Auditorium Dream Nearer Reality

EDITOR'S NOTE— This is the second of a two-part article on the proposal of M.K. Brown Foundation trustees to provide Pampa with a municipal auditorium. The first part was published in Sunday's Pampa Daily News.

Trustees of the M.K. Brown Foundation have offered the city of Pampa a proposition in which it would make immediately available $400,000 to finance the building of a civic auditorium for Pampa along with pledged income from Foundation holdings to retire revenue bonds or warrants issued by the city in a sum needed to complete the structure.

The proposition would not entail any additional burden on taxpayers in the way of an increase in the city tax rate. Additional details of the proposal released in Sunday's Pampa News by Atty. William J. J. Smith, Foundation secretary-treasurer, follow.

"The Foundation has and will also pledge for the auditorium 600 shares of Community Hotel Co. of Pampa stock and $30,000 in hotel debentures.

"Such other property as the Foundation has, including about 24,000 shares of Southwestern Investment Co. stock, it will retain and use the income from the same for its other charitable activities, but at the end of ten years it is contemplated that this stock, too, and any other assets which the Foundation has, will also be applied to the retirement of the bonds and warrants issued for the erection of the municipal auditorium.

"It is the trustees' thought that if the City of Pampa would issue bonds, the assets mentioned would be used to retire those bonds with interest to the extent that it is necessary for that purpose."

Preliminary analysis of the proposal stacks it up to be one in which the bonds to be issued would be revenue bonds and would be retired by the Foundation income.

This would mean that the auditorium would bring no additional burden to Pampa taxpayers and no increase in the city tax rate.

The statement issued by the Foundation trustees points out that "there are certain legal obstacles which must be surmounted in connection with this matter, one of which is a ruling from the U.S. Treasury Department."

The trustees stated if the City of Pampa indicates that it tentatively accepts their proposition, the Foundation then will endeavor to obtain that ruling as soon as possible, and if the ruling is favorable, proceed to carry out its proposition and iron out with the city a contract in detail.

The statement of the Foundation trustees pointed out that the city would be expected to pay legal and architectural fees in connection with building the auditorium.

It was also made clear in the statement that the Foundation's gift and funds to retire revenue bonds or warrants would be contingent on the Foundation trustees' approval of the auditorium, site and approval of an acceptable contractor to build it.

In a conference with City Manager Charles Hill, City Attorney Bob Gordon and City Commissioner Hugh Burdette last Friday, Smith told them that in asking for plans acceptable to the trustees, their thought was to be certain the structure would reasonably be a fitting civic memorial to the late M.K. Brown, Pampa pioneer and philanthropist, who died in an automobile accident here in September of 1964, and to comply with his wishes.

A building site already is available on which to build the auditorium. It is owned by the Gray-Pampa Foundation and is located just west of the Coronado Inn.

"The Foundation does not feel," its statement said, "that it should take care of any architectural or engineering expense or the expense incidental to the issuance and governmental approval of any bond issue. The trustees will cooperate in obtaining approval of the bonds without charge to the city, but it expects the city to furnish its own attorneys and technical advisors."

The trustees asked that the Chamber of Commerce, which it stated has expressed considerable interest, be called into consultation, especially the chamber president.

They also suggested that the mayor and commission discuss with the city attorney legal ramifications involved.

Another paragraph in the Foundation's proposition states: "It is the hope, it is indeed the thought, of the trustees of the Foundation that other individuals, groups or organizations will likewise contribute to this project. The trustees do not contemplate any fund-raising program by professionals in that field."

The trustees' proposition to the city concludes with: "The trustees also wish to point out that they recognize that architectural services and other technical services are essential in a project of this kind. The trustees do feel that under the law, as they interpret it, their funds should not be expended for that purpose but that the Foundation's funds should be used solely in construction and equipping.

"The trustees would be embarrassed to find that a large sum of the Foundation's funds had gone into plans for an elaborate auditorium completely beyond the financial potentialities of the builders.

Other members of the Brown Foundation board of trustees, in addition to Smith, are Thomas Wade, chairman, and Bill Waters, vice chairman.

Tornado Victims Listed In Good Condition Here

Eight victims in Saturday's tornado near Clarendon are in good condition today in Highland General Hospital, where they were admitted shortly after the tornado struck that resort area.

Suffering from severe lacerations, neck and back injuries are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kinzy of Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Holler of Clarendon; lacerations and abrasions; Mrs. Bernice Carr, Clarendon, arm injury; Jim Langston, Clarendon, lacerations and arm injury; Mr. and Mrs. Shell Gully, Clarendon, abrasions and lacerations.

Victims, injured in the tornado that struck south and east of Pampa, were admitted to Highland General and released either Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. LaVrae Hillman treated for cut feet; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Chase treated for multiple abrasions and contusions; Mrs. Wanita Smith, 1200 S. Faulkner, minor lacerations and abrasions; Terry Peterson, 1936 N. Banks, glass in eyes; Charles Billington, 433 Graham, glass in eyes; Francis Ellington, multiple lacerations and abrasions; Deanie Elkins, 1246 S. Finley, ankle injury; Olen Banks, lacerations and abrasions.

The sun smiled like a hypocrite Sunday over parts of Texas as that hours earlier suffered the most battering weather of the year, including a series of deadly tornadoes.

"It's beautiful weather today. Lovely. No wind," said Kathie Yankie, an X-ray technician in Clarendon, where tornadoes killed 13 persons and injured many more Saturday. "As I was coming to work it looked like everyone had turned out for church."

After church the townspeople attended funerals for storm victims.

The Weather Bureau said the next few days will be calm, with generally warm days and mild to cool nights.

Texas in a line from Whiteface to Pampa in the Panhandle will use the good weather to mourn their 26 dead, patch up the hundreds of injured and clear away the rubble left by the vicious twisters.

A group of state officials gathered data on the damage to determine whether Gov. Preston Smith should ask President Nixon for Federal emergency funds.

Navajos Call Plan 'Great Grass Steal'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Great Western Land and Cattle Co. officials today said they had "no doubts" of resolving a threat by the historically peace-loving Navajo tribe to bar a modern day cattle drive from Indian lands.

Grant Loftin, a spokesman for the cattle company, said his firm was negotiating an agreement between the company and the tribe before the drive of more than 1,000 head begins May 17, from Bluewater, N.M., to Pagosa Springs, Colo. Navajo officials, however, stood firm on threats of impounding cattle found "trespassing" on Indian lands.

A letter written by W. B. Bonner, supervisor of the tribe's land administration, called the Great Cattle Drive the "Great Steal."

The letter, received by the cattle company's president, R. L. Wilder, and printed in a tribal publication said, "In your last drive you robbed many Navajo stockmen of most of their winter grass."

"I wonder if you feel proud of this fact," Bonner wrote. "Even though you obtain a permit from the Bureau of Land Management, these tracts are widely scattered and you cannot cross our area without trespassing on our land."

Bonner said if the firm attempted its second annual drive across Navajo lands they would be "considered in trespass and will be prosecuted under the herd law act of the state of New Mexico."

"If you should attempt to drive along the public road across our area, we will have riders present to impound any cattle that strays outside the road right-of-way," the letter said.

Wilder said his firm had no "intention" of harm to the terrain during the drive last year and "we are sorry the Navajo Indians are upset with our cattle drive."

During the 14-day drive last year, the herd spent "an estimated day and a half on Navajo allotment lands, most of the time on a dedicated road right-of-way," he said.

"On the trail last year we were approached by Bonner and informed that in certain areas some of our cattle were crossing into Navajo allotment lands, land leased by the Navajos from the BLM," Wilder said. "At Bonner's request we paid $100 to cross the land."

Loftin said the possible threat of legal action had surprised the company while preparing for the drive less than a month away.

Spacemen Relive Nightmare

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Having returned to a boisterous welcome, Apollo 13's astronauts today begin reliving their ordeal in space for engineers seeking the cause of the explosion that ripped away a 13-foot section of their moonship.

"There were times when we really didn't think we'd make it back here," said James A. Lovell, the four-time spaceflight veteran who was robbed of a chance to walk on the moon on his last mission by the blast that wrecked Apollo 13's service module 205,000 miles from Earth.

Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise, showing no signs of their brush with death, flew to the space center Sunday night after meeting President Nixon in Honolulu. They were quick to praise the flight controllers they said made it possible for their return.

Recalls Anxious Moments

"We looked back on Earth again and realized that maybe we would not get back here," said Lovell. His wife Marilyn stood by his side, fighting tears.

"If it wasn't for you people on the ground, we wouldn't be here tonight and I appreciate it very much."

Swigert, a bachelor greeted by his parents, echoed Lovell's sentiment: "Of all the welcomes home that we've had, this one means the most because it is these people here who made it possible for me to be here tonight."

And then, added Haise, "we had a lot of prayers and good wishes from people all over the world. And we appreciated that, too." Later, as he walked along a torch-lined path to his house, Haise said, "I am certainly glad to be home."

South of Pampa a radio tower stands high above the ground, unharmed, as if surveying the disaster. Moderate winds today swept the fields and chilled citizens contemplating their losses.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the tornado came from the southwest. He theorized it was the same funnel cloud that had damaged property and killed people as far south as the Plainview area.

Businesses, farms, and homes were damaged around Pampa. Others were virtually untouched.

A house at 1231 S. Finley had the roof blown off and windows and doors torn from their frames. The rest of the neighborhood — houses on either side and across the street — were

Request Area Be Declared Major Disaster

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (UPI) — State officials checking the rubble of tornado-crippled towns in the Texas Panhandle said Sunday Gov. Preston Smith likely will ask President Nixon to declare the 200-mile strip a major disaster area.

The twisters, too many to count, killed 26 and injured hundreds in 11 towns along this flat stretch of cotton-farming land. One official estimated damage at near $5 million.

The investigators, including three from Gov. Smith's staff, flew over the devastated areas and then landed at Plainview, where the storm splintered and smashed a two-mile path, to reassure city officials.

"We want to see you get all the money and assistance you have coming under the law," Jesse R. Ward, resources management officer for the Texas Civil Defense, told the local officials.

"If it comes from a Redw store we have H. Lewis Edwe. (Adv.)"

Plans Start Rolling Toward Lions' Meet

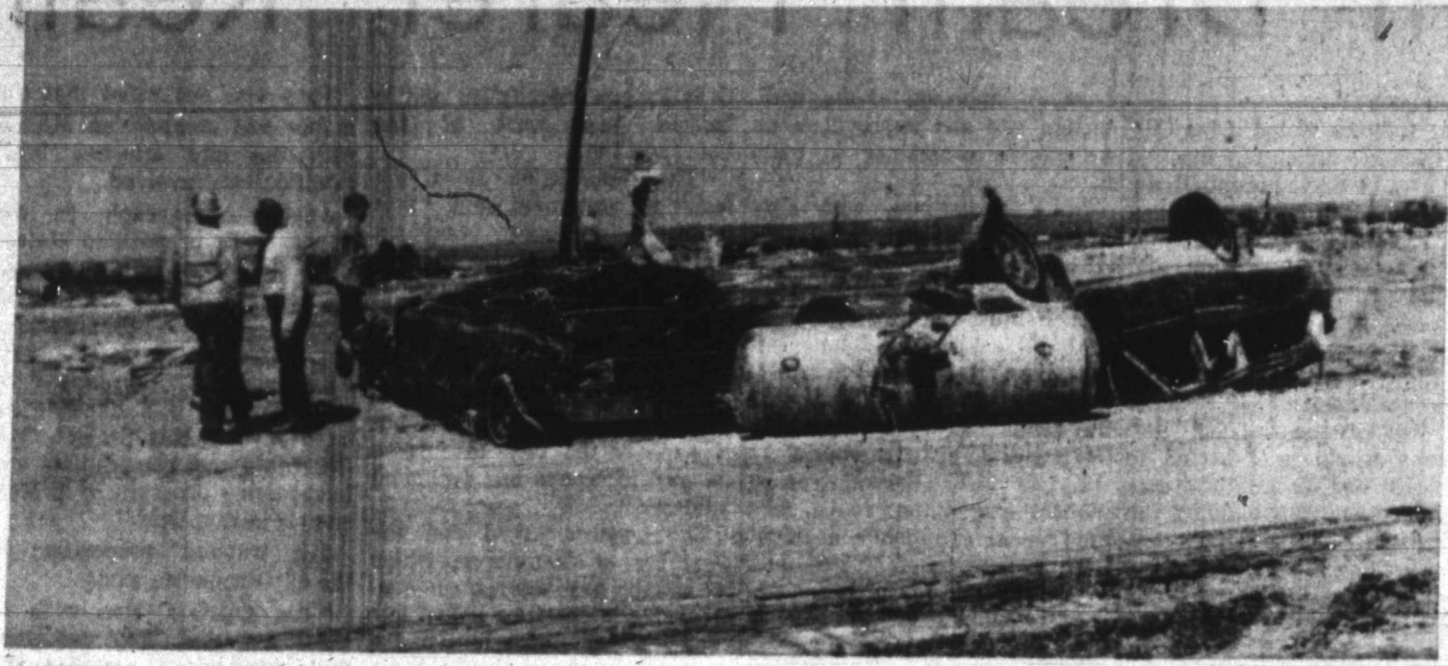

Ed Flood, Amarillo, governor of District 2T-1 of Lions International, will be in Pampa tonight to meet with the convention committee planning for the convention of district Lions Clubs here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

E.O. Wedgworth, general chairman of the local committee, said tonight's meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

Jackie Saves Composer From Imprisonment

ATHENS (UPI)—A telephone call from the former Jacqueline Kennedy to the leader of Greece's military government helped win the release of composer Mikis Theodorakis from prison last week, reliable government sources said today.

The sources said both Aristotle Onassis and his wife, the former Mrs. John F. Kennedy, were instrumental in winning freedom for the 45-year-old composer of "Zorba the Greek" and the score for the motion picture "Z."

Mrs. Onassis, they said, telephoned Premier George Papadopoulos during negotiations to free Theodorakis and told him Greece's image would be enhanced if he would release the composer.

Theodorakis was released last week and flown to Paris by Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, the french writer and politician. The sources said Onassis, too, played a role in obtaining the release of Theodorakis, but a spokesman for the multi-millionaire businessman refused to comment.

Servan-Schreiber, best known in the United States for his book, "The American Challenge," conferred for two hours Sunday with Onassis on his privately owned Isle of Skorpios, the sources said.

Phyllis Diller hospitalized

BLUFFTON, Ohio (UPI)—Comedienne Phyllis Diller was discharged Sunday from Bluffton Community Hospital where she underwent surgery for an undisclosed ailment.

Hospital officials would not comment on the nature of the surgery. She entered the hospital Tuesday.

Miss Diller was born at nearby Lima and reportedly returned to the area for the operation because the doctor was an old friend.

"Pride In Pampa" Days To Start

The Retail Trade Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce today announced a three-phase "Pride In Pampa" observance April 23 through May 16.

During the week of April 27 through May 2 merchants will cooperate with the city-wide clean-up, paint-up, fix-up program which will carry a "Fresh As a Daisy" theme.

Merchants and sales people will be supplied with lapel badges which they will be asked to wear during Clean-Up Week.

Phase 2 of the campaign is scheduled during the week of May 4-9 when daily stories promoting "Pride In Pampa" will be published in The Pampa News depicting the city's educational, cultural, religious, industrial and business facilities.

Phase 3, from May 11 through May 16, will promote "Pampa, the Shopping Hub of the Top O' Texas Area." The News will print additional copies of its Wednesday, May 14, 15 and 16 with "Vacation Value Days," featuring top merchandise values for Top O' Texans.

The entire program will be climaxed Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 14, 15 and 16 with "Vacation Value Days," featuring top merchandise values for Top O' Texans.

Arrangements for the three-phase program are being handled by the Retail Trade Committee, headed by John Gattis and Dick Klein.

Vandals Wreak Havoc In School Burglaries

Pampa schools were the main targets of burglars and vandals over the weekend.

The incident with the largest amount of reported damage occurred at Pampa High School. Custodial officials told police someone had entered the building by breaking metal louvers off the boiler room door.

The intruders broke into candy and soft drink machines in the school cafeteria and took $50 in change. Damage to the machines was estimated at $900.

The second incident occurred at Lamar School, 1234 S. Nelson.

According to reports, the vandals entered the building by breaking out a window. A soft drink machine in the teacher's lounge was broken into and $6 in coin was taken. The broken window was valued at $10.

Also broken into was the school system's bus barn at 116 S. Purviance. Police said entry was gained by knocking a padlock off the door.

Taken in the break-in was an undetermined number of hand tools. Estimates of the number of tools taken and the value were not available this morning.

In an earlier burglary, police said someone broke into the Firestone Store, 120 S. Gray, and took a stereo tape player and a speaker valued at $60.

In other weekend police activity, reports said an Andrews, Texas man was in Pampa visiting his sister when someone broke into his car. Taken in the break-in was a stereo tape player and 20 tapes.

John Allen, owner of the burglarized vehicle told police the items were valued at $235.

SBA Office Set Up In City Hall

Hilary Sandoval Jr., Administrator of the Small Business Administration in Washington, D.C., has issued a declaration making disaster loan assistance available in the counties affected as a result of tornadoes which occurred on April 17 and 18.

Persons whose homes, businesses, personal property, or inventory were damaged or destroyed are eligible for 3 percent loans to make repairs or obtain replacements. The loans may run for as long as 30 years in some cases and are repaid in monthly installments. Loans must be repaid, however, in the shortest period possible without creating undue hardship to the borrower.

Fred S. Neumann, district director of the Small Business Administration for this area has announced that persons interested in talking about securing financial assistance due to the losses incurred in the recent tornadoes should contact the Small Business Administration which will have temporary offices in Pampa's city hall.

As clean-up operations began and insurance adjusters and Civil Defense authorities moved into the area to survey damages, people began relating their own stories.

"It sounded like a freight train," said Mrs. Charlie Ellington, who lives on a farm east of the city.

"My husband heard it first and said, 'Wake up, we better get out of here.'"

Mrs. Ellington said they got as far as the bedroom door when the twister hit.

"Glass exploded and cut me," she said. "I had to go to the hospital and get treated."

The Ellington home was undamaged except for broken glass and a few loose shingles, but a quonset barn was demolished.

Those fortunate enough to live outside the disaster area spent the weekend sightseeing and making remarks like, "Only thing I lost was a straw hat and that was Friday."

Sheriff Jordan said he heard, when he was a boy, a theory that tornadoes would not strike after midnight. Of that theory, he said: "You can quote me as saying that's a lot of baloney."

Then the Sheriff added, "We were very fortunate here. The Good Lord was on our side."

Surveys of damages, clean-up operations and stories will go on for a long time.

Spacemen . . .

(Continued From Page 1) celebrated the homecoming Sunday night, but the astronauts' schedule today called for the start of a week and a half of detailed reports on precisely what happened last Monday night.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the space agency administrator, said Sunday night the President told him "to go easy on the debriefings and to give Jim and Fred and Jack some well-deserved rest and relaxation."

The astronauts scheduled a news conference for Tuesday night. Today's debriefing plans were devoted to step-by-step recollections of the critical parts of the abortive moonlight, with the pilots using tape recorders. Photographic specialists also wanted to talk with the pilots about the pictures they snapped of their service module.

The best of 26 photographs were released by the space agency Sunday. They showed a one-inch thick aluminum panel 5 1/2 feet wide by 13 feet long had been torn away by the explosive force of the ship's ruptured oxygen tank.

Aggies To Muster On Miami Ranch

The annual Aggie Muster of the Northeast District of Texas A&M ex-students will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Tom O'Loughlin Ranch near Miami.

Hobart Fatheree, chairman of arrangements for the affair, urged all A&M exes from Pampa, Miami, Canadian and Perryton, to attend.

"A good program has been arranged," Fatheree said, "and we're expecting a large turnout of Aggie exes."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW.
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The television weekend got off to a perfect start—the unforgettable coverage of the rescue of the Apollo 13 astronauts after their unerring return from an aborted moon mission.

Perhaps the largest video audience of all time watched around the world, via satellite, as the three American space men splashed down Friday. Television provided intimate, vivid and often amazing visual accounts of the happy ending.

The sight of the white and orange parachutes suddenly blossoming above the descending space capsule was certainly one of the most beautiful and relieving things television viewers ever see. The live color video, beamed for the first time from one of the three rescue helicopters, was an enormous success in bringing millions of viewers the immediacy of the historic event.

Sunday night NBC-TV presented Broadway's Tony awards in an extravagant show from New York. As usual, the results were mixed, but some moments stand out. By far the best musical performer was the scintillating young newcomer, Melba Moore, who recently was delightful on the "Tonight" show — she got an ovation her rendition of "I Got L.A. from 'Purlie.' The girl is a watch, and a budding star. Tonight, CBS-TV began a three-part, three-hour series, which, on three successive nights, examines health care and services in America. The basis of previews of the first two hours, it seems certain the broadcasts will cause a fuss. And they should.

These are strong shows, and fair ones, about the dramatic costs and lapses in treatment for the poor and middle class one of the shames of a society, which has no national health plan.

The first program tonight illustrates that adequate care not available for a number of Americans — white and black — and even relatively well-to-do. Tuesday's broadcast covers costs. The programs are charitable in their care for rights that all citizens are entitled to: heart-breaking, their irrefutable, specific episodes; and unsparring in comments about some you doctors.

Mississippi Hit Hard By Tornado

By United Press International
Amid tornadoes and violent wind and hail storms that struck parts of the South Midwest, five persons were killed Sunday in northeastern Mississippi.

At least 31 persons were reported killed and hundreds more injured throughout the weekend from tornadoes in 13 southern and midwestern states. Heavy damage was reported in many areas.

The worst Mississippi tornado injured more than 70 persons and destroyed or damaged 300 homes Sunday. It first dipped town near Ripley, Miss., and then took a 21-mile swing to Corinth, Miss., a city of 15,000. After skidding over a three-to-five-mile strip of houses, it lifted and moved into Tennessee, where more damage was reported.

At Corinth it left behind a 200-yard-wide patch of death and destruction. Officials reported five dead, 20 people hospitalized and five in critical condition sent to hospitals in Memphis, Tenn. About 100 homes in the area were destroyed.

In Texas, state officials checking the rubble of tornado-crippled towns in the Texas Panhandle said Sunday that Gov. Preston Smith would probably ask President Nixon to declare the 200-mile crescent a major disaster area. Too many to count, the twisters killed 26 and injured hundreds of persons in 11 towns in the flat Panhandle country. Damage was estimated by one official at almost $5 million.

At Destin, Fla., a tornado touched down Sunday night, but there were no reports of injuries. Tornadoes also dipped down Sunday at Hughes, Ark., Mount Pleasant, Miss., Counce, Tenn., Cordele, Ga., and scattered areas of southeastern Missouri.

The Weather Bureau said the weekend marked one of the deadliest tornado outbreaks since May 15, 1968, when fatalities in Iowa and Arkansas. Heavy rains which accompanied many of the midwestern and southern storms sent rivers and smaller streams on a rapid rise in some areas. In parts of Arkansas, rainfall during a 24-hour period measured early today ranged up to five inches.

A snowstorm associated with the big weather disturbance swung into Canada today from northern Minnesota after dumping up to 18 inches of snow on the Dakotas.

During a six-hour span early today Duluth, Minn., received five inches of snow. Nearby Hibbing, Minn., got eight inches.

Dramatic Actress Bacall Gets "Applause" In Tony Awards

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lauren Bacall, a newcomer in the musical field, was named best actress in a musical production Sunday night at the 24th annual Tony Awards. Miss Bacall, who made her musical debut in "Applause," beat out another musical production tyro—Katherine Hepburn—"Coco."

There was one upset, the naming of "Borstal Boy" by Frank McMahon as the best play, but there was no surprise in the fact that the majority of the silvered medallions went to "Child's Play" and "Applause."

"Borstal Boy," based on an autobiographical work by the late Brendan Behan, won over "Child's Play," "Indians" and the Neil Simon hit, "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers."

The period covered by the awards was March 17, 1969, through March 31, 1970.

"Applause" won as the best musical, with the honors being shared by authors Betty Comden and Adolph Green, composer Charles Strouse, lyricist Lee Adams and producers Joseph Kipness and Lawrence Kasha.

"Child's Play," a first effort by Robert Marasco which most has expected would win the best drama, took the most Tonys, five. They went to Fritz Weaver as male dramatic star, Joseph Hardy as director, Ken Howard as featured player and Jo Mielziner for his scenic designing and his lighting.

The total for "Applause" was four. In addition to the best musical designation and the musical star category, Ron Field won two Tonys as the show's director and its choreographer.

Nominees in 16 categories were chosen by a committee of drama writers selected by the League of New York Theaters, which sponsors the annual awards. The winners were determined by the votes of approximately 500 persons variously connected with the theater.

THE PRINT EXPLOSION
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary Robert H. Finch has taken a look at the publications his Health, Education and Welfare Department churns out annually and ordered a sharp cutback.

"We doubt that such a deluge of printed matter is needed to communicate the business of this department," he says in a memo to agency heads. Finch found the department had printed more than 188 million copies with 6,000 titles during the 1969 fiscal year. Printing costs alone were more than $7.2 million.

These included such weighty documents as a 1,716-page spelling improvement guide printed at a cost of $32,700. Some copies fell apart in the mails from sheer weight, and most are still lying in warehouse cartons.

Jewish Holiday Begins At Nightfall Today

TEL AVIV (UPI)—The Israeli army had laid on special prayer books and intercom broadcasts this year so its front-line troops will get the story of Passover, which begins at nightfall today.

Tank crews facing Arab troops on four fronts will hear about the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt 3,200 years ago through their intercom earphones in a special army broadcast.

A Passover service in a tank is one of the topical touches the army has added this year to one of the oldest Jewish holidays.

To make it easier for other Israeli troops on the front lines, the army has supplied abridged Passover service prayer books and penlights to read them with.

The Passover festival—one of the three principal Jewish holidays—lasts eight days, commemorating the end of 210 years of Jewish slavery in ancient Egypt and the emergence of the Jewish nation under the prophet Moses.

During the passover festival, Jews traditionally are forbidden to eat bread or other foodstuffs made of fermented grain or use dishes made with leavened bread—"chometz" in Hebrew. Instead they eat crunchy matzoh, unleavened bread, throughout the festival.

This custom commemorates the hurried exodus from Egypt as the Israelites, pursued by Egyptian troops, were unable to bake properly leavened bread.

According to the Biblical Book of Exodus, the pursuing Egyptians later drowned in the Red Sea as the waters that had parted for the Jews closed in on them.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It just takes one big break in a sensationally successful picture to transform a floundering actress into a very desirable package of merchandise.

In the old days they would have called it a Cinderella story.

The picture is "M-A-S-H," and the actress who turned on like a 1,000-watt bulb is Sally Kellerman who has been trying to get a break in movies for a dozen years.

Sally has appeared in 30 plays, 20 television shows and three motion pictures. It took her eight years just to win a lead in an episode of a television show—"Outer Limits."

"I couldn't shoot my way into the movies before 'M-A-S-H,'" Sally said, fixing a sandwich in her new hilltop home.

Offered Two Leads
"Now I've been offered two movies playing the lead role. I never had anything like that happen to me before in my life."

Sally is a big blonde girl, almost 5-feet 11-inches tall. She's large boned, frank, a compulsive talker and possessed of a sense of humor.

Sally, who plays the role of Margaret Houlihan (Hot Lips), shines in one scene in which a bunch of playful medics at a field hospital, drop the side of a tent in which she is taking a shower. It is a high-point of the film.

"It's the first time I ever did a nude scene," said Sally, winking.

whose figure will not soon make the world forget Raquel Welch.

Modest Nude
"But I wanted to look as attractive as possible. I asked Altman if he would light the set carefully so I could look my best and still be a little bit modest."

"He gave me a choice. He said I could stand for an hour without any clothes on in front of the cast and crew while the scene was lighted to my satisfaction. Or I could go in and have the shot done in one take, covering myself up as soon as possible."

"I decided to forget about the lighting."

Currently Sally is making another film with Altman. Title: "Brewster McCloud, and His Sexy Flying Machine."

"I haven't seen the script yet, but I've already completed two days shooting on the picture," Sally said. "I asked Altman what sort of role I was playing and he told me I may be invisible or a fairy godmother or something like that."

"Kinda strange, isn't it?"

SURPRISING SURPRISE
SHILLDON, England (UPI)—Usually, children find plastic airplanes or cars in their "Lucky Dip" candy surprise bags, but 7-year-old Maureen Ward got pictures of nude women in hers.

Maureen bought the grab bag for three pence (three pennies) and inside she found a little plastic viewer showing 22 colored pictures of naked women.

Police Investigate Fire Bomb Tossing At North Texas State

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—Police have no leads on the person who tossed a firebomb into the North Texas State University administration building.

University president Dr. John J. Kamerick said Sunday the guilty person should be punished "to the full extent of the law." Kamerick said he knew of no disagreement between the students and administration that would provoke the firebombing.

Police said the bomb was pitched into the window of a men's lounge on the main floor of the building at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. The bomb flashed and burned two chairs and part of a wall before security guard Mike Amador quenched the fire with an extinguisher.

"We will await the investigation of the Denton Police Department," Kamerick said. "If someone is found guilty of this offense, he should be punished to the full extent of the law. If it happens to be an NTSU student, he will be immediately and permanently dismissed from the university."

Police Investigate Fire Bomb Tossing At North Texas State

An hour before the NTSU fire a blaze broke out at Foremost Mobile Homes Manufacturing Co. in Denton, causing heavy damage.

Fire Chief Jack Gentry said 25 firemen fought the blaze 45 minutes. He said the fire started in a lumber storage area. He also said there was no indication the two fires were connected.

Noise Can Seriously Affect Your Hearing

The decibel measures the smallest amount of sound which the human ear can distinguish. According to the American Medical Association, anyone subjected to more than a couple of hours per day of noise which is in excess of 90 decibels should use an ear protection device.

But, even a lawn mower can cause a temporary loss of hearing, as well as the electric amplifier used by so many teen-age musical groups. Recent studies show that 120 decibels or more or common with amplified rock music. The first sign of hearing loss is the high pitched sounds. The next tell-tale sign is complaining about the loss of hearing of TV or a stereo. If you suspect a loss of hearing have your doctor give you a hearing test.

By August Van Gure

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago, my husband and I received the final word that we can never have a child of our own because my husband is sterile. (We've been married for 9 years and have wanted a family right from the start.)

I heard about artificial insemination, and it interested me. That way I will be the baby's natural mother, which I think is preferable to adopting a child.

My husband is against the idea in principle. He says there is something immoral about it. (He can't explain it logically. He just says that he does not want me to carry another man's child.)

I think he's wrong. I will never see the man, and I can't see anything immoral about it. I would appreciate your views.

THINKING IT OVER
DEAR THINKING: I agree with you. Perhaps your husband feels inadequate because he can't produce a child, and he resents any other man who can. Tell him that it's easy to be a father. It's far more difficult to be a man.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say if your boyfriend called you up and said, "Hey, if I asked you to marry me last night, I must have been drunk."

SUE
DEAR SUE: I'd have said, "And if I said 'yes', I must have been crazy."

DEAR ABBY: Recently I received an invitation to a baby shower given for my daughter-in-law. At the bottom of every invitation the hostess wrote, "No children, please."

Some of the invited guests later said they thought her "no children, please" request was the rudest thing they had ever seen. I would like your opinion.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: I have more admiration for the hostess who prefers that children be left at home, and plainly says so, than the one who does not want them, lacks the courage to say so, and later complains to everyone who will listen about the "nerve" of those who drag their children along to adult parties. (This goes double for people who don't care for their friends' pets.)

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a mother whose college son was living with a girl, and insisted that he did not need a "piece of paper" to live with his girl friend. He said, "What's a piece of paper?"

Very likely he is old enough to have bought a car. He certainly didn't take it out of the car lot without a "piece of paper" called a title. And he will never buy a house without a "piece of paper."

And if he ever graduates from college, he will no doubt want that "piece of paper" called a diploma. He will live his life with "pieces of paper," beginning with his birth certificate, and ending with another piece of paper, — his death certificate. And one of the most important "pieces of paper" he will ever have will be his marriage license.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. JACK MILLER

Troop 41, Jean Jackson, troop leader, and Troop 22, JoAnn Welsh, troop leader, attended church during Girl Scout Week. Troop 18 has been making skirts and pillows. Mrs. Peggy Ginardi is the Troop Leader for Troop 18. Troops 21 and 24, Kathleen Anderson, troop leader, have been working on cup towels to be given to the new Girl Scout Camp. Brownie Troop 34 has been working on gifts for Mother's Day and Father's Day. Camp books will be distributed by the Senior Scouts during the last week of April. Registration for Day Camp will be May 6-8 at the Girl Scout Office in City Hall.

The Junior Camporee will be held April 24-26. This event has become one of the highlights of the year for Junior Scouts. The girls have been working on various skills and will participate in a number of contests to test what they have learned.

The Leaders' Overnight was held April 10-11 at the new Council Campsite near Clarendon. This event was the culmination of outdoor training throughout the council. The purpose is to help leaders train their own troops in outdoor camping.

Those attending from Borger were Mmes. Larry Nash, John Anderson, Bill Zollars, Don Thompson, Henry Gilliland, Don Hooper, and Jack Knight. Attending from Pampa were Mmes. Wayne Jones, Vinson Shaw, Louis Jones and Senior Scout Betty Felter. Shamrock representatives were Ima Lee Beasley and Alva Clark. Those attending from the Wheeler McLean area were Mmes. Theron Bradley, Jean Smith, Bill Brooks, Bill Gunter and Millie Mcanear.

The Trainers for the session were Miss Celia Fowler, Pampa; Mrs. Jack Duke, Borger; Mrs. T.M. Whiteley, Pampa; and Mrs. W.J. Felter, Pampa.

We would remind all Girl Scouts and Troop Leaders that the time for turning in stamp books for a Quivira Council Bus is drawing near. The goal is to collect two books of stamps from each girl and registered adult in the council.

Anyone wishing to contribute stamp books to this project is asked to bring the books to the Scout Office. Canisters have been placed in businesses giving stamps. Loose stamps may be put in these containers. Help us stamp out footloose, Girl Scouts.

When you build the character of a Boy, you build the character of a man. When you build the character of a Girl, you build the character of a family. Support the Girl Scouts.

KKI Conclave Selects Officers For Installation

Alpha Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota held its regular April meeting in the home of Mrs. Melvin Cardwell as Mrs. Richard Serrurier, conclave president, conducted the business meeting.

Reports were given by the nominating and membership committees. Mrs. Gary Kastor was selected as voting delegate to attend the Alpha State, Kappa Kappa Iota Convention in Dallas, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 19.

She was accompanied to the convention by Alpha Iota member Mrs. Cecil Shirley who is also State Chronicler. Alpha Iota's pressbook was judged in state competition Saturday. Also on display at the state meet was the Alpha State Pressbook compiled from materials submitted by all conclaves in the state of Texas by Mrs. Shirley.

New members were approved and will receive invitations in May.

Schooled In Cotton

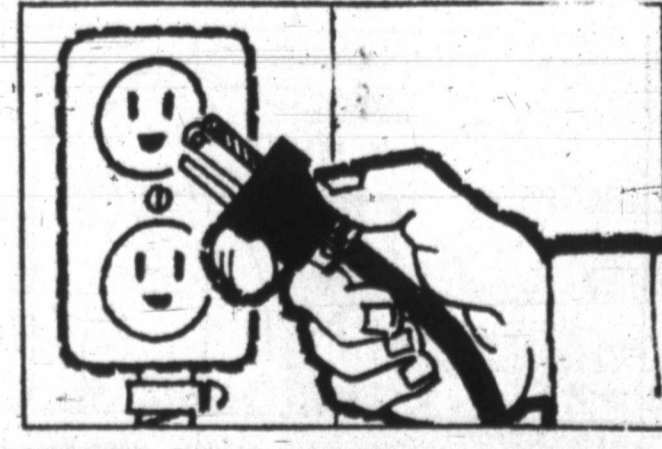

CHECKMATES—Apple-polishing's in order for the school set, and checked cotton gingham is equally in order for brother-sister wear. Bright red apple appliques adorn the front of the little boy's button-on suit and the girl's back-belted apron. By Lil Filly Originals, both have contrasting collars of white cotton pique.

NOW--hot water

Roughing it is OK, but even the hardy outdoorsmen will agree a cold shower is a little too much. This is why the Oklahoma Industrial Development & Park Department has a continuing program of installing more hot water facilities in parks and recreation areas. In preparation for the summer camping season, 63 additional water heaters have been installed in 28 recreation areas increasing the total hot water capacity by 5,166 gallons.

NOW--electricity

Now you can take your toaster to 300 more Oklahoma campsites. The OI&PD recently completed installation of 300 additional electrical outlet facilities. There are now 1200 electrical outlets in Oklahoma's 23 parks and 22 recreation areas. Another reason more and more campers are making Oklahoma their home away from home... and Oklahoma is one of the few states still offering free camping facilities. Lakers Take NBA Series

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Lakers were looking forward to a little rest today after sweeping their National Basketball Association playoff series from the Atlanta Hawks.

Even Jerry West, who led all scorers with 39 points, seemed surprised by the ease with which the Lakers beat the Hawks 133-114 Sunday night for their fourth straight victory. "I never thought we'd do it,"

West said. "I would have laughed if someone had predicted we'd take four straight from the Hawks. I need a rest and this layoff will help."

The Lakers will meet the winner of the Eastern playoff. In that series, the New York Knicks currently hold a 3-1 lead after beating the Milwaukee Bucks 117-105 Sunday night. The two teams play again tonight in New York.

The Lakers were trailing when Elgin Baylor, 35, rallied the team with 24 of his 31 points in the second half. After leading Los Angeles to its seventh NBA playoff final in 10 years, Baylor said he wasn't too tired to take on the Eastern winner.

It was the seventh straight playoff victory for the Lakers, setting an NBA playoff record. They fought their way from a 3-1 deficit to defeat Phoenix in the previous round. In seven previous finals, the Lakers lost each time to the Boston Celtics.

With only 8:35 left, the comeback behind Lakers trailed 95-94, but Baylor sank two free throws for a lead they never relinquished.

The Bucks trailed 65-45 at the half but made a determined comeback before reserve Cazzie Russell took the fight out of Milwaukee, scoring 12 of his 18 points late in the third period and early in the fourth. Willis Reed was high scorer for New York with 26 points, Dick Barnett had 18 and Walt Frazier 17.

The Bucks were outbounded by the Knicks 55-38 as Lew Alcindor, who set a Milwaukee record with 31 on Friday night managed only nine.

HERE'S ONE that didn't get away. Robert Dickenson of Chicago, Ill., hooked a fine remembrance of his trip to New Zealand when he went trout fishing in a stream at Roturua.

GRAND PRIX VICTOR
MADRID (UPI)—Jackie Stewart of Scotland sped to an easy victory in the Spanish Grand Prix Sunday but Belgian driver Jack Ickx suffered first-degree burns on his left hand and arm and on his thighs when his car collided with one driven by Jackie Oliver of England. Oliver escaped injury.

AUSSIE TAKES TOURNEY
TOKYO (UPI)—David Graham of Australia shot a closing round three-under-par 69 Sunday and won the Yomiuri International golf championship with a 72-hole score of 286. Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., finished third at 290.

tournament here Friday and Saturday.

Coronado, host team for the tourney, and Amarillo High tied for the district crown.

Pampa found the going rough in all events.

The team of Sidney Mills and Susan Stowers fell in girls A doubles to Davis-Martindale of Palo Duro 6-1, 6-1 and the Harvester pair of Debbie Bray-Jo Forsha met defeat in the same event at the hands of a Caprock team, 6-0, 6-1.

Mary Carlson bowed to a Tascosa girl, 6-0, 6-0 in the girls A singles. Clessie Vaughn met the same fate in the singles division, 6-0, 6-0.

David Carr fell to a Borger netter, 6-1, 6-3, in the boys A doubles.

Mark Shakelford and Ray Kenney fared no better in the boys A doubles as they went down to a Coronado duo, 6-2, 6-0.

The win put the Spurs (2-0) in first place in the Texas League's Western Division and dropped the Giants (0-2) into last place. Cohen fanned six batters and stayed out of trouble except for a fourth-inning flurry when Amarillo scored both its runs.

In the Eastern Division last year's winners, the Memphis Blues, had to move over to make room at the top for San Antonio. The Missions beat Shreveport 3-1 to move into a tie for first place with Memphis. Both teams have 2-0 records.

Albuquerque used four pitchers in losing to El Paso 8-5. Matt Moschetti and Al Holland had homers for the Sun Kings; Joe Dodder and Gary Moore did the same for Albuquerque. The win gave El Paso (2-1) clear title to second place in the Western Division and Albuquerque (1-2) dropped into third position.

Memphis was rained out at Arkansas Sunday. Tonight finds all teams repeating Sunday's schedule: Albuquerque at El Paso, Dallas-Fort Worth at Amarillo, Memphis at Arkansas and Dallas-Fort Worth at Amarillo.

Matson Earns Shot Put Win At Kansas Meet

By United Press International
An old familiar name, that of former Texas A-M great Randy Matson, stole the spotlight from the active collegians along the Texas track and field scene over the weekend.

Matson, Olympic champ and world record holder in the shot put, competed in a special open division shot put at the Kansas Relays and got off his season's best heave—67 feet 9 1/2 inches—to stave off a bid from Kansas' Karl Salb, who had a 66-4.

The shot put also was one of the events in which the state's season best were posted over the weekend by active collegians. Vincent Monari of Texas El Paso hit 61-5 1/2 as UTEP beat Brigham Young 79 1-2 to 73 1-2 in a dual meet in windy, 53-degree weather in Utah.

Larry Reed of UTEP also got off the year's best long jump, 25-4 1-2, but it wasn't clear whether an 18-mile wind contributed to the feat.

Southwest Conference athletes were tuning up meanwhile for the league meet two weeks away with some season-best performances of their own.

The Texas Longhorns can catch up with the Texas Aggies in the Southwest Conference baseball race, but the championship issue is likely to hang in the balance until the two powers collide May 7-8 in a three-game series closing the season.

The Aggies, getting good pitching from Doug Rau and Dave Benesh, won a pair of weekend games from Texas Tech 3-0 and 6-4 to boost their league record to 11-0 and season mark to 20-4.

Texas, heralding the return to form of Burt Hooton, swept three games from Baylor, 2-0, 9-3 and 2-1, to climb to 8-0 and 27-5. The Longhorns had been suffering from a half-game handicap because it had one game rained out, but when A&M's Friday game with Tech was washed out it left things even.

Texas has a three-game series with TCU (7-5) at Fort Worth next Friday and Saturday, while the Aggies have the week off in league play. Thus, if Texas sweeps the TCU series it, too, will be 11-0.

The Aggies play Houston a pair of twin bills Thursday at College Station and Saturday in the Bayou City.

Rice, which is in third place at 8-4 after beating SMU 13-0, 3-1 and 1-0, is at Baylor for three games Friday and Saturday, and SMU winds up its season at home with three against Texas Tech.

Rau of the Aggies and James Stret of the Longhorns both ran their season records to 7-0 with shutout pitching performances last week, while Texas' Hooton got in his first complete game in a month by blanking Baylor.

Harvesters Drop 2 In Weekend Action

Pampa's Harvesters, after dropping two District 4-AAA baseball contests at Lubbock, will attempt to put the skids on a three-game losing streak Tuesday when they will play host to Amarillo High at 4 p.m. at Optimist Park.

The Harvesters fell to Lubbock High Saturday morning, 3-2, and succumbed, 8-3, to Monterey that afternoon. The Lubbock contest was originally slated for Friday but was postponed until Saturday due to bad weather.

Coach Buddy Williams' charges were allowed only three hits by Lubbock hurler Julio Moreno. Pampa's Doug Thompson also served only three safeties in his seven-inning performance and was tabbed with the loss.

The victorious Westerners picked up two runs in the second inning, and one in the sixth to stave off the rallying Harvesters who tallied one in the sixth and one in the final frame.

Monterey scored one in the first, four in the fourth and three in the sixth to walk away with its triumph.

Sam Heasley, who went all the way for Pampa, absorbed the loss. Heasley allowed nine Plainsmen hits.

The Harvesters scattered 10 hits in the contest but couldn't shove a run across until the seventh inning when they brought home three.

Donnie Moore hurled the win for Monterey.

Pampa stands 3-5 in district play after the two losses in the Hub City.

Palo Duro will challenge the Harvesters Friday in a 4 p.m. match at Optimist park.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

And So, The Needle

An "official" line on dope is gradually emerging, according to Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n. The spreading use of heroin and other narcotics by young people, it's said, "is a by-product of peer group pressure, a rite of passage being initiated by bad kids who force good kids into a kind of machismo roulette with needles instead of revolvers."

So writes Steven Levine, who is probably the youngest syndicated columnist in the "establishment" press.

But this explanation does not describe any actual condition, he says. All it does is neatly absolve parents, education, government, and American culture from responsibility for the situation.

Heroin is a product of despair, says Levine. It became popular in Harlem after World War II, "after a phony renaissance, a depression, a long conflict that was meaningless to most black people, a vicious rioting, gang wars, chronic unemployment, generalized social disaster."

In a lesser sense, this is becoming the condition of white young in 1970, he claims. They are being ghettoized. Most people have rejected the essential truth that the young had exposed — that America was deeply ill — and they have elected to smother it.

"Kids are out. The press doesn't like them. The administration (don't let the 18-year-old vote snow you) is out to get them. Their parents don't seem to be trying very hard to understand them any more."

says Levine, are "bad" and boring schools, increasingly hostile cops and courts, adolescent depression, parental hassles, no money, no way to get it when it's needed, and added to it all the agonizing frustration of the betrayed. In 1960 Kennedy brought us into the process of world-saving. In 1970 Nixon and his administration throw us back out."

That's some indictment, and don't worry about how accurate it is. Just pass me the needle, baby. I'm tripping out of this scene.

One wonders what young Americans would be doing themselves with if things really were rough in this country — rough, as it is spelled in Hungarian or Czechoslovakia, say, where there is real despair and where the betrayal of a better world was brought about not by hostile cops but by hostile tanks parading up the streets, and where no youthful columnist is invited to present his opinion of what's wrong with the system.

There have been no reports of drug use among Iron Curtain youths. Perhaps they simply can't get it, or possibly they are made of tougher stuff than our own young people.

Perhaps what is bugging so many American youths is not so much despair as it is self-indulgence and a puffed-up sense of self-importance — a case of too many kids with too little to do, with too much time on their hands and too many excuses for not using it constructively, of too many things too easily come by and too many people telling them how put-upon they are.

Teeners Deprived Of Jobs

In a special study authorized by Labor Secretary George P. Shultz a year ago the U.S. government has learned that applying the adult minimum wage to teen-agers results in depriving them of jobs and party accounts for the unemployment rate of teen-agers running from 7.6 to as high as 17.2 per cent.

Confronted with a law that required a minimum wage of $1.00 (Calif. rate $1.65) per hour, employers must be reasonably sure that people they hire are able to produce enough to justify paying them that scale.

For the most part, teen-agers have had little work experience. Some of them have not learned good work habits. At $1.00 or $1.55 an hour, the employer is prone to choose carefully, and to select adults when available.

The report reviews methods followed in Europe, where young people apprentice at a much earlier age, usually about one-third of the going scale for adults. In this country, young people from 15 to 17 averaged 70 per cent of what was paid workers from 20 to 25 years of age. The report suggests that a substantial reduction in the minimum wage demand for teen-agers would induce employers to hire larger numbers of them, reducing the unemployment percentage considerably.

The National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., with headquarters in San Mateo, Calif., has been making the same point for years. The federation has been surveying small businessmen on the effects of minimum wages and, based on signed responses of more than 30,000 independent business firms, finds that more than a half million job opportunities have been closed to teen-agers.

Because they are over-protective of teen-agers, our country's laws have made it much more difficult for them to get a job, or to learn a trade.

In fairness to our young people we should review our social and labor laws, and change them so the youngsters can have a chance.

Another Nutty Law?

If a law proposed in the Georgia Legislature were to be passed, tickets to musical events in that state would carry this warning:

"Caution: Excessive loud noise may damage future hearing."

According to Rep. McKee Hargett, the legislation is "needed" because some of today's rock music can cause serious injury to the inner ear.

This item surely deserves a place in that thick volume entitled "Nutty Laws I've Known" by John Q. Public. (What next — sound level governors on radios?) But it is not so funny when it is viewed as a typical example of our whole approach to the problems of modern living.

No one is forced to attend a rock concert any more than he is forced to smoke. Yet Congress spends months arguing about a warning label on cigarette packages — while, at the same time, subsidizing the tobacco industry with your tax money.

This Is CLEAN Air?

On a clear day you may be able to see forever, but appearances can be deceiving.

Writing in the publication, "Analytical Chemistry," two chemists from the University of William and Mary and describe what they found in the air on a clear day in Boston.

Using a new approach to pollution measurement called "instrumental neutron activation analysis," the two researchers found that a sample of fresh, clean spring air contained 25 identifiable chemical elements.

They found vanadium, an element that reacts with a common pollutant, sulphur dioxide, to form substances which have been shown in animal experiments to be particularly lethal.

The Shame Of The Senate
The U.S. Senate's rejection of Judge G. Harrold Carswell as a nominee for the Supreme Court reveals the low estate to which that body has fallen under the domination of a bipartisan Liberal coalition. The action also exposes the almost pathological hatred the Liberal camp has for the Southern part of the U.S., the region that played a leading role in the establishment of the republic and whose people always have been so ready to defend their country.

The Senate's action was the result of undiluted sectional bias. President Nixon "told it like it is" when he declared after Judge Carswell's defeat that the Senate, "as it is presently constituted," will not approve a Southerner.

In a moving and forthright statement, Mr. Nixon said: "I understand the bitter feeling of millions of Americans who live in the South about the act of regional discrimination that took place in the Senate. They have my assurance that the day will come when men like Judges Carswell and Haynsworth can and will sit on the high court."

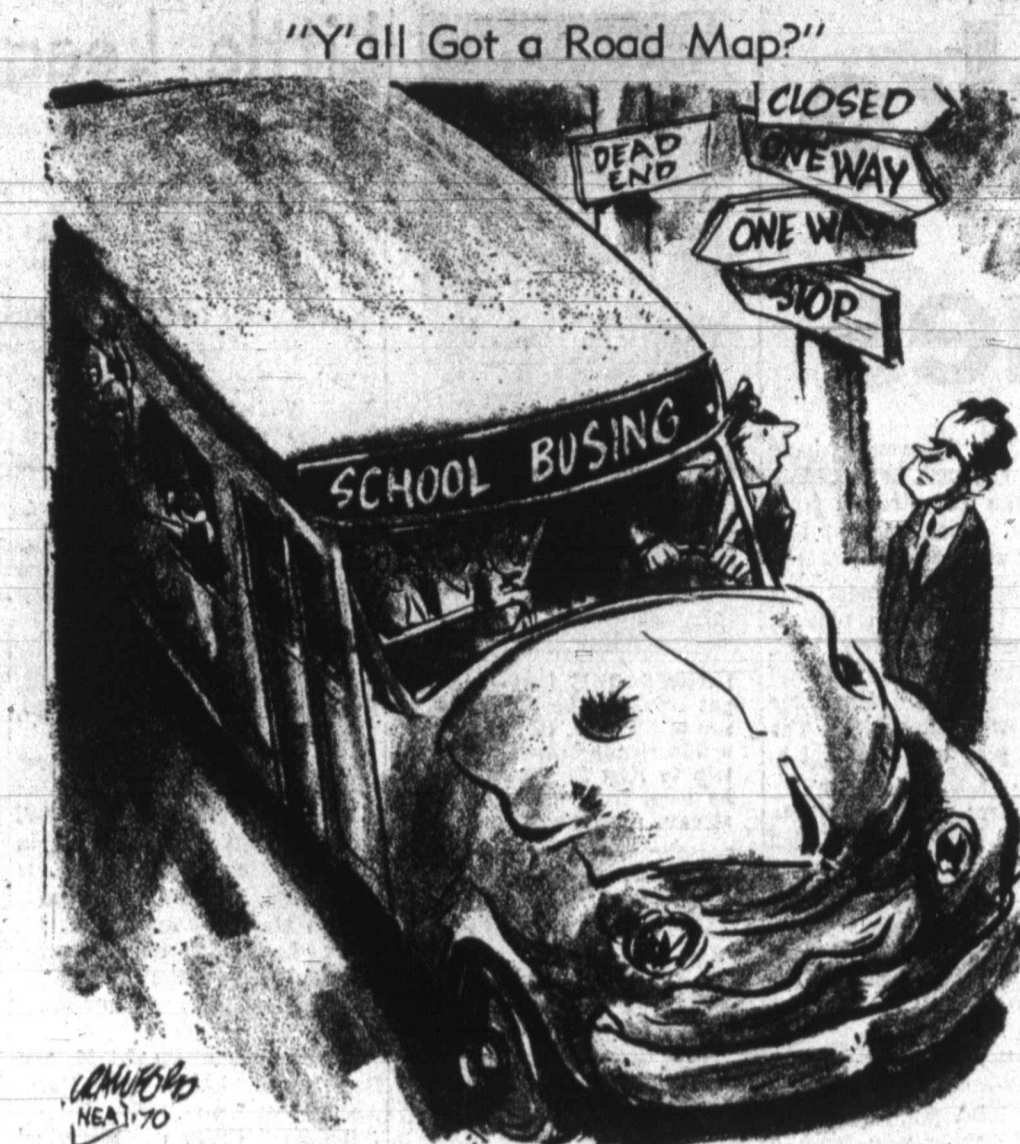

It is the shame of the Senate that it would turn down the President's nominees for a judicial post because, as Mr. Nixon said, "the accident of their birth, the fact that they were born in the South." It should be profoundly shocking to Americans of good will, wherever they live, that the Liberal coalition in the Senate would be so determined to punish the people of one section and confine them to second-class status in the nation. Apparently Southerners are good enough to fight and die in Vietnam and defend their country on other fronts. But when it comes to placing them in posts of responsibility at home, the sectional bitterness of the Liberals bars Southerners from key posts. That certainly, is a strange way to promote "unity" in this country.

For Southerners, the most shocking aspect of the rejection of Judge Carswell was the action of a handful of senators from Southern states who turned their back on their region and joined with the Liberal pack trying to humiliate the South.

Five senators stand out. These are Democratic Senators Albert Gore of Tennessee, Ralph Yarborough of Texas, William B. Spong Jr., of Virginia, and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and Republican Marlow Cook of Kentucky. Their names — and actions — no doubt will live in the memory of Southerners who are appalled at their lineup with those seeking humiliation of a great region of the U.S. Senators Cook, Spong and Fulbright are not up for reelection this year. But the voters of Tennessee and Texas will have an opportunity this year to register their views regarding the anti-Carswell votes of Senators Gore and Yarborough. There is likely to be a groundswell of righteous indignation against Senators Gore and Yarborough for deserting their region and making common cause with those who want to downgrade it.

If there ever was any doubt as to the real political allegiance of Senators Gore and Yarborough, their votes against Judge Carswell should have cleared it up. Senator Gore is an extreme "dove" on Vietnam and a leader of the defeatist element in the Senate. Senator Yarborough is a favorite of the union monopolists who consider their national union organizations as a virtual state within a state. By voting against Judge Carswell, they showed in a conclusive manner that they place the values and political ambitions of the Liberal coalition ahead of the interests of their states.

Southerners, to be sure, simply want a responsible, conservative court. They will support a sound jurist whether he comes from California, Oregon, Indiana, or any other state. They are not asking for a regional balance on the Supreme Court. But Southerners understandably resent deliberate efforts to exclude qualified men from the South and to deny them preferment. They also resent the hypocrisy of the Liberals who preach endlessly about "equal justice" and then gang up on Southern jurists to make sure that a native of one part of the country is denied a place on the highest court in the land.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL MUST INCLUDE AMERICAN POW'S
Twenty years ago, a young American marine was killed in action in Korea. His griet-stricken father, although he had lost his own son, was moved to help the agonized parents and families of the prisoners of war in Korea.

Captain Eugene Guild (USA Ret) founded an organization called "The Fighting Home Folks of Fighting Men," and he began his crusade to locate, publicize and rescue those held captive by the Communists. It has been an uphill battle for Captain Guild ever since. In a recent appearance on the Manion Forum radio network, Guild recalled some of the roadblocks which have repeatedly interrupted his quest:

"Of course, there were also men who had been shot down by the Soviets—34 planes with over a hundred men, in fact. In 1956, the State Department said that they were compelled to believe that the Soviet government was holding those men. They gave chapter and verse and prison camp and so forth about those men and demanded that they be accounted for or released. Of course, the Soviet government denied any knowledge whatsoever about the situation and we quietly let that drop."

The State Department has written Senator Hart, of Michigan, a letter in which they state that the Chinese Reds have told them that they will not even discuss the release of the Americans they hold in Korea unless the Taiwan, or Formosa, problem is settled to their satisfaction. Meaning, if we will abandon Taiwan to them, they'll talk about releasing the Americans whom they hold.

"Now, that's simply blackmail and that's simply the experience with the Reds — showing that if you do as we did in the Korean situation and take away all of our troops and leave the prisoners of war there, without any bargaining force behind them, then the Communists are going to get what they can in a blackmail way out of those prisoners of war."

"Now, there are in Vietnam today between 500 and 1,000 POW's who were shot down or captured, who are believed to be still alive. We know 400 by name, but the rest we don't know about. In other words, the parents and the wives do not know whether their kin are alive or dead."

"Our organization has proposed to the President, by letter, that a part of the withdrawal of American troops, that all of the troops be withdrawn, including the prisoners of war, who are part of our troops. We can't withdraw our troops unless we withdraw our prisoners. We are getting into the same situation that we had in Korea."

"We must withdraw the prisoners along with our troops and we must do it now, before it is too late. The prisoners belong with our troops and they should be brought home with them. To leave them for blackmail bait is a treasonous situation. It is absolutely falling to give the loyalty from the top down that they are entitled to as American fighting men."

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Three Fungi or Molds Are Causes of Ringworm

Q—What causes ringworms? Is it contagious? How can I get rid of it?

A—This disease may be caused by three fungi or molds — the trichophyton, microsporum or epidermophyton. They are commonly found in most environs and, although they may be transmitted from person to person, they usually gain a foothold only in areas where the skin is chronically moist — between the toes and in the groin. The treatment of all three types is the same. Half-strength Whitfield ointment applied locally twice a day is still one of the best remedies but several newer fungicides are available. Recurrences are common.

Q—My daughter gets itching biters on her hands and feet. They heal, only to break out in another spot. She has had several different drugs but nothing helps her. What do you advise?

A—This sounds like a typical case of ringworm. If the drugs your daughter has used have not helped her, one of these prescription drugs should do so — undecylenic acid, tracetin or sporotracin.

Q—I have had a fungus infection of my fingernails and toenails for 10 years. I have taken Fulvicin all that time but now the disease is coming back. A skin specialist prescribed cortisone but it didn't help. Is there any cure?

A—Since it is almost impossible for any drug to reach the fungus when it is under the nails, Fulvicin, a brand of griseofulvin, is usually prescribed. If this does not help after four or five months, tolnaftate (Tinactin) should be tried.

Q—Our doctor says my husband has a fungus infection of his skin. Is this a form of cancer?

A—No.

Q—Is it possible for a woman, 56, to become pregnant if she still has menstrual periods?

A—Yes, if they are truly menstrual periods and not uterine bleeding of another type. Menstruation at that age is extremely rare and should be investigated.

Q—Is it necessary for a woman to reach her peak or have an orgasm to become pregnant?

A—No, that's what artificial insemination is all about.

Perot—How to Spend A Billion Fruitfully

NEW YORK—Make no mistake about it, there will be more public service projects launched by data-processing billionaire H. Ross Perot, and some of them will involve issues unrelated to relief for U.S. prisoners of war.

The 39-year-old Texan is undeterred by the apparent failure of his recent journey to the war zone, his second such trip designed to secure release or better treatment for U.S. prisoners held by the North Vietnamese. Perot is convinced that his campaign has had some measure of success.

As he indicated on his return here recently, Perot's efforts on behalf of the prisoners will be intensified. The first step will be to "saturate" North Vietnam with radio messages carrying information on prisoners held in Laos and South Vietnam. That is the information which the government of North Vietnam refused to accept when Perot visited its diplomatic missions in Vientiane and then in Paris.

The radio effort will not be the end of it, however. Perot is also looking for other ways to apply pressure on behalf of the prisoners. It is a fair guess, though Perot and his aides will not say so, that methods for applying economic pressures are under consideration.

Perot's organization might provide a rallying point, for example, for U.S. maritime and cargo handling unions which would like to boycott goods reaching the United States from nations which supply North Vietnam. Such a campaign could put some real, if indirect, pressure on Hanoi for better treatment of U.S. prisoners.

PRESS PROJECTS — In addition to the prisoner-of-war cause, Perot has been working for some time on a televised "town hall" project which would examine important issues in a series of TV programs. He has already hired astronaut Frank Borman for that effort.

Based on his recent association with the news media (about 80 newsmen accompanied him on the recent trip), Perot is also mulling over plans for a small organization dedicated to improving press coverage of world and national issues. He is particularly interested in local papers and in local radio and television stations.

Perot would like to find a way to help their reporters, perhaps with periodic 10-day trips somewhat like the recent round-the-world haul, but addressed to other issues and involving other parts of call. That would broaden the knowledge of reporters who would otherwise be unable to make such trips.

In addition, Perot would like to be ready to move in when world events demand a sudden intensification of news coverage. If the extent of starvation in Biafra is in doubt for example, Perot would like to load a plane with reporters and take them to the scene at once, using his organization and his fortune to cut red tape and ease financial burdens. Projects of that sort, he believes, would provide a greater "diversity" of news reports on vital issues. He is convinced that broadened reporting of such issues is the "multiplier" by which events are translated into world opinion capable of influencing policy.

"I don't think there's a better way to spend my money," he says.

"NAIVE"? — The word "naive" often crops up when cynics talk about Perot's philanthropy to date — as if there is some pre-tested, sophisticated way to spend fruitfully a fortune estimated, now, at $1.5 billion. Actually, Perot's campaign to date on behalf of the prisoners of war has probably had a limited success.

After trying to improve the lot of prisoners by quiet diplomacy, the United States has recently been pressing the issue publicly at the peace talks in Paris. Along with the efforts of POW wives who have been campaigning for more aggressive action, Perot can take some credit for that.

To be sure, his recent trip did not take him to Hanoi, as he had hoped, for an inspection of Communist POW camps. It did, however, allow him to spotlight the idea that Communist prisoners are held in camps which meet the requirements of the Geneva convention while Americans, according to all available reports, are not. That is, perhaps, some additional pressure on the North Vietnamese.

Moreover, it is additional pressure on the State Department, as evidenced by the fact that U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker took the time to address Perot and his party in Saigon, and U.S. Ambassador Philip Habib, head of the peace talk delegation, met privately with the group in Paris.

Finally, the North Vietnamese have started to dribble out so-called peace groups; the names of a few prisoners alive in their prison camps, Perot, in his public statements, has made it clear that he does not care if this data is released through anti-war organizations in the United States. Just as long as more information is released.

Some of the newsmen who accompanied the latest Perot mission felt that his young and able staff should be reinforced with more expertise in the area of public relations and public reaction. That may come as more projects are undertaken in different fields.

All indications are, however, that Perot will keep doing unorthodox things — and in a big way. As his chartered 707 airliner taxied across the Tokyo airport last week, it passed one of the big new 747s berthed at the terminal.

"On your right," said Perot over his plane's loud speaker system, "is the plane we'll be taking on our next trip."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION — How can it be expected that unemployment can be reduced and production increased when there is a minimum wage set by the government instead of by the employer and the customers?

ANSWER: It seems unreasonable to expect full employment and higher production and a higher standard of living for everyone when the government interferes with the natural law of wages, which is that each man must produce as much as he gets in wages.

The employer must be able to sell to customers what each man produces. If the man does not produce as much as what the law says he must be paid, then the employer must charge the customers more for the product. If customers will not pay that price, then the employer cannot hire the man who does not produce his wages, or else the employer will end up going out of business.

When the government sets the minimum wage so high that many persons, the young, and unskilled, the handicapped and the aged, are ruled out of the job market because they cannot produce what the law requires they be paid, then society is deprived of what these people could contribute, and we are all that much poorer. If the employer tried to hire and pay them for what they produce instead of according to the bureaucratic directive, it would be a crime and the employer would be punished.

Whenever producers are punished instead of rewarded, they will not want to go on producing and the whole society will suffer. If enough producers stop producing, the society would collapse.

We are reaping the errors that we have been sowing. As Albert J. Nock says, "our enemy is the state." And in this case the state is our enemy because it is keeping production down and increasing unemployment and making it difficult for the young and inexperienced or the older people to get a job and add to the well being of all mankind.

Water Study Committee Studies Plan To Tax All Water In Texas

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Water Resources Study Committee of the Texas Legislature is studying a plan to tax all water in Texas, including that used by ranches and farms.

The proposal was submitted to the committee Tuesday by Carl Illig, attorney and chairman of the Houston Chamber of Commerce Committee on Water Conservation.

"Commercial and industrial users cannot pay the total bill for expansion of water resources," Illig said. "A tax would spread the cost and with increased water supplies we would have an inducement for commercial activity. This would be good for the general economy."

Under Illig's plan a rancher would be required to return an annual statement similar to an income tax form in which he declared his use from stock ponds and tanks.

The plan would make it financially possible to eliminate regional water boards and set up one single master plan for the state.

U. S. senatorial candidate Lloyd H. Bensten Jr. and state Sen. Barbor Jordan, D-Houston, endorsed a master water plan. Sen. Jordan suggested the need for guarantees that such development in no way disturb the balance of nature.

Houston Mayor Louie Welch said, "There is a severe political problem involved here, for if the homeowner feels he is going to be taxed for supplying the industrial user—say in Lubbock—he will rebel and vote against expansion. That's what happened to the proposed state and bond issue last year when it was defeated at the polls." Welch said Houston gets nothing for water development from the state funds "because we are deemed too rich."

Cops Use Tear Gas To Halt Protesters

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—About 400 militant demonstrators were quelled with tear gas Thursday during a destructive rock-throwing rampage that prompted University of California authorities to ban rallies temporarily.

Campus officers, sheriff's deputies and California highway patrolmen fired volleys of tear gas into the mass of demonstrators who fell back, regrouped and charged again. It was the second consecutive day of violence.

More than 30 persons, 33 Thursday, have been arrested and more than a score injured.

Chancellor Roger Heyns, who banned all rallies scheduled for today, said Thursday the campus "was the victim of wanton destruction unprecedented in the history of the university. Any attempt to link today's grim events with moral issues is a travesty on morality."
