

Bula News
By Mrs. John Blackman

Plans are underway for the fiftieth anniversary of the Bula-Enochs school to be held May 16, 17 and 18. The senior class are the sponsors of the three day affair. They decided to do this rather than have their annual homecoming celebration. We think this is so nice of the seniors. They have asked for the help and assistance of every one in the community that can give them any information on Bula school's history. We would like to have any old pictures of classes, ball teams, etc. that any former student might have to loan to us for this occasion. And we hope to have as many former students to attend that possibly can.

Teachers from Bula School attended the Bailey County TSTA meeting Monday evening at the Threeway school in the Home Economics living room. Mr. G.O. Smith of Bula School, president, presided over the meeting. The secretary report was given by Carolyn Snitker of Bula. Following the usual business meeting, Mr. Smith made a report on the state TSTA meeting he attended in Houston recently. Entertainment for the evening was given by the Threeway Drama Club, a comedy act "Ceasar's Council". A delicious salad dinner was enjoyed by all.

Mothers of Head Start children met Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the Headstart room. Mrs. James Sinclair, vocational nurse, spoke to the mothers on "Home First Aids". The precautions we can take in our homes that can prevent so many of our accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Withrow drove to Levelland Tuesday morning to attend the awards assembly at the South Plains College auditorium. Their daughter, Jackie, was the recipient of the drama award.

Ronald Risinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Risinger was involved in a one vehicle accident about 6 p.m. Friday evening near Wheat Ridge, Colo. He along with three other boys, two were friends from Littlefield, were in a pickup and a wheel ran off the vehicle as they were coming down a hill, throwing the boys from the pickup. Ronald received internal injuries and is still confined in the Lutheran Hospital in Denver. His parents and brother, Jimmy

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Curfew laws, designed to keep youngsters off the streets at night, have been around for almost 100 years. But only recently have the courts been taking a close look at their validity. Does a city have the legal authority to put limits on anybody's freedom of movement?

The basic idea has generally been approved. One youth, arrested under a curfew law, challenged it as a form of discrimination against younger people. But the court pointed out that minors are lawfully singled out with regard to everything from marrying to driving, from attending school to buying liquor.

Upholding the law, the court said: "Children are under recognized disabilities in many respects. Because of their lack of mature judgment, they are subject to continuing supervision until they become of age."

Nevertheless, a curfew law may be struck down if it is too broad. Another case involved a curfew that banned all minors from the streets after 10 p.m., with almost no leeway for exceptional circumstances.

In a court test, the judge noted that this law could punish youngsters coming home from evening classes, from work at the library, from school games or dances, even from church activities.

Finding the law invalid, the court said it violated "the right of every person to enjoy and engage in lawful and innocent activity."

In one recent case, police booked the father of a 16-year-old boy for "allowing" him to be out after the curfew hour. The court conceded that it was constitutional to punish the parent in such a situation. However, it seems the father had been told—and had honestly believed—that his son was spending the night at the home of a friend. Dismissing the charge against the father, the court said he could not have "allowed" conduct of which he was not even aware.

Risinger, are with him. He is improving as well as he possibly can and his parents feel that he will be able to be brought by ambulance soon to a hospital closer to home.

Mrs. V.C. Weaver attended a wedding shower, given Saturday afternoon 3 to 5 in the Parrish Hall of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Plainview, for her great niece, Miss Janice Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maxwell, Plainview. Miss Maxwell and her fiancé are to be married June 7.

Lions James Sinclair and G. O. Smith, accompanied by Bula-Enochs Lions sweetheart Rhea

Lyn Casey, and also Mrs. Smith, were in Brownfield Friday and Saturday for the annual District 2-T-2, convention. Approximately 60 clubs in the district. Miss Rhea Lyn Casey was one of the 51 entrants in the Queen's contest. Mr. Sinclair and Mrs. Smith were voting delegates for the business meeting. Judging of the queen was made Friday night and the name of the queen revealed at the banquet Saturday night.

Friends of many years to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Weaver Tuesday afternoon were Mr. P.O. Smith of Lubbock and Mr. Arlie Elms from Tulsa.

Mrs. Gary Everett of Odessa is acting as substitute teacher for her mother Mrs. W. C. Risinger, while she is with her son Ronald, in a Denver hospital.

Students and faculty of the Bula school entertained friends and patrons of the school Tuesday evening, with a varsity show. Much fun and laughter was enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Williams visited Tuesday night and Wednesday with their son and family Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, children at Slaton.

Mrs. Nolan Harlan is in Washington, D.C. this week, she went as a delegate for the Bailey County Farmers Union, for their annual fly-in to Washington. She remained over a few days after the meeting and visited with a nephew and family, Captain and Mrs. John A. Corder and children, who live in the District of Columbia.

Mrs. E.N. McCall, Mrs. C.A. Petree, Mrs. Tom Bogard and

Mrs. John Blackman were in Muleshoe Wednesday and attended the Fix-It Festival, given by the Bailey County Family Living Sub-Committee.

Dusty Bogard, is home with his parents, the Tom Bogards for a few days, he has been working near Granbury, Tex

Gary Lackey To Ride In Cavalry

Gary F. Lackey of Muleshoe will ride with Parsons Mounted Cavalry in 1975-76 at Texas A & M University.

Lackey is one of 48 new members named to the cavalry troop, part of TAMU's Corps of Cadets.

A unique, colorful unit, Parsons Cavalry mounts up for Corps trip parades, reviews, football march-ins and special invited appearances in state-wide parades, equestrian and agricultural events.

Appearances, such as the nationally-televised Cotton Bowl Classic last January, have placed the troop in demand at fairs, livestock shows and parades.

Conceived in the spring of 1973, the troop saddled up the first time last year. Only seniors ride in the unit. With campaign hats, senior boots and other items of the Cadet Corps ing equipment and furnishings. Rev. Hunter stated that last year the hospital collected $288,054.46 in cash. The board had to spend some $159,671.03, mostly on the nursing home for required improvements.

Besides the $48,435.11 in outstanding hospital bills, they spent $15,298.58 on property purchased; $35,033.84 to pay off a note on the hospital; $29,721.00 and $2,135.00 on a sprinkler system for the nursing home; and $1500 for widening doorways and installing solid core doors in the nursing home.

Muleshoe, according to Rev. Hunter, has a golden opportunity to secure excellent hospital facilities through the EDA grant and FmHA loan, if enough cash can be raised by local people. If this plan falls through because of not collecting enough money, it will be several years before another grant or loan would be available. Meanwhile, without a new hospital or needed improvements, this local hospital could be closed.

uniform, the troop is highly reminiscent of the U.S. Cavalry that opened and patrolled the early American frontier.

Members supply their own horses. Training, care and feeding is conducted on 14 acres at the TAMU Research Annex. Juniors interested in becoming riding members "apprentice" in their next-to-last undergraduate year at TAMU.

The troop is named for Col. Thomas R. Parson, commandant of cadets who guided and supported its formative stages. Lackey, son of Jesse H. Lackey of Rt. 5, is a junior majoring in animal science at TAMU.

Soil Stewardship Week Set May 4-11

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which emphasizes man's responsibility to protect and conserve soil, water, and other resources, will be May 4-11 this year, Doug Bales, Chairman of the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District announced today.

This year's theme, "Test of Strength," emphasizes "How the many changes now occurring in the nation 'test our strength' and affect our continuing responsibility to be good stewards of the land," said Bales.

Bales cited food and energy shortages, environmental pollution, and the growing concern over land use as examples of changes and development affecting the use of America's natural resources.

"We hope," said Bales, "that during Soil Stewardship Week, millions of Americans will pause for a moment to consider their responsibilities for the protection and use of the Lord's earth."

The district, upon request, will provide local churches with bulletin inserts, and copies of this year's observance booklet. The material was prepared by the National Soil Stewardship Advisory Committee of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The advisory committee is composed of churchmen of different faiths.

This year will be the 21st consecutive year that the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District, along with almost 3,000 similar districts throughout the nation, has sponsored Soil Stewardship Week. The custom of setting aside special "Rogation Days" for this purpose began more than 1,500 years ago in France, when French peasants prayed

The Top Ten Breeds: Cocker Spaniel

The popularity of Cocker Spaniels is on the rise again.

More than 36,000 were enrolled in the American Kennel Club's Stud Book last year, ranking them 9th highest among the 121 breeds in the annual AKC registration tally. The year before, Cockers were 10th highest.

Why so popular? Cockers are great "home bodies," with a lively, affectionate personality. They are capable hunters and retrievers, excelling at flushing game birds from cover.

Also, they are small dogs, adaptable to either city or country life styles, and they come in a pleasing variety of colors.

The cocker is the smallest of the Sporting Dogs: for show standards, 15 1/2 inches or under at the shoulder for males and one inch less for females; smaller than English Cockers.

According to the breed's official history developed by the American Spaniel Club, the spaniel family is a large and old one.

Background Notes

As far back as 1368 there is mention of the "Spaniell" in England which became divided into two groups, the land spaniel and the water spaniel. In time, the land variety was divided on the basis of size, separating the "cockers" and very small or "toy" spaniels from the larger ones.

Later, as those two smaller varieties of cockers and toys became used for quite different purposes, they again were divided.

The toys became the English Toy Spaniels. Their owners prized them chiefly as pets or "comforters." The Cockers, however, were maintained in their original use as a sporting dog.

The breed went through a variety of names during its early history. Among those were "cocker" and "cocking spaniel." Finally, it became as we know it today, the Cocker Spaniel.

According to some authorities, that name derived from the dog's special skill at flushing woodcock.

If you're calorie conscious (and an estimated 40% of adults are), then you should know that vegetables are not only high in nutrition but also tend to be low in calories. Without added butter or sauces, many vegetables supply fewer than 50 calories per serving -- few more than 100. For example, a 1/2 cup serving of cut green beans, broccoli spears, cauliflower, spinach, or zucchini squash contributes only about 25 calories.

Do children really dislike vegetables? Chances are they do if their parents do. Nowhere is the old adage "Do as I do, not as I say" more important than in establishing good eating habits in children. Some ideas for making vegetables more appealing: serve a wide variety, prepare in interesting ways, serve raw or in salads, have different shapes and colors, cook only under tender-crisp.

Nursing Home News
by Myrtle Guinn

Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Smith of Hale Center came to see Mrs. Mattie Duke on Wednesday. They are Mrs. Duke's nephew and niece.

Mrs. Lee Hardy of Sudan came Monday to see her mother, Mrs. Fulcher. Mrs. Fulcher is especially well to be 101 years of age.

Mrs. Bertie Thompson of Phoenix is still here visiting her mother, Mrs. Perry, whose condition remains about the same each day.

Mrs. Vivian comes to see her mother nearly every day, Mrs. Harris. While here she sometimes visits with me for a while.

Mrs. Sein was moved back to the west hall in room 80. Her daughter, Mrs. Nan Gatlin, comes each day to help her with her meals.

Mrs. Penny Malone had business in Progress Thursday and asked Mrs. Brown, Mr. Kube and Mrs. Guinn along for the ride.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Twaddell came Sunday morning and took her mother, Mrs. Brown, out to dinner.

Several members of the Church of Christ came Sunday afternoon to sing for us and their minister, Royce Clay, read from the Bible and talked about what he read. We did enjoy their being here.

Children from one of the Baptist churches and their leaders also came and sang songs and played the piano. We did enjoy both groups.

Mrs. Mamie Miller was taken by ambulance to Lubbock's Methodist Hospital for tests and treatment. We trust she will soon be feeling much better. Her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. O'Hair of Bovina accompanied her there.

Mr. McKennis is a new resident here in the home. We hope he will feel at home here with us.

Mrs. Lewis seems to feel much better though she still isn't very well and unable to walk.

Mrs. Ellen Spence came Monday afternoon and took me with her to the First United Methodist Church recreation room where the Senior Citizens met for a meeting. We were entertained by Rev. Hunter of the Assembly of God Church and two of his friends who played the piano and other musical instruments. Rev. Hunter sang several songs. Refreshments of coffee, punch, little cakes and sandwiches were served to us by a group of ladies. We enjoyed it all.

Mrs. Hardin's son, Mr. Hardin, of Memphis visited her on Tuesday afternoon. Her daughter, Gladys, also came.

Mr. Odis Epperly visited his mother, Mrs. Epperly, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Engram of Chicago, Illinois visited Miss Marie Engram on Thursday. They are second cousins of Marie's.

Mrs. Stephenson came Thursday to see her mother, Mrs. Nicholson.

This is the beginning of another spring month and our thoughts go to Mothers' Day which will be soon. Every day should be Mothers' Day in our hearts with love and a deep respect for her and the pleasure she has made in our lives. The following, which I read and clipped years ago, still applies to our love and deep respect for her. It follows: "The world is full of folks, but none quite like her; the first friend, truest, kindest, staunchest -- all these she has been and more. Nothing is too hard for her to undertake; no burden comes but she wishes to share; Our joys are her joys, our sorrows are her sorrows. Though we had no learning, her example would teach us. Did none tell us of friendship and love, we would have seen its glory reflected in her eyes. Though non spoke of God, her presence would have told us that he was near. The world is full of people, but none like our mother." by Ethel J. Bradbury.

Committees reporting included the Founder's Day Banquet, Mother's Day, Scrapbook, Woman of the Year, Girl of the Year and Husband of the Year. The end of the year party will be held May 27 with the revelation of secret sisters. $1,000,000 HOSPITAL GRANT AVAILABLE AS MATCHING FUNDS

The Hospital Committee must raise $1,000,000 to be eligible for an Economic Development Administration matching funds grant of $1,000,000 for the construction of a new hospital and remodeling of the old hospital for a doctor's clinic.

TO RAISE OUR $1,000,000

A $600,000 Farmer's Home Administration loan to be repaid by hospital revenue is available.

$400,000 cash must be raised by the Hospital Action Committee of which $125,000 is in hand.

The balance of $275,000 must be raised in cash or in pledges converted to notes of which the local banks can advance 80% in accordance with banking regulations.

All Hospital Action Committee members and Hospital Board members urged those who have made pledges to stop by Muleshoe State Bank or First National Bank and;

- 1. Pay pledges in full if possible. Every dollar given is equivalent to two dollars with matching funds.*
- 2. Pay in cash as much of pledges as possible and sign notes for balance.*
- 3. Sign note for the amount of pledges.*

Two additional doctors have been added to the hospital staff on the strength of a new hospital and no problems are anticipated in this area.

Hospital Board members advise that the $275,000 for matching funds be raised as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Smith of Hale Center came to see Mrs. Mattie Duke on Wednesday. They are Mrs. Duke's nephew and niece.

Mrs. Lee Hardy of Sudan came Monday to see her mother, Mrs. Fulcher. Mrs. Fulcher is especially well to be 101 years of age.

Mrs. Bertie Thompson of Phoenix is still here visiting her mother, Mrs. Perry, whose condition remains about the same each day.

Mrs. Vivian comes to see her mother nearly every day, Mrs. Harris. While here she sometimes visits with me for a while.

Mrs. Sein was moved back to the west hall in room 80. Her daughter, Mrs. Nan Gatlin, comes each day to help her with her meals.

Mrs. Penny Malone had business in Progress Thursday and asked Mrs. Brown, Mr. Kube and Mrs. Guinn along for the ride.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Twaddell came Sunday morning and took her mother, Mrs. Brown, out to dinner.

Several members of the Church of Christ came Sunday afternoon to sing for us and their minister, Royce Clay, read from the Bible and talked about what he read. We did enjoy their being here.

Children from one of the Baptist churches and their leaders also came and sang songs and played the piano. We did enjoy both groups.

Mrs. Mamie Miller was taken by ambulance to Lubbock's Methodist Hospital for tests and treatment. We trust she will soon be feeling much better. Her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. O'Hair of Bovina accompanied her there.

Mr. McKennis is a new resident here in the home. We hope he will feel at home here with us.

Mrs. Lewis seems to feel much better though she still isn't very well and unable to walk.

Mrs. Ellen Spence came Monday afternoon and took me with her to the First United Methodist Church recreation room where the Senior Citizens met for a meeting. We were entertained by Rev. Hunter of the Assembly of God Church and two of his friends who played the piano and other musical instruments. Rev. Hunter sang several songs. Refreshments of coffee, punch, little cakes and sandwiches were served to us by a group of ladies. We enjoyed it all.

Mrs. Hardin's son, Mr. Hardin, of Memphis visited her on Tuesday afternoon. Her daughter, Gladys, also came.

Mr. Odis Epperly visited his mother, Mrs. Epperly, Sunday.

Most young children, teenagers, and women under 55 lack sufficient iron in their diets. It is difficult to get the amount needed in our diets, but dark green vegetables can help. They provide worthwhile amounts of iron as well as other minerals and B-vitamins. In fact, dark green vegetables contribute so much in the way of nutrition, a serving every day is a good idea.

States Unite To Boost Export Sales

AUSTIN—The Southern United States Trade Association (SUSTA), an organization of 15 states to increase sales of food and fiber to foreign nations, opened its office in New Orleans recently.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, SUSTA vice president, participated in the opening day ceremonies. White will assume the presidency in June.

"Through SUSTA, we in Texas and other member states have an opportunity to sell more of our agricultural products to customers overseas," White said. "The offices are located in the International Trade Mart, one of the most active export centers in the country," White said.

"SUSTA will also be working within the U.S. to improve the marketing programs of the member states. It is an ambitious program which, I think, can aid our state's farmers and ranchers to find new markets and, at the same time, help our nation in its balance of payments," White explained.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Money By Mistake

Martin took a $37.50 check to the bank to be cashed. But the teller, absentmindedly overlooking the decimal point, counted out $3,750. Martin accepted the money without a word and went home rejoicing.

But his joy did not last long. The bank discovered the mistake, reclaimed the money, and then had Martin arrested on a charge of larceny.

At the trial, he pleaded not guilty.

"It was their error, not mine," he reasoned. "They gave me that money of their own tree will."

Nevertheless, the court ruled that Martin was indeed guilty of larceny. The court said he committed the crime by taking money that he knew wasn't his, fully intending to keep it.

Courts generally agree. In the view of the law, an accidental overpayment is supposed to be handed back at once.

But what if Martin had accepted the money in all innocence, not discovering the error until he got home? If he decided at that point to keep it, would he be guilty of larceny?

Many courts say no, although he would probably be guilty of a lesser offense. As one judge explained, larceny technically involves a dishonest purpose at the very moment of taking.

Not is it larceny if someone takes another person's property under the mistaken—but reasonable—belief that he has a legal right to do so.

That kind of a case arose when a landlady noticed that one of her roomers had spilled ink on a carpet. To make sure he would pay for cleaning the carpet, she took a watch out of his room as security.

As a matter of law, she had no claim on the watch. But when the roomer had her haled into court on a charge of larceny, the judge found her not guilty. The judge said she had acted in good faith, without the slightest intention of keeping the watch for herself.

Library News
By Anne Camp

By Anne Camp

Now that the dust has sort of settled, we look back on a very busy and successful Library Week. We would like to thank all who helped to make it a success. Special thanks go to the news media for the splendid news coverage, to the Muleshoe Study Club who sponsored our Library Family of the Year and the Book Sale, to the history class and Mrs. Watson for the display of old school houses, and to Bernice Bynum for the display and demonstration during the Senior Citizens visit.

I understand the Study Club did very well on the used book sale, and I hope everyone enjoyed visiting the library during the week.

Holly Ann Millsap attended a one day workshop in Lubbock on reference and encyclopedias and brought back several valuable books, one Granger's Index to Poetry will be invaluable to locating a poem.

Recent memorials to the Library include the following:

Given in memory of John A. Adams by the Vance Wagon family.

Given in memory of J.D. Kelly by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Spears.

For Grace Blanche Harmon by Mrs. Mary W. Farley.

For Walter S. Barlow by the Ted Millsap family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Young and Mr. and Mrs. Bernis Camp.

For Howard Splawn by the Barry T. Lewis family, Dewey and Judy Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Millsap, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Young.

For Joe Dan Jones by Mr. and Mrs. Jeri Wiedebush, Charles and Tommie Bratcher and family, Anne and Bernis Camp and Ted and Holly Millsap.

TEXAS TALK

by RAY DAVIS

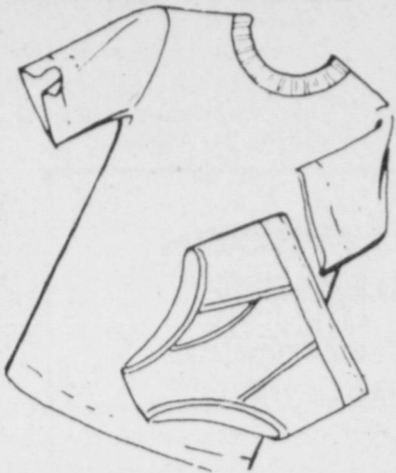

Two major classes of sorghum are grown in the United States. Sweet Sorghum or Sorgo accounts for about 20% of the crop and is grown for forage, silage and sorghum (often called cane) syrup. The vast majority of the crop is grain sorghum. Although grain sorghum is grown predominantly for the grain, it also acts as a dual purpose plant with stalks commonly used as forage or silage. Experts don't always agree on world sorghum production but they generally acknowledge that at least 125 million acres are now used for planting sorghum crops. Use of sorghum as a food grain in China, Africa and India ranks sorghum with corn as a contender for the third most important food grain in the world (behind wheat and rice). All estimates are not yet in for this year's acreage in grain sorghum, but indications are, although local areas may show some increase, the national crop could be reduced as much as 5 percent.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Mosquitoes, those blood-sucking parasites that make life a misery for animals and mankind, have parasites of their own! And it's to the enemies of the mosquito that entomologists are looking for help in controlling these pests. Insecticides alone can't do the job; in the last few years some species of mosquitoes have developed resistance. In many places, larger and larger doses of insecticide give less and less control.

This resistance, plus widespread concern for the safety of our environment, has emphasized the need for a variety of control methods. The biological approach to mosquito control offers great hope. It uses parasites, pathogens (disease) and predators to reduce mosquito populations to tolerable levels.

Entomologists with the Experiment Station say pathogens look especially promising as one answer to mosquito-related problems in Texas. Dr. Jim Olson, project leader for mosquito research, says there are a large number of pathogenic agents, discovered by scientists throughout the world, that show promise as mosquito control agents.

Among these agents, those that belong to the nematode (round worms), fungi and protozoa (single-celled animals) groups have received the most intensive study. This is because of their frequency of occurrence in natural mosquito populations and because of their demonstrated deadliness to mosquitoes under laboratory conditions.

Olson and his associates have been studying one such protozoan which parasitizes the immature stages of the yellow fever mosquito (Aedes aegypti). The parasite doesn't kill the yellow fever mosquito, but when the immature or "larvae" of other mosquito species are exposed to this parasite, it often results in a high rate of death. Some of these mosquito species are very important because they serve as vectors (carriers) of disease in Texas.

"We don't want to leave any false impressions," Olson cautioned, "that we have mosquitoes whipped. Even though the results of our preliminary investigations of this parasite look promising, we are a long way from applying this parasite to the control of mosquitoes on a large-scale basis. Many mosquito parasites look good in the protected environment of the laboratory. However, when these same parasites are subjected to the rigors of nature, their effectiveness as mosquito control agents may fall far below expectations."

So, scientists must investigate not only whether a parasite can effectively control mosquitoes in the laboratory, but also they must determine the natural factors that may limit or even eliminate the effectiveness of the parasite.

"Confinement of mosquito larvae (immature stage) in close proximity to the infective stages of the parasite appears to be one of the important conditions for effectiveness," states Olson.

"Of the 79 mosquito species known to occur in Texas, several pass their larval stages in more or less confined habitats. These habitats include everything from old tin cans to crab holes, tree holes and rock pools along rivers and creeks. On the basis of confinement, these mosquito species would be the ones that we would look to first in terms of using parasite control," says Olson.

"Resistance of some mosquitoes to infection by a parasite is also a problem. In the case of the protozoan that we are investigating, we have found some mosquito species that can resist infections even under confined laboratory conditions.

"Thus, we either have to figure out how to compromise this resistance or just accept the fact that we cannot use the parasite for the control of these particular species. Failure of a given pathogen to work in some cases is a fact of life that scientists must learn to live with. When this happens, you use the parasite where it will work and look for other parasites or other control methods that are effective in cases where your parasite doesn't work.

"The use of parasites in future mosquito control work shows a great deal of promise; however, the limitations to this approach must be recognized and accepted. I doubt there will be very many cases where mosquito populations are totally eliminated as the result of using parasites alone. Even when a parasite is effective, there are some mosquitoes that escape death.

"Hence, the biological approach to mosquito control will need to be carefully and strategically blended with other approaches into integrated mosquito control programs. This will insure the continuous suppression of mosquito populations to levels that can be tolerated by man in terms of his and his animals' health.

ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

LONGING

To every child there comes a time when they begin to wonder... Where did I come from? Who made the trees? Who made the mountains? EVERYONE has a desire to know their creator.

"O GOD, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee..."

This longing for knowledge of God should be satisfied at an early age.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

Plan NOW to attend church with your family.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

HEADACHES AT DFW
The Dallas/Fort Worth Airport will cost $800 million. When the Atlanta International Airport opened ten years ago, it made Georgia the gateway to the South and the money poured into Atlanta. The Dallas/Fort Worth Airport hasn't brought any boom yet; instead it may be a potential financial bust.

Five years ago, airport planners estimated that DFW would board almost 12 million passengers and handle 275,000 tons of cargo by 1975. Based

March Consumer Price Index

WASHINGTON -- The Consumer Price Index rose 0.4 percent in March to 157.8 (1967-100), the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

Prices rose for many non-food items, including automobiles, clothing, houses and medical care services. However, mortgage interest rates declined, and prices were lower for many foods, particularly beef, eggs and sugar.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the rise in the March CPI was 0.3 percent, continuing the declining trend in the rate of increase which began last fall. The March increase was the smallest since July 1973, when wage-price controls were in effect.

The food index declined 0.5 percent in March; the nonfood commodities index rose 0.6 percent, and the services index increased 0.4 percent. All these increases were well below the rates of increases prevailing in August and September 1974.

For the three months that ended in March, the CPI rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 6.6 percent. This compares with a 10.1 percent rate in the preceding calendar quarter and a 14.2 percent rate in the quarter that ended in September 1974. The slowdown in the CPI was largest in the food component.

The food index declined 0.5 percent, seasonally adjusted, in March, continuing the slowdown in evidence since last fall. For the three months that ended in March, the food index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.4 percent, compared with 14.6 percent in the preceding quarter.

A steady decline in beef prices since last September and declines in the first quarter for pork, poultry, dairy products, eggs and sugar contributed to the slowdown in food prices.

These declines partially offset price increases during the quarter for fresh fruits, bakery products and other products which contain sugar.

Prices of restaurant meals and snacks away from home also continued to rise.

The index for nonfood commodities rose 0.6 percent after seasonal adjustment in March, about the same as the average increase for the past five months but well below monthly increases earlier in 1974.

The services index rose 0.4 percent in March, compared with monthly increases of 0.8 to 0.9 percent in the preceding five months and a little more than one percent last summer.

In March 1975, the CPI was 10.3 percent higher than in March 1974. The food index rose 7.7 percent; the nonfood commodities index rose 11.4 percent, and the service index rose 11.0 percent from their March 1974 levels.
