REV. RICHARD CREWS
... minister 16 years

Crews Active In Many Fields

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Rev. Richard W. Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, has been an active pastor and Army Chaplain for the past 16 years. During World War II, he saw service in the South Pacific and was in an anti-aircraft outfit of an infantry division in Manila when Gen. MacArthur liberated the Philippines.

Today he displays an active, progressive spirit participating in many civic and church organizations. Rev. Crews greatly enjoys his work in the District of Youth Workers of Christian Churches, and shows his enthusiasm for young people by working with the Boy Scouts. He is a district committee member of the Adobe Walls Council, and is an Eagle Scout himself.

Member of Four Boards

In addition to his other duties, Rev. Crews is the local National Guard Chaplain. A member of four boards, he keeps quite busy in attending various meetings, and maintains his duties on the executive board of the Red Cross, the board of directors of the Lion's Club, and the boards of the Texas Tech Christian Foundation and Juliette Fowler Home (for children and aged) in Dallas. A member of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, Crews served as vice-president of the State Convention of Christian Churches at the Galveston meeting last year.

Recalling his two and one-half years as a pastor here, Rev. Crews states that "... the most thrilling thing I've seen in the establishment of another Christian Church here. A lot of people planned, prayed, and worked for it (Lamar Christian Church) a long time."

Spirit of Pampa

Commenting on the First Christian Church, Rev. Crews was enthusiastic to describe it as "... an aggressive, friendly Church with a warm spirit ... that's why I've enjoyed being minister here." Since his arrival in Pampa, he has been most impressed with the spirit of the town, the schools, and the Churches. "We like it better than any place we've lived," he said. "I've enjoyed my relationship with the other churches and ministers in the community."

Impressed with the high school students for their good sportsmanship and their custom of having prayer before athletic events, Rev. Crews showed a general approval of Pampa by stating, "... I'm a member of the Chamber of Commerce, but even if I wasn't, it (Pampa) is still a good location to raise a family because of its good schools and good churches."

Besides chess and miniature models, he also considers golf as a hobby. "I play golf occasionally with a group of ministers, we don't curse but where we spit the grass never grows!"

Army Chaplain

Born in Waxahachie in 1917, the Crews moved to Abilene and later to Dallas. He graduated from Sunset High School in Dallas in 1934, and went on to Texas Christian University where he received his B.A. degree in philosophy and minored in English literature. He attended the Bible College of the Bible at T.C.U. to obtain his Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1942.

In 1942 Rev. Crews attended chaplains training school at Harvard, beginning a three and one-half year "hitch" in the Army. He saw duty in New Caledonia, New Guinea, and the Philippines. While stationed in Needles, Calif., he met Mary Jean Sharp — who later became his wife. They now have two children — Barbara Lee and Richard White, Jr.

Commenting on his war experience, Rev. Crews vividly described "... the day we dedicated a beautiful little chapel down in New Caledonia," and was most impressed with the USO concert troupe touring from the U.S. with Isaac Stern, and Metropolitan Opera stars. Another vivid recollection was his participation in a Jewish Seder (Passover) Service on board ship in the South Pacific. Kenneth Roberts, a Negro movie star, often entertained the soldiers aboard by singing arias. Negro Spirituals, and popular songs.

At the end of his service in the Army, Crews reflects, "... First thing I did after I got out of the service was to walk in a great big bar in San Francisco and order a large glass of milk ... later we went out for a steak."

Ships Rush To 2 Adrift

YOKOHAMA, Japan — UP — Three U.S. destroyers rushed Monday night to rescue two Marine airmen who survived three days in an open raft after their jet crashed at sea.

A U.S. Navy spokesman in Yokohama said that U.S. Air Force planes picked up a faint radio signal from the two men saying that they had seen flames fall and heard the roar of engines.

He said the two men, who crashed in an F-30 Skyknight Saturday, were definitely alive.

However, he said their message received at about 6:30 p.m. (3:03 a.m. est) gave no details of their condition.

The destroyers were pitching through dark seas some 40 miles off Oshima at the tip of Tokyo harbor to reach the men.

The Navy spokesman said that U.S. Air Force search and rescue planes had dropped flares and gunned their engines in the area where earlier a life raft had been sighted.

Vaccine Safety Attacked

Idaho Health Man Blasts 'Promoters'

WASHINGTON — UP — L. J. Peterson, acting director of the Idaho Public Health Department, Monday challenged the effectiveness, as well as the safety, of the Salk polio vaccine.

At the same time he accused "developers and promoters" of the vaccine of an "apparent lack of interest" in the polio outbreak which followed inoculations in his state.

In a copyrighted interview with the magazine, U.S. News & World Reporter Peterson also expressed "nothing but sympathy for the Cutter Laboratories" of California which produced the vaccine used in Idaho. "We feel that Cutter Laboratories probably produced the vaccine, exactly as they had been instructed to do."

Although three of the nation's top polio experts challenged the safety of the vaccine at a congressional round table session last week, some questioned its effectiveness. And the U.S. Public Health Service gave the present vaccine and the nationwide inoculation program a ringing vote of confidence last week after 11 of the experts voted 8 to 3 in their favor.

Peterson said his department henceforth would demand "much greater reassurances and evidence of absolute safety" before again recommending the vaccine. In any event, he said, mass immunization is out in Idaho. Any future shots will be on a family physician-patient basis.

Up to June 11, 21 polio cases had occurred in Idaho among children who received Salk shots, Peterson said. Another 49 cases occurred among children and adults who were associates of vaccinated children — mostly family contacts — and four cases were reported among apparent close associates of children receiving the shots.

Six deaths have occurred among all these cases.

New Survey Being Talked

Plans were considered today to undertake a new industrial survey of the City of Pampa.

The Chamber of Commerce executive board plus several representatives of Pampa business and industrial firms met with Dallas industrial engineer and business economist Hurl Blanton to consider making the new survey.

Blanton prepared the last economic survey of the city in 1945 at a cost of some $2,500. In view of the growth of the city during the past 10 years, the present survey is more or less "inadequate," according to Floyd Watson, president of the C of C.

Premier Seeks New Cabinet For Italy

ROME — UP — Premier-designate Antonio Segni, 64-year-old advocate of land reform, set out Monday to heal the split in his Christian Democratic party as the first step toward ending Italy's six-day-old cabinet crisis.

Identity Confusing In DWI Case

County Attorney Don Cain has a man named Shelton, he hopes, in custody today on a driving while intoxicated charge.

The man, who gave his name as Joe Howard Shelton, was fined and given a jail sentence June 18 in County Court for DWI. He has been held in jail here since that date in lieu of the fine or bond.

Since then, Joe Howard Shelton's father called Cain from his home in Dallas and said that his son, Joe Howard, is in Dallas and has never had so much as a traffic ticket and that it must be Joe Howard's brother, John Elmer, who is held here in County jail.

Cain has since learned that John Elmer Shelton is AWOL from the Army and that he was stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

On top of that, the County Attorney said that a companion, Bob Center, who paid a fine for being drunk at the time of the driving while intoxicated offense, was actually driving the car that he (Shelton) is charged with driving and that Center, also, is AWOL.

A bewildered man by now, Cain is trying to establish the man's (Shelton's) true identity and seeking to clear the other man's (Joe Howard Shelton) name.

2 Planes Downed By Chinese Reds

By WILLIAM MILLER
TAIPEI, Formosa — UP — Chinese Communist MIGs shot down a Nationalist warplane Monday and forced a commercial airliner to crash land near Matsui Island, wounding an American doctor aboard for a mercy flight.

The Soviet-built jet fighters attacked a Foshing Airlines amphibian — under charter to the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group — and forced it to crash land on White Dog Island, a Nationalist outpost near Matsui.

The U.S. Army doctor was flying to the Matsui Islands to aid a stricken American on duty in the Communist-threatened off-shore islands. The doctor was wounded but four Chinese crewmen flying the big American-made PBV (patrol bomber) transport escaped unhurt.

Flash Flood Hits Town In Wyoming

TORRINGTON, Wyo. — UP — National Guardsmen stood ready with boats and trucks Monday to evacuate Torrington residents endangered by a three-foot flash flood which swept through the town.

Two other Wyoming towns, Fort Laramie and Guernsey, were also flooded by torrential cloudbursts which poured down six to 10 inches of rain Sunday night.

The rain was still coming down over eastern Wyoming Monday, but it was tapering off and some flood waters were draining into the Platte River, 20 miles west of Torrington.

Torrington was under up to three feet of water in residential areas and curb-deep flood waters flowed in the business district. There were no immediate reports of casualties, but all power was cut off and flood reports reached the outside world by radio.

A sheriff's rescue party set out for Fort Laramie and reported up to six feet of water on U. S. Highway 26. Traffic on the highway was halted.

More cloudbursts and flood waters hit the southland, submerging Memphis, Tenn., streets Sunday night and knocking out 450 telephones in the city with lightning bolts.

This determination to work for peace — and to work hard for it — was the stated aim of speakers who addressed the 10th anniversary meeting of the UN here.

Every speaker — and there were 73 of them — agreed that the United Nations still represents the best and possibly the only hope for a permanent and lasting peace.

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — The United Nations began its second decade Monday with diplomats of its 60 member nations more than ever determined to keep the world at peace.

Chrysler, UAW Open GAW Talks

DETROIT — UP — Chrysler Corporation and the UAW International Workers open contract talks Monday expected to result in agreement on a guaranteed wage plan similar to those already granted by Ford and General Motors.

Industry observers said Chrysler probably would accept a modified form of the plan which posed the major stumbling block in the path of GM and Ford negotiators.

Airman Sought In Death Of 3

DICKINSON, Tex. — UP — A nationwide hunt was on Monday for a husky, bug-eyed Army sergeant — or an airman third class — the chief suspect in the triple murder of a well-to-do family, a murder without apparent motive.

The victims — two women and a 12-year-old boy — were found shot to death in their beds. Police said neither of the women had been sexually molested, nor was robbery the motive. The only thing missing was an auto belonging to the family — and the soldier.

The sharp eyes and keen memories of two waitresses supplied police with the only clues to the murder so far a soldier believed to have been visiting the home.

Police were undecided if the suspect was an Army sergeant or an airman third class. He was believed to be the latter as there was only one chevron on the sleeve of his uniform. Witnesses described him as about 24 years old, six feet, with a crew haircut, "striking bug eyes," a ruddy complexion and heavy build. Air Force officials throughout the South were checking AWOL lists.

If it comes from a Hardware store, we have it. Lewis Hardware was worth it.

Mrs. Luther Pierson, 1121 Mary Ellen, has become a grandmother for the sixth time.

Mrs. Pierson has three daughters, and each has a son and daughter.

The latest arrival is a daughter born Sunday night in Lubbock to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dickey.

U.S. Denies Shooting Back At Red MIGs

WASHINGTON — UP — The Defense Department has denied Russian charges that American aircraft fired back at Russian MIGs which forced down a U. S. plane off Alaska Wednesday.

The Soviet version of the incident was revealed Monday when the State Department made public the text of the memorandum handed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in San Francisco Saturday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The Russians charged there was an "exchange of shots" between the Navy Neptune bomber and the Russian MIG fighters. But a defense Department spokesman said all reports here bear out the U.S. crewmen's original statement that they "did not fire back."

President Eisenhower and Dulles will hold an extraordinary late night meeting to discuss the incident immediately after Mr. Eisenhower returns to the capital Monday night from his New England speaking-fishing tour.

32 City Blocks Being Paved

Thirty-two city blocks are in the process of being paved, according to City Engineer James Cowan, mainly in the Jarvis-Sone, Fraser Annex Addition No. 2 and the East Fraser addition.

On July 19, bids will be received from contractors for the asphalt paving of some 45,000 to 60,000 square yards of Pampa streets. Other blocks ready for paving are the 100 block on E. Georgia, 200 block W. Louisiana, and the 1000 block Neel Road.

Hearing Today For Mrs. Miller

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — UP — Federal Judge Ernest W. Gibson holds a hearing Monday to decide whether Mrs. Lucille Miller is mentally competent to stand trial on charges she advised youths to evade the draft.

Mrs. Miller, a 44-year-old mother, was released last week from a Washington mental hospital to which she had been committed for observation after she and her husband held off federal marshals for 11 hours at their Bethel home. The hospital said she was sane.

Steelworkers Draft Demands

PITTSBURGH — UP — The CIO United Steelworkers wage policy committee meets Monday to draft "final" wage patterns which they will demand of the nation's basic steel companies to avoid a strike by the Thursday midnight deadline.

USW President David J. McDonald said there was "still time" for settlement. But he and his negotiators already have rejected company proposals which would have raised wages by 5 1/2 cents an hour for sweepers to 23 1/2 cents for highly skilled workers.

"YOUR LIVING ROOM will look lovelier and cleaning it will be a lark when all dirt-catching surfaces are covered with decorative laminates," reports Melva A. Chesrown, home fashions consultant for the Panelyte Division of the St. Regis Paper Company.

ACCORDING TO MISS CHES-rown, the chores of polishing, covering and worrying about damaging table tops in living and dining rooms will soon be just a memory as a result of the vast increase in the use of decorative laminates for most surface areas in the home. "Ever since these plastic materials became popular with homemakers as kitchen counter-tops," she added, "they have been moving out of the kitchen and into every room of the modern home." Manufacturers, aware of the new demand have increased the number of colors, patterns and simulated wood-grain finishes so that builders and even "do-it-yourselfers" can find the right laminate plastic for each specific job.

Some of the newest uses discovered for St. Regis Panelyte and other decorative laminates include: Covering new and old fire place tops. As* tops on modern and even traditional tables. For all dirt and smudge attracting surfaces in the home like window sills, doors, baseboards and bookcases. Work area ceilings over cooking centers where dirt and grease accumulations can be easily wiped clean with a damp cloth. Covering pushing and kicking surfaces on all the doors in the home. All these surfaces, once covered with decorative laminates will never need polishing, nor will they stain from hot or cold liquids. Cigarettes will not mar their finish and it is almost impossible to scratch their durable surface. Miss Chesrown predicts that it won't be too long before decorative laminates will be found as standard equipment in most modern homes.

NOW THAT SUPERSIZE BED-ding is becoming readily available and widely popular, the question of how to make a regular bed fit the new size mattresses and springs becomes a pressing one. It's a simple problem to solve. A bed rail extender attached to the side of the bed lengthens the rail to hold Supersize bedding comfortably. The extender is a metal section finished in all of the popular wood tones and procurable in three lengths — 6 inches, 8 inches, and 10 inches. There are no protruding parts and it can be slipped into place in a matter of seconds. Most furniture stores and the bedding sections of department stores now carry such extenders regularly. They're inexpensive and efficient. You'll find them an

Following the show, a film on water safety was shown by Miss Marcheta Hall. Opening remarks were made by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter. Mrs.

Shotwell urged the women to have their children take swimming lessons, receiving a Red Cross card showing their swimming ability — beginner, intermediate and advanced. She said it is important to have when the child goes to camp and for the time when he may want to be a camp counselor. "The Red Cross is working hard to see every girl and boy in Pampa can swim," she explained. She talked briefly about the summer swimming program now in progress and praised Mrs. George Hofess, water safety chairman for the program, and her aides. The Association holds an all-day session each Friday, with golf being played at any time during the day. Bridge sessions begin at 10 a.m. and continue through the afternoon. The luncheon and program are held during the noon hour. Deadline for luncheon reservations is noon Thursday.

Special Skills Re-enlistment Plan Revealed

All veterans of the Pampa area, regardless of former military affiliation who have been out of the service since July, 1951, and who possess a skill needed by the Air Force can now re-enlist with an attractive grade adjustment...

Starting July 1, the Air Force will put into operation a new policy which will establish a grade scale for enlistment and re-enlistment for all prior service personnel...

A choice of area or base assignment is also part of the new policy favoring the discharged veterans. In some cases it carries provisions whereby veterans may elect re-enlistment for a specific overseas theatre.

The new plan will be implemented at all USAF Recruiting Stations throughout the nation. Each station will receive a periodic breakdown of needs categorized in order of skills. The classification will include all occupational skills ranging from needed to surplus.

Complete details of the program can be obtained by calling at the Recruiting Station. Sgt. Packham stated, "This program revises old re-enlistment policies completely and all veterans should be aware of the many new benefits now available under the policy provisions."

Strong Show Is Reported At Perryton

PERRYTON - (Special) - A strong oil show was reported this week at the Texas Co. No. 1 Barlow, located about seven miles southeast of Perryton. The well was tested from 6565-6596 feet and in a one hour test recovered 466 feet of highly oil and gas cut mud.

Flow pressure was from 75 to 125 pounds and built up to 1-175 pounds in 15 minutes. The formation tested was the Oswega limestone, and this marked the first showing from this formation in this area.

The showing at the Barlow well aroused considerable interest in oil circles and may spur some drilling activity in the area southeast of town.

In other county wells, the Union Oil Co. of California's No. 1 Helfenbein took a drillstem test from 8619-8712 feet. With the tool open 6 minutes, there was a weak blow and the packer failed. A total of 2025 feet of drilling mud was recovered. The well is reported to be approaching its contract depth of 9,900 feet with no encouraging shows encountered.

Other wells, the Black, Barton and Lion Oil No. 1 Moss Hammond was below 5,738 feet in lime, and the Phillips No. 1 Bernice was coring below 5,225 feet.

Justice Douglas Says West Should Recognize Red China

TOKYO - U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said Monday the West should recognize Communist China and that Nationalist China's seat on the United Nations Security Council be given to some other Asian nation.

Douglas said the Nationalist government of President Chiang Kai-shek might be placed under a UN trusteeship until its future is decided by a plebiscite. He admitted he did not know if the Nationalists would agree.

"There are two Chinas today," the globe-trotting jurist said in an interview with United Press. "The thing to do is to recognize that fact and work out a settlement with Red China toward her recognition. At the same time we should protect Nationalist China."

Douglas suggested revision of the UN charter should be revised to give China's seat on the security council "to some other Asian nations or perhaps rotate that seat among the free Asian nations." He specifically suggested Red China and Nationalist China be barred from the Security Council.

Welfare Group Meets Tuesday

A meeting of organizations in Pampa interested in welfare work will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the basement of City Hall.

The meeting, which will be for the purpose of organizing the groups and individuals into a single unit, is the result of several weeks work by a group of welfare-minded people in Pampa.

At a meeting held by some interested parties in May, Mrs. Nina Sponsomere, county welfare officer, and Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Pampa chapter Red Cross executive secretary, named Joe Tooley, Aubrey Jones and B. R. Nuckles as a committee to get in touch with all the organizations whose work would be an aid in welfare problems and get them together for the organizational meeting.

The group will elect officers and lay plans for future welfare activities.

BETTER JOBS

The Conscriptive Idea

I am continuing to quote Dean Russell's article on the Conscriptive Idea as published by the Foundation of Economic Education in their new magazine, Ideas of Liberty.

While many of the advocates of conscription tend to agree with me "in principle" that it is morally wrong to compel some persons to kill other persons, they always point out that we probably wouldn't have been able to raise a sufficiently large army to send to Europe in 1917 if we had relied on volunteers. Then they add: "And since we had to fight in World War I, we had no choice but to draft enough soldiers to do the job."

There is no doubt in my mind that if the means used to accomplish an objective are based on a wrong principle, the end cannot be good when all factors are considered. The exceedingly difficult and purely personal problem of distinguishing between right principles and wrong principles is task enough for anyone. Why make it more difficult by accepting the absurd proposition that good ends can result from evil means? Such a concept is the equivalent of attempting to save immortal souls by means of a state church with compulsory attendance and support.

In the sense that anything is the sum of its parts, it is a truism to state that the means are the end. It cannot be otherwise because the end is merely the summation and resultant of all the means used to achieve it. As Emerson phrased it: "Cause and effect, means and ends, seed and fruit, cannot be severed; for the effect already blooms in the cause, the end pre-exists in the means, the fruit in the seed."

In the continuing sequence of cause and consequence — means and ends — any consequence immediately becomes the "cause" of another consequence; for example, the announced goal of our entry into World War I was "to end all wars." But no one can control the consequences of his decisions; he can control only the means he uses. The goal of abolishing war couldn't possibly succeed when the method selected to achieve the goal was war itself.

This idea that war can be used as a weapon to end war — "We'll have peace even if we have to fight for it!" — is a fallacy that has led millions of sincere persons to the slaughter fields. Victory or defeat in war is never a complete end; it is only an arbitrarily selected point in a series of continuing actions and reactions. The only certainty is this: The use of force in the present against any peaceful person will cause increased hatred and opposition and conflict in some degree or form in the future. In human relationships, the result of the use of violence against peaceful persons may be delayed or obscured, but the law of action and reaction works in human relationships as well as in the physical sciences.

The fact that an announced goal may be reached by a mixture of good and bad means (as is so often the case) doesn't deny this principle; it merely misleads the person who fails to see that the goal was attained in spite of — not because of — the evil means employed. If a thief contributed some of his loot to the fund for building a hospital, does that good end either depend on or justify his evil means?

But since the advocates of compulsory military service contend that moral arguments against conscription "aren't practical" — and since they offer as proof our military victories abroad since 1917 — it seems necessary to explore briefly the results of our entry into those conscript wars.

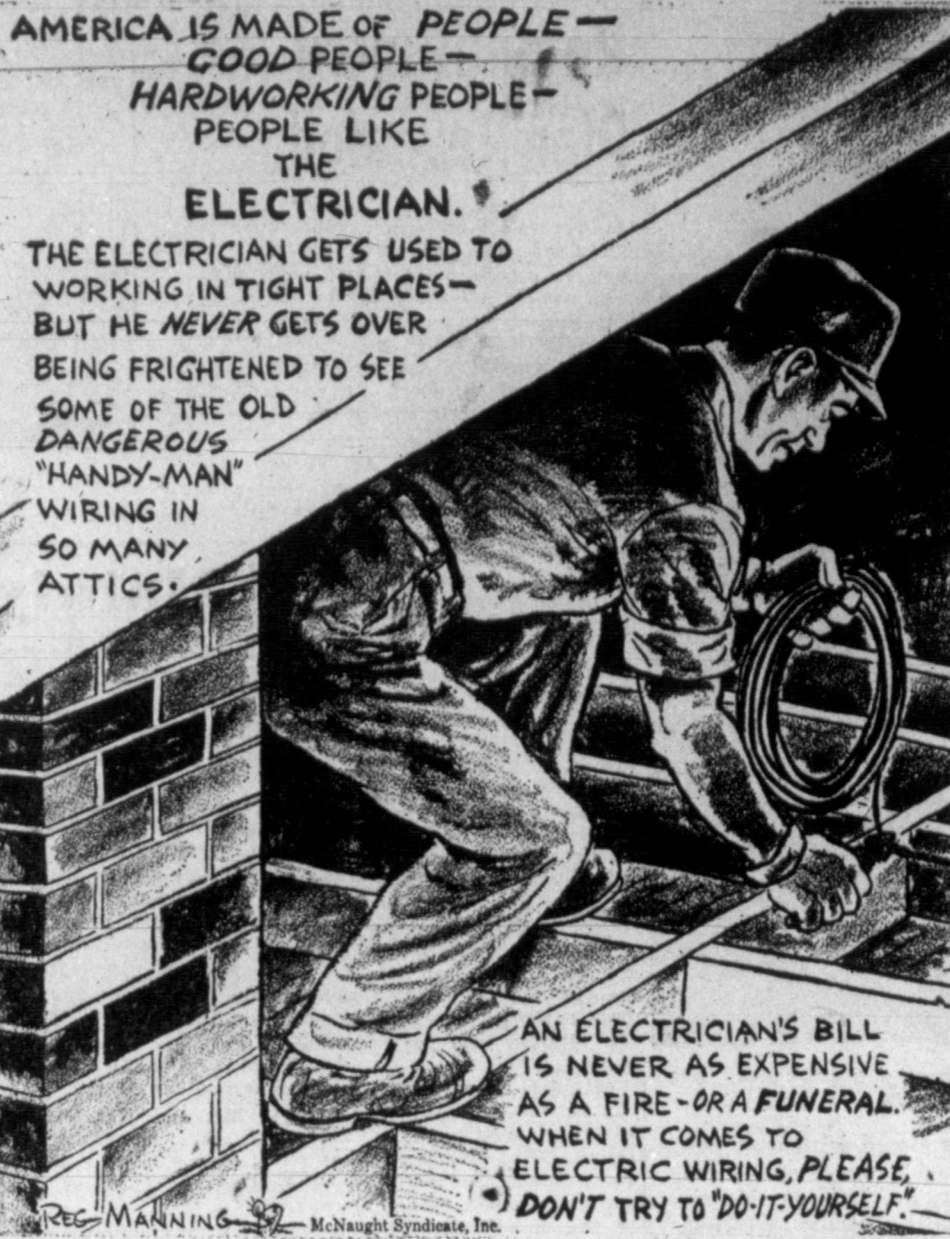

I am well aware that many persons still believe that the Kaiser and Hitler both planned all along to invade the United States and enslave its people. And I readily admit that if we had to choose between fighting in Europe and fighting at home, military strategy should have determined the best time and location for our defense. But that big if must first be considered.

As nearly as I can judge, Germany and England and their allies were faced with the military necessity for a truce with no victor in the fall of 1916, or even before. Without outside help, neither appeared capable of defeating the other. If the United States couldn't wait for them to work out their own truce, then, as a peace-loving nation, we could at least have offered our "good offices" — not just a conventional gesture but an impartial and sincere offer to arbitrate without prejudice or favor.

For those who claim we couldn't have succeeded, or that we tried and failed, I suggest a study of our procedure in 1905 in mediating the cessation of hostilities between the stalemate Russians and Japanese. In that case, we actually wanted a truce. Did we in World War I?

Does anyone really believe that a nation with sufficient manpower and material to determine the victor in World War I couldn't have used its moral and strategic positions to end the bloodshed by negotiating a truce with no victor? In my opinion, the United States didn't do it because its leaders didn't want to do it. Instead, our leaders chose sides and decided to use violence "to

Butler's Visit To Texas Widens Adlai-Harriman Rift

By RAY-TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A Canossa-like pilgrimage to the Texas home of two distinguished anti-F.D.R. and anti-New Deal rebels by Paul M. Butler, Democratic National Chairman, has upset that Party's moguls as seriously as did the Moscow leaders' humiliating submission to Marshal Tito. It has widened the breach between the Stevenson-Butler and the Harriman-De Sapia forces as they map strategy for next year's Presidential nomination.

In an effort to achieve harmony among Texas Democrats, who gave President Eisenhower a majority of about 136,000 in 1952, the wandering Butler visited the Uvalde residence of former Vice-President John N. Garner and the Houston office of Jesse H. Jones, who held so many high posts under Hoover and Roosevelt that it is difficult to recall them; the most important, of course, was head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which helped so much to whip the depression and to win World War II.

As a relative newcomer to national politics, Butler apparently was unaware of the bitter feuds and differences which the two conservative Texans had with the Roosevelt-Harriman-Wallace wing of the Party. They fought — or broke — with the "liberals" on the very issues which now divide the Democrats.

"Cactus Jack" assailed F.D.R. for seeking a third term, for collaboration with John L. Lewis and labor generally, for excessive spending, for his sympathy toward Russia, and for his retention of such radicals as Henry A. Wallace and Harold L. Ickes. Garner became so disgusted with Rooseveltian policies that, although politics had been the breath of life to him, he foreswore all public activity forever when he stormed out of Washington in 1940, to be replaced in the Vice-Presidential chair by "Hank" Wallace.

If there was a symbol of anti-Roosevelt philosophy within the Democratic party then, and possibly now, it was the sturdy "Jack" Garner.

It is generally forgotten that "Uncle Jesse" (Politicians who could not outwit him used to call him "Jesse James") was first named to the RFC under Herbert Hoover. He became its head under Roosevelt, and insisted on such sound and businesslike management that the Roosevelt liberals make the world safe for democracy by conscripting our young men at home and forcing them to fight in Europe. That decision probably added two years to the conflict. The continuation of the war caused a reluctant but desperate Germany to send Lenin to Russia to start a revolution and to establish communism. Our entry into the war led directly to Versailles and a vindictive "peace" which set the stage for Hitler. The United States itself was the advocate of the plan to fragment Europe into small nations whose intense nationalism — expressed in the form of tariffs, passports, quotas, and other such personal and economic restrictions — could only be steps toward more bloody conflict.

WHY THE ARMY WANTS A BIG RESERVE Chicago Tribune

President Eisenhower revealed a good deal more than he intended to when, at his news conference, he urged Congress to revive the man power reserve bill. This is the bill that requires eight years of military service from all the young men of the country; either two years as a conscript in the army, followed by six years in the reserve, or six months in an army training camp followed by seven and a half years in the reserve.

"If the tragedy of war comes," said Mr. Eisenhower, "trained men will be needed in every section of the nation because every city and town is likely to be in the front lines." The reserves will be needed to ally panic, he explained. That is to say, a standing army of more than a million men, such as we now have, and all the millions of reserves that would be available under the Eisenhower plan, cannot prevent an enemy from attacking our cities with his planes.

That is true. The defense of our cities against the air borne atom bomb cannot lie in a big army or a big army reserve because armies have only their anti-aircraft weapons with which to fight airplanes. All the anti-aircraft weapons the army has can be fully manned with a few hundred thousand men, at most. For the rest, the defense of the United States from air attack depends upon our navy and our air force. Neither of these services drafts men and neither has any need of Mr. Eisenhower's millions of army reservists.

If the main purpose of the scheme is to provide not a defense of our cities but policemen to ally panic after the cities are attacked, we should suppose something a good deal more economical than an eight year term of service might be devised.

Guaranteed Wage Scheme Violates Human Dignity

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The guaranteed annual wage scheme and the unemployment and social security taxes on employers are violations of the constitutional rights and human dignity of the very people who think they are getting something for nothing. The individual workman has a manly duty to save a portion of his earnings for rainy days and for his old age. He maintains noisily that he is a man, as good as any other man. But the union insists — and Ford and General Motors agree — that he is not man enough to discipline himself and live up to his own responsibilities.

There are fakery in the political union movement and sociological quacks among the employers who insist that the inherent clash of the interests of labor and management is a repudiated bogey of the past. They are talking a mixture of socialism and fascism. If they had the honesty to say that they want socialism and fascism? We who believe in the Constitution could join the issue and oppose them more effectively. Under Mussolini, Italian labor, as a political entity, was a phase of the state. Capital, or management, was another phase of the same state. We are imitating fascist Italy now in many important fields as no honest mind will perceive after comparison of that system with ours.

The real theory behind the so-called guaranteed annual wage is that the individual American worker is so irresponsible and imprudent that he cannot be trusted to abstain from luxuries beyond his earning capacity. So he finds himself broke when he is laid off or fired. The luxuries are automobiles, booze, bets, entertainment, expensive vacations at resorts, days of idleness taken because he is lazy, because he wants to hunt or fish or because he has a hang-over from boozing on liquor bought with money which he should have saved. Airlines invite the worker to travel now and pay later. He wants to be a little Vanderbilt. He shoots the works and when the lay-off or illness comes he applies to the "state" to pay his doctor bills and hospital bills. Or he looks to the union which has been hijacking employers for "contributions" to "welfare" insurance policies, written, as often as not, by crooked companies in collusion with crooked union bosses. It is argued that the employer has a voice in "welfare" policies but actually the employer is helpless so he keeps his mouth shut about the crooked "welfare" deal and thus seems to be a willing and active party.

Does anyone believe that Ford gave willingly to the same union which drenched Michigan with the blood of workers in the civil war waged under the patronage of Roosevelt to drive the workers into the union? Does anyone believe that General Motors gave in as an act of good citizenship and good management? G. M. has many cans of 16 mm. film shot from factory windows showing bloody riots waged by this same union under the same executives with whom it recently shook hands.

Management takes a great deal into itself in submitting to these great grabs. Management is actually giving up rights which belong to the whole people of these 48 states. It does so at gun-point. It says strikes which would give one company great advantage over others. Management is less at fault, however, than government of the United States and of several states individually. These combined governments have given a few union bosses a monopoly of labor. By this monopoly power, these bosses have been able to threaten these great auto concerns with disastrous strikes. The executives of the companies are great personal rivals. They will yield almost anything to the labor monopolists rather than be out-traded by a rival company with hundreds of thousands of cars and millions of dollars of sales. But, in submitting to Reuther's demands, they sacrifice rights which do not belong to them nor to their companies nor, exclusively, to their own employees.

These submissions are going to be built into the prices of their products and the whole public foots the bill. Management is shifting a new burden onto the state employment funds which are a tax on millions of small employers. They are chaining the worker to his job lest he sacrifice his "seniority" and "status." Thus they impair his freedom of action. They chain a worker to one particular industry.

The guaranteed annual wage will cause inflation and send up the prices of automobiles, which for a long time, were coming into the market at lower and lower prices. There is no cheap car now but there is a cheap dollar. The automobile industry and Reuther have a power over all of us which no combination ever held before.

If the workman's pay is not enough to permit saving, the proper way would have been to raise his pay, and make him meet his own responsibilities — like the man he professes to be.

I've been wondering why more men don't wear wigs and toupees. Certainly it can't be because a glistening pate is supposed to add to a man's attractiveness. You can search literature with a fine tooth comb without finding any mention of how a gal was enamored of a fellow because of the sunlight she shined on his polished scalp. No one ever heard of a heroine of a novel shining in ecstasy as she ran her fingers through nothing.

Hair might not be man's crowning glory but it doesn't hurt his appearance a bit. But when it goes a million men out of one million and ten do nothing about replacing it. They just say hail and farewell and accept the situation.

This is undoubtedly because a wig or a toupee for some reason is considered completely ridiculous. Either it is always good for a joke and people go around nudging one another and saying, "Look, that man has on a wig."

Why is this? When a man's eyesight goes bad he gets glasses. When his ears begin wearing out he goes in the market for a hearing device. If he loses a tooth he has it replaced with a false one. No one goes into screaming hysterics over any of these artificialities. But let a man try to improve his appearance with hair that he has to pay money for and he becomes almost a buffoon.

As a matter of fact, a wig isn't half as funny as some of the tricks resorted to by men who are losing their hair. Men with about eight long hairs left on one side of their heads swoop them over the bald spot and plaster them down. It's just about the poorest bit of camouflage that you can imagine. Some men with a little hair on the back of their heads brush it forward. Some with a little tuft left in front comb it straight up, hoping that no one will look over the little tuft and see the bald spot in back.

I, for one, am not going to be foolish about the wig situation. My hair is not going to be with me for many more years. My forehead is getting higher and higher, and it is not improving my appearance one bit. I have mentally marked a timberline on my head and when my hair retreats to that point I am going to visit a wig-maker.

I am going to get my money's worth, too. None of those little Hollywood toupees or hairpieces for me. I want something straight from the Fiji Islands — pounds and pounds of hair. I never had a curl on my head. I have always had straight-red hair, but when I order my wig I am going to order a curly black number that starts just above my eyebrows and runs clear back to my coat collar. If the Fiji Islands aren't shipping wigs at that time, I'll settle for three or four well-cut cocker spaniel ears.

Naturally, I don't expect to fool anyone with this wig. I intend to be perfectly casual about it. If it's a hot night, I'll check it with my hat. If anyone wants to try it on, I'll snap it off and let him see how it fits him. Sometimes I'll wear it rakishly over one eye. Sometimes sedately straight on my head.

Rest assured, I'm not going around with a bald head as long as I have wig money in my pocket. And, if I am down to my luck when my hair reaches the timberline and can't afford a wig I'll just paint hair on the top of my head.

As a matter of fact, a wig isn't half as funny as some of the tricks resorted to by men who are losing their hair. Men with about eight long hairs left on one side of their heads swoop them over the bald spot and plaster them down. It's just about the poorest bit of camouflage that you can imagine. Blow Against Homes

The ancient adage that "a man's home is his castle" is going to have to be modified and brought up to date. Nowadays it should read "A man's home is the government's property."

Certainly this will be the case if the gigantic new public housing measure hurdles the obstacles which still lie in wait for it. 504,000 new units, built by government money which has been wrested from the people of this country, are on the drawing boards. The measure has already passed the Senate. House concurrence and Presidential signature will make it a reality. The current program, aimed at making 504,000 more families dependent upon the government, strikes right at the very heart of American independence.

In essence this would make a million and a half more people dependent upon the tax rolls. It would increase the amount of taxes all of us pay, so that this special group of persons could be placed in a class where they could benefit by low-cost, semi-charity housing. And it would increase the conviction of a great many socialist-minded persons that charity is their "right," that the government is "supposed to look after them," and that a socialist division of wealth is the new morality.

There are few conclusions that could be worse. There is nothing good about the public housing program. Costs of building are excessive. Many of the units, instead of being "low cost" as the bureaucrats title the project, turn out to be luxury units costing from $9,000 to $17,000 each. Pretty nice charity living for those who don't wish to make the necessary effort to pay their own way.

There is no "need" for these additional housing units. A number of the units already constructed are standing empty because there aren't enough families in the low income bracket required for occupancy to fill the existing supply. In some cities where public housing units stand empty, the federal authority has granted certain families of much higher income the right to live in these subsidized dwellings — just so their projects would look good in the record.

And there are instances on record where individuals who are in government employ, already lavishly supported by taxpayers' money, have moved into these projects to save money and to thumb their noses at the free enterprise tax-payer who makes it all possible.

If the Eisenhower administration permits this measure to reach the status of law, the fundamental right of individuals to own property privately will have been struck a serious, perhaps mortal blow.

The Doctor Says

Several weeks ago I attempted to indicate the presence of blood. What this means is that there has been bleeding into the digestive tract fairly high up. Such bleeding can result from such things as ulcers of the stomach or duodenum, cancer or other disorders. It does not always mean cancer but is always a sign which should call for immediate and careful investigation in order to locate the source.

Q — Does black coffee raise the blood pressure?
A — Coffee contains a drug known as caffeine which has certain definite actions on the human body, though the actions do not usually last for long. It is possible that large quantities of coffee might cause a temporary increase in blood pressure, but I do not believe that a permanent increase in blood pressure can be blamed on coffee.

Q — I should like to know why my fingernails are coming off one at a time. Am I lacking something in my diet? — Reader.
A — It is certainly abnormal for the fingernails to come off. The source of this difficulty should be sought in some disease of the body as a whole or possibly the nails themselves. Whether the fault lies with diet or with something else can be decided only after you have been thoroughly examined and tested.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYED YESTERDAY'S championship match in the City Men's Golf Tournament.

It was one of the closest matches we've seen in a title match and it was a shame that so many people missed the Harry Wilbur-Max Hickey championship go.

The weather, to be sure, was extremely warm which possibly was the reason so many golfing addicts stayed away.

But those who did follow the match were well awarded with a fine exhibition of golf.

Wilbur, the new champion, had 15 pars and three bogeys for 74. Hickey had 11 pars, two birdies, four bogeys and one double bogey for a 75.

Virtually all of the bogeys were attributed to puts within reasonable distance from the holes that failed to drop, some of them stopping at the lip of the cups.

Along with the title match, the finals in the consolation bracket was played and it, too, was an interesting match.

The consolation duel between Charlie Douglass and Don Prigmore was more the razzle-dazzle type with only five of the 18 holes being halved.

Douglass, by winning seven holes and Prigmore six, was the winner by 1-up.

It was a big day for Canadian in yesterday's two final matches. Both Wilbur and Douglass are Canadians.

Douglass, however, is in the process of moving his family to Pampa.

Middlecoff Takes Western Open Title

PORTLAND, Ore., —UP— Masters champ Dr. Gary Middlecoff has added another national golf title to his bag of victories — the hard way.

Middlecoff, off the early pacesetters in the $15,000 Western Open here, fired a brilliant six under par 29 on the next to the last nine and record tieing 43 on the final round to edge Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., in a thrilling stretch duel.

The popular Klamath Lake, N. Y., golfer, top professional money winner this season, compiled a 10 under par 272 to take $2,400 in prize money.

His nine under par 63 on the last round, put together with nine birdies, tied the Portland golf course record set by Ben Hogan in 1945 in the Portland Open and Jim Ferrer in the 1946 National PGA.

Billy Maxwell, the 1951 national amateur champion from Odesa, Tex., who held a one strike lead at the half way mark slipped into a three way fifth place tie at 280 with Marty Furgol of Lamont, Ill., and Raph Blomquist of Glendale, Calif.

Kiner Ties DiMag's All-Time HR Mark

NEW YORK —UP— Ralph Kiner, now tied with Joe DiMaggio for sixth place in the all-time home run derby, thinks he may be able to catch the man in fifth place — Ted Williams.

Kiner, former National League slugger now playing for the Cleveland Indians, blasted the 361st homer of his major-league career Sunday in the Indians' 6-0 win over the New York Yankees.

DiMaggio, former Yankee slugger now retired, hit 361 during his career. Williams, still playing with the Boston Red Sox, is just above DiMaggio with 36.6. The only players who ever hit more than 36 are Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Met Ott, and Lou Gehrig.

"If Williams quits at the end of this season, then I might catch him and take over fifth place," said Kiner, 32. "But I just won't last long enough to catch any of the others."

Wilbur Edges Hickey For City Golf Crown, 1-Up

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor Third time was the charm for Harry Wilbur yesterday who outlasted young Max Hickey, 1-up, in the championship final of the 23rd annual Pampa Men's City Golf Tournament.

Wilbur, playing in the finals for the third straight year, won his first title with yesterday's close victory.

Although he was hard pressed all the way, Wilbur was never behind in yesterday's title match. But the new champion never had any breathing room as Hickey kept close on his heels throughout the match.

Wilbur's biggest lead of the day was 2-up. He led by this margin after winning Nos. 7, 11 and 13. Rest of the time it was either 1-up for Wilbur or the match was even.

After the two finalists halved the first hole with par fours, Wilbur went ahead on the second hole with a par.

Wilbur then led until the 16th hole when Hickey ran down a six-foot putt for a par three to take the hole and even the match.

Wilbur won 17 with a par and halved 18 with another par to win. On the 17th, Hickey sliced his drive slightly and was short on his approach while Wilbur had one down the middle off the tee box and was on in two.

Hickey pitched one beautifully about seven feet from the cup but his putt for a par failed to drop and he took a bogey five. Wilbur two-putted for a four and that proved to be the determining factor in the close duel.

For the day, Wilbur had a pair of 37s for a 74 round while Hickey had 38-37 for 75. Wilbur won five holes during the afternoon and Hickey four. The other nine were halved.

Both finalists would have had very respectable medal figures except for a bad time on No. 7. Wilbur won this hole with a bogey four.

On No. 7, Hickey's shot from the tee box was about 60 feet past the green and his approach was short and on the frog hair. He pitched on eight feet past the cup and missed his putt for a double bogey.

Wilbur was to the right flag high off the tee but dubbed his first approach on to the frog hair. His second approach stopped five feet from the cup and he sank for a bogey four but won the hole.

Tyler Folds In Big State

TYLER, Tex.—UP— The Tyler Tigers Wednesday will become the second club to drop out of the Class B Big State League this season, owner J. C. Stroud announced Sunday.

The Tigers will close out their season Wednesday night with a game at Texas City, thus reducing the circuit to six teams. The Galveston club had earlier dropped out of the league because of financial difficulty, playing its last game against Harlingen June 11. Later Harlingen had to raise $10,000 to stay in the league.

Given as reasons for his team's dropping out of the league by Stroud were poor attendance, personal failing health and pressure exerted by other league clubs for the removal of Tyler so the circuit could more economically operate with six teams.

Some 1,611 fans turned out to see Tyler's home finale Saturday night and they got in at a bargain rate of 25 cents to see leading Texas City to a 6-5 win.

Stroud said he has offered to lend his players and the station wagons they use for road games to any Tyler citizen or group of citizens who are interested in taking over the club and finishing the season. However no one had taken the offer by Sunday night.

Purdue Golfer Wins NCAA Title

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. —UP— Nineteen-year-old Joe Campbell of Purdue, who kept the pressure relentlessly on his rival, reigned Monday as the new king of college golf.

The stocky Purdue star, trailing after the first 18 holes of the final round Saturday, came from behind Sunday to whip long-hitting John Garret of Rice, 3 and 2. Campbell, from Anderson, Ind., pulled even by winning the first hole, went one up on the second when Garret muffed a short putt, and stayed in front the rest of the way.

From then on the pressure was greatest on the Rice star, also 19, and he was unable to overtake the blond Boilermaker.

Law was instrumental in ending Pittsburgh's six-game losing streak when he drove in three runs with a home run and a single to beat the Cubs 5-4. But big Bob Rush gave up only five hits in pitching the Cubs to a 2-1 triumph in the second game.

Collum collected two of Cincinnati's 17 hits while beating Philadelphia 16-5 in the opener of a doubleheader as Gus Bell, Stan Palys and Ted Kuszewski each homered, and Art Fowler gave the Redlegs a sweep with a five-hit 5-0 win over the Phils in the finale.

Like Collum, Garver also helped himself to two hits although relief pitcher Al Aber was credited with Detroit's 10-inning 4-4 decision over the Senators. Washington then

Hurlers Sparkle At Bat In Major Loops

By UNITED PRESS Pitchers in both leagues staged their own "hitting picnic" Sunday and the majority of 'em certainly had their fill at the plate.

Guys like Willard Nixon of the Red Sox, Alex Kellner and Ray Herbert of the Athletics, Vern Law of the Pirates, Jackie Collum of the Redlegs and Ned Garver of the Tigers got in some mighty fine hits Sunday as hurlers in both circuits slammed a total of 19 hits and drove in 11 runs.

Nixon exploded a three-run double in the seventh inning of the opener to break a 1-all tie and give the Red Sox a 5-2 victory over the White Sox, Boston then went on to win its 16th game in 20 starts by taking the second game 3-2 behind Tom Brewer.

Kellner Gets Own Lone Run Kellner not only hurled a one-hitter against the Orioles in beating them 1-0 in the first of two games, but his second single of the contest drove in the only run. Herbert drove in two runs in the nightcap to help the Athletics sweep the twin-bill, 5-2, and hang the seventh straight defeat on Baltimore.

Service Cleaners Has Both Cold Storage, Dry Cleaning

It's a double feature at Service Cleaners. Cold storage for your furs, woollens and other cold weather garments. Lint-free, cling-free dry cleaning that makes your clothes repel dirt!

Get these features, plus Gunn Brothers' Stamps, at both Service Cleaners' locations, 312 S. Cuyler, in the busy Southside, and at 115 S. Ballard, across Ballard from the Post Office loading platform. Telephone number for both plants is 4-9751.

Cold Storage
Protect your furs, woollens, all your winter clothing in Service Cleaners' guaranteed, fireproof cold storage vault.

This big steel vault is lined with asbestos, cork and cedar to protect your garments.

This vault has another special advantage: it can be an extra closet for you! Store all your winter garments, blankets in Service Cleaners' cold storage, use your closets for your lighter clothing. The extra space will eliminate all the jamming that wrinkles suits and dresses.

Then when fall comes, store your summer garments in the guaranteed storage. Take out your newly cleaned and pressed cold weather clothes. Take advantage of this convenience.

Lint-Free, Cling-Free
Take advantage, too, of Service Cleaners' newest and best lint-free, cling-free dry cleaning. It's a miracle process!

At Service ALL FABRICS from dark, soft finished woollens to new synthetic "man-made fibers" can be dry cleaned through the "Buckeye Clean-Charge" with this amazing result:

The fabric actually repels lint, even minute lint and dirt particles. The fibers themselves are cleaner and stay cleaner. Colors and patterns remain bright and fresh long!

This process, used at Service Cleaners, is being advertised nationally in Life, Ladies' Home Journal and Good Housekeeping magazines.

Cleaner Garments
Dr. Ralf B. Trusler, director of research at The Davies-Young Laboratory, Dayton, Ohio, is credited with this revolutionary innovation.

He found that static electricity caused lint to stick to dark fabrics. In the dry cleaning process small fibers are separated from the garments. They are attracted to other garments by static electricity.

Wool attracts lint more than any other material, and some of the new man-made fabrics also are easy targets for lint.

Dr. Trusler says that the lint-free, cling-free condition will re-

BUSINESS REVIEW PAGE MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Psalm 54
We live in God. The Apostle Paul, in addressing the learned Athenians on Mars' Hill on a subject somewhat related to our theme, said: "In him we live, and move, and have our being." (Acts 17:28.) The modern scientist, trying to keep out of the field of theology, says: "Something keeps it going." Then for lack of a better name, and still trying to avoid theological entanglements, he speaks of that "something" as "Nature." Finally it becomes the responsibility of theology to identify that "something" called "Nature" as God.

We are well aware that the heart furnishes the motive power which keeps the body alive. Day after day it goes on pumping blood through the human system, carrying fuel for energy to the most remote sections, and disposing of waste materials.

All this it does quite independent of any orders we may issue to it. Any such orders would be disregarded anyhow. We are unable to start or stop it at will; we cannot regulate its action; we cannot control its functions. "Something" entirely outside ourselves is in control.

We do not govern our digestive system. We may eat food, but from the moment we swallow it the matter is entirely out of our control. It is broken up, transformed, and distributed to the needy places without supervision or conscious control on our part. Even in breathing we are governed by a force outside ourselves. We can hold our breath until we faint, but then something starts it again and we are restored to consciousness in spite of ourselves. Every minute of every day we are under the authority of God's physical powers, which go on working in spite of us.

I am living amid thy infinite patience, skill, and versatility. O God. Nothing ever gets out from under thy control except me. My power to choose makes me the only creature in the world capable of defying or loving thee. I will love thy ways. Amen.

Try holding your breath for one full minute. Note the power of the impulse to begin breathing again. Then remember that this is the pressure that God is laying upon your body to compel it to function normally. See if he does not seem near at hand.

Adlai's Son Is Married

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 25 — Nancy Lewis Anderson and Adlai E. Stevenson, Jr., were married Saturday in a quiet, late afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, overlooking the Ohio River.

Among the small group of immediate relatives and close family friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Anderson for the ceremony were the bridegroom's father, Democratic party leader Adlai E. Stevenson, and his mother, Mrs. Borden Stevenson of Chicago.

The bride, a graduate this spring of Smith College, wore her mother's ivory satin wedding gown with family rose point lace, and a head dress of the same rose point lace. She carried a French bouquet of gardenias.

The wedding service was read by Dr. Peter H. Pleune, pastor of Highland Presbyterian Church. The bride was given in marriage by her father, a Louisville advertising executive.

The young couple first met here several years ago when he was in the Army, stationed at nearby Fort Knox, and before he served a tour of duty in Korea.

This warranty gives you full protection on all Seiberling Tires; guaranteed satisfactory service, no time limitations, coast to coast protection, a lifetime guarantee of quality and workmanship.

Get this guarantee on a new set of tires before you take off for the long July 4 week end or on your vacation. Remember, Seiberling tires with the heat vents are the coolest running tires on the market!

To Mr. Motorist that means extra thousands of miles of wear in each tire, and greater safety because cool tires wear longer, and are more resistant to blow-outs.
