Ranger Boy Joins 'Rats' Football Team At John Tarleton

Earnest Green of Ranger is taking an active part in the intramural sports program at John Tarleton College where he is a student. After a series of tryouts he was elected as a member of the Rats, a touch football team. There are seven such teams at Tarleton competing for the championship of the campus.

In a short time the intra-mural game will be basketball instead of football. This is in keeping with the plan of W. J. Wisdom, athletic director at Tarleton, to keep as many boys as possible playing on the campus in the afternoons. Wisdom believes that school-wide participation in sports is conducive to good scholarship as well as good health.

Professor Tells How He Got Autographs

WACO, Tex.—Autograph seekers might take a hint from the childhood artist of Dr. A. J. Armstrong, head of the Baylor University English department and the world's foremost authority on Browning. The scholar's secret was bared today in a student-prepared biographical sketch.

It seems that the lad Armstrong adopted the unique system of addressing black-bordered mournful appearing envelopes to his would-be signers, reasoning that private secretaries would not open such pathetic looking communications.

The plan worked like a charm and autographs flooded in. Dr. Armstrong testifies. The first one was by Rutherford B. Hayes, later president of the United States.

Man Is Captured In Ranger After Shots Fired In A Chase

Following a night of burglaries in Ranger, an Olden man, wanted for non-payment of an old fine, was captured Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, after a long chase in which several shots were fired, it was reported today by Chief of Police Guy Pledger of Ranger.

Johnny Boyd, patrolman, was reporting for work about that time when Monk McMinn of Olden, who police said was wanted for not paying an old fine, was sighted and apprehended. When he got into an automobile he broke for freedom and eluded Boyd for some time.

Boyd circled the park on Strawn Road, seeking McMinn, he stated this morning, and was told by some children that the man had entered the deer house, inside a high wire fence.

After being caught a second time McMinn was placed in the Ranger city jail.

Texas Farmers to Receive More Cash Authority Predicts

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas farmers will have more cash to jingle in their pockets this year than last, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas agricultural authority, predicts.

Despite a 10 per cent drop from January, 1939, farm cash income for the first month of 1940 points to better finance during the remainder of the year, the Bureau of Business Research statistician believes.

The slump was due entirely to a sharp falling off in live stock shipments, which he expects to boom later in the season.

The number of animals on Texas farms and ranches on January 1, 1940, was approximately the same as a year earlier, from which he deduces that shipments in succeeding months will at least balance those of 1939.

Actual receipts from livestock and farm products in January totaled $16,878,000 or 72.1 per cent of the average January income for the period 1928-32.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Books as well as men may be pensioned it was learned last week at the University of Texas where a concordance of the Bible—the first book ever bought by the University library—went off active duty.

Bearing the accession number, "11" the bulky volume was well worn by over fifty years' use by University students.

Federal Old-Age And Survivor's Insurance Plan

(Editor's Note: The following is another of a series of articles prepared by W. O. King, manager of the Abilene Social Security Board field office, to be published in this paper. The information contained in the series of articles is educational and of interest to the general public. Additional information can be secured by addressing W. O. King, 205 Alexander Building, Abilene, Texas.)

NUMBER OF BENEFICIARIES IN 1940

How many persons in Texas will receive payments of old-age and survivors insurance benefits in 1940? This question has been asked by many. No one knows the exact answer to that question because no one knows just how many insured workers will die, or how many widows and children will be left to claim survivors benefits. Neither does anyone know how many insured workers will retire next year or how many aged wives or dependent children of such annuitants there will be to claim payments of old-age insurance.

While there are no accurate figures regarding the number of persons who will receive benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance provisions during 1940, it is estimated that approximately 912,000 persons in the United States may be entitled to monthly benefits before the end of 1940. This assumes that there will be approximately 485,000 primary old-age beneficiaries—that is, persons 65 or older who are fully insured in their own right; 125,000 wives and 20,000 widows over 65 years old; 78,000 young widows with dependent children; 194,000 dependent children; and 10,000 dependent parents.

WAR IN AIR IS INTENSIFIED BY GERMANS

The same Nazi bombing plane which attacked the British Liner Domala, with 108 passengers being killed, was believed today to have been the one which attacked a Dutch vessel which came to the rescue of survivors.

A Nazi bomber swooped down upon the neutral vessel and raked its decks with machine gun fire, the captain reported, though there was no report of any casualties. The ship returned to port under its own power.

A Nazi bomber was reported from Berlin to have been shot down on the Western Front, though French sources claimed that two bombers had been shot down. The crew of two in the bomber managed to escape unharmed and returned to their own lines.

From Paris it was reported that a German patrol in the Mozelle sector had been repulsed and turned back, apparently without casualties.

The German raid on British shipping continued today with one Scotch trawler being sunk with a loss of nine lives.

It was believed that Nazi air raiders are working under orders to fire upon all vessels, as the bomber which attacked the Dutch ship was reported to have flown over at an altitude of only 500 feet, and to have dived even lower in showering machine gun bullets on the decks.

Finland still hung on at Viipuri in spite of continued Russian pressure, and hand-to-hand fighting through the streets of the ruined city.

It was reported that Finnish soldiers were retreating to fortifications about three miles north of the city, but that they still held on to the main portions of the town.

Finns Still Hold Out at Viipuri In A Gallant Stand

Conflicting reports said that Finnish forces had encircled the Russian advanced troops and from Moscow it was reported that the city had been completely encircled by Soviet forces.

It was considered unlikely that the fortifications could hold out much longer in the face of increased Russian pressure.

The streets of Viipuri were reported today to be filled with furniture from ruined buildings, with defenders making stands behind the piles of debris that fill the streets. Much of the town has been burned by fleeing Finns.

Wells To Rest On His Way To Paris

Italy Has Trouble With Allies Today

Italy's troubles with the Allies mounted today as five Italian ships left Holland, loaded with German coal, which the British had prohibited being transported.

Meantime British colonial troops concentrated in Africa, along the Italian-Ethiopian frontier.

Little hope was seen for the peace mission of Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles of the United States, who stopped off today in Switzerland before going to Paris.

Two Are Killed In Cuban Campaign

Eleven warplanes were shot down over the week-end, six of them being German, and two small British boats were sunk and a Swedish steamer was mined.

Burglars apparently tried to make a clean sweep of Ranger business houses Saturday night or early Sunday morning, when they broke into four buildings, broke open two safes, knocked the knobs off two others, stole $108 in cash and a number of tools.

During the one-night crime wave, the burglars, apparently the same gang, broke into the Ranger Machine Shop, the Ranger post office, Anderson-Pruet, Inc., and the Sinclair wholesale agency owned and operated by J. E. Mcronney and attempted to break into the office of J. E. Matthews.

According to evidence uncovered by Ranger police, the sheriff's department from Eastland, postal inspectors from Fort Worth and the State Safety Department at Austin, the burglars apparently made the rounds in the order given above.

According to information of the police department at Ranger tools were taken from the Ranger Machine Shop on East Main street. Some of these tools were left in the Ranger post office, which the burglars entered by a rear window. Two knobs were knocked off safes in the post office building, but apparently nothing was taken. Postal inspectors were notified immediately after the attempted burglary was discovered.

The burglars went through the main floor of the post office building, and also through the basement, seeking loot.

Tools taken from the post office were found in the Anderson-Pruet building, Chief of Police Guy Pledger of Ranger stated Monday, indicating that it was robbed after the post office.

A ladder was used to reach the roof of the building and entrance was gained through a skylight. The knob was knocked off one safe and $108 in cash taken. The knob was knocked off another safe, but apparently the burglars did not get this one open. This robbery was discovered when a customer had an employe open the building so he could get a part for an automobile.

It was believed by officers that the Sinclair wholesale agency was the last stop made during the night of burglaries, and that they left town after this "job." Forty cases of oil were taken there, a checkup revealed. Recently the same agency was robbed and 60 cases of oil were taken at that time.

Officers today did not report finding of any clues to the four burglaries.

Four Blocks Of A Town Tumble Into Abandoned Mine

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 4.—Four residential blocks of Shenandoah caved in today, with 250 homes being effected and property damage estimated at $100,000.

The portion of the city where the cave-in occurred is located over an abandoned coal mine. Rumblings in the abandoned mine were heard before the cave-in occurred, and police were able to get all residents out.

More than 1,000 people were believed to have been moved to places of safety.

All water and gas mains in the section were broken and power and communication lines tumbled into the abandoned mine.

When War Intrudes

You are getting along nicely at your factory job, or you are bending over a sheaf of papers in your office when the memoranda mecomes. It says tersely, as if you are expected to understand: "Effective immediately, working hours will be extended to 60 each week and wages for hours worked above 40 will be subject to a 40 per cent levy."

Or maybe it isn't a memorandum. Perhaps it's an official government envelope that tells you where to report for military service that will net you anywhere from 2 cents to $1 a day, depending on what army you're in.

However it hits you, you know that it has come. The war that you knew your country was in his, at last, come right up to your own front door.

For a while you say to yourself, "That's all right. I've got to do my part. I've got to help my country fight dictatorship, or Communism, or imperialism, or mesmerism or something, whatever it is." And you kick in. You fight and get wounded or you work yourself to death and get under-paid.

After you've begun to get a little tired of feeding your family one pound of meat a week, cutting down on smokes when you need them most, dragging your tired frame home each night through blacked-out streets, you begin to wonder what it's all about—what are you doing it for, anyway?

So you get together with some other people who feel the same way and you ask please couldn't your hours be cut before you're not good for anything and couldn't you have just a little more pay to meet the prices that are shooting too high. And somebody pats your forehead and says with a kind of pious sigh, "C'est le guerre," or "England expects every man to do his duty," or "My country, right or wrong."

That's the way it works, no matter what side you're on. When war is vague, the slogans and the band music sound good, but when it hits you right in the middle—that's different. That's why French labor is asking for better pay, shorter hours. That's why British women are uneasy about their rights. That's why German workers are beginning to grumble a little, if they thing no one's listening.

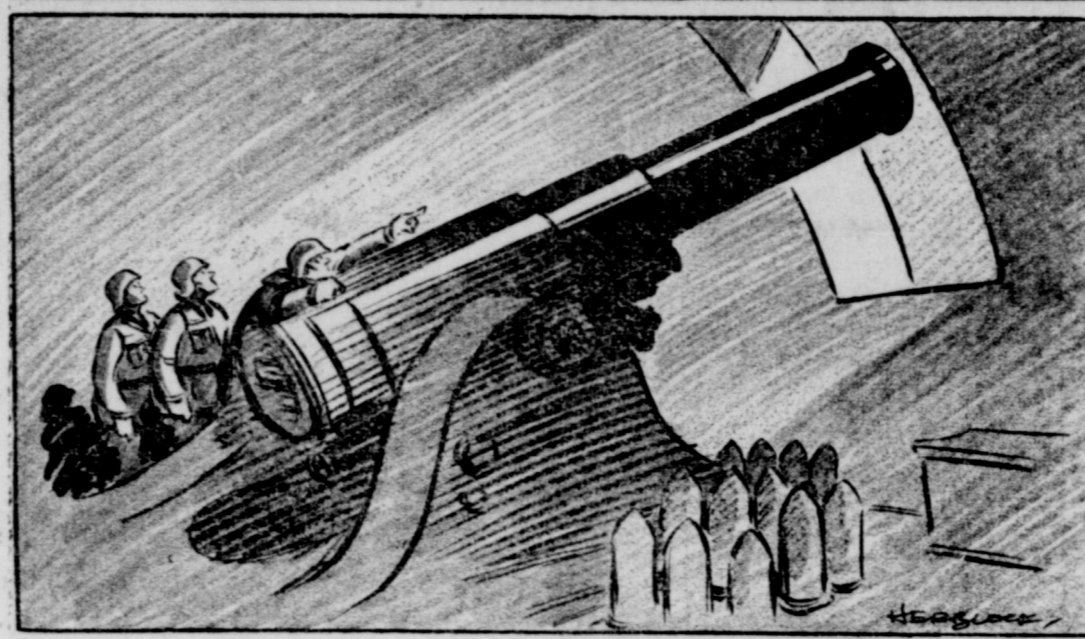

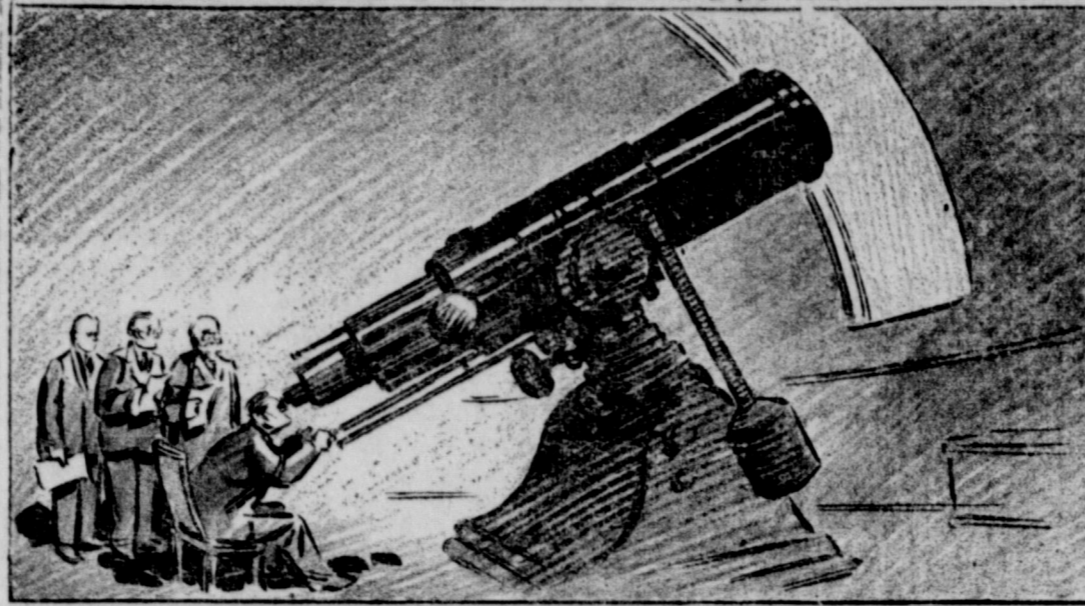

It takes a lot of hating to keep up a successful front at home.

When asked about G.O.P. candidates, Mayor La Guardia of New York said, simply, "phooey," which is a boiled down version of what all the Democrats have been saying about the Republicans and vice versa.

Russia is making a habit of denying everything. Maybe Stalin will claim, one of these days, that Czar Nicholas and family were not shot but have been safely stowed away for a rainy day.

THE CURRENT ASTRONOMICAL DISPLAY IS THE BRIGHTEST IN MANY YEARS.

State Employees To Be Kept Out of Political Issues

By United Press

AUSTIN, Texas.—State employees will be well hedged in to prevent political activity in this summer's campaigns.

Workers in all departments are limited politically by riders on the acts of the legislature which appropriated the money to pay employees.

Those working for social security agencies of the state have additional regulations restricting them.

A "merit system" plan submitted by the public welfare board to the Federal Social Security Board for approval contains this provision:

"No employee of the department shall use his official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the results thereof. While retaining the right to vote as they please and to express privately their opinions on all political subjects, they shall take no active part in political management or in political campaigns."

Along with the section designed to prevent employees dabbling in politics go two sections to assure the political freedom of an employe or applicant for employment.

There is a provision that no question asked in any application form shall be framed so as to elicit information concerning the political or religious opinions or affiliations of any applicant for a position. All such disclosures are disallowed and there is a declaration against any discrimination, threatened or promised, because of political or religious opinions or connections.

There is also a provision that no recommendation of an applicant shall be considered or be filed by the department if it involves disclosure of his political or religious opinions or affiliations.

Riders on the appropriation acts say that it shall be unlawful for any person authorized to use a state-owned automobile in connection with any campaign in which the institution is directly interested, or in behalf of the cam-

Lock Jaw Takes a Heavy Toll In the State Every Year

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas had 129 deaths from tetanus (lock-jaw) in 1934, according to vital statistics records of the State Department of Health. The number of deaths from tetanus year by year for the past decade has shown no appreciable decrease or increase, the mean average being about 130 for each year of the decade. Peak of the decade was the 151 recorded deaths in 1934.

A significant factor in tetanus prevalence is that the disease develops usually from a trivial wound or injury which too often is neglected until complications set in.

"In the course of the disease convulsions may be frequent and set off by any slight stimulation to the central nervous system. Stiffening of the muscles of the jaw is one of the first symptoms of tetanus, a characteristic which gives the disease its name.

"Puncture wounds, such as those from sticking a nail or thorn in the foot or hand, prove the most dangerous. This is explained by the tetanus characteristic whereby the germs thrive only in a closed wound or in the presence of other germs that use up the air present. Tetanus germs cannot live in open air," stated Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Preventive technique against department head.

A department employe using a state automobile politically may be fined from $50 to $200. If the department head knowingly permits such use, he, too, may be fined $200.

The section prohibiting employes of state departments from taking part in campaigns affecting the office or the election or reelection of the head of the department specifically prohibits such acts as sending out circulars or hand bills, posting pictures, handing out cards or making speeches. Departments are prohibited from using any of their funds either directly or indirectly for sending out campaign material. No stenographer or other employe who is paid by the state may be used or employed in preparing, mailing or handing campaign literature. Such work is prohibited in the state capitol or in the rooms of any state building.

lockjaw should include proper care of all minor injuries and wounds. Closed wounds should be made open wounds and kept thoroughly clean. Anti-tetanus serum should be given after a puncture wound. Gunpowder wounds are also frequently followed by lockjaw. The period of incubation for the disease to develop in man is usually from six to fourteen days, according to the degree of infection. When the incubation period is brief, six days or less, tetanus is almost always fatal. With a longer period for the disease to develop, it becomes milder, and the chances for recovery consequently greater."

Many Requests For Information Are Received by Library

AUSTIN, Tex.—Booming talk of industrialization for Texas is sharpening Texan industrial curiosity, the University of Texas Package Loan Library reported here today.

Librarians, who mailed out a record high of more than 5,000 "information packages" for January, attributed part of the increase to numerous requests for information on Texas industries. An increase of 300 over January, 1934, was recorded, Miss LeNoir Dimmitt, director, said.

Coping with the demand for material on almost any subject, the loan library takes a large number of daily and weekly papers, magazine pamphlets, and periodicals. Clippings on each subject from these are filed in packages ready for mailing to the questioner.

The January quota consisted of 191 books, 280 study outlines, 6,805 plays, and 44,022 pamphlets and periodical clippings. Literature led the field with 952 packages. Fine arts, plays, and political, economic and social topics were also in great demand, Miss Dimmitt said.

$15 A WEEK BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

WESTERDAY: Ann finds Clara's apartment a garish, unattractive place but settles down to enjoy the company of her glittering, well-dressed roommate, explains that she has never danced brought her favorite... Ann can have nice things, Florabelle says, if she wants to know how to manage... ponders her advice.

Paul Hayden would give me a break." She was asleep. ANN arose early the following morning, Clara, accustomed to standing at the stove while she drank a cup of muddy coffee, was amazed, even faintly displeased, to find a table neatly set. She ate in her bathrobe, grumbling meanwhile. Riding to the city on the El, they discussed the girls on the third floor. Noddy and Teddy piloted elevators up and down in the Sampson building. They danced every night of the week. They were the most popular girls in the West Side tavern set.

friends. He's our postman—simply gaga over Florabelle. He never gets anything but an icy stare but he keeps coming, week after week. Sometimes Florabelle lets him in and sometimes she don't." Clara laughed merrily. THE girls parted at the corner of State and Dearborn. Ann's heart sang. It was fun to live with Clara, to gossip on the trip to the city. She had a date to go to the movies with Paul Hayden. It was a beautiful world. Paul called in the afternoon. Mrs. Pringle raised her eyebrows as she handed the telephone to Ann. "It's a man," she mouthed silently. Ann said, a bit breathlessly, "Hello."

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Under the surface, a stormy situation is developing within the high command of the C. I. O. At the C. I. O. convention last fall, John L. Lewis averted a threatened split by promising Sidney Hillman, influential head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, that he would: 1—Eliminate Communist influence in the C. I. O. 2—Make a real effort for peace with the A. F. L. 3—Support the New Deal. None of these things has been done. A gesture toward eliminating the Communists was made: Harry Bridges' wings were clipped, left-winger Joe Curran was denied a vice presidency, and Allan Haywood, stout foe of Communists, was made director of organization. Beyond that, nothing happened. BEGINNING with his Labor Day speech in Ogden, Utah, Lewis has been conforming to a clear pattern in his public statements. He has been demanding isolation from the war; he has been asserting that the administration is neglecting domestic problems and taking an undue interest in the war; he has been attacking the New Deal for "retreating." It came to a crescendo in his speech before the United Mine Workers convention, in which he predicted that President Roosevelt would be beaten if he ran for a third term. In all of this there is a remarkable similarity to the Communist Party line, as revised since the Hitler-Stalin treaty. SPEECH LIKE BROWDER'S NOTE these things, too. The official C. I. O. News.

COMMUNISTS STILL ON THE JOB

NO one on the inside thinks that Lewis is or ever has been a Communist. He has not even been especially sympathetic to Communism. Yet somehow the party line has had pretty good adherence from him during the last four and one-half months. The reputed Communist leaders of various C. I. O. unions are still on the job. Hillman is known to be extremely indignant over this turn of affairs. The situation is bound to come to a head sooner or later; when it does, there is likely to be quite a ruction. Meanwhile, Communist membership in certain C. I. O. unions is increasing. They have been getting recruits. One inside story has it that in some United Auto Workers locals the non-party leaders are today afraid to call elections, for fear that Communist tickets would be voted into power.

Texas Is Second In Nation With Junior Colleges

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Texas is second in the United States in number of its junior colleges and third in junior college enrollment, according to the Junior College Directory for 1940, just issued by the American Association of Junior Colleges. There are 40 of these institutions in the state, with 12,804 students.

Among them is Ranger Junior College, Ranger, with 102 students.

California leads, with 64 junior colleges, enrolling 73,669. Second in enrollment is Illinois, with 14,711 students in 23 junior colleges. Enrollment in junior colleges in the country has doubled in the last seven years, according to Walter C. Fells, secretary of the national association, and in the last year has increased from 155,588 to 196,510. This 41,122 increase which is 26.4 per cent, is the largest annual growth ever reported. There are now 575 junior colleges, as compared with 556 reported a year ago.

A junior college, it is explained, is one which does work of college or university grade for two years beyond high school. Twenty-seven junior colleges in the country include the last two years of high school with the first two years of college.

There are 33 junior colleges in the country with enrollments of more than 1,000. Among them are the North Texas Junior Agricultural College at Arlington, with an enrollment of 1,894, and the John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville, with an enrollment of 1,511.

Former Air Ace Finds Best Friend Once Was Enemy

By United Press
PARIS, March 1.—A couple of fellows who know all about motion picture plots—Cornignion Molinier and Alexander Esway—discovered today that the war had given them a real life story more unusual than any they ever put on the screen.

Molinier is a French producer, but he was a world war ace, the hero of many distance flights and the discoverer of the dwelling place of the Queen of Sheba. Esway, a Hungarian, had his plane shot down over the Italian front on April 5, 1917, by a French squadron.

After the war Esway was secretary to the Hungarian peace delegation, became a counter-revolutionary against the Bolsheviks, an aide-de-camp to Hungarian regent admiral Nicholasorthy and then went into the movie field in Hollywood, London and Paris, where he directed a picture starring Daniele Darrieux and produced by Molinier.

Molinier and Esway had never met until they became associated in movie production but they became close friends. Then came this war, Molinier became a major in the French air force, commanding a chaser Escadrille at the front.

Summer Theatre to Be College Course

WACO, Tex.—A Southwestern Summer Theatre, designed to give college men and women an opportunity to work as an integral part of a professional theatrical organization, will be directed at Baylor University during the summer months by Prof. Baker of the Baylor drama department.

From six to eight full length productions will be staged by the theatre during the eleven week period beginning June 5, Baker said. The members of the theatre will serve as actors, designers, technicians and directors, and will sit on the Theatre's governing board. Waco Hall, one of the Southwest's best stages, will be used.

Membership is open to men and women of college age. The theatre will be an independent producing group subject to the governing of its own board, and will endeavor to make money in the productions so that each member might receive a bonus at the end of the season.

rollment of 1,511. The size most general is between 100 and 200, in which group 153 are reported. There are 212 junior colleges with enrollments between 200 and 1,000. The average for all is 349.

Racketeers Have Invaded Field Of Safety Report Says

Racketeers have become safety conscious.

A timely warning to all citizens of West-Central Texas to beware of racketeers hiding behind the skirts of bona fide safety organizations has been issued by J. C. Watson, secretary of the Oil Belt Safety Council.

"I hate to admit it," Watson commented, "but racketeers and confidence men are beginning to take advantage of the goodwill created by regional and local safety organizations."

To back up his warning he said: "One day he walked into the studio in uniform and met Esway. 'I didn't know you were an aviation officer,' Esway said. 'I was once shot down by a gallant Frenchman when I was patrolling the Italian front.'"

Molinier replied that he had commanded a French Escadrille helping the Italians during the World war. They compared notes and confirmed to their own satisfaction that it was Molinier who shot down Esway's plane—the only one recorded as having been brought down in that sector on April 5, 1917.

"We fought it out," Esway said. "But the Frenchman got me just over the heart and then he got my motor with machine gun bullets. He could have finished me off easily but like a gallant enemy he let me slide down."

"I cracked up, breaking my ribs, a leg, an arm and my jaw. Some teeth were knocked out. Molinier asked me how I felt after I had told him about it. I said I was all right but had just had a new set of teeth made that cost me 2,000 Francs. He made me send him the bill. He's my boss and now he pays all my dentist bills."

This week, on Molinier's recommendation, Esway joined the French air force as a lieutenant of aviation in a foreign contingent. He said he understood he would be under Molinier's command.

Baylor Girls Will Have a Co-Op House

WACO, Tex.—A co-operative house for girls will be sponsored on the Baylor University campus beginning next fall by the Baptist Women's Missionary Union of Texas District 14, President Pat M. Neff announced.

quoted from a letter received last week from the Austin Safety Council.

"Racketeering is attempting to invade the field of safety and to capitalize on the good intentions of churches, civic clubs, and other bona fide organizations," wrote J. Donald Hill, executive secretary of the Austin council.

"Certain parties are touring the country posing as safety workers, and attempting to 'work' local citizens and reputable local bodies. We have information that spurious safety workers are currently planning a 'campaign' through local churches, and we take this occasion to ask you to be on guard."

"The function of the safety council is to encourage in every way possible safety work on the part of individuals and organizations of integrity; likewise we consider it our duty to warn against those who would make a racket of the effort to save human lives."

"Any bona fide safety worker can easily obtain credentials from your local safety council, the chamber of commerce, or the Oil Belt Safety Council, all of which are identified with the Texas Safety association and the National Safety Council and with local and state governmental bodies."

"We respectfully urge that you demand these credentials of all out of town professional safety workers before having anything to do with them. If they are not bona fide, then their inability to obtain these credentials is your protection."

Watson said several citizens and organizations of this area had been victimized by racketeers in the past. The Oil Belt Safety Council an dlocal councils have broken up as many or more suave schemes to embezzle in the name of safety.

"The Oil Belt Safety Council and its local councils want the continued support and confidence of all the people of West-Central Texas," Watson said. "Therefore, please be on your guard when approached by any stranger without proper credentials showing him to be a bona fide safety worker."
