National Foundation Meet To Be Held

There will be a meeting of the Wheeler County Chapter for The National Foundation at the District Court Room in the Court House at Wheeler Thursday evening March 23, 1961, at 8:00 P.M.

It is imperative that every person interested in the continuing service of The National Foundation be present.

Because of the illness of Mr. Flake George, who has so faithfully served the Wheeler County Chapter as its Treasurer since its inception, it is necessary that a person be elected to fill this very responsible position. This matter of business as well as other problems relating to the welfare of the Foundation will be deliberated.

The officers of the Chapter will be grateful if every service and social club. The Chamber of Commerce and the Churches in Wheeler County will be represented at the meeting.

Please be aware of the importance of this meeting and be in attendance.

HEALTHY RURAL LIFE

According to the Health Insurance Institute, city children suffer from acute health conditions about half again as often as do youngsters raised on farms, and "rural" children who do not live on farms fall somewhere in between the two. The Institute uses a U.S. National Health Survey as the basis for this claim.

Moreover, the Institute suggests the difference in city and farm children's health records could be because farm youngsters do not live so close together as the city children and are therefore less exposed to communicable diseases. This theory would be better founded had not the Institute pointed out that the U.S. National Health Survey included everything "from chicken pox and sore throats to appendicitis and broken legs."

Living in close proximity, as do city children, may account for their having more "chicken pox and sore throats" but surely our rural children can hold their own with appendicitis and out-strip the city youngsters in the broken leg department. The survey folks may know whereof they speak but we suspect growing up in the rural scene is equally, if not more so, attractive to broken legs. Childhood in the country calls for climbing trees, jumping from hay rafters, may well be safer than exploring abandoned warehouses, hitchhiking and leaping across ditches. While these typical rural pastimes ing rides on truck tail-gates, etc., it will surprise those of us who have faced the rigors and dangerous temptations of a journey to the far pasture to bring in the cows.

Of course we shouldn't be arguing with these statistics since they provide wonderful ammunition to further our arguments that life is better in the rural areas. Thus armed, it should be possible for some of us to successfully entice our city friend to take up residency in our midst—for their betterment and ours.

Longtime Resident of Mobeetie Is Dead

One of Wheeler County's oldest citizens has passed away. Mary Elizabeth Johnston was laid to rest in the Mobeetie Cemetery Sunday after passing away last Thursday in Wheeler.

Mrs. Johnston was born at Huntington, Tennessee on January 3, 1870. She was 91 years, 2 months and 6 days old at the time of her death.

In 1890, Mrs. Johnston was married to William J. Johnston in Montague County, Texas. After marriage they came to Fort Elliott, now known as Mobeetie, and resided southwest of the town and a short time later they filed on land 5 1/2 miles northwest of Mobeetie, where she resided the rest of her life until June 1960 when she became ill. She has lived in Wheeler since then.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston came to the Mobeetie community via train to Clarendon and from Clarendon they traveled by back. When they moved to the community they were very few people, mostly cowboys and soldiers at the Fort.

Many of the oldtimers will recall that there were more dugouts than houses. The Johnstons first resided in a dugout on the Montgomery Ranch, now known as the Hesselby Ranch.

Mrs. Johnston could remember the Indians very well, on numerous occasions she recalled the time when the Indians tried to leave the reservation, she was alone at the time in their dugout, and the Indians passed only a few yards away. The army later rounded up the Indians and brought them back to the reservation.

BLAKLEY COMING TO SHAMROCK FOR 'IRISH DAY'

Senator Bill Blakely, candidate for the U. S. Senate from Texas, will be the principal speaker at Shamrock on the eve of that city's annual Irish Day Celebration this week.

Sen. Blakely will speak at the pre-celebration banquet in Shamrock Thursday night, March 16 and remain for the Irish celebration on St. Patrick's Day.

The announcement of Blakely's coming to Shamrock was made by Atty. Aaron Sturgeon of Pampa, who is Blakely's Gray County campaign manager.

Sturgeon said it is doubtful Blakely will have an opportunity to come to Pampa before the April 4 election.

"He's doing his best to attend to his duties as a senator in Washington," Sturgeon said, "and he is campaigning in Texas only when the opportunity presents itself."

Sturgeon attacked John Tower, the Republican candidate for the same office.

OPERATION

Jimmy Adams was taken to Amarillo last week where surgery was performed on both feet. Jimmy is back in school now and doing fine. He was accompanied to Amarillo with his mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Adams.

Why? Oh, Why?

Why is it? We ask you, "Why is it—a man wakes up in the morning after sleeping under an advertised blanket on an advertised mattress and pulls off advertised pajamas. Takes a bath in an advertised tub, shaves with an advertised razor, washes with advertised soap, puts on advertised clothes, sits down to breakfast on an advertised hat, rides to work in an advertised car, writes with an advertised pen. Then he refuses to advertise. Says advertising doesn't pay. And then if a business isn't good enough to advertise, he advertises it for sale!

STAMPS QUARTET: The Stamps Quartet, pictured here, will appear in the Kelton high school auditorium Friday night, March 20th at 8:00 P.M. The program sponsored by the Kelton P.T.A. and the northern Star Feed Store is free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

MILK SANITATION BILL GETS COMMITTEE APPROVAL

AUSTIN — Texas' widely-publicized Milk Sanitation Act successfully passed its first major hurdle following Marathon hearings before both Senate and House Committees last week.

The bill, introduced as Senate Bill 217 and House Bill 61, seeks to upgrade sanitation standards of out-of-state milk being shipped into Texas for pasteurization. Certification that out-of-state milk is produced under sanitation requirements equal to those in Texas will be required.

In the Senate, the bill was voted out of the Public Health Committee and will go to the floor for debate. The State Affairs Committee of the House approved the bill and sent it to a sub-committee for further hearings.

Introduced in the Senate by Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo, and in the House by Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches and W. T. Dungan of McKinney, the authors emphasized that the bill is designed to insure that milk imported into Texas is produced under equivalent standards of milk produced in Texas.

"What is a health bill," Hazelwood explained. "The bill will prevent the dumping of out-of-state milk of an unknown quality into this state. Texas consumers will be assured of a full supply of wholesome, high quality milk, cream and milk products at a cheaper cost to the consumer."

The bill is receiving wide support of dairy operators and milk producers throughout the state, are seeking to require out-of-state competitors to meet sanitary requirements as rigid as their own. Opposition at lengthy committee hearings was voiced largely by representatives of interstate milk companies, who contended that the bill is a disguised trade barrier which will have the effect of cutting a "creeping" monopoly for Texas producers.

Arnold Nelson of New Braunfels, representing the Texas Milk Producers Federation, emphasized that nothing in the bill can be implied as an embargo or trade barrier.

"The bill will protect those out-of-state farms which are now complying with the bill," Nelson told the committee. He said that many out-of-state producers already have equivalent sanitation standards and that the flow of their milk will not be affected. When other producers are certified by Texas health authorities, they may also compete for Texas markets, he said.

Opposition witnesses objected to the "personal knowledge" inspection clause in the bill which requires Texas Health inspectors to have personal knowledge of the sanitary conditions of out-of-state milk producers. Under close questioning by both committees, several witnesses admitted they would not be opposed to the bill if the inspection requirement proves workable.

"This is not a new bill," Sen. Hazelwood said. "Sixteen states have similar bills now in force, many of them more stringent than this. I don't think Texas consumers should have to drink milk produced under unknown health and sanitation conditions. Other prominent dairy states have laws protecting their consumers, why shouldn't we?"

Although Texas milk producers had a 20 per cent surplus of Grade A milk in 1960, which in turn was processed into other milk products for less market value, the bill will not restrict the supply of outside milk, proponents emphasized.

"Although we are producing an adequate supply of Grade A milk in Texas," Rep. Burgess pointed out, "we have no wish to strangle the flow of out-of-state milk, which can continue to be purchased if the milk meets health requirements that our own producers must meet."

Sen. Hazelwood introduced a resolution showing that the price of search by the University of Corn-milk products can be materially reduced through increasing volume of present dairy operations.

"We have many fine dairies in this state," he said. "By increasing their volume, we can foresee a reduction in the price of milk according to this research, if we are not forced to compete with out-of-state milk that does not meet our own health and sanitation requirements."

Named to the House Sub-Committee were Rep. Pieratt of Giddings, chairman, Price of Frankston, Collins of Newton, Dungan of McKinney and Markgraf of Seurity (Kaufman County).

REVAMPING OF ELECTION CODE PROPOSED BY DEMO COMMITTEE

Legal Panel Cites Statutory Defects—A careful and complete study of the Texas Election Code to eliminate many statutory deficiencies has been proposed by the SDEC Legal Sub-Committee.

"A comprehensive revision of the election laws cannot be achieved by hasty patchwork proposals," the Legal panel emphasized. "A thorough study of the entire Election Code will be necessary."

The State Democratic Executive Committee, at its meeting in Austin on December 3, authorized the Legal Sub-Committee to probe into the needs for election law revisions and make recommendations to this Session of the Legislature.

County Judge Raymon Thompson of Graham is Chairman of the Legal group, which met in Austin earlier this week and formulated legislative policy.

"It is common knowledge that the Election Code contains many conflicts, ambiguities and inadequacies," Judge Thompson pointed out. "Consequently, it is difficult for political parties, election officials and the candidates to carry out all the statutory provisions."

CODE ADOPTED IN 1951
The present Code was adopted ten years ago. Since then, numerous amendments have been added by the Legislature. Other proposals to revise the Code are now pending in the present session.

that the Legislature should create an interim study to tackle election problems. Under the proposal, the study group would consist of legislative members appointed by the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor; and the Governor would appoint public members-at-large who are experienced in the conduct of elections. The Attorney General and a member of the Texas Legislative Council would be ex-officio members.

The Study Committee would report its findings and recommendations to the 58th Legislature.

Judge Graham said it was the committee's unanimous feeling that the task is too great and time too short to complete needed revisions and corrections at this Session.

EXAMPLES OF CONFLICTS
Examples of conflicts in the Election Code are found in provisions relating to sessions of the State Executive Committee. One law directs the committee to meet on the first Saturday after the primary to canvass primary returns. Another fixes the meeting time the second Tuesday following the primary.

Under another statute, the State Committee is directed to compile a roster of delegates to a Convention that already was held several days beforehand.

There are others which tend to create confusion concerning the conduct of elections and political conventions.

Results of Demo Survey Revealed
County Chairmen and State Committee members agree overwhelmingly that the total Democratic vote in the last General Election suffered because many voters marked their ballots improperly.

These party officers were asked to check into reports that many ballots were recounted or invalidated because voters failed to mark out the Prohibition Party or the Constitution Party.

In such cases, it was determined, most voters were attempting to cast a straight Democratic vote.

Present law requires that the voter mark out the names of all candidates he does not wish to vote for. Those desiring to vote a straight ticket must run a line through all other tickets on the ballot.

A slight majority of those polled favored the present "negative" voting method. However, they also favored an "affirmative method"—such as voting machines now have—to vote a straight ticket. Under such a method, the voter could simply check the party of his choice and not be required to draw a line through all of the columns.

UNIFORM BALLOTS FAVORED
In response to the SDEC staff questionnaire, the Party Officers favored by a three-to-one majority a uniform type ballot with the political party columns appearing in the same place in each county. A similar majority favored authorizing the Secretary of State to prepare the ballot as to the position a party will have. If "drawings" for ballot positions are to be done, the Party officers favor permitting the Secretary to do this; and practically all of those responding disapproved of allowing a party to participate in a drawing unless there were full a slate of State Office candidates.

The legal Sub-Committee endorsed suggestions for election law revisions and revealed the great need for a complete revamping of the code.

The legal Sub-Committee endorsed the majority views as reflected in the returned questionnaires and will bring these to the Legislature's attention.

Any man has a right to be proud of his enemies, if he is careful to make the right kind.

Beef Cattle Field Day Set At McGregor

College Station, March 9—Activities planned for the March 9 Beef Cattle Field Day at the Bluebonnet Farm unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, McGregor, will get underway at 9:30 a.m., according to Walter Kruse, assistant animal husbandman.

From that time until 11:30, Kruse said visitors would be taken on guided tours for inspection of cattle, the new research facilities, shop and storage facilities and the foundation seed processing plant.

At 12:45, dedication ceremonies for the new office and laboratory facilities will be held with Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dean of Agriculture, Texas A&M College, serving as master of ceremonies, Texas A&M College System Board Member, Sterling C. Evans, Houston; Director R. D. Lewis, Texas Station; Rev. Bill Shirey, pastor, First Methodist Church and President Earl Rudder, Texas A&M College, will participate in the ceremonies.

"Breeding Determines What's Under the Hide" is the theme for the two hour program which gets underway at 1:30 p.m., said Kruse. Substation Supt. H. O. Hill will open the program and be followed by Dr. O. D. Butler, head, Department of Animal Husbandry and Dr. T. C. Cartwright, professor, Department of Genetics, both of Texas A&M College. They will discuss "Purpose and Future Usefulness of Carcass Evaluation Work" and "The Importance of Carcass Meat Characters in Breeding Beef Cattle," respectively.

will discuss and demonstrate evaluation of carcass merit of live steers and Dr. Butler will discuss the program by placing grades on the live steers.

Kruse said county and other agricultural organizations as guides for the tour with the Station staff available for answering questions. All persons interested in being done have a special With group participation to attend.

She'll Never Neglect Him...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake; (2) For his children's sake; (3) For the sake of his community and nation; (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Samuel	1	26-28
Monday	Luke	2	39-40
Tuesday	Samuel	17-19
Wednesday	Luke	16-40
Thursday	1 Corinthians	3-5
Friday	Psalms	22	3-6
Saturday	Deuteronomy	7	9

Mrs. Thompson is a "modern" mother. She wouldn't think of neglecting her baby's regular visit to the doctor. She knows that these early check-ups plus proper diet, rest and care, are vital if her child is to grow up into a strong, healthy boy, ready to take his place in tomorrow's world.

Nor will she forget an even more important factor in his development—his spiritual check-ups. When the time comes and baby is old enough, his tiny footsteps will lead him into Church School where another kind of ministry will be given to him. Later still, he will worship with his parents, and the importance of the family unit together at work, at play and in worship will be engrained in his mind.

In tomorrow's world he will be well equipped to take his place physically, mentally... and spiritually.

Dear Sir:

I write from the Sanctuary, a refuge for homeless dogs upon a hill-farm in southern Indiana. I am the staff—the one fighting woman who is trying to hold the place together. In times past, those who love dogs have been good to us and so we ask again, bearing in mind our debt in gratitude.

We need food (of any sort), old towels, blankets or pieces. Just about anything can find appreciation here.

Forty-five noses and warm hearts salute you!
