groups have co-operated in every possible way. In fact, the work done by the women in Lamb county has shown that they realize the importance of united efforts in these times of war. The work accomplished has been received by Headquarters with this comment: "Your Chapter is to be commended upon having reached its quota in such a short time and you have reason to

E. H. Riese, Pastor

Love is the word that is used a great deal in everyday life. Too often we don't know what actually love is. Jesus, the world's Savior, showed by His own example what true love is. He was God. He came into this world as a man; He was the God-man, who in the course of His Life suffered and died on the cross as man's Substitute, to save man from sin. While Jesus suffered on the cross He gave us a lesson on love by displaying it in such a way that our hearts are touched by it. On the cross Jesus paid the price of love for His enemies, for a notorious sinner, and for His own people. Next Sunday the pastor will preach on the topic: "The Price of Love which Jesus Paid on the Cross". The public is invited to this service at 11:45 a. m.

NOTES FROM COUNTY H-D AGENT

MISS BEATRICE McCURDY

With food prices going on the rise, the homemakers can help keep their families healthy and at the same time serve their pocketbooks by eating the right food, preparing part of it all in some ingenious, buying food wisely, and serving food correctly and attractively.

Every person needs one serving of whole grain products and other cereals as desired every day. Home Demonstration Club women know and have been preparing more whole grain dishes in their homes. They want you to join them in serving your families.

In defense to the coming generation, adults should keep their conversation about war calm and reassuring for undue alarm and pessimism may do much harm to children in the household. Calm courage and adults will save children from their fears and worry.

Family life must be protected. Adults are being called upon to spend more and more time outside the home on defense jobs, and children left at home alone more. It should be the aim of every parent to give the children the waste paper, saving oil lights etc.

Most important of all is the feeling that this work gives the child—that he is needed and that along with all the other people and him, is doing his bit in the victory program.

This recipe for Dried Apple Betty (with any favorite sauce) will be greeted favorably by the family. Use a casserole with part of 2T. margarine or butter. Mix 1-2 c sugar and 2 t. cinnamon. Make alternate layers of 3 c. dried apples, baked 8 to 12 hours, but not cooked, 2 cups dry whole wheat bread 1-2 inch cubes, in the casserole, top apples on top. Sprinkle each layer of apples with the sugar mixture and dot with the remainder margarine or butter. Pour 1-2 of hot water down the side of dish. A little more water may be needed if the bread is very dry. Cover the casserole and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F until the apples are tender, about 30 minutes. Serve hot with sauce.

Nutmeg Sauce is good over Betty—Mix 1-3 cup sugar, 1-4 t. cinnamon and 1-8 t. salt. Melt 2 t. butter, add 2 t. flour and stir until smooth. Add 2 cups of milk and sugar mixture to this. Cook while stirring till the sauce boils 2 minutes.

FARM COOPERATIVES OF FURNITURE ARE ON INCREASE

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Mar. 15—(UP)—Farm cooperatives are on the increase in Texas.

During 1941 the number of farmer cooperatives increased by 51 to a total of 855, C. E. Bowles of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service reported today.

On the new business organizations, 21 were cooperative gin associations, six were established primarily to buy farm supplies, four were cooperatives of dairymen, three were for marketing fruits and vegetables, three were cotton marketing associations, and the remaining 14 were organized to handle a variety of agricultural commodities.

Outstanding in the year's development was the consumers purchasing association, Bowles said. New ones were organized at Dallas and Corpus Christi during the year, whereas the movement had been confined almost entirely to the western part of the state for two decades.

"Farmers are finding their cooperatives helpful in stepping up production of foods and vital fats and oil in an all-out war effort," Bowles said. "Nine are producing cheese and other high quality dairy products, and others are concentrating and processing poultry and eggs. More than 70 are storing huge stocks of wheat and rice for food reserves. Others are furnishing electricity to farmers, ginning their cotton, crushing their cottonseed, providing fire protection, producing credit and otherwise increasing the efficiency of Texas farmers."

Bowles believed that the spirit of farmer cooperatives is typified in the Plains Cooperative, Inc., of Plainview. In 1941 it manufactured 1,260,000 pounds of high quality cheese for home food and shipment to allied countries. Not content with this contribution to the war effort, the 4,500 farmer members agreed

Recruiting 'Female of Species'

A huge federal campaign to train women and girls to take the place of men in war industry has been started. The U. S. civil service commission here begins to recruit women to work in the Philadelphia navy yard, Frankford arsenal, ordnance and signal corps departments. In the group above are, left to right, H. W. Roughley, shop foreman, and Lieut. F. D. Rohmer, as they go over the final examination of the cylinder heads. The girl is Ida Ungered.

CORK SEEDLINGS BEING PLANTED BY TEXAS A. & M.

Cork oak acorns and seedlings are being planted by scientists of Texas A. & M. College as part of a long range program to test suitability of Texas soils to this foreign tree whose shortage is causing concern in parts of the government's rearmament program.

The A. & M. College project is being conducted in cooperation with the University of California, which furnished the cork oak seedlings and acorns.

Fifty seedlings are being planted on state forests in Newton and Cherokee counties and at the college, D. A. Anderson, research chief of the Texas Forest Service, said. One hundred and fifty acorns were sown at the college by Dr. S. H. Yarnell, horticulture chief, of the Texas Experiment Station. When the seedlings have sprouted they will be planted on experiment station farms and state forests in various sections of the state.

Cork is the outer layer of bark obtained from cork oak. It is used by the army to make gaskets and washers for engines, in airplanes, motor vehicles and tanks, for cartridge plugs and bomb parts, and for cold storage insulation. The Navy also uses it for life preservers and to prevent sweating in submarines.

The richest and most productive cork forests are in Portugal and Spain, but the trees also grows in southern France, Italy, Sardinia, Morocco, Algiers, and Tunis, all within a restricted area along the coast of the western Mediterranean.

It is not native in the United States but has been successfully planted in California, and 284 trees from which part of the seeds were gathered for the A. & M. College experiment, yielded more than 10,000 pounds of cork in 1940.

Officials of the Crown Cork and Seal Company of Baltimore, Maryland, tested this yield and said it "compared favorably with good grade imported cork."

The bark can be harvested from trees as young as 15 years old, but the suitable stripping age is nearer 20 to 30 years. The bark is harvested every six to eleven years. Young trees generally produce the best quality cork.

Stripping does not injure the growth but seems to stimulate both wood and bark. The first stripping called "virgin cork" is inferior and used only for granulated cork.

Each tree yields from 45 pounds to 500 pounds depending on its age and growing condition. The bark varies from 1-2 inch to 2 1-2 inches thick.

In the United States about 69 per cent of the cork utilized goes into refrigeration, on account of its being a poor heat conductor.

Cork is used widely for gaskets and washers for engines, which account for about 15 per cent of the total consumption. Another 11 per cent goes into linoleum.

Other uses for cork include bottle stoppers, floats and innersoles for shoes.

In 1940 the United States bought 318,336,000 pounds of unmanufactured cork, but imports fell sharply in the first quarter of 1941, with the blockade of many European ports.

In June, the OPM took over control of the industry because of the serious cork shortage.

Naval officers are no longer required to own swords because there are more urgent needs for the metals.

Midshipmen usually gain five pounds their first month at the Naval Academy and 20 pounds in 3 years.

Cuts Year-Round Costs!

In ANY Tractor

Oil consumption is an important yardstick in measuring most of your tractor costs. And it takes few crankcase check-ups to prove the many economies of 150-Hour Veedol. You soon learn that here is an oil that far outlasts 60- and 75-hour oils in distillate burning tractors... an oil that actually gives 150 hours of positive protection in modern gasoline-driven tractors before draining is required.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist Church, Monday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, with Rev. J. H. Sharp, Pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Roy Shahan, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, with interment, in charge of Hammons Funeral Home, in the Littlefield Cemetery.

Local Boy Scouts and members of the Highway Patrol guarded the traffic at intersections of the City streets and highways during the funeral procession and at the cemetery.

Notwithstanding the fact that deceased had requested that no floral offerings be contributed at his passing away, the church was a profusion of beautiful potted plants, as a mark of the deepest respect and high regard felt for the deceased, who had lived almost continuously in this section since 1915, with the exception of the past three years, which he spent in Austin.

Active Pallbearers were; E. J. Foust, E. S. Rowe, Pat Boone, Troy Davis, Bruce Porcher, P. W. Walker and J. H. Houk of Littlefield, and Jalmir Kling of Anton.

Honorary Pallbearers were; Walter Schrier, Jack Silcott, E. M. Burrus, Guy Willis and Frank Cummings, all of Olton; R. L. Brown, Muleshoe; and John Kling, H. L. Smith, Homer Hall, Bill Valles, J. T. Bellomy, and J. E. Brannen, all of Littlefield, and Judge Chas. Clements and Meade Griffin, both of Plainview.

To mourn his passing, deceased left surviving him his widow, Mrs. Mary Alice Douglass and seven children, five daughters and two sons. The daughters are; Mrs. W. H. Rutledge, Mrs. Arbie Joplin, and Miss Erna Douglass of Littlefield; Mrs. H. S. Ury of Decatur, Texas, and Mrs. W. F. Bean of San Angelo. The sons are; Jim T. Douglass of Littlefield; and Neal A. Douglass, Jr. of Austin.

Also surviving him are a sister, Mrs. Claude Miller of Waco, and three brothers, H. A. Douglass of Muleshoe, C. J. Douglass of Crosbyton, and P. A. Douglass of Kermit, Texas.

All the above were present at the funeral services.

Mr. Douglass was born July 18, 1866, in Palaski, Tenn. In 1872 he moved with his parents to Texas. He married Miss Mary Alice Temple on September 16, 1890, at Ir-dell, Texas, to which union were born eight children, five daughters and three sons, one of whom, a son, Joe W. Douglass, died in an Army Camp at Ft. Bliss El Paso, Texas, during World War No. 1.

During his younger life Mr. Douglass taught school. He was the first teacher of the Texico, N. M. school, and was a school teacher at other points, including Snyder, for 22 years.

In 1910 he purchased the Roaring Spring Echo at Roaring Springs, Texas, which he operated until September, 1915, when he came to Littlefield, and established the first newspaper in this city, Lamb County News, in a frame building located on the lot, on which the new Southwestern Associated Telephone building now stands. The various members of the Douglass family took part in the operation of the plant until 1918, when the World War No. 1 was declared, and when Joe W. Douglass, who was a printer, enlisted in the U. S. Army, his father leased the plant, which he later sold, and the printing machinery was moved away. The City was then without a newspaper until May, 1923, when Jess Mitchell established the Littlefield Leader, which was later changed to the Lamb County Leader.

During his residence in Littlefield Mr. Douglass was always active in civic matters, and at one time was City Commissioner. He had been a member of the Methodist Church since childhood.

Out of town relatives attending the funeral services were; Neal A. Douglass, Jr., Mrs. H. S. Ury and daughter, Margaret of Decatur, Texas; Mrs. W. F. Bean of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Douglass and son, Jack, of Kermit; Mr. and Mrs. Millard Moore of Muleshoe; Mrs. Glenn Stephens of Baileyboro; H. A. Douglass of Muleshoe; C. J. Douglass of Crosbyton; and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Montgomery of Fieldton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack James of Lamm's Chapel are leaving Thursday or Friday for Waco, where they will spend a week visiting relatives.

Mrs. J. O. Cependolpher of Littlefield had her tonsils removed at the Littlefield Hospital Friday last.

Brother-in-Law Of Littlefield Resident Dies In Plainview

Funeral services were held at Plainview Saturday for Gus B. Dye, 45, resident of that city for 37 years, and a brother-in-law and former partner of J. E. Wilson of the Wilson Furniture Co., Littlefield.

Mr. Dye was stricken with a heart attack in a Tulia hospital Wednesday night of last week while admiring his first grandchild, John Weldon Dye, born to his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon B. "Marine Corps advises Thomas J. McFarland missing in action somewhere in Far East. Understand next of kin being notified by Marine Corps. Deeply Regret Situation. GEORGE MAHON"

It has been unofficially reported that some of the crew got to shore alive, so the family and friends of the Littlefield soldier have not entirely given up hope of his survival.

Tom McFarland enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps last June 1. Two of his letters, written from the Far East, have been printed in part in the Lamb County Leader, since the first of this year.

Relatives Injured in Auto Accident When the McFarlands received the wire concerning their son, they sent word to relatives in Hutchinson, Kans., and two of Mrs. McFarland's sisters left immediately to come here. White enroute, the two sisters and their families had an automobile accident near Pampa, seriously injuring one of the ladies.

After news of this additional disaster reached here, Mr. and Mrs. McFarland and daughter, Meta Dell, left Tuesday afternoon to be with their relatives. Mr. McFarland hopes to be back in Littlefield sometime this week end. The rest of the family may stay longer.

Sheep Raisers Asked To Shear Lambs Now

The War Production Board today announced a program appealing to California and Texas sheep raisers to plan now for the shearing of lambs and yearlings so that skins at slaughter will bear just the right amount of wool for manufacture into warm flying suits for our fighting airmen.

Wool on skins used in the manufacture of the vitally needed suits must be between one-quarter of an inch and one inch in length.

The War Production Board believes more than 2,000,000 additional skins suitable for the flying suits can be obtained as a result of the shearing program in the two states.

As a patriotic contribution to the war effort most raisers will be asked to shear many animals which normally would be marketed with wool too long for the flying suits and to shear soon enough to permit a growth of wool of proper length by slaughter time.

However, the best procedure to insure proper intervals between shearing and slaughtering will be left to the best judgement of the California and Texas raisers.

Cold weather in other sheep raising sections of the country makes shearing at this time of the year impractical.

In order to protect raisers who shear immediately from financial loss, the Office of Price Administration has removed the ceiling on tanned shearlings.

It is highly important that wool on skins be no more than an inch long because trimming wools to one inch or less is difficult, expensive process involving the use of a special comb attached to the shearing head. The entire output of shearlings has been reserved for military uses.

thur Mueller and O. K. Woodall are in charge of the program.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur In World War 1

WHEN PERSHING HONORED MacARTHUR 23 YEARS AGO—This picture, made on a blustery March day in Remagen, Rhenish Prussia, shows the commander of the A. E. This was General MacArthur's second decoration. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action in March, 1918. He also wears the Silver Star Medal with six oak leaf clusters. A bill is pending in Congress to award him the Medal of Honor.

her decision to remain neutral for the present. Photographed throughout Argentina during the past ten months it emphasizes the obstacles which must be overcome if democracy-loving Argentina is to give up her neutrality.

Argentina, the film recalls, suppressed a Nazi coup, not long ago, and feels this should be evidence of good faith to the democracies.

Little understood by most Americans is her predominantly European outlook and her concern for her European markets, now blocked by the war. In scenes showing her industries and her extensive agricultural and dairy interests the film tells a familiar story of surpluses of wheat and meats, while Europe starves for want of bottoms to ship this food.

Let's explore the possibilities

IN TIMES OF PEACE the choice was yours. You could decide whether you wanted to trade-in your car every year or two... or whether to give it the kind of care which would make it last for many years.

That choice exists no longer. Every patriotic citizen must make his car last longer.

Since no car can ever be any younger than its motor, you must explore every possible way of saving wear and tear. So keep the following facts in mind when you are deciding which oil to use:

Phillips refines many oils, because car owners' requirements vary as much as their cars and their pocketbooks. But if you want our best oil, you need have no doubt, because Phillips frankly tells you that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and greatest value... among all the oils we offer.

Replacing winter-worn lubricant? Making the regular 1,000-mile change? Specify Phillips 66 Motor Oil.
