COOK IS SHOT IN LEG, NEGRO IS ARRESTED

Augustino, of Majestic Cafe Staff, Wounded, Charley Anthony, a Negro, Faces Charge

Augustine, a cook for the Majestic Cafe, is nursing a 32-caliber pistol wound in the calf of one leg, and Charley Anthony, a negro, has been placed under bond of $750, to await action of the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to murder. The shooting occurred about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning in the kitchen of the restaurant. Anthony is said at the restaurant to have come there about 3 o'clock in the morning and demanded something to eat. An argument ensued and he is said to have drawn a knife, but it was taken from him and he was put out. He returned about two hours later with a 32-caliber automatic, entered the kitchen and fired four shots, one striking Augustine.

A second cook narrowly missed getting in the range of the bullets, one of which pierced a spoon he held and was diverted. The negro then went to the home of his employer Joseph M. Weaver, chairman of the city commission, and told him what had occurred. Mr. Weaver placed him under arrest and took him to the police station about the same time Chief of Police Elmer Lawrence was on his way to make the arrest. Complaints against him was sworn out before Justice of the peace Jim Steele. Augustine's wound was attended to by Dr. F. R. Townsend, city physician, who said it was not serious, but he would be unable to work for several days.

Explosion Wrecks Fireworks Plant In Connecticut

THOMPSONVILLE, Connecticut, June 26.—An explosion of fireworks in the main building of the New England Fireworks company at North Thompsonville, took five lives today. The roar of the blast shook the earth for miles. An hour and a half after the explosion, Thompsonville police were without definite details of the accident. It was reported that three of the victims were boys and two were men. The fireworks concern was not large. It was said that not more than 10 men were employed in the works.

SHALLOW POOLS RESPONDING TO NEW DRILLING

New Deep Wells in Eastland County Producing in Modest Way

Shallow pools of Eastland county scored with nice completions, the latest drilling report discloses. In the Sibley pool, remarkable for the Rhodes gusher in the Ranger, and the Williamson gusher in the 2,900-foot sand, a well has been completed at only 1481 feet for 31 barrels a day. It is the No. 7 Brashear of Chestnut & Smith and offsets the excellent shallow well, the No. 2 Parker, that Goodwin brought in some weeks ago. The Republic Production company's No. 3 Sneed, at 1228 feet, in the Gray-Hight-wer pool, is good for 20 barrels a day. Swinging to the reverse of the shallow pays, the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company's No. 2 Higginbotham is making 60 barrels a day at 3,988. A 40-quart shot has not been exploded. A shot very likely would increase the production of this extremely deep well which many oil men think is producing from the Ellenberger lime. It is in the pool discovered by Col. Robert D. Gordon a year and a half ago. The Colonel's No. Reagan bridged after a shot at 3,522-68 but may prove good for 150 barrels. Of course the biggest well of the week was A. H. Rhodes' No. 1 Louis Henning which had a fish production of 300 barrels an hour. This was from the Ranger sand, a deeper pay than heretofore for the Sibley pool until the Rhodes' well went on to the Ranger. Three wells that failed to pick up production are: Amerada's No. 1 Gibson, 1120 feet; Mays and Charter Oil company's No. 1 Morris, 1550 feet, and Hensel, Russell et al No. 1 Qualls, 602 feet, the report states. Eastland county operations now total 46, the highest for some time. Brown county, which is shallow drilling, reaches a new high level with 95, and Coleman, another shallow county, reaches 72. Other figures are: Shackelford 27, Stephens 20, Palo Pinto 11, Callanhan 9, Comanche 5, Erath 4, McCullough 4, San Saba 1, Burnet 1, Parker 1, Hood 1.

Mexican Bandits Wreck Train, But Are Driven Away

MEXICO CITY, June 26.—Andrew Robinson, an American who has been an engineer for the Mexican National Railroad for 35 years, was killed when rebels derailed a passenger train near Viborillas, advisers said today. The train was enroute from Laredo to Mexico City when it was attacked by the bandits. Two members of the crew were injured. The rebels apparently were driven off by the guard that accompanied the train. An attempt was made also to derail the northbound Laredo train, it was discovered today. #### UNEXPECTED INTERRUPTIONS AT CONVENTION

Death From Heart Failure and Brain Storm Outburst Cast Shadow Over Democrats At Houston

By United Press.
HOUSTON, June 26.—One sudden death from heart failure and a "shooting up" in the Rice hotel convention headquarters cast a shadow today over the convention proceedings. J. L. Woods, business man of Ennis, Texas, dropped dead in the street in the convention area early today. His death was ascribed to heart trouble. Previously he had been riding about through the crowds. Late Monday the convention throngs were amazed by shots fired in the Rice Hotel, apparently by a man under the influence of heat or liquor. There were several versions of the affair. Seven shots in the panels of two elevator doors on the fifth floor bore mute evidence of the man's marksmanship. Apparently he had wearied of waiting for the overcrowded elevator cars, had started firing on an upper floor and then, walking downward, paused to make a target of the elevator doors. Police rushed into the house, but the man's friends had taken him out.

LIONS WANT ROSENQUEST TO BE ADVANCED

Will Urge Him For Third Vice-President Of Lions International. Kinnaird Names Committee
Judge N. N. Rosenquest of Eastland, present District Governor of Texas Lions, will be offered as a candidate for International third vice-president at the coming International convention at Des Moines, Iowa, if plans of the Eastland club materialize. This move was promoted by the service Judge Rosenquest has rendered Lionism and because of a resolution, urging Judge Rosenquest's candidacy for an international post at the recent state convention at Wichita Falls. Judge Rosenquest is not seeking the place, but his fellow members of the Eastland club say he will accept should the position be tendered him by the Lions of the county. Judge Rosenquest told the Eastland club today that he had organized 61 new clubs since he went into the office of District Governor and that the total number of Lions in Texas at the present time was more than 6,000. President Kinnaird of the Eastland club presided at today's meeting and kept his resolution made when he accepted the presidency to open and close all meetings of the club promptly and on time. A. J. Campbell, director of the Eastland band, and Mrs. T. J. Pitts Miss Donahue and Horace Conkey, members of the band, furnished music for the Lions today. The program was an excellent one and much enjoyed by the club members and visitors. Lion Madden told the club that the city Commission had agreed that the city would take over the financing of the Eastland band on January 1, but that it would have to be financed by popular subscription until that time. A committee from the Lions club was appointed to assist in securing financial help for the band. This committee is composed of Lions Madden, Hart and Harper. President Kinnaird appointed the following standing committees: Entertainment—Lions Bates, Collicie and Poe. Major Activities and Civic Welfare—Lions Harper, Grisham and Crowell. Educational—Lion N. N. Rosenquest. Finance—Lions Seaberry, Reineman and Cheatham. Membership—The personnel of this committee is to be kept secret.

Barrow Kills Big Rattlesnake and Brings In Skin

J. T. Barrow while fishing late Monday on Lake Leon, near the power plant, was interrupted by a rattlesnake nearly as long as his body, which wanted to sing for him. Mr. Barrow did not like the song, so he picked up a forked stick and pinned the snake's head to the ground, then seized its tail and pulled it apart. Later he took off the snake's skin and brought it with him to town. It measures five and one-half feet in length. The snake had seven rattles and did have more, but a number had been torn off.

Unmasked Bandits Rob San Antonio Newspaper Cashier

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—Three unmasked bandits held up B. F. Farmer here today and robbed him of $6,736.69, the weekly payroll for employees of the San Antonio Light, a Hearst newspaper. #### Rotarian Tom Lott Makes Notable Address On Principles of Rotary Rotarian Tom Lott made a notable address at the Rotary luncheon, Monday, on the principles of Rotary. It was one of those addresses which has a strong appeal and deserves wider circulation than around the Rotary board. Mr. Lott said: "Man, left to his own selfish devices concerned only with his own existence and comfort, oblivious of the welfare or condition of his neighbor or the rest of mankind, would soon revert in sinaple, if not in actual physical condition, to prehistoric man, of the Stone Age or before, in those dim shrouded centuries, the history of which is but a respectful conjecture. He would soon become a misanthropic monster. He would not in actual physical, material surroundings, at least in mental attitude and his usefulness to the race typify the hairy breach clothed prehistoric creature who killed from caverns and procured and held his mate and chattels by the brawn of his body and the efficacy of his rude weapons of stone. Selfish motives, would be the only and the dominating power in his existence. Consequently we would have, not homes but lairs; no communities, no municipalities, no commonwealths, no nations. "The graphic story of man's evolution will be shrouded in a mystery through all the ages to come back of comparatively modern times and history. What we are pleased to term ancient history, to my mind, when the curtain of that stupendous act of creation is finally raised which if at all, will be for each individual one of us when we have finished with the pleasures and travails of life and have partied the invisible yet impenetrable tapestries that divide time from eternity, will disclose to our astounded gaze the creature who killed (Continued on page 6.)

DRYS AND WETS MAY AGREE ON COMPROMISE

Democratic Convention Leaders Take Steps To Avert Uprising That Is Feared

By United Press.
CONVENTION HALL, Houston, June 26.—A plank promising stern enforcement of prohibition by name has been worked out by moderate drys and wets to quell any threatened uprising in the Democratic convention, which convenes at noon today for the purpose of nominating Governor Al Smith of New York for the presidency. The compromise was worked out by the senatorial group, including Senator Pittman of Nevada, prospective chairman of the resolutions committee; Senator Caraway of Arkansas; Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and others. Its conclusion soared the vice-presidential stock of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, who, with Evans Woolen, of Indiana, has been mentioned most prominently as a prospective running mate for Smith.

By United Press.
CONVENTION HALL, Houston, June 26.—The Democratic national convention got under way today amid cheers, music and complete harmony. Its sole business at a brief noon session lasting from shortly after 12 o'clock to shortly before 1 p. m. was assembling, hearing prayer and music, the call of the convention and then adjournment to meet again tonight at 7:30 p. m.

However, from 11 a. m. and earlier the hosts of Democracy who will name Governor Smith of New York their standard bearer, "whooped it up" in Sam Houston hall and made sure that no split would mar this year's session. Noise and fun marked the morning session. North and South, East and West met here on a common plane of friendliness, and good cheer was the keynote.

Bandits that alternated with "Dixie" and "The Sidewalks of New York" set the pace and typified better than words what had come over this gathering all of a sudden.

Patrick J. Haltigan, reading clerk of the national house of representatives, read a letter from Representative Byrnes of Tennessee offering a gavel made from a tree on the Andrew Jackson estate, the hermitage near Nashville, Tenn. Then suddenly Representative Dickenson of Missouri offered a motion to recess until seven. Chairman Shaver misunderstood and adjourned the convention until 7:30 p. m. No committees have been appointed as anticipated. This means that the platform committee does not officially exist and cannot get down to actual platform framing. The platform committee will be organized tonight, however, and will begin open hearing tomorrow morning, followed later by executive session, in which actual drafting of the planks will be made.

Mrs. C. U. Connellee entertained a number of little people in honor of the ninth birthday of her son, Jim Whittington Connellee, yesterday afternoon, on the wide and handsome lawn of her delightful home. The big trees were festooned with gay, red and yellow balloons, that bobbed their welcome in the breeze, and a big-trunked, attended from the tree brought a tempting rendezvous for the little guests, who grabbed from its mysterious depths, packages of chewing gum, toy balloons, flags and other trophies.

More and there flags in standards proudly waved over the play of the bright young lads and lasses, and also other flags decorated the low stand, where Jim, in the guise of a clerk, disposed quickly of iced cold drinks, popcorn, and other goodies bought by the youngsters, and pennies furnished them by the big mother.

On the wide veranda was located the marble topped table on which gleamed the birthday cake, set in roses, and topped with nine lighted pink candles.

The daughter of the house, Monnie Whittington Connellee, assisted her friends, Gwendoline Jones, Nell Sikes, and Betty Perkins disposed the delicious ice cream, and served the lovely cake.

BAPTIST CHURCH GATHERS MEET

Two circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met in regular session yesterday afternoon, and the unusual circumstance occurred that this was the only church in Eastland whose organization held their usual Monday meeting.

The Methodist Missionary Society called their meeting off and reset it for this afternoon, holding their session immediately following their visit in a body to the Church of Christ demonstration reception.

The West Circle of the W. M. S. of the Baptist church met with Mrs. A. M. Hearn, the session opening under the direction of chairman, Mrs. Guy Patterson, substituting for Mrs. L. J. Lambert, absent. Devotionals were: The hymn, "Brighten the Corner Where You Are," and the 15th chapter of St. John, closing with prayer, conducted by Mmes. Patterson and Lancaster. A splendid missionary study was led by Mrs. T. J. Pitts. If Mrs. W. T. Turner has not returned by Monday next, the circle will meet with Mrs. Wilbert Irons, with Mrs. Joe Mead, co-hostess at 2:30 p. m. The hostess served fruit punch and cake to Mmes. Joe Mead, T. J. Pitts, Lancaster, Guy Patterson, O. A. Cook, Wilbert Irons, and A. M. Hearn.

The South Circle met with Mrs. J. A. Crouch. The devotionals from the ninety-first Psalm, and prayer were conducted by Mmes. Young and Sanderford. This circle changed its hour of meeting to 4 p. m., throughout the summer.

The young people had been together all evening, attending the Connellee show, and motoring, when they suddenly decided that if Miss Brimberry could secure their parents consent, the two most concerned would be named. Selling the Southwest as a vacation land to the people of the Southwest is being undertaken by the Magnolia Petroleum Company, according to Mr. E. P. Angus, general sales manager of the company in connection with the marketing of the company's latest motor fuel.

"The people of the Southwest while proud of their territory, do not fully appreciate its claims as a vacation spot," Mr. Angus said. "The beauty of the Ozarks, the Wichita Mountains, the marvelous caverns near Carlsbad, New Mexico; hundreds of delightful vacation places along the Gulf of Mexico and many other places less famous, have become rather well known to some Southwesterners who have ample means to go where they like, when they like. But the greater number of the people who probably have a family car and take a vacation once a year for a few weeks do not yet know what delightful vacations can be had within easy driving dis-

"As lovers of beautiful vacation surroundings, we wished to share our information concerning the resorts of this section with our friends. As business men, we know that it would help everyone living in the Southwest if we can keep the wealth devoted to vacation pleasures in circulation within its borders.

"We realize that those who take their vacations by auto within New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana, can enjoy more incidental pleasures with the money they would otherwise spend in going greater distances. For this reason we believe that we have a worthwhile message to share with the people of the Southwest.

"The fact that we have produced a new knockless motor fuel called Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline, justified us in undertaking the task of telling some of the important facts about the beautiful summer resorts of this section to the people whom we serve," Mr. Angus concluded.

President Coolidge sent a telegram to Herbert Hoover the other day telling him he had been nominated for the most important position in the world." Cal must take that job seriously.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin" Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Virginia Brewster, upon the sudden death of her father, goes to live with a friend, Clarissa Dean, and her father. Her fiancé, Nathaniel Dams, objects to this for he mistrusts Dean's motives. Upon phoning Niel's studio late one night, Virginia is surprised when his model, Chiri, answers. This causes a quarrel which is later mended.

Hoping to get Niel away, Dean arranges to have him offered a position in San Francisco. Niel begs Virginia to marry him and go west, but she refuses to let him sacrifice his art.

Clarissa becomes jealous of Virginia and the latter resolves to leave, but Dean opposes her departure and asks her to marry him. When she refuses, he threatens to reveal the fact that her father cheated him out of $100,000 in a bootlegging deal. Recklessly, Virginia pledges herself to marry him if she fails to earn the money to repay him in one year's time. She then goes to a cheap hotel after pawnning one of her rings. The sordidness of the place makes her realize her changed fortunes, but a real panic comes when she hears a brawl through the thin partition and then she knows that she has indeed made a mistake in her choice. She checks out immediately and consults her attorney who recommends a small, quiet hostelry to which she goes.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XIX

Virginia's things had arrived, she was told, and she asked to have them sent up immediately. It gave her welcome activity to unpack and make a list of the pictures and the few objects d'art she had in her suitcases. The trunks that should have been at the Deans' were not there, she learned. She called her former home on Park Avenue and directed the superintendent to send them to her new address. They contained nothing but clothing, very little of which she cared to wear now, so she was not impatient to receive them.

It was a different Virginia who presented herself at Mr. Gardiner's office a second time that day. A bit of the thrill of a good fight had got through her despondency and incited her to a desire for action. She handed over the pearls with remarkable composure and Mr. Gardiner hadn't the slightest suspicion of the pain it gave her to part with them.

"Call up in the morning and I'll let you know about these things," he said, referring to the list she had made.

"I really think I have a right to them," Virginia said wistfully. "They were mother's."

"Then of course they're yours, but we'll just make sure that they are not on the unpaid bills, so's to avoid the possibility of trouble." This time Virginia left the building with a lighter heart. It meant something to be allowed to hope that she was not to be stripped of the very last possession that linked her with the life that seemed now to have been a fairy tale of happiness.

But she could not know beyond doubt until morning; and in the meantime she must communicate with Nathaniel and learned that she was gone. Virginia was smitten with remorse that she had left the day so nearly got by without calling him. He would want to come to her at the first hint of trouble and she had no place to receive him in privacy. She thought of trying to tell him as much as she had planned to let him know in the parlor of her hotel. That wouldn't do at all.

Virginia glimpsed the cramped space of that room where every word spoken could be overheard. They might take a ride or a bus top up Riverside Drive, but what a place for Nathaniel in a temper—as he was sure to be.

Well, why not go to his studio? It was the best place in the world. Virginia thought, to tell him what had happened with Clarissa. That would be enough to explain why she was breaking with the Deans. Nathaniel would be sure to urge an early marriage, but she could find some reason for putting it off without telling him the whole truth.

After a ride down to Washington Square on a bus Virginia walked to Nathaniel's studio and found him at work. Chiri was posing for him in a red bathing suit of a decidedly boyish cut. Nathaniel threw down his brush and knocked over a chair on his way to greet her when Virginia entered in response to his call to come in.

"Will-o-the-wisp," he chided. "I've been trying all day to get you but I couldn't get a peep from anyone at the Deans. Aren't they letting you use the phones? I suspected something like that."

Virginia forced herself to laugh at him. She wasn't going to let Miss Mond know that anything was wrong. "I've been busy with Mr. Gardiner," she explained after murmuring a polite phrase of greeting to Chiri. "It was so late when I left his office just now I thought you must be about finished with your work for the day, so I came in to have tea with you."

It was a hint none too subtle for Chiri, but hints were not gubking stars in her life. She settled back on the couch that Nathaniel had stretched to reproduce as a stretch of sea beach and languidly curled her ivory-tinted legs into an intimate pose. "Yes, do make us some tea, Niel," she coaxed. "I'm so low I could crawl under a pancake."

Nathaniel threw gray daggers at her but he said pleasantly, "You make it, Chiri, while I fix a chair for Miss Brewster."

Virginia looked displeased, but Nathaniel gave her arm a little squeeze of promise as he led her to a chair from which he transferred an assortment of colorful costumes to the floor with one sweep of his hand. "I'll get rid of her," he whispered, and vanished after Chiri, who had shrugged her way into the kitchenette.

"Look here, you've got to get out," he told her firmly. "You were in a hurry to leave a white age; don't be a dog in the manger, Chiri."

"Ha, that's good. What've you ever done for me that I should be grateful for? You'd be my man if it weren't for that hollow shell in there, and you expect me to step out and leave her the field I want to do, so there?"

"If you ever say anything like that about Miss Brewster again I'll be through with you for good," Nathaniel told her soberly. "I hate to order you out, but I guess I'll have to if you haven't sense enough to go."

Chiri laughed. "What wins wars? The orders or the scraps? I'm fighting, do you see? If you want me to go, make it worth my while."

"If you don't consider it worth your while to be decent I don't know what to offer you."

"This!" Chiri was in his arms, hands pulling his head down, lips crushing against his, her firm young body tense.

Nathaniel shoved her away and scolded angrily. "What an idiot you are!" Triumph blazed back at him from Chiri's gypsy eyes. She shook her hands off her shoulders and rubbed the places where his fingers had left red marks. "If you want to bruise me, do it with kisses," she said, with absolute seriousness.

"Good lord!" Nathaniel groaned. "Do I have to murder you?"

"Not today. I've got all I expect for the nonce."

"Then you're going?" hopeful.

"Oh, I must. So sorry to have to leave you!" She danned out out of the tiny place and moved into the bedroom with a gay, mocking thrill on her smiling lips.

Virginia sat wide-eyed in her chair, wondering what method Nathaniel had used that worked so effectively in expediting Chiri's departure. Oh, well, artists were queer people—perhaps only they could understand each other! She sighed a little, feeling she never could be in complete harmony with a girl who stayed until she was put out and took it joyously.

Nathaniel came in with the tea before Chiri emerged from the bedroom. Virginia felt her unseen presence in Nathaniel's room like a damper on the conversation and made no attempt to impart her news to him. She began to think, after 10 minutes had passed, that Chiri would linger over her dressing unnecessarily, but presently she was surprised to see her come out. She was wearing a red crepe dress that cleverly revealed the contours of a remarkably well-formed body.

"I'd like to stay to tea," she said impishly to Virginia, "but Niel's just given me something I've got to put on ice."

"You didn't give her anything to drink?" Virginia charged Nathaniel after Chiri had slammed the door in her wake.

"I didn't give her anything. She took it," Nathaniel evaded.

"Well, I don't think you should have allowed her! I'm sure she's irresponsible enough as it is."

"Please, let's forget her, sweetheart," Nathaniel begged. "Tell me, I have a feeling that things aren't quite all right with you. Is there anything wrong, Virginia?"

"Clarissa and I had misunderstanding," she confessed reluctantly, hoping he wouldn't press her for all the details.

"I knew that would happen! That girl's got a yen on herself!" Nathaniel declared vehemently. "How did it come about?"

"Well, she seemed to think I might change my mind about marrying you, Virginia told him in the same accents she'd have used to say that babies are found in hollow logs.

"Judging you by herself," Nathaniel remarked sourly. "I don't like to have you listening to that kind of persuasion," he went on earnestly. "You'd only be coming to your senses if you realized that you will make a bum marriage with me, Virginia, but I don't want you to find it out until it's too late for you to back out."

"There won't be any more of it. I left the house last night."

"So that's why they were so uncommunicative today! I couldn't get them even to take a message for you and if I hadn't heard from you by tonight I was going to raid the place. Where did you go when you left?"

Virginia gave him the name of her hotel, omitting all reference to the Ritz. She did not wish him to know how nearly destitute she was. "It's a satisfactory hotel," she hastened to add as Nathaniel's face darkened. "Mr. Gardiner recommended it."

Nathaniel reached for the cup of tea that trembled in her nervous fingers and placed it on the tray. "I suppose it was very unpleasant," he said quietly.

"With Clarissa, you mean? Yes, it was, and I'd rather not talk about it. But after all I couldn't stay there and do nothing. It's much better for me to find some kind of work."

"You're going to find it a life-sized job being married to me," Nathaniel returned earnestly. Virginia shook her head, but her eyes fell beneath the direct appeal in his, his eager questing for a happy answer. She loved him so, adored him.

His hands came to hers, spoke for him, pleaded. His voice, too, picturing a happiness that was like cool, sweet water on parched lips, Virginia prayed not to love him so much she would forget all else. His words tumbled on, drawing her from trouble, promising heaven. Her eyelids closed all the way; she sighed a little and bent to his arms.

FOR PRESIDENT DR. PEPPER

"I Propose none other than that sterling citizen Dr. Pepper"

Acceptable to "Wets" and "Drys" alike

For the first time in history a President may be elected by acclamation. Both parties agree that Dr. Pepper is the popular choice. Politicians can't find an issue. Without an argument there can be no contest. The "Wets" see the end of a "long dry spell". The "Drys" see the downfall of "Demon Rum". Farmers say he brings "Farm relief".

To labor he offers high wages and a big drink for a nickel. Capital says strikes will be unknown... except 5 minute strikes at 10, 2 & 4. Everybody is for the great benefactor... the great humanitarian. Vote early and often for Dr. Pepper... at least 3 times a day at 10, 2 & 4 o'clock. Keep your energy up.

"The greatest handicap in the past has been the lack of facilities for financing. Commercial banks, as a rule, have not catered to such loans.

Dairy Loans

"Following the organization of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, we suggested a plan of monthly payments on dairy loans, and a company organized in Houston for the purpose of re-discounting eligible loans with the bank adopted our suggestion, and while it confines its operations to Harris and adjacent counties, it has steadily increased its volume of such business until now, it is thought, the dairy industry in the immediate vicinity of Houston is satisfactorily financed, and it is our hope that other loan companies serving other sections of this district, may extend their service along similar lines to the industry throughout the State.

"Dairy loans made through local companies and redistricted with the Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston have nearly tripled in the last four years. This places the Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston near the top, if not at the top, of the list of 12 such banks. Since organization it has discounted approximately three quarters of a million dollars of dairy loans.

It is one of the most satisfactory forms of credit to farmers where leading agency pays careful attention to the details of the loan and the collections. In fact, it is the only amortized loan which we make to date. Probably that accounts in a way for its popularity.

for the dairymen find it is easy to acquire a few additional cows, or indeed to build an entirely new herd under the arrangements worked out, when adopted by the local lending companies, such as agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies and banks, utilizing the facilities of the Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston.

"Dairy-Minded" Farmers

"The loans are repaid by monthly installments, extending for 18 months to 20 months. Each month the borrower pays a sufficient part of the loan so as to wipe it out entirely within the given time. In addition, of course, the borrower pays interest on the loan, which does not at present exceed 7 per cent. Of this amount 4 3/4 per cent is paid to the Intermediate Credit Bank when the farmer's notes are rediscounted with it.

"Ordinarily, loans are made up to 50 to 75 per cent of the value of the dairy cattle which the farmer purchases. However, where the dairymen already owns a number of good dairy cattle and the mortgage is placed over the newly purchased animals, as well as those originally owned by the borrower, a higher percentage of the purchase price of the newly added animals is some times advanced. The local lending company also endorses the paper when it rediscounts it with the Intermediate Credit Bank.

"The local lending company finds it desirable to make sure a farmer is so-called "dairy-minded;" that is to say, that he understands dairy cattle and is willing to feed and milk them. Dairying is a steady job the year around and fits in well with a general plan of diversified farming."

CANDIDATE BRIEFLY

EL PASO, June 23.—Joe Bryan, attorney, had his hat in the political ring here for only ninety minutes. Bryan announced that he was running for county attorney. Ninety minutes later, however, he said that he had reconsidered and was not going to run for the office.

BRITISH MALAYA

As time passes confidence in the general business situation is steadily increasing. Effects on the local market of conditions in China, however, continue to be felt and it is reported that imports from Japan in textile lines, cement, paints and corrugated iron are losing ground.

Leon and Lowery Wrestle Tonight At Elks Arena

Wrestling fans who lie to see rough, and fast stepping grapplers will witness one of the most thrilling events ever offered here tonight at the Elks Club, where Kid Leon, of Dallas, tackles Butch Lowery, of San Antonio in a finish best two out of three fall match, and where Young Headrick, flying head scissors star clashes with Clete Duvel of San Angelo.

Both matches are for the best two out of three falls. Leon and Lowery are in the top bout of the evening, and both grapplers are on the job and in perfect condition and anxious for their match to start. Lowery hopes to break Leon's long string of wins tonight by defeating Leon, and Leon figures that Lowery will have to do some real battling if he hopes to beat him. The match will be rough and hard fought from beginning to end. Both grapplers have trained hard and are in perfect condition. Headrick is considered to be one of the best flying headscissors stars in the middleweight division.

He has beaten some of the best known middleweights in the country and is considered one of the foremost contenders for the crown. Duval, who is Headrick's opponent only entered the profession about a year or so ago, but so far he has not lost a match. He is one of the youngest and fastest grapplers in the game. A good preliminary will open the card at 8:30 tonight. The matches will be held at the Elks Club, under the promotion of Jimmie McLemore.

ROTARIAN TOM LOTT MAKES MAKES NOTABLE ADDRESS ON PRINCIPALS OF ROTARY

tonished observations that what we had considered ancient history is an age-old story, to the creator. "However, dating back to authenticated records of man's existence and progress, we find a slow and laborious evolution of thought, of accomplishment, and of the community spirit and the recognition of the obligations of common brotherhood to our fellowman. "All I need to do in support of this is to cite you to the unleashing of the spirit of hate and the and of destruction little more than a decade ago, which shook the morals and spiritual nature of the world to its very foundations. However, the progress of the race in the last two thousand years saved the world and society from utter chaos. The voice of reason attended by the developed responsibilities for our fellowman made it possible to subjugate and banish hates, to forego reprisals and to set ourselves to the task of assuaging the anguish of brooked hearts and bring order and co-operation into the sundered communities of mankind. Along with the marvelous secrets we have extracted from nature which we have made to serve man and add to his comfort happiness.

Sharing With Others
"We have developed a spirit to share these things with our fellowman. I believe that to the majority of men pleasure in the possession of power or of these agencies of comfort and happiness is derived not only from his personal sense of enjoyment of them, but from his ability to share them with the one less fortunate than himself. All Rotarians as Rotarians at heart, have or should have oft experienced the thrill of pleasure the glow of satisfaction at having been able, voluntarily and without obligation to have assisted his fellowman personally. I have never possessed much, but I have never experienced that some happy contentment in personal possession of anything that I have felt on being able to do an unselfish, helpful deed for someone else."

"I believe that God created Rotarians long before Rotarians created Rotary. Organized Rotary is but the orderly Expression of the helpful spirits and unselfish souls of the men who sponsor Rotary and are its devotees. To the man who embraces Rotary and has to subject the order of his life and conduct, to radical changes and restrictions, Rotary may help him, but I wonder if he will help Rotary. The man who adheres strictly to the letter of the creeds in church, in fraternities or in civic or benevolent institutions is but an indifferent churchman, a half-hearted lodge man and a very poor Rotarian unless the principles adopted by these organizations live in his heart, and are expressed voluntarily in his daily conduct towards his fellowman. "It would be impossible in a short treatise like this to review all the activities, the tenets or benefits of Rotary and I shall not attempt it for that reason; also because there are so many Rotarians more qualified out of the fund of good deeds stored in their hearts to extol Rotary than I am. Work with Boys.

"One feature I do wish to refer to, however, as to me it is one of the most vital and important in life—that is boy's work in conversation with a Rotarian at Rangerc recently on this subject that we did not accord the men in our organization who attended to this work anywhere near the appreciation or assistance they were entitled. "Every assistance rendered to the boy of today every ideal instilled into his mind, every worthy motive that we inspire him with is fraught with import for the safeguarding of the race, for the preservation of the home, the church and the government and in so doing we are rearing to our own memories living monuments of unimpaired good that will rise up to call us blessed long after imposing monuments of mute granite or marble would attract only the passing observation of the sight-seer and the curious.
"You have only to revert to your own boyhood days to realize that some boy—your own if you have one—if not some else's boy, is looking upon you as his ideal. He is observing your daily conduct, at work and at play with that keen observation of youth that is unperturbed by worry or distracted by matters of business, abetted by that lively curiosity which looms large in all normal youth's he is in the formative period of character, impressionable and more or less credulous and believing, and whether you will it or not, you are moulding the character of some boy. You are inspiring him with the ideals and the rules of conduct that will dominate his actions as a citizen, and thus contributing to the destiny of mankind.
"Let us all put the boy on an equal footing with us, let him know that we consider him seriously and that to us he is not a more or less, irresponsible dependent, but a pal. Through this association with, influence over him may help we shall inspire him to serve the coming generation more usefully, and thus perpetuate our slogan. "He profits most who serves best."

Hunters Gaining
In Number, Hunting Licenses Disclose
During the season 1926-27 more than 5,750,000 hunting licenses for the taking of wild game were issued to sportsmen throughout the United States, including Alaska, and the revenue to the States amounted to more than $7,800,000. Although data from four States are lacking, detailed figures for the season compiled by the Bureau of Zoological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture show increases in numbers of licenses issued and fees received over the preceding three years. In the 1923-24 season, the licenses numbered 4,305,038 and the year later, 4,904,740 hunters paid for their licenses a total of $6,190,863, while in 1925-26 hunting licenses to the number of 5,168,353 were issued, bringing a revenue of $6,572,812 to the States. During the season just past, New York State with 620,414 licenses and fees of $822,415 headed the list both in licenses and money returns.

Not by Chance

Your telephone instrument, the modern switchboard, cables containing hundreds of wires—all of the equipment and apparatus which make your telephone service possible—are not the products of chance. Improvement in the methods and mechanisms of the telephone art have come as the result of continued experiment and research.

Today, there are in the Bell System Laboratories several thousand people whose sole job it is to work for improvement. It is, therefore, not by chance that your telephone service is better—more useful, more convenient, than it was ten years ago.

The 27,000 men and women of the Southwestern System who are engaged in the day-by-day job of furnishing the telephone service are doing their part in making your telephone service as good as humanly possible and in providing it at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.
