LIBRARY HAS RECEIVED CASSETTS, NEEDS PLAYER

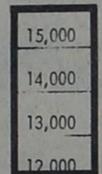

Wheeler Public Library has received a group of cassettes from the Amarillo System. However, we are lacking a cassette player. If you have one to donate to the library its value also may be taken off your income tax. We also might get a panasonic cassette player with 12 1/2 books of Gunn Bros. Stamps if several people would donate a book of stamps. You may turn in your extra stamps or books at Roark's. We do, however, hate to spend at least $20 out of our sorely limited funds to purchase one. We do wish to participate in this program as these tapes will be changed each three months with our receiving a new batch.

New contributors to the building fund were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Puryear and a memorial for Artie Weatherly. Our new total is $296. If you haven't contri-

Advanced Lifesaving Course Completed

The Shamrock Swimming Pool has been the location for the Wheeler County-wide Advanced Lifesaving Class. Fourteen have participated for Shamrock and Wheeler. The course has been taught in three parts: textbook study and questions, water work on form and skills, and films for re-enforcement of techniques. The dates for training were June 6th through June 21 with 22 hours of instruction. The instructors for the course were Roberta Adams of Wheeler, with thirty-eight years of Water Safety Instruction experience and Linda Davis who has held her Water Safety Instructor badge for 9 years. The Instructor must renew his or her badge every three years just as the lifeguards. These instructors have been to Aquatic Camps sponsored by the American Red Cross. Mrs. Davis has also attended Aquatic Camp for the handicapped swimmer.

The American Red Cross started their Life Saving Service in 1914 when the country was confronted with the tragic situation of 10,000 persons dying each year by drowning. Even though the United States population has more than doubled, there are only 7,000 deaths by drowning. This is still too many. By learning to swim from qualified instructors, boating and skiing in a safe manner, and taking instruction in Rescue and Water Safety we can greatly reduce the number of drownings.

The objective of the course is to provide the individual with the knowledge and the skills designed to save his own life or the life of another in the event of an emergency. The training is not intended to be a complete life-guard training course as each pool or beach sets its own rules and regulations. It is intended to help the student become a highly skilled individual with a positive attitude toward safety while in, on, or about the water.

Some of the personal safety and self-rescue skills learned have been treading water, improving swimming strokes, release of cramps, disrobing—inflation of shirts and slacks, floating on back, and the use of personal flotation devices. Each guard has learned that reaching assists, wading assists, and extension assists are preferable to swimming rescues. They have practiced using free-floating supports and equipment in their rescues. The guards have improvised equipment necessary to making a rescue. They have also learned to adjust their strokes in swimming to carry not only their weight but that of another and they realize their physical limitations. They have learned how to take off from the shore and the approaches to make on a victim to fit the situation. All are proficient in a variety of carries for victims. The most dangerous job of a guard is to defend against and release a victim who has grasped them from the front or back, arm or body, then go back to put them in a position for a safe carry.

Resuscitancy and the baby have been used to practice the four methods of artificial respiration. The use of mask, fins, and snorkel have been demonstrated and practiced in the recovery of a submerged victim, and search procedures have also been taught. The teachers appreciate the cooperation of the students and their preparation each night for the assignments.

WHEELER CITY COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY

The City Council of Wheeler met Monday, June 20, for their regular meeting. In the absence of Mayor Pete Burton, Mayor Pro-tem Delbert Thomas presided at the meeting.

Mrs. W. O. Weatherly, Mrs. J. R. Harris and Mrs. Hub Cole met with the council to ask the council to consider paving Mobeette Street from the Farm-to-Market road to Eleventh Street. The ladies were told the request would be considered.

Jerry Hefley reported on the activities of the Water and Sewer Department and requested the purchase of 100' sewer rod and 100 water meters. The council voted to purchase both items. The new meters will enable the city to continue replacing old meters which are either worn out or sanded down. Within the last year, the city has replaced 150 meters and has shown a marked increase in income from water use. The city has 675 meters.

Daryl Snelgrooves met with the council to learn the council's decision on a request for minimum water bills for the firemen and retired firemen. Snelgrooves made the request last month and it was tabled. Recognizing the time spent and effort put forth by the firemen, the council voted down the request.

Minutes for the May meeting were read and approved.

Richard Wallace presented the audit for 1976-77 fiscal year by Baldwin, Rucker and Co., and explained the same. An amended budget for 1976-77 was presented and approved.

Bills were reviewed and passed for payment.

A board of equalization was appointed by the council. The board will meet Wednesday, July 6.

A resolution for Wheeler Library to join the Panhandle Library Lending Association was presented and passed.

The Council received a letter from Wheeler Gas, Incl, informing the council that the corporation would exercise its right to increase gas rates to Wheeler residents due to increased cost of fuel—an increase in the cost of natural gas at the wellhead and from pipeline.

The chlorinator for the municipal water system has been purchased and the building for housing has been ordered and will be attached as soon as both arrive. City water will have to be chlorinated according to state law.

Survey Will Be Conducted In June

How many children do married women expect to have within the next five years? Will they average the same number as in the recent past? Answers to these questions will indicate the future growth and composition of the Nation's population, data vital to planners both in government and private business.

Percy R. Millard, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Dallas, announced today that information on birth expectations of American women will be collected during the week of June 20-24 from a sample of households in this area. The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 70,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross

Here & There

Laura Guthrie

June 21, the first day of summer, but with the thermometer hovering around the 100° mark, seems to me that summer has been going on for some time.

I called a friend today and my opening words were "Are you canning apricots?" She replied, "How did you guess?" Well, with every apricot tree in town and country hanging to the ground with golden fruit, I thought everybody must be hoarding a few for winter cobblers. And since it's summer, other fruit and the vegetables, will soon be ready for the can and freezer. But that is great. Can't afford to let any of it go to waste.

June is the month for brides. Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Barham are up to their old tricks. He told me today that the garden wedding at their house Saturday evening was no new thing to them. They have six grandchildren. Four of them have married at their house. If it is winter they have the wedding indoors. In summer it is in the garden as it was last week. This time it was a granddaughter, Linda Barham and Wesley Mong of Sweetwater, Oklahoma. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barham, the grooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mong of the same community. The bridesmaid was Jan Tipton and the groomsmen was Kenn Holland, all of Sweetwater. The setting for the affair was the patio of the Barham home. A reception followed, serving something over fifty guests. Sounds like a lot of fun and something for grandchildren to tell their children about. Incidentally, the Barhams already have two great-grandchildren.

Frank, Jr. and Korene Walker got on the road for quite a jaunt, the minute school was over for children Jack and Tracy. It was a business trip, a trip for buying and selling of their wares, antiques and jewelry. But over the country they had a good deal of pleasure. They traveled to Las Vegas, and Reno Nevada, at the latter City having a merchandise show. Then to Dillings, a city in the beautiful Montana, and another show. Then they spent a day in Yellowstone Park (from top to bottom) enjoying the wonders of nature, including a strong wind which felled trees in the path. Instead of waiting for the Rangers to remove them they hacked away with an ax until they could drive on. Then to Denver and home. Must be great to have a business that takes you on a vacation.

Dorothy and Adrian Risner, accompanied by Mrs. Hettie Risner spent Friday night and Saturday in Oklahoma City visiting with their daughter and family, Carla and Punk Childress and children. Hettie is staying with Adrian and Dorothy for the time being while she is recuperating from a hospital stay. She also had a fractured arm which is still in a cast.

Forence Glen is recuperating at home after having a bout in the local hospital and then in an Amarillo hospital. She is suffering with back pains. She thinks it's slowly improving.

HABITAT IMPROVEMENT

*LUBBOCK—Hunting often gets the blame when wildlife numbers decline in Texas but, man's overall use of the land has a much greater effect on the number of game animals and birds than does legal hunting pressure.
Wildlife habitat is declining in Texas, as it is in most states. This reality, coupled with the burden of supplying a greater amount of game to an increasing number of hunters on fewer acres, is placing an even greater emphasis on wildlife management.

To counter the decline in habitat and to improve its quality, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is in its fourth year of a program called wildlife extension service. During the first three years, 701 land managers took advantage of the extension biologist service, resulting in comprehensive wildlife programs being initiated on 4,437,246 acres of land.
Essentially, the program is designed to give direct assistance to landowners, land managers, and sportsmen in preserving habitat and enhancing wildlife resources on their property, including recommendations for the proper harvest of game species.
Game populations are controlled by the quality and quantity of vegetation. In the natural order of things, this usually is controlled by soil moisture. However, few areas are now in their natural state, and soil and moisture are only two of many controlling factors that affect vegetative growth. Grazing, plowing, brush clearing, and industrial use have a marked effect on wildlife habitat.

Vegetation changes have a much quicker and more noticeable effect on high productive capacity species, such as quail, doves, and pheasant, than on large game such as deer.
Observations have shown that brush clearing, overgrazing, and other game habitat destruction may deplete a deer herd slowly, whereas the same factors can spell trouble overnight to smaller game. However, smaller game species recover with equal speed, thereby causing populations to normally rise and fall from year to year according to habitat conditions.
Simply adding more game animals or game birds to an area does not assure reproduction or more game this fall. The decline is suitable habitat that caused the original decline in game populations will have the same effect on the newly stocked game species.
Where conditions are suitable or are planned for high game populations, any animals or birds removed will be replaced by themselves.
The Panhandle-South Plains region suffers from the lack of winter cover for all native species, and the PWD extension program is geared to help this situation.
New tree rows for wind protection of the soil as well as wild-life species are returning. Plants that furnish both cover and food for wildlife are being planted across Texas. Wildlife survival depends on food, cover and weather and through a good program of habitat improvement, the adverse winters will be minimized.

If you are a landowner, land manager or sportsman interested in preserving the quantity and quality of your wildlife, contact Richard DeArment, Extension Biologist, P&WD, P. O. Box 122, Wheeler, Texas 79096.

Darrouzett Play To Be Presented
The local Temperance group led by Miss Pandora Crutch-waffle raided Miss Belle's Saloon last Saturday night. This group of "sweet little ole ladies" showed their way into the saloon smashing bottles and shouting, "Destroy the works of the devil!"
They were finally evicted from the premises by Miss Belle and free drinks were enjoyed by all patrons.
BUT the temperance ladies have "declared war" and claim they will return. To see what excitement and troubles will next arise, be sure to see "A Bad Day at Gopher's Breath" at the Darrouzett Deutsches Fest Melodrama. Performances will be July 1 at 8 p.m. and July 2 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Fix it, Daddy, please...

To a child, security is a dad who can mend a broken toy or a mom who can heal a hurt. It's knowing that you're there to take care of things, no matter what. That's security to a child. But you know there's more. You know you have to plan security for your loved ones. And your Modern Woodmen representative knows how to help. Ask him to show you how membership in Modern Woodmen of America, one of the nation's leading fraternal life insurance societies, can provide the kind of security you want for your dependents... and yourself.

A clean, well-maintained air conditioner means more efficient cooling—and comfort—for the family.

Regular inspection and cleaning of filters and grills in home air conditioner units keeps the house cooler—and saves fuel.

Filters are traps for the almost invisible impurities in the air and regularly build up an accumulation of dirt.

Air conditioner filters in most units—and those in older buildings—require vacuuming and warm-water washing monthly. Shake off excess water, dry and replace filter.

Alternative to that is the disposable filter—available in various sizes, usually easy to change, and inexpensive.

New homes—or recently remodeled homes—may need more frequent filter changes, or cleanings, during the first cooling season, because of extra dust in the system.

For cleaning room grills, use a soft cloth, mild soap and warm water—not waxes or cleaners.

If the system seems sluggish after cleaning, call a service man certified by the manufacturer of the air conditioner—or an electrician.

Since cleaning filters and grills is relatively simple, someone in the family should be responsible for giving them a frequent check.

When shopping for room air conditioners, consider capacity

JEHOVAH WITNESSES
Jehovah's Witnesses will be convening this summer in 63 cities throughout the United States with 108 total conventions on the agenda.

Paul Trcka, spokesman for the group in Shamrock, said nearly 1,000 persons are expected at the "Joyful Workers" district conventions.

Trcka related that 30 delegates from Wheeler and vicinity will attend the four-day assembly scheduled for the myriad in Oklahoma City, where 6,300 persons are anticipated for the meeting July 14-17. "It has been revealed that 2,333,115 persons attended our conventions world wide in 1976," Trcka added. "This included assemblies in 56 countries."

"This year an even greater number of assemblies are being scheduled. This will make it convenient for more persons to attend," He continued. The conventions are designed to discuss the pressures affecting modern society in day-to-day living. "The program is divided into four sections," he explained, "including information on training children, responsibility of youth in today's world, making a success of marriage and the problems affecting family life."

The highlight of the convention, "How God's Kingdom can Benefit You," will be an address scheduled for Sunday, July 19 at 2:00 p.m. The public is invited.

ALLEN FAMILY REUNION

June 12, 1977 the family of the late W. J. and Ada Allen met for a reunion in Hobart St. Park in Pampa, Texas. Three of the six children born to this union were present. Two children are deceased. There were (10) ten grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren attending along with a host of other relatives and friends. A delicious covered dish meal was enjoyed by 65 family members and friends remembering old times and playing games.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. John E. (Jake) Alen, Mobeetie; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. (Bunk) Allen, Mobeetie; Mrs. Hazel Cox, Wilson, Oklahoma; Mrs. Ruth Hopewell, Richardson, Texas; Ada Lou Lester, James and Carol, Mobeetie; Helen Seitz, Jan and Jess, Pampa, Texas; Jerry Ely, Pampa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen, Pampa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Allen, Shannon, John, Moore and Friend Jo Ann of Bill and Ross, Pampa, Texas;

the room, direction the room faces, windows and other factors. Be sure to avoid a greatly oversized unit—it will not de-humidify well on humid days.

Efficiency is easy to determine by checking labels on the unit. The EER—energy efficiency ratio—helps consumers decide which units use less electricity and cost less to operate.

Remember, a higher EER costs less to operate. However, the high EER units sometimes cost more to buy, but over several years they will generally pay for themselves in lower utility bills and decreased maintenance costs.

If possible, place the air conditioner in the most shaded window. Care for the appliance by vacuuming the cooling fins (from the room side) and the condenser fins (from the outside) a couple of times a year.

Plug the air conditioner into a socket that is not on the same circuit as other high current appliances such as irons, toasters or coffeemakers.

CONSUMER CAR NEWS

New car "fever" costs money—but consumers can save by getting the most value possible for their trade-in car.

Before asking a car dealer's appraisal for the present car, determine its approximate worth.

To do this, check a used-car price guide available from a banker, credit union or insurance company—but keep in mind that these price estimates are based on the assumption that the car is in good running condition and still attractive.

When comparing offers from a different dealer, be sure the cars compared are similar in features, power and construction.

If the price offered is much lower than the price guide value, consider the car's condition to determine reasons why the offer may be lower.

Some dealers who offer lower trade-in prices will sell the new car at the lowest price.

Other dealers use the technique called "high balling." In this case, the salesman may offer much more than expected for the used car. If you are buying a big, new expensive model the salesman may intentionally overvalue your present car to make the deal irresistible. High balling entices you to buy your car from him and no one else.

Make certain to know all the costs of trading the car before making an agreement to buy. In some instances, the salesman may say he made a mistake in arithmetic in the price he quoted or that such a high offer was not approved by the sales manager. Even though you may feel committed to buy from him, don't hesitate to say, "I think I will look around some more."

Some car owners prefer to sell their car themselves. This may bring a higher price than the wholesale price paid by a car dealer.

It also gives the advantage of bargaining over the new car price since there is no trade-in for the dealer to sell.

To sell a car personally, simply set an asking price and decide how low a price to accept. Stick to it, and if no one meets that price, trade it in on the new car. The only expense is the newspaper ad.

Before attempting to sell the car personally, get the dealer's offer for it in writing so that it is a firm figure to count on if it's necessary to trade it in.
