Action Urged On Auditorium

During the past few days Pampa city commissioners, Gray County commissioners, the M. K. Brown Memorial Auditorium executive committee and M. K. Brown Foundation trustees received copies of a Chamber of Commerce resolution urging early action on and offering assistance to construction of a community auditorium.

The chamber resolution was adopted at a meeting of the board of directors Feb. 17. Copies to the four agencies involved in the plans were mailed Feb. 24.

"WHEREAS, a civic auditorium is needed for the educational and cultural advancement of the citizens of Pampa and its environs; and

"WHEREAS, the recent sessions on a program of work for the Pampa Chamber of Commerce revealed that the construction of a new municipal auditorium is foremost in the minds of the citizens of Pampa; and

"WHEREAS, the M. K. Brown Foundation has indicated that a fitting memorial to this great pioneer and benefactor of our community would be the construction of a municipal auditorium in memory of M. K. Brown and has indicated a willingness to contribute substantial funds toward the construction of such an auditorium;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that the planning, developing, financing and construction of a new municipal auditorium be designated as one of its foremost programs and that it does hereby lend its support to the construction of such an auditorium and that it strongly urges the Foundation and all other organizations, private and public, to proceed as rapidly as sound planning permits toward the construction and completion of such an auditorium."

API Starts Drive For New Members

The Panhandle Chapter API began its 1970 membership drive this week. Forty-five oil men representing supply, service and producing companies in Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, and Perryton are taking part in the drive. Last year the organization had 550 members and a similar goal has been set for this year.

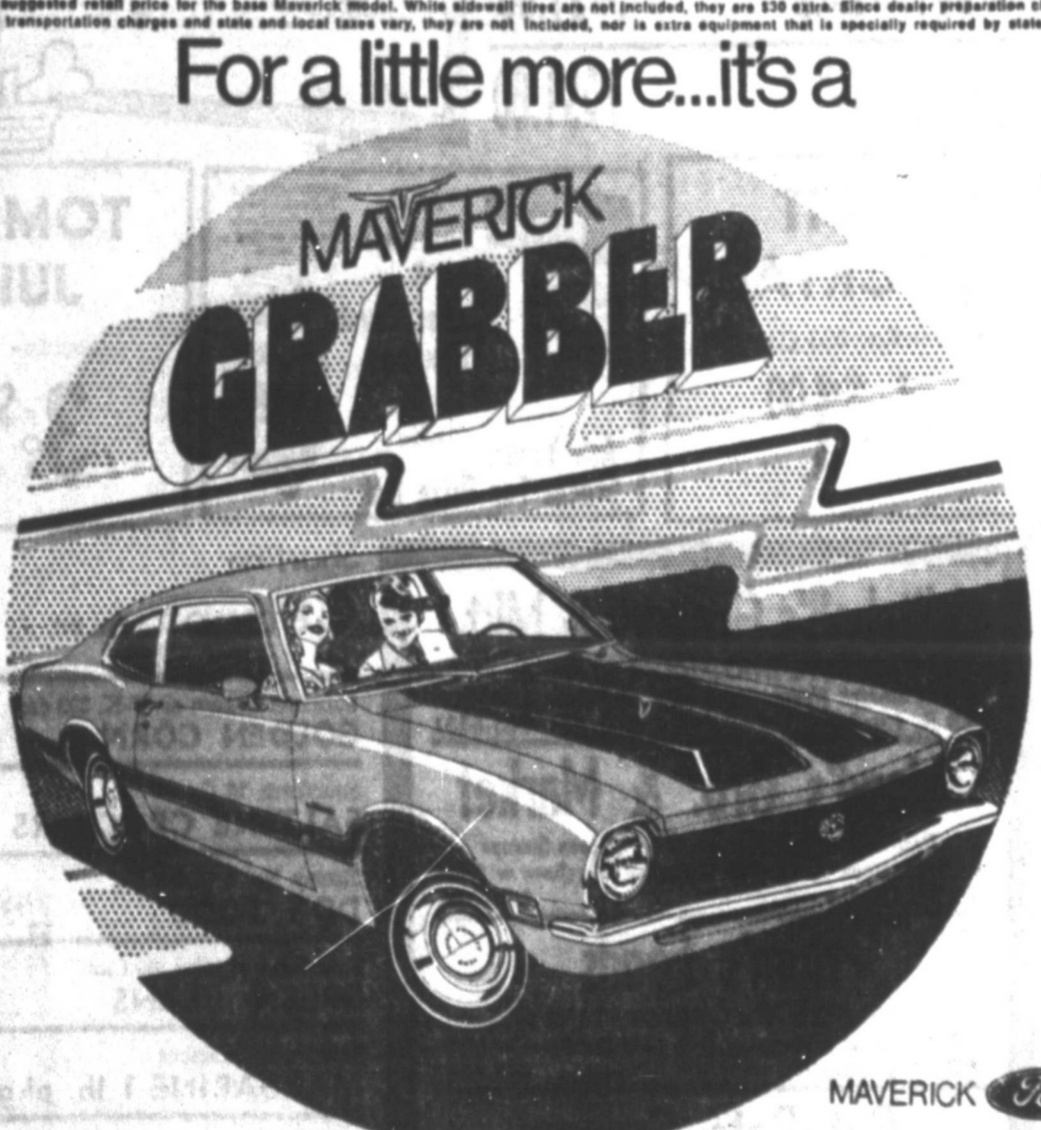

Membership is open to all persons involved or interested in oil production in the Texas Panhandle. The year's activities will include 6 chapter meetings on all industry topics of special interest in the Texas Panhandle area, the annual API golf tournament in May for the benefit of the chapter's scholarship fund, and a banquet near the year's end.

The end of the membership drive will be marked by the annual API Dance Friday, March 20, at the Pampa Country Club. Music will be furnished by Pat Carter. Memberships are $2 and dance tickets will be $5 per couple.

The first regular meeting for 1970 is scheduled Thursday, March 5, in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Bill Stroud, with Pool Co. of San Angelo, will discuss a new type of sucker rod that is being used in a well location in a coil and run with special equipment.

A social hour and dinner starting at 6:30 will precede the regular program. A charge of $3 will be made for the dinner.

Pioneer Natural Gas Starts 45-Mile Line Construction

Pioneer Natural Gas Co. has announced plans for building a 45-mile pipeline approximately 45 miles in length to extend from their existing gathering system in Gray County, to the Buffalo Wallow field in Hemphill County.

In making the announcement, Burton P. Smith, president of Pioneer, said, "Construction will start immediately and the pipeline is expected to be completed by July 15. Cost of the pipeline and related facilities connected with the project is expected to be about $3.5 million."

Coincidental with the announcement of the pipeline, Smith revealed that Pioneer had signed a contract with the Celanese Corp. to provide gas for that company's chemical plant west of Pampa.

"The contract will produce about $4 million annual revenue for Pioneer," Smith said.

In announcing the pipeline project, Smith said Pioneer had purchase contracts with major producers negotiating with other com-

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Adventurers" may be the last movie epic of its kind for decades, perhaps infinity.

The film version of Harold Robbins' novel—sales 10 million copies in hard cover and paperback—is a rampaging, blood and thunder, sexy story of jet set antics and South American revolution.

At a cost of more than $12 million, "The Adventurers" is everything the new "Easy Rider" pictures are not.

It makes no pretense of reflecting real persons in life-size proportions. The characters live on another plane and behave riotously.

Cast Of Thousands
The old "cast of thousands" wheeze applies to the picture, and most of the thousands are slaughtered in revolutionary uprisings.

Gliding through the turmoil in icy beauty are Candice Bergen and Leigh Taylor-Young, along with a few dozen naked dazzlers.

The picture's principal contribution to film is its hero, Bekim Fehmiu in the role of Dax, a Yugoslavian who spoke no English before playing the part. Fehmiu has roughly the same effect on women that Raquel Welch has on males.

Action, Color, Women
A brooding man with uneven features, tough physique and penetrating eyes, Fehmiu has an impact not unlike the early Sean Connery.

The picture took the better part of a year to film in Colombia, New York and Italy. It deletes almost nothing from the novel and probably is one of the most faithfully cast films ever taken from a best-selling book.

Ernest Borgnine is particularly effective as a fat cat, and Charles Aznavour as the oily banker.

"The Adventurers" is not a film for the entire family. Considerable editing will be necessary before "The Adventurers" is seen on television. If the bloodbaths and sex scenes are snipped it may end up as a half-hour video travelogue a la "Koolhaas and so hence."

Explosion Totals ROTC Facilities

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—An explosion knocked out one wall Monday of a room housing the Air Force ROTC facilities at the University of Colorado.

The explosion, at 12:30 a.m. (CST), "totaled out one room," according to a witness, and knocked out one wall of another room.

Boulder police declined immediate comment on the explosion, saying the Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in and a statement would be made by the federal agents.

An agent at the Denver office of the FBI confirmed today "agents are looking into it to see if this is an incident we have jurisdiction in."

The public information officer at the university confirmed an explosion rocked the Air Force ROTC room. But he also declined further comment, saying the FBI was called in to investigate.

A spokesman at the Denver office of the FBI said he believed a report of the agency's investigation would be available later today.

The explosion follows a blast touched off Friday morning, according to Scott Tyler, public information official with the university.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The "present crisis of discontinuity which is distorting economic behavior" is not a prelude to depression, which would be bearish for the market, but rather a panic of illiquidity, the Janeway Service says. This, however, is unlikely to get so out of hand that a depression market, but over the short term prices can be expected to drop far below current levels before the market turns around.

The market's technical activity has grown increasingly constructive over the past three weeks, TPO Inc. observes. Yet although most equities have been holding above their recent lows, there is still no clear-cut evidence that the market has reached bottom. The firm sees little in the majority of stocks to reward the intermediate trader, but suggests buying on a highly selective basis those leading performers which have remained bullish against the overall downtrend.

Pat Begins Cross-Country Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—First Lady Pat Nixon set out Monday on a five-day cross-country trip to salute unsung college students who work within the system to improve the establishment.

"Have fun," President Nixon told his blonde wife as she prepared to fly to Lansing to view Michigan State University students who are involved in volunteer projects as tutors for blind children, the mentally retarded and the elderly.

"The President thinks she is going to have a great trip," said Connie Stuart, the First Lady's staff director. "She's very excited about going and looking forward to seeing the kids."

White House advance men, who planned the trip, have warned Mrs. Nixon the students she will be interviewing are "dedicated, inspired and involved—but they also have long hair and beards."

"Oh long hair doesn't bother me," she told her staff. "I don't feel a generation gap." added the 57-year-old First Lady. "I've got daughters and they have friends and we've gotten along fine."

Nor does the possibility of student anti war or anti-Nixon protests bother Mrs. Nixon, according to Mrs. Stuart.

"There's always a chance of something happening," Mrs. Nixon told her aides. "But I'm not afraid of any demonstrations. I'm not concerned. The right of dissent is a right that's guaranteed in the country."

Mrs. Nixon is traveling on a presidential jet (VC137) with some 40 members of her staff and the press.

Most of her stops will be off-campus on the tour which will include visits to the University of Kentucky, the University of Cincinnati, the University of Colorado at Boulder and the School of the Ozarks on the Missouri-Arkansas border.

There will be airport ceremonies in each state with the governors of Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Colorado, all Republicans, turning out. Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes, wife of the governor of Missouri, a Democrat will greet her Thursday on her arrival in Springfield, Mo.

RICH ARRESTED

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Drummer Buddy Rich, 52, of Los Angeles was held pending posting of bond today on charges of possessing a dangerous drug. Rich was arraigned in Buffalo City Court, after being arrested in Rochester Friday night. Buffalo customs agents said they found one ounce of marijuana and other drugs in his luggage when it arrived from Toronto, where Rich was appearing.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It is a wonder to me that no network has signed Al Capp to do a talk show, particularly one that would air late at night.

For if the silent majority is as potent as some believe—and as the national Nielsen Ratings seem to indicate repeatedly—then his ratings would figure to go right through the ceiling.

The problem, of course—as made clear Sunday in the superb profile of Capp on "NBC Experiment in Television"—is that he has the true artist's impatience with fashionable pseudo-sophistication.

He also says what is precisely on his mind with a wit and pungency that draws blood. He may very well be the most direct heir of H.L. Mencken operating among us today. In all cases, the NBC-TV hour should be a required rerun in prime time.

The apparent reason for the network profile was that Capp not only is the creator of the brilliant and devastating comic strip "Li'l Abner," but also has become a hot property on the college lecture circuit because of his views on young people's behavior.

What most people forget is that Capp says, "About 95 per cent of the kids are perfectly decent. They don't protest by cracking deans' skulls." What arouses him are acts of physical violence.

And, he noted seriously Sunday, what terrifies him is what he fears will happen when the majority can no longer take it from the activist minority.

Capp has lately been described as a darling of conservatives and target of liberals. This is limited thinking. It merely reflects reaction to his latest targets.

But how many people remember, not so long ago, when he lampooned big business through the character called "Bull-moose" in his comic strip? As I

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned satellite in its Cosmos series, Tass said Saturday. Cosmos 324 was circling the earth once every 92 minutes. Western space experts say similar research satellites launched recently by the Russians appear to be 6-foot long cylinders which cannot be brought back to earth.

Soviet Aid for Guerrillas?

It remains a state secret whether the Russians promised military aid to Yasser Arafat, leader of the Palestinian commandos, who visited Moscow in mid-February. Arafat himself said important results soon would be apparent. But it is commonly believed he was not received by any top Soviet leader and that if he had been, something would have leaked by now. The Soviets are committed to a political settlement of the Middle East War, and any aid to the fiery commandos would be reluctant.

Eclipse Elicits Much Interest

By United Press International
The phenomenon of the moon moving between the sun and earth once struck terror into mankind, but it is hard to tell who awaits next Sunday's solar eclipse with the greatest glee—the scientists or the sandwich peddlers.

It shapes up as the biggest socio-economic scientific event in the South since the United States began shooting its rockets off from a lonely patch of sand at what is now Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Scientists say the eclipse will indeed be the grandest on view since 1878 and there won't be a comparable one until 2024. Hence the scientists are flocking from around the world to the narrow band of total darkness running from Tallahassee, Fla., to Norfolk, Va.

Perry, Fla.'s motels can accommodate 840 persons and they have been full for some time, with guests from nine foreign countries—120 from Switzerland alone. But most visitors are coming to camp. The town has set aside a huge area for a tent city, and since the city of 10,000 has limited restaurant facilities, the local high school's senior class plans to corner a big piece of the action with food, including 9,000 sandwiches and 3,000 chicken dinners, to be peddled at the stands set up around "prime viewing sites."

Further north at Greenville, N.C., a more scholarly attitude prevails, but the financial angle is there. East Carolina University plans a 9 a.m. breakfast for 200 guests, including several visiting scientists. At the breakfast, a "friend" who must remain anonymous until then will make a "substantial gift" to the school.

50¢ PRICE NEW SERVICE 1970

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price, of Pampa, has become the first member of Congress to introduce legislation to codify and make permanent the mandatory oil import control program. The program has been the center of raging controversy caused by individuals and groups favoring a change to a tariff system which would increase the importation of foreign oil.

Price told the packed House of Representatives which had just heard French President Pompidou address a Joint Session of Congress, "My action is motivated largely by the fact that last Friday, President Nixon released the long awaited report of the Cabinet Task Force on Oil Import Control. Throughout the course of the Task Force inquiry, I had hoped that the panel members would carefully examine and sift the testimony presented, be guided by the relevant and material facts at hand, and conclude on the basis of the full weight of the evidence that it would be in the national interest to continue the mandatory oil import control program."

Price declared, "As those of us who have read the report well know, however, the Task Force failed to unite and recommend any clear course of national policy. Instead, a cloudy and conflicting set of conclusions were arrived at, and even those were the product of much debate as to meaning and significance."

Although all seven of the panel members agreed on the need for establishing a new management system to set policy for the oil import program, only five concluded that the present system should be abolished, and even this conclusion was marked by disunity. The Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Interior differed sharply in their conclusions from the majority, while the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense expressed particular concern over the implications of the Report's conclusions in the area of national security and international relations.

The Texas Republican, who is running unopposed for his third term of office, observed that the Task Force report concluded that the present quota system of oil imports should be scrapped in favor of a new and untested tariff system. "Fortunately, President Nixon has wisely refrained from taking immediate action on the report," he said.

He declared, "I believe that if the primary conclusion of the Task Force were taken seriously and adopted, as a course of national policy, it could well prove disastrous to the American way of life as we know it. When I say this, I am not trying to be an alarmist; neither do I think I am overstating the case. I do think, however, I am fairly stating a chilling possibility. If this nation trades the tried and proven quo'a system for a new and untested tariff system, we may save a few dollars in the short run, but we could destroy our country in the long run."

Price pointed out the fact that, "Even the proponents of the tariff system admit the obvious fact that increasing the flow of oil imports would reduce the incentives needed to motivate domestic exploration for new petroleum sources. They argue, however, that foreign oil supplies are more than adequate to meet our consumer and defense needs."
