OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD

By TERESA STONE Journal staff writer

If your third, fourth or fifth grader came home Thursday and suggested turning down the thermostat, better insulating your home, or using the microwave or stove instead of the oven, they were trying to save you money, save energy, and share with you something they learned in

The gym at De Shazo Elementary was filled with oohs and aahs Thursday morning as students watched and participated in a science assembly on energy.

Experiments literally lit up the stage with smoke, fire, bright lights and loud noises in order to inspire students to find new and efficient ways to use energy.

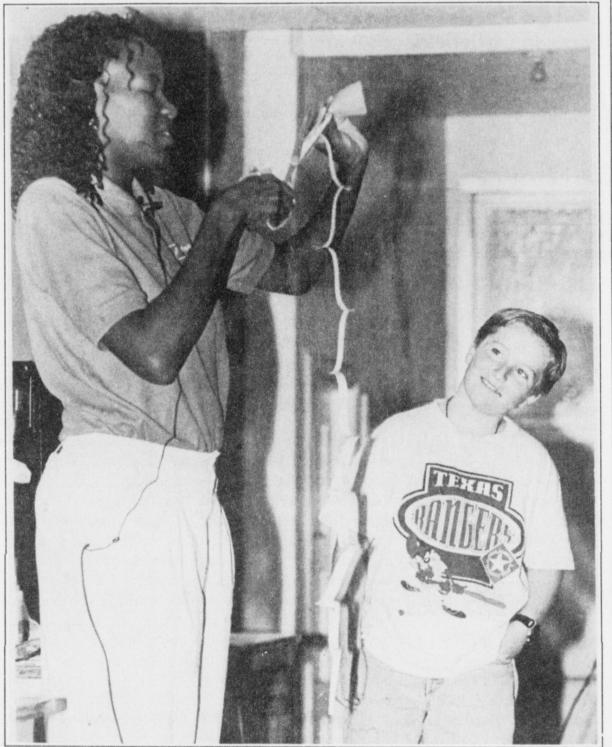

"It was an excellent program," said Principal Barbara Finney. "I think the students have a better understanding of what energy does."

The program, Mr. Wizard's Everyday Energy in Action, was presented by ECA Educational Services, based in Michigan. Profits from Muleville businesses at DeShazo enabled the school to bring the interactive science show to the students.

From a sea of eager young scientists, an energetic and humorous presenter, Kira Downey from Fort Wayne, Ind., chose helpers to aid in explaining and showing the different theories of energy.

Using hands on experiments, with precautions taken in order to ensure everyone's safety, Downey and her young helpers demonstrated the theories behind BTUs, insulation, chemical reactions, electricity, and the combustible engine.

Tumbleweed cause of fire

Thanks to the quick thinking of Denise McCutchen, a possible major catastrophe was avoided Thursday at Ince Fina Station in Mule-

Shortly before 1 p.m. Thursday, a Ford pickup truck caught fire in front of the convenience store on American Boulevard. According to Muleshoe Police Chief Don Carter, the fire was started by a tumbleweed caught underneath the truck and ignited by the exhaust system.

McCutchen, the store manager, noticed flames underneath the bed of the truck when the vehicle pulled into the convenience store. She immediately alerted the driver, who was unaware of the fire.

Eyewitnesses said that the fire spread quickly, blowing out a back tire and the back windshield.

After the fire was extinguished, a fireman told McCutchen that if the owner had tried to put gas into the truck, it could have possibly blown up a two block area.

Gov. Bush recognizes school boards

Gov. George W. Bush has proclaimed perintendent Bill Moore. January as School Board Recognition Month to build awareness and understanding of the vital function an elected board of education plays in our society.

The Muleshoe Independent School District is joining with other districts throughout the state to recognize the to their communities.

"Texans benefit every day from the dedicated energies and countless hours devoted by a group of more than 7,000 men and women across the state. These public servants are elected to serve by local citizens and receive no compensation for their tireless efforts. These men and women are the local school board members of Texas," said Muleshoe Su-

"These people unselfishly contribute their time and talents toward the advancement of public education," Moore said. "They represent a continuing commitment to local citizen control and decision making."

"Even though we are making special important contributions trustees make effort during January to show appreciation to our school board members, we recognize their contributions reflect a year-round commitment on their part," said Moore. "They are dedicated individuals who are committed to the continuing success of our schools and students."

Damron announces candidacy

HC65m, Box 201 Wark, AR 72852-950 MX

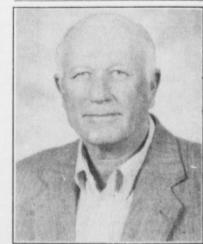

Jerry Damron, a lifelong resident of Bailey County, has announced his candidacy for Bailey County Commissioner Precinct 4.

In an interview Thursday, Damron said that he has been thinking about running for the office for several years. After a lot of encouragement, he decided it was time to try and make a contribution to the county and his precinct.

"I feel that I could help work for a better Bailey County," said Damron. "I would like the opportunity to serve the residents of the county and precinct four, where I have lived all my life."

Serving his community is nothing new to Damron. He was a member of the Sudan School Board for 15 years and has been serving on the Sudan

New law officials making own mark

By TERESA STONE Journal staff writer

Law enforcement offices in Muleshoe are under new management, and the new sheriff and the new chief of police are making their mark on the community Coy Plott officially became Bailey County Sheriff Jan. 1, replacing Jerry Hicks, who retired.

In December, the Muleshoe City Council appointed Don Carter chief of police, replacing Rick Henegar, who unexpectedly resigned earlier in the year.

Neither plan sweeping changes for their departments.

"There won't be any drastic changes as far as enforcement," Carter said. "The police department has always done well on enforcement and we plan to continue. Most changes will be on the administrative level; on the internal workings of the department."

One change Carter is implementing is in the structure or chain of command.

Chief Carter will head the department, with a lieutenant as second in command.

Beginning Jan. 17, the lieutenant will be in charge of investigations. Third in command is Sergeant Joe Orozco, who supervises the patrol officers.

Although Carter has been busy refining the operations and structure of the department, he has considered ways the police can make an even greater impact in the community. One goal is to make positive connections with the young people.

"One of the things we are going to target is a rapport with students. I think it's extremely important; getting off on the right foot with them."

Although Carter would like to see a program started as soon as possible, he said that at the earliest, it would be the next school year. Implementing an interactive program takes time, cooperation between the City Council and School Board, and money — finding grants to fund a program.

Carter, who moved to Muleshoe in 1987, has served area residents for 10 years; the past eight in the Sheriff's office, and two years as a patrol officer in the police department.

While Carter has had a month to settle into his new position, Plott has been Sheriff for less than two weeks.

"We are doing what is needed to take care of the county, making sure everyone is happy," said Plott, who is not expecting to make any major changes in the department. However with two deputies

Reader disputes racism claim

Dear Editor,

In response to Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Camarillio's letter in the Sunday Jan. 4, 1998 edition of your paper. They are not the only people in the area that are upset.

Yes, the man is a suspect, but he is not a convicted rapist and killer.

You said if he had been Latino or African American he perhaps would not have been out on bail.

Then I suppose you did not know that one of the five illegal immigrants sent back to Mexico did not pass his detection test? I would not want to live next door or in town with that man.

Has it ever dawned on you that the wrong person could have been arrested? Oh yes, the illegal immigrant was Latino, not white.

THE PROUD CUT HOLSTEIN STEER

I'll never know just how I got that proud cut Holstein steer.

I'd rather have lasagna fingers wiggled in my ear Or get caught eating tofu at the Cattlemen's Hotel

Than spend another minute with Holstein steer from Hell. I put him out to grass with some I'd taken on the gain.

He soon became the Holstein image of Saddam Hussein.

Most cattlemen I know would never make the same mistake

'Cause steers like him are meaner than a constipated snake. One afternoon I drove out to inspect this herd of mine. The dog jumped out and vanished, but like stink bait on the line He soon bobbed to the surface like he'd hooked FREE WILLY's tail,

Behind him, jaws a snappin, came the Holstein killer whale! I ducked behind a sagebrush but the dog jumped in the cab.

What followed was a battle like this truck had never had.

Imagine if a coal train pullin' sixty cars in back,

Doin' ninety miles an hour hit a beer can on the track.

I heard the metal crumple, heard the plastic rip and tear,

I heard the tires exploding, felt things flyin' through the air. The dog just kept on barkin' so the steer stayed on the fight,

Then Lancelot came chargin' up to save me from my plight. This knight in shining armor was, in fact, to put it blunt, My wife in her new tractor with a bale spear on the front.

Distracted by the tractor, the steer came to a stop.

I raced back to the pickup and clamored up on top. "Up here!" I hollered loudly. "You can lift me with the spear!"

The steer came back like bad news, but my wife had heard me clear. But her aim... (I hollered, "Higher!") was a foot or two off tilt.

She punched right through the truck door ad she rammed it to the hilt!

She pulled back on the lever and we all rose overhead. I say 'we all' because the steer had jumped up in bed.

The last thing I remember just before I pulled the pin

Tax forms in the mail; relief won't begin until 1998

DALLAS—The beginning of a new year signals the start of the annual federal tax filing season. More than 3.3 million North Texans are now finding tax packages in their mail boxes, a reminder that it's time to file their income tax forms again.

This year's tax forms look a lot like last year's forms despite a huge number of tax law changes. For example, Form 1040 has just two new lines one for medical savings account deduction and the other for the adoption credit, both provisions resulting from 1996 legislation.

Most of the changes in the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 will not start until 1998.

According to the IRS, most taxpayers file their taxes between the last few days of January through the first three weeks of February. That's the IRS' "peak filing period."

Muleshoe's defense smothers Squaws

FRIONA — Frustrating Friona with a sagging man-toman defense, Muleshoe held the Squaws scoreless for almost 13 minutes during a 35-22 win Tuesday in a District 1-3A girls basketball game.

Friona had just three field goals and 11 points through three quarters.

Muleshoe then outscored Friona 17-11 in the fourth quarter when the pace of the game picked up.

"I thought we played the way we needed to get a win," Muleshoe coach Jim Gruhlkey said as the Lady Mules won their second-straight district game. "I know it looked ugly to some people, but in my eyes it looked good. I think we played defense about as well as we can."

Spencer's 3-pointer cut the lead to 24-16. But Muleshoe reeled off the next seven points to end any hope of a Squaw comeback.

Locker scored seven points in the quarter and Kellie Morris made 5 of 6 free throws in the last minute of the game.

Muleshoe outrebounded Friona 29-17 and held Friona to just 19 percent shooting. The teams combined for 33 turnovers despite the slow tempo.

Free throws lift Lady Longhorns

PLAINS — Roxann Warren snapped a tie by hitting a pair of free throws with 13 seconds left, lifting Lazbuddie to a 31-29 win against Plains Tuesday in a non-district girls game.

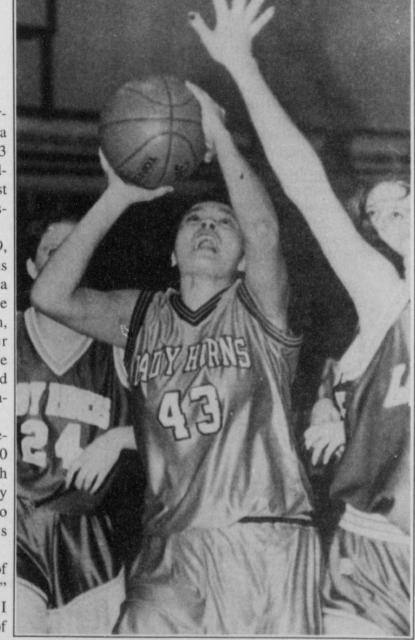

With the game tied at 29, Lazbuddie surprised Plains with fullcourt pressure and Kia Morris swiped a pass in the backcourt and fed Warren, who was fouled. After Warren's free throws, the Lady Longhorns pressured Plains into a 10-second violation to seal the win.

Lazbuddie (13-5) won despite shooting 22 percent (10 of 47) from the field, which Lady Longhorn coach Carey Sudduth partly attributed to letting Plains slow the game's tempo to a crawl.

"We didn't do a good job of putting pressure on the ball," Sudduth said. "And then I think we were in a little bit of a hurry (on offense) because In a crowd of the pace."

Warren finished with a team-high 11 points and Holly Engelking added seven.

Warren, Engelking and Scottie Brown scored four points each in the fourth quarter when LHS outscored Plains 15 31. 12-10.

So, Tell Me, What's Really in a Name?

So, what's in a name?

My own parents named me Curtis Kline. (No jibes, now, it wears just as well as Milton Scott or William Jehoshaphat or Delton Eli or Richard Milhouse or Clive Staples) Presumably, Mom and Dad liked the sound of it, but more than that, they liked the two gents whose names they borrowed, Curtis Humphries and Kline Nall.

Focus Faith

Shelburne Uncle Kline, longtime English professor at Texas Tech, wrote a letter to me (I was still in the crib at the time) explaining that my names meant "courteous little one," and I hope the description is still at least halfway accurate. Names are interesting things.

Some prestige seems to be attached to having either fewer-or more-than old Billy Bob Smith who has just the usual three. Cher. Madonna. Friedrich Heinrich Karl La Motte-Fouque. The prophet Hosea got into all manner of trouble after he married a woman named Gomer. Well, what did he expect?

I once met a good kid named Lambert as I was substitute teaching for my brother's Amarillo High Bible class. Lambert was a toothy little smidgeon of a kid whose parents must've bought one of those baby name books, flipped it open in some haste, popped their finger over to an entry in the L's, and landed upon "Lambert," pretty much guaranteeing that their son would never find his name etched into a cornerstone as CEO of a Fortune 500 company. Which is probably way overrated anyway.

William Frederick Halsey. It was the right name for an admiral a long time before Halsey won flag rank.

Hancock. Johann Sebastian Bach. Oliver Wendell Holmes. William Henry Harrison. Lambert Stromp. Not the same.

Then there was the fictional uncle who Garrison Keillor writes about in some of his "News from Lake Wobegon" stories. The gentle, unassuming little man was Senator K. To, valdsen, and, no, he was not a senator. He had, in fact, never been elected to any public office at all, much less the United States Senate. But his parents liked the ring of "Senator," didn't care a fig for the names in baby name books, and cared even less about the fact that nobody else ever named a kid "Senator." They were proud Norwegian Minnesotans perfectly willing to pioneer a new naming trend, and they thought "Senator" would do just fine as a first name, which, for him, it was. And I suppose they were right.

Whatever our names, if we've committed our lives to God, we wear His name. Wear it well.

Curtis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

High Plains cotton struggled, but regained form at the finish

LUBBOCK—Like a runner who has trouble getting out of the starting blocks, the 1997 cotton crop on the Texas High Plains had area producers anxious early in the season. But steady strides and late season "kick" brought home a winner at the finish line.

By Christmas, the yield for the 25-County area around Lubbock was nearing three million bales of good quality lint. While slightly under the USDA's estimate of 3.5 million bales, growers and ginners were pleased at the outcome of a hectic season.

"For such a cool, wet, windy start, we're really surprised how well the crop turned out," said Dr. Randy Boman, cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service here. With ginning not to be completed until mid-January, many area crop watchers are predicting a final yield of some 3.25 million bales. The said. In spite of spending more than $36 area's five-year seasonal average is 2.7 million bales, according to USDA.

Bad weather with below normal temperatures wiped out some 250,000 acres of the 3.5 million which were planted in the area called "the world's biggest cotton patch". Area growers harvested an estimated 3.25 million acres.

Yields could have been even better, except for heavy losses to insect pests, said Dr. James Leser, cotton entomologist with the Extension Service. A survey conducted annually for the Beltwide Cotton Conferences showed that insects teamed up to reduce area yields by 18.4

"The boll weevil accounted for 74 percent of this yield loss, with over 50 percent of the loss occurring late in the growing season," Leser million to combat the boil weevil, producers still lost yield valued at $148 million, he reported.

The quality of the crop is good, said Wendell Wilbanks, manager of the USDA cotton classing office at Lubbock. Of the more than 2.3 million bales already classed there before Christmas, the lint was averaging 33.81 in length, micronair of 38.39, and strength of 29.19 grams per tex. Color was good and 80 percent of the samples had leaf grades of 1-4, with an average grade of 3.48.

Wet, cold weather in April, May and June put the '97 crop well behind schedule. But July conditions were closer to normal. After July 4, summer syndrome set in and the plants recovered well. But south and east of Lubbock, the crop began to get moisture stress by the end of July. The very rapid change of soil moisture put some fields into a tailspin, particularly in western Dawson and eastern Gaines counties. Rain came in in late August, but it was late for some fields.

By September, many were concerned about the potential for maturing the crop because of fewer heat units than average during the season and the ever-present threat of an early freeze on the High Plains. But September temperatures were 3.5 degrees above normal and the nights were warmer than usual. A killing freeze didn't occur over much of the Texas High Plains unit the last week of October.
