Harvest-Aid Options Face Late Cotton Farmers

SIGN OF THE TIMES--Here a grain cart that receives corn from a combine is transferring corn to a truck for the trip to the elevator. Estimates are that 50 percent or more of the Muleshoe area corn has been harvested. (Journal Photo)

Cotton farmers across the Texas High Plains, confronted with a late-planted and late-developing crop, may want to consider using a harvest-aid chemical to help induce boll opening before a killing freeze occurs, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Although not fully mature, some late set bolls could contribute to yield if the boll opening process is initiated or occurs before a hard freeze," said Dr. James Supak, Extension Service cotton agronomist.

More than half the High Plains cotton crop was planted or replanted in June, Supak noted. Where moisture was generally adequate and insect damage minimal, the crop fruited up well and retained a relatively high percentage of the bolls, he said.

"Below average heat units in July and August, coupled with excessive rains and cool, cloudy conditions in September, further slowed crop development," Supak said. "Consequently, white blooms that occurred after mid-August in the northern counties or late August in the southern sections have a low probability of developing into mature bolls before a killing freeze."

Still, those late set bolls may possibly contribute to yield if they begin to open before that freeze, he said.

"That process can be triggered by environmental conditions or induced with a harvest-aid chemical," Supak said. Decisions about which course to follow will require careful consideration of boll chemical," Supak said. Decisions about

"That process can be triggered by environmental conditions or induced with a harvest-aid chemical," Supak said. Decisions about which course to follow will require consideration of boll numbers and yield and quality potential against the cost of chemical application and possible lowering of micronaire by mixing immature and mature fibers.

"In most instances, the best management decision will be to allow the crop to stay in the field until frost because of limited yield and quality potential," the agronomist said.

"The exception will be late maturing cotton that has good yield prospects, based on the number of bolls per plant. If by early- to mid-October, the crop has only small percentages of open bolls and a relatively large number of bolls at 5 and 6 nodes above the uppermost cracked boll (NACB) that are still watery, then harvest-aid chemical treatment may be economically justified."

If chemical application is decided upon, Supak suggested that treatment be delayed until 14 to 20 days before the normal frost date. "This will provide as much time as practical for boll development, and yet allow time for the harvest-aid treatment to initiate the boll opening process," he said.

Supak explained that sunny, dry conditions and mild temperatures, coupled with periodic cool fronts in late September and October, usually hasten cut-out and crop senescence.

"As the crop enters this accelerated aging mode, boll filling slows down and boll drying begins. In addition, hormonal changes trigger the loosening of cells in the abscission zones between the burs in the bolls," he said.

These same changes also contribute to leaf discoloration and defoliation. As the leaves drop, sunlight warms the bolls and speeds up their opening.

Fire Prevention Week October 6-12

Citing the loss of 271 lives and almost $350 million in property damage to fires during 1990, Gov. Ann Richards has proclaimed the week of October 6-12 as Fire Prevention Week in Texas and announced her appointments to the new Texas Commission on Fire Protection.

"Fire continues to be a major threat to all Texans, particularly the very young and the very old," Richards said. "Our intention is that by focusing attention and resources on this problem, we can increase the safety of all Texas citizens and fire service personnel."

During 1990, fires in Texas killed 271 people, including four fire fighters, according to reports submitted by Texas fire departments to the State Fire Marshal's Office. The 94,000 reported fires injured 2,500 people and destroyed an estimated $341 million in property. The largest incident included in these statistics was the Arco chemical manufacturing fire, which caused 17 deaths and property damage estimated at $10 million.

Statistics gathered by the State Fire Marshal's Office and the Texas Department of Health show that children under 5 years old and senior citizens over 65 years old die in fires in disproportionately high numbers. Approximately 45 percent of 1990 fire deaths were children under 5 years old or senior citizens over 65 years old, although those age groups make up only 18 percent of the population.

State Fire Marshal Ernest A. Emerson encouraged all Texans to become involved in fire prevention. He noted that the 18,000 reported residential fires caused almost 200 deaths and 1,000 injuries.

"Much of this tragic loss could have been prevented," Emerson said. "We have the knowledge and technology today to prevent much of the needless loss of lives and property in this state. We urge every Texan to practice fire prevention every day to help conserve our valuable Texas resources."

Emerson added that fire prevention efforts in the home can be increased by three

Teachers Present Workshops

Pat Watson and Johanna Wrinkle, English teachers at Muleshoe High School, are scheduled to present three workshops at various conventions during the current school year. They first became interested in this type of presentation in 1988 when they were accepted as presenters at the convention for the Texas Council of English Teachers. Since that time, they have broadened their interests to include workshops in a variety of English-related areas.

On October 11, the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading (TAIR) conference will be held at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. The theme for this year's conference is "Reading: Opening New World for Children." Watson and Wrinkle will be presenting an interest session on "Novel Ways to Extend the Novel," which is designed to meet the needs for secondary teachers. This workshop will offer unique ideas for teaching the novel: how to enhance for the regular classroom and how to extend for the higher-level thinking skills. Ideas presented will include a unique approach to teaching Chaucer by the study of physiognomy, temperaments, and the humours. The universality of Thomas Hardy's pessimistic views of life will be analyzed. In addition, they will present ideas for incorporating the allegorical concept in teaching novels and methods for correlating other media in teaching novels.

This pair of teachers will be attending the conference for Texas Association for the Gifted and Talented, to be held at the Hyatt Regency DFW, DFW Airport, Texas, November 20-23. The theme for this year's conference is "Search for Excellence." They are scheduled to present two workshops on "Tactics to Tackle Gifted/Talented Thinking," which is based on one of the books they have produced by the same title. These workshops will include ideas for teaching writing and extended thinking skills in literary units and will incorporate research, poetry, group projects, vocabulary, and units for teaching the novel.

Watson and Wrinkle were this week notified that they have been accepted for their fifth year as presenters for the Texas Council of Teachers of English convention in February of 1992. They will offer a workshop for extending the novel in a variety of ways.

After two presentations at the state convention for English teachers, these two Muleshoe teachers decided to combine their ideas and prepare a teaching syllabus, "Structure VS. Creativity: Two approaches to Writing. This has been well received and is now placed in schools throughout the state. Their repertoire of books now includes this book plus "Stream of Consciousness, Challenging Teenagers with Dickens," and "Tactics to Tackle Gifted/Talented Thinking." In addition, Mrs. Watson has written a syllabus for teaching creative writing, "The 'Write' Path to Creative Expression."

The two teachers have spent a combined total of thirty-three years teaching in the Muleshoe schools. Their current teaching assignments range from English I to Honors English III and IV and include classes in vocabulary and creative writing. They are also co-chairmen of the English department. Their enjoyment of the art of teaching and their love for students led them to the teaching profession and are the factors that keep them involved with student life at MHS.

SCAC Meets

By Courtney Graves

The Student Community Action Club met September 16 in the home of Melissa Toombs. Tiffany Angley, vice-president, called the meeting to order. The prayer was then given by Jill Noble. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Courtney Graves. Next, Lashelle Scoggin gave the treasurer's report and stressed that each member needs to pay his or her dues as soon as possible. Galin Latham, president, then began the new business stating that SCAC needs to decide how it will earn and spend its money this coming year.

The 1991-92 officers of SCAC then introduced themselves to the group. They are: Galin Latham, president Tiffany Angley, vice-president, Courtney Graves, secretary, Lashelle Scoggin, treasurer, Mark Hicks, parliamentarian, Jill Noble, chaplain, and Jody Field, student council representative.

Money making projects were also talked about. The idea of a bake sale around Christmas or Thanksgiving was brought up as was the idea of renting the dunking board for a day. A committee was set up to discuss and evaluate money making projects. The committee is made up of Corrie Savuto, Patricia Del Toro, Audree Anzuldua, Michael Richardson, Charla Holt, and Jason Harmon.

Brought up also was an idea of beginning to landscape the Heritage Complex. Also, all SCAC members are encouraged to bring any items they no longer want to the Heritage Thrift Shop. Most of SCAC's money goes to help the operation and upkeep of the shop. Finally, all SCAC members are invited to attend all Heritage Board meetings.

It was voted that the next meeting be held at Jill Noble's house on Monday, October 21. As refreshments were being served, members of SCAC looked at the very first scrapbook of the Student Community Action Club. Mr. Gulley then expressed his idea of a Celebrity Auction to raise money. The committee will meet next Tuesday at 8 in Mr. Gulley's room.

Our speaker Mrs. Vicki Hardwick arrived and treated SCAC to one of the best programs ever presented to the group. Mrs. Hardwick spoke on the things she feels make a good citizen. The first is "Gain respect for Yourself!", the next "Set Goals for Yourself!" and last "Believe in Yourself!" Mrs. Hardwick also stated she feels volunteer work is essential. Mrs. Hardwick was then presented an award for SCAC Citizen of the Month for September. Lashelle pinned on her corsage as SCAC members applauded. The meeting was adjourned.

Tops Club

TOPS Chapter No. 34 met at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday in the Girl Scout Hut. Leader Laverne James called the meeting to order. The TOPS pledge was recited and the fellowship song sung.

Betty Jo Davis, weight recorder, called the roll with 14 members answering with the amount they had lost or gained. No minutes were read.

Ernestine Steinbock was named best loser for the week. Runners-up included: Alene Bryant, Joy Harp and Marian Wilson tied for first and Molly Davis, Laverne James and Alma Robertson tied for second.

Monthly best losers included: Zane Kelly, best loser, first runner-up was Joy Harp; and Linda White, second runner-up. The meeting was adjourned with the singing of the good-night song.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION--The children of Marshal and Jo Anne Head honor their parents as they celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. The Heads were married October 7, 1951 in Custer City, Oklahoma. They have resided in the Muleshoe area since Marshal's release from the Air Force in December of 1954. Marshal has been involved in the agricultural industry since that time. Jo Anne worked as a nurse at the local hospital for fifteen years then moved into public health nursing for the past sixteen years. Marshal and Jo Anne have four children and nine grandchildren. Their children include Janice Widener and family, who reside in Memphis; Lynda Couch and family, who are currently moving to Melbourne, Australia; Susan Head and daughter, who reside in Portales, N.M.; and David Head and family, who recently moved back to Muleshoe. A private celebration dinner is planned in honor of the anniversary. (Guest Photo)

IN FASHION

Jeans are still the rage in the world's fashion capitals. Most are designed to fit every body shape. Today's jeans, in blue or black, feature gold belts and topped with colorful soft, multi-colored, oversized shirts embellished with stones and sequins for a sparkling effect.

One of the newer looks for all is the all-important tunic worn over leggings or body-fitting short skirts. For variety, cinch tunic with a jeweled belt.

Rebekah Lodge

Following the community meeting on the proposed prison, Muleshoe's Rebekah Lodge No. 114 met at 8 p.m., October 1. Joyeline Costen opened lodge and Fern Davis gave the opening prayer. A financial report was given by Treasurer Thursie Reid. June Green read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Ten members were present.

This is a reminder that Hereford Lodge is celebrating its birthday on October 11 at 7:30. We are invited, so let's help with that celebration.

Mary Ann Ramirez gave a report on the upcoming American Heart Association project. Six to eight Rebekahs are needed on October 14 from 7 to 9 at Five Area to telephone area residents to pledge for the American Heart Association. We helped in this project last year and hope to do more this year.

Pat Langfitt was elected District Deputy President and One Berry was elected Lodge Deputy.

This is a reminder that the annual Rebekah Thanksgiving dinner will be held on November 7 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lodge Hall. Eat in or take out orders will be $6 a plate. This is our biggest money making project for the year and we need all members support in selling tickets and in the dinner process to succeed. Mary Ann has the tickets so get yours now.

The quilt tickets are available. Please see Mary Ann Ramirez to get quilt tickets and get out and sell. The quilt tickets are $1 each or 6 for $5. Remember that the donations which are received for the quilt go to the United Nations Tour trip for David Ramirez and Stacey Langfitt next summer. These are two Muleshoe High Students and this is an educational tour that they will never forget. Help the Lodge to support the Oddfellow-Rebekah United Nations tour by making a donation. Grace Scarborough made the top to the quilt and our lodge members have finished the quilting process. Thanks to all.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Can one microwave a whole chicken?

Yes, dry the chicken thoroughly first. Combine equal parts bouquet sauce and melted butter and rub into skin.

Place chicken breast-side up on rack or dish and microwave on High for half the specified time. Rotate dish and microwave other half the time, until legs move freely and juices are clear.

Cover and let stand five minutes.

We believe most people are ready for autumn this year.

The main purpose of education is to teach one to think.

Tourism Increased

Despite ominous forecasts, the Persian Gulf crisis and economic recession did not stop tourists from traveling through Texas.

According to the Texas Auto Visitor Survey, 5.8 percent more vacationers visited Texas Travel Information Centers this summer than last. The survey, released by the Texas Department of Transportation, covers June through August, the peak of the tourism season.

Texas does not appear to be as affected by the recession as other regions and tourist destinations across the nation. Nationwide, tourists took shorter vacations and stayed closer to home, according to the U.S. Travel Data Center.

"It seems that people have taken their vacations as planned, but maybe they've been a little more cautious," said Milton Meharg, director of the Travel Services Section of the Department of Transportation.

Meharg said that for the last two summers, vacationers traveling between 501 and 800 miles made up the largest percentage of tourists. In prior years, tourists traveling 801 to 1,000 miles made up the largest group.

"That means they're pulling in their reins a little bit," Meharg said.

What the world needs today is more honest, sincere, average people.

Cotton Prep

"This is why we sometimes see very immature bolls near the top of the plant cracking open whereas more mature bolls lower in the plant are still green and firm," Supak said.

"Immature but harvestable bolls that are conditioned in this manner are unlikely to be damaged by a hard freeze when it occurs. On such 'hardened off' plants, the leaves usually drop and bolls open within a week or two after the freeze," he said.

Immature bolls also can be forced to open through the use of a plant growth regulator called prep, the agronomist said. This harvest-aid chemical is a strong formulation of ethephon, which releases the plant hormone ethylene into the plant. Ethylene accelerates loosening of the cells in the abscission zones between the burs.

"For this to occur, a sufficient amount of the chemical must be deposited directly on the boll, as the chemical isn't translocated in the plant," Supak cautioned. And he said temperatures must range from a low of the upper 50s to a high of the upper 70s and above for boll opening to occur.

"Where natural aging isn't conditioning the crop, Prep could possibly be used to force opening of immature bolls to avoid risk of their destruction by a hard, killing freeze," Supak said.

The profitability of such a treatment would depend on several factors, including the crop yield potential and the number of bolls that are sufficiently high in moisture to be susceptible to freeze damage, he noted.

In a 1990 test, a portion of a field with yield potential in excess of two bales an acre was terminated when only 20 percent of the bolls were open. To establish individual boll weights and quality, bolls were harvested from each nodal position and kept separate throughout the drying, opening, ginning and fiber testing.

In this trial, all bolls at or below node 7 were already open. Lint weight and micronaire for the bolls harvested from nodes 7 through 15 are shown in Table 1. These results show that bolls harvested from nodes 8 to 10 were essentially mature at the time of harvest. Bolls at node 11 also were mature (based on lint weight and micronaire value) but still relatively high in moisture at harvest. Bolls at nodes 12 through 15 were immature and very high in moisture.

Supak said these observations indicate that bolls occurring up to 4 nodes above the uppermost cracked boll are mature and in all likelihood would open following a freeze. The remaining bolls are immature and vulnerable to freeze damage.

"A prep application could 'save' the immature bolls," the cotton specialist said, "but would their contribution to yield and quality justify the treatment cost?" The answer depends on the number of vulnerable bolls located 5 or more NACB, he said.

Assuming that the example crop had 40,000 plants per acre and boll retentions of 35, 25, 15 and 5 percent at 5, 6, 7 and 8 NACB, respectively, you could expect a Prep treatment to result in 70 pounds of lint yield, he explained. In that example, about 43 pounds of that yield increase would come from the bolls located 5 NACB and 18 pounds from bolls at 6 NACB, he said.

Using a "micronaire averaging" procedure developed by Dr. Jane Dever, associate research scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, mixing the example's immature fiber with the mature would lower mike values about six to seven percent, Supak said. In this example, that would drop the micronaire from 4.1 to 3.8.

From these yield and quality considerations, Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist at Lubbock, approximated the potential increase in return from application of Prep to this hypothetical crop. His analyses are summarized in Table 2, and show a potential increase in net return of about $20 an acre.

"Remember," Supak cautioned, "that their analyses were made using a 'best case' example. The lint quality characteristics (micronaire) and yield potential of late-planted 1991 cotton fields aren't likely to be as good as those of the crop used in their example."

Windbreak

Seedlings Now

Available For Sale

As a service to the Bailey County area, the Blackwater Valley Soil & Water Conservation District is offering windbreak tree seedlings for sale.

Windbreak trees help control wind erosion in fields, beautify and protect farmsteads, and can provide excellent wildlife food and shelter.

This year the Blackwater Valley SWCD will have over 20 different species of windbreak and wildlife seedlings available. Windbreak seedling orders will be taken until February 28, however, some species are available in limited quantity and may sell out quickly, so place orders as early as possible.

Supplemental watering is an essential part of a successful windbreak planting and the SWCD also has drip irrigation systems available to help ensure good seedling survival.

For more information on prices, orders, species availability, etc., contact the Soil Conservation Service, 105 E. Ave. D, Muleshoe, Texas, 272-5124.

Mules at 7:33 in the quarter. The Mules again saw themselves punting the ball back to the Wildcats with 5:14 left in the quarter.

Two plays later the RR Wildcats were hit with their second penalty for illegal procedure. A few plays later they too punted it back to the Mules at 3:22.

The Mules having control of the ball were intercepted by Jimmy Cook at 2:04 in the quarter giving the ball back to the RR Wildcats.

The Wildcats putting the ball in scoring position were denied the chance when Mule Jonathan Villa blocked a pass intended for Jimmy Cook.

The first half ended with the River Road Wildcats leading the Mules 14-0.

The Wildcats taking the opening kick-off of the third quarter punted the ball back to the Mules with just 1:25 into the third quarter.

With the Mules in control of the ball again saw their second penalty of the game, this time for illegal procedure.

The Mules unable to move the ball further downfield once again punted it back to the RR Wildcats.

With the Wildcats claiming two more first downs, the game was delayed when Brian Rasco for the Muleshoe Mules was injured at 8:19.

Rasco was carried off the field with a neck injury. He was taken to the local hospital for his injuries but was checked and released.

With the game resuming and the RR Wildcats still in control of the ball were intercepted by Mule Chris Domingues at 8:06 left in the quarter. The Mules kept the ball alive behind the running talents of Brent Hernandez, Ramiro Alarcon, Galin Latham, and Kip McCall advancing the ball further upfield gaining a few more first downs.

The Mules having possession until 2:02 fumbled the ball and was recovered by Elliott McKinney giving the Wildcats control of the ball with 2:00 left in the third quarter.

With the Wildcats having possession of the ball punted it back to the Mules with :41 seconds left in the third quarter. The ball going over the punter's head the Mules were able to recover the ball in the endzone for their first and only TD of the game.

The ball was recovered by Mule Ricky Flores with the point after try being unsuccessful by Michael Hardwick.

Third quarter action ended with the Wildcats still leading the Mules 14-6.

Fourth quarter action began with the Wildcats in possession of the ball fumbled it with just 7 seconds into the quarter. The fumble was recovered by Mule Jonathan Villa giving the Mules another chance at the ball.

Still unable to move it upfield the Mules punted the ball back to the RR Wildcats at 9:40 in the quarter.

River Road in control of the ball with a few rushing plays under their belts punted the ball back to the Mules at 7:24.

The fourth quarter seemed to be a back and forth routine for both teams before the RR Wildcats took possession of the ball once again with 6:02 left in the quarter.

The Wildcats again in excellent field position added 3 more points to their score when Jimmy Cook for the RR Wildcats booted in a field goal at 3:10 left in the fourth quarter.

After a few passing plays for the Mules, gave the ball back to the Wildcats with 2:23 left.

The Mules defense keeping the Wildcats out of the endzone put the ball back into their hands at 1:45 left in the quarter. A play later the Mules were intercepted by RR Wildcat Ryan Smith giving the Wildcats another shot at the endzone.

The RR Wildcats holding true to their offense again made it into the endzone with just :37 seconds left, the PAT by Jimmy Cook was good.

The Mules were unable to move the ball upfield kept control of the ball till the end of the game.

The final score of the game was Muleshoe 6, Amarillo River Road 24.

Next week, the Mules play at home against the Dimmitt Bobcats with game time set for 8 p.m.

Also, it is Homecoming for the Mules.

Fire Prevention...

that making sure each home has an adequate number of working smoke detectors and that practicing escape procedures in the home can greatly improve your chances of surviving or avoiding a fire," he said.

"Second," Emerson added, "always watching the stove or range while cooking could help avoid cooking fires, the leading type of residential fire. And third, exercising great care while smoking and using heating equipment could reduce the number of fatal fires, especially those in which more than one person dies."

Fire Prevention Week was first declared in 1922 by President Warren Harding in memory of the so-called "Great Chicago Fire" of October 9, 1871. That conflagration killed 250 people and destroyed 17,430 buildings valued at the time at $168 million. Recognizing the limitations of even the best fire suppression capabilities, the public and the fire service began thinking in terms of fire prevention as a result of the Chicago fire.

The creation of the Commission on Fire Protection will be an important tool in addressing the fire problem in Texas, Richards said. The commission, which was established by legislation passed during the regular session of the Texas Legislature, combines several state functions that deal with fire service. The agencies or agency divisions that will be part of the commission are:

The Office of the State Fire Marshal, currently a division of the Texas Department of Insurance. The office is responsible for fire investigations, fire safety inspections, licensing of several fire-safety related industries, and fire-related information programs.

Chamber Comments

By Carolyn Johnson

The beginning of any new program is always a time for excitement! It is also an opportune time to inform the public about the program and give an overview of its purpose. "Leadership Muleshoe" will hold its first organizational meeting Monday, October 7 at the Chamber of Commerce Office. The Ambassadors/Ambassadorettes, a select group of ten high school students will make up this organization along with ten adult leaders. Officers will be elected and guidelines and by-laws developed. Monthly meetings will be held.

Each representative student will select one area of interest from the list below making up the Leadership Program: Law Enforcement, Education, Agriculture, Democracy, Emergency Medical, Religion, Social/Cultural, Heritage, Industry, Personal Development.

A community leader is also being solicited to accept the responsibility of "adult leader" in each area of interest. If you would like to learn more about what's involved in becoming one of these leaders, please call the Chamber office at 272-4248. The adult leaders will participate in various activities with the youth and serve as examples of "leadership." Their influence will be powerful and enduring. Their rewards will be numerous!

There are five major goals of "Leadership Muleshoe." They are:

- (1) To instill and develop high moral and spiritual standards.
- (2) To develop awareness of community, state, and national heritage.
- (3) To develop an understanding of democracy and the American way of life.
- (4) To develop leadership skills, communication skills, and human relation skills through participating in community services.

(5) To develop an appreciation for the dignity of work and the ability to work cooperatively.

The organization will be self-supporting with the members participating in fund raising activities.

The Board of Directors for the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture gave full support to the organization of this program. Their enthusiasm for our youth in developing positive attitudes, life skills, and feelings of self worth is at the bottom of its progress. Expect to hear many accomplishments from the "Leadership Muleshoe" organization!

Our Bouquet of the Week goes to our individual members. These are individuals that take a personal interest outside of their business or organization to be an active part of our chamber. Their unique assets, talents, and interests are important to us! Our individual members are: Douglas Bales, Vic Benedict, Cliff and Carren Black, Olan Burrows, Mike Caldwell, Tim Campbell, Richard Edwards, James Glaze, Sam

Harlan, Vere Fox, Tom Jinks, Robert Lepad, Walter Little, Barbara McCamish, Lonnie Merriott, Nelda Merriott, W.T. Millen, Kerry Moore, Merlyn Neel, Kenneth Precure, Irvin St. Clair, David Tipps, Dorothy Turner, Leon Warren and Elizabeth Watson.

Running stocker calves on wheat pasture?

Now, more than ever, IVOMEC® can build your profits.

(ivermectin)

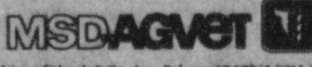

At this year's beef prices, every pound you put on your calves is worth good money. And with IVOMEC® (ivermectin) you can put on plenty of extra pounds.

Whenever you have cattle on pasture, you're bound to have parasites. And if your calves have been sold and resold before shipping, you can't know what parasites they've picked up. And parasites steal weight.

But one shot of IVOMEC kills 31 different kinds of parasites—more than twice as many as TRAMISOL® and WARBEX® combined.

IVOMEC kills mature and immature worms, so you don't have to use it again in a couple of weeks. And IVOMEC gets external parasites, too. It does it all with just one simple shot under the skin. No wrestling. No Mess. No stress.

So go with your best shot.
Get IVOMEC.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Just a short note to remind you that on Oct. 16, 1951, the from the old crank-style telephone system. At that time, it was known as Southwestern Associated Telephone Co.

(S.W.A.T.) Now you know it as General Telephone Co.

Sincerely,
George W. Chapman

Kiwanis News

Fourteen Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, three guests and Sweetheart, Tiffany Angeley met this morning at the Dairy Queen for breakfast.
Our honorary Kiwanians present were Jon Keith Turner, Robby Clapp and Chad Johnson. Our guests were Stacy Langfitt, Dee Dee Morris and Cliff Black. As usual, another long, long day for Sweetheart Tiffany. Up early for Kiwanis, go to the Calvary Baptist Church for a SCA breakfast, on to school, pep rally and then to a football game tonight. Tiff, if you have any spare time, come see me and we will get you enrolled in something. We love you for your dedication to Kiwanis and all of the other activities you are in. If a certain ole boy doesn't like to share you as a sweetheart to a bunch of guys, he's in trouble.

President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. J.O.
(ugly legs) Parker led the club in the pledge to the flag. Robert Montgomery gave the invoccation. Sweetheart Tiffany has been looking for a friend or somewhere to spend the friendship coin but couldn't find either, decided to give the coin to Brad representing the Kiwanis Club in the news media. Tiff, here's hoping we can always be friends. It was announced that Randy Lewis' wife left town last Wednesday and since then Randy has been laying out from work. Tom cating around all night and things like that. Randy, that is hard to believe, or is it? You might as well go ahead and have a good time because you are going to catch it when your wife comes home.

Don Clapp was in charge of the program. Don showed a video about Wet Lands. It seems that in our progress, as we sometimes call it, we have done away with over 50 percent of our Wet Lands. When we lose our Wet Lands, we are losing our wild life, especially our water fowl. The water fowl really need this Wet Land to migrate from the north for wintering grounds and breeding. There seems to be quite a few people who are working to bring back some of the Wet Lands. We commend these people for their hard work and hope that more take up the practice. Don, thanks for a very enjoyable program. We thank Wilson Appliance for the loan of a T.V. and V.C.R. If you are in need of a TV-VCR etc., see Gordon Wilson and tell him the Kiwanis Club sent you in.

Thanks Gordon.

All Kiwanian's and mates,
Kiwanis Banquet, 7:00 p.m.
Tuesday, Oct. 8th at the Coliseum. See you there.

ESSENTIAL TOO!

The boys on the field are carrying the bulk of the game, but all the boys on the bench are eagerly awaiting their opportunity to get in the game. Some will get to play, others won't, yet each is essential to the team. During practice each week their efforts help build a better team. To function properly, a church must work as a team. The Pastor and his associates carry most of the load. Many others are needed to help train and teach, or do many other tasks. However whether or not you can serve the Lord in some capacity, your presence in the worship services does help you and others too.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
