MAYOR TURNER SIGNS MASONIC PROCLAMATION--Friday morning, Muleshoe Mayor Darrell Turner, seated, signed a proclamation, declaring March 10, 1991 as Masonic Awareness Day in Muleshoe. ## Texas Masons Plan To Hold Open House Next Sunday

Muleshoe Masonic Lodge No. 1237 has joined 940 other Masonic Lodges across Texas in scheduling a simultaneous state-wide Public Open House between 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday, March 10, 1991. The Lodge is located at 122 W. Avenue C.

Alton Epting, Master of the local lodge, said an open invitation is extended to anyone interested in learning more about Masonry and what Masons do.

He noted that Fred E. Allen of Mt. Pleasant, Grand Master of the 180,000 member Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas, has defined the intent of the "showcase" open house event as being "to put Masonry on display so anyone interested can see for themselves what Masons do and have a better understanding of what Masonry is all about."

Printed cards will give brief explanations of more significant points of interest about the lodge room, including some of the more prominent symbols utilized in Masonry to teach Masonic philosophy. Best known of these symbols are the square and compasses, which identify members of the craft, together with other tools of the medieval stonemasons... builders of the great Gothic Cathedrals.

Allen explained, that to the three and one half million Masons in the U. S., these symbols are reminders of a Mason's duty to live by the highest moral standards, to practice brotherly love, and to affirm loyalty to his country. He said Masons believe that the quality of a man's life should

Part of Friday morning was spent discussing the 1991 Census figures released by the Department of Commerce. The discussion took place by the Bailey County Commissioners, who heard Bailey County Judge Marilyn Cox report that the figure shows that Bailey County has had a 13 percent decrease in population in the past ten years. At this time, she said, the population is shown to be 7,064, a decrease of more than 900 people from the 1980 census report.

However, Judge Cox said the census figures could change again, and the commissioners would 'possibly' be forced to look at re-districting, according to the new figures.

The Department of Commerce will divide the county into 'blocks' reported the judge, and decide how many people live in each 'block.' This will not be like city blocks, but in any manner the Department of Commerce decides to divide up the county.

On questioning by the commissioners, Judge Cox said the commissioners can challenge the official census count.

After more discussion, when it was brought out that many, many people missed being counted in the census last year, the county has elected to do their own census count. They approved counting everybody in the county.

The judge commented, "We want to be fair, we want to be very careful, and we want to communicate with our minority people as we make our own count of residents."

missioners. For his monthly report, he said the EMS made 34 calls during the month of February. Of this number, 22 were emergency calls; four were transfers to other hospitals; and eight were no-transport.

He said the February billing was $7,949.41, an average of $233.81 per call.

A total of $4,426.77 was collected in February.

Collections were 'up' slightly over January collections. Burris explained that in discussions with Medicare, other hospitals and other EMS services, they informed him that the first three months of any year are 'slow months' for collections.

He said with current collections above 50 percent, he hopes to get that amount to at least 80 percent in collections.

"I feel like we're doing pretty good," added Burris.

Burris also asked for a waiver of the salary probation for Joyce McGehee, EMS-office manager. He said, "She's working out perfect, and couldn't be doing any better. She's a fine lady and very dedicated."

His request for the waiver for

Sudan Man's Son Killed In Operation Desert Storm

By: John Rigg
A-J Regional Editor

The Persian Gulf war hit close to home this week when Melfred Collins - the son of Sudan resident Fred Collins - was killed Sunday while on duty with the U. S. Army in Saudi Arabia.

The 32-year-old soldier apparently died while he was attempting to defuse a mine, his father said. He said he did not know exactly where or when his son was killed.

"The only thing I know is my son died Sunday. He was defusing a mine. I got the word yesterday by his wife," Collins told the Avalanche-Journal on Wednesday.

Melfred Collins had served three years in the Army, was discharged in the 1980' and then rejoined last year after Saddam Hussein sent his army to overrun Kuwait.

"He had been in before and was discharged. He went back in and was sent to Saudi Arabia in December," said his aunt, Carol Collins of Lubbock.

Before he re-enlisted, he was living in Buda near Houston and working in the construction industry, Mrs. Collins said.

Her husband, George, said he and his wife had not heard from their nephew for some time. George Collins said his nephew may have rejoined the service after he was contacted by the Army last year.

"I don't know. They possibly contacted him. I believe they did that to a lot of young men" who had been in the Army, George Collins said. "There are a lot of blank spaces."

Melfred, the oldest son in a family of six children, was born in Muleshoe and grew up in West Texas, living in such towns as Levelland, Littlefield and Monahans while his father worked in the oil industry. He received most of his education at schools in Levelland, his uncle said.

"He was an extremely nice, gentle person - very quiet and reserved," George Collins said. "He had very deep feelings about our country and freedom. I'm sure that was the ultimate driving force for his going back in."

"Creative Living" will not be seen on Tuesday, March 5 at 9:30 p.m. because of special programming but will return to its regularly scheduled time on April 2.

On Thursday, March 7 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on direct-selling as a career and preparing Turkey Wellington.

Elsie Shealy has been working as a direct salesperson for World Book, Inc. for almost 40 years. She's going to talk about the advantages and benefits of direct selling as a career and explain why over 42,000 people are employed either full or part time in direct sales. Ms. Shealy is from Lexington, SC.

Teresa Farney, spokesperson for the National Turkey Federation, will show how to prepare elegant, nutritious Turkey Wellington. Besides being easy to prepare, the crust is made with a convenience product--frozen puff pastry--and the meat inside is low-fat turkey tenderloins. Ms. Farney is from Reston, VA.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada,

Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 25 cent stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address and booklets requested to:

Jennyslippers Meet In Regular Session

It was a lengthy agenda for the Jennyslippers when they met at noon Tuesday at the library. Mary Ann Ramirez called the meeting to order and read a number of letters including one from Robert Montgomery, apologizing for neglecting to recognize Pat Langfitt at the Chamber of Commerce banquet. Mrs. Langfitt served on the CofC board in 1990.

Mrs. Ramirez also read a thank you from Sgt. Van Ledgerwood, one of the servicemen who the Jennyslippers sent a goodie box at Christmas. Sgt. Ledgerwood stated that they (servicemen) were all amazed at the support from everyone and it helps knowing that everyone is behind them.

She also read a thank you note expressing appreciation for the excellent job the Jennyslippers had done at the Career Day Seminar.

Nelda Merriott reported on the "Toast To Texas" celebration set March 2. She stated that signs had been made for putting along the highways and posters are being placed around Muleshoe. She also reported that she had talked to the Kiwanians and Rotary Club.

Robert Montgomery, CofC president, presented Pat Langfitt a plaque from the CofC, stating that this was an oversight of the CofC, that it wasn't presented at the banquet. "I've enjoyed working with Mrs. Langfitt the past year, she was an asset to the CofC, when she spoke she deserved to be listened to" Montgomery said as he made the presentation. "I individually and the CofC appreciate all that the Jennyslippers do."

The group voted to make a donation to the Precious Beginnings project at the local hospital.

Ruby Green read a letter concerning a bazaar on July 4th and the group voted to have the bazaar if Mrs. Green can get the facilities.

Selfishness will break up any partnership.

Few human beings like listening as well as talking.

Lazbuddie FHA News

Lazbuddie's Future Homemakers of America had a week full of activities February 11 through 15 in celebration of National FHA Week.

On Monday, the FHA members were given posters for their lockers, which drew attention from the rest of the student body. The colorful posters listed names of FHA members and set the stage for the week's focus on the worthwhile projects of FHA, an active national organization which promotes healthy family and home life, knowledge in family health, nutrition, and consumer economics, life management skills, parenting education, entrepreneurship, and skills in managing careers and homemaking. FHA works hand-in-hand with classroom vocational home economics instruction.

On Tuesday, the FHA drew attention to the need to support the U.S. servicemen and women in the Mid East. FHA members decorated the school cafeteria with "Support Our Troops" banners and posted a giant blue heart, which was decorated by the elementary students. Each student glued a small red and white bow on the heart.

IN FASHION

The smart shopper invests in a classic suit, featuring long jacket and skirt, that can be paired to offer several outfits.

Usually a small plaid suit is most flexible. The long jacket is paired with solid colored pants and skirts that pick up one or more colors in the jacket. Tops are varied to blend with the paired outfit.

A jeweled-neck sweater and bold gold jewelry added to the plaid suit doubles for the office or dinner engagement.

Doing favors for people is habit-forming, in both directions.

FHA Valentine day. FHA members drew names to exchange Valentines on Thursday. FHA members worked to complete balloon Valentine orders from their Valentine Entrepreneurship project.

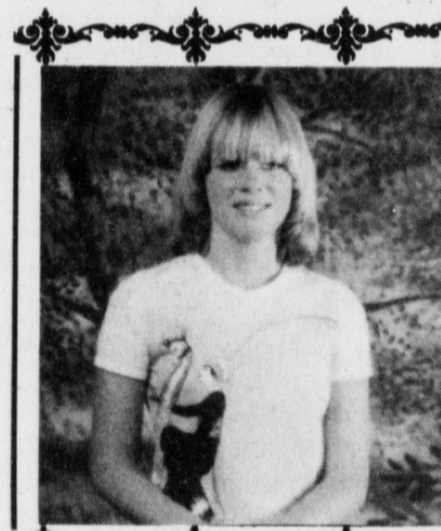

Thursday was "Red and White Day." Everyone was urged to wear red and white, which are FHA's colors. FHA members delivered Valentine Balloons.

Friday was "Teacher Appreciation Day." FHA members decorated the cafeteria and school halls with banners expressing appreciation of their teachers. In addition, several FHA members created a pink-frosted cake and placed it on the teachers' dining table in the cafeteria for their enjoyment during the noon break.

Lazbuddie's FHA is an active organization, headed up by advisor, Mrs. Barbara Lust, who is the school's home economics teacher.

However, a man who was to have visited the jail and assess the probable cost for renovations has been ill, so the sheriff

George Collins said he is not sure when and where the funeral for his nephew will be held.

"There are two different stories. One is that he will be buried around Buda. But his oldest sister thought he would be buried in Arizona," he said, noting that it will be seven to ten days before the body is returned to the United States.

The Rev. Cliff Hargrove, pastor of First Baptist Church in Sudan, said the death will leave its mark on this community of about 1,000 people.

"If you're a citizen of a small town, you're concerned," Hargrove said. "This could have been somebody you know. It affects everybody."

Hargrove, who was wounded while serving with the U. S. Army in the Vietnam War, said his church formed a support group two years ago for the families of men and women in the armed forces.

He said that 13 families in the church have sons and daughters serving with the military in Operation Desert Storm.

Cutworm Infestations Reach Fields Here

BY: Brent Baugh, Entomologist (EA), Bailey & Parmer Counties

Economic infestations of army cutworms have been found in our area. The infestation area is from northern Kansas through the Texas high plains. Most of the alfalfa fields in our area contain a high number of this pest. The wheat fields in the area have varying degrees of army cutworm infestations. Population densities are usually greater in the well-drained areas of the field.

The army cutworm lays its eggs in late summer through early fall, with each female laying about 1000-3000 eggs. Because of the staggered egg lay, a large variation exists in larval size and development. The army cutworm feeds above the soil surface, but spends much of its time beneath the soil surface.

reflect his faith in God and his ethical ideals.

Other Masonic-related organizations are also being invited to participate in the open house program to provide insight into their particular organizations. Although not active in all communities, these affiliated Masonic groups include the York Rite, Scottish Rite, the Shrine, the Grotto, the Beauceant, Order of Eastern Star, Daughters of the Nile, Daughters of Mokanna, Order of DeMolay for Boys, Order of Rainbow for Girls, and Job's Daughters, the newest entry in Texas.

Allen cited the showcase event as a first in Texas in which various Masonic and Masonic-related groups join in public display of their respective regalia and symbols in a blend of colorful pageantry open to all.

He declared an over all objective is to help dispel the misconception many people have that Masonry is a secret society. He pointed out Masonry does not conceal its existence, principles or aims. Members proudly wear the square and compasses and other Masonic insignia, and Lodge buildings are well identified and often made available for appropriate community activities.

Masons collectively provide over $2 million a day and thousands of hours of service donated to worthy causes, including over $750 million every year for charitable activities.

It was further pointed out, that while Masons do not solicit members, men of good character may ask to become members.

Members of Muleshoe Masonic Lodge and other associated Masonic bodies will be on hand to answer questions during the public open house.

The larvae will feed upon a wide range of plants as long as there is green growth present. The larvae prefer the leaves and will only eat stems and other parts when food is scarce.

The economic threshold for wheat as suggested by TAEX, is two to three larvae per linear row feet for drought-stressed wheat of four inches or shorter in height. When wheat is in more favorable growing conditions, the economic threshold is three to four larvae per linear row feet. In alfalfa, treat when two or more larvae per square foot are present in seedling fields, or four to five or more per square foot in established fields.

Lorsban and permethrin (Ambush, Pounce) can be used to control this pest in alfalfa. Chemical control for wheat is somewhat limited. The last two years lorsban has received a section 18 on wheat, but this will not be the case for 1991. Permethrin (Ambush, Pounce) received a section 18 from the TDA on February 18 for wheat, however, grazing is prohibited with the use of these chemicals. Adequate rainfall on the wheat may preclude the need for applications of permethrin. As with any chemical refer to the label before you make any application.

Dillman Will Have Meetings

Muleshoe ISD said they would like to encourage all parents of children, from birth through fifth grade, to attend an Active Parenting Seminar.

It will be held Monday, March 3, in the Dillman Cafeteria.

The program, Children on the Grow, is part of a series by Michael Popkin and will be presented by Liz Tipps and Ruth Locker.

Coffee will be served at 9:15 a.m., followed by the program from 9:30-10:30. There is no charge to attend, the MISD said they feel the information is very worthwhile, and merits your attendance.

MISD also released Five Ways to Get Your Child Off to A Good Start:

1. Get to know your child's teacher. As a parent, you know your child best. Share what you know with the teacher. Does your child have a special interest? A favorite book? Are there subjects in which your child needs special help? You don't have to wait until parent conferences.

2. Talk with your child's teacher about problems, too. What goes on at home affects how a child does in school. Separation, family illness, a new baby, or even a move can all affect a child's school work. You don't have to tell the teacher all your personal business, but make sure your child's teacher knows important facts.

3. Make sure your child gets enough sleep. Tired children can't do their best work. So set a bedtime - and stick to it.

4. Learn what is expected of your child. Will there be homework? How much?

5. Limit TV. Studies show that the kids who do best in school watch the least television. But remember - when you first turn off the set, you'll have to help your child find other things to do. Read a book or magazine. Take a walk. Visit the library, or try playing a game.

All of this helps your child adjust to school, and also helps make good study habits.

People Participate In The World Game

Is war a viable foreign policy strategy? Are the nations of the world making progress in the quest for peace?

If you have ever felt frustrated because you disagree with world leaders about the decisions they're making concerning global problems, you can have the opportunity to offer better solutions to social, economic, political and environmental concerns.

On Saturday, March 2, Eastern New Mexico University will offer a chance for 100 people to decide what the future of the planet would be if they were in charge--through The World Game (tm).

Conceived by Buckminster Fuller as a creative alternative to war games, The World Game allows participants to become part of a "living scoreboard" as they walk around on the world's largest and most accurate map of the whole Earth.

Each person takes on the role of a world leader representing one percent of humanity, or 50 million people. As they interact on the Big Map, participants compete with real world leaders to see if they can find better ways of meeting the world's needs and solving its problems. One of the game's principal ideas is to make accessible to everyone the same information the leaders of the world use in their decision-making processes.

The World Game will come to ENMU-Portales from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 2 in the Campus Union Building Ballroom. Admission tickets to the event are $5 each.

The World Game map, nearly the size of a basketball court, is compiled from U.S. Defense Department maps and is designed to familiarize participants with the planet's resources and global problems. The game involves a multimedia production using films, slides, soundtracks and interactive activities that take place on the map.

Instead of playing against a country or person, participants battle the enemies of ignorance, hunger, illiteracy and resource shortages. Participants have a chance to see and feel the distribution of the world's population, food and energy production and consumption, literacy levels, military expenditures and wealth.

Players in The World Game have the responsibility of choosing between two possible futures -- one, a bleak picture of what life might be like if current environmental and social trends continue; the other, an alternative based on what participants envision as their preferred state of the world.

World Game Institute is a non-profit, non-partisan research and education organization. It was formed in 1971 and has developed products and presented workshops, seminars and lectures for corporations, universities, international groups and government agencies such as the U.S. Congress and State Department and the United Nations. The facts and figures used in The World Game are the latest available.

Enrollment is limited, so pre-registration is recommended.

One hour of optional university credit for participation is also available. The credit course, Political Science 493/593 (World Games: Global Conflict Resolutions), will be offered for a fee of $67 for undergraduates and $72 for graduates.

The instructor for the credit classes will be Dr. Sue Strickler, ENMU associate professor of political science. Those enrolling in the class must attend course sessions on Wednesday, Feb. 27 and Thursday, Feb. 28 from 6-8:30 p.m. and on Saturday, March 2 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Grades will be given to those taking the course for credit, based on fulfillment of attendance, participation and written requirements.

The World Game event is sponsored by Eastern New Mexico University Academic Affairs, College of Business, College of Education and Technology, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, School of Music, Graduate School and University Outreach.

For further information, registration or admission tickets, contact ENMU University Outreach at (505)-562-2165 or at Room 105, Quay Hall, ENMU, Portales, NM 88130.

Bill Of Rights Comes To Two Texas Cities

A 200-year-old original, scribbled copy of the Bill of Rights will arrive in Dallas and Houston in March, transported in a 20th century, high-tech caravan, as part of a 50-state tour of the priceless document presented by Philip Morris Companies Inc.

Virginia's original copy of the Bill of Rights is the centerpiece of a 15,000-square-foot multimedia exhibit which will be on display free of charge at Fair Park in Dallas on March 2-5 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. before moving to Houston, the second stop in Texas. The show will be in Houston on March 8-12 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Sam Houston Coliseum.

Steeped in history but interspersed with contemporary issues, the sights and sounds of the exhibit surround visitors with a sense of the document's past and an appreciation of its ever-changing nature in modern day society.

"Without question, a tour of this magnitude is a major logistical undertaking," said Guy L. Smith IV, vice president of corporate affairs for Philip Morris Companies Inc. "Just to move this mammoth exhibit and provide complete security, a 'caravan of vehicles-tractor trailers, vans, buses, and a custom-built secure transport vehicle-is required," said Smith. "To our knowledge, no exhibit or special event of this proportion has ever visited all 50 states."

The space-age pavilion, designed by the award-winning producers of special effects and display technologies, Associates & Ferren, presents a dramatic montage of graphic displays, contemporary video segments and film clips from movie classics such as Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Twelve Angry Men and The Grapes of Wrath. The pavilion juxtaposes a sense of space with an intimacy which allows visitors to be within two feet of the capsule protecting the document.

The recently restored Virginia copy of the Bill of Rights was selected for the 26,000-mile tour because of its historical significance, Smith explained. Virginia and its leaders, including James Madison and George Mason, played a significant role in the introduction and ratification of the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights Tour is presented by Philip Morris Companies Inc., the world's largest producer of consumer packaged goods. Its major domestic operating companies include Kraft General foods, Miller Brewing Company and Philip Morris U.S.A.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Thirteen Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, and two guests met Friday morning at the dairy Queen for breakfast. Honorary members present were Jon Keith Turner, Robby Clapp and Chad Johnson. We sure miss Lacy Morris, but guess she was home taking care of her Dad as President Glen Morris was home with the flu -- hurry up and get well, Glen.

Guests were Leonard and Betty Griswold. Betty Griswold is the Cubmistress for Cub Pack 620 -- Betty does a good job.

Vice President Reggie Johnson called the meeting to order. The honorary Kiwanians led the club in the pledge to our flag and R. A. Bradley gave the invocation.

Marc Jacobson had the friendship coin and stated that since he drives about 35 miles to work every day, he would give the friendship coin to someone who nearly drives that far to Kiwanis Club each Friday morning. Marc gave the friendship coin to Don Clapp.

Reggie asked was there any new business or old? The Kiwanis Club will put out the flags Monday, March 4th, in honor of all our service personnel who have done such a wonderful job in the Middle East. We would like to say to each and every one who has had anything to do and worked and fought in the Desert Storm, a 'Big Thank You' and may God Bless You for a job well done.

Let us all pray that there may be lasting peace in the Middle East and the rest of the world. Our hearts go out to everyone who lost loved ones in this conflict and also to those who were wounded. May God help you through all of this. May all of our troops be home real soon.

Reggie Johnson introduced Betty Griswold who was our program this morning. Betty stated that last time when she was our program she had 88 Cub Scouts and now she has 58 Cub Scouts. The Cub Scouts really didn't lose 30 Cubs as they graduated up to the Webelos in Boy Scouts. Betty stated that out of 58 Cub Scouts she had 58 boys on the honor roll in school.

Betty, you can't get much better than that.

She also stated that Marc Jacobson was a new Webelos leader. Marc, you will be rewarded much for helping these boys.

Betty told of how busy the Cub Scouts were and all the good work that is done by the Cubs and their leaders.

Betty presented the Kiwanis Club with the Cub Pack 620 charter. She also stated that next year, the Kiwanis Club would have to come to a Cub Pack meeting to receive the charter. Betty, we would like to say thank you to you and all of your adult leaders.

I don't know how much truth there is to this, but a rumor got started that we may have to take up a collection and help one of our Kiwanians get a car. Maybe someone out there has a good used car, or may have one that's not so good, or maybe a tricycle, bicycle or unicycle, just so it will be wheels, get in touch with one of the Kiwanians. If something doesn't happen soon, we will have to get Randy Lewis' wife to drive Randy to Kiwanis. Maybe someone can help us with this problem.

Sweetheart Marsha Wilson is on her way to Houston, to be in Miss Teen of Texas. Marsha, good luck, but to us, you are always a winner.

Texas Onion Producers Look For Quality Crop

by Edith Chenault

Texas producers, who will grow about 40 percent of the nation's onions this year, are anticipating an abundant crop that is high in quality this spring.

"We're started off on one of the best onion seasons I've seen from a production standpoint," said Bob Peterson with Star Produce in Rio Grande City. "The quality looks excellent and there's very little disease right now."

Additionally, substantial winter rains in the Rio Grande Valley, where most of the state's onions are grown, have leached crop-damaging salts from the soils, always a potential problem in an area close to the Gulf of Mexico.

The South Texas spring onion is projected at 277 million pounds, up 3 percent from last year, said Joe Pena, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The national onion harvest, projected to be the same as last year, coupled with the lowered supply of onions in storage, could spell fair to good markets for producers. Producers in Texas are hoping to get at least $10 per 50-pound bag, about the same price as last spring.

"It's too early to tell what the market will be yet," said Peterson. "I believe, for early onions, it's going to be fair, especially if the storage onions are out of the way. It could be a weaker market if Mexico comes in head-to-head with us."

Yellow storage onions are being shipped from Colorado to meet the mid-winter demand, which is usually augmented by fresh onions from Mexico. However, heavy rains and bad weather delayed planting in Mexico, and the harvest is behind schedule.

Mexico, which normally prefers the white onion, had been importing yellow onions from the United States before its white onion harvest began this month.

The Rio Grande Valley is expected to begin harvesting yellow onions about the first week in March. Texas producers are fearful that Mexico's delayed harvest will compete directly with theirs, reducing market prices.

Extremely hot weather this spring, however, could damage Mexico's late onion crop. Less competition for U.S. producers would mean higher prices at the farm level and for consumers as well.

According to Darlene Barter with the South Texas Onion Committee, headquartered in Mercedes, producers in South Texas expect to harvest over 12,600 acres, down from last year's 13,340 harvested acres.

South Texas harvested 15,000 acres in 1989, but subsequent plantings dropped after a glut of onions sent prices below $6 for a 50-pound bag in the 1988-89 season.

As of Jan. 29, prices were averaging about $22 per bag, but these should drop rapidly as the fresh onion harvest begins.

In the Rio Grande Valley, the projected harvest is about 9,500 acres, down from last year's harvest of 10,024 acres, Barter said.

In the Winter Garden-Laredo area, which is expected to produce over 3,100 acres, a December 1990 freeze damaged some onion fields in that area. However, producers feel this might help, instead of hinder, their crop.

The freeze "thinned" the crop, which should be done anyway, allowing for greater growth and quality of onions, said Tommy Eddy with Strube Farms in Uvalde.

"Very young onions and those planted after the freeze are in good shape," Eddy said. "With good growing weather, I don't think we'll see much effect on the field."

Laws Over Degrees Differ By Schools

Rules to implement new state laws giving the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board authority over associate degrees offered by proprietary schools have been adopted by the Board.

The rules will ensure that the associate of applied science, associate of applied arts, and associate of occupational studies degrees offered by proprietary schools meet the same standards as associate degrees offered by public institutions.

The standards include a minimum core curriculum of 15 semester hours or 23 quarter-credit hours in general studies and courses designed to develop skills in oral and written communication and computation.

There must be at least one full-time faculty member in each curricular area where the school offers an associate degree. Students must be offered a structured curricula reflecting a logical progression of knowledge and skills. Curricula must enable students to meet minimum licensure and certification requirements.

Associate degree programs must establish a Program Advisory Committee to offer advice on course content, equipment, employment trends, and other matters to ensure program quality.

These and related new rules were developed by a task force made up of proprietary school owners and community college administrators. It was chaired by Beverly Gooch, director of Bauder Fashion College in Arlington, and Luther Joyner, president of Cooke County College in Gainesville.

The Coordinating Board is responsible for associate degree programs at proprietary schools, while the Texas Education Agency oversees certification and regulation of the suitability and accountability of the schools.

The number of associate degrees offered by proprietary schools has mushroomed from only a handful in the 1980s to approximately 65 offered by 27 proprietary schools in the state today. These existing degree programs must have Coordinating Board approval by June 16, 1993, as required by the statute.

The Knowledge of the Lord

Habakkuk 2:14. "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

The Church is chosen of God to spread the good news that God has a plan to redeem men and reconcile them unto Himself through the vicarious sacrifice of Jesus Christ our Lord. The Church will be so successful in spreading this glorious knowledge in the world that God says the earth will be as full of it as the waters that fill the ocean. Attend church and become a part of this great undertaking.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Health Care Rationing Appropriate, Ethicist Says

The rationing of health care in the United States is a "morally appropriate" policy, a biomedical ethicist says in the February issue of Texas Medicine.

Baruch A. Brody, Ph.D., writes in Texas Medicine that "the cost of providing for everyone all of the health care from which they could benefit" is greater than Americans are willing to bear. Brody is the Leon Jaworski Professor of Biomedical Ethics at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. Texas Medicine is the official news magazine of the Texas Medical Association.

Brody's article is part of a series of articles on medical ethics issues featured in Texas Medicine. Through these articles, TMA hopes to foster physician and public debate on important ethical concerns.

"At least some Americans will not get at least some of the care from which they could benefit," Brody says. "It is better to base the decision as to who gets which forms of care upon a deliberate rationing plan."

Brody says health-care expenditures already account for 11.5 percent of the nation's gross national product. The Health Care Financing Administration estimates that cost will grow to 15 percent by 2000.

"Changes in coverage, technology and demography might bring that figure closer to 20 percent of the GNP," he writes. "To expect America to pay that bill is just not individual needs and projects is probably unreasonable."

Brody says physicians must play a major role in devising rationing plans, which must be based on extensive information on treatment outcomes. That information then must be meshed with public values and priorities, Brody states.

"Medicine, as an organized community, must play a major role in insuring that this information is developed in a responsible manner," he says.

A primary goal of the Texas Medical Association is to assure adequate health care for all Texans. The Association is working to achieve this goal through ways which do not resort to explicit rationing of care. Instead, an ad hoc committee initiated by TMA is expected to finalize later this month recommendations for providing health insurance coverage for more than 3 million uninsured Texans.

"Our goal is to identify and offer solutions to the problems of uninsured Texans within the framework of our current system," says Dr. Max Butler of Houston, who chairs the ad hoc committee.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 30,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents 82 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through professional and personal development of its members.

The rich have a cloak for their ills, but poverty is transparent and abject.

God Bless Our American Troops

— — We Support You! — —

As we have all heard people say "Nothing Big ever happens in Muleshoe." But, when you take a closer look a lot has been going on over the last few weeks, since the war in the Middle East began. The American flag has waved proudly in front of businesses and private homes in support of the service men and women serving in Operation Desert Shield.

While shopping in stores or just walking down the street you see a lot of people wearing buttons inscribed "God Bless America, We Support Our Armed Forces." These buttons are being made by the Jenny-slippers.

Support of the Armed Forces has also been seen in our schools, students from high school down to the elementary schools.

During a basketball game, SCAC conducted a ceremony supporting the Armed Forces.

The second grade class at Dillman Elementary drew pictures and decorated one wall of an entry hall of the school, showing their support.

Yellow ribbons have been tied to trees and car antennas and placed on some mail boxes.

Children from the Texas Migrant Council tied yellow ribbons on the fence behind their school, and all volunteers were given ribbon pins, which were also worn by employees, supporting the Armed Forces.

Muleshoe Health Care Center residents also showed their support by tying red, white and blue ribbons on a tree at the nursing home, in a ceremony attended by Darrell Turner, Mayor of Muleshoe, and other dignitaries from around Muleshoe.

Care packages and goodie boxes, with home made candies and cookies, were mailed to several of the men and women at Christmas.

A special ceremony was held Saturday afternoon, prior to the "Texas Toast", Saluting the service men and women in all branches of the Armed Forces.

Over one hundred-twenty homes in the Muleshoe area have been touched by Operation Desert Shield in the Persian Gulf. Although some of the men and women listed below are not from this area they have family, mother, father, brother, sister, uncle or aunt, whose lives and hearts have been touched by Operation Desert Shield.

Yes...some Big things does happen in Muleshoe...We Support our service men and women in the Armed Forces, who have sacrificed so much for our country.

The Journals join the rest of the Muleshoe area in Saluting and Congratulating these men and women in a job well done.
