Rotary Hears Program On Foundation

"Muleshoe has always been a good supporter of the Rotary Foundation," said Ed Self, chairperson for Rotary Foundation, when speaking at Rotary at noon Tuesday.

"November is Rotary Foundation Month and our goal is $100,000 for this District. Up until last year we averaged 41-50 percent of our goal. Last year we reached 96 percent of our goal, just a few thousand short of our goal. I am asking each one of you to become an Arch Clump and if you already are, make your wife an Arch Clump Awardee.

"Funding for various programs comes from donations. The best satisfaction we get is through giving. Every penny donated goes into the Rotary Foundation," Self continued.

David Tipps called the regular Rotary Club meeting to order. Dr. James Bell gave the invocation and Buck Campbell led the group in the pledge to the flag.

Terry Hutto led the group in singing "Vive le Rotary," and "Smile-Sing a Song."

Everyone was reminded of the Garage Sale being sponsored by MISD and the Golf Tournament being held in Clovis, N.M.

They were also reminded of the Rotary Foundation Dinner scheduled for Friday at 7 p.m. in Amarillo. Cost is $15.00 per person. There will also be a Rotary Foundation Seminar held in Amarillo on November 13 with a fee of $10.00.

The float for the Christmas Parade was discussed.

Visitors recognized included: Walter Hughes and Johnny Atkinson from the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club, and the press.

Dr. Bruce Purdy was the winner of the Polio Plus drawing.

Mules-Chieftains Close Out Season

It was a long cold, but exciting night Friday when the Muleshoe Mules and the Friona Chieftains played their final football game of the season on the Chieftains home field. The Mules played a better game than the scoreboard reflected. The Chieftains defeated the Mules 35 to 21. Bad breaks and penalties were the Mules downfall. They had one touchdown called back due to a penalty being called down field.

The Chieftains received the opening kick off and put the ball into play on their own 45 yard line. The Chieftains picked up a first down and four plays later the Mules took over on downs. The Mules were unable to move the ball and were forced to punt it away.

Putting the ball into play on their won 34 yard line, the Chieftains picked up their second first down and with 7:54 left in the quarter the Mules took over on downs.

Muleshoe picked up three-first downs and at the end of the first quarter neither team had scored. The first play in the second quarter, Pedro Nunez kicked a 29 yard field goal putting the Mules on top 3-0 on the scoreboard.

The Mules kicked to the Chieftains, and once more the Mules stubborn defense held the Chieftains and they were forced to punt back to the Mules.

On their next possession of the ball, the Mules picked up two-first downs and had the ball down to the Chieftains 15 yard line when they turned the ball over on downs.

On the Chieftains second play, they fumbled the ball and a Mule recovered it on Friona's 11 yard line. The Mules made a touchdown, but it was called back due to a penalty being called down field. Three plays later the Mules fumbled the ball and the Chieftains came up with it.

The Chieftains picked up two-first downs before turning the ball over on downs.

Three plays later, a Chieftains intercepted a Mule pass. Not to be out done, a Mule intercepted a Chieftains pass on the next play.

The Mules picked up two-first downs before Friona intercepted a Mule pass in the endzone and raced

Something New Added To Parade, Lights

Electrical excitement in Muleshoe! That's right, the Muleshoe Christmas parade will be a bit different this year. The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture announced that the Christmas parade will be Saturday, December, 4 at 6:30 p.m.

They ask that all units be lighted. The more lights the better. This can be accomplished with the use of portable generators or batteries. So put on your thinking caps and help your club or organization build a lighted float for this unusual parade.

The theme for this year's Christmas parade is "Twas the Night Before Christmas".

There will be judges on Main Street to determine the winners of the following prizes:

First Place: for the Best Use of Lights--$100 from Muleshoe State Bank; Second Place: for the Best Use of Lights--$50 from Bratcher Motor Supply.

First Prize for the Best Representation of Theme--$100 from First Bank; Second Prize for the Best Representation of Theme--$50 from Bank of America.

All prizes will be in the form of gift certificates that are redeemable from any Chamber of Commerce member for merchandise or services.

Entries should be into the chamber office by December 1.

New Line Of Grain Sorghum Introduced

A new line of grain sorghum that will play as well in Timbuktu as Texas has been released to seed companies by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Within three years, there will be widespread planting of sorghum for grain and forage using this line," said Dr. Fred Miller, an Experiment Station scientist who has worked since 1979 to develop then line, A/BTx638.

Miller said the project sought to develop a line that would be adaptable to most sorghum-growing regions of the world. That helps seed companies reduce inventory costs since it is then unnecessary to stock numerous bags of planting seed intended for specific growing regions.

A/BTx638 is the female parent of hybrids that commercial seed companies will use in their seed production and breeding programs, Miller said. Advantages traits from this parents include short height, uniformity, resistance to anthracnose and brilliant red color that does not dull in weather.

"It also has superior tropical adaptation which is an advantage in South Texas," Miller added. "And it has drought tolerance as well which makes it suitable for the high plains."

"All of these qualities translate into an eight percent increase in yield depending on the producing area," he said.

The line is derived from a selection made in Guatemala in 1979. The breeding program continued from selections made on plants produced both in the highlands and coastal regions of Guatemala, then in Texas and Central America. Miller said the line's breeding history "shows the value of international collaboration and wide environmental exposure in the selection process."

The researcher said several companies already have requested seed to plant in Hawaii, Mexico and Puerto Rico to increase the planting seed availability. He predicts that planting seed will be on the market for farmers within two years.

For information about the new sorghum line, A/BTx638, contact Texas Foundation Seed, a unit of the Experiment Station, at (409) 845-4051.

Editorial

Hollings On TV Violence

Senator Ernest Hollings (D-SC) recently held the latest hearings, as chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, on excessive violence in U.S. commercial television.

The usual denials came from selfish-interest reps of the entertainment industry. But Hollings' hearings weren't the usual meaningless slap on the wrist.

The chairmen had the attorney general present to back up objections to glorified crime, violence and immorality--often without remorse--happy killing in other words! (Shock and horror attract viewers.)

Films have sold murder to the young and impressionable for decades. Indiscriminate shooting and killing, the more the merrier! Macho stuff!

The attorney general announced Congress had the constitutional authority to curb this ruinous commercialism. Hollings warned if producers and networks didn't clean up their act, Congress would--in months, not years. One hopes so, at least.

News From Congressman Larry Combest

Congress' New Year's Resolution

It is a new year for Congress. Each October 1, a new budget year begins with new spending. However, unlike families and businesses, Congress has merely voted itself an extension in its budget plans, an extension known as a "Continuing Resolution."

The "C-R" as it's known in legislative lingo, allows the federal government to continue spending although Congress has broken the law by not passing required budget legislation. Congress has failed to do the one thing it is supposed to do each year: set the fiscal priorities of the nation. In addition to missing the September 30 deadline, Congress is failing to do the one thing the taxpayers demand: cut spending first. For at least the next three weeks, Congress will sail along on last year's bloated budget.

Perhaps it should be no surprise that this blind spending should happen in Washington, D.C. where "contributions" actually mean taxes, "investment" means overspending and "cuts" actually mean not overspending quite as much.

I opposed almost every government agency budget because of their high spending levels. This past week, I voted against continuing this path of overspending permitted by a continuing resolution. Where else but in Congress can the day of financial reckoning be delayed? Certainly neither you nor I can decide for our own to grant ourselves an extension on our own bank loans. Families and businesses ignore budgeting at their own peril.

This congressional footdragging also delays any consideration of further spending cuts. Some members of Congress claimed they were promised consideration of more cuts in exchange for their votes for the Clinton tax plan two months ago. However, it seems that until an agency's budget becomes law, Congress cannot vote on specific cuts. List this one under the heading "Catch-22" or just "business-as-usual". I will not forget to ask about the promised spending cuts when the appropriations bills are finally passed.

In addition, raising the national debt ceiling--Congress' permission to spend the country even deeper into debt--was already tucked into the Clinton tax plan that I voted against. With all the talk about lowering the deficit, the vote raising the debt limit put Congress on record as expecting the accumulating deficit totals to increase by $530 billion in just two years. The accumulation of yearly deficits will push the debt to $4.9 trillion by 1995. The interest cost is crowding well beyond $300 billion each year.

Most people make New Year's resolutions with the intent to lose weight or to be on time. In the new budget year just begun, government should lose a little weight and Congress must learn to be on time with passing its budgets.

Get Back At Him
Mrs. Gray--And did you enjoy your camping trip, my dear?
Mrs. Young--It was the first chance I had to complain about my husband's cooking.

Lazbuddie Young Homemakers

Lazbuddie Young Homemakers held their monthly meeting on November 2, 1993 in the Home-Ec Room.

Our program for this month was crafts. LeShea Mason's grandmother, Marion Hodge from Earth, came to show us how to make dried flower arrangements in baskets. A big THANK YOU to her for taking the time to come and show us how to make them. Holly Russel and Sharli Crawford were the only ones brave enough to make the baskets and they looked really neat.

The Young Homemakers hosted the Fall Festival and Costume Contest on October 30 at the Lazbuddie School. This was fun for all who attended.

We also decided to make a donation to the Russell Redwine Scholarship Fund at Lazbuddie in memory of his mother Charlotte Redwine.

We have already sold all of our pecans that we ordered a couple of weeks ago. But we have ordered some more and they will be in some time next week. If you would like some they are $5.00 for a 1 pound bag. Please contact Jana St. Clair at 925-6767 or Netta Haney at 965-2883 or any other Young Homemaker.

Those attending the meeting for this month were: Sherrie Richards, Holly Russell, LeShea Mason, Janet Thorn, Cassie Bradley, Terri Smith, Tonjua Scisson, Mary Jo Schacher, Sharli Crawford, Netta Haney, Sherrie Nichols, Jana St. Clair, and Barbara Lust.

Microwave Tips

Remember that an egg yolk cooks faster in a microwave than the white.

When the two are blended, the eggs cook uniformly. This difference is because the egg yolk, dense, attracts microwave energy.

Dense, heavy foods always take longer to microwave than more porous foods.

Rumors are often an effort by one person to destroy the popularity of another.

Each year the football season succeeds in making fools out of adults.

M.D. Anderson Develops Blood Test For Leukemia

Researchers at The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center have developed a blood test for detecting certain types of adult leukemias.

The advantage of this test is that it requires only blood, not bone marrow, and is less painful and expensive than a traditional bone marrow test. It identifies the BCR-ABL protein present in leukemic blood cells that also have the Philadelphia chromosome. About one-fifth of all leukemias contain the Philadelphia chromosome, an abnormality found when genetic information is exchanged between chromosomes 9 and 22.

"This method provides the physician with another means to diagnose this leukemia besides the widely used Philadelphia chromosome cytogenetic test. The cytogenetic test requires a sample of bone marrow, which is usually taken from the hip bone," said Dr. Ralph B. Arlinghaus, chairman of M.D. Anderson's Department of Molecular Pathology. Dr. Arlinghaus led the development of the blood test.

M.D. Anderson's Department of Molecular Pathology established a screening laboratory to conduct the test on a broad basis. During the three years, the test has been used to examine more than 2,500 blood samples and has validated more than 1,500 cases of chronic myelogenous leukemia (CML). The Philadelphia chromosome is common (95 percent) in patients with CML, which usually occurs in individuals between 30 and 50 years old.

Through 1993, the procedure is available to physicians without charge. Beginning in 1994, the test will be offered on a non-profit basis for a fee to cover costs.

Sandhill Cranes Flock To National Wildlife Refuge

Over 6,000 sandhill cranes are presently at the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge and others are continuing to arrive. All crane use is at Paul's Lake since the other refuge lakes are dry.

The majority of the cranes leave the refuge at daybreak each day often flying several miles to feed in the fields. They begin returning to the refuge throughout the evening until dark.

Although hunting is not allowed on the refuge, sandhill crane hunting permits are again being issued at the refuge office this year. State hunting licenses are not available at the refuge.

Crane hunters are required to have the federal crane hunting permit in addition to the state hunting license. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. There is no charge for the permit. Hunters may also call the refuge office at 946-3341 and have the permit mailed to them and messages may be left on the phone recorder.

The sandhill crane season for this area, Zone A, is November 13 through February 13. The daily bag limit is three and the possession limit is six.

Ophthalmologists Lead The Way Against Misleading Claims By Pinhole Eyeglass Manufacturers

More than two years ago, the American Academy of Ophthalmology warned the public about misleading claims made by some marketers of pinhole glasses--eyeglasses with opaque lenses that have multiple holes in them. Today, the Federal Trade Commission announced a proposed settlement in cases against individuals and companies that marketed pinhole glasses as a cure for vision disorders, including nearsightedness, farsightedness and astigmatism.

"The FTC's investigation reminds us that some individuals are still promoting pinhole glasses as an all-purpose vision cure," said H. Dunbar Hoskins Jr., MD, executive vice president of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the world's largest organization of eye physicians and surgeons. "Consumers need to remember there is no scientific evidence that use of these glasses permanently improves vision." According to an FTC news release, three companies and five individuals agreed to settle FTC charges that they made false and unsubstantiated claims about the vision improvement benefits of pinhole glasses, which are devices used by ophthalmologists to help diagnose certain types of corneal disease. The proposed settlements would prohibit the defendants from making unsubstantiated claims about the benefits and performance of any vision-related program or other medical devices in the future. Two of the companies have agreed to provide refunds to consumers who purchased pinhole glasses from them.

The American Academy of Ophthalmology issued a news release two years refuting similar claims about pinhole glasses. Contrary to many of the claims that have been made, pinhole glasses are not practical for daily use. They dim vision and restrict the field of view.

Other misleading claims found in some advertisements include:

The eyeball is a muscle. The eyeball is a collagen sphere containing vitreous fluid. The muscles attached to the outside are not involved in focusing. The iris muscle controls the amount of light on the retina, but does not focus the light.

Wearing prescription glasses weakens the eyes. Eyes are neither strengthened nor weakened by glasses. The one exception is in children with crossed eyes (strabismus) or lazy eye (amblyopia), where glasses may straighten the eyes and preserve vision.

Strain to the eyes causes permanent deterioration of vision. Using your eyes will not damage them, whether or not you are wearing glasses. If your vision blurs or your eyes tire easily, you should see an ophthalmologist.

Pinhole glasses are useful as sunglasses. Pinhole glasses reduce the amount of light entering the eye, but do not selectively block ultraviolet rays, which can permanently scar the retina. The dimming effects of the glasses can cause the iris to dilate, letting in more potentially harmful ultraviolet rays.

People with nearsightedness, farsightedness, or astigmatism may temporarily see more clearly only while wearing the pinhole glasses. However, if vision does not improve while looking through the pinholes, eye disease may be present, indicating the need to see an ophthalmologist.

News From Congressman Larry Combest

The air above southwestern Public Service's (SPS) Nichols Station generating plant is clean, but U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) said the government's Clean Air Act is burdening the plant and its customers with a clearly unnecessary requirement. When Congress approved the 1990 Clean Air Act, 401 to 25, the only Texans voting against the cumbersome and costly regulations were Combest and Congressmen Dick Arney and Tom DeLay.

In comments to reporters at the plant, Combest made reference to the environmental monitoring equipment in the nearby control room which must be replaced at a $12 million cost to SPS and its customers.

"The irony is the waste because the Clean Air Act requires $12 million in new air monitoring that does absolutely nothing to improve an already clean climate the plant operates around, Amarillo," said Combest. "As so often is the case with laws having nice-sounding names, the Clean Air Act burdens businesses and their customers with laws that spool out ribbons and ribbons of red tape and regulation."

In addition to the $133 million of environmental protection equipment already installed by SPS, the Clean Air Act has also added additional direct costs,

According to SPS, its customers have had to shoulder the costs of a 2,000 percent increase in fees to regulatory agencies from the time the 1990 Clean Air Act passed. Those fees have increased from $40,000 in 1990 to $800,000 this year.

"The closest thing to eternal life on earth is a federal regulation," said Combest. "Like the vampires of Halloween, this one will continue feeding off the families and jobs in the private sector, as it costs electric customers millions just to watch your money go up without smoke."

If you are wise, laugh. -Martial.

Altrusa Club Sponsors Luncheon And Fashion Show

Funds raised by the 1992 Fashion Holiday scholarship benefit provided tuition costs for three students to attend Clovis Community College. Come "Home for the Holidays" and enjoy the second annual Fashion Holiday style show and luncheon Sunday, Nov. 7, 1993 to benefit the CCC scholarship fund. The Altrusa Club of Clovis is sponsoring the event which will feature a luncheon catered by Riccardi's Restaurant and a holiday fashion show with apparel for men, women, and children.

The luncheon and style show will be held on the CCC campus in the Commons and Town Hall. Doors will open at 12:30 p.m., and serving will begin approximately 15 minutes later. Seating for the luncheon is limited, and only 200 advance tickets will be sold. No tickets will be available at the door. Tickets at $12.50 per person are on sale at the CCC Business Office, from Altrusa members, and the six participating stores. Pam Atherton will be mistress of ceremonies for the fashion show presented by Queens 'n Teens, Pa'nache, Edwards Quality Men's Wear, Xtra Special, Anthony's, and Freeman's Bridal and Formal Wear. Each store will provide a door prize. Riccardi's Restaurant will cater the meal and serve an entree of Italian Chicken Parmesan accompanied by salad, pasta, rolls, Italian green beans, and cobbler.

A variety of musicians and other performers have volunteered their talents to the afternoon activities. Flute, clarinet and saxophone ensembles from Eastern New Mexico University will provide background music for the luncheon, and a clarinet duo, Sara Slater and Jennifer Lasley, will also perform during the fashion show. Other entertainment during the fashion show will include vocal selections by Tom Harlan, Micah Justus, and Aaron Ratledge; Cricket Hamar and Shawn Pipkin, dancers; and Michelle Dunn, baton twirler.

In the past year, approximately $25,000 in scholarship monies have been donated by individuals and service clubs in the 50-mile radius area served by CCC; and through projects sponsored by campus advisory councils, and other miscellaneous local contributions. That amount of money would provide tuition funds for approximately 100 students. For additional information, call the Public Information Office, 769-4002.

Safe Brands Introduces Safer Antifreeze-Sierra

A new type of automotive antifreeze being introduced nationwide this month offers consumers a high-performance, safer alternative to toxic conventional antifreeze formulas.

Made with propylene glycol (PG), new SIERRA® Antifreeze and Coolant is phosphate-free and essentially non-toxic. SIERRA® is produced and marketed by Safe Brands Corporation of Omaha, Neb.

SIERRA® Antifreeze's performance is comparable to conventional antifreeze formulas containing ethylene glycol (EG), a toxic ingredient that is hazardous to children, pets and wildlife in the environment. Unlike ethylene glycol, propylene glycol is classified as "Generally Recognized As Safe" (GRAS) by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and is an ingredient in many consumer products including cosmetics, medicines, snack food and pet food.

"The national introduction of SIERRA® follows two years of test marketing, during which we established the increasing consumer demand for safer high performance automotive products," said Joel Adamson, director of marketing for Safe Brands. "Test market results in Washington, Maine, Idaho and Wisconsin indicate that consumers are willing to pay $1.00 to $1.50 more a gallon for the safety advantages SIERRA® offers all year long—that's less than a penny a day for the average car owner. During SIERRA's introductory period, Safe Brands is offering a $3.00 rebate for a two gallon purchase."

Animals appear to be attracted to EG-based antifreeze because of its taste. One teaspoon of EG antifreeze can cause a cat's death, less than two ounces is enough to kill a dog, and as little as two tablespoons can be hazardous to a small child. In 1991, according to the annual report of the American Association of Poison Control Centers, 3,209 people were poisoned by EG antifreeze—713 of whom were children under the age of six. A Colorado State University Veterinary Teaching Hospital study revealed that approximately 50 percent of all poisoning deaths of dogs and cats are caused by accidental consumption of EG antifreeze.

As part of an effort to educate consumers about the dangers of EG antifreeze to pets, Safe Brands has produced an informational brochure that provides tips on how to prevent thousands of needless pet

Delbert Hyman Services Held Saturday

Graveside services for Delbert Hyman, 88, of Morton were held at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, with Rev. Gordon Renshaw officiating.

Burial will be in Olton Cemetery, under direction of Ellis Funeral Home, Morton.

Hyman died November 4, 1993 at 5:40 a.m. at Methodist Hospital in Levelland.

He was born September 10, 1905 in Bulcher, TX. He married Eula Ball on December 13, 1929 in Pauls Valley, OK.

Hyman had been a resident of Morton, TX since 1985, moving from Phoenix, AZ. He had worked as a roughneck in the oil fields around Kermit, TX., retiring in 1962. He was a member of the Methodist Church at Bulcher, TX. He had previously farmed in the Olton area and had also been a fireman in Clovis, NM. For the past several years, he and his wife, Eula have shared life together in Morton Nursing Home.

Survivors include his wife, Eula Hyman of Morton; two sons, J.D. Joe Hyman of Morton, and Don Kenneth Hyman of Monahans, TX; one daughter, Barbara Clark of Gilbert, AZ; three brothers, Elbert Hyman of Olton, TX, Kirby Hyman of Olton, TX and Rual Hyman of Denton, TX; five grandchildren; five step-grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren; and four step great-grandchildren.

deaths each year caused by conventional antifreeze poisoning. The brochure also recommends that consumers handle SIERRA® antifreeze carefully and dispose of it properly. Consumers may obtain a free copy of the SIERRA® pet brochure or specific information about the new product by writing to Safe Brands Corporation, P.O. Box 3007, Omaha, NE 68103.

To emphasize its commitment to better care for human and animal life, Safe Brands will donate a portion of its profits to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the National Wildlife Federation. Between September 1, 1993 and January 8, 1994, consumers can choose to have their $3.00 rebate donated to one of these organizations.

Before introducing SIERRA® to the marketplace, Safe Brands measured SIERRA's performance in the automotive industry's most grueling performance and corrosion tests.

PG-based SIERRA is installed just like conventional antifreeze. A 50/50 mixture of SIERRA and water will protect a car's engine to -26° F, more than enough protection for most regions of the country. Additional protection can be obtained by increasing the concentration of SIERRA®. Though fully compatible with EG-based coolants, SIERRA's toxicity advantages are lost when mixed with conventional antifreeze. SIERRA also is biodegradable and readily degrades in activated treatment systems.

Quiet, to quick bosoms, is a hell.

PROGRESS

Progress is on the march. There is a great boom in building. Cures are being found for maladies that have killed mankind for centuries. Industry is doing magnificent things. But what sort of progress is being made in human relations—this term that includes respect for the person and property of others and good will among men.

There is one agency striving for progress in this field. This agency is the church. At the birth of Jesus Christ, the following prophesy and promise was given to mankind by a host of angels: "Glory to God in the Highest Heaven! Peace upon earth among men of goodwill!" Luke 2:14. (Phillips translation). Only when the majority of men on earth are men of goodwill, will we have peace.

Attend church this week and align yourself with the forces of God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Financial Credit: Baffling To You?

(NAPS)—Here's encouraging news: A strong educational effort is being made to target consumers who may be baffled by certain credit offers.

Companies such as AT&T Universal Card Services, realizing their business health is affected by the awareness level of consumers, are funding many such programs with help from the National Coalition for Consumer Education.

The Cambodian Family of Santa Ana, a California based social services agency, is an example. Its clients arrive in the United States from a Communist system. In their experience, the government limits what money can do. Accordingly, the Cambodian Family is implementing an educational program of basic money management skills and credit. It shows what it takes to maintain a budget. What are a person's obligations when paying interest rates? How to spot fraudulent promises? What are the debtor's rights when entering credit agreements? The goal of all such programs, no matter the audience, is preventing potential problems and clearly communicating credit's benefits. The information shared is valuable not only to specially-challenged groups—it could help any consumer who has ever signed a credit agreement he only fuzzily understands. Consumers can also get credit management information outside a classroom. BankCard Holders of America, a national non-profit consumer group, has some 20 pamphlets available. Each covers a different topic to assist consumers with credit management needs. For a free resource list call BankCard Holders of America at 703-481-1110.

Parts Plus Autostores Hold Sweepstakes

Parts Plus/AAAD is holding its National Car Care Month Sweepstakes in October, according to Alan Hunsaker, Vice President of Marketing at Parts Plus.

"This truly is an exciting promotion, and offering it during National Car Care Month emphasizes our commitment to vehicle maintenance," Mr. Hunsaker stated.

Customers can register at all Parts Plus Autostores during October, and are eligible to win one of two Grand Prize Fishing Rigs, which include a 1994 Chevy S10-Extended Cab Truck, and a fully equipped Ranger R70 Bass boat and trailer.

Parts Plus is also awarding 80 Second Prize Camping Rigs, which include Nelson Cabin Tents, Casio compass watches, Coleman campstoves and lanterns, Wenzel sleeping bags, and BASS tackle equipment.

"National Car Care Month is a nationwide program, designed to alert consumers about proper preventative maintenance procedures that prepare automobiles for winter driving months," Mr. Hunsaker explained.

In conjunction with the sweepstakes, participating Parts Plus Autostores are sponsoring Safety Check Lanes during National Car Care Month. Trained technicians will inspect automobiles for potential safety and operational problems, and see that automobiles are ready for the hazardous winter driving months.

"We chose National Car Care Month for our Sweepstakes to promote awareness of vehicle maintenance benefits. We encourage all motorists to take advantage of this opportunity and enter the sweepstakes," Mr. Hunsaker said.

For more information on Parts Plus' National Car Care Month Sweepstakes, contact Parts Plus Headquarters: 5050 Poplar, Suite 2020, Memphis, TN 38157. (800) 727-8112.

Fall Season Brings Waterfowl, Sandhill Crane Migration

With the arrival of fall, comes the annual arrival of waterfowl and sandhill cranes into the High and Rolling Plains. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Waterfowl Biologist Jim Ray, of Amarillo, reports that blue-winged and cinnamon teal, have been arriving in unusually low numbers since mid-August, joining our resident breeding waterfowl population represented largely by mallards and blue-winged teal, as well as smaller numbers of eleven other species of ducks and of large Canada geese. "By mid-September," Ray said, "duck flocks normally begin to build with the arrival of additional blue-winged and cinnamon teal, as well as northern pintails, green-winged teal, mallards, gadwall and American wigeon; however, this buildup appears to be much behind that of recent years. Low numbers of ducks, thus far, are likely due to improved water conditions in the Northern Great Plains and a relatively mild fall thus far. Sandhill cranes normally begin arriving the last few days of September through the first ten days of October. Flocks of geese normally begin arriving in mid-to late-October with peak numbers arriving in November and December.

Ray said that the region is very important to migrating and wintering waterfowl in the Central Flyway. "The area is dotted with over 19,000 playa lakes, saline lakes and reservoirs, which serve as migrational stopovers and wintering areas for many species of shorebirds, waterfowl, sandhill cranes, as well as other migratory birds," said Ray. "Ducks are fond of seeds and invertebrates that are found in aquatic and moistsoil vegetated playas," Ray continued, "and ducks, geese and cranes find plenty of waste grains and peanuts, as well as winter wheat in surrounding fields. Depending on weather conditions, water availability, and other factors, such as production on the nesting grounds, the area winters up to two million ducks, up to one-half million sandhill cranes (90 percent of the mid-continent population) and between one-half and three-quarters of a million geese. "Our goose population has probably never done better than it has the last few years," Ray said, "and we should expect similar numbers this year as in recent years." "Maximum numbers of geese", Ray continued, "estimated at some key sites during the last few years were 163,000 (winter of 1991-1992) near Etter, 115,000 (90-'91) in the Santa Rosa Lake area near Vernon, 100,000 (92-'93) in and just outside of Lubbock, 71,000 (91-'92) at Lake Rita Blanca near Dalhart and 67,000 (90-'91) in the Winchester Lakes area near Knox City. These areas are very important and are phenomenal sights to see."

"Whereas most of our geese nest far enough north that the affects of man and drought are generally not a very big factor", Ray said, "ducks are another story." "Duck populations have suffered in response to wetland drainage and tillage of prime nesting habitat in the Northern Great Plains and then have been complicated by serious droughts over the last several years", Ray said. "The last three nesting seasons", Ray continued, "better water and upland habitat conditions in the Northern Great Plains are, perhaps, evidence that the current drought cycle is breaking. In fact, despite low numbers of breeding ducks observed during the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's breeding waterfowl surveys, reports are that late-season habitat conditions up there this year were the best in twenty years and that ducks responded with a good late-season nesting effort with a high rate of re-nesting occurring by hens that had earlier lost their nests. Current water conditions could set the stage for good production next year."

"We need to do our part here in Texas," Ray said, "and hopefully mother nature and our counterparts to the north will do the same. That is the way we're going to see abundant and healthy waterfowl populations now and in the future." For information or "hands on" help on how you can help waterfowl, wetlands or sandhill cranes in the Panhandle and Southern High Plains, please contact James D. Ray, Waterfowl Biologist, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 3409 S. Georgia, Suite 25, Amarillo, Texas, 79109, (806) 353-0486.

New Treatments Offering Dual Attack On Cancer

Biological therapy--a relatively new form of cancer therapy that boosts the body's own ability to kill cancer cells--has not proven very effective by itself except in a few types of cancer.

But in the past few years, physicians at The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center have combined biological therapy with chemotherapy, a standard regimen for many types of cancer, to treat several difficult cancers, including melanoma and kidney cancer.

"By combining chemotherapy and biological therapy, we offer a dual attack on cancer cells," said Dr. Sewa S. Legha, chief of the Melanoma Section in the Department of Melanoma/Sarcoma Medical Oncology. Dr. Legha refers to the new treatment combination as "biochemotherapy."

For example, Dr. Legha developed a biochemotherapy regimen for advanced melanoma that combines three different drugs with two different biologics. In a study of 63 patients, the new regimen showed a significantly improved response rate compared to either chemotherapy or biological therapy alone.

The combined treatment produced a complete response in 20 percent of patients. Typically, the complete response rate for advanced melanoma treatment is 5 percent to 10 percent.

News From the Baylor College of Medicine

"Hands-on experience" takes on new meaning for babies experimenting with finger foods, said a nutritionist at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center.

"Around 12 months of age, infants begin to develop the skills needed to pick up pieces of food, chew and swallow. During this stage, there is a real need to feel, see and smell the food," said Dr. Corinne Montandon, an assistant professor of nutrition at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Parents can take advantage of this dietary milestone and offer a variety of nutritious finger foods.

A typical selection can include cooked carrots, green peas, string beans, small chunks of banana, cheese, pieces of peeled pear, orange segments with the membrane removed, peeled apple wedges, graham cracker segments, oyster crackers, pieces of toast, unsweetened, dry cereal, and moist, finely chopped meats.

Finger foods should be cut into 1/4 - to 1/2 - inch pieces, about the size of the fruit in fruit cocktail, she said. Items this size are not likely to lodge in a child's throat.

Montandon encourages parents to experiment with different foods, offering a variety of textures, colors and flavors. However, serving portions should be kept to a minimum. A good rule of thumb is one tablespoon of food for each year of a child's age.

It is important that parents offer age-appropriate foods. Peanut butter, for example, can be very difficult to swallow and may cause a young child to choke. Montandon also cautions parents about foods that require a lot of chewing such as high-fiber breads, celery or pieces of steak.

Montandon believes children learn to eat what their parents feed them. She urges parents not to offer their tots sugary treats, fried foods, soft drinks or high-fat, high-salt fare such as French fries.

"Young children quickly fill up on liquids so serve milk at the end of the meal," she said. This is also an ideal age to let a baby practice drinking from a cup.

At some point, forks and spoons will become an issue. But for most young children, fingers remain the utensil of choice.

"Make the most of your child's adventures in eating. After all, first experiences with food can make lasting impressions," Montandon said.

Laughter has it springs in some kind of meanness or deformity. -Cicero.

Attorneys for televangelist face off in court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The stories of two fallen evangelists were aired in court as Jimmy Swaggart fought a judge's $6 million damage award to rival preacher Marvin Gorman.

A hearing Friday in state appeals court revisited the 1991 trial that pitted the two men against each other.

Gorman had claimed Swaggart lied and exaggerated about his adultery, costing him his fledgling TV ministry. In 1991, a jury agreed and a judge awarded $6 million to Marvin Gorman Ministries and $640,000 to Gorman.

Swaggart's lawyers asked the court to set aside the verdict, saying Gorman himself was to blame for the collapse of his ministry.

"We submit Marvin Gorman is libel-proof because of the statements he made himself," Phillip Whittmann argued Friday before a three-judge panel.

Gorman admitted to Swaggart in 1986 that he had one extramarital affair. He claims that Swaggart inflated that to hundreds of affairs, accused him of fathering children outside his marriage, misappropriating church funds and being possessed by an evil spirit.

Gorman said Swaggart conspired with others to spread the allegations.

Swaggart said he didn't libel Gorman and since his discussions of his fellow Assemblies of God minister were part of church proceedings, they are exempt from court scrutiny.

"When a statement is repeated over and over, it's not for church discipline, it's malicious," said Gorman lawyer Hunter Lundy.

The battle between the two led to Swaggart's dismissal by the Assemblies of God in 1988, several months after Gorman sent officials photographs showing Swaggart outside a motel with a prostitute in 1987.

Swaggart's insurance companies have argued that they should not be forced to pay the judgment.
