Husband and Wife Digging Out Gold

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Can you visualize a producing and profitable mine operated by only two persons, and one a woman?

Arizona has such a mine. Its only operatives are Joe Nohle-chek and his wife, Rhoda. It should be noted also that Mrs.
Nohlechek is not of Amazonian type, but is decidedly feminine, of pleasing personality, and with urban cultural antecedents.

The mine is out in the desert hills of northern Yuma County, a few miles from the Santa Fe railroad station of Wenden. It is owned wholly by the couple, who have no stock for sale. Very quietly they have worked upon it for 10 years, their books in that time showing production of ore valued at $350,000 in gold and copper.

When they secured the property, it had a 420-foot shaft, which had not been deepened, though lateral workings have been extended on several levels.

Their average net return is $10 for each hour of combined effort.

WEEDS AND TIN CANS MAY MAKE HEALTH MENACE

City Sanitation Officer Urges Immediate Clean-Up Form
Mosquito Breeding
Places.

Weeds and tin cans in alleys and on vacant lots give refuge to mosquito larvae and are contributory to ill health, according to City Physician E. R. Townsend. They should not be tolerated by any householder who values the health and comfort of his own family or his neighbor's.

Jay Phillips, sanitation officer, has been making a survey of Eastland and finds that weeds have been permitted to grow on many vacant lots and in many alleys, and that tin cans which have not been perforated are scattered about in heedless and menacing fashion. Any tin can that will hold water, hidden in weeds or high grass, may very easily become a breeding place for mosquitoes. Shaded from the sun's rays, nevertheless warmed by the heat of the day, water collected in empty tins becomes a perfect haven of refuge for mosquitoes seeking a place to lay their eggs and may become the hatching place for thousands and thousands of mosquitoes. Several such tin can incubators may quickly run the mosquito population far into the millions.

These unsightly and menacing breeding places are not all in isolated or poor quarters of the city, according to the sanitation officer. Some of them are in the choice residence sections. In some cases the residents have been notified of the menace to health and comfort and have promised an immediate and independent clean up, but have forgotten.
The mosquitoes never fail to take advantage of such forgetfulness, according to the officer, and illness is likely to follow.

Mr. Phillips is urging immediate cutting of weeds and cleanup of trash in all parts of the city, both for the sake of health and to make a good impression on visitors.

Septic Sore Throat From Impure Milk

LEE, Mass., July 10.—The epidemic of septic throat infection which has taken 13 lives here in the last week, was believed to have reached a crisis today with 600 of the town's 4,000 population affected. A strict quarantine has been imposed on the village by state and city health authorities.
Public gatherings have been banned, restaurants have been ordered to close at 8 p. m. and persons recently ill are barred from the streets. All funerals must be private.

The epidemic, now in its second week, definitely has been tracked to the town's milk supply.

50-FOOT YACHT WRECKED WHILE IN MID-OCEAN

Smallest Entry In Trans-Atlantic Race Sunk By High Seas, But Crew
Is Rescued.

By United Press.
IPSWICH, Mass., July 10.—The yacht Rofa, the smallest entry in the trans-Atlantic race for the King of Spain cup, was wrecked at sea, but the six members of the crew were rescued by the steamship Tusgarora and now are en route to New York.

The yacht was a 50-foot craft and was buffeted by high seas and plunged downward. The Tusgarora was in the immediate vicinity and picked up the crew, including one woman. The steamship is due in New York today.

Information of the sinking of the craft was received by Mrs. Wendell Tabor from her brother, Charles Townsend, a Harvard student and member of the yacht crew. He radioed from the Tuskarora yesterday that he and other members of the trans-Atlantic racing craft had been rescued.

Museum In Memory of Benj. Franklin To Cost $7,000,000

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Erection of a $7,000,000 museum and memorial to Benjamin Franklin is expected to result from the uniting of efforts by the Poor Richard club and the Franklin Institute of Pennsylvania, which have been pursuing separate plans for a Franklin memorial during the last two years, according to an announcement made here recently.

The fusion of interest of the two groups will make it possible to start work upon the memorial in the immediate future, according to Harry Maceky, mayor, who has indorsed the program.

More than $3,000,000 is already available, it is said. Raising of additional funds through public subscription will be placed in the hands of a committee composed of Dr. Howard McClenahan of the Franklin Institute; H. Ennis Jones of the Franklin Trust company, and Karl Bloomingdale.

A site for the structure is to be chosen on the parkway next week, Mayor Maceky said. The building will be monumental structure suggestive of the Pantheon in Rome, according to the tentative plans.
It will house a great memorial to Franklin and include a museum of the graphic arts as they existed in his day.

The plans also provide for a library with a capacity of 250,000 books, including all works of importance which can be procured upon the physical and mathematical sciences. A natural science and technical museum will be included, together with an auditorium and committee rooms and offices for the Franklin institute.

"The scientific museum which will constitute the greater part of the building will give Philadelphia something that America does not now possess," Doctor McClenahan declared.

Mapping of Ocean Deposits Started

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Work has began at the Scripps Institute of Oceanography here on two important problems. Definite working plans have been laid to compile a new map of marine bottom deposits of the northeast Pacific, in co-operation with the University of Wisconsin. After July 1 work on this project will have more continuity than formerly.

The institution boat, the Scripps will be used this summer to obtain more detailed information on the form and extent of a submarine channel, which lies below the surface of the water off the coastline near San Diego and La Jolla.

While work is progressing here on these marine bottom studies, Dr. Morgan Clements, an American geologist now living in Tahiti, is assisting in the study of coral reefs and is collecting specimens.

Italian Flyers Who Made Longest Over-Water Hop

Here are the principals in the record-breaking hop from Rome, Italy, to Brazil. Lower left is Capt. Arturo Ferrarin; right is Major Carlo Del Prote. They were forced down before reaching Rio de Janeiro. Their single-motored monoplane, Savoia is shown. It is of unusual design with the propeller behind instead of in front of the motor, which is mounted above the wings.

Aurora Borealis Seen Faintly At Eastland, Appearing Like Distant Fire

Showing first in the north and then in the northeast, the aurora borealis was seen faintly at Eastland between 9 and 10 o'clock Saturday night. It appeared at first like a distant fire reflected in the sky and then the glow separated into several shafts of light. Only a few colors were seen here. A much more beautiful display was seen at Dallas, according to the following report in the Dallas News:

"Like a giant theater curtain stretched across the north, its silken folds made brilliant with powerful stage lights, first red, then lavender and finally white, the aurora borealis colored the sky Saturday night and was viewed for several hours by Dallas residents.

"The wide streamers of light forming the folds of the curtain extended skyward in fan shape.
There were five of these streamers distinctly visible and numerous others of fainter hue extending alongside the main shafts

Government Cost Estimates Exceed Expected Receipts

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Budget Director H. M. Lord today received the last of the government budget estimates for the year 1929 and 1930 and began reducing them so there would be no treasury deficit next year.

Present estimates call for expenditure of $3,801,000,000 in the year ending June, 1930, and estimated receipts are placed at 3,707, 000,000.

Rescue Ship Nears Refugees On Ice

VIRGO BAY, Spitzbergen, July 10.—An unconfirmed radio message purporting to be from the Russian ice breaker Krassin said today that the ship was only two and one-fifth miles from the dirigible Italia ice camp, off north east land.

The same message said that one of the Italia survivors, apparently mentally deranged, had wandered from the camp.

Cotton Acreage In Texas Increases

AUSTIN, July 10.—Texas cotton acreage planted and standing July 1 is 18,366,000 acres, figures issued by Federal statistician H. H.
Schutz, today show.

On July 1, 1927, the acreage was 16,850,000.

KILLS HIMSELF AFTER FIRING AT DAUGHTER

Kansas City Man Quarrels With Girl, Thinks He Has Killed her and Shoots Himself.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10.— Thomas McClanahan, 44, obtained his shotgun after a quarrel with his family over their automobile.

He fired at his daughter and she plunged over an embankment in the yard. McClanahan believing he had killed her, committed suicide with the same shotgun.

The girl, Mary McClanahan, had tripped as she fled, however, and was unharmed by the shot.

The father died within a few minutes after firing the shot and did not learn that he did not kill his daughter.

City Commission Gives Permission To Lay Water Pipe

Permission was granted by the city commission Monday, to the Eastland Mineral Water Company to put down a pipe along an alley to carry water from two wells, recently completed, for three blocks to company's bathhouse, 113 East Commerce street.

According to Dr. R. C. Ferguson, president of the mineral water company, these two wells are furnishing mineral water that is the equal, in some instances superior, to the mineral water that is obtained on the company's leases in the north part of the city.

One of the greatest handicaps to the mineral water bathhouse has been the necessity of hauling water from the distant wells, and it will be a great convenience to have the water piped from the nearby wells to the reservoir at the bath house. The pipe will be put down at once, according to Dr. Ferguson.

Leuders Baptist Encampment Has Fine Study Course

The Leuders Baptist Encampment is one of the most largely attended encampments in the state. The program this year includes study courses for Sunday school, B. Y. P. U. and W. M. U.
Workers. More than thirty teachers compose the faculty in the various departments.

Dr. Millard Jenkins will be the inspirational speaker for the first week, delivering messages daily at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Dr. T.
L. Holcomb of Sherman will be the inspirational speaker the second week.

The study courses are so arranged that those who can attend for either the first or second five day period can get full credit for the work. Rev. and Mrs. Turner will teach the first five days and will return home to conduct a revival at Olden next week.

The encampment opens today and will continue through July twenty-two.

Mexican Bandits Killed In Battle

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—Seventeen rebels of a force of 250 under the notorious bandit leader El Catorce, and four other bandit chiefs, were killed in a three hour fight with federal cavalry, which lost four dead, a dispatch to the Excelsior said today.

HIGHWAYMEN IN ST. LOUIS GET OFF WITH LOOT

Drive Bank Car To Curb, Seize Satchel of Money and Go On Their Way.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 10.
—Four bandits in an automobile today forced the car of Claude Mattingley, a bank messenger, into the rail of the Eads Bridge, over the Mississippi river here, and escaped with $47,000 in currency, according to reports to the police.

Mattingly, an employee of the First National Bank of East St.
Louis, was transferring the money to the First National Bank of St. Louis, Mo., across the river here, when the robbery occurred.

The bandit car, according to first reports of police, overtook Mattingly's old model car on the approach to the Eads Bridge on the East St. Louis side and attempted to force him to the curb there. The messenger speeded up his car, however, and raced on to the bridge proper, where he was overtaken by the bandit car, which forced him to the curb One of the bandits covered him with a revolver and took the currency which was in a satchel in Mattingly's car. The bandit car then escaped into East St. Louis, Mattingly reported to police.

Preacher Released From Jail After Giving Promise

DALLAS, July 10.—After a week spent in the county jail under a contempt of court sentence, the Rev. Earl Anderson, stormy fundamental Baptist, was released today after his attorney paid Anderson's $100 fine.

District Judge Towne Young required that Anderson take oath that he would respect the court's injunction forbidding further construction work on Anderson's tabernacle in a Dallas residential section.

A and B, on vacation, took the country. A drinks only purified city water. B drinks from "hat-low, country wells. How much will the doctor charge B?

PICTURESQUE PIONEER. A life crowded with adventure ended in Ranger a few days ago when W. R. Nixon, a hero of frontier days, died at the ripe age of 87 years.

He was sent with Buffalo Bill by General Custer to summon aid and when he returned, the Indians had massacred the troops. He helped to bury Custer. He was a guide to General Shafter. He was a Texas ranger for several years. He aided three, who had been held for 17 years as prisoners by the Mexicans, to escape.

If some writer had found him in the twilight of life—as Ethelred Lewis found Trader Horn—what an epic volume could have been written.

POSTAGE REDUCED. A triumph of common sense marks the action of the government in reducing the postage required on a post card to one cent.

Therefore you could buy a stamp postal card from the government for one cent—postage and card—but if you bought a picture stamp card at a drug store you had to buy a cent-and-a-half stamp to mail it.

Why it cost more to handle one than it did the other baffled the brains of the nation in non-official circles and now it seems that the postmaster general's department has decided that a card is a card and as "pigs is pigs"—therefore only one cent is needed on a post card.

THOSE BISCUITS. That was remarkable speed shown in Ranger the other day when wheat was harvested, rushed to the mill where it was made into flour and then rushed to a restaurant where it was cooked into biscuits—all in a space of 41 minutes.

As the world's record is 40 minutes, Ranger came very close to breaking it.

Inasmuch as Ranger already has one world's record for speed—held by Rural Murray, motorcycle racer—we suggest that the next time the wheat field to dining table race is attempted, Mr. Murray be urged to convey the wheat to the mill on his motorcycle. That would cut down the time by several minutes.

HUMAN BEINGS. Human conduct and actions are thus amusingly commented upon by the Fairfield Recorder:

The man will run as fast as he can to cross a railroad track ahead of a train. Then he will watch it until it goes out of sight. Then he will move leisurely away. He seems to be all right and probably that is a man.

A woman in a street car will open a satchel and take out a purse, close the satchel and open the purse, take out a dime and close the purse, open the satchel and put in the purse, close the satchel and lock both ends. Then she will give the dime to the conductor, who will give her a nickel back. Then she will open the satchel and take out the purse, put in the nickel and close the purse, open the satchel and put in the purse, close the satchel and lock both ends. Then she will feel to see if her hair is all right. That is a woman.

TWO YOUNG PIANISTS IN PLEASING RECITAL The Community Clubhouse was filled to overflowing last night on the occasion of the piano recital by the junior student-artists presented by Grover C. Morris, in a program of classical music, in both light and severe work. Mr. Morris prefaced the introduction of the young musicians with a facile, delightful comment on the work of his junior students, and in especial, the pleasure it gave, when an instructor found students that are thinking of something other all the time than "jazz and jelly beans." And who were taking music as a serious asset in their lives, and as a recognized element for good or ill in the world. His remarks included special recognition of the musical critiques written by Mrs. W. K. Jackson for the Eastland Telegram, in which Mr. Morris expressed his appreciation for the both writer, and the paper, for publicity. He also expressly thanked his patrons for their cooperation.

The Club room was most artistically arranged, with baskets and bowls of glowing crimson roses—a tall standard of the blooms adorning the piano niche, and a similar basket centering the console, flanked by crimson tapes in crystal sticks. A several branched candelabra on the piano, and a floor lamp with colorful shade gave the soft illumination. In the interlude, the lights, softly veiled in scarlet shades, were used, and delicious iced punch was served.

Mrs. Liddy received with Mrs. Bagley, and Mr. Morris at the door, and distributed the handsome printed program leaflets to the guests.

Miss Virginia Nell Little played within an entire absence of external influence—absorbed in her music, and mistress of her art. Her touch was clean and clear—she runs as lippid as cool spring water, and interpretation such that might be expected from one who had lived and suffered, and rarely sensed by youth in its freedom from pain.

Miss Ruth Bagley was charming and deeply emotional in the heavier selections. She is a brilliant pianist and was a revelation to the audience.

Both girls were exquisitely gowned, Miss Bagley wearing a jukink white frock with white slippers, and Miss Little in scarlet roganidie with all accessories en suite.

The largest audience the clubhouse has held, was present. Chairs were placed in the aisles and several seated outside, on the walk.

This recital closes the season of junior artist-student public programs, which will be resumed by Mr. Morris in the fall.

The many friends of Uncle Dan Boone, are happy indeed to see his smiling countenance once more around the square. Uncle Dan has returned from a several months stay in Oklahoma, where they made a "jelly bean" out of him, and he said he liked it, as he cannot get over the habit. He is looking well and is getting stouter, after regaining his health which was after he left here four months ago.

PARKER COUNTY MELONS IN FINE SHAPE AND THE PRICE OUTLOOK IS GOOD (From Weatherford Democrat) The Parker county melon crop is looking good now and present estimates are from 800 to 100 cars melons to be shipped this season. Of course weather conditions or prices might change this very materially.

W. V. Vincent, who has been in South Texas buying melons, has returned home and states that the melons in that section are ruined by dry weather and hot winds. The Belleville crop will not begin moving till the latter part of this week.

J. R. Fleming stated yesterday that there would not be enough melons to supply the demand until the Weatherford territory and East Texas began to move. That should mean a good price for melons here this season, unless there should be unfavorable weather in the north or a very heavy movement from East Texas.

much of my financial ability." Oliver remarked in aggrieved accents. "I might remind you, you know, that it isn't everyone who can play the Street without losing."

"Is that all you mean?" Virginia pressed, not quite convinced that he was as guiltless as he would appear. "You really think it will be easy for me with your help?"

"I think it's about the only chance you have," Oliver was not too modest to tell her. "I don't think it's very flattering to me to worry so much about it. You might make an effort to enjoy yourself."

Virginia sighed. "I can't," she said truthfully. "It was a mistake for me to come with you, Oliver. I'm not in a mood to cheer anyone."

"Well, if I don't know what's on your mind, but if it's money, forget about it, Virginia." "It isn't only money, you know that. And you've given me something new to worry about."

"Now Virginia—" "Oh, it isn't what I thought a while ago. If I hadn't decided I was wrong I wouldn't stay. But I can't help wondering if you aren't right about a change in me. Maybe I am imagining things. There's Miss Evans, for instance; it seems to me she is acting very strangely."

Oliver did not answer for a moment. The waiter came and removed their plates and Oliver asked for some cigarettes. When he turned back to Virginia he spoke off-handedly of her last remark.

"Miss Evans is a queer egg," he said unemotionally. "Moody. Want a savory?" "She makes me feel as if she doesn't want to have a word to say to me," Virginia told him, ignoring his abrupt suggestion of a cheese tidbit to top their dinner.

"Don't pay any attention to her. That's just her way. Not so good for my business, but she's invaluable to me. Can't let her go."

"She hasn't said anything about me, has she?" Oliver opened his eyes blankly. "Why should she?" he asked. "Surely you aren't upset about her. Days she hardly speaks to me except she has to."

Virginia looked relieved. "I'd hate to believe I was looking for trouble," she said. "It's an easy habit to fall into when trouble begins to look for you," he said sententiously.

"That's what you've made me afraid of—that I am getting touchy and quick-tempered." "And suspicious," Oliver supplemented with a laugh. Then, more seriously: "But I understand, only I hope you won't doubt me again."

Virginia felt a little ashamed. He was so boyishly in earnest and he was doing so much for her. In return she had half charged him with an unforgivable purpose. Oliver saw a dull red color her cheeks and quickly changed the subject.

"Of course you wouldn't care for a show," he said sympathetically. "Shall we drive up the Hudson or out on Long Island? Unless you're too tired," he added hurriedly, noting at once that she did not care for the suggestion. He had no wish to urge her, especially just now when he had only managed to get off thin ice by the shabby trick of browbeating her into believing the mistake he had made was her own. His privately admitted opinion was that she would have been as dumb as a cow if she hadn't known what was in his mind. But her direct attack upon his unspoken campaign warned him that the time was far from ripe for any further efforts along that line.

lucky she was to have his help! And how terribly, terribly unjust she had been to him! Of course he knew how impossible it would be for her to succeed unaided. He had only meant to tell her that, for her—a girl with the right contacts—it would be easy.

She pressed his inert hand gratefully. Oliver shot her a quick glance, then swore silently. Only a complete and utter ass could have failed to mistake the ecstatic expression of her smile-parted lips and half-closed eyes. Oliver remained motionless but until Virginia removed her hand she was in imminent danger of being shocked into a more exact realization of the distance that separated her from the money she must have to redeem her happiness.

When they reached her hotel and stopped before the unpretentious entrance Oliver openly expressed his dissatisfaction with the place as an abode for Virginia. "It isn't necessary," he protested. "Don't be a fool, Virginia. Take some of this money I've made for you. There's still time enough to make your wabbly little hundred thousand and with half what you have now."

"Time! Oliver, every minute until the day you tell me I have all of it will be an eternity to me." "Booh! I've given you my word you will have it."

"I know, and I'm happier than I've been since I found out I'd have to get it. The hotel doesn't matter. I'm getting used to it. You'd be surprised how little luxury counts against happiness, Oliver."

"Well, I hope I never find out. It's my opinion that we ought to have both."

"If gratitude can make you happy you will always have it," Virginia assured him. Her eyes were bright with feeling and her fingers carried the message of her thankfulness as she offered her hand to say good night.

Oliver shrugged. "Virginia, I've told you, I hate that word. Some day I hope you will find a better expression."

8 to 59 Cents Per Pound Is Cost Of Producing Cotton

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Costs of growing cotton ranging from 8 cents per pound of lint to 59 cents per pound during the 1927 season have been reported to the United States department of Agriculture by 992 cotton growers. Most of the growers reporting on their costs had yields higher than the average of 154 pounds per acre reported by the federal crop reporting board.

The department has tabulated the costs by yield groups. Forty-five farmers reported yields of 60 pounds and under per acre at an average cost of 59 cents per pound of cotton. On the other hand, 23 farmers reported yields of more than 500 pounds per acre at an average cost of 8 cents per pound. Seventy-two farmers who grew from 61 to 100 pounds of lint per acre reported an average cost of 26 cents per pound of lint, and 90 farmers who grew between 101 to 140 pounds to the acre reported an average cost of 20 cents per pound of lint.

More than half the group of 992 farmers had yields of 141 to 300 pounds per acre with an average cost of 14 cents per pound of lint.

AT 82 PASTOR STILL EXPERT ON TIGHT ROPE

Iowan Ascribes His Longevity And Agility To Biblical Formulas

United Press Staff Correspondent
DES MOINES, Ia., July 9.—The "secret" for long, healthy and happy life is really no secret at all, believes the Rev. Dr. William Christie Smith, veteran Iowa Methodist minister who at 82 can still walk a slack rope and "kick your hat off."

The formula has been proclaimed to the world for more than 2,000 years and may be read by all desirous, in the Bible, declares Dr. Smith.

Following are the Biblical formulas cited:
"Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings, and the years of thy life shall be many." Prov. 3, 7-8.

"What man is he that desireth life, and loveth many days that he may see good? Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil and do good; seek peace and pursue it." Psa. 34, 12-14.

Besides his faith in Scriptural prescriptions, Dr. Smith attributes no small part of his longevity and happiness to his "faithful wife, a good cook, a good housekeeper and in every way a splendid helpmate."

Tight Rope His Gymnasium.
Dr. Smith was born on a farm in Ohio, next to the youngest of nine children. When he was 10 years old, the family settled on a farm in Warren county, Iowa. His father's death when he was 13 years old forced him to take charge of the farm.

Getting his schooling "between farm chores," Dr. Smith was not only a practical farmer at 25 but he was a graduate of Simpson college, Indianola, Ia.

While attending Simpson in 1869, he did not have the advantage of a gymnasium. For exercise he took up slack rope walking, stretching a rope between two trees at his boarding house. He has never lost the agility he acquired through this recreation and two years ago entertained delegates to a Christian Endeavor convention with feats on both slack and tight ropes.

One Sunday not long ago, Dr. and Mrs. Smith drove 50 miles in their nine-year-old Ford to a former charge where he preached the sermon.

"Don't get angry for it interferes with digestion and poisons the blood," he said.

"Patience, sobriety and kindness are virtues that prolong life and make it pleasant for all."

GERMAN PRESS BLUNDERS WITH HOOVER CHOICE

Nomination Mistaken For Election—Smith News Also Confused

By United Press.
BERLIN, July 9.—Herbert Hoover's nomination at the republican convention, although anticipated for many days in dispatches appearing in the German press, nevertheless caused confusion here.

One leading Berlin newspaper, the "Zeitung am Mittag," usually well informed, evidently assumed that nomination meant election and announced in flaring headlines, "Hoover Chosen as Coolidge's Successor."

The evening edition of "Der Tag," another prominent daily here, published Governor Al Smith's nomination on the day of Hoover's nomination, and announced that Smith had been selected as the democratic candidate for the presidency. This was more than a fortnight before the democratic convention had convened at Houston.

As soon as Hoover's nomination became known in Berlin through a United Press "flash," members of the American colony here started placing bets among themselves; on the assumption that Governor Smith would be nominated at Houston, odds of 5 to 4 were placed here on Hoover.

The first important Berlin newspaper to publish an extensive comment on Hoover's candidacy was the official organ of the German Catholic party, "Germania." Surprising enough, in view of its strong church affiliation, the "Germania" came out forcefully in favor of Hoover.

The president of the German reichstag, Paul Loebe, in a statement to the United Press, had echoed the sentiments generally held in government quarters here when he paid tribute to Hoover's role in sending relief to Central Europe after the war. The "Germania" attributes that humane gesture to Hoover's Quaker sentiments.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So

WRESTLERS TO MEET TONIGHT AT ELKS HALL

Edwards Will Tackle Martin, Lowery Will Oppose Headrick in Mat Battle.

Everything is in readiness for the double header wrestling card to be offered tonight at the Elks Club, and Promoter Jimmie McLenore reports that all four of the grapplers on the card have reported ready for action and in the best of condition.

Bobby Edwards, tough Kansas City welterweight headlock expert will clash with Jap Martin, one of the toughest in the division in a two out of three fall match.

Schoolboy Lowery, youngster with good reputation, will clash with Young Headrick, in a two out of three fall match.

Both these matches should prove thrilling and full of action. Each will be doing his best to win and each match will try to outdo the other for honors of the evening.

The promoter states that the first event will start promptly at 8:30 p. m. There is a lot of interest in the events and a large attendance is expected.

Charley Paddock won a place on the American Olympic team after all. "The world's fastest human" as he has been known for years had to bow to youth in the 100-meter dash but by placing in the longer sprint, he has earned a right to a berth on the team. Wykoff and Bracey, with the advantage of flaming youth, may be able to cross the tape in front of Paddock now but followers of athletics will not soon forget the world's records that the Californian has established.

That is one of the tragedies of athletics—the comparative shortness of the reigns of the stars. In football, three years is the limit for college players. Of course, they can enter professional football, but that bestows little glory. In baseball, 10 years in the majors is a long span. In boxing, five years as a champion is a long period. One can remain at the top in tennis only a few years. Golf is about the sole exception.

A few years ago, Jack Dempsey was regarded as invincible. Big Bill Tilden was the monarch of tennis. Ty Cobb was the greatest of hitters. And Paddock the speediest of them all on the cinder path. Today, Dempsey—twice defeated—has announced he is through with the ring—at 32. Tilden has just lost to the French again. Cobb, still able to bat .330 ranks among the 10 leading batters of the American league but probably will hang up his glove after this season—at the age of 40, or is it 41? The world today acclaims Gene Tunney, Babe Ruth and the high school boy, Wykoff. But, within a brief span, they too will pass from the stage. Time defeats them all.

Of course, that applies to all the activities of life. "The paths of glory lead but to the grave," said Gray in his Elegy. But the minister, lawyer, doctor, editor or business man is just hitting his stride in life at the age that Dempsey is "through," and at 40, Ty Cobb's age, they are entering upon the period of greatest service. In athletics, youth must be served.

Up like the rocket and down like the stick certainly characterizes the career of Horace Lisenbee. Last season as Walter Johnson was fading, Lisenbee—a rookie—was hailed as the ace of Washington's pitching staff, winning 18 out of 27 games and ranking second in the league in the percentage of earned runs. This year, he has been unable to get started and has been farmed out to the American association. Our prediction is that Lisenbee will make good in the AA circuit and return to the big show.

That size is not everything when it comes to athletics is demonstrated by Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox. When he entered the big leagues, he was declared to be "too small" for a catcher. That was 17 years ago. Since then he has caught 1,719 games—an average of more than 100 each season, which eclipses the records of Gibson, Schang, Kling and all the other famous maskmen of the past. He leads all catchers in the number of putouts and assists. Ray is playing probably his last season but he has proved that, in baseball as well as in other sports, weight is not everything.

CAN BOYS TO NORWAY

SEAPOLIS, Minn., July 6. A hundred American boys, 100 in all, are sons of Rotarians, from Norway, Sweden and Denmark. The party will leave for Norway and return late in September.

V. Knudsen, a citizen of Norway, has established, in the past few years, literally thousands of contacts between the boys of the United States and boys of other countries, and boys of other countries, by securing of several thousand boys to write to each other across the ocean.

1926 annual trips were made for 100 boys. This year the number has been increased to three hundred and fifty. Lists have been listed and it is expected the balance of the party will be selected very shortly.

DON BIGGERS OPPOSES STATE ROAD BONDS

Declares Proposed Issue of $350,000,000 Would Be Doing Rank Injustice To People of Texas.

DON H. BIGGERS
The most brazen attempt to foist a gigantic graft on the people of Texas is the proposition to vote a state wide bond issue of $350,000,000 for highway purposes. The sponsors of this scheme propose to use a considerable part of this enormous sum to refund present outstanding bonds, and to use the remainder in building and reconstructing.

The rank injustice of the unconscionable fraud is the refunding scheme. There are perhaps thirty counties in Texas that are practically bankrupt because of enormous bonded indebtedness. These bonds are not only for road purposes, for local improvement purposes, for school districts, and for which bonds could be voted. No matter whether the bonds were voted for roads, schools, auditoriums, water works, or for other municipal purposes, the bond money has to a great extent been wasted through graft or incompetence or both. The total bonded indebtedness for highways alone now amounts to more than $100,000,000. We have spent more than twice that amount on highways, and today we have a total of less than seven thousand miles of so-called first class highways. In addition to the reckless bond issues we have paid into the highway department millions of dollars in auto license and gas tax. Where are the roads? Where is the money? What got it, and why and how? These bond holders are entitled to their money, but they are entitled to it only from the counties and communities that voted the bonds on themselves, and to whom the money was advanced. These bond holders are getting uneasy. They fear that many of the counties, the towns and communities will never be able to pay all of their indebtedness. They would like to have the whole bonded indebtedness underwritten by the state, but being unable to do that they are scheming to have the road bonds taken over by the state. That would in a measure reduce the bonded indebtedness of the practically bankrupt counties and communities, and it would give the bond holders the absolute assurance that the road bonds would at least be secure. So fast as the refunding graft is concerned the scheme is simply this: Have the state vote three hundred and fifty million dollars in bonds. The state would then pay off all of the bonds that are now outstanding and then the indebtedness for highways would be assumed by the state, the individual counties would be relieved of their road bonds, and every state would assume its equal part of the total $350,000,000 debt.

Nice scheme. For instance one county in Texas, during the wild oil boom, voted road bonds to the amount of practically five million dollars. When the bonds were voted it was classed as one of the wealthiest counties in Texas. Soon after the bonds were voted the oil boom collapsed, and today that county is in a hard shape, for it not only voted road bonds to an enormous amount, and got roads to a shamefully small degree, but it voted all kinds of precinct and municipal bonds. Property values have decreased to fully one-fourth of what they were during the oil boom. Should the proposed state bond scheme get by, that county would unload perhaps three or four million dollars of its road bond debt on counties that are not bonded to death. Gillespie county owes but little bond money but if this big state bond is adopted, Gillespie county would probably find itself loaded with interest on probably three or four hundred thousand dollars. This interest it would have to pay annually, and in addition to this interest Gillespie county would have to pay sufficient additional taxes to provide its share of the sinking fund for its full quota of the distributed indebtedness. And so it would be with all counties that have small bonded indebtedness. These counties did not vote the present indebtedness, they got none of the money and are in no respect responsible for the deplorable conditions that exist, but with this state bond issue they would be forced to suffer for the folly and mistake of other counties.

It is a serious matter. It is a brazen attempt at consummation.

This bond scheme was started in Texas some years ago by the so-called Texas Highway Association. The proposition was to have bonds voted in the sum of $150,000,000, but at that time they didn't have the refunding scheme attached to it. Originally it was strictly a scheme added. It would probably take a hundred and fifty million dollars to take up the outstanding bonds, and they would leave the nice little sum of two hundred million dollars for wholesale graft.

The graft will have to be submitted to the voters as a constitutional amendment, and that would be done by the legislature. Then the big counties would turn out in full force, and thousands of dollars would be spent to secure the adoption of this amendment. Every county that has almost bankrupted itself with bond issues would overwhelmingly favor the unloading scheme of graft. Naturally they would try to vote their indebtedness on the counties that are not already bankrupt. Perhaps half of the counties in Texas would profit by this new fangled graft, and the other half would be hopelessly impoverished, making it a state wide calamity.

It takes two-thirds of the legislature to submit this rotten scheme as a constitutional amendment. The people can elect more than one-third of the legislature. That would kill this scheme of unconscionable graft. Really every man who favors the scheme, unless he comes from some county that would greatly benefit by unloading its foolishness on some county that has exercised sense and honesty, should be defeated. The only safe plan is to kill this graft when it comes before the legislature. To do that he sure that you do not vote for any man who favors it, or who is even non-committal on the question, or one time, and for this vital reason, if for no other, the people had better be careful who they send to the legislature.

TOURIST'S EYE-VIEW OF CITY SKYSCRAPERS

The "tourist's eye-view" is the newest camera angle on New York's celebrated skyline.

It is introduced in Colleen Moore's latest picture, "Happiness Ahead," which is showing at the Connellee Theatre and represents the out of town visitor's first impression of the mighty skyscrapers of Manhattan. Director William A. Seiter had the cameras placed on the sidewalk immediately before the Pennsylvania Station, and focused them on the lofty peaks for which New York is world-famous. It is from this view that Miss Moore, in her character of a little country girl, gets her first glimpse of the metropolis, in which the towering buildings have a decidedly unusual aspect.

Edmund Lowe is Miss Moore's leading man for the first time in "Happiness Ahead," which John McCormick produced for First National. Other members of the supporting cast being Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Chas. Sellon, Arthur Housman, Diana Ellis and Carlos Duran. "Happiness Ahead" is an original story by Edmund Goulding, the scenario having been prepared by Benjamin Glazer.

BOY 5, A MOTORIST

COLUMBUS, Ind.—Donald Ford, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford, is one of the youngest auto drivers in Indiana, his father claims. Before he reached his fifth birthday last February, the boy was able to start the engine of his father's car, but lacked length to manipulate the clutch and brake pedals.
The father has rebuilt and old car in such a manner that it will fit the tiny driver and now hardly a day passes without Donald taking a spin. And he stop-and-go-signs, too.
