New Tariff Measure Effective Midnight Tonight

Hoover Signed The Bill Today

By PAUL R. MALLO
Special Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 17.—J. Edgar Hoover signed the new tariff bill today, making it a law. Its new higher duties on imports will have effect at all ports of entry midnight tonight.

With a short and simple ceremony President fulfilled the requirements of the constitution, signing the bill after a 18-month long struggle. The House and Senate both passed the measure.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—

"Hoover" has been found in the tariff.

Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee and Attorney General Clegg of the House Finance Committee have both signed the measure.

The rate, it is indicated, will limit importation of refined sugar at a lower duty than that now in effect. It also provides for a further establishment of a tariff on sugar.

"Something ought to be done about it," Hoover said today. "It is too late to do anything about it at this session of Congress."

Into its final form were presented by the co-authors of the measure Reed Smoot of Utah, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and William Willis Hawley of Oregon, Chairman of the House Finance Committee.

The measure will have effect at midnight tonight. It is the first time since 1890 that the tariff has been changed.

BERLIN, June 17.—Dr. Heinrich Brüning's government was in serious danger of collapse today because of opposition to its proposals of a "special" tax on salaries of contracted state and private employes.

Boy "Bad Man" Is Shot By Police

By UNITED PRESS
WICHITA, Kas., June 17.—Victim of his "bad man" complex, Eugene Howell, 18, was shot five times by police here last night in a wild chase through the city to near the municipal airport.

Howell, wanted for questioning about stolen autos, had bent word he was killed. Sighted last night by officers hunting him, Howell fled. Sergeant Floyd Gusaules knocked him to the ground with a pistol bullet, but the youth jumped to his feet and ran.

He "confiscated" a car in a nearby garage, showing that the woman owner, and started on the chase. Two policemen, one on each side, riddled the car as he backed it out of the garage, but Howell kept going. Two carloads of police and several motorcycle men took up the pursuit, finally capturing the youth near the municipal airport when weakness from loss of blood forced him to halt. Besides the gun with which he returned the officers' fire, he was carrying two pistols in belt holsters.

He will recover.

Rum Runners Use Poisonous Gas

By UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON, June 17.—A new weapon—poison gas—is being used by bootleggers of this vicinity in their war with dry officers.

Deputy Sheriff David Jones of Prince Georges' county in southern Maryland, near here, said he was overcome yesterday when a rum-runner, whose car he was chasing, released deadly fumes through the exhaust.

Capone Perjury Case Records Reported Gone

By UNITED PRESS
MIAMI, Fla., June 17.—Documents bearing on the perjury case against Al Capone have been stolen and names of scheduled witnesses obtained, Richard Hunt, special prosecutor, said today.

Hunt said his office had been entered by "a carefully gloved prowler."

The Chicago gang leader is out under $14,000 bond pending a hearing on the perjury charge.

CONGRESS TODAY

Senate
Takes up rivers and harbors bill. Foreign relations committee considers London naval treaty.

House
Takes up mining bill on calendar. Communist committee continues investigation.

Chicago Plans Fight To Finish On Gangsters

Congress Spent Eighteen Months in Passing the Act. Means Political Fight

By UNITED PRESS
CHICAGO, June 17.—Reorganization of the Police Department and preparations for an immediate grand jury investigation of crime conditions proceeded rapidly today as powerful forces set in motion by the murder of Alfred J. Lingie, Chicago Tribune reporter, pressed forward with telling effort.

Pending appointment of a new commissioner of police to take the place of William R. Russell, who resigned yesterday to "give the reformers a chance," deputy commissioner John Aleock, "Iron Man," ruled the department.

New strength was given the Association of Commerce "secret six" committee of millionaire "crime-crushers" through a decision to increase the membership of the body from 6 to 16.

The June grand jury, specially charged by Chief Justice Normoyle of the Criminal Court to investigate thoroughly all phases of the Lingie slaying, was being counted upon today to bring to light secret coalitions of gangsters and public officials.

In charging the grand jury, Justice Normoyle said: "Public anger is at its highest pitch. It is ridiculous that mobs should try to run this city. If you cannot complete the investigation in your term of service I will see that succeeding grand juries carry on your work."

New evidence that "Gangland" still was carrying on its war and taking its victims for "rides," was seen in the discovery of the headless body of a man in a drainage canal not far from where the body of Eugene "Red" McLaughlin, notorious gangster, recently was recovered. Both hands and feet were missing from the body, which was unidentified.

Davenport Clears Docket Of Many Cases

Several cases were disposed of in the 91st district court yesterday afternoon with Judge George I. Davenport on the bench.

Jack Hunter, indicted by the 91st grand jury with passing a forged instrument, entered a plea of not guilty and contested the case against him. The jury found him guilty and assessed a penalty of two years in the penitentiary.

The case against M. K. Clark, indicted by the grand jury with assault with intent to murder was continued on motion of the defense attorneys because of the absence of witnesses.

W. J. Snipes, charged with driving while intoxicated, entered a plea of guilty.

Several juvenile cases were to be heard before Judge Davenport late today after which he said he would excuse the jury for Thursday.

The jury docket would be called. On that day the two cases of S. H. Gray vs. The National Fire Insurance Company will be heard before a jury. On the following day the case of L. C. Hoffman vs. S. A. Hoffman will be heard before a jury.

City Engineer Jarboe Resigns

J. A. Jarboe, who has been employed by the City of Eastland for the past three years as city engineer, tendered his resignation to the city commission Monday afternoon. Jarboe said in his letter to the commission that he had been offered a position as engineer with the Texas Public Utilities Corporation which he thought would be to his advantage to accept.

Terry Styles, in accepting the resignation for the commissioners, thanked Jarboe for the service he had rendered the city during his employment and wished him success in his new capacity.

The resignation is to take effect immediately.

H. L. Fischer Jr., has been selected by the commission to fill the office held by the retiring engineer.

Fischer is a graduate of A. & M. College of Texas, where he majored in engineering. He has already taken over the duties of city engineer and he and his wife have moved to Eastland to make their home. He comes to the official family of the City well recommended to fill the office for which he was selected by the commissioners.

County Medics Meet Here Tonight

The Eastland County Medical Society will meet in regular session at the roof garden of the Connelley Hotel at 7:30 o'clock.

The program that has been arranged for the occasion begins with a dinner at 7:30, followed by a scientific program. Dr. H. B. Tanner will then give a talk on his reminiscences.

An important business meeting is scheduled to follow the talk by Dr. Tanner.

Born Without Arms, This 6-Year-Old Oklahoma Tot Finds It No Handicap

Joan Whisnant, 6, shows here how she uses her extraordinarily developed toes in lieu of fingers.

By NEA Service.
SAND SPRINGS, Okla., June 17.—Nature put a terrible handicap on little Joan Whisnant. But it also gave Joan a sturdy, determined soul. The result is that Joan, overcoming long odds, has found a way to an active, almost normal existence in spite of an affliction that might have seemed too great to be borne.

Joan, who is just 6 years old, was born without hands or arms. Apparently she was doomed from the cradle to be a helpless cripple. But her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Whisnant, were determined that she should escape that fate as far as was humanly possible.

Joan has shown herself to be a normal child and not a curiosity," says her mother. "We intend to educate and treat her as such."

Joan can write legibly, can eat from her own plate with her own knife and fork, can drink from her own cup or glass, can turn the pages of her own books, can cut out paper dolls, play with her toys, wash dishes, comb her hair and embroider very nicely with a needle and thread.

Joan's first demonstration of dexterity with her toes came when as a small baby she kicked and played with a rubber ball, hung over her cradle by a string. At the age of 4 she was making marks with a pencil held between her toes. Now she is going to school, and aside from the fact that she has a special desk she is treated there as a normal child.

At home she insists on helping her mother with the housework. Her parents have declined all offers to have the girl go into vaudeville, and insist she never will.

Tax Matters Are Discussed At Meet Of Commissioners

The city commissioners met in regular session at the office of the city manager Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in a session that lasted over two hours.

Tax matters were before the commission during the meeting, and consumed the entire time of the body. Another meeting has been planned to be held as soon as possible to take up the unfinished business concerning the tax reductions and assessments against property in the city.

Those present at the meeting were Terry Styles, chairman, Earl Bender, N. A. Moore and Homer Brelsford, Jr., commissioners, John Turner, city attorney and W. C. Marlow, city secretary.

Eastland Woman's Father Is Dead

Thomas Randolph Hall, who had been with the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company for 42 years, died Saturday in Edwards, Miss., where he had arrived for a visit with relatives. The body has been brought to Thurber, Mr. Hall's home, and the funeral was held this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Mr. Hall was 67 years old and was well known in Eastland, having visited here many times. Mrs. F. R. Looney of Ranger, Mrs. Lorie King of Eastland; Mrs. W. W. Brown of Dallas; James Hall Jr. of Los Angeles and T. R. Hall Jr. of Okemak, Okla., are his children. Mr. Hall's wife survives, as do a number of grandchildren.

He was the oldest man in point of service, with the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company and his death is deeply mourned.

Those attending the funeral from Eastland were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blatt, Scott Key, and Mrs. and Mrs. W. G. Doughtie.

Four New Wells To Be Drilled In Eastland Field

Territory to West of City Being Given Extended Play

Four new wells will be drilled in the West Eastland oil field, an area which already has 14 producers, within the next few weeks. Operations have already begun upon two while the remaining two are locations. This area and that northwest of Cisco, where drilling for gas has taken precedence, are monopolizing interest at this time.

Ed Keough is rigging up his Dr. C. C. Jones No. 2, located on a half mile west of his Jones No. 1 and offsetting the Patterson well of the Consolidated, to the northeast. The Patterson is a gas well which came in for an initial flow of 4,500,000 feet while the Jones No. 1 is producing both oil and gas. Its oil production at the present is around 50 barrels daily, a rate which it has been maintaining for several months. The Jones No. 1 is located a few miles west of Eastland and a short distance south of the Bankhead highway.

Kig is going up on the Terry tract, one-half mile north of the Patterson, where Bill Hyer, et al, will drill.

The other two locations have been made by Chestnut and Smith, one on the Alexander farm offsetting the Patterson to the east, and the other on the Waters farm, offsetting the Patterson to the north. Chestnut and Smith are primarily interested in gas, hence the activities of the company in the vicinity of the Patterson which is a gas producer.

Oil from the district is being marketed by United Producers and the Trust company, Chestnut and Smith and the Consolidated are taking the gas.

Republicans Not To Have County Ticket In July

The Republican County Executive Committee met at the office of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night with representatives from Ranger, Cisco, Eastland, Gorman, Rising Star, Dardemona and Pioneer present.

It was decided at the meeting that no county candidates would be put in the field but that the candidates selected by the State committee would be the only names to appear on the Republican primary ticket.

The date of the Republican primary will coincide with the Democratic primary, both being held on July 26.

The law requires a primary where a candidate for governor received more than 100,000 votes in the last general election, and the Eastland county Republican primary is to be held this year in accordance with that law, it was stated after the meeting was over last night.

Balloon Races Now Face Cancellation

By UNITED PRESS
HOUSTON, Tex., June 17.—The national balloon races, scheduled and then facing cancellation here July 4, will be held in Houston.

The event, which already has drawn fifteen bags as entries, was awarded to Houston, and then was in danger of being called off as promoters failed to raise the required money.

However, a group of business men met with Chamber of Commerce officials here yesterday and took over details of the race, deciding to promote it for the benefit of the Houston units of the Texas National Guard.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 17.—

The 1930 population of Jefferson county, which includes Beaumont and Port Arthur, was placed at 131,935 an increase of 58,815 or 80.4 per cent, according to figures announced by district supervisor Harry Hawley here.

Hawley also announced Chambers county population as 5,710.

News From The State Capital

AUSTIN, Tex., June 17.—L. C. Sutton, 41, an assistant attorney general, died during the night at his residence here. He had been ill for many years. Recently his condition became acute but he had rallied and was thought to be better yesterday. He had been connected with State Departments for many years, having served in the Attorney General's Department under successive administrations since B. F. Looney was attorney general. He was also at times legal adviser for the State Senate and for the State Banking Department. Mrs. Sutton and two sons survive him.

Bids upon concrete paving on state highway 3 in Harris county adjoining San Jacinto river bridge have been ordered withdrawn by the State Highway Department. The work had been advertised before the commission approved the project. A contract will be let June 24 on four and a half miles of concrete paving on highway 19 in Harris county between Pierce Junction and Almeda.

The State water board has postponed until July 28 a hearing on presentations for permits for construction of dams on the Rio Grande. The applications were presented by F. Robertson of San Benito representing various water districts.

Proposed rebuilding of the military highway along the Rio Grande will be put before the State Highway Commission next week by Cameron county citizens. The road was originally built by General Zachary Taylor during the Mexican war. It is considerably shorter between Brownsville and other border cities by that route than by present improved highways.

The case of R. H. Cousins vs. Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, was submitted before a special State Supreme Court here today. The case, originating in El Paso, involves legality of insurance rates. Regular Supreme Court judges could not sit because of lodge affiliations. The special judges were C. S. Bradley of Groesbeck, T. S. Henderson Jr. of Cameron and Allan D. Sanford of Waco.

The suggestion that Cannon may have used the fund in "bucketshop gambling" was made by Tinkham, a wet, in stating that one of the suspicious consequences of Cannon's recent appearance before the senate Lobby committee was his refusal to answer a question as to whether he did not have extensive options obligations at the time he received the fund from E. C. Jameson, New York financier.

The charges against Bislop Cannon were not made by Roman Catholic interests. They were made by me, an Episcopalian whose ancestors came to this country as pilgrims in 1620, and who were firm in their conviction that church and state should be separate, a conviction I have inherited."

Tinkham then outlined his charges, saying the evidence showed Cannon guilty of "flagrant and coercive lobbying in relation to federal legislation," and "shameless violation of the federal corrupt practices act, a criminal statute, through failure to report receipt of $65,300 contributed by Jameson and failure to account even unto his own use.

Cannon Charged With Falsehood By Rep. Tinkham

Representative Says He "Will Stand Convicted by Honest Men of Appropriating Money to Own Use."

By UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON, June 17.—Charges of falsehoods, evasions and violations of the corrupt practices act were made against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today in a speech delivered in the house by Rep. George Holden Tinkham, Repp. Mass.

Tinkham asserted that until the Methodist Bishop makes a complete statement concerning his use of $45,300 contributed for use in the Anti-Smith campaign in 1928, "he will stand convicted in the eyes of all honest men of having appropriated money for his own use.

The suggestion that Cannon may have used the fund in "bucketshop gambling" was made by Tinkham, a wet, in stating that one of the suspicious consequences of Cannon's recent appearance before the senate Lobby committee was his refusal to answer a question as to whether he did not have extensive options obligations at the time he received the fund from E. Armament Conference May Have Caused Increase In Armaments

By HENRY T. RUSSELL, United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright 1936 in all countries by United Press. All rights reserved).

LONDON, June 17—The fear that one of the results of the London Naval Conference may be to stimulate an increase in armaments on the continent of Europe, was expressed today by Sir Austen Chamberlain, formerly British foreign secretary, in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

During the conversation, Sir Austen, seated in a comfortable chair at his new private residence in Kensington, discussed the European peace situation at length. He said he was sometimes inclined to think that disarmament would have made more progress if it had "never been the subject of formal conferences."

He expressed the belief that the introduction of parity as the standard of naval construction "has raised a new and grave problem" in Europe.

Of himself, characteristically enough, he spoke little. He did, however, explain to the correspondent that he wore a monocle "because the other eye is so weak that window-glass would serve the purpose" on one side of any pine "tree that he might use."

"The treaty of London," declared Sir Austen, "gives the United States superiority in fact, although not in name. That does not disturb me, however, as I do not consider a struggle between the United States and the British Empire as within the bounds of possibility. What, however, does cause me some anxiety is that the United States should have taken parity with the British Empire as the standard of its own naval strength, for this inevitably leads to insidious comparisons and a minute and jealous scrutiny by the respective forces of our two countries such as has occupied the senate committee."

"We may neither of us contemplate war with the other but such discussions, by being inevitably conducted on the hypothesis of war are unfortunate, and much has been said in them which has not made pleasant reading for friends of the United States in this country. I hope, however, that this may be a passing phase which will disappear when once the treaty has been approved. In any case, as I say, I am not myself greatly concerned as to the relative strengths of the American and British fleets."

"I am more anxious about the effect of the agreement on old position as a European power, and on the results which it has had on the continent of Europe. The introduction of parity as the standard of naval construction undoubtedly raised a new and grave problem in Europe."

"Even among the three powers that signed the treaty, reduction applies to the British Empire alone although limitation is common to the three. But on the continent of Europe I fear the result of the conference, far from being to limit, is to stimulate an increase in armaments."

Five Killed At Grade Crossing

NORMAN, Okla., June 17—Two investigations were started today into the crash of an interurban with a motor car on the Oklahoma City highway north of here which claimed five lives and caused injury to three other persons last night.

The dead: Mrs. Joe Shelton, 20; Ennis Reynolds, 18; Reva Reynolds, Eugene Reynolds, 4, and Dale Heneger, 15.

The injured: Carl Reynolds, 21; Martha Reynolds, 12, and Leona Reynolds, 17.

All the victims were from Norman or Moore, a small town between here and Oklahoma City. Leona and Martha Reynolds were not expected to recover.

The accident occurred at a blind grade crossing, H. E. Earhart, motorman of the interurban, told of the crash.

"I was going the regular running speed, about 45 miles an hour. I had just blown my whistle when a car suddenly came out of the dip in the road. I blew the whistle again and jammed air brakes. We were going about 25 miles an hour when we crashed," Earhart said.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DITH GRANT, beautiful Swedish Village artist's model dancer, shares her heart with CLARISSA, who knows as Chummy, beautiful girl who lost her love seven years ago when STEYNE, artist, he abruptly disappeared, who has been affected by ever since. Steyne leaves Judith and then DUMONT, another beau to Chummy; Chummy fails utterly to please him, and a doctor tells that she probably will regain her memory. A man who has inherited money to make him prosperous, provides medical attention for his former heart and tries to bring memory back to her, but Judith's dismay seems more noted in Judith. Chummy explains that he had acquainted with her in the past but that he had never seen her since her disappearance affect her as it did. He did marry her, he says, unless she recovers her memory he is honor to do so.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

Week later Alan Steyne came to the Cafe Turc, where Judy eating her sausage sandwich another exhausting morning Max Dickbread. "Say, will you have dinner tonight and go to a party," he asked eagerly. "No, the girl," she replied. "I've got another cold—a cold that couldn't you come to my house?" His voice was a little rougher still. "It's my birthday," she said. "I can't leave Chummy," she said. "Couldn't you get someone to go with you? There's that girl in your building—" "Clara Jenks?" Judy's voice was a little. She was struggling between desire and a sense of duty. "Well, I dare say she'd stay with Chummy. She's got a job just now. But—" "I've heaved several sighs as I went up the last of the seven days," Chummy's room. "On the way she had called on Clara Jenks, and had asked her if she'd sit with Chummy and get some supper. Clara agreed readily. She was the soul of nature—a struggling artist, a comedienne who never part that suited here. At present she was out of work. Judy then told Chummy of the idea. Chummy was delighted and said that of course Judy wanted to go, too. "We'll have half such a good time, my darling!" Judy hugged her friend. Chummy was very hot, and said she'd go to sleep. "I feel feverish herself. Her heart beat very fast and loud. It was the first time she had ever felt that she had a heart. Her face was troublesome, too. Judy knew that she wanted to go, and she knew with Alan that she had never before to do anything in all her life and she was glad that Chummy was all instinctive. Judy was excited, and that she was feeling in her breast was a sensation. "I had only one dress suitable for such an occasion. It had belonged to Max Dickbread's sister. He had painted Judy in it, and had told her to keep it. It was golden, with a gorgeous sash of flame and emerald. The neck was cut round, and it had tiny sleeves of gold lace. Above each ear Judy fastened a flame-colored velvet poppy. Over her dress she threw a black-velvet cloak of rather tawdry material, but made in a fashionable shape. Her only pair of white gloves were soiled, so she carried them in her hands. She went in to be admired by Chummy. Steyne ran up the stairs, punctual to the moment. He greeted Chummy, and they went off immediately. They dined at a smart restaurant where Judy had never been before. It was a real gala night. There were violets on the table, and they drank champagne. The lights were shaded with some blue light that looked like the sky. The women wore wonderful clothes. At the table next to them a white-haired woman, with black eyes and a rose-petal skin, was wearing some pearls that made Judy's big eyes nearly start out of her head. At first the girl's thoughts were all with the absent Chummy; but gradually, under the influence of the food and the wine and the soft music, Chummy's image faded, and the luxurious surroundings all seemed to merge into the handsome face and the laughing eyes on the other side of the small table. She had little consciousness of what they talked about. She knew that it was delightful talk—rather silly, probably, but it made a glow round her heart. Then it was time to go on to the opera house. Steyne gathered up the violets on the table and gave them to her. As they passed out of the restaurant he said, with a touch of shyness in his low voice: "You are looking most awfully well tonight!" As she put on her cloak, Judy looked at herself in a mirror. Her own face looked strange to her. She certainly needed neither paint nor powder, and there was a stony shine in her eyes that had never been there before. She was no longer gaudy, like a dyed narcissus. In the lobby, as they were wait-

"Couldn't you come alone?" his voice was a little more eager. "It's my birthday."

my room for a minute or two, and when I came back she was gone!" "Gone!" exclaimed Judy. "Yes," said Clara. "She must have been light-headed all the time. Luckily I thought of the cafe, and followed her; and there she was, drinking vermouth and smoking. Bastien Dumont brought her back to me, and in an hour I saw there was something wrong; so I sent Bastien for O'Shane. Bastien was awfully good!" Judy gave a groan. Chummy out, all alone, on a cold night like that! The nurse arrived and went into the patient's room. Clara returned to her own quarters. Judy was just going to hers, to get into a dressing gown, when she heard a man's voice calling softly up the staircase: "Judy—Miss Grant—may I come up?" She stood irresolute for a moment, and then ran down. She met Alan Steyne on the third landing. "Haven't you gone?" she asked. "No. How could I—without knowing? How is she?" Judy was just on the point of hysteria. "She may die tonight!" she whispered in passionate self-accusation. "I dare say she will, and it'll be my fault for leaving her—and your fault! I hate you—I never want to see you again! Chummy's dying—and we've been having a good time!" Choking with sobs, she ran up the dark stairs again, leaving Alan to make his way out of the house. (To Be Continued)

THIN PEST RANKS

AUSTIN, Tex., June 17.—Destructive animals suffered heavy casualties in Texas during May, according to a report of the month's work, released by the Texas Predatory Animal Eradication Association.

The association, operating with the assistance of the bureau of biological survey, of the Federal department of agriculture, and the Live Stock Sanitary Commission of Texas, spent $11,154 during the month in its unrelenting war on pests.

Honors for the month went to E. L. Homan, an agent of the association working in Wilcox County, who bagged 50 coyotes and four bobcats.

Probably the most sensational capture of the month was that of "Sultan," a wolf with an evil reputation in Denton County, that was credited with a charmed life.

A wolf that had killed 65 sheep and eight goats was bagged by R. H. Blaylock in Edwards County.

Whenever an execution takes place in the death house across a spacious flower garden from the photographic room, the picture of the chair's latest victim is taken from the files and fastened to the big board with thumb tacks.

Seven years ago the chair was inaugurated as the official means of execution. There were many protests when the gallows was abandoned, but most men who have seen both types of capital punishment say that the new killing machine is the most merciful.

Three men died in the big chair in one night when the chair was first put into service.

One of the most memorable figures whose likeness can be found in the death gallery is that of George Clem Gray, who was executed five years ago for the murder of a Titus County youth.

Two of Dallas County's most notorious killers, Frank and Lorenzo Noel, were photographed five years ago shortly before they were put to death for murder.

They were the notorious Black Terrors, sought by a mob of 10,000 angry citizens in an assault on the Dallas County jail.

The Robinson negroes, whose pictures are close by, were executed a year later for the murder of a Dallas policeman.

Last was twice convicted of a masterful murder plot and finally put to death. He died protesting against his conviction "on circumstantial evidence and the testimony of a Mexican," but never said whether he was guilty or not.

Possibly the most romantic figure ever executed was Harry J. Leahy, the "Iron Man" from the Ranch Country, executed on August 2 last, for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey of Mathis. Rancelman, lawyer, social lion, Leahy fought his battle for life through the courts for three years, but he was twice convicted of a masterful murder plot and finally put to death.

LOW BLOWS PUT MAX DOWN

MAX IN A "DEMPSEY CROUCH"

With The Majors

Cleveland and Washington—two of the pace setters in the American League's turbulent pennant race—today made bids for first place as American League clubs closed inter-sectional competition in the west. A third club—New York—hoped to close its western invasion by moving up from the bottom of the first division.

Philadelphia's Athletics, leaders, were idle today with less than a game and a half separating the four first division teams.

The Athletics' lead was cut to half a game yesterday when Detroit defeated Philadelphia, 9 to 8. Washington scored eight runs in the last three innings to defeat St. Louis, 9 to 7, and move into a tie with Cleveland for second place.

The Yankee-Indians game at Cleveland was rained out.

Ted Lyons' wild pitch with the bases filled in the seventh enabled Boston to break a 2 to 2 tie and Cliver's double drove in two more runs to give the Red Sox a 6 to 3 decision over Chicago.

Brooklyn held its 3 1-2 game lead

Hatcherymen To Meet in Abilene

ABILENE, June 17.—Hundreds of hatcherymen from throughout Texas and a number of out-of-state poultry specialists will be in Abilene Wednesday and Thursday to attend the annual convention of the Texas Baby Chick association.

A. H. Demke of El Paso, president of the association, arrived in Abilene Sunday to work with Frank W. Irvine, local hatcheryman, in completing convention arrangements.

An outstanding feature of the conclave will come on Thursday night when Dr. V. C. Fretz of Omaha, Neb., will direct a poultry clinic in the city hall auditorium here. He will be assisted in his work and demonstrations by C. Metz, Heald, Taylor county farm agent.

On the opening night, the Abilene Chamber of Commerce will host for a convention banquet. The convention's initial session is slated for 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in the crystal ballroom of the Hilton hotel.

Federal Prohibition Agents Stage Raids Around Capitol

WASHINGTON, June 16—A small army of federal prohibition agents was concentrated in and around the capital today for one of the most vigorous campaigns against bootleggers conducted here since enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

Arriving in Washington late Saturday night, the federal agents in cooperation with local police conducted a series of raids which netted twelve arrests and confiscation of large quantities of beer. The drive was continued Sunday with the result that altogether 23 speakeasies, night clubs and road houses in the vicinity of the capital were raided.

Led by W. R. Blanford, enforcement ace of the Maryland district, the dry agents seized 610 gallons of whiskey and destroyed 10,000 gallons of mash in a raid at Leonardtown, Md., and arrested sixty-two prisoners and confiscated 200 quarts of whiskey and beer in simultaneous raids in other sections of the state.

A 23-year old mother and her two sons were among those arrested by the federal agents. A charge of maintaining a "nuisance" was booked against her and she was confined to a detention home over the week-end.

EVERY REALLY GOOD sports writer is, first of all, a good reporter. The reason why William Braucher writes such a good sports story is that he can write any kind of a story and write it well.

As sports editor of the Newspaper Enterprise Association, serving this paper exclusively in this territory, Braucher covers the whole field of amateur and professional athletics. His comments are read by millions of fans; his humor chuckled over from coast to coast. Whether it's straight reporting or opinion or wisecracks, the work of Braucher belongs to that category of sport writing known as first class.
