Wiley Pettit was painfully burned and bruised and received a fractured left arm when he became entangled in the power take-off mechanism of his tractor at the Jewett Bailey farm last Thursday. The tractor and combine equipment was being moved from shock to shock in the process of deheading and threshing the grain. Pettit had driven the equipment up to a shock and went to step from the tractor when his clothing was caught by the whirling shaft. His clothing was stripped from him and his head struck the tractor draw bar. Several severe burns resulted from the friction of the shaft. His back was also strained but he was reported yesterday to be resting fairly well at the local hospital where he is undergoing treatment.

From Men In The Service

PFC. LEON LARKIN STEPHENS
Pfc. Leon Larkin Stephens writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stephens, from the Philippines. "Things are about the same here. It's surely wet, rained all last night and today. How does Wheeler look with paved streets? I wonder if you will have a white Christmas — it's been a long time since I've seen real Christmas. Wish I could be there. We've been trading the natives out of some bananas. They sure taste good. Not much to write about."

T5 ARTIE STEPHENS

T5 Arlie Stephens writes from Italy. "It looks like we will have a white Christmas. Haven't received much mail lately, just Christmas packages. Have received four so far. Hope I get yours soon. "We are now living in a house. We have fixed it up so it will be warm. Doesn't look very good but it beats living in a pup tent. Not much to write so will close."

PFC. ALBERT W. GUNTER

Pfc. Albert W. Gunter wrote his mother, Mrs. M. L. Gunter, on Dec. 26. "Had a wonderful Christmas as far as possible. I ate dinner with some Filipino people who had a white table cloth on the table and some beautiful water lilies as decorations. We had chicken and lots of good things which I had never seen before. So you can see all war isn't hell. ha. I planned to write you last night but was interrupted by some uninvited guests. We thought it was Santa but since it wasn't Xmas eve we knew different. But I will let you know I am safe and sound. The mail is a little slow but it will be here soon. I didn't send the Jap flag but will bring it when I come home. I haven't much time so will say hello to Wheeler and the family. Give this money to the boys at town. Remember Jim Risner."

LT. (j.g.) M. L. GUNTER

Lt. (j.g.) M. L. Gunter, Jr., wrote his mother Dec. 24. "This Christmas finds me doing about the same thing as last Christmas, being at sea about 1500 miles from where I was last Christmas, however. "The phrase "all is calm, all is bright," fits the weather half way. The sky is bright, except for occasional rains, but the sea is far from being calm. "I realize I'm very fortunate, being in a warm, comfortable room listening to Christmas carols. We had a not-too-good dinner but we had a clean place to eat. So many of the poor fellows on the front lines would readily trade places with us, I'm sure. We know within a couple of weeks, God being willing, we will hit a very beautiful port — a city that surpasses many American cities in beauty, yet most of us had rather be in the most insignificant town in the U. S. A. "You should see my beard. Ha! It looks rugged, no fooling. I'll cut it off when we "hit" port but not until I take some pictures. We have to do something to break the monotony. This will be our longest trip without a stop since I've been aboard. "The word is just coming in the German offensive has been almost stopped. I could easily shed a few tears — but I know our boys don't want sympathy. They want support — guns, material, etc. That's what we wanted in the South Pacific back in 1942. It didn't look as if we were getting it then — not when we read about strikes.

Mom, it's natural for most of us to want to be home. But as long as we have men all over the world fighting for their country and loved ones, and even for you, my loved ones, I would not be happy at home. I'm not a kid any more. I've seen a tiny bit of action. I think everyone in the service would be more understanding if we all saw action. Too many of us just want to be home — let George do it attitude. I'd rather take my medicine with the rest. But when it's all over, then I'll be happy to get back to Texas, the best state I know."

County Agent Says OPA Warning Meat Sellers Of Ceiling Prices

County Agent Jake Tarter in a statement to the Wheeler county newspapers this week says that several persons are selling dressed meat animals, both beef and pork, to individuals for consumption and, so far, ceiling prices are being exceeded on such dressed carcasses.

The OPA has sent the county agent a list of ceiling prices and has asked that he make them public for the protection of those who sell dressed meat animals as it is OPA's intention to enforce ceiling prices on all items of food, especially since fats and cooking oils have gone back on the rationing list.

Pork ceiling prices vary from 14.50 per hundred weight to 19.75 and beef and veal prices from 13 cents per pound to 37 cents per pound.

Since the ceiling price list goes into detail in regard to grades, weights and prices and is rather lengthy, limited newspaper space does not permit a complete listing but the county agent will have the ceiling prices on file in his office where they may be obtained by those who are interested in selling either beef or pork.

Tarter stated that the local OPA War Price and Rationing office should be contacted with regard to information needed pertaining to whether or not points have to be taken for a meat carcass and how many points per pound have to be taken by the seller for the carcass.

Farm Leaders Discuss Agriculture Outlook

Twenty-three community A A A committeemen, all three county committeemen, the county agent, county Home Demonstration agent and other agriculture leaders of the county were present at the Wheeler County agriculture building Tuesday in an all day meeting for discussing 1945 farm goals, plan sheets, rationing, salvage drives and proposed support prices on farm products.

Gilbert E. Shaffer, chairman of the A A A county committee called the roll to get the meeting under way and V. B. Hardcastle, Wheeler county administrative officer explained the duties of the committeemen. He urged that they keep producers informed of the A A A program and insist that they sign plan sheets when on other business in town to avoid extra trips. He asked that they be kept informed on rationed products and crops needed for war food. Since farm machinery is no longer rationed such items as lumber, trucks, tires, gas, copper wire, bath tubs and similar household items are the main necessities hard to get by the farmers. The group was told the information obtained from the 1945 plan sheets is requested by the War Food Administration in order to base available food supplies for home consumption and lend-lease.

Shaffer discussed the various salvage programs before the group recessed for lunch.

In the afternoon session county agent Jake Tarter discussed 1945 crop goals including wheat, cotton, feed, etc. Proposed support prices on farm products were also discussed by the county agent.

Tom Lamon, Mobeetie, was appointed chairman of the county salvage committee.

Poll Tax Payments About Same As Year Before Last Is Report

Terrell Gunter, Wheeler county tax assessor-collector, reported this morning that 1944 poll tax payments would amount to approximately 2,200. Since there have been several payments made by mail the exact total was not yet available. Last year, county, state and national election year, 3,085 persons paid for a right to vote. Indications are that payments this year will come very close to those of two years ago when 2,197 poll tax receipts were issued by the collector's office.

Sweet Sudan Grass Seed To Be Planted By Boys In Wheeler FFA Group

The Wheeler FFA boys will have two pounds of Sweet Sudan grass seed divided among them to plant this spring. Jack Spence, Vocational Agriculture teacher, was able to secure only this amount of the seed, but he hopes that this will be enough for each boy to get enough seed the next year to plant several acres each.

Sweet Sudan grass has already been proven to be well liked by livestock. Experiments have proved livestock will eat all of this type pasture before touching other Sudan grass. The seeds are of a reddish color and can be distinguished from Johnson Grass seed which has a glume that is brownish or black. Johnson grass seed and the old type Sudan grass seed are very similar in color, Spence said, in telling of the new experiment to be tried by the FFA group.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION POSTPONES MEETING AT REQUEST OF BYRNES

The sixty-six year old Texas Press Association has postponed its annual meeting for the first time in its history. George B. Peeler, publisher of the Taylor Press and president of the Association, announces.

The meeting was postponed in compliance with a recent request of War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes that all group meetings of 50 or more persons be cancelled or postponed to lighten the burden on transportation and service.

The action of the officials of the Texas Press Association followed a poll taken of editors and publishers who are members. At a meeting of the Executive Committee in Dallas January 28 Deskins Wells, secretary of the Association, said more than half of the ballots had been returned and that the editors were voting approximately 10 to 1 in favor of voluntarily postponing the meeting instead of seeking permission to hold it.

The meeting was to have been in Austin June 8 and 9.

"If conditions change or the Office of Defense Transportation order is revised, the Association may hold a meeting in the fall of 1945," President Peeler said. "In the meantime an attempt will be made to conduct the essential business of the Association by mail."

RURAL SCHOOL BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Governor Stevenson's signature yesterday gave immediate effect to a bill passed by the Legislature granting pay raises of $300 each for the current school year to approximately 15,000 rural school teachers.

The measure, overwhelmingly approved by Senate and House, also increases state financial benefits paid rural schools for tuition, transportation and miscellaneous expenses.

It appropriates about $1,575,000 in new money and makes available about $5,000,000 in funds which were on hand but which were unavailable under the law before it was amended.

In the next column appears what we think to be one of the best tributes to the country weekly and small community ever written. We hope you don't overlook it.

America's First Tax Bill

Back in 1797, the tax question might have been more simplified but it placed an assessment on holdings that was collected by the government and probably caused as much unpleasant discussion as our intricate tax bills of the present day. America's first tax bill on houses, lands and slaves, was for two million dollars from the country and was apportioned to the states in various amounts. Perhaps certain states criticized their levy, since argumentation is not just a modern mental work-out. They started the bill with an assessment of 20 cents on every $100 of property not over $500 in value, 30 cents for property valued over the $500. This climbed to $1 on every $100 for every dwelling house valued at more than $30,000. The amount of 50 cents was the fee for every slave. The simple dw. for dwelling, sh. for shall, C. for collector, Ds. for dollars, as put down in the first tax bill, was within the range of understanding of those in grade school. The figuring didn't take long though done by candlelight and with the quill pen perhaps, without the attendance of an attorney and an adding machine. The story is told about a clerk in a bookshop coming across Professor Einstein, the discoverer of the theory of relativity, glancing through a guide to income-tax procedure. When the clerk asked him if he wished to buy, the famed mathematician said, "Good heavens no! It is terrible enough to have to figure out the tax without having to read a whole book about it!"

A Neglected Subject

The news is written, the printing press turns out its lines of politics, industry, crime, finance, economics and sport. This is the chief topic of reporting, each listing its important news for the edification of the nation, news topics to keep the readers informed, set standards, affect personalities and draw enough interest to increase the paper's circulation. A reader asks us if we don't neglect a vital piece of reading when we don't offer space to news about Christianity. You ask, "Is Religion News"? It has not been treated as such in the nation's newspapers, in truth has almost been treated with contempt by some editors while others are hesitant since it is a subject for much controversy. Isn't politics? Much of the religious news that comes to an editor's desk, goes into the waste basket. Today religion is having a revival, many more than ever are practicing faith in Christian principles as the hope of the world's salvation. On such a basis, couldn't the press give it a place with politics? The newspaper acts as a guide to its readers in numerous lines, why could it not take a definite stand and not shrink from spiritual subjects? It is not necessary that the affecting of the public conscience should be left entirely to the pulpit. Anything that is of interest and concerns the public welfare and its standards of living, is news. Patterning the soul of its reader is as important as trying to persuade him to vote for a public officer. We may be overlooking something so vital, so stirring in its appeal, so satisfying in its immense scope, that too late we may realize we have missed the biggest news of all time—Christianity.

The years best headline to us is: "97 Out of Every 100 Are Saved."

Pertinent Paragraphs from Panhandle Press

Items of interest culled from newspapers on the Times' exchange list.

A heartwarming sign that the civilization we have known so long is still hanging on is the weekly newspaper. It is holding its own. From 1938 to 1943, a very trying time for newspapers as well as people, only 454 of them went out of business. Maybe some of them became dailies. Maybe others boarded up for the duration. But there are still nearly 11,000 over the land, doing their bit for folk in the valleys and hills.

A few years ago there were those who forecast the death of the weekly. It could not withstand the radio. The drain to the city, the rush for defense jobs and call to arms would mean its doom. But the prophet did not know the small community. Neither did he know the love one develops for running a small newspaper. Even though the life is less glamorous than that on a metropolitan daily, it has its own deeply-rooted charms. It is hard to forget the hic-loc tune of the press on publication day. It is a rare experience to know that she is out again, to remove the forms, redistribute the type and mail her out to appreciative customers. It is a place where the back office is close to the front and the whole is diffused with an atmosphere that is hard to put behind and leave.

The little towns are still our strongholds. There we find devotion and affection for community life. Folks may be complacent at times, but they feel they are a part of their environment, not little saplings in a dense woodland. It is comforting to know that their institutions are still rooted, that they are weathering one of the great crises of history and will live to carry on a great heritage.

Complaints are heard occasionally about the small pensions given Texas old people, but you seldom hear the reason for it mentioned. If those on the rolls who do not deserve a pension were taken off, there would be plenty left for those who actually need a pension.

America will feed Poland, according to press reports. Russia has given us authority to do this, landing food in Russian ports. The question arises: Since Russia has not allowed us to have military observers with the Russian armies; since Russia refuses to allow our planes to land on Russian soil in order to reduce our expense by shuttle bombing of Germany; wonder if Russia will insist upon our relief missions wearing Russian uniforms, as the British demand when we try to feed the starving peoples where the British are supreme?

The Times War Time Reporter Says

I've tried all my life to be a boss but my wife won't let me. She just refuses to be bossed, so I went to work, and it gave me a different slant on things. Today my poem is going to be about these sweating men that make things tick.

Did you ever observe how much we depend On the "Guy" that's handling the sweating end? There's bosses that come, and bosses that go, Some pull their hair and fret, But the "Guy" that keeps her ticking on Is the one that's loosing the sweat.

You hardly know these men are around For the boss keeps you well entertained. They just keep pushing things on and on. Everyday to them is the same. To me they are the cream of the earth And I'll do all I can to defend, I'm for 'em a hundred per cent These big, he-sweating men.

Wheeler Personalities

By Mrs. Charles Warren

The subject of the Wheeler Personalities sketch this week is one of the foremost business men of Wheeler and the Panhandle — Mr. D. E. Holt, president of the Citizens State Bank of Wheeler, who is now nearing 71 years of age.

When Mr. Holt came to Wheeler, on August 10th, 1908, Wheeler was a very small town, and the Wheeler County court house, which now adorns the beautiful plaza, was not built. There was only one church building here — the Baptist church. Where Mr. Holt's home now stands, the grass was growing as high as his head. He said that the Citizens State Bank was established with a capital stock of $10,000.00 the day following his landing in Wheeler with his uncle, E. E. Holt, president, J. E. Stanley, vice president; and himself cashier. Charter members of the bank were: Blake Lee, Clarence Lee, J. M. Porter, R. B. Holt, Sam Holt and P. H. Higgins. All of the original stockholders except R. B. Holt and himself have passed on. The institution they organized has continued to function for the past 37 years, through good years and bad, and under the conservative management has quadrupled in capital stock and business prestige. The last statement issued December 30, 1944 showed a capital and surplus of $40,000.00. The growth of the bank depicts the growth and development of the country and the town of Wheeler.

When asked what he attributed his success as a leader and banker to, Mr. Holt replied without hesitation that the principle of unity — a united personnel. He then told the story of the "bundle of seven sticks bound together" which he said was his father's motto for rearing his six sons, back in his youthful days on the Kansas farm where he grew up and lived until he was 22 years old. It was very interesting to hear Mr. Holt tell the story of the seven sticks, which his father said the six Holt brothers and he represented, illustrating the McGuffey reader story, by taking one stick and breaking it easily, then taking the seven tied together, which he was unable to break, then admonishing his sons that if they would heed the lesson and stand together in business, it would be very hard indeed for them to fail. The Holt brothers followed their father's advice, and Mr. D. E. Holt is rearing his sons the same way.

Mr. Holt was born in Bourbon County, Kansas, on April 11, 1874. His higher education was gained in practical business experience. He received all of his early schooling at Turkey Creek country school, which he said was a one-room school and he said he had seen as high as 72 students crowded into the one room, with only one teacher.

He never owned any separate property until 1913. What one owned the entire Holt family owned. They called the family together in 1913 and agreed to divide their estate, which was done without a discord among them.

The Holts were always leaders in the communities wherever they lived. In Uniontown, southeastern Kansas — where many of the Holts lived, they were the first to own automobiles, radios, and the Holts established the very first telephone system. The Holts have ever been identified with all sound projects for the up-building of their communities. They are for good roads, good schools.

Mr. Holt is a member of the Methodist church since about 1914. He and his family are assets to any town, city, or community in which they choose to reside. The family is composed of himself, Mrs. Holt, two sons, R. J. and R. D., in the bank with him, and two sons, Clarence and Damaris, in the oil business in the Panhandle, and two daughters, Maud Britt, Greenville, New Mexico, and Miss Clarice Holt, Fort Worth.

the NEWS

brought to you by . . .

As so many of us wait with anxious hearts, we are grateful for our radios, that help to pierce the wall of silence between the fighting fronts and home.

Most of us could never hear the war's historic broadcasts were it not for dependable electric service that brings our radios to life at the snap of a switch. The same electric service makes the broadcasts possible—for it supplies the power by which your local station flings signals into space from its transmitter.

When seeing the news while you hear it becomes a commonplace, along with many another new appliance, you will be more thankful than ever for dependable electric service. Be sure that your new home can take full advantage of it. Plan now for adequate wiring. Have your contractor see that wiring will handle the electrical load which the many new appliances and lighting will demand.

Farewell Party Given For LeRoy Patton

Betty Ruth Brewer gave a farewell party for LeRoy Patton, who is leaving Thursday for the army. Several games were played and refreshments of doughnuts and cocoa were served to a great number of students. Everyone reported a nice time. Another party will be given in honor of LeRoy at Peggy Ware's home. These parties seem to express how much everyone regrets to see LeRoy (Muscles) Patton leave.

Seems like George B. and Madeline are getting up a case.

Imagine T. J. Patterson being Dorothy Eubank's brother.

Tom, why don't you want to move away from Frances?

Lindy seems like you really made the rounds Tuesday night. John Corcorans first then Procks.

Asparagus May Be Planted Until The End Of February

Asparagus prefers a well-drained deep, loose, open, porous, light muck or sandy loam which is quite fertile, but will grow in any type of soil that is slightly alkaline.

The site should be free of stones and surface clay and the soil prepared with the utmost care before planting the crowns. If available, heavy applications of barnyard or green manure fertilizer should be broadcast and mixed into the soil well in advance of planting. The rows, or trenches, where the crowns are to be set should be opened 10 to 12 inches deep and six to 12 inches wide.

Mary Washington and Martha Washington are the two best varieties since both are resistant to asparagus rust. Large, one-year crowns which have well-developed root systems and large well-distributed buds are best for planting. Crowns more than two years old never should be used.

The crowns should be placed in the prepared trench 18 to 24 inches apart in order to give the roots as nearly natural spread as possible. Care should be taken in separating crowns so as to disturb the roots as little as possible. Depth of planting varies from six to 12 inches, but plants in light soils should be set deeper than in heavy earth. When first planted crowns should be covered only about two inches, but as the spears grow upward the soil should be pulled around them.

Spring side dressing with six to ten pounds of 5-10-5 commercial fertilizer or similar materials, per 100 row feet is desirable. Cultivate shallow and often.

For more detailed information see the County Agent or the Home Demonstration Agent.

Swing In The Saddle

Swing In The Saddle is a western picture so far as story goes, but it is decidedly more than a plain western. It has such important radio personalities as The Hoosier Hotshots, Jane Frazee, The Jummy Wakeley Trio and a number of people from the national barn dance program. It is a program that you are sure to enjoy with great applause. We guarantee to please you 100 per cent regardless of the type of picture you like. The play date is Friday-Saturday, February 2-3 at the Rogue.

Tall In The Saddle

Folks, you might as well get in the SADDLE and string along with us this week end. Because whether or not you like it, the titles of the pictures seem to be in the saddle. The picture for Prevue-Sunday-Monday, February 3-4-5 is Tall In The Saddle and stars John Wayne and Ella Raines. It is a real big time, outdoor, pioneer type western on the order of Union Pacific. It is what we at the Rogue would call a super-duper western, and not a horse opera. So, if you like your big outdoor pictures, we have just what you are looking forward to seeing.

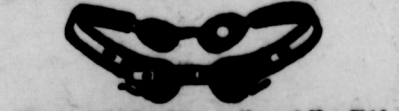

Youth Runs Wild

There has been a number of pictures made during the past twelve months on youth delinquency. We have steered clear of them to date. However, it is our opinion that this type of picture is directed more at delinquent parents, or at least it should be, than at youth. So why not come out Wednesday-Thursday, February 7-8 and take a look at Youth Runs Wild and let's see who is at fault the more, youth or parents. This is a picture that will act as a mirror for all who see it, and maybe we will all be the better off for our experience. Bonita Granville is the star.

A drive for the collection of all kinds of games for service men is beginning this week. All of the student body is asked to contribute what they can. . . .

Class News
The seniors have been having a pretty hard time of it the past week. They have been checking their credits to determine their status toward graduation in the spring.

The freshmen were all quickly attracted to their new English teacher, Miss Lister. We hope the feeling was mutual.

The junior team for basketball was chosen this week and they are: forwards, Jo Evelyn Reid, Oneta Patterson, LaVerne Watts; guards are, Lois May, Betty May, Ruby Reid, Dolores Ahler.

The sophomore class has survived the mid-term tests in fair condition. Everyone was beginning to breath naturally again Monday morning. . . .

Basketball
The Wheeler boys played Samnorwood Tuesday night at Samnorwood. Those starting were: forwards, Jr. Ahler and Charles Hubbard; guards were, Henry Risner and Clyde Revivous. Don Farmer played center-forward. . . .

Speech Class
The Speech class is presenting an assembly program Friday afternoon at the last period. Ida Mae Martin was chosen by the class to be mistress of ceremonies. Joy and Floy Bradstreet, Madalene Burruss, and Melba Little will give special musical numbers. Floy Bradstreet will give a review of some of the general rules for speakers which the class has learned. Madalene Burruss will give some hints to audiences; Vondell Starkey and Patsy Wiley will read poems. The entire class will present a humorous dramatization of Lochinvar by Sir Walter Scott. The poem will be read by Melba Little.

BRISCOE BRONCO

Boys Defeated by Pampa
In their first game of the tournament the Broncos were defeated by Pampa 47-28. This was the worst defeat that the team has suffered. Although they were defeated, the Broncos set a record. They scored more points against Pampa than any team this year.

The Pampa boys broke away at once but the Broncos fought back determinedly, and at the end of the first quarter the Harvesters were leading 10 to 6. The second quarter the Pampans drew farther away and were leading at half time 21 to 11. The Broncos fought hard all the way but never drew past that ten point lead. The Harvesters finally won 47 to 28. The Broncos play Mobeetie in the first game of the district tournament.

Girls Lose First of Season
Briscoe girls were overwhelmed by Follett Saturday, January 27. The score was 23 to 46. This is our first defeat. Follett took the tournament. Our girls were off but they were satisfied because Follett is really a team.

Our first game was with Gruver. Briscoe 25, Gruver 12. Two of the main string kept the bench warm except for one quarter.

Arnell Sorensen received the sportsmanship trophy. Bessie Davis made the all-star first string.

Senior Scents and Non-scents
The seniors are delighted in taking three different subjects this last semester. They are speech, economics and commercial law.
We are glad to have our semester tests over now. Some still lack a few book reports but we hope to get them in soon.

Sophomore Strategies
Most of the sophomore class attended the Canadian tournament but all seem to have recovered. (There is still a yawn now and then.)
All our mid-term grades have been returned. Some of the kids wore a rather long face afterward.
Since there has been so much interference on our play, we won't mention it this week.
We are glad to have Shots back with us and hope he won't drop out again. We need you, Shots.

Seventh Grade News
We are all very glad that our tests are over. The lowest grade made was four so we didn't do so badly—did we? We have finished our geography books so we will get our history books now.
We are very glad to have Jim and Buck Cowan back in school. They have been absent since before school turned out for cotton picking.
Freshman Fish Pond
We were all pretty satisfied with our mid-term grades.
Our long-awaited-for theater party will be Wednesday night. We are looking forward to it. Each person will invite one person from the other grades.
Lorida was seen talking to a certain Wheeler guy Saturday night. She was also seen in Canadian Friday night.
