ENDOWMENT FUND AGENCY AGREEMENT

As of this week, Wheeler residents can participate in a unique plan to invest in our own economy and still contribute to a very worthy cause. Charles R. Brown, president of the First National Bank in Wheeler, announced today a cooperative agreement between the bank and the Amarillo Area Foundation on behalf of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center.

The plan, which is called the Endowment Fund Agency

Agreement, is being implemented throughout the Panhandle, Brown said. It calls for banks (or savings and loan firms) to serve as depositories for the Harrington Cancer Center Endowment Fund. Banks may establish the funds by pledging .02 of 1% of current deposits over the next three years, Brown explained. Then area residents can contribute to the funds through their local banks. Those donations (the principal) are held intact and invested by the banks; income from the investments goes to the Amarillo Area Foundation, which acts as custodian of the Endowment Fund for the Cancer Center. The Foundation, which manages funds for many area non-profit organizations, holds the Cancer Center Endowment Fund in trust and disperses the income earned to the Center. There are several advantages to such a plan, Brown said. First of all, the Cancer Center, which provides a vital service to citizens throughout the Panhandle, is assured of ongoing funds to cover operational costs, research projects, equipment, and support programs. Local banks and the community's economy also benefit from keeping the money at home, and contributors have the convenience of working with their own banking institutions.

All gifts, including memorial contributions, can be held in Wheeler's endowment fund. The First National Bank informs the Cancer Center of all memorial contributions received, so that proper acknowledgements to the donor and family can be sent.

For additional information on the Endowment Fund plan contact the First National Bank or Marilyn Van Petten, director of development, Harrington Cancer Center, (806) 353-3571. Charles R. Brown is shown here with Marilyn Van

TODAY, THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1982 BLOOD DRIVE FOR MARK HAMILTON

Wheeler and Mobeetie, Tx. residents are being asked to participate in a special replacement blood drive for Mark Hamilton on Thursday, June 3, 1982 at 1 p.m. - 5 p.m. in the Wheeler High School Cafeteria. Donations will go into our Blood Donor Club so we can assist Mark and other residents with blood processing fee charges during future periods of hospitalization.

The next person to need blood could be you! Someone is entering the hospital everyday and the demand for blood continues to increase. Yet it is estimated that the annual blood requirements are provided by less than 5% of the eligible donor population. To assure that blood will be there when you need it, you are encouraged to become a volunteer blood donor. Someday your life may depend on its availability. Please donate and become a vital part of our community's lifeblood.

A Donor may give either for: An Established Donor Club: Which is used to help pay for blood charges incurred by any member of that church, community, school, hospital, or business club.

Family Blood Insurance: Which insures the donor and his immediate family for 100% of any blood charges that the family might incur for a full year. Only one donation by any family member is required.

Personal Credit: To be used at your discretion during the next 12 months.

Replacement Credit: To receive a $10.00 credit for each pint of blood donated in the name of another individual to assist him or her in paying for blood charges during hospitalization.

DAN McBRIDE AND FAMILY TO BE IN MOBEETIE JUNE 11

Dan McBride and family will be at the First Baptist Church, Mobeetie on Friday night June 11.

Dan is a Religious Humorist and Musical Satirist. He has presented more than 2000 programs in 37 states for church audiences from 15 different denominations, plus audiences of teachers, business and civic leaders and service clubs.

His approach is a humorous one, but behind that approach is a motive that is far more serious. That's probably why Dan McBride of Jacksonville, Texas is so good at what he does.

He does much more than poke fun at the modern church. He makes his audience laugh at their own unwillingness to do what they know they should do, which in turn compels them to start doing it.

Three record albums have been produced of his live performances. They are titled "Tiptoe Through the Tithers", "Righteous Indignation" and "Dear Computer, We Adore Thee."

The public is invited to come and enjoy this very fine entertainer on Friday June 11 at 7:30 PM at the First Baptist Church, Mobeetie, Texas.

WARDROBES FOR TODAY'S WORKING WOMAN
Wardrobes "a la fashion" for today's working woman are getting "major billing" in fashion-market circles -- and among working women themselves.
How strong is the move toward fashion in the working woman's wardrobe?
Working women spend $12 billion on wardrobes for work every year.
In fact, U.S. working women spend more "working wardrobes" than non-"working women" spend on their entire wardrobes -- attesting to the importance of "dressing for the job" in today's society.

TRENDS TOWARD 'CLASSIC'
What do "working wardrobes" with a fashion twist look like?

"Tailored classic" says it all.
One reason is because tailored classic items are "good" from season to season -- they're long-term items.
For newcomers on the "working wardrobe" fashion scene, here are several suggestions:
BLAZER TOPS ALL
Blazers are the "number one 'hot'" item for the career woman.
It can turn a dress, skirt or slacks into a suit. It wears over jeans -- and for the weekend.
It "accessorizes" with a wrap belt for a new look.
Select a style that is simple and most becoming to your figure type.
Look for good-quality construction and durable fabric.
SKIRTS COORDINATE 'LOOK'
Classic skirts are either dirndl, slim or A-line.
Select seasonless fabric in basic colors.
Since skirts coordinate the wardrobe "look", choose each one with that thought in mind.
BLouses -- A DASH OF COLOR
In choosing blouses -- unless you enjoy trips to the cleaners -- select a fabric that is washable.
You'll need some blouses in basic colors, but this is also a place in your wardrobe that you can add color -- if your suits stay with basic colors.
THE BASIC DRESS
The basic dress can be a sweater dress, a knit or a basic shirtwaist.
Fabrics should be soft.
A small print or solid is preferred -- since they blend more easily with other items in the wardrobe.
In selecting a dress, consider its versatility -- how many different ways it can be worn, such as "dressed up" or "dressed down."
CLASSIC SLACKS
Classic slacks are tailored -- in subtle colors and in a comfortable fabric.
ADDING NEW ITEMS
In starting the working wardrobe, every item you add should go with at least three other items you already have.
Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

THREE INSTITUTIONS

God ordained 3 institutions on this planet. The first was "the family". Then God ordained "government". The third was "the church". God has a proper order by which each is to function. The family begins with a man and a woman joined together in holy matrimony permanently until death parts them. (Scriptures to support these statements are available on request.) Each marriage partner has his duties and responsibilities toward the spouse and children. The family was the first and most important of God's institutions. The right kind of government and the proper functioning of God's church are only possible if the family is what God intended.
Government was ordained by God for a specific reason. The purpose of government is to protect people from evil. In our country we have many people today who say that government cannot legislate morality, but that government is supposed to be "big brother" and take care of all our needs. If the government can make no laws affecting morality, how can it protect citizens from evil? Romans 13 makes it very clear what the function of government is to be. Government is supposed to execute punishment on evildoers so that we can live a quiet and peaceable life in godliness and honesty (1 Tim. 2:1-3). Whenever government tries to control and care for the things that it was not created and ordained to do, the results are chaotic and wicked. Government was never authorized by God to control church ministries. That is why it is wrong for churches to accept licensure of its schools or day care ministries. Government was never ordained by God to educate people. That's why the public school system across our country is in such a mess. God ordained that the family and the church be involved in life-training and education.
Psalm 19:8, "The statutes of the Lord are right." God's way is the right way. To operate any other way is wrong. Right results cannot happen until people operate the right way.

SCARED SILLY

by Roda Mae Turner

I have never been afraid while camping. I love to camp in the mountains, near a little swift running stream of crystal clear snow water, where we all usually managed to take our shoes off and put our feet in the ice cold water for a few minutes at least once a day. The crystal clear lakes were nice to camp at also. Some of the rivers were far to deep and swift to get more than a few feet from the bank, the Arkansas River in Colorado is one of those. We have camped by it many times near Ruby Mountain, where we enjoyed hunting garnets and apache tears, after climbing around on the rocks on the mountain hunting the gem stones a few hours, it was always refreshing to have a foot washing in the icy waters of the Arkansas. We have been going to the mountains camping most ever summer for the past thirty years. Twenty years ago this coming August we along with a couple who have been dear friends for many years, and a neighbor boy had all been to Colorado for about ten days camping and fishing. We didn't have a modern camper then, and did our cooking over a campfire. The other couple at least had a coleman stove to do their cooking on and a little awning that fit on the back of their camper, when not traveling, that made a little room, size six by eight feet. We all gathered in this little room after the evening meal to play forty-two and dominoes. We later made us an awning like theirs, they were so nice in rainy weather. But at the time I'm writing about we didn't have ours. The neighbor boy had a car and tent he slept in. We had been hearing on the radio for a week about a prisoner escaping from the penitentiary at Santa Fe, New Mexico and the officials were warning everyone he was dangerous, and thought to be hiding in the mountains east of Albuquerque. It was time we were starting home. We always came by Espanola, New Mexico to visit friends on our way home. After a nice visit we headed on home about two o'clock in the afternoon, with the intentions of driving to the Tres Ritas Camping area, to spend the last night of our vacation in this beautiful camping area. Plans are made to be broken. All the campsites were full.

We stopped at a small grocery store and inquired about other camping areas in that vicinity and were told about one that was being built a few miles east, it wasn't finished, but we were told it would be fine for us to camp there. We drove down a dirt road four or five miles, and sure enough here was a sparkling stream with new campsites along the banks. We could see the construction equipment down the stream away from our campsites, but no other campers were to be seen anywhere.

There was only room for two vehicles at a campsite. The neighbor boy pitched his tent on one side of the campfire. We parked our pickup and camper on the other. The other couple took the next campsite, probably a hundred yards from us. A faint trail went from one campsite to the other. We always kept the coffee pot on the campfire. Everyone finished supper as soon as possible so we could play forty-two, on this our last night out. We had never heard of eighty-eight then so there was always someone not playing. It was my turn not to play about nine o'clock when C.H. said, "I'd sure like a cup of coffee."

"I'll run up to our camp and get the coffee pot," I answered quickly. "Here, Ruth said, as she handed me a pot holder, take this and you wont have to hunt in the dark at your camp for one." So armed with a pot holder. I started down the path. It was so dark I could hardly see it, but I could see the flickering little campfire in the distance. Just as I arrived at the campfire a movement caught my eye. Looking toward our camper I saw a mans shadow on the side of the white camper as it shined in the firelight. The shadow ran down the side of the camper and faded in the darkness. He had on a cap with a bill on it. I felt a scream rising in my throat, at the same time something was telling me to be very quite. It might be the escaped prisoner. Somehow I choked the scream down. I have no recollection of how I got back down the path to the other camp. I don't know if I ran, flew or tiptoed. The next I knew I was slipping the opening of the awning. I was in the light among family and friends. I was laughing and couldn't stop. No one realized this. In a hoarse whisper I would say, "Someones in our camp", between peals of laughter. No one believed me, because I was laughing so hard. Finally C.H. said, "Quit acting silly and pour me some coffee." This had a calming effect on me as I looked down and realized for the first time I had the coffee pot. I didn't remember getting it. I could quit the hideous laughter now, and convinced everyone I had saw someone in our camp. Armed with flashlights the men went to check on the other camp. No one was there and everything was as it was left, except there were strange foot prints in the soft dirt by the campfire. Everyone was convinced it was probably the night watchman from the construction camp, came to our fire thinking he would find someone to talk to, and simply faded into the darkness when he saw me, thinking he might scare me if I saw him.

Brother he wouldn't of scared me half as bad if he had stayed in the firelight and said a friendly hi. Needless to say I slept very little that night. Early the next morning we heard on the radio that the escaped prisoner was captured the afternoon before. So maybe it was just the night watchman. I hope I'm never that scared again.
