VOCATIONAL TEACHERS ARE BEING ENGAGED

Following the example of Cisco a number of Eastland county schools are employing vocational teachers in the high schools who are to specialize in agriculture.
Where these are not employed exclusively for work in the school, the chambers of commerce have assisted by employing them part time as secretary or assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce.
C. H. Colvin, formerly of the John Tarleton College at Teph-ville, has been employed by the Eastland Chamber of Commerce and the Eastland school board. Mr.
Colvin, who is not only an agricultural expert and trained in chamber of commerce work, but is also voted much time to the last two named projects. He will enter

GRISHAM GOES CAMPAIGNING FOR CONGRESS

Speaking in Large and Small Places Throughout 19 Counties In His District.

Invitations to address annual celebrations which will be attended by thousands of citizens within the next few days have been accepted by Judge R. N. Grisham of Eastland, candidate for Congress from the 11th district.
He will speak Friday morning at Burnett, where the great annual celebration will be in progress, and that afternoon he will speak in Gastine on the occasion of the big annual picnic. Judge Grisham will address the Saturday afternoon crowd at DeLeon. Coleman has arranged an elaborate three-day observance of the Fourth of July and the candidate for Congress will speak in that city on Monday, July 2. On the "glorious Fourth" he has been invited to speak at a celebration in Rowena, an invitation which he has accepted, and on the following day, Thursday, July 5 he will deliver an address in Brady which has arranged a great three-day celebration.
Judge Grisham is making an intensive canvass of the 19 counties in the district and has gone to numerous smaller communities where none of the other Congressional candidates have gone. It is his desire to meet, if possible, every voter in the district. He, therefore, welcomes the invitations that have been extended that will enable him to meet so many of the citizens on these special occasions.

Last Saturday, he addressed a big crowd at Winters and received a cordial welcome. Other cities canvassed recently include Ballinger, Santa Anna and Coleman as well as many smaller communities.
He is a tireless campaigner and, in the past 10 days, besides making a number of speeches, he has shaken hands with several thousand people.

BRITISH TRAIN WRECK CLAIMS MANY VICTIMS

By United Press.
DARLINGTON, England, June 28.—A swiftly-moving excursion train carrying 200 passengers, many of whom were women, collided head-on early today with a freight train at the South Darlington station. Death toll thus far is 22. Five of those killed were women. Forty persons are in hospitals, some in serious condition.
The impact of the two trains was terrific. On witness said that the force of the collision was so great that one engine was tossed across the line while the other somer-saulted. Three coaches of the excursion train were telescoped. The crash was followed by screams from passengers who were injured and trapped within the shattered cars.
Rescue crews were mobilized and, working by lantern light, chopped their way through the tangled and broken cars to reach the victims. Some of those injured and killed were mutilated horribly.
Ambulances, doctors and nurses were sent to the scene. Hospitals close by soon were crowded with victims.

mittee, calling the convention to order.

Eastland County Boy Scouts Go To Summer Camp Next Week

Eastland county Boy Scouts are making preparations to leave soon for summer camp near Mason. The time for registering for this encampment expired Thursday, but at that time was extended until this coming Saturday night. More than 75 boys had already registered at noon Thursday, according to County Scout Executive Guy N. Quiri.
Mr. Quiri, who returned Wednesday from the camp site at Mason, stated that the mess hall had been completed and that the Pioneer squad of scouts, who would leave Eastland county either Saturday evening or early Monday morning for the camp site, would erect tents, build tables and otherwise get the camp in readiness for the main body of scouts who will reach the camp sometime Wednesday.
At least eight adults, including scoutmaster and others, will be with the boys while they are in camp, which will be about two weeks. Parents of the boys and others furnishing transportation for the boys, will have Fourth of July dinner with the boys in their mess hall.
A. J. Campbell, director of the Eastland and Olden bands, is organizing a Boy Scout band, which he will take to the encampment and remain there with it throughout the entire time. He has called a meeting of those who are to play in the band to meet at the Eastland B. Y. U. hall Sunday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock. It is Mr. Campbell's purpose for the band to play

FARM PURSUITS FORM BACKBONE OF THE COUNTY

J. E. Lewis, vice-president and general manager of the Texas Electric Service Company of Eastland, in a talk before the Eastland Rotary club last Monday, stressed the fact that more attention should be given the agricultural, livestock, poultry and dairying industries of Eastland county and this section of the country. These, Mr. Lewis said, are the industries upon which this country must rely for a lively, prosperous and advanced movement when the oil and gas has gone.
J. L. Whisenant, who followed Mr. Lewis in a talk, told of his experience in truck farming and dairying. Only one out of three cows in Eastland county at the present are profitable milkers, Mr. Whisenant said. The speaker then gave a brief account of the movement now on foot in Eastland county to improve, by the aid of "bull circles", the milk and butter fat producing qualities of the cows in the county, which movement, he said, was rapidly gaining momentum.

CONVENTION MAY GET TO VOTE TONIGHT

By United Press.
SAM HOUSTON HALL, Houston, June 28.—Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York, was placed in nomination by Franklin Roosevelt for president of the United States. The nomination was made Wednesday night and was followed by a demonstration that lasted about one-half hour. John Boyle of San Antonio and A. J. Wertz of Seguin, delegates, and John L. Darrouset of Galveston, not a delegate, were the only Texans participating in the demonstration, the Texas delegation being instructed for Jesse Jones.
Seconding speeches for Al Smith were made this morning.

Community Fairs Being Organized At Many Places

By United Press.
CONVENTION HALL, HOUS-TON, June 28.—With the aid of the three convention bands, cow-bells, whistles and horns, supporters of James Reed of Missouri put on a 20-minute demonstration when he was placed in nomination before the convention today. Previously Governor Al Smith of New York had received several brief cheering demonstrations when seconding speeches were made for him.
The Reed demonstrations fell short of that put on for Smith last night by five minutes, but it seemed to equal the Smith show in volume of noise.
State standards which marched for Reed around the hall included those of Florida, Oklahoma, Nebraska and the Philippines.
There was a fight over the Kansas alternate standard and two alternates finally tore off the top and joined the Reed parade. Kansas delegates did not participate and their regular standard was held in its place. They are pledged to Representative W. A. Ayers, a favorite son.

Several Nominations Follow That of Smith and Seconding Speeches Yet To Be Heard.

CONVENTION HALL, HOUSTON, June 28.—Leaping onward toward early selection of Govern- or Smith of New York as de- mocracy's standard bearer in the coming presidential campaign, the democratic national convention today passed to hear nominating speeches for other candidates. Senator James Reed of Mis- souri was named for the presi- dential nomination by his friend Charles M. Howell. Two dem- onstrations, one lasting less than two minutes and a second lasting 20 minutes, marked the Reed nomination. There was plenty of noise but no fights, and only a few state banners were in the parade. The number of marchers told more graphically than words the story of this whole spectacle —Smith is victor and Reed, though still fighting, is finished. The Reed demonstration ended, the convention heard other fa- vorite sons named. Ex Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, repre- sentative Cordell Hull of Ten- nessee and Jesse Jones of Texas were named. The convention was willing to do some cheering and demon- strating, but it was clear that it was anxious to get the oratory out of the way and to get down to receiving the party platform and to balloting on presidential and vice-presidential candidates. The platform committee turned during the forenoon, to examine the draft made during the night hours by its adjusting committee. The dry plank had been shaped into an endorsement of the eight- teenth amendment enforcement. There were also satisfactory farm and anti-corruption planks. The possibility of threshing out the dry situation on the floor still loomed this afternoon, but Smith workers were talking of a possi- bility of a cleanup tonight. The forenoon had witnessed no bad blood among the delegates, though a Kansas standard suffer- ed some manhandling when two alternates seized it to get in- to the Reed demonstration. Assistant Chief of Police Kuy- kendall had 80 husky officers on hand throughout the hall, but had no real need for them. The forenoon session adjourned at 12:40 p. m. until 3 p. m. There were loud cries of "no" and many demanded a roll-call, but the chairman ruled that the ages had it and the delegates be- gan to file out for lunch.

eral departments, and of course the usual original recipes and others.
The proceeds of the sale thereof will be announced later, as will also the year book committee which will have the book in readiness for the work of the league in September.

this evening at 8 o'clock promises to have one of the best re-

A jolly little coterie of young girls gathered at the call of Miss Rosalie Leslie, scrambled into a big car and had their swim in Bass Lake by 5 a. m. Tuesday.
Chaperones who braved the early dawn were Mrs. W. S. Poe, Miss Gretchen Overton and Miss Beulah Frost. Miss Josephine Martin proved by results that she is a most expert camp cook, judging by the mysterious way in which the delectable dishes she prepared for breakfast over an open fire disappeared.
Scrambled eggs, bacon, rolls, potatoes, coffee, fruits and a delicious cake that was "donated" by a parent, were served. Those included were: Misses Joe Martin, Eastland Furniture Exchange which opened its doors this week is favorably impressed with East-read," said Mr. Brashier. "More than one hundred persons visited our store Monday and Tuesday and more than half of those mentioned reading our advertisement in the Telegram."

Twelve Southern States Head the Nation In Feeding Of the Soil

NEW YORK—Although fertilizer interests claim that in the consumption of their products America is millions of tons in arrears, by comparison with prewar, the farmers of the South have embarked this year upon a stupendous program of soil rejuvenation.

In 12 leading cotton and tobacco producing states 4,765,225 tons of commercial fertilizers were purchased during the first four months of the current year, according to statistics of the Agricultural & Scientific Bureau of the potash industry. This exceeds by 1,032,913 or 27 per cent the total tonnage purchased during the first four months of 1927 and exceeds by 1,982,086 of 71 percent the tonnage purchased during the 4-months period in 1922.

In this connection, officials of the Bureau stated that in 19 states the percentage of farmers using commercial fertilizers ranges from 40 per cent to 80 per cent and upward; in seven states the percentage ranges from 20 to 40 per cent in seven states it ranges from 5 to 20 per cent, and in 15 states ranges from 3 to 3.6 per cent.

Fertilizer Purchasers Month by month fertilizer purchases in the 12 cotton and tobacco producing states are shown in the following table, the figures being compiled from government tax tag reports and the states including Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida
Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas:

	1928	1927	1922
January	603,343	526,471	324,882
February	1,113,569	836,910	529,835
March	2,185,435	1,498,707	1,304,747
April	862,878	870,224	624,175

Total 4,765,225 3,732,312, 2,783,139

As a check on its figures, the Agricultural & Scientific Bureau compiled statistics on importation and domestic production of the 3 leading fertilizer ingredients—potash, nitrates and phosphoric acids.
Those showed in the case of potash of which 85 per cent of the American agricultural consumption is imported from France and Germany, that 74,528 tons were imported during the first quarter of 1928, as compared with 46,885 tons during the first quarter of 1927 and 17,143 during the first quarter of 1921. Statistics on nitrates and phosphoric acid also indicate marked gains for the current year.

Added Crop Values
"This year's large consumption of commercial fertilizers is closely related to the fact that the farmers of America received $586,000,000 more for their cotton, tobacco and corn crops in 1927 than they did in 1926," said J. N. Harper, assistant director of the Bureau, which in collaboration with Cornell University has determined the correlation between crop values and fertilizer consumption.
"In 1927 the cotton crop was poor, by comparison with 1926,

Risks His Life for His Dog

Devotion to his dog has given 13-year-old John Reid the greatest thrill of his life and almost ended it. When his pet, Jiggs, was carried into Mill creek tube, a huge water conduit which supplies the city of Erie, Pa., John leaped in a manhole after him. Both took a mad ride on the rushing waters, for three miles under the city.
Jiggs was drowned, but the boy came out the other end of the tube, bruised and stinky but whole.

Reported Attempt To Dynamite Levee Will Be Probed

By United Press.
MARKED TREE, Ark., June 28.
—An inquiry by proper authorities was opened today into a reported attempt to dynamite a levee on spillway No. 7 of the St. Francis river, which would have hurled a wall of water upon Marked Tree.
Reports to Mayor G. H. Williams of that town said that national guardsmen who took charge of patrolling the levee late yesterday fired 50 shots in averting the attempt. Private William Walker of Blytheville was said to have been wounded. When guardsmen declined to discuss the reported attempt to dynamite the levee an official inquiry by county officers resulted.

have substituted quicksand for sawdust. And what he said hadn't helped her to overcome her disquietude concerning Chiri's potential importance in his life. It annoyed her that this should be so.
"It's ridiculous for me to feel this way," she scolded herself. "Most likely she isn't interested in Niel at all."

But, take herself to task as she would, the rest of the dinner lost its savor, and she was glad enough to leave as soon as they'd had their black coffee.

For a while they walked around having in and out of book shops and looking in windows filled with an amazing amount of antique jewelry.

Nathaniel suggested going back to the studio. The idea was impossible to Virginia in her present state of mind. He'd be certain to renew his pleadings and she dared not trust herself to refuse him. It seemed that her burden grew heavier with every passing hour, and the temptation to lay it aside was not one she wanted to resist in Nathaniel's arms. So she told him she was tired and wanted to go back to her hotel.

They drove uptown in a taxicab and Virginia was conscious all the way of Nathaniel's disappointment. He sat with his arm about her but he did not talk much. Ordinarily he was animated and eager to engage in conversation about some of the many things that interested him vitally.

His sulkiness seemed to vanish, however, when he kissed her goodnight in the cab. Virginia went up to her room with at least a splinter knocked off the "cross" she was bearing.

The next morning she was up sarily. As soon as there was anyone to answer the telephone in Mr. Gardiner's office she was asking for information about the list he had left with him. He was not in but his secretary assured her there was no question of her ownership, and she was free to make whatever disposition she liked of the things.

Virginia packed them all back in her suitcase, batting her eyes furiously as she went about the task, and it must be said that only a very few tears got past the vigi-ance of her silky lashes and spattered down into the bags.

When the straps were buckled she got her handbag and fished for the pawn ticket to get the broker's address.
He greeted her affably when she arrived at his shop and had her things carried in by the taxicab driver. His first glimpse of the suitcases told him a very old story. This girl was on her uppers. He already knew she was inexperienced in the matter of raising money on her possessions.
But if he hadn't known it before he mere fact that she had brought so many things at once would have given her away. He dealt as fairly with her as any other would under the circumstances and she seemed satisfied.

From his shop she went straight to a young broker she knew on Wall street, but this person dealt in stocks and bonds and not in jewelry. She was admitted to his presence as soon as her name was taken in to him. He came toward the door of his private office to greet her, hands outstretched in welcome.

"Virginia, this is a pleasure," he exclaimed warmly. "I was one of those who tried several times to see you," he added and then waited until she had taken the chair he placed for her before he went on to tell her of his sympathy in her bereavement.

Virginia struggled to restrain her emotion when he spoke of her father. Tears seemed to come so terribly easy to her! And she was here purely on business. Grief-ing would have to be kept for her solitary hours.

"Everyone was so very kind," she said, dabbing at her eyes with a black-bordered handkerchief. "I am afraid I haven't thanked you all properly, but you see it was such a shock to me. Father's death and then finding out that I hadn't any money!"

"You didn't know that before?" he exclaimed in astonishment.
"I hadn't the faintest idea, Oliver. If father had told me, I might have found some way to help him. At least I wouldn't have kept on spending money as I had always done."

"Of course you wouldn't! Unforgivable of me not to have thought of that. I did wonder a little why anyone should have thought it worthwhile to keep right on until everything blew up.
It looked like that, you know," he added in self-defense.

"I suppose it did," Virginia admitted tolerantly; "but you must not blame father. I'm sure he was trying to spare me from knowing it as long as he could."
"Very likely, but it's too bad he didn't realize how much harder it would be for you eventually."

"Oh, I'm sure he expected to live long enough to see me happily married and he knew money wouldn't mean so much to me then."
"You aren't breaking your engagement are you?" he asked with an eagerness that startled Virginia. Until then she had actually forgotten that Oliver Cutter had once begged her to marry him.

heathen wouldn't wear such clothes."

The child that does not see and —Michelin—with a 1-year guarantee against blow-outs, cuts, stone bruises, under-inflation and other road hazards

MICHELIN TIRES

YOU simply cannot lose when you buy Michelin Tires here. The super quality which is built into them assures you of more mileage unless one of your tires is injured by accident. But even accidents cannot rob you of full mileage when you deal here, because we give you a guarantee certificate with every Michelin, guaranteeing the tire for 1 year against blow-outs, cuts, stone bruises, under-inflation and other road hazards. That's some proposition, isn't it?

During the past two years, reports have been received from over 3000 motorists who were testing Michelins against other makes. These motorists were picked entirely at random; therefore you may be confident that your experience will be like theirs.
More than 80% of them reported that Michelins gave more mileage than the other tires they were using. Of the remainder, only a few said Michelins gave less mileage; and these few exceptions, we are sure, were due to accidents. That's where our 1-year guarantee against road hazards comes in.
Michelin has the best tire; we have the best selling policy. The combination gives you the greatest certainty of tire satisfaction. Remember that when you need tires.

Distribution Of Crops Since the War Changes

Since the World War significant changes in the distribution of crops have taken place in the United States. From 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 acres of crop land formerly required to feed horses and mules have been released for other uses. Moreover, considerable shifts have taken place from less productive to more productive crops per acre. A decrease has occurred in the acreage of wheat and in the acreage of other cereals. On the other hand, the acreage devoted to cotton, alfalfa, clover fruits, and vegetables has increased notably.

These facts are recorded by the United States Department of Agriculture. In the originally forested portions of the United States an almost universal decrease has taken place in crop acreage since the war, particularly in the hilly sections. On the other hand, an increase in acreage has taken place in the prairie and Great Plains regions, where conditions are favorable for the use of large-scale machinery. Thus crop production has been stimulated on the level lands of the West at the sacrifice of much of the poorer or less level lands of the East. Increased mechanization of agricultural work and the development of drought-resistant varieties of crops has had much to do with this change.

Corn acreage, according to census figures, has declined in almost every county east of a line from Lafayette, Ind., to central Missouri and central Oklahoma. Northwest of this line, on the other hand a general increase in corn acreage has taken place. In like manner a decrease in the area in cotton in Georgia and South Carolina has been more than compensated by an increase in Texas and Oklahoma. Cotton acreage has increased also along the northern margin of the Corn Belt, where the boll weevil does less damage than in the cotton area farther south.

Acreage in oats decreased in southern Indiana and Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas. This decrease, however, was more than

OLYMPIC HOPE

JAMES F. QUINN

Two outstanding performances this year make Jimmy Quinn, Holy Cross sprinter, stand out prominently in a field of candidates that is very strong. Quinn gave one of the outstanding performances of the winter months when he won the 60-yard event at the New York A. C. games in the record time of 6 1-5 seconds, equalling the world's record. That one might not think this was just a flash, he entered the I. C. 4-A meet at Harvard several weeks ago and led the parade of brilliant sprinters in the 100-yard dash. His time in this was 9.9. Although he faces most strenuous competition in the final trials at Harvard, Quinn is confident he will be able to gain one of the four places for sprinters on the Olympic.

Much Room For Improvement In Hay Harvesting

Some farmers in the United States store an acre of hay with four hours of labor. Other farmers use more than eight hours of labor for the same job. Such variations of efficiency in hay production indicate, says the United States Department of Agriculture, that much room exists for improvement. An example is the fact that many farmers are still using small, one-horse rakes, which are economical only on small acreages. Farmers growing 40 or more acres in hay should use 10-foot or 12-foot rakes.

Investigations made by the department have shown the use of a sidedelivery rake and a hay loader commonly effects a saving of about 1 1-2 hours per acre of man labor and a half hour per acre of horse labor, as compared with the cost in human and animal labor when the dump rake and hand loading from the window are employed. This saving, with wages at 40 cents an hour, represents a saving of 60 cents per acre in man labor alone. That would amount on 30 acres of hay to more than $18, or the interest on approximately $375 at 5 per cent, a sum more than sufficient to pay the interest and depreciation on the necessary investment in a sidedelivery rake and hay loader.

When a loader is used a hay-making crew can handle considerably more hay in an easier manner than they can do so by hand. Sings will unload hay in about two-thirds the time required by the use of the double harpoon or the grapple fork. It saves labor to take two or more wagons to the field, especially when the haul is long. It is economical to use large-sized mowers on farms where a sufficient acreage is to be cut. In the East the 5-foot mower, which will cut 10 acres in 10 hours, is the size most commonly in use. Usually the additional power required for the larger implements is available on farms where the acreage to be cut justifies the use of such machines.

Airplane Model Builders Will Exhibit Their Work In Contest To Be Staged At Ford Airport, Near Detroit, June 30

DETROIT, Mich.—Interest in preliminary contests that have just been held over the country indicates that one of the largest crowds in the history of aviation will be present at the Ford Airport June 30 for the final events in the outdoor championship of the Airplane Model League of America, in which approximately 500 airplane model builders from different cities will compete.

The outdoor finals and exhibitions probably will draw the largest gatherings of the various contests the League will conduct on June 29 and 30. Arrangements have been made for the seating of 18,000 persons at the indoor finals, in which about 500 small airplane models will be entered. Awards will go to builders in both outdoor and indoor classes whose planes attain the longest sustained flight.

Griffith Ogden Ellis, general chairman of the contests and editor of the American Boy Magazine, which sponsored the League, has appointed 100 officials for the championship meet and invited 100 guests of honor, including aviation leaders of the country. The Ford Motor company will be host to the youthful contestants at a banquet on the evening of June 29, which will be held in one of the hangars at the Ford Airport, with tables set under the wings of the big all-metal tri-motor Ford airplane. Commander Byrd will fly on his attempt to reach the south pole.

Great Crowd Expected

Anticipations as to the size of the crowd that will be attracted to the outdoor meet are based on reports of turnouts for sectional contests elsewhere. The crowd at the Chicago outdoor contest numbered approximately 40,000. At Oakland Calif., 10,000 persons went out to see the youths fly their small aircraft. The finals at Airport will be witnessed, it is expected, by approximately 90,000 people.

Most of the contestants will be boys from the high schools, many of which have encouraged airplane model building in connection with manual training courses. The meet is the first attempt on a large scale to determine the national champions with airplane models and as such has interested virtually all the leading figures in aviation, in addition to a score or more members of congress, who have regarded the league's work as an important factor in the task of making the next generation air-minded.

Scale models of important airplanes like the "Spirit of St. Louis," which will be judged on the basis of general workmanship and fidelity to scale, will be displayed on long tables in convention hall, Detroit's largest exhibition building. About 500 scale models will be entered for a separate group of awards. At the banquet to be given by the Ford Motor company the contestants will meet Edsel Ford, Clarence D. Chamberlin, William B. Stout and William P. McCracken Jr. assistant secretary of commerce for commercial aviation.

Prizes For Builders

Checks signed by aviation leaders will go to the 48 model airplane builders who win cash prizes. Eight place winners in the junior and senior divisions of the three events—the indoor, outdoor, and scale model contests—will be given money awards. The amounts vary from first prize of $200 in each event to eighth prize of $10. Indoor and outdoor champions will be awarded trips to Europe, also, by the American Boy.

It is anticipated that the checks will have a sentimental value far greater than their actual worth. Orville Wright, who with his brother, Wilbur invented the airplane, and who is chairman of the contest committee of the National Aeronautical Association, will be one of the signers. Commander Richard E. Byrd, honorary president of the league, will be another; and Mr. Ellis will be the third. So that the place winners who earn the awards may have the original checks with the original signatures for keepsakes, they will be sent to their winners as soon as they are cashed and cancelled.

Lawyer vs. Witness

A lawyer recently engaged in trying a case asked one of the witnesses his name. The witness gave it, but the lawyer did not catch it. He repeated the question, and the man on the stand promptly repeated the answer. Still failing to get any clear idea of the name, the lawyer demanded, rather impatiently, that the witness spell his name "O-double t-double o-double d."

The spelling confounded the attorney; and, amid the laughter in the court room, he quietly conducted the witness to one side, and learned that his name was "Ottwell Woodd."

Life In Pen Given Boy of 13 Years Who Killed Pal

PINEVILLE, Ky., June 27.—Heath Greer, a robust 13-year-old boy who lives in the mountain region of Laurel Run, near here, must spend the rest of his life in prison in order that the majesty of the law of the state of Kentucky may be upheld.

Heath shot and killed a playmate, Luther Partin, during a quarrel. He was brought before Circuit Judge D. C. Jones, charged with first degree murder. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"I don't remember what Luther in an editorial, declares that lax sentences dealt out by the courts for carrying concealed weapons are to blame, asserting that the mountain boys see their parents carrying guns and do not know that it is against the law.

Attorney General J. W. Cammuck holds that Heath should have been tried as a juvenile and given a punishment gauged to his years. Pardon Commissioner J. C. Bird predicts Governor Sampson will listen sympathetically to any appeal for clemency, while Robert Logan, former Louisville probation officer, indignantly calls the life sentence given the boy "merciless and archaic."

Meanwhile leading Pineville citizens, determined that boys living in the isolated Laurel Run district shall have a chance to imbibе American ideals, are trying to raise $2000 to establish a Boy Scout camp there, at which the boys may be taught wholesome sports and weaned away from gun-toting and quarreling.

How Much Water Should Baby Get? A Famous Authority's Rule

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for one whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often alleviates his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

and I quarreled about," the boy says. "I remember he hit me with a stick and then tried to do it again. I pulled out my gun and shot him."

He had found the gun in his father's house, he said, and wanted to carry it "because all the other boys had 'em—some of 'em littler than I am."

"I didn't know I shouldn't carry a pistol," he says. "All the boys here have 'em, and them as don't have pistols have bottles. I'm sorry I did it and I'll try to be a good boy at this reform place so maybe they'll give me a chance some day."

Heath must go to the state reformatory to stay until he is 21; then he is to be transferred to the state penitentiary at Frankfort, to spend the rest of his life there.

Prominent citizens of Kentucky shocked by the crime and the severe penalty, are talking of appealing to Gov. Flem D. Sampson for Clemency. The Pineville Sun,
