Blowing of Locomotive Whistles Will Herald Opening of Railroad Week; Local Observance of Week Planned

H. C. (Clay) Pumphrey, local Santa Fe Agent, has announced that the Western railroads are making elaborate plans to observe "Railroad week" from Monday, June 10, until Saturday, June 15, and that at 8 A. M. local time, Monday, all whistles on the Western railroads will be blown to officially open this program.

This coordination of signals will be in a territory extending from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, the Rio Grande and the Pacific Ocean; and bounded on the north by Canada.

According to Mr. Pumphrey the railroads are improving their service and equipment, and since last fall spent $19,000,000 on the air conditioning of passenger cars, thereby rendering the coaches delightfully cool in summer and warm in winter, a service with which the railroads point with pride.

"Railroad Week" has been planned for the purpose of presenting to the general public the advantages of railroad transportation and shipping by railroad.

Mr. Pumphrey has asked that local residents cooperate with him and the Santa Fe Railroad in the observance of "Railroad Week" here.

Governors and Mayors in all western states and cities have been invited to issue proclamation designating June 10th to June 15th as "Railroad Week".

C. S. Cravens, Superintendent of the Santa Fe Railroad, is expected in Littlefield Tuesday, and has been invited to address the Chamber of Commerce banquet being held here on that evening.

Fire Chief E. C. Sellers and Fire Marshal Sam Hutson will leave Sunday for the State Fire Marshalls and Fire Chiefs convention at El Paso. The convention will last a week.

A. Adam, County Agent. Contract signers and non-signers, as well, if they want exemption certificates, will have to make application before, and this must be done irrespective of the fact if they are signers or non signers. #### FORTY-THREE TODAY

That is, we were 43 yesterday Wednesday, June 5.

We didn't get any birthday presents, so we are giving the folks hereabouts our age and birthday in the hope that somebody will give us a present next year. There's nothing like making preparations for the future.

WHAT IS SO RARE AS A DAY IN JUNE . . . OR SOMETHING LIKE THAT

At least, it was a day not easily forgotten. No, we were not in Littlefield, and we didn't have any of those teacup size balls of ice drop through the roof of our car; we were about five miles north of Levelland when things began to happen. And it was four hours later when we parked in front of the Leader office. Water was flowing over the road north of Whitharral as far as the eye could see. And there were lakes and more lakes. In fact, there were some extra good lakes up around Lum's Chapel. And, by the way, the last sight we had of Jimmy Singer was when he had a chain on the front of his truck trying to pull a car out of the ditch.

Returning to Whitharral, we came by several roads to a point north of Lum's Chapel, but just before we reached the highway we soaked up the distributor in a juicy lake about half a mile long. There wasn't anything to do about it except get out and wade water up to our knees and get the mules.

We Do Our Part

NEW MEXICO SEEKS TOURISTS

Because so many South Plains people vacation in New Mexico, we were interested in reading an editorial in the Portales Valley News, in which it was stated that the state to the west of us will spend $40,000 this year in attracting tourists.

"New Mexico is to spend $40,000 this year to attract tourists to New Mexico.

"This will be money well spent, yet $40,000 is not enough.

"If it were possible to increase this amount to $500,000 for this year and $1,000,000 each year thereafter, in five years the tourist business of the state could be increased many millions of dollars.

"There is no state in the union that has more to attract tourists during the summer months.

"While the east is sweltering, tourists can enjoy the cool mountain breezes of New Mexico, trout fishing, and an ideal condition for summer vacations.

"Not only can New Mexico attract the vacationists who will spend a few weeks in our mountains, but it is possible to attract the wealthy class, who would be interested in building summer homes.

"The tourist business for New Mexico should be increased to several hundreds of millions annually."

A ROMANTIC FIGURE

The most romantic figure of modern times died the other day. "Lawrence of Arabia" was killed on an English highway when he swerved his motorcycle to avoid running down a child.

One has to go back a long way in history to find a man who combined the qualities which went to make up the personality of this scholar-adventurer, who had not yet reached the height of his career. T. E. Lawrence might have lived to become the leader of the English government, for he had just resigned the humble post in which he had buried himself since his exploits in Arabia made him world-famous, in order to go into politics.

Lawrence was only 46 years old when he died, but into those 46 years he had crowded enough experience in a diversity of fields to fill the lifetimes of several ordinary men. A brilliant scholar and linguist, he had gone into the Arabian desert with an archaeological expedition, and learned not only the language but the habits and manner of thought of the native people, who were groaning under Turkish misrule. Arabs are slow to give their confidence to an outsider, but Lawrence captured their devotion, and when the opportunity came during the war to lead the Arabs toward independence, they followed him gladly.

He picked the one Arab chief whom he trusted, Feisal, to become the king of the newly-liberated nation, and after the most amazing adventures and deeds of daring which read like tales out of the age of chivalry, he broke the Turkish strength in Mesopotamia and set his friend Feisal on the throne of the desert kingdom. Then, declining all honors and shunning publicity, he enlisted in the British aviation forces under an assumed name, as "Aircraftman Shaw." He had just left that post when he died.

Anyone who like to read of stirring adventures ought to read Lawrence's book, "Revolt in the Desert." Unlike many such tales, it is true story.

"50% of all motor wear occurs during the starting period"

... say automotive engineers

Measuring cylinder wear with a precision gauge—accurate to a hundred-thousandth of an inch!

Only the oil with the "Hidden Quart" will stay up in your motor and cut down this starting wear!

Here are the facts: Oils not Germ Processed drain back into the crankcase when your motor is idle. Bearings, pistons and cylinders are dry when you start. Even in warm weather your motor makes at least a thousand revolutions before the quickest flowing oil can reach all parts. Bare metal grinds against bare metal—destructive wear occurs.

Conoco Germ Processed Oil cuts down this costly starting wear! The patented Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil—makes it penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. That penetrative film, forming the "Hidden Quart", becomes part of the metal itself and never drains away.

Hundreds of dry-crankcase runs have proved the "Hidden Quart" lubricating value. Cars using Germ Processed Oil were driven 15 to 75 miles with the crankcase empty but without motor damage!

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. All cars built since 1931 have greatly increased pressures and must have oil of extra high film strength for safe lubrication. Straight mineral oils have no more film strength than they had 10 years ago—some have less! Conoco Germ Processed Oil, with 2 to 4 times the film strength of mineral oils, gives modern motors the lubrication they need.

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil gives full motor protection—when you start, while you drive. You will cut motor wear if you use it!

WEEK IS LIGHT IN SPORTS WAY

Smokies and Clanders Get A Nod Over Flyers

Athletically light, the week saw the cellar-holding Flyers lose the nod twice; to the Firemen 12-5, and to the Producers 16-9. Sunnydale still tops the rankings, lone changes boosting the Smokies and Producers into a tie for third rung. Rain Friday stopped a 0-0 Sunnydale-All Star match in the fourth. Summaries follow:

The 24 year old American youth, in winning the British Amateur title for the second consecutive year, while holding the American title, is the third golfer ever to have won the British title two years in a row. ### LIGHT IN THE WINDOW

Oh, Father dear, Give up this crave: T'will drive you to An early grave.

On all the hills We've set the lamps, In hopes you'd quit The horsehide camps

But no, you'd rather Hear the swat Of willow at The lighted lot.

You'll rue this thing, We'll make you pay For all these nights You've spent astray.

We've turned your picture To the wall, Since you signed up To play softball!

Encore No, things are not The same at all, Since Father Dear Took up softball!

Ah, me... Many are the hearts that are saddened this night... for this is the night the Producers play the Legion, unless the schedule is wrong. Still, it's become a grand old game, as the fellow next door will vehemently assure you... and may Allah have pity on you if you accidentally let drop the remark that the BLANKS didn't look so good tonight... Or that the WHAZITS are alright, but they need a little stronger infield... because if you do, he will probably whistle his initials on your neck... A pleasant little pastime.

When the lights are put up sometime this week at the old hardball lot, now known as Wildcat Field, they will be up for good, we are told. No more changes nor no more removals. This should save the weary backs of the League directors for all of whom the past few months has been a sad round of listening to the chunk of shovels into hard earth and watching the transplanting of big timber from one hole to another... The new setup should ease this discomfort.

Firemen softballers have lost a good infielder for Eldorado. Ark. of Guy Aldridge for Eldorado, Ark. The strapping pitcher will work for an oil refining company Littlefield's newly elected athletic council put its ok on the budget two weeks ago. The setup was made by Hanes in conjunction with Coach L. T. Barsdale.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

GORDON K. SHEARER
Staff Correspondent

Austin, Tex., June 5. (UP)—James V. Allred has not changed his belief that young men give to government and get things for pensioners fill the state offices which he fills by appointment. It may be because the Governor grew up politically in a young generation and lacks the acquaintance with the old timers and frequently escaped their demand state berths.

Whatever the cause, he has shown sharp preference for youth in using officials.

His latest appointee, who will be the state banking commissioner Sept. 13, is now but 38 years old. Half of Irvin McCreary's years, however, have been spent as a bank executive at Gatesville.

The Governor's other recent appointment was to a place usually reserved for elderly men. But when vacancy occurred on the bench of the State Supreme court, Richard W. Mann, still in his fifties, was named.

Youngest of the Governor's appointees is Gerald Mann, Secretary of State, who was appointed at 24. R. B. Anderson was named Tax Commissioner at 25.

R. C. Waters was appointed Insurance Commissioner at 39 and F. E. Nichols, State Labor Commissioner at 39. Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt is 38.

Politically the Governor also looks to youth for his aides. Waters was his campaign manager.

Paul Wakefield is a valued young political advisor and keeps the Governor in close contact with older men in the national administration.

Myron Blalock, Marshall, at 40 was the Governor's pick for chairman of the State Democratic convention, and Vann Kennedy, 40, his choice for Democratic Executive Committee secretary.

R. W. Calvert of Hillsboro was the Governor's choice for Speaker of the House at 30, but lost to the more seasoned Coke Stevenson.

Some of the Texas Representatives have a feeling that the Senate "city-slicked" them on the final appropriation of $50,000 for contingent expenses of the legislature.

After the $50,000 had been voted, the Senate ordered the Board of Control to install an additional passenger elevator in the East end of the capitol and charge it up to contingent expense.

The Senate occupies the east wing of the capitol; the House has the west side of the building which will have no special elevator.

Gov. Allred has yielded so frequently to the numerous requests that he designate "weeks" that he mixed up the dates on his proclamations boosting two separate tomato weeks.

Tomato seasons are different in different parts of the state, so two weeks had to be proclaimed.

In the proclamation for one, the same dates were used that had been used for "Insurance Week."

Corrected dates for the tomato weeks are: De Witt and Lavaca counties, week of May 20-25; Jacksonville, June 2, 3, 4, and 5.

The 44th Legislature proved no exception to the rule that some "bull" is made in the rush that marks the closing of a session.

Rep. McCalla got action from the Senate on the final day upon a group of bills that repealed obsolete laws. The Senators gravely amended one of the obsolete acts before repealing it.

EASY-TO-MAKE

Pattern 8402—The Mothers of small girls like this pattern for its simplicity. Small children themselves like the dress because it is so pretty and so comfortable to wear.

The little round yoke is a nice form for a sweet little face and the tab which comes from the skirt buttons up over the yoke and conceals the opening in the front of the neck which is made to slip the head through. The nice flare to the skirt makes ripples, especially when made on a bias cut, and allows plenty of freedom for skipping and running. The puff sleeves are gathered into the sleeveband which has the same sort of closing as the front tab.

A cross-barred gingham in blue and white would look well in this design, combined with white for the upper part.

Texan Has Sold and Given Away Thousands of Dogs

Dallas, Tex., June 5. (UP)—During the last 28 years Bob Tonn, a tall, wiry pleasant-faced Irishman has sold or given away more than 5,000 dogs.

What started as a hobby has grown into a profitable business, and today Tonn sends dogs to all parts of the world—and most of his dogs are pit bulls.

"There's something about a pit bull that gets to a fellow," Tonn said today.

"I think they are the most faithful of all dogs. They can be trusted absolutely; they're generally friendly and won't go out of their way to pick a fight, but when called upon to fight for their master they're just plain 'tough'."

It was 28 years ago that Bob Tonn was given a female pit bull by neighbors who moved from the vicinity in which he lived.

The dog had a litter of puppies. Tonn took a chance, advertised them for sale. Before noon the next day the dogs had been bought. A business had started.

The business grew rapidly, until in 1929—a depression year—Tonn sold more than 1,000 dogs. He does not raise all his dogs at his Dallas place, but has "connections" so that he can fulfill orders.

His chief pride is a 9 year old pit bull, Dallas Dan, which he affectionately calls Bulger.

Bulger is a battle-scare veteran, blind in one eye. For several years he was champion fighting dog of Mexico, and retired from competition undefeated.

Despite the fact that Bulger was the most feared fighting dog in the Southern Republic, and even now appears most formidable, he is an affectionate creature, and daily plays with children in the neighborhood of the Tonn home.

Here is Tonn's advice to the dog owner:

"Take care of your dog; make him respect you. Don't beat him. If he misbehaves scold him, try to make him understand his mistake. He'll try to please you.

"Consult an expert if your dog is ailing; dogs have diseases same as humans, and generally can be cured if the ailment is not too far advanced.

"Be sure he gets plenty of good, clean water, and has a warm place to sleep. He's worth taking care of."

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

SUPREME COURT DECISION

Washington, June 5. (Special)

The unanimous decision of the Supreme Court of the United States that two of the essential assumptions upon which the New Deal program was based, were invalid and unconstitutional, has thrown the Administration and Congress into a state of confusion which makes the fate of much of the rest of the Administration's program doubtful. When the third arm of the government, the Judiciary, decided that the Legislative arm had no power to enact, and the Executive arm had no authority to administer, laws depriving persons of their property without just compensation, or to regulate working hours, wages and trade practices in business which does not cross state lines, it brought to a halt further efforts in the same direction.

The Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage Moratorium Act was declared unconstitutional in that it deprived creditors holding farm mortgages of their property without due process of law. The agricultural bloc in the lower House is groping in the dark for some satisfactory substitute to hold their constituents in line.

Belief that the same reasoning which the Supreme Court used in denouncing NRA, applies with equal force to parts, if not all, of AAA, has checked the progress through Congress of the amendments designed to strengthen AAA.

The same decision, as it applies to regulation of hours and wages in intra-state commerce, has put the brakes upon the progress of the Wagner Industrial Relations bill.

These Supreme Court decisions, including the unanimous opinion that the President has no right to dismiss a member of the Federal Trade Commission except for malfeasance in office came just at the moment when Mr. Roosevelt's personal prestige had been greatly enhanced by his action on the Veteran's bonus.

There is more dynamite than appears on the surface in the report of the Comptroller-General, John W. McCarl, on the actions of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The TVA is asking for an extension of its powers, and more money. Mr. McCarl is the only official who can tell truths without risking his job. He cited many instances of expenditures not authorized by law, improper bookkeeping, assumptions of authority which the law did not contemplate and other kinds of irregularities. The most blasting charge he made is that the TVA deliberately "wrote down" the capital investment in its power plants, in order to make it appear that it could produce electricity cheaper than it actually can produce it.

Mr. McCarl's job is to audit all government expenditures. He holds office for a term of fifteen years and cannot be removed unless he commits a crime. He was appointed in 1921 by President Harding so his term runs until the middle of next year. Some of his enthusiastic friends in Nebraska, where he used to practice law, are talking about him as a possible Republican candidate for the presidency. Washington is most interested in him just now as a mathematician.

Case of Mr. Holt

Another question that has got to be settled on Capitol Hill before the end of this month is whether young Mr. Holt of West Virginia will be really a Senator or not when he reaches his thirtieth birthday on June 19. The Constitution says that Senators must be thirty years old. Rush D. Holt was less than twenty-nine-and-a-half when he was elected last November. There are some conservative Senators of both parties who are strict constructionists of the Constitution, and the indications are that there may be some difficulty facing young Mr. Holt on his birthday when he attempts to take the oath of office and qualify as a full fledged Senator. If the Senate wants to throw him out on the technical ground that he wasn't thirty years old when he was elected, they can do so, for another provision of the Constitution is that each House of Congress shall be the sole judge of the qualifications and election of its own members.

The debate on Mr. Holt's qualifications might afford an opportunity for some of the anti-Administration Senators to conduct a filibuster against some of the Administration bills. That sort of debate is privileged. It cannot be controlled by any rules of the Senate. So if three or four long-winded senators undertook to stage a speech-making marathon nobody could stop them. There may have been hints circulating on Capitol Hill that something of that sort is contemplated.

"Fireside Factory"

QUEBEC CITY, Que. . . . Quebec farm women have found it profitable to revive homecraft and arts of their French-Canadian ancestors. Last year in their "fireside factories" at home they produced merchandise worth $10,000,000, more than 20,000 women participating. Goods are sold at roadside marts. Above Mme. Juteau of Shawbridge at her spinning wheel.

DOCTOR TOLD HER HOW TO LOSE 17 POUNDS OF FAT

Gossipers Peeved

Mrs. Robert Hickey of Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce—envious women who don't like to see others youthfully slim. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Get a jar of Kruschen today (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle) and if you don't lose 12 lbs. and feel years younger and healthier—money back. Simply take half teaspoonful in cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added.) Madden's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Sear steak quickly in hot fat, remove from skillet and saute onions and pepper until tender, add tomatoes and peas and diced cheese, replace steak, cover and let simmer thirty minutes or until tender as desired.

Sandwich Filling 1-2 lb. ground pork, 1-2 lb. ground veal, 1 grated onion, 4 hard-boiled eggs, 1 cup pecans chopped, about 1 cup mayonnaise.

Roasting meat is done by placing it on a rack in roasting pan, adding little or no water, and placing in a very hot oven until the meat is well seasoned, and lower temperature to 350 degrees until it is cooked done according to one's taste.

Braising is done by browning the meat in hot fat and adding a little water. Cover with tight lid and cooking slowly until done.

THE TONGUE OF SLANDER
By J. B. MADDUX
The devil made a bargain once and palmed it off on men. To lie and slander so it seems one of his favorite sins. To peddle all the ugly things he picked up on his rounds. To keep his servants busy in dragging honor down. He trumped up charges black as hell and passed them to his squad. To wreck the character of man and shame the name of God. In secret thus he worked his hordes to use the tongues of men. To hurl the fiery darts from the arsenal of sin. And so disgrace and shame was spread and honor took its flight. In slanders ranks the Devil leads against the cause of right. His Slenderous fire has long since burned we've learned from sources well. For nature too, is set on fire by fiery tongues of hell. That deadly weapon can't be tamed, it curses God and men. It's full of deadly evil and ugly things of sin. Its changed the truth into a lie and filled our prison cells. Made beast and demons out of men, this instrument of hell. Thus strife disorder grief and blood among mankind is flying. By Satan's hordes through fiery swords that weapon is the tongue.

Report of Farm Delegates to Capital

The President then addressed the group as follows:
I am glad to welcome you to the National Capital. We can think of this occasion as a kind of surprise birthday party for it was just two years and two days ago that the Agricultural Adjustment Act became a law. And I well remember the fine group of representatives of farmers from every part of the Union who stood around me on that occasion when I signed the Act.
In record time you and thousands of other farmers took hold and set up the machinery to control your own affairs and put the new law to work.

I remember, too, the many high and mighty people who said you could not do it—that it was no use for you to try—intimating clearly that their only remedy to improve your situation was to let the sheriffs' sales go on. That was the old and very familiar way—the high and mighty balanced farm production with demand. Those people did not understand and many of them do not understand today that, if the farm population of the United States suffers and loses its purchasing power, the people in the cities, of necessity, suffer with them. One of the greatest lessons that the city dwellers have come to understand in this past two years is this: Empty pocketbooks on the farm don't turn factory wheels in the city.

Go back for a minute to the Spring of 1933—when there was a huge carry-over of almost thirteen million bales and a price, because of that carry-over, of six cents a pound. You and I know what six cent cotton means to the purchasing power of the Cotton Belt. There was a huge carry-over of tobacco during the preceding six months was the lowest on record for many years. Wheat, with a carry-over of nearly four hundred million bushels, and a price of thirty-five cents on the farm; corn, with a price of fifteen cents a bushel on many farms; hogs, selling at three cents a pound.

You and I know what that meant in the way of purchasing power for forty million people. When we came to Washington we were faced with three possible programs. The first involved price fixing by Government decree. This was discarded because the problem of over production was not solved thereby. The second was a plan to let farmers grow as much as they wanted to and to have the Federal Government then step in, take from that portion of their crop which represented the exportable surplus and, in their name, on their behalf, dump this surplus on the other nations of the world. That plan was discarded because of other nations of the world had already begun to stop dumping. With increasing frequency they were raising their tariffs, establishing quotas and clamping on embargoes against just that kind of proposition.

Therefore, we came to the third plan—a plan for the adjustment of totals in our major crops so that from year to year production and consumption would be kept in reasonable balance with each other to the end that unwieldy surpluses would not depress our markets and upset the balance. We are now at the beginning of the third year of carrying out this policy. You know the results thus far attained. You know the price of cotton, of wheat, of tobacco, of corn, of hogs and of other farm products of today. Further comment on the successful partial attainment of our objective up to this time is unnecessary on my part. You know.

I want to emphasize that word "adjustment." As you know, a great many of the high and mighty—with special axes to grind—have been deliberately trying to mislead people who know nothing of farming by misrepresenting—no—why use a pussyfoot word—by lying about the "kind of a farm program under which the Nation is operating today." A few leading citizens have gone astray from ignorance. I must admit it. For example, the prominent city banker who was driving through up-State New York with me four or five years ago in the late Fall. Everything was brown. The leaves were off the trees. We passed a beautiful green field. He asked me what it was. I told him it was winter wheat. He turned to me and said, "That is very interesting. I have always wondered about winter wheat. What I don't understand is how they are able to cut it when it gets all covered up with snow."

The other was the editor of a great metropolitan paper. He visited me down in Georgia when the cotton was nearly grown but before the bolls had formed. Looking out over the cotton fields he said to me: "What a great number of raspberries they grow down here." Raspberries was right. At four and one-half cents a pound for cotton his mistake was, perhaps, a natural one. I was speaking of adjustment. It is your duty and mine to continue to educate the people of this country to the fact that adjustment means not only adjustment downward but adjustment upward. It ing more practical results than you have been led to believe by the high and mighty gentlemen I have spoken of. I want to thank you for your patience with us. I want to pledge our wholehearted cooperation as you go forward.

Your car will run better with this marvelous SUMMER GASOLINE

If you are an experienced and observant driver, you can prove for yourself the hot-weather benefits of Phillips 66... the gasoline that is 100% custom-tailored.

Get a trial tankful and you quickly feel the difference... your engine feels it... but your pocketbook doesn't!... because Phillips 66 costs nothing extra.

Phillips was first to match gasoline to weather. Pioneered CONTROLLED VOLATILITY 9 years ago. This scientific development squarely meets the issue of summer motor troubles—overheating, knocking, and lost power. Meets it just as effectively as it does winter driving problems—slow starting, stalling, and lost mileage.

Every month in the year, Phillips gives you a gas custom-tailored to your locality and its temperature, as determined by U. S. Weather Bureau standards. It is definitely engineered to meet your requirements. It is not only a summer gasoline... this month it is actually a June gas. And next month it will be a July gas. As different every month as the weather differs from month to month.

That is why changes in climate cannot affect the power, pep, and mileage you get with Phillips 66.

Remember, it doesn't take weeks or months to uncover the facts. Try just a single tankful, and you may find that your car is a much better performer than you ever thought... that the engine is smoother, cooler, quieter... more responsive to the throttle and far more nimble.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Jno. R. Denning, pastor

The attendance at the Sunday School, and at both preaching services was most pleasing last Sunday. It was a day of great blessing. Due to the unusual interest expressed in the subject of last Sunday night, viz: "Can One Be Saved Today, And Lost Tomorrow?" and, due to the fact that we could not begin to present all the Scriptures answering this vital question, we shall conclude a section of this sermon next Sunday night. We invite all interested to return at that time.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on "Jesus Christ, The Shepherd," as the first of a series which will continue each Sunday morning for the entire month of June, teaching the various characteristics of Christ. In order to better enjoy the series, we urge you to begin Sunday, and not miss a sermon.

Remember, on Sunday night, June 16th, we shall reply to the question, "Bible Baptism—What Is It?" Remember the date.

SIXTH INSTALLMENT

OPIS: Young Ed Maitland, of a New England seafaring family, and the hardened gambler Malone, met on a trip to the gold fields in '97, when Malone, who had been driven down the Pacific coast, Maitland was determined to win back his fortune before he returned. The two men became partners. Speed promising not to get mixed with the law if he could get it, and to clear out from the partnership if he did. Frenchy the German whose smack took the men north; Lucky Rose, the beautiful girl who had given a ring to Maitland as a keepsake; Fallon, Maitland's partner; Steiner, the lawyer; young Pete and his partner Bill Owen; Brent, the time prospector; Garnet, well-to-do traveller who hired Maitland to Speed to take his things over the mountains—these are the principal figures in the story. Malone, Maitland and Garnet hauled part of his stuff from the canvas camp to the Skagway beach over the hills to the camp in the hills called Arville. The trail was in bad condition. Speed wanted to close it and mend it. Fallon wanted to push it. Now go on with the story.

"A bunch of us," said Brent, with a smoulder in his tired eyes, "aim to call a camp meetin' at one o'clock—when the crowd's in and before the backtrailin' starts, so we can get a full vote. That's why I come to ye. Can we figure on you boys to stand in?"

Speed looked at his partner. It was their one remaining chance of keeping Garnet on the trail. "You ain't count on us to vote," he said, but that's all."

Brent signified that he asked for more, and leaving them, went up the trail to collect more voters.

When they returned to Littlefield the camp was crowded. Here and there the dispirited faces of mud-ragged men showed that Fallon's decision meant the end of the trail for some of them, but they accepted it as the harsh law of the stampede. Brent's chance, even of a hearing, was more than doubtful. The trail of the partners had reached a critical impasse.

Before they reached the cache, they met Garnet coming toward them, looking refreshed and clean as he stepped carefully along the river path. He listened in silence to Speed's tactful account of the trail, and agreed to attend the mass meeting.

But he was visibly more interested in some sounds that came to them from the vicinity of the bridge. A metallic 'come-on' chant rang stridently through the hollow, above a babel of voices and the river's brawls.

"Not a game of chance, friends. A simple test of skill. The quickness of the hand deceives the eye."

"Suppose we give the game a spin while waiting for one o'clock," Garnet suggested. "You need some relaxation."

"You can spit it," Speed declined. "If I had the jack it wouldn't relax me none to give it to a shell rigger."

The sunlight that pierced the canyon mist fell on a noisy crowd around the dealer's pitch table, many of them not following the game, but simply herding there to wait for the backtrail to clear. A player had just placed a bet. From the higher ground at the bridge head they saw it to be the man with the sheepskin coat—Pete's partner Bill. Noticeably drunk, Bill was swaying on his heels. Fallon and one of his outfit stood near, watching him play.

"I guess we'll pass this," said Garnet prudently. Speed did not answer. His attention had been arrested by the pallid, narrow-eyed face of the dealer, on which the sunlight fell squarely. "Seems like I've seen that bird somewheres," he muttered.

While Bill stood shifting his wealth between his hands, the yellow head of his young partner appeared beside him. Pete was trying to pull him out of the game. Ignored by Bill, the boy said something to Fallon—not audible from the bridge. Fallon brushed him out of the way with an impatient, backward fling of his hand. The blow might have been unintentional, but the hand was heavy and ringed. It cut the boy's cheek and sent him stumbling.

"Damned shame," said Garnet. Speed swore to himself. Pete broke away and went up the canyon while Bill was oblivious to everything but the stakes he was vaguely counting.

The dealer hastened to cover the incident. "Not a game of chance, miners. The quickness of the hand—" Here the dealer's voice hung trailing, his cold eyes, roving over the crowd, suddenly encountered and locked with Speed's. A look of incredulous wonder pierced his mask.

"A thousand," mandered Bill. "Shoot it, Bill," said Fallon. "I'll copper you some in case you lose." He laid a small stack of gold pieces on the table, as Bill lurched forward and placed his double handful of money.

The dealer's eyes, which had returned to the game, quivered upward as a clear draw suddenly spoke over the heads of the crowd.

"I'll bet a thousand on Bill to win!"

The discovery that it was Speed who had spoken astonished no one quite as much as Maitland, who knew the limits of his resources. The offer had been made to the dealer, but Fallon wheeled around with a scowl that darkened when he recognized the speaker. Cocking his cigar, he drew a large roll from his pocket and slapped down a counted sum on the table. "There's a thousand says you're a cheap four-flusher," he said.

"Look out!" The words fell from the dealer's lips in an involuntary murmur.

"Oh, he won't shoot," said Fallon easily. "He's one of them would-be-gunmen. Chews a lot but ain't got no fangs. Ain't got no money neither."

Speed, in fact, had not moved except to search into his pocket for money that was not there. He had not looked for this exact result, and was still framing his next move. None the less, his composure remained perfect—even when, to his surprise, his fingers closed over a wad of bills. Fortune sometimes favors the absolute gambler. This time the means of her miracle was Garnet, who had quietly slipped the roll into his pocket.

"I mean money," growled Fallon, at the first hint of delay. "You can't run a whisperin' bluff in this game."

Doubt struggled with fear in the dealer's face when the insult was ignored. Speed walked up to the table stripping a sheaf of clean one-hundred dollar bills from Garnet's roll, and laid it alongside Fallon's. Then his eyes pinned the dealer. "You can deal this any way you figure healthy," he said. "On'y remember I'm backin' Bill to win."

The dealer's pale visage turned paler; he lowered his head to conceal a twitching of his mouth.

There was a craning moment of silence. A hum ran through the crowd as the dealer lifted the shells. Fallon ripped out an oath of chagrin and unbelief. Bill had won. Speed picked up his own and the other's stake, and was turning away when Fallon called him back.

"What I took ye for," snarled the camp boss. "A brag-and-run gambler. Pull up there, fellow. The play ain't through yet."

A slight twist in the corner of Speed's mouth showed that this was not unexpected. "No," he said, "the play ain't through yet, on'y it's a new game. They's a stretch of trail between here and the bridge up the line that needs fixin' almighty bad. Horses and outfits has been lost on it. You're the boss of this camp, and you've blocked the move to fix it because you've a big string of mules and can take a chance of lightin' through in one haul. You don't give a damn for the small miner who has to relay his pack over that slew with one horse or none. Well, some of us figure different. Four day's work with the camp drafted will put the trail in shape. It's the on'y chance for a lot of the boys who've sunk their last red to get here. You can't run a white miner's camp without takin' count of the common prospector. That's rock bottom—stampede or none. If you doubt it, Fallon, and want to gamble, I'll bet you this yer thousand the camp ain't back of ye."

The stillness in the canyon was complete, save for the gush of the river. Quietly as the words had been spoken, they had touched every instinct of the crowd at once. Shrewd malice curled Fallon's eyes. "I'll take your bet," he said. "These men what a delay would mean. If you thing you can halt 'em, the idea will cost you a thousand and somethin' more." Now that it had an outlet, the response of the crowd broke loose. "I'm with you, brother," a man called out to Speed. "That's a talkin' . . ." and similar endorsements mounted over the voices of dissent. "Hold on," barked Fallon, above the tumult, "and swivel your muzzle-loadin' brains on what this crook's playing for. Who is he? Where's he from? Blowed into camp two days ago a busted drifter; now he's flashin' money. Ever meet a 'fixer' on the gold trails? Well, the inside crowd in the Yukon is workin' hard to plaster every good location before the stampede arrives, and here's a slick frame to freeze you out."

The argument was far-drawn, but cunningly gauged to an audience of credulous, impatient, gold-fevered men.

Speed parried it promptly. "That won't hold gravel," he declared. "The river don't freeze till the first week in October. Four days won't hurt that margin, and most of the camp will gain time on a good trail."

"What you ain't primed to answer," returned Fallon, "is who you are and what you're doin' here with that bunch of money and no outfit." The outlaw creased a cigarette paper. "You're switchin' your bet," he said evenly. "The question is whether the boys want to talk personal—how does it come that a man who's so all-fired anxious to see ever' one get to Dawson, spends his time makin' this miner drunk and persuadin' him to bust hisself at a skin game. Another is that coward's lick you took at the kid a while back." The cool temerity of the challenge held the crowd in a spell. "You ask where I come from," Speed continued. "I come from a state where a man low enough to do a thing like that would be boot-ed out of camp of horse thieves."

Fallon's hands flashed to his guns and stopped there, a puzzled seam deepening between his eyes. He could not imagine anyone taking such a chance unless he were sure of an advantage. On Speed's part it was sheer gambling—one of those reckless yet clear-headed gestures of which instances are not unknown in the annals of the West, where gunmen have sometimes been challenged and held without touching a weapon.

The hush was suddenly broken by Brent, who had arrived with his backers, and judged it time to cut this fuse. "Who's fer fixin' the trail? Make it a showdown, boys!" The uproar forced Fallon to suspend dealings with Speed while he met a different threat. Heads were counted in a confused din. A majority showed for Brent's proposition, but many had not declared themselves either way.

"That's no showdown!" yelled Fallon. "To fix the trail you've got to bar it. Try that and you'll damn soon find how much of the camp's behind me. You can't bar it."

"We'll go to bedrock on that point right now," Brent shot back. "We've got the man who'll see the job done, and the miners' committee sure needs a new chairman. Get behind this, men."

There was a tangled burst of enraged and jubilant shouts. In the confusion it was a moment before Speed could make himself heard. This was more than he had counted on. "I ain't the man for the job," he said, "I'm a stranger and I ain't patient enough to argue with suspicions. Put up one of your own men."

"Patience be damned," growled a sun-browned Arizona miner. "Who all's askin' you to be patient?"

Fallon, sure of himself now, lit a fresh cigar and flicked the match meditatively in Speed's direction. "The man don't live," he said complacently, "who can bar a trail when my outfit gets ready to go through. As for this meddler, he don't amount to a puff of smoke, and I'll show you he don't—" and the camp boss put his hands on his guns. "I called him yesterday for a liar and a horse thief, whichever was his fightin' word. But that was too mild, I say now that he's a sneakin' liar and a yellow coyote, both."

Many out of town visitors Expected

At the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon meeting Tuesday noon, plans for the Chamber's annual banquet Tuesday evening, June 11, were discussed.

W. H. Madden, chairman of the Ticket Committee, reported the tickets were ready and might be purchased at the Madden Drug Store.

Cooperation Urged

Dr. Ira Woods urged the cooperation of all in making the banquet a huge success, stating the importance of the members purchasing guest tickets early to mail to friends in neighboring towns.

J. S. Hillard stated that Ray Nichols, new President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and publisher of the Vernon Record, Vernon, Texas, had written stating he would be here to make the chief address of the banquet meeting.

Railroad Week June 10-15

H. C. (Clay) Pumphrey addressed the meeting, announcing the plan of the Western Railroads to designate Monday, June 10th to June 15th, as "Railroad Week"; and that the railroads were putting on a special improvement campaign to improve their equipment, and service.

Among other improvements he stated the coaches would all be air-conditioned, making them cool in summer and warm in winter. This, stated Mr. Pumphrey, is being provided the patrons of railroads without any additional cost.

Mr. Pumphrey asked the cooperation of all local citizens in "the putting over of Railroad Week" by the railroads, adding that "Governors and Mayors in all western states and cities have been invited to issue proclamations designating June 10th to June 15th as "Railroad Week".

Mr. Hillard gave a short talk on railroads, saying they are one of the largest factors in the United States in bringing prosperity to the country. "There is no question", said Mr. Hillard "but that the railroads are empire builders. We would have been years and years behind what we are now if it were not for the railroads." He also foreseen a revival of the railroad traffic stating the extensive improvements in railroad trains and the service would in the next several years bring this about.

N. & S. Highway Progress

Joe Hale, Secretary-Manager of the booster group, announced that blue prints regarding the proposed north and south highway had been received, and that deeds were being prepared, and that the matter would now be pushed to conclusion.

Irvin—

when the government asked for dismissal of the case against him. Mrs. Rebecca Carr, Cross Plains, testified she had handled "protection liquor" without arrest while in Lamb county late in 1933, but that when New Mexico liquor was brought in, she had been threatened with a pistol and ordered out of the county.

Comer Hall, farmer of near Littlefield, told the Government's attorneys of conversing with Irvin when the latter was running for reelection in 1932, and of the sheriff promising to stop liquor selling.

Leonard Terry of Big Spring testified Tuesday of operating a county whiskey route in 1933.

Terry said he asked E. E. Wheeler, allegedly protected by Irvin in whiskey deals, if he (Wheeler) was the man "that had Lamb county to sell whiskey." Upon agreement, Terry said Wheeler told him he would "see the big boy" about fixing it so that Terry could sell whiskey with protection.

"Did he say who the 'big boy' was?" Clyde G. Hood, assistant district attorney, asked.

"Len Irvin."

Testifying that it "had been fixed," Terry said he sold whiskey at $18 a case, kept $3 for each case, and gave the remainder to Wheeler.

The witness told of threats by Irvin after Terry had brought in whiskey from Clovis for sale in the county. He said Irvin had cursed him, pulled a pistol and threatened "to burn him down."

H. C. (Red) Foster, Clovis, testified the sheriff and Walraven, deputy, had asked him in 1928 to send a man to Lamb county to sell whiskey "hauled out of old Mexico." Foster sent his son, E. G. Foster, he told the court, but said that because of a "poor cotton year" the project for which Foster was to pay Irvin $50 a month, was abandoned after four months. One payment was made, Foster said.

Mrs. Herman Wednesday morning told of $600 a month "payoff" and $2 a gallon additional her husband had made the sheriff for "protection" while operating a still in 1927. Bill Herman died in Amarillo in 1931.

Littlefield People Testify

Other witnesses who had testified up to Wednesday noon were J. H. Trimble, former Littlefield automobile dealer, who testified Wheeler and Driscoll Irvin had negotiated for a new automobile; Mrs. J. J. Zofness, employee of a finance company at Amarillo, who testified about the attempted financing of such a sale; Luther Hawk of Sudan who told of buying whiskey from Rorer, Falcher and Durgeon.

D. G. Hobbs, Littlefield ginmer, testified he had seen the sheriff enter the Herman residence. Others who shed light on the case were C. E. Luce, police recorder of Lubbock; Mrs. Willie May Rogers, Grandview, former Olton resident; Thomas A. (Uncle Tom) Nelson, former Sudan constable; Nig Anderson, nephew of City Marshal Ab Anderson of Littlefield.

And W. H. Bell, Lamb county "grader man" of Littlefield; Van Clark, Littlefield barber; L. L. Sides, former Van Zandt county sheriff; C. H. Duke of Littlefield;

James M. Blessing, Littlefield farmer; Mrs. Ed Long, Odessa waitress and daughter of Mrs. Carr; Lloyd McWhirter, Littlefield tire shop operator; Rhone Smith, now of Hamlin, and former operator of a sandwich shop in Sudan.

Also O. B. Glenn of Sudan, formerly of Littlefield; L. C. Hewitt, automobile dealer of Littlefield who testified he had sold a Chevrolet pickup to Guy Foster August 1, 1933; Miss Majorie Sanders, West Texas Gas Co. employee of Littlefield, who said Guy Foster had deposited $10 for gas service June 5, 1933; W. G. Street, Littlefield City secretary, who said the same man had made a deposit for City water service April 29, 1933.

R. C. McCall, revenue agent for eight years, and John L. Craft, former Lubbock policeman, now a Stamford policeman, were additional witnesses.

We Think—

Mules are a wonderful institution; in fact, they are versatile; they do anything from pulling a plow to furnishing the energy to get a car out of a lake. The said mules that pulled our car out of the lake are owned and operated by Vernon Taylor, who resides five miles south of Littlefield.

And, folks, we've got to hand it to Vernon Taylor; he guided us hither and thither to miss the lakes in reaching the section where we stayed in the middle of a lake till Taylor's mules went into action. In the car with the said Taylor were Abe Bowber and Walter Wagley, who live about eight miles southwest of Littlefield. They had been to Levelland. Let us explain that we got along wonderful until Taylor turned in at his home and we started out on our own.

Mr. Barber asked us what we were going to write about in the "We Think" column this week, and we assured him that we didn't intend to write about bulldozers, as we frequently have done.

And, in conclusion, we think mules are a wonderful institution, especially Vernon Taylor's mules.

WE ARE GOING TO TELL YOU NEXT WEEK ABOUT R. L. MAY'S FARM, LOCATED ABOUT EIGHT MILES NORTH-WEST OF LITTLEFIELD

When we visited that said farm last week it was the closest to paradise that we ever hope to get. We have not seen as pretty a farm in a long time. Fields well worked, a beautiful garden and orchard, cross fences in every direction, and good buildings. But we'll tell you all about it next week. This is our birthday and we don't think that we should be called upon to work as hard as usual. We hope that Mr. May's farm escaped those icy balls which fell out of the sky.

WE THINK

That some action should be taken to have a municipal auditorium built in Littlefield. We have made a similar suggestion on other occasions, but to date we haven't found anybody to help us champion the cause. We need a large auditorium in Littlefield, suitable for all kinds of events and gatherings.

ALSO WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH BUILDING A COUNTRY CLUB HEREBABOUTS

That's another suggestion that we have made on other occasions without anybody weeping on our shoulders because of our bright ideas. But some day, somebody may turn in and help us boost such a project.

THAT'S ALL! THAT'S ALL! NOTHING MORE UNTIL NEXT WEEK.

Musical Play "Roberta" to be Featured at Palace

Starring Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, RKO-Radio brings to the screen a colorful picturization of "Roberta," the musical play which has been making theatrical history on the stage, which will be featured at the Palace Theatre Saturday night, Sunday and Monday.

Lavishly produced, the picture retains all of the popular features of the stage play, but also presents a number of specially brilliant entertainment highlights, including a spectacular fashion show. Miss Dunne's singing, the spectacular dancing of Astaire and Miss Rogers, and sparkling novelty episodes enliven the production, which is expected to eclipse even the success of "The Gay Divorcee."

As a stage play, "Gowns by Roberta," music by Jerome Kern, books and lyrics by Otto Harbach, "Roberta" opened at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York on November 11, 1933, and closed on July 21, 1934, running more than 250 performances. It since has repeated that sensational success in road showings throughout the larger Eastern cities.
