Twenty-Nine Men To Be Examined For Service Dec. 12

Board To Re-Class And Induct Married Men Next In Line

According to Otto Jones, Chairman of Lamb County Draft Board, all for 16 men to be inducted into the Army and to leave here on Thursday for Fort Bliss, at the local organization.

These men who will leave here to-day (Thursday) for Fort Bliss, at Paso, are:

W. Austin Kornegay, Darrell Lee Hemphill, L. T. Slape, Leslie Mor- Robert Odell Matthews, and Lee Henley, all of Littlefield; Elmer Lewis Sykes, Route 4, James Homer Thomas, Sudan, Woodson Orval Porterfield, and I. Anton.

Mr. Jones also announced that the Board had received a call Monday for 29 men to be sent to Lubbock for Army examination on December 12, stating that this was in accordance with a new regulation that the men will undergo medical examination before induction into the army instead of after in- duction.

Mr. Jones also made the announce- ment Tuesday that the Board is going to have to resort to drafting married men who have married since their first registration in order to get sufficient men physically fit, stating that men in this classifica- tion have been drafted in other counties right along, but that up to present the local Board have had plenty of single men. However, Mr. Jones said: "We are going to reclass married men, men who have married since the first registration, and induct them into service. We have to fill the quota regardless, and they are next in line."

HERE'S A WELL STOCKED LAMB COUNTY PANTRY

Above is the pantry of Mrs. Chas Harmon, pantry demonstrator for the Amherst demonstration club, as it was shown to club members when they met in her home last Friday at Amherst.

Mrs. Harmon has greatly exceeded the amount of canned products in her food preservation budget in the 748 quarts of foods she has canned and the total value of frozen foods in the locker, the dried foods and canned and fresh products has a value of $395.45.

On the basement floor there are baskets and crates of home grown apples, turnips, beets, carrots, rhubarb, strawberries, persimmons, pinto and lima beans, popcorn, onions, Irish and sweet potatoes, and peppers, and eggs collard. Everything in the cellar was produced on the Harmon farm, but a few canned apricots and peaches. Mrs. Harmon has traded eggs at the grocery store for her canned fish to supplement her meat.

Wildcats Must Win Or Else Lose Chance At District Crown

GAME TO BE PLAYED AT LEVELLAND 2:30 O'CLOCK FRIDAY AFTERNOON; FANS ARE URGED TO SUPPORT THE WILDCATS

The traditional gridiron clash between the Levelland Loboes and the Littlefield Wildcats is scheduled to take place at Levelland at 2:30 P. M. Friday afternoon, according to information received from the local high school, and due to the fact that it is the most important schoolboy tilt on tap it is likely to draw a goodly number of South Plains football fans to the scene of action.

Wildcat stock soared to a new high last Friday night after their 38-0 triumph over the Muleshoe Yellow-jackets and barring injuries in scrimmage the latter part of this week they should be in the pink of condition for their tussle with the Loboes.

The Levelland crew, though somewhat battered by strong opposition, are expected to put their best foot forward in this all-important battle with the Wildcats, and from all indications, it'll be a "fight to the finish", with no holds barred.

Though the Wildcats have their stars, Littlefield fans are counting upon the team as a whole to come through with a win over the Loboes.

Ray Hutson, who did a lion's share of the ball carrying for the Wildcats against Muleshoe last Friday night no doubt will assume the main role in the locals offensive machine and he will be ably assisted by Hammons, Holberg and Byers. The Wildcats, who early in the season were so excited when faced with strong opposition that they had to have their headgears literally screwed on before they took the field, have done a swell job of defending the maroon and white and have gradually settled into a smooth-working football

One Killed, One Injured In Car-Truck Crash Sun.

H. W. Sigman Is Killed Lawrence Hughes Taken To Plainview Hospital

One man was killed instantly and another seriously injured in a car-truck crash Sunday night about 8 o'clock, one mile west of Earth, on the Plainview-Muleshoe Highway U. S. No. 70.

H. W. Sigman, 51, farmer of one-half mile north of Spring Lake, and driver of a Spring Lake School bus, was instantly killed when the car in which he was driving with Lawrence Hughes of near Earth and a truck were in collision.

Hughes was taken to the Plainview Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a fracture of one of his legs and possible fracture of his collar bone and other injuries.

Sigman and Hughes were reported to have been travelling west towards Muleshoe, and in the act of passing the truck when the accident happened.

The truck is reported to have been occupied by Gerald and Corry Jaquess of Earth, and to be proceeding west at the time of the mishap. Both these men escaped with minor injuries.

Wildcats Defeat Muleshoe 38 to 0 Here Friday Night

Hutson Stars As Locals Coast To Easy Victory Over Yellowjackets

Coach Abe Murphy's Littlefield Wildcats, sparked by the sensational ball carrying of Hutson, Holberg and Hammons, advanced one step nearer to a tie for the district championship with the Slaton Tigers by defeating a fighting crew of Muleshoe Yellowjackets by a lopsided score of 38-0 here Friday night.

Scoring three touchdowns in the initial frame, one in the third and two in the fourth, the Wildcats were never in serious trouble and kept the Yellowjackets on the defensive practically all the way.

The Wildcats scored shortly after

CONTEST LIGHT PLANT VOTE

Notice of contest of the election on October 14, at which the City of Littlefield was authorized to issue $275,000 in revenue bonds for the establishing of a municipal light, power and distribution plant, has been filed in the 64th District Court of Lamb County.

Legal notice of the intention to contest the election was served Wednesday afternoon on Mayor Homer Hall and Commissioners Beaman Phillips and B. J. Foust.

City To Continue Plans

Immediately following the serving of the notice on the mayor and commissioners, E. A. Bills, city attorney, announced that, notwithstanding the contest action, the City of Littlefield will proceed with all details necessary in bringing about the establishing of the municipal plant.

Notice of the contest was served on the mayor and commissioners just one day prior to the expiration of the legal time limit for such action.

In the first election to pass on the matter of the issuance of the bonds, held August 5, insufficient votes were received to carry the proposal, but in the last election, October 14, the necessary plurality was received. In the first election the proposal failed to carry by 26 votes, but in the second election a majority of 38 votes were cast.

Seven Contestants

The contestants are W. E. Jeffries, Sr., J. M. Roberts, A. L. Hood, G. W. Miller, J. C. Nash, J. E. Brannen and J. H. Lippard.

Attorneys for the contestants are T. Wade Potter, Littlefield, and Cronshaw, Dupree and Milam, Lubbock.

A notice of contest has the same status on the docket of the district court as any other action, and, therefore, will not likely be called until the February term of court. The only exception that could develop would be a special session of the court.

Statutes provide that the defendants, in this case the mayor and city commissioners, have 20 days in

Red Cross Membership Drive Now Underway

Citizens of Lamb County joined the nation Tuesday morning, November 11, in the annual Red Cross Membership Drive.

P. A. Hemphill, Lamb County Chairman of the American Red Cross, reports that careful plans for the drive have been made by local committee chairmen under the direction of Mrs. James Stokes. Since the average American citizen has come to realize the great work of the American Red Cross and because needs have been so greatly increased during recent months, it is believed that Lamb County will easily reach her goal of 1,225 members for this year.

Mrs. J. M. Stokes is personally directing the drive in Littlefield, as well as throughout the whole county. Persons desiring to volunteer their services during the roll call period from November 11 to November 30 should see Mrs. Stokes.

Mrs. J. H. Carl of Littlefield, who is chairman of the Junior Red Cross, will set the Junior Red Cross campaign in motion Friday, November 14, throughout the county. The Junior program is one which enlists all public schools' students.

Demonstrator Reports On Livingroom

By Mrs. E. L. Leghorn
To me, my living room is a twelve year dream come true. Each year since I have been married, I have dreamed and planned a living room. All the rooms of my house were furnished before the living room. I always hesitated to buy anything for the living room because I never could completely furnish a living room until this year.

At the first of the year, I had the pleasure of planning and actually furnishing my living room to my heart's delight.

My old living room was a collection of odd pieces that I did not want to mar the appearance of the other rooms, consisting of an old discarded cot, a linoleum rug, piano, trunk, window box. The room was 14x16 feet.

The first thing done in transforming my old room into a new room, and with which I am well pleased, was to take out the East partition of the house and take in a porch and make a larger living room by the way of putting in a new floor to the porch part, adding two windows making three windows on the east. The walls are sheet rock and papered in subdued design of ivory.

The woodwork is ivory enamel. The floors were sanded with sandpaper, cracks filled with wood filler, and are now varnished and waxed.

Three pictures were added, a desk, living room suite, table with mirror above it, (near the entrance from outside door), a fireplace, new gas stove, two end tables, one magazine basket (tall type) reading lamp, lights fixture, 4 rockers (two children rockers were remodeled) a chair to match the desk was added, a picture show machine with children's films, remodeled book case, an electric children's phonograph, games, a large family Bible, a 20x12 ft. wool rug was laid on a 20x12 ft. rug cushion, and venetian blinds were added. The new pastel rose draperies were made and added.

A table model rotary sewing machine holds the radio.

An arch was cut from the living room to the dining room. Therefore the dining room furniture matches the living room. The draperies are the same color, also dining room chairs are covered in material like the curtains.

A new front door was added, also a new front screen door. The windows screen frames for the entire house were added new this year.

Every room in the house profited that new rug, new paper, veneer by the living room demonstration in tian blinds were added, also new furniture.

IT MAKES A GREAT DIFFERENCE NOW...

Many think there is no sense in feeding chickens when they are molting, but every year old hen molts, and the best ones molt late. Feed them Egg mash, and they will be laying again much sooner and be in condition to lay much longer. Feed them only grain while molting in the short winter days, and you are cutting down your December, January and February egg production, and the health of your flock.

Armistice Day

(An editorial written by Mrs. Bernice Bramlet of Littlefield 17 years ago, when she was Bernice Davis, living at McKinney, and a student in high school. Mrs. Bramlet was then 16 years of age, and wrote this editorial as an essay in her high school work.)
ARMISTICE DAY
 "The war is over—the Germans signed the Armistice." What great rejoicing swept over the land when the news was spread. Telegraph wires rang with the joyful tidings, great printing presses began to roll out the welcome tidings. Through the length and breadth of the land an intense emotion found vent. Those that had sons and husbands in the army or over sea wept with joy, all the countries breathed a tremendous sigh of relief that the shadow which threatened the world had been blown aside by the united force of many nations. "What Price Everlasting Peace?" It's the laying waste of homes and homes. It's the life blood of countless youth. It's the weeping of orphaned children with out number. It's the torture of a million of mothers and wives that throbs around the entire world. The anniversary of that great day when all the whistles and bells in the United States were let loose in one vast explosion of celebration should be forever green in the memory of every true American. The significance of the day when the great world war came to its final, terrible cannonade will recur to peace loving America every time the cycle of the season brings Nov. 11.

Lamb County H. D. Women Make Tour Of Lamb County

"It takes a heap 'O' livin' in a house to make a home" said Edgar A Guest many years ago. Those who attended the precinct 3, home improvement tour last week agree that Lamb County families will live by Mr. Guest's philosophy.

The tour which was scheduled for September 29 was postponed until October 29. The reason behind the postponement was—well, mud. But the sun shone beautifully on this day and club women and the agent with Miss Laverne Hayhurst, FSA home supervisor as their guest, toured most of the precinct.

The tour began with a visit to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Massengill. The visitors were more than thrilled at the beautiful doors and woodwork, and surprised at the tremendous amount of storage space which every home needs but which few have. Everyone has dreamed of a kitchen like those seen in magazines but which few believed could be a reality. Mrs. Massengill has one of those. The entire home is an example of the time, thoughts, and abilities of both Mr. and Mrs. Massengill for it is a lovely home.

The tour also included a visit to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawk but the yard and garden were still in full bloom and production so we visited them also. One particular item of interest was a bedroom chair, made from a large wooden barrel, with ample space in the bottom for storage.

The party then visited the remodeled homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Will and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Wilson. Both homes are examples of comfort, convenience, and attractiveness.

Yards included in tour were those of Mrs. R. W. Standfield, Mrs. Aubrey McAuley, Mrs. Vernon Qualls, Miss Havah Pool, 4-H club demonstrator, and Mrs. Brandt. Each yard was a perfect demonstration of interest, effort, and attractiveness, despite the fact the tour was made in late October.

The cleverly arranged storage space in the bathroom and the ample storage in other parts of the house and the built in breakfast table were the items for the visitors to "oh and ah" in the new, modernistic home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Young.

The only rock home visited was the lovely home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Steffey. The knotty pine walls in the living room and dining room lent to the western atmosphere.

The last two homes visited by the "tourists" were those recently built by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duffey. Ample storage space was again a point of interest in both homes. The well filled basement displaying Mrs. Allen's home-canned products, was an inspiration. The two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Allen proudly displayed two attractively covered bedroom chairs made from two "front seats of a car". The built-in bookcase and writing desk, displayed by Mrs. Duffey, was both convenient and attractive.

Thus the second precinct home improvement tour was ended with those who attended being both enthusiastic and inspired, hoping that weather conditions will make it possible to visit all precincts in 1942.

Pays For Living Room Suite From Canned Products

Mrs. M. J. Wilson, president of the Littlefield Home Demonstration club paid for a living room suite in 1940 from the sale of home canned products. During this summer, 1941, she has paid for a bedroom suite with her $21.50 from the sale of home grown and canned beans, peas, pickles, apples, spinach, okra and tomatoes. From peas alone she received another $35.00.

Mrs. Wilson says, "At times I couldn't supply the orders as fast as they would come in. There were times when I had several dozen empty cans stacked ready to be filled but somehow I got around to filling them. I did all of this aside from canning for my own winter supply."

W. D. Gilder Spends Birthday At Home Of His Parents

W. D. Gilder left Sunday morning for De Leon, Texas, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Gilder. He was accompanied to De Leon by Mrs. O. B. Halle, mother of Mrs. Gilder, who had been visiting in the Gilder home, and another daughter, Mrs. Rill Moody, at Plainview for the past five weeks.

Mr. Gilder's birthday was Tuesday, Nov. 11, and a birthday dinner party was staged at the Gilder home honoring the Littlefield man. He also attended the football game between Gorman and De Leon which he attends annually.

BUICK BUILDS ESTATE WAGON ON 121 INCH SPECIAL CHASSIS

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 10.—Introduction of its new 1942 estate wagon on a 121-inch series 40 special chassis, was announced this week by the Buick Division of General Motors Corporation.

According to Buick engineers, the popular body type, which first became a part of the Buick line two years ago, is designed for maximum utility and hard use at the same time providing all the qualities of performance and passenger comfort inherent in standard models.

Body construction is of natural wood with ash framing and mahogany panels fully reinforced and specially treated to resist weather or insect damage. Full passenger car seats have soft foam rubber cushions over deep coil springs and cushions and backs are tailored in a choice of black, brown or red leather. Both front and rear passenger compartments are equipped with arm rests, those in the front also serving as convenient door pulls.

Front seats of the new model are adjustable by means of a convenient lever located at the left seat riser, while the rear seat can be removed entirely without the use of tools by lifting it forward and out of an ingenious latching device.

With the rear seat in place, the rear compartment has 33 cubic feet of usable luggage space which is increased to 100 cubic feet when the rear seat is removed. Additional storage room is available when it is desired to carry large trunks, boxes, dog kennels and the like, by letting the tail gate down. Extra tire and tools are carried in a.

While undergoing training as a FLYING CADET, you will receive $75 per month, PLUS board, lodging, uniform clothing, medical care, and $10,000 Life Insurance coverage.

If you fail to graduate you will be discharged and returned to civil status, unless you were already a member of the armed forces when you were accepted as a FLYING CADET, or, if qualified, you may be transferred and receive training under one of the other classifications as BOMBARDIER, NAVIGATOR, ARMAMENT, PHOTOGRAPHY, COMMUNICATION, ENGINEERING OR METEOROLOGY.

How do you qualify for the FLYING CADETS? First, you must be between the ages of 20 and 27, and physically fit. You must be of excellent character, unmarried and without dependents. You must have college credits in U. S. History, English Composition and Grammar, Algebra, Plane Geometry, Plane Trigonometry and a Science or Modern Language. (Or, instead of offering college credits, you may qualify by passing written examinations in any or all of the above subjects.)

The opportunity to LEARN and EARN and at the same time fit yourself for a civil career is unique. It is a challenge to every young man who can qualify.

If you are too young (but over 18) or too old (but under 35) or if you cannot meet physical or other requirements, ask for information as to your opportunities in the Air Corps as a technician. Technicians specialize in Aerial Photography, Airplane maintenance, radio operating, sheet-metal welding, and dozens of other highly skilled trades which are valuable in civil life as well as in the Air Corps.

Contest Election—

which to file an answer to the notice of contest.

Lengthy Document

The notice of contest covers almost nine pages of legal size papers, and sets out in minute detail the many grounds on which the election is contested.

The contestants declare that "if the election votes cast in said election for the issuance of the bonds had not been counted and only the legal votes cast at such election had been counted, the result of such election would have been that the bonds would have been defeated".

Contestants further say "that a number of legally qualified voters presented themselves at the polls" but that their request and demand to vote "was refused and denied by the election judges and they were not permitted to vote. That each of said legally qualified voters so offering to vote and whose votes were rejected would have voted against the issuance of said bonds".

Charge Many Illegal Votes

The notice of contest points out that many illegal votes were cast in favor of the bond issue, gives the names of individuals, and outlines the grounds on which it is contended that the votes were illegal.

Here are some of the contentions of the contestants:

That votes were cast by non-residents of Littlefield;

That a number of persons were not entitled to vote because they had failed to render taxable property for taxation;

That a number of persons were not entitled to vote because they had not paid their poll tax for the year 1940 before February 1, 1941;

That votes were cast by persons who had not been residents of Littlefield sufficiently long to entitle them to a vote;

That the votes of several persons were "void and illegal for that the election judges, instead of requiring said voters to present themselves at the City Hall . . . went out and took ballots to each of said voters and let them mark their ballots and return said ballots and placed in the ballot box".

The contestants further present "that if the said illegal votes hereinabove listed had not been counted and canvassed in favor of said bonds, and if the legal voters hereinabove listed had been permitted to cast their votes, that the result of said election would have been against the issuance of said bonds, and that the result of said election would have been 213 votes for the issuance of the bonds and 227 against the issuance of said bonds".

The contestants further point out that, in connection with the October 14 election, the City Commission called "a pretended and purported election" to determine whether the citizens of Littlefield, Texas, should adopt the provision of Chapter 18, General Laws of the State of Texas, passed by the 43d Legislature of the State of Texas at its Fourth Called Session in 1934, as amended by Chapter 74 of the General Laws of the State of Texas passed by the 45th Legislature of the State of Texas at its second Called Session in 1937, relating to the annual transfer and appropriation of income and revenue of public utilities systems owned and operated by certain cities and towns.

"That the said law, as amended, only applied to cities and towns having a population of 12,410 inhabitants or less and owning and operating its municipal light systems and municipal water works system, and that the City of Littlefield did not at the time of the calling of said election own its municipal light system and, therefore, did not come within that class of cities and towns mentioned and described in said act so as that the people of said city could legally adopt the provision of said act."

Claim Voters Misinformed

The contestants declared that the proponents of a municipal light and power plant represented to the voters, previous to the election, that the city could use the revenue derived from the operation of a municipal light plant for other municipal purposes, and that "they knew or should have known that under the law such could not be done".

As a result of the statements made relative to the use of revenue from a municipal light plant for other municipal purposes, and the calling of the "said pretended and purported election on the adoption of said act," which has been referred to above, many persons who voted against the light plant in the first election voted in favor of the project at the October 14 election, the contestants point out.

The contestants charge that a program of "threats and intimidations" were carried out to obtain votes for the municipal light plant, and that electioneering took place at the polls.

In conclusion, the contestants ask that the proper process issue from the court directed to the custodian of the ballot boxes containing the ballots cast at said election and the

Wildcats Defeat—

the opening gun, when Hutson took the ball deep inside Yellowjacket territory and weaved through a badly scattered Muleshoe line for a touchdown. Floyd Holberg, 170 pound backfield ace on the Littlefield squad, chalked up the second marker for the locals when he snared a pass from Hammons and marched over for a touchdown. Holberg also kicked the point and the Wildcats were out in front 13-0.

Hammons, 155 pound Littlefield quarterback turned in one of the smoothest games of his high school career and his educated toe pulled the Wildcats out of trouble on more than one occasion. When a Wildcat drive would bog down and the locals were forced to punt, the ball was snapped to Hammons who would fade back—away back and send the old pigskin rocketing down the field and often times over the head of a waiting Yellowjacket.

Coach Prince Scott of Muleshoe is to be congratulated upon the progress that he has made with the inexperienced Yellowjackets. In one short year he has built a line that is practically the equal to that of the Wildcats. Only in the backfield has the locals have a decided edge and it is in this particular spot that the Yellowjackets appear to be the weakest.

The Littlefield fans witnessed the full strength of the Jackets line in the second quarter when the Wildcats were held to a standstill and were forced to take the defensive.

T. M. Cox, in the backfield, Standefer at center and Barbour on the line formed the spearhead of the Yellowjackets attack and were in on every play. With another year of football behind them, Muleshoe is due to put a team on the field next season that is a far cry ahead of the team that the Wildcats faced Friday night.

Roy Hutson, 170 pound Wildcat back who is as fast as a West Texas Jackrabbit with floating power, carried off the scoring honors for the locals by scoring three touchdowns for the locals during the fray. The most spectacular play of the evening was his 92 yard dash down the barred green and over the goal line with a swarm of Yellowjackets nipping at the seat of his pants all the way. Byers, Lippard and Bales were also outstanding for the locals.

Barring injuries in scrimmage this week the Wildcats should be in the best of condition for their clash with the Levelland Lobos at Levelland Friday night. Coaches Murphy and Storrs are expected to use every trick in the bag in an effort to clear this last hurdle between them and a tie for the district championship with the highly touted Slaton Tigers, and all Wildcats fans are expected to be on hand to root for the locals. Slaton only managed to emerge victorious over the Lobos by one touchdown and the Wildcats at least hope to duplicate this feat.

returns of said election, requiring them to be presented at this court, and that upon a hearing hereof such ballot boxes be reopened and be examined and recounted; that the votes which were illegally cast for the issuance of said bonds by reason of the facts set out above be cast out, and that the legal voters who were denied the right to vote in said election be counted as against the issuance of such bonds; or in the event this court is unable to determine the real result of such election, that it declare such election void and of no force and effect, and for such other and future relief, in law and in equity, as Contestants may show themselves entitled to".

MAYBE it's a little hard to picture this trim Buick as it will look on that unknown day when you come to turn it in.

There may be scars in its fenders, and use-stains on its upholstery—but the thing that matters is it'll still be going great guns.

You can count on that husky valve-in-head straight-eight to be ticking off the miles with the satisfying efficiency it now boasts.

You can rely on Compound Carburetion† to hold your gas-costs down, squeezing every last power-packed mile out of the fuel you burn.

There won't be any loss of easy comfort in those all-coil springs, or any need for care to keep them gentle.

As for such things as connecting rods and bearings—Buick rods are extra strong, while tests show that our oil-cushioned bearings last twice as long as others under the same load and service.

So go right ahead! Buy Buick on its last mile instead of its first.

If you can get one now, you'll be smart to grab it!

RADIO COMES OF AGE

This month radio broadcasting comes of age and celebrates its 21st anniversary. In addition, it is also celebrating the 15th anniversary of network broadcasting.

Radio has made tremendous strides during its youth—since the day in November, 1920, when station KDKA, Pittsburg, first aroused public interest in radio broadcasting with a program announcing the returns on the Harding-Cox presidential election.

Of course, that wasn't the real beginning of radio, which had been in experimental stages for many years and had been successfully utilized in the World war. But that was the first program broadcast for the purpose of arousing public interest in radio. It all is said to have started when H. P. Davis, then vice president of Westinghouse, read a small advertisement of a Pittsburg department store saying that wireless sets to hear concerts sent from the home of Frank Conrad, in Wilkesburg, were for sale. That little ad changed Mr. Davis' whole attitude toward radio — for to him it said, for the first time, "Radio can serve the public." Before that it had been thought of primarily for private purposes.

Dr. Conrad, who started as an amateur but by 1920 was one of the best known operators in the nation, broadcast several times a week for the benefit of the few people who had radio sets. He would talk, play phonograph records and sometimes have friends in to put on a show.

Mr. Davis listened—and from then on he devoted his effort toward plans to broadcast programs of the widest possible public interest.

Radio has its faults. There are many ways in which it must be changed and improved. But all of us will admit that for a youth of 21 years it is, to say the least, a youngster who "shows real promise."

Do You Know The Words?

"God Bless America" is a great song. It is the kind of song that inspires a fervent patriotism and makes us feel how much our country means to us. It fits the present times. It ought to be sung loud and often.

But "God Bless America" shouldn't be treated with the reverence and solemn respect which we hold for our national anthem "The Star-Spangled Banner."

In many of the schools today children learn "God Bless America" before they even hear the tune to "The Star-Spangled Banner." The reason usually given is that it's easier for the children to learn. And sometimes it is added: "They're thinking of making it the national anthem anyway!"

Who "they" are is a matter of conjecture, but among a large number of people, to all intents and purposes, "God Bless America" already has become the national anthem. People stand when it is played in public gatherings. Many know every word of it by heart yet stumble along when they try to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Whether there is a chance that "God Bless America" may some day be our national anthem is not the question today. Our national anthem is "The Star-Spangled Banner" — and this is no time to consider a change.

To those who know the words to "The Star-Spangled Banner" — who have thrilled to those words and that tune all their lives—it is the one song, above all others, which expresses the spirit of America. Let's all learn those words backward and forward.

J. L. Murdock To Represent Cotton Growers Association

J. L. Murdock, well-known cotton broker, has been appointed representative of the Texas Cotton Growers Association of Dallas, for the Littlefield area, according to reports this week.

He explains that the operations through this association is the same as placing cotton through the Government loan, and farmers will receive loan prices. However, the advantages for the farmers include good service, without delay, as patrons can bring samples and compress tickets to his office and receive their money, Mr. Murdock said.

CHAPTER IV

SYNOPSIS
Harley Longstreet of DeWitt & Longstreet, brokers, invites eight friends to celebrate his engagement to Cherry Brown, actress. On a Crosstown trolley, Longstreet dies suddenly of poison injected into his hand by a needle. The party consists of Longstreet's partner DeWitt and his wife Jeanne, her fiancé, Cherry's vaudeville partner Lord, Cherry's vaudeville partner Polux, Abearn, friend of DeWitt, a middle-aged Latin, and Michael Collins, brawny Irishman. At the scene, Inspector Thumm examines the body. He is convinced the poisoned man entered Longstreet's pocket after the party had boarded the trolley. Longstreet always read the evening paper on the trolley, Cherry Brown says, for the stock market news, especially about the Metals. That's why he had reached for his glasses. Suddenly hysterical, Cherry rushes forward to DeWitt: "You did it," she shrieks. "You killed him!" Thumm examines the other passengers. The conductor, Charles Wood No. 2101 says he often has seen Longstreet and DeWitt on his car. The motorman Guinness No. 409, corroborates. Next morning Thumm learns that Longstreet had had an affair with Mrs. DeWitt, a strangely superstitious woman that he had a hold on DeWitt, frequently demanding large sums of money from him. Indeed, each member of the party seems to have some grievance against Longstreet. This is the story of Inspector Thumm and the D. A. Drury Lane, retired Shakespearean actor.

They found the bundle was the body of a burly man, with red hair.

Drury Lane sprang to his feet. Several questions, inspector. Has there been a development of interest from Dr. Schilling's autopsy?" "Nothing," said Thumm. "We haven't made an inch of progress in tracing the poison or its source." "Inspector Thumm, you are entirely satisfied that the needed cork was slipped into Longstreet's pocket in the car and not before?" "That's one thing we're dead certain of."

"Now tell me, inspector—nothing was found on the occupants of the car that would seem out of place, considering the weather and the type of persons involved—like topcoats, evening clothes, gloves—things like that?" "No, I can absolutely vouch for that."

Lane stared thoughtfully at his partner. "If everything Inspector Thumm has told me is true, then I believe the guilty lies in one direction. But I prefer, for pressing reasons, not to commit myself further at this time as the possible identity of your unknown quarry—shall we call him X from now on?" "But Mr. Lane," began Bruno, "a delay—after all..." Drury Lane stood motionless. "Dangerous, of course. But not half so much, you will have to take my word for it, as a premature disclosure."

Bruno and Thumm faced each other across Bruno's desk the next morning. The District Attorney's hand played with a neat pile of letters as he asked: "Anything new?" Thumm bit a cigarette in half. "Collins. Making trouble again. One of my men just found out that he visited DeWitt three times since Saturday. Of course, he's trying to collect from DeWitt."

Bruno began idly to open the letters. Two he tossed into a desk basket for filing; the third, a letter in a cheap plain envelope, brought him to his feet with an exclamation. "Good God, Thumm! If this isn't the sweetest break—!" He spread the letter before the inspector. It was written in rusty black ink on cheap ruled stationery, in a plain undisguised hand. Addressed to the District Attorney, it had no signature:

I am one of the people on the street-car when Harley Longstreet was murdered. I have found out something about who killed him. I am willing to give this information to you, but I am afraid the murderer knows I know, and I think I am being watched. But if you will meet me, or send somebody to meet me Wednesday night at eleven o'clock, in the Weehawken ferry waiting-room, I will disclose myself and tell what I know. Please for my sake don't tell any outsiders about this letter. I am going to watch myself until that time.

Thumm handled the letter gingerly, he placed it on the desk and scanned the envelope. "Postmarked Weehawken, N. J., last night," he muttered. "Full of fingerprints from dirty fingers. One of those Jerseyites on the car." "We can stand a quick prosecution," Bruno rubbed his hands contentedly. "Get in touch with District Attorney Rennells of Hudson County and make the necessary arrangements to have Jersey police watch the Weehawken terminal. As Thumm went out Bruno called the Hamlet: "Hello! Mr. Drury Lane." District Attorney Bruno answered: "This is Quincey, Mr. Bruno. Mr. Lane is right here by my side."

"Oh yes. I forgot—he can't hear." Bruno explained the contents of the anonymous letter. Silence from the other end of the wire, then: "Mr. Lane asks if he may be present tonight at this meeting."

"Oh, by all means." In the barnlike waiting-room behind the Weehawken ferries, a dozen men were grouped, silent and watchful. District Attorney Bruno, nervously consulting his watch at ten-second intervals, paced the floor like a maniac. Inspector Thumm prowled about, looking sharply at infrequent newcomers. Quite alone sat Mr. Drury Lane. Bruno came over and sat down. "Forty-five minutes late already," he complained. "To tell the truth, I'm beginning to feel a wee bit foolish."

"You would have more cause to feel a wee bit worried, Mr. Bruno," replied Lane. "You think—" began Bruno, and stopped, stiffening—as did Inspector Thumm across the room—at the raucous commotion emanating from the ferries outside.

"What is the trouble, Mr. Bruno?" asked Lane. Bruno's head strained forward. "There was a cry of 'Man overboard!' " Drury Lane was on his feet in one feline movement. Inspector Thumm thundered: "Trouble on the pier; I'm going out!" Bruno also had risen. "I'll stay here with some of the boys. Might be a decoy. Our man may come yet."

At the farthest end of the roofed pier a ferry boat had come in and was grinding against the side pilings. As Thumm, Lane, and a half-dozen detectives reached the landing, some scattered figures were hurrying out of the terminal. The gold-leaf on the boat's pilot-house above the upper deck read: Mohawk. On the north side of the lower deck passengers milled wildly about, leaning over the rail, peering out of windows of the starboard cabin-wall. Drury Lane looked at his watch. The time was 11:40.

Inspector Thumm sprang to the boat-deck. "What's happened?" he roared to a garbled ferryman. "They say he fell from the top deck as the Mohawk was sliding into the pier." Thumm and Lane began to push toward the door of the cabin, when Thumm stopped short, extending his arm. A slight frail figure was stepping off to the dock.

"Hey there, DeWitt! Just a minute!" The frail figure, bundled in a topcoat, looked up, hesitated, then retraced his steps. His face was white; he was panting a little. "Inspector Thumm!" he said slowly. "What are you doing here?" "Little assignment. And you?" "I'm on my way home. What's going on here?" "Might have stayed to find out," said Thumm amiably. "Come along with us. By the way, meet Mr. Drury Lane, the famous actor. Helping out. Mr. Lane, this is Mr. DeWitt, Longstreet's partner." Drury Lane nodded pleasantly; DeWitt's eyes, wandering before, suddenly assumed something of deference. "This is an honor, sir."

Thumm lunged up the brass-tipped stairs amidships, the others following to the dark upper deck. Roughly between the center of the boat and the bow, a few feet behind the cleared space at the tip of the boat, and well to the rear of the pilot-house above, Thumm's flashlight showed long, uneven marks that ran from the railing to an alcove at the northwest outer corner of the cabin. "Jim, go downstairs and hold everybody on the boat." Thumm and Lane, with DeWitt trailing, walked to the rail. "A heavy object was dragged across here," said Thumm. "Might be murder."

"What's the matter, DeWitt? Hurt your hand?" The little broker turned and offered the hand for Thumm's inspection.

Lane leaned forward. On the forefinger, extending from the first joint vertically, was a fresh scar an inch and a half long. A thin scab had healed over the wound. "I cut my finger this evening on some apparatus in the Exchange Club gymnasium before dinner. Dr. Morris there fixed me up. Told me to be careful with it. It pains a little."

A yell reached them from below. "We've got him!" "Downstairs!" cried Thumm. As one, the three men made for the door. As DeWitt grasped the handle of the door he exclaimed in annoyance and frowned over his right hand. Thumm and Lane saw that the wound was bleeding. The scar hung loose, torn in several places.

"Shouldn't have used my right hand on the door," groaned the little man. They found the bundle was the body of a burly man, with red hair. Beside the body, mangled beyond recognition, lay a visored black cap, soaked. Thumm snatched it up. A shield above the visor bore the metal number 2101 and the inscription: Third Avenue Railways.

The inspector glanced sharply at Drury Lane, then thrust his hand into the inner breast pocket of the dead man's coat. His hand reappeared with a soaked wallet. He rummaged through it, and leaped to his feet.

District Attorney Bruno, topcoat tails flying, was hurrying from the terminal to the ferry. Thumm waved the limp wallet. "Bruno! Hurry up! We've got our man!" The District Attorney sprang to the boat. "Who do you mean—the writer of the letter?" "In person, only somebody else got to him first." Thumm eased a water-softened card out of the wallet. Drury Lane examined it over Bruno's shoulder. It was the trolley company's identification card and bore the signature: Charles Wood.

"It's the same writing," agreed Bruno. The macerated corpse of Conductor Charles Wood had been borne to the stationmaster's office. Bruno turned to Lane. "While Inspector Thumm is examining the body, would you care to go downstairs with me? There's a raft of work to be done." At Lane's suggestion DeWitt went with them.

The District Attorney called for the pilot of the Mohawk. "We're trying to get confirmatory identifications of the dead man. Did you see the man whose body we had on the ferry-deck before?" "Hundreds of times. Sort of friend of mine, he was. Course, his head was bashed in and all that, but I'd swear he's Charley Wood, conductor on the Crosstown."

"What makes you think so?" "I just know. Same build, same red hair, same clothes. Charley lives over in Weehawken here. I guess, 'cause he always took the ferry across at 10:45 when he was through with his shift on the car and for years back he got into the habit of comin' up on the top passenger deck and yelling hello at me. Sometimes he'd stay on and gab for a couple of trips. But he said he wasn't goin' to stay on for any extra trips tonight because he had an appointment over in Jersey."

Bruno dismissed the river-man and climbed on one of the waiting-room benches, shouting: "Now I want all those who saw the body fall from the upper deck to step up here!" Six people wavered, looked at each other, then with hesitant steps crossed the room. Bruno, jumping off the bench, eyed a rotund man. "You—what's your name?" "August Havemeyer. I'm a printer—goin' home from work. I was sittin' on the bench across from the window. Just as the boat began to get into the pier I saw something big and black fall outside the windows."

IT MAY BE WINTER TIME OUTSIDE BUT IT'S SUMMER TIME IN YOUR KITCHEN!

Yes, it may be cold outside... but in your kitchen you are still having Summer weather. Surveys show that there are approximately three days in the year that the temperature inside your kitchen is low enough to keep food from spoiling. Don't take the needless risk of losing food by spoilage when you can own an ELECTRIC refrigerator for such a small amount of money. In times like these, you can't afford to throw away food. Let a...

George Chapman Is Promoted To Private First Class

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Chapman of Littlefield have received an interesting letter from their son, George W. Chapman, who is a Private First Class in the Marines. He is stationed at San Diego, Calif.

George joined the Marines in May, and is already a private first class. This is unusually fast promotion, as ordinarily it requires almost a year with this achievement, except by men who have some college education.

A brother, Loyd, has been in the Marines for four years, and is a Corporal in the same unit as George. They occupy adjoining cots.

The letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Chapman from George reads as follows:

"Oct. 6, 1941
Guard Co. Marine B.
San Diego, Calif.

"Dear Mother:

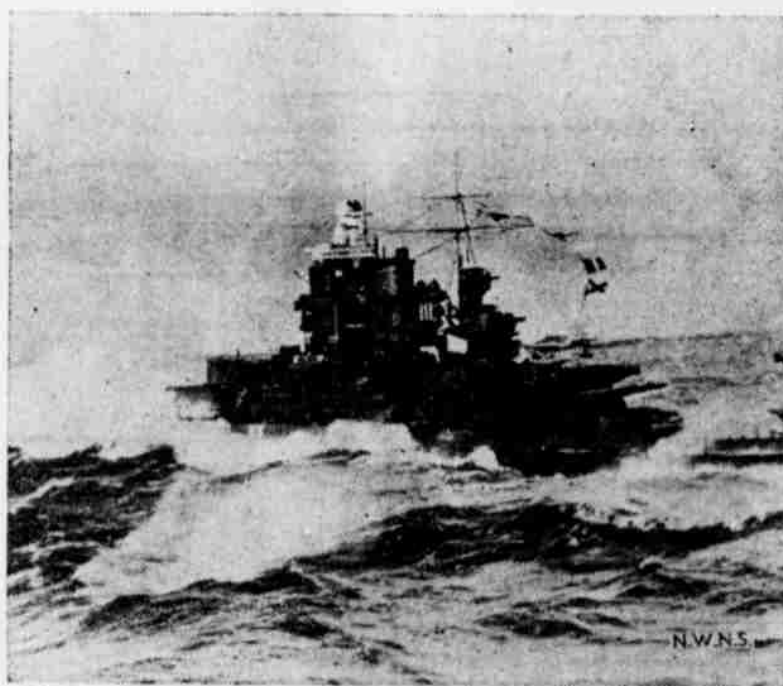

I received your letter this morning, and was glad to hear from you. "I am glad you got your picture and that you think I look so well, because I am well. I feel lots better than I have in a long time. I have gained about 20 pounds since I came out here. I now weigh 175 pounds, and not any of it is fat. I got a letter from George this morning, and he also said I looked so well.

"When I first came out here the boys all told me I couldn't stand up to the training they would give us, but I showed them they just didn't know what Texas boys could do. I like it better out here every day.

"Mother, I am sending you my promotion papers to see, but send them back to me as I might need them some day. There were not any of the other boys who came in in the bunch I did that have been promoted yet. In fact lots of them stay in a year before they are promoted. I got my promotion so soon by working in the office. I can get promoted faster by staying in the office, but I am going to ask for outside work soon as I make corporal, because I don't think I am cut out for office work. I am mail clerk now, and I like that very well, because I can see where all the boys come from. The other day I ran across a boy from Anton, and I see lots of them from Lubbock. I ran into Earl Burleson's cousin from Lubbock. He is in the same company with me. Two or three more boys from Lubbock are in here too, and we are all going up to Los Angeles Friday to see Texas Tech play football. When I got my promotion I also got a raise in pay. I now get $39 a month, and rate one stripe on my sleeve.

"A little more cash comes in handy too, as Loyd and I are paying for

Your child should like this tasty liquid laxative and you should like the gentle way it usually wakes up a youngster's lazy intestines when given by the simple directions.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT contains the same principal ingredient which has enabled its older brother BLACK-DRAUGHT to give so many users such satisfying relief for so many years!

Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief when the familiar symptoms indicate a laxative is needed.

Amherst Bulldogs Win From Spring Lake Friday 28-0

Amherst's Bulldogs, defending champions in District 3-B, won a decision game from Spring Lake Friday afternoon, 28 to 0, and clinched at least a tie in this season's race.

Only an upset victory by Whitharral next Friday could keep Coach E. W. Jackson's Bulldogs from winning the title. Spring Lake, undefeated in conference play until Friday, had been regarded as the team most likely to spill the high-riding Bulldogs.

Ted Cummins, powerful fullback for the Bulldogs, scored all four touchdowns, and pushed over two extra points on plunges at the line. Charles Gibson booted the other two points from placement.

Two of Cummins' touchdowns

WHITHARRAL HIGH DEFEATS SUNDOWN

Scoring in every quarter, Whitharral High school defeated Sundown, 34 to 6, at Whitharral Friday afternoon.

Whitharral led, 21 to 0, at half-time, gave up the lone Sundown score in the fourth quarter, Baer making the touchdown for the losers.

Stafford made one touchdown for Whitharral, Gage made two, Wade and Douglas one each.

came on runs of 25 and 30 yards; the others were on short plunges through the middle.

Bob Payton, center and linebacker, anchored a Bulldog defensive that never allowed the Wolverines to break away. Also outstanding were Tackle C. R. Roberts and End Norman Phillips.

Quarterback Price shone for Spring Lake.

SEAGRAVES SHUTS OUT MORTON 19-0

Co-captain Joe Boy Ellerd struck with touchdowns in each of the first three periods at Seagraves Friday night to lead Seagraves in a 19-0 victory over Morton.

A pass, Thurman Smith to Earl O'Neal, co-captain, gave the Eagles their extra point.

The Indians produced two scoring threats and Seagraves pushed within striking distance in the final stanza.

Between halves, Beedie Procter was crowned Seagraves football queen by the co-captains, Ellerd and O'Neal.

NEW DEAL AND HALE CENTER END SEASON WITH TIE

New Deal's Lions and Hale Center's Owls closed out their football seasons at New-Deal Friday afternoon, battling to a scoreless deadlock in the final game of the season for both teams.

Neither team showed much offensive power. New Deal led, 2-1, in penetrations, but the game will go into conference books as a tie, half won and half lost for each team.

Levelland Loses To Olton 32-0

LEVELLAND, Nov. 7 (Special) Olton's Mustangs, beaten twice in a row in District 5-A competition, got back on the winning track here tonight with a bang.

They spanked Levelland's Lobos mercilessly, rolling up a 32-0 victory in a conference game.

ANTON WHIPS FARWELL 26-13

Anton rallied strong at Anton Friday afternoon to squeeze out a District 3-B conference victory over Farwell, 26 to 13.

Anton scored first, taking a 7-0 lead, but Farwell came back to and do be careful!

"Five mornings a week, nine months a year, we mothers of Texas get our children ready for school. In our home and a million other Texas homes, that's one of the first and most important duties of a mother's day. Sometimes Dad finds out what a job it is when he has to do it by himself."

All of us want our children to have the best education possible. Most of us look to the public schools for this.

Fortunately, Texas has the best public schools in the South. Helping to build and operate them is the Texas petroleum industry which pays 24 million dollars a year in taxes for school purposes.

These petroleum taxes pay an average of one-fourth the cost of educating our children. Altogether, they meet the entire expense of schooling nearly 400,000 Texas boys and girls.

In addition, oil has contributed substantially to the 70 million dollar permanent school fund. Oil is also responsible for much of the 30 million dollar permanent university fund, which has made possible the expansion of the University of Texas and A. & M. College.

Furthermore, taxes on petroleum products add another 11 1/2 million dollars a year for the schools of our State.

Our children get a better education today because of the Texas petroleum industry.

J. B. was making a spectacular play when he was injured.

Row Crop "70" Brings Modern Power to Modern Harvesting

Roll easily and quickly through your harvest with an Oliver Row Crop "70" pulling and driving an Oliver Grain Master Combine. It's just one more job in the busy year-around schedule of the "70", and as the lucky owner of the outfit you'll know the "70" has everything, does everything and is a beauty to operate as well as to look at. You'll discover its great economy, easy-handling and fast working speeds that get jobs done in a hurry at lowest cost.

Smooth, lively, 6-cylinder "70" power is ideal for operating small combines or similar power take-off jobs, and belt work such as driving a 22x36 thresher. The steady overlapping power of six cylinders means more effective delivered power for such work. Power take-off and belt pulley speeds depend directly on engine speed, and are independent of tractor travel. Finger-tip control of all operations, from the comfortable driver's seat, and automotive steering mean easier driving, time-saving operation. The Oliver Variable Speed Governor Control enables you to use only the fuel needed for the work.

Oliver builds the "70" in two fuel types for maximum fuel economy—the "70" HC with high compression engine for gasoline, and the "70" KD with engine designed for kerosene or distillate. Pick your fuel and your "70". Get modern low-cost tractor power. See us today about a demonstration.
