

Council wrangles with water rights

By RICK WHITE

A tough decision got even tougher.

A preliminary study concluded it would cost the City of Muleshoe at least $5 million to recover and pump water from a 5,000-acre tract of land that straddles the Bailey County-Lamb County line near the municipal airport.

The "conservative estimate" was part of a feasibility study done by City's engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock reviewed during Tuesday's Muleshoe City Council meeting.

The report concluded that the land known as the East Well field contains enough quality drinking water that could last up to 45 years.

City Manager James Fisher said Muleshoe is facing immediate needs and must decide if it can afford to keep land and or water rights that might not be tapped until well into the next century.

Councilman Cliff Black said the land is a financial burden if it remains idle.

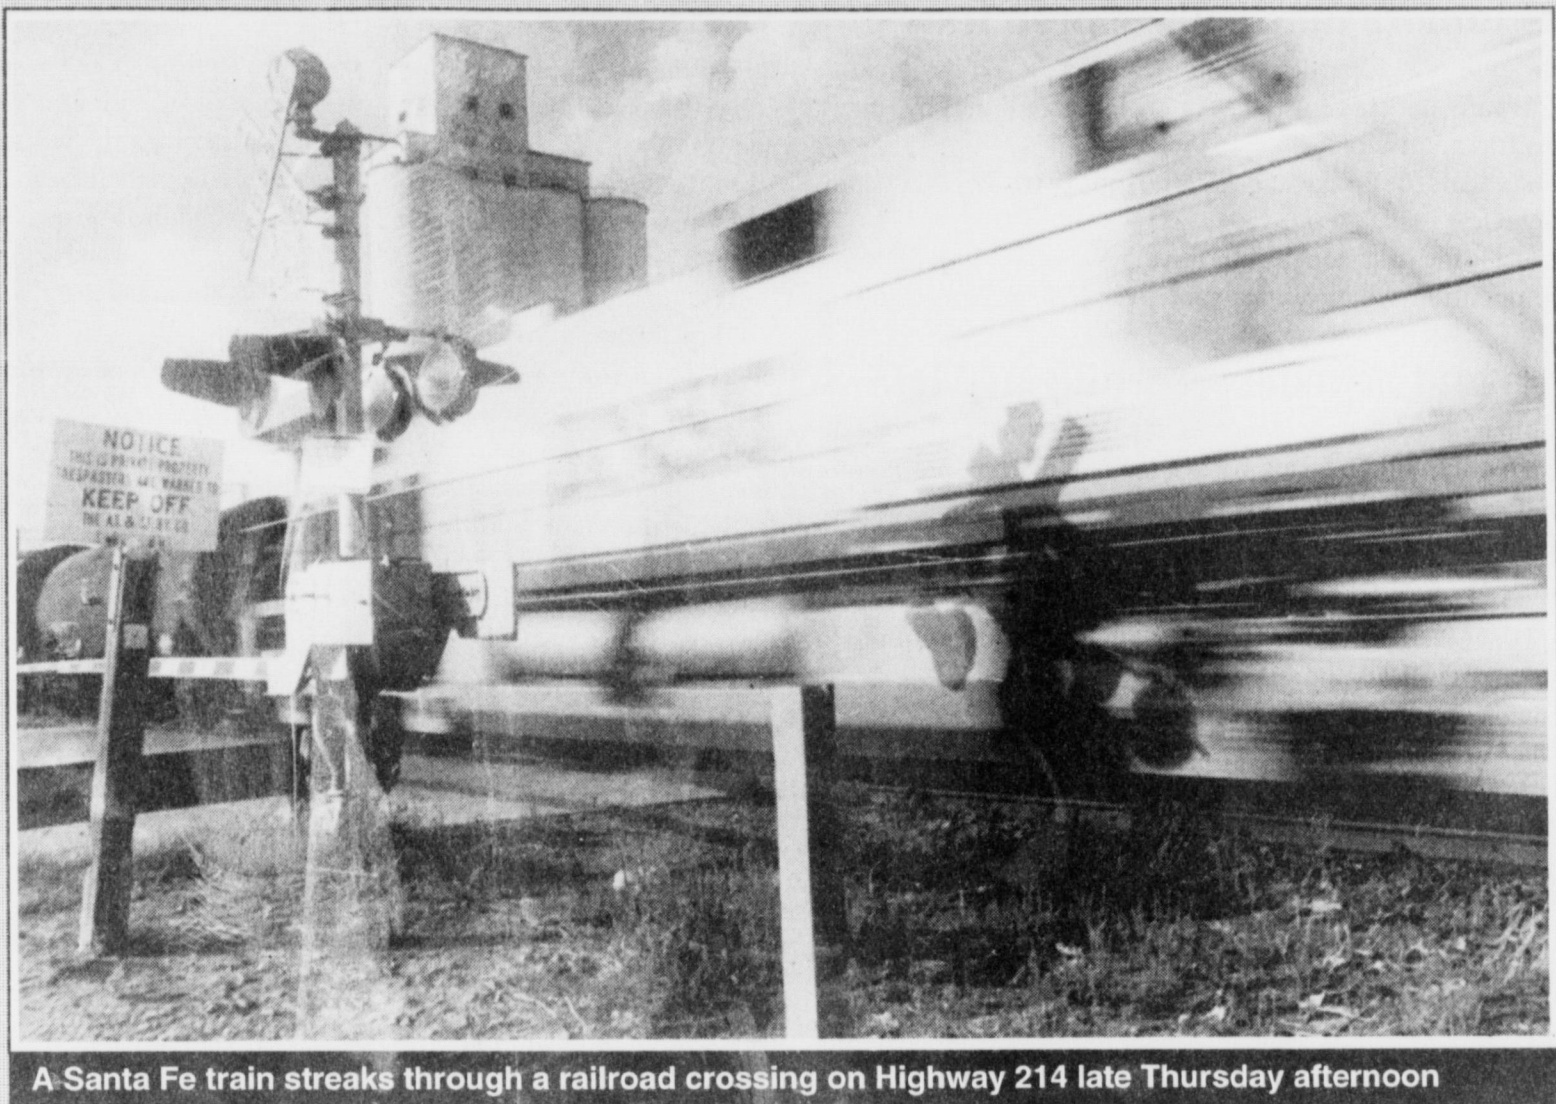

"I feel we need to sell it," Black said. "I haven't really decided yet if we should sell the property and keep the water rights."

"I don't think it is something we can afford right now. I think there are other water rights within in the city limits the city can secure for a better price."

Parks & Wildlife holding deer hunting seminars

In less than two months, the first mule deer season in the western South Plains will begin.

As locals wonder about the upcoming season, conversations at coffee shops and co-ops have centered around everything from illegal hunters to exorbitant lease prices and mature bucks with Boone & Crockett antlers.

Anxiety about the unknown can stir up emotions and imaginations, but if the 5-day mule deer season is anything like other regulations that were once new, it will be considerably less sensational than the rumors.

The 5-day mule deer season will occur in Bailey, Lamb, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties.

The season will begin on Saturday, Nov. 22 and conclude Wednesday, Nov. 26. The bag limit is one buck mule deer. There are no public hunting lands in the five counties, and permission from the landowner must be obtained before entering private property.

Two local seminars are scheduled in an attempt to provide factual information about mule deer management, the hunting season, and the legalities associated with lease hunting.

The seminars are being offered by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Natural Resource Conservation Service.

Landowners, sportsmen, and interested individuals are encouraged to attend.

Specific topics to be discussed are habitat management for mule deer, regulations applying to the mule deer season, and to lease hunting.

The first seminar will be at 7 p.m. Oct. 28 at the Muleshoe Civic Center.

The second seminar will be at 7 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Plains Community Center.

Continuing education units (CEU) which are required for applicator's licenses, are currently being applied for and will hopefully be offered at each seminar.

For questions about the seminars, contact Gene Miller at 806-655-3782 or Calvin Richardson at 915-694-0680.

Friona leaves little doubt in 45-6 romp

■ No. 6 Chieftains win 15th-straight regular-season game

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

It was hard to figure which disappeared quicker — the sun over the horizon or Muleshoe's chances of pulling off a major upset.

Friona jumped out to a three-touchdown lead before the game was 13 minutes old and trounced the Mules 45-6 in a District 1-3A game Friday night at Benny Douglass Stadium.

Matthew Kendrick proved nearly impossible to stop, rushing for 204 yards and three touchdowns on just nine carries as the No. 6 Chieftains won their 15th-straight regular-season game.

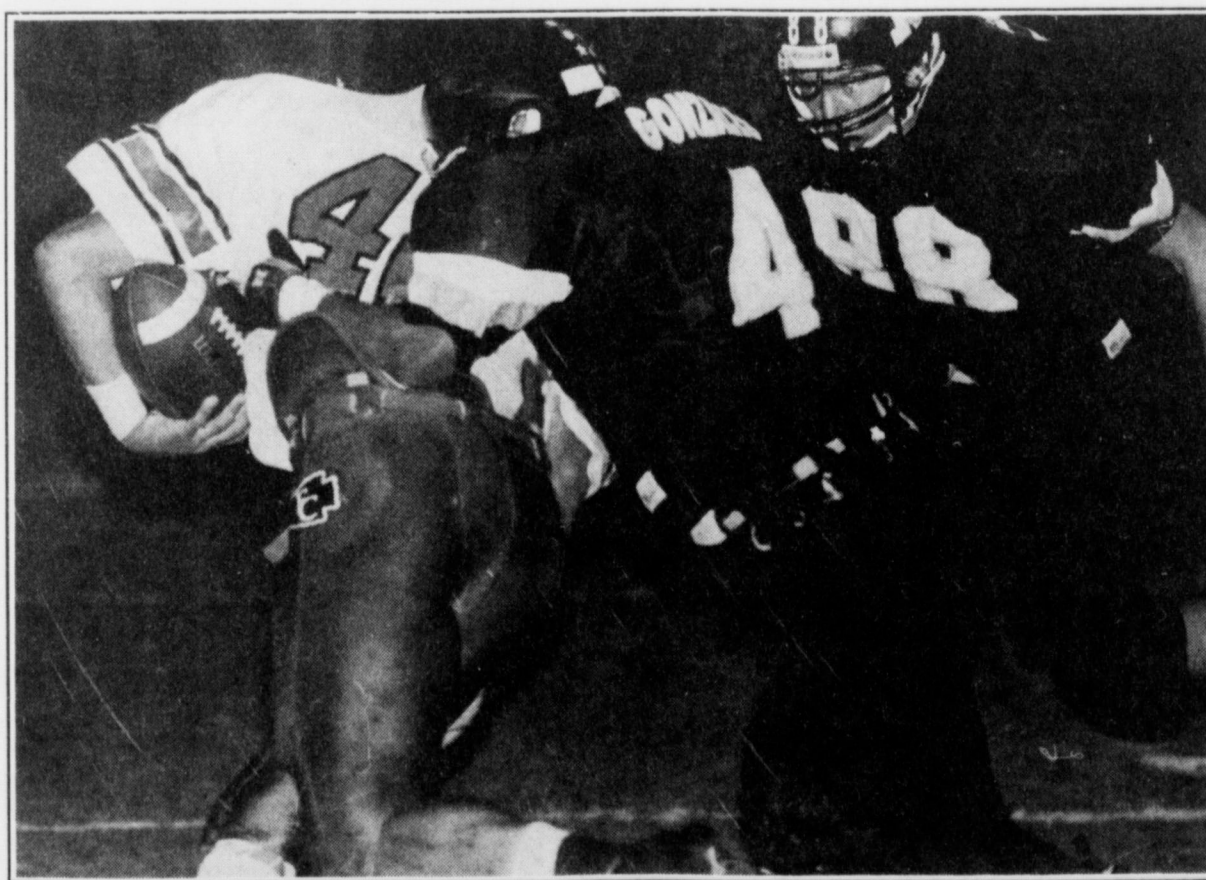

"I thought it was our best game as far as consistency and the level of intensity," Friona head coach James Morton, who watched his team improved to 6-0 overall and 3-0 in district. "They had trouble controlling our running back."

Kendrick scored on runs of 67 and 88 yards and Vega caught a 62-yard touchdown pass on the game's third play.

"We knew they had the capability to score on any play, whether it's the third play of the game or the tenth," said Wood, dismissing the Chieftains' quick start as the key to the game. "That's a good football team. Friona deserves its ranking."

The loss drops the Mules to 2-4 overall and 1-2 in district.

"We're not out of the playoff hunt yet," Wood

Muleshoe's B.J. Gonzales and Dustin Cleavinger (88) tackle a Friona ball carrier Friday said. "This game was for the district title and there's no doubt that Friona is the clear favorite to win it. But we can still be in the playoffs. The players just have to realize they have to work hard. And so do the coaches."

Gilbert Vela was a bright spot for the Mules, gaining a career-high 132 yards on 23 carries.

Muleshoe finished with 267 yards against the district's top defense, but a big chunk of its second-half yardage came on Greg Pena's 48-yard run in the fourth quarter and on a 36-yard touchdown pass from Matt McClanahan to Manuel Campolla on the last play of the game.

Poor field position kept Muleshoe bottle up most of the first half.

Down 21-0 early in the second quarter, Vela raced 49 yards to the Friona 16 before behind dragged down from behind. But the Mules were flagged for a personal foul, which moved the ball back to the 35, and then fumbled the ball

Cleavinger earns all-region honors

Muleshoe High School senior Cassidy Cleavinger was chosen as a second alto for the All-Region Choir for the second consecutive year.

MHS students participated in individual auditions for the All-Region Choir against 1A-5A schools from across the South Plains.

"Including junior high, this is my third time to make region, I'm going to work hard to try and make area and hopefully state this year," said Cassidy, the daughter of Criss and Mike Cleavinger.

Cleavinger will be going to the Pre-Area choir auditions on Nov. 12. If she is accepted at that level, she will progress to All-Area auditions, and eventually to State Choir auditions.

More than 40,000 students will audition throughout the various levels of competition. The All-State choir will have only 128 members, giving participants a one in 500 chance of being chosen.

"Cassidy is one of Muleshoe's best. But she is inexperienced compared to some of the other students from bigger schools, many who have been taking voice lessons and competing since they were 12," said MHS choir teacher David Downem.

Cleavinger attributes her love of music to her father, who also sings, and to her first and second grade teacher at a Christian school in Lazbuddie where her interest in music was first sparked.

Cassidy Cleavinger

As Cleavinger looks ahead to her future outside of high school and past the choir competitions, she wants music to always be a part of her life.

"I don't want to rely on being a performer and I have no plans to teach. I may minor in music in college because I do want music to be a part of my career," said Cleavinger who besides choir plays tennis, participates in other UIL events, and works part-time.

Migratory birds begin arriving on South Plains

Migratory birds such as waterfowl, shore birds, and sandhill cranes have begun arriving in the South Plains signaling the fall is here.

Sounds of migrating sandhill cranes can be heard and their numbers will soon be increasing as they nightly roost on playa lakes at the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge and throughout the South Plains.

This annual fall migration coincides with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's National Wildlife Refuge Week which takes place Oct. 12 through Oct. 18.

The Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge's Office is normally open from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, but refuge personnel will have the office and visitor center, which contains wildlife interpretative exhibits, open to visitors from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 18 in recognition of National Wildlife Refuge Week.

The National Wildlife Refuge System originated in 1903 when President Teddy Roosevelt established Pelican Island in Florida as the first National Wildlife Refuge in order to protect the island's birds from poachers and plume hunters. Since then over 500 National Wildlife Refuges have been established throughout the United States.

Wildlife refuges provide habitat for a variety of wildlife species and many are located along major flyaways providing resting areas for ducks, geese, and other migratory birds. Refuges also provide outdoor recreation to an increasing number of visitors and including hiking, wildlife viewing, hunting, fishing and nature photography.

The Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge is noted for its large concentrations of wintering sandhill cranes.

It is the oldest National Wildlife Refuge in Texas and is 62 years old this month. New refuge attractions for wildlife viewing visitors include an interpretative nature trail near the refuge campground and a wildlife observation tower at Paul's Lake.

Wildlife program includes hunting safety

By TERESA STONE
Journal staff writer

Muleshoe High School students are taking an aim at safety and becoming better and more informed sportsmen.

Agricultural students ended a six-week hunter safety course Thursday by practicing firearm safety at the local shooting range.

Eight students took turns shooting at clay birds as MHS teacher, Carl Wheeler offered suggestions and pointers on such things as the correct shooting form, gun safety, and accuracy.

"Remember at one point the clay pigeon will almost stop, that's when you want to shoot. You want to be smooth and follow through. If you quit when you pull the trigger, you won't hit it," said Wheeler, who is certified by Texas Parks and Wildlife to teach the hunting course.

The course, which has been offered at MHS for 10 years as part of the wildlife class, covers hunting ethics including how to treat nature, handling firearms and firearm safety.

With permission from administration and parents, students were allowed to bring their own guns for shooting practice.

After successful completion of the course, students will be certified by the state to hunt alone. Without the certification, they would be required to be supervised by an adult over the age of 21.

Students will spend the remainder of the semester learning about habitat management and life cycles of animals with the primary focus being on game animals and the proper habitat management required to make animals come and stay in a specific area.

Wheeler said that the student's will see the importance of the course's curriculum, and the benefit of proper habitat management when Muleshoe opens deer season this fall for the first time in many years.

Conservation District offering windbreak trees

As a service to the Bailey County area, the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) is now taking orders for windbreak tree seedlings.

Windbreak trees help control wind erosion in fields, beautify and protect farmsteads, and can provide excellent wildlife food and shelter.

This year over 20 species of windbreak trees and wildlife seedlings will be available.

Orders will be taken until Mar. 6, 1998. Early ordering is advised since some species are limited in quantity. Orders must be prepaid. The seedlings will be available for pickup on Mar. 13.

Supplemental watering is an essential part of successful windbreak planting, therefore the Blackwater Valley SWCD will have irrigation systems available to ensure good seedling survival.

For more information on prices, orders, species available or other questions, contact the Natural Resource Conservation Service at 105 E. Ave. D in Muleshoe or call 272-5124.

water source and for possible economic development. The City still owes $717,200.

Mayor Robert Montgomery believes the water rights should be kept at all costs.

"Five million dollars is a lot of money, but it's not much money if we don't have any water," Montgomery said. "I would find difficult to ever vote for selling the water rights."

The land contains 57 irrigation wells that will have to be permanently capped in the near future at a cost of $150,000, the money Fisher said the City doesn't have right now.

Black said he is also concerned about the drop in well production, from 800 to 1,000 gallons a minute when the wells were drilled in 1973 to a current rate of 150 to 200 gallons per minute.

The study estimated that in order to meet city water demands, at least eight wells at $80,000 per well would have to be drilled. State guidelines make the cost of drilling a municipal well substantially higher than the cost of an irrigation well, Fisher said.

Also during the meeting, the Council authorized the city manager to advertise that the city had 57 city lots and other land for possible sale.

The Council will review each bid and retain the right to reject any bid.

Fisher said he would like to see some of the land back on the city tax roll. He also said maintaining the lots is expensive.

The City acquired most of the land by either donation or forfeiture.

Friona returned the favor two minutes later when Pena stripped the ball from Chieftain quarterback Aaron King and Ricko Aguirre pounced on it at the Friona 30.

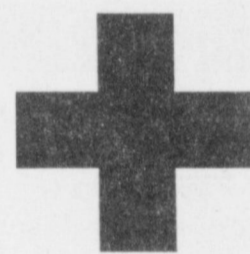

But the Mules' drive stalled at the 18 and Kendrick raced 67 yards for his second touchdown a few plays later to make it 28-0.

Muleshoe botched fake punt from its own 36 late in the half and Friona capitalized on the mistake when Daniel Cuevas scored from eight yards out, pushing the Chieftains lead to 35-0.

Kendrick bolted 88 yards the first time he touched the ball in the second half.

HERITAGE FOUNDATION NEWS

Tuesday, Sept. 30 was a perfect evening for the outdoor celebration of the 12th annual Muleshoe Heritage Foundation meeting.

The celebration kicked off at 6:30 p.m. with a live band entertaining the ever-growing crowd that was touring the center and being treated to homemade cake and ice cream.

The event celebrated 15 years of trying to preserve a part of the area history. In 1982, "saving the depot" seemed impossible. But the Janes ranch house and other improvements stand as testimony of faith to those few who believed, "It can be done."

Hugh Young, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave a short speech complementing the uniqueness of the historical center and how it is great for the Muleshoe area.

Robert Shafer, president of the Heritage Foundation, reported on the improvements made throughout the year which included a new sprinkler system, a rail fence, antique furniture at the Janes ranch house, and a new security system.

Anticipated improvements for the upcoming year include finishing the garage, building a loft in the log cabin with the help of Student Community Action Club (SCAC) members, wall finishing at the old Muleshoe cookhouse, and repair of the memorial plaques.

Shafer also reported on the success of this year's "Tour de Muleshoe" which had 152 riders participate.

He presented Victor Leal, owner of Leal's restaurant, and Rick Robillard, owner of the Muleshoe McDonald's with lifetime memberships to the Heritage Foundation in appreciation for their support of "Tour de Muleshoe."

Vivian White, treasurer, reported on last year's Old Fashion Christmas open house. The center was decked out in lights

Sally Messenger, director of the "Keepers of the Legend," reported on the success of this year's summer musical which over 1,300 people attended.

Jean Allison paid tribute to the unending support SCAC club members give to the center. Club sponsors Jim Gruhlkey and Chris Mardis were also recognized.

Amy Hooton, SCAC president, reported on the club's activities which include helping with the Old Fashion Christmas by decorating the tree and assisting as hosts, collecting toys and canned goods for the needy, helping with the summer musical, and manning a rest stop during the "Tour de Muleshoe."

Vivian White presented Lou Knowles, long time hostess at the Center, a life time membership to the Heritage Foundation for her loyal service and good relations.

White recognized the loyal workers at the Muleshoe Heritage Thrift Shop who have fun working and pay the day-to-day expenses, but could always use more help. If you are interested, please call Mrs. White at 272-3370.

Jenne McVicker, memorial chairman, reported on the contributions given in memory or honor of loved ones which made possible the many improvements made at the center.

"What a wonderful living memorial this is and I encourage others to remember this when wishing to honor someone in a special way," said Mrs. McVicker.

If interested in helping preserve the area's history, call 272-5873.

Promise Keepers: So What's Not To Like?

Promise Keepers. If you haven't heard something about this amazingly large and growing Christian men's movement, the 2.6 million men who have attended its regional rallies, and the hundreds of thousands of fellows it recently drew to Washington, D.C., you haven't been watching the news.

One of my brothers and several very good friends made the trip to Washington a week ago to stand in front of our nation's Capitol and bow before God. All Promise Keepers promise to honor Christ, to pursue vital friendships with other men, to practice purity, to be committed to their wives and families, to support their churches and pastors, to reach beyond race and denomination, and to influence the world for Christ. In Washington, that vast gathering of men thanked God for his faithfulness and solemnly pledged to serve no other gods, to strive to be men of integrity, to love and serve their wives and children, to support their churches, to work for unity, and to be witnesses to Christ's love.

Focus On Faith

So, I ask you, what's not to like about Promise Keepers?

The national media has been scurrying about trying to find something not to like, since the Washington assembly, far larger than Louis Farrakhan's march for racism, was way too big to ignore. But powerful visual images of black, white, and brown men all singing together, praying together, clasping hands together, promising to "be there" for their wives and families make more impact than skeptical news commentary.

Patricia Ireland and the National Organization for Women absolutely hate PK (which is about all the reason I need to like it). The more shrill N.O.W.'s female but not feminine voices become in their protests, the more extreme and fanatical N.O.W. looks itself. Scream on.

And, yes, even some Christian denominations (including some in my own tradition) have been slow to acknowledge the good of PK, some adopting a "wait and see" approach, some being strangely quiet, and others mouthing some pious-sounding reservations which at bottom say, "We didn't think of it, and it doesn't wear our brand name, and so we're sort of obligated to have reservations . . ."

Newsweek reports that some groups politically opposed to PK see "something sinister about its rhetoric." Sinister? If that's "sinister," I know lots of wives, moms, and daughters who pray daily that their guys become increasingly sinister.

Sinister? Yeah, right. A movement which though not perfect is being wonderfully used by God? Yes. Right. It surely looks that way to me.

Curtis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

LEGEND OF THE DOGWOOD

WHEN JESUS WAS CRUCIFIED HE FORGAVE ALL THOSE WHO TOOK PART IN THIS HORRIBLE EXECUTION (LUKE 23:34). AT SOMETIME IN THE EARLY YEARS OF CHRISTIANITY A LEGEND STARTED THAT SO COMPLETE WAS HIS FORGIVENESS, EVEN THE WOODEN CROSS WAS INCLUDED! IT WAS SUPPOSED THAT THE TREE FROM WHICH THE WOOD CAME WAS THE DOGWOOD AND BECAUSE OF THIS FORGIVENESS THE TREE NEVER AGAIN GREW LARGE ENOUGH TO SUPPLY WOOD FOR SUCH A TERRIBLE PURPOSE—AND AS COMMEMORATION, ITS FLOWERS WOULD FORM A CROSS WITH A NAILPRINT AT EACH PETAL'S EDGE, WITH THE CENTER RESEMBLING A CROWN OF THORNS STAINED WITH BLOOD.

...THE PETALS OF ITS LOVELY FLOWER DOES HAVE WHAT APPEARS TO BE A NAILPRINT ON THE EDGE OF EACH PETAL, WHILE THE FLOWER'S CENTER IS A BLOOD-RED COLOR—NEXT TIME THEY'RE IN BLOOM, TAKE A LOOK FOR YOURSELF!

TODAY'S BEAUTIFUL DOGWOOD TREES GROW TO A HEIGHT OF EIGHT TO FIFTEEN FEET—NOWHERE NEAR THE SIXTY OR SEVENTY FEET THAT THEIR ANCESTORS ARE SAID TO HAVE ATTAINED, AND ALSO....

Eleanor Roosevelt took a run down a bobsled course while attending the first winter Olympics ever held in the U.S. That was in 1932 when her husband, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was governor of New York, and the winter Olympic Games were held in Lake Placid.

Muleshoe with its own sense of style has always been a special place to live, and now, our family knows just how special. It has so many great qualities, but none as great as the people that live in and around the area. These people still have the high integrity of their forefathers. Believe me, we have seen this first hand. Friends and family are such an important part of our daily lives, but never are they more important than at a time of crises. There were so many, many people that did such special things to help our entire family through a very difficult time that we cannot name them all. We would like to express our gratitude to the doctors, medical staff and to everyone who was involved with our corn harvest, food, flowers, cards, telephone calls, visits and most of all, prayers. Never before have we experienced such a wonderful show of affection as we did when Derrel was in the hospital. We feel that all of you had a hand in Derrel's recovery. Thank you so much for everything, and May God Bless You and Your Family, as He has truly blessed ours.
