Floods Continue In State

DALLAS (UP)—New flood crests poured down the Brazos and Bosque rivers Saturday toward a junction in water-logged Central Texas today and another stream invaded the city of Wichita Falls, driving out 40 families.

A flood crisis developed in Northwestern Louisiana, where 600 men with sandbags and earth-moving machines were shoring up the levees of Red River before it can pour out over 13,000 acres and the community of East Point, La.

The water receded from part of Dennis, Tex., 40 miles from Fort Worth, where a resurging flood made all 200 residents flee into the hill. The flood also drained out of Bennett, near Dennis, where 24 families were driven out.

Sabine Falling

In East Texas, along the Louisiana line, the Sabine River, which had been flooding all week, was falling as far south as Tatum, Tex., freeing the homes of 200 persons and 1,000 oilwells gradually from the grip of yellow water.

President Eisenhower authorized the sending of one million dollars to Texas from federal emergency funds to be spent on projects that have to do with public health.

Stations Want 'Total War' In Nicaragua

GETUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 4 (UP)—The Nicaragua government said planes of the Honduras border villages today. Nicaraguan border villages today. Nicaraguan radio stations called immediately for "total war."

A Managua government communique reported the attack after a 10-man fact-finding mission from Washington flew to Honduras today to try to find out just what is going on along the disputed border.

The Managua communique said the Honduran planes attacked the town of Mocoron and the hamlet of Laimon. Unofficial sources said Laimon suffered "numerous casualties."

The communique did not disclose the number of planes that took part in the attack or whether the planes used bombs or machineguns on the village. It said planes of the Nicaragua air force challenged the raiders in an aerial dog fight.

"Honduras has violated the truce by the arrival of the fact-finding commission of the organization of American states," the communique declared. "Under such circumstances, Nicaragua is forced to repel the aggression with force."

Radio stations called for "total war" and some sources said reinforcements left for the border with tanks and heavy artillery.

Sea Gulls Think Pampa Is Home

It had to happen! Sea gulls have come to Pampa. The Pampa News phone was ringing off the hook Saturday morning with calls reporting a flock of sea gulls were acting like they had found a home.

One call reported the gulls looking over water-logged Oiler Park on Brown street and another had them alighting on roof tops in the north end of town.

Pampans, after experiencing drought conditions for years, were wondering if another extreme was in the making. Incidentally, we have received rain here for the last eight days in a row. Our total now stands at nearly 13 inches, according to the rain gauge atop The News building.

3 Chamber Employees To Resign June 1

Three employees of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce have notified Chamber Manager E. O. Wedgeworth they will be leaving the employ of the chamber June 1.

The three, Mrs. Clotilde Thompson, Mrs. Iris Ragdale and Mrs. Mary Ann McCloskey, gave as their reason for leaving they wanted to be with their children when school is out. All three have school-age children.

In connection with the announcement, Wedgeworth said, "A misunderstanding in reporting the news was evidenced Friday night on an Amarillo TV station and in the Amarillo paper Saturday morning in reporting on the situation."

"In the 10:30 p.m. TV newscast Friday, it was reported that the three office employees 'walked out' and the chamber office was 'without help' then in the Saturday morning Amarillo Daily News, it was reported a 'blanket resignation' had been signed by the three employees."

"Those reports originated through an Amarillo Daily News correspondent in Pampa who gave the reports without complete information on the subject," he added.

Wedgeworth continued, "Here are the real facts in the case: All women mentioned, who have been employees of the chamber for several years, notified me several days ago verbally that they would be leaving the employ of the chamber on June 1 — there was no 'blanket resignation' — in fact, there was no written resignation whatsoever and nothing was signed."

"The ladies did not walk out but rather are still on the job doing excellent work and getting their various departments in order for their successors to take over when they leave the office on June 1. All the ladies resigning have school-age children and gave their reason for quitting to be as follows:

Newsman Roughed Up As Voting Turnout Is Small

By WILBUR G. LANDREY

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 4 (UP)—Syrians shouted anti-American slogans today and roughed up an American newsman but otherwise failed to show much interest in by-elections billed as an important test of communism.

The American newsman was roughed up when he tried to tape-record shouts by high school girls against the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Police spared another newsman from mob attack only by explaining to frenzied crowds that he was a German and not an American.

Test Of Strength

The ominous anti-American feelings erupted during parliamentary by-elections that provided the first test of strength between Syrian left and right wingers since the upheaval in neighboring Jordan.

But despite the heated emotions only 24 per cent of the electorate had balloted by polling-time and the government decreed the election will continue Sunday.

The first target of anti-American feeling was Welles Hagen, National Broadcasting Company correspondent.

Grab Tape-Recorder

An angry youth tried to grab the tape-recorder which Hagen was using to record shouts against the Eisenhower Doctrine. The American newsman's clothes were torn and his notebook disappeared in the scuffle.

Later, Hans Hartmann, staff television cameraman covering the elections for United Press-Motivision News, had to show his German passport to escape mob anger. Police assigned Hartmann a detective bodyguard who followed him on the rounds of polling places.

Arrest Youths In Beating

The four Berger youths who beat up Bobby Shoopman, 17, of Pampa last Tuesday night were located by Sheriff Rufe Jordan Friday afternoon with the help of Sheriff Hugh Anderson of Borger.

After obtaining a description of the boys, Jordan went to Borger where he and Anderson questioned several boys there about the incident. The denial of one of the boys caused the two officers to become suspicious and they questioned the boy's parents.

Following the officers' talk with the parents, the boy admitted being at the scene when Shoopman was beat up. He implicated the other three boys and after they were all located, Jordan brought the four boys to Pampa.

After questioning and talking with County Judge Bruce Parker, the four Berger youths were released to appear in court at 10 a.m. next Friday. This became necessary since Don Cain, county attorney, is in Austin attending a conference of District Attorneys and County Attorneys. Cain is accompanied by Bill Waters, district attorney.

The four youths are charged with beating Shoopman after he had offered them a ride to the city limits on the Borger highways so that they could catch a ride to Borger.

After beating Shoopman, the boys are reported to have stolen his car and abandoned it after leaving up the differential when the car became stuck in mud.

Shoopman was admitted to Highland General Hospital for the treatment of injuries received in the beating. Reports indicate that his condition is satisfactory and that he is recovering from the beating.

Fat Stock Show Dates Are Set

At a joint meeting of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association and the agricultural committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, March 2, 4 and 5 of next year were set as the date for the 1958 Fat Stock Show and Sale, with the sale taking place on March 5.

The two groups discussed the idea of holding a "Farmer, Rancher and Businessman's Day" during the latter part of this summer at which time business people would be the guests of farmers and ranchers including having a barbecue at noon. However, no definite decision was made and the idea will be explored further and reported on at the next meeting.

Borger Man Wins New Car

Residents of Borger should come to Pampa to do their shopping.

One Borger resident came to Pampa to buy groceries and as a result received a new 1957 Ford. Lige Lindsey, who lives at 1313 Yows in Borger, held the lucky number at the drawing at Furr Food last night for the new Ford that firm gave away. The number was drawn by Shirley Nichols, deputy sheriff, at 8 p.m. and Less James, general manager of Furr Food Stores, reported that the car had been delivered to Lindsey.

Youths Are Arrested After Car Theft, Robbery Try

A telephone call received by the local police department from the sheriff's office at Oklahoma City, Okla., solved two cases that the officers were working on Saturday morning.

Jim Conner, chief of police, reported that the Oklahoma officers were holding two local boys, ages 15 and 16, and a girl, age 13, for theft of an automobile in Pampa Friday night.

The three teenagers were stopped by the officers in Oklahoma City after the local officers broadcast a report of a 1956 Chevrolet stolen in Pampa.

Conner said that the car was taken from in front of 716 Bradley

Drive between 9:30 and 10:30 Friday night. The car is owned by B. J. Brazil, 212 1/2 N. Starkweather, who was visiting at the address on Bradley Drive.

The Oklahoma officers reported that the two boys admitted also breaking into a house in Pampa and hitting the occupant over the head with a skillet.

Hit Over Head With Skillet

Conner said that this information tied in with a report received at 2:05 yesterday morning from B. H. Doughty. He reported that two boys had entered his house in the 100 block of E. Craven and hit him over the head with a skillet taken from his kitchen.

Investigation by officers revealed that the house had been entered through the kitchen window after two youths had removed their shoes. After entering the house, one of the boys picked up the skillet and went to Doughty's bedroom and hit him over the head twice, cracking the bottom of the skillet.

Even though Doughty was cut on the head, later requiring six stitches, he was able to scare the two youths off.

Conner reported that the three teenagers apparently left Pampa after the incident and went to Oklahoma City where they were picked up. The spare tire to the Chevrolet was sold for $5 by the youths at a small town in Oklahoma, according to the Oklahoma officers.

Conner and H. A. Doggett, juvenile officer, were to leave this morning for Oklahoma City to return the two boys to Pampa. The girl's parents were to pick her up last night.

In addition to these two incidents, three other reports were received by the police department, two of burglaries and one of a man being "rolled."

Man "Rolled"

J. D. Clark, a farmer who lives near Vernon, told the officers yesterday morning that he had been "rolled" for $43. According to Clark, he had picked up a hitchhiker near Childress and they had started drinking. The hitchhiker bought a bottle of wine in either Shamrock or Wheeler and the two men continued drinking. Both Shamrock and Wheeler are legally dry.

When Clark woke up early yesterday morning he was in his car on a muddy Pampa street. The hitchhiker and his $43 were gone, Clark reported.

Youth, Community Center Long-Sought Project

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

After weeks of rehearsal and polishing up, Pampa High School students put forth what was termed a "memorable" performance in a talent-packed show called "Youth for the Youth Center" Friday night.

Their efforts paid off handsomely, bringing in a grand total of $1,585 which was donated to the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

The plans for a Youth and Community Center began cropping up in Pampa over 15 years ago. The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce first considered the possibility of such a center. The Jaycees discussed the project with enthusiasm at that time, but it soon began to become apparent that it would take so long to get any such center built and a suitable structure acquired, the organization dropped the idea.

They have since backed the project actively, however.

The idea was immediately picked up by one, and then another group. In short, the idea was kicked around for some time.

In August and September of 1954, the idea was still going and, urged on by the local Chamber of Commerce, an ad was placed in the local papers asking the citizens of Pampa whether or not they truly wanted such a center for their youth and if so to fill out a form which was in the newspaper, selecting eleven persons to draw up a constitution and incorporate an organization for the building and maintenance of the desired "center."

The idea was immediately picked up by one, and then another group. In short, the idea was kicked around for some time.

In August and September of 1954, the idea was still going and, urged on by the local Chamber of Commerce, an ad was placed in the local papers asking the citizens of Pampa whether or not they truly wanted such a center for their youth and if so to fill out a form which was in the newspaper, selecting eleven persons to draw up a constitution and incorporate an organization for the building and maintenance of the desired "center."

The eleven persons voted by the people of Pampa, who met the idea with much enthusiasm, were Aaron Sturgeon, John Campbell, Inez Carter, Floyd Watson, Fred Neslage, Bill Waters, Rufe Jordan, Dr. Joe Donaldson, Mrs. Dorothy Statton, Rev. Dick Crews, and Frank Fata. Since that time, Mrs. Leora Rose has been selected as secretary after Mrs. Dorothy Statton married and moved away from Pampa. Also, Frank Fata has since moved to Amarillo.

These eleven citizens got together, and largely through the efforts of Aaron Sturgeon, acting as attorney, got themselves a charter and became known as the "Pampa Youth and Community Center Corporation."

The organization is a non-profit, non-stock corporation created to receive gifts.

The purpose, as listed in the corporation's constitution, is to construct and operate a Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Plans call for the construction of an indoor swimming pool, game rooms, and facilities for crafts, as well as an area for business and social activities.

When built, the building will rest on a ten acre site located west of the intersection of Kentucky and Hobart. Two of these acres were donated by T. B. Solomons, and Mrs. Inez Carter furnished the necessary money to purchase the remainder of the site.

This, however, is the situation as it now exists on paper. What are the possibilities of its being carried out?

Though there has been some skepticism shown by a few as to whether or not there ever will be a Pampa Youth Center, the people behind the drive have not been idle, nor do they have the slightest intention of letting the project fall through. A statement made by members of the board and published in this paper last year said:

"This project is not an overnight or fly by night endeavor. It is one for the benefit of the entire community and the plan have been in the making for many years."

Although there have been no concerted efforts or fund drives for the center as yet, contributions are still being accepted, such as the one Friday night in which the youth of the community worked together and turned over a total of $1,585 to Fred Neslage, who accepted it on behalf of the board of directors of the center.

Also, different organizations contribute to the center fund.

Any sort of a drive to raise money for the center, the directors have pointed out, will have to wait at this time for more favorable conditions.

The board of directors of the center eagerly point out, though, that their purpose was, and still is, to build a youth and community center and to raise the money for the construction of such a center by subscription.

The time for such a subscription drive, however, is not yet "ripe," they feel. Rather than start a concerted drive and have it fall flat on its face, the board is still accepting funds, but waiting until such a time as they can feel fairly sure of the success of the drive. It would be safe to say that the project will get started somewhere in the next three years, they believe.

Dryer Weather Seen Weather forecasters for the first time said a siege of deluges, tornadoes and floods that hit Texas April 19, may be ending. The weather, according to a United Press count, has taken 21 lives since then, mostly by drowning.

"Dryer air is pushing into Texas from the North and there are strong indications that the flood producing rains have come to an end," the North Texas regional weather bureau said.

3 Of 6 Indicted Plead Guilty

Three of the six persons indicted by the Gray County Grand Jury of the 31st District Court Friday pleaded guilty to the charges filed against them and were given prison sentences by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich late Friday evening.

The longest penitentiary term given by the court was an eight-year sentence given to E. W. Dyer of Pampa after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling. The charge resulted from a worthless check given a local car dealer for a car last year.

Ernest Lee Wickesser, 18-year-old airman from Pampa, was given a five-year probation sentence by the court after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a .22 caliber pistol, Wickesser, who is AWOL from Amarillo Air Force Base, was given the probation sentence on the condition that if he was given a prison sentence by the Air Force for being AWOL, the probation would be cancelled and he would have to go to the penitentiary.

Wickesser admitted taking the pistol last month from the home of a local man and selling it for $35 to a local firearms dealer. He agreed to make restitution for the pistol.

of guilty before the court Friday night was Darwin C. Malone. He had earlier been indicted by the Grand Jury for theft in connection with the October shooting and butchering of a steer by himself and another man. After hearing testimony in the case, Judge Goodrich sentenced him to three years in the state penitentiary. In announcing the sentence, the judge stated that a probation sentence could not be given due to Malone's previous time in the penitentiary.

A few minutes after announcing the sentence, Judge Goodrich stated that Malone would not have to go to prison and would be responsible to the court. The judge told Malone that as long as he stayed out of trouble he could stay out of prison but that the first time he was arrested by any officer he would have to serve the sentence.

Other indictments returned by the Grand Jury Friday were: a driving while intoxicated charge against Oris Lee Wedge of Pampa, who was arrested by city officers several months ago, on a charge of forgery and passing and another on a charge of theft. The two men indicted on the last two charges are not in custody and the names were withheld by the court pending their arrest.

Gray County Cancer Unit Elects Officers

New officers were elected at the meeting Friday evening in Lovett Memorial Library of members of the Gray County unit, American Cancer Society, Texas Division Inc.

Elected were Dr. Carl Lang, first vice president; Mrs. Jessa Clay, secretary; Mrs. Roy McKernan, Mrs. N. G. Kadingo and Cameron Marsh, directors for two-year terms. Other officers, whose terms have another year to run, are Paul Keim, president; Mrs. W. A. Sponemore, second vice president; Coy Palmer, treasurer; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Dr. Walter Bertinot, Mrs. H. O. Darby, all of Pampa, and Mrs. C. E. Vincent of Lefors, Charles Cousins of McLean, L. R. Frank of Kingsmill and L. D. Tindall of Alareed, directors.

Elected as delegate to the state meeting was Dr. Carl Lang, with Mrs. H. H. Hicks as alternate. Elected as delegates to the district meeting were Mmes. Roy McKernan, Jessa Clay, N. G. Kadingo, W. A. Sponemore and Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Overton. Alternates will be Mmes. C. E. Jeffries, W. R. Campbell, Azelle Loftus and George Hrdlicka.

Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Jack P. Foster, chairman, and Mrs. W. A. Sponemore and Mrs. H. H. Hicks.

During the meeting, led by Keim, it was announced the Cancer Crusade now totals $5,105.79. Of that amount $3,264.94 was collected in the house-to-house campaign; $78.00, general drive; $810, industrial; $478.00, radiothon; $1 5.60, Lefors; $40.00, McLean; and $274.25, Roy Bourland's special project.

Mrs. W. A. Sponemore introduced the guest speaker, Leonard Gunderson of Amarillo, past state president, and member of the state executive committee.

Gunderson complimented the Gray County unit for being the second county in the state to elect its quota. He went on to explain the organization and the work of the Texas Cancer Division. He stated there are 16 districts in the state, each with a volunteer medical director, lay woman director

Former Pampan's Rites Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Mercer, 84, a former resident of Pampa, and McLean, will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the First Baptist Church in Anson.

Mrs. Mercer died yesterday morning in the Anson General Hospital. She had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Clara Faulkner, in Anson for the past three years since moving from Pampa.

Survivors include two sons, Jack and Joe of Abilene, former residents of McLean; and two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Chaplin and Mrs. George Keeton, both of Pampa.

J. O. Searl Rites Set Monday

Mr. J. O. Searl, 69, of 414 E. Frederic, died at 2:45 p.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital where he was taken following a heart attack in a local grocery store.

Mr. Searl had been born July 12, 1887, in Missouri and moved to Skellytown in 1928 and from there to Pampa in 1930.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Rosy Elkins Mrs. Letha Bryan, Mrs. E. S. Lowry, and Mrs. Vera Prior all of Pampa, and Mrs. Bertha Mitchell of Big Spring; five sons, Marshall, Kenneth, and Clifford, all of Pampa, Troy of Empire, Calif., and Lloyd of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Allie Evans of Idabel, Okla., and another sister in California; one brother, Jack Searl. Also surviving are 26 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Michael Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Church To Host Training Union Workshop Here

The First Baptist Church will be host to a Training Union Workshop for elementary workers Monday.

The conferences will begin at 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. and will be directed by Hooper Dilday, secretary of the Texas Baptist Training Union Department.

Assisting him will be Miss Florie Anne Lawton, director of Nursery Work for Southern Baptists, Miss Nora Padgett, director of Beginner Work for Southern Baptists, and Miss Laverne Ashby, director of Primary work for Southern Baptists. The three ladies are from the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville, Tenn.

The conferences will feature new programs, methods and materials available to these age groups. Much time is planned for discussion and workers in the Sunday school should find the programs very helpful.

Churches from all over the Panhandle are expected to be represented. This conference is one in a series being held this week. Others will be conducted at the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, First Baptist Church, Odessa, and First Baptist Church, Abilene.

THE BEST IN YEARS—J. D. Skaggs is standing ankle deep in mud as he checked the amount of water standing in one of his fields. Gray County Farmers Cautiously Optimistic About Crop Prospects

By FRED M. PARKER, Pampa News Staff Writer

RAIN, RAIN AND STILL MORE RAIN! That has been the good news in Gray County and the Top of Texas for the past few days and as a result, the topic of conversation in most parts of this country has been on the prospects of crops this year.

With this thought in mind several persons were contacted as to what the prospects were for 1957 following the over 12 inches of rain and other forms of moisture which have fallen since the first of the year.

Several days ago Ralph Thomas, county agent, reported that enough moisture had been dumped on the soil to bring up crops, especially grain. He stated that the future of the crops depended on what happened in the way of moisture in the future.

Thomas said that with enough sub-soil moisture the crops would come up and that only a few occasional showers would be needed to make a fair crop this year. He also stated that the moisture would be needed at the right times and would not be needed especially at harvest time.

During the past few days I have made efforts to talk to farmers in various parts of the county. The muddy roads to most of the farms hampered this operation, and included me getting stuck near McLean.

J. D. Skaggs, who farms 1 1/2 miles south of Pampa on the Bowers City road, said that this was the "best moisture we have had in several years." As he was making this statement he was standing in mud several inches deep in one of his fields.

He reported that the large amount of moisture would do one thing that would help the farmer. It would cause all of the weeds to come at one time so that they could be plowed under before planting time.

Skaggs stated that in the past few years the occasional showers have caused the weeds to come up in patches and the job of controlling them has been tremendous.

He also stated, "with a little luck and a few showers during the growing season, we should make a fair crop this year."

Still trying to find a farm that could be reached without sticking on the county roads, the farm of Inel Urbanczyk, who lives 9 1/2 miles south of Pampa on Highway 70, was visited.

Urbanczyk was spending his time, while waiting out the rain, in repairing equipment and was found in his equipment shed. When asked about the prospects of a crop he said, "that is a question that is hard to answer."

He reported that there was plenty of moisture in the ground and as he was talking, more was being added as the skies opened up in a downpour. He stated that even with the moisture a lot depended on future rainfall and other weather factors, including hail.

When asked about the prospects for a wheat crop, Urbanczyk stated that the prospects in his area were not too good. Most of the wheat was late in coming up and will not have time to make a crop. He said that he would be doing good to make back his seed.

He added, however, that prospects for a good grain crop were better than they had been for several years.

Still trying to find out how much the rain had meant to the county, I finally asked the local technicians of the Soil Conservation Service how far the moisture had penetrated into the soil. These fellows did not know how much penetration had been made since the current thundershowers started over a week ago but reported that shortly before these showers started the penetration had been nearly two feet at several farms checked by the service.

Jack Douglas, work unit conservationist, reported that on checks made of farms that could be reached on the muddy roads showed that most of the moisture had soaked into the soil and that very little had run off the fields. He reported that where contour plowing and terraces were used most of the water had remained in the fields.

With only a few people contacted in regards to the prospect of crops in Gray County this year it seems that only the future can adequately answer the question. It appears that there are still too many "ifs" to be answered on the question and most of them deal with the weather during the growing season and at harvest time.

At least there is plenty of moisture to make the farmers optimistic and to make the crops come up. The question is, will there be enough moisture and good weather to make a satisfactory crop? Only time can give the answers.

CHICAGO—Warren L. Yemm on why he took seven or eight wives (he can't remember exactly) without ever having been divorced: "I never could get enough affection."

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

Being a die-in-the-wool Texan I have every patriotic reason to call your attention to the fact that there is a person on our staff not exactly loyal to this state.

Not loyal, that is, from one point of view. Doris Wilson, our women's editor over here, absolutely and positively likes the weather. Now any red-blooded Texas cat knows we "Panhandlers" are supposed to cuss the weather every once in a while, whether rain or shine.

Now my problem is this. Should I label her a "Yankee" women's editor because she likes the wet weather, or should I let a sleeping dog lie? After all, it only rains thirty or forty days in a row and then quits for a mere six or seven years. That really isn't bad weather when you stop to think of it.

We have really had just enough rain, no, not too much, just enough. Any less and the motor-boats we ride to work would hit a light pole or something.

And, by the way, while I think of it, all that talk about people parking their planes up in the sky and walking down during some of our dust storms last year is pure propaganda. Several times last spring, when we were in the (ha) "dust bowl," I personally stepped out of a few planes about 10,000 feet high and tried to walk down. Now, listen to this part . . . you could tell the air was a bit dirty but it was just practically impossible to get a solid footing. Every time I thought I would get started walking down, some darn fool in a Greyhound bus kept driving by.

DORIS WILSON, women's editor

Mud, is mud, is mud, is mud, is mud (with apologies to Gertrude Stein) . . . but mud is everywhere else this week, so you might as well find it here, too, even (poetically?)

Heard a new word this week, coined especially to fit the local landscape. I've heard a few others, too, but this word is printable. It is mudology.

"Mudology," said the garage man, who was sent out to pull my good friend's car out of six inches of mud, "is a technique of gentleness, persuasion, patience, and a sweat of the brow, when you come in contact with that slicky, sticky fluid to plastic material composed of finely divided particles of solid material with soil; in other words, mud."

The garage man was still delving into the finer arts of mudology, as my friend emerged from the mud and left the garageman's truck, complete with mud tires, stuck in the stuff.

Housewives, too, have come in for their share of dealing with mudology, as children and pets came traipsing into the house covered from head to toe. Just ordinary washing, most mothers found, will not loosen the tenaciousness of the plastic fluid. Just simple mud cases, take two days of soaking and two hours scrubbing to restore the garments or rugs to a semblance of their original cleanliness.

"Oh for the sun, the sun, the sun, To dry up the mud, the mud, the mud. For the mud is no fun, fun, fun And the sun is so good, good, good."

DICK COLLINS, sports editor

Ode To A Mildewed Spring It seems that spring has passed us by, And with it moisture it did bring.

I ask myself as I gaze at the sky: Could this, by chance, be spring?

The moisture's still with us, And each day is still bleak. A thought makes me delirious, It may rain week after week.

My notebook has mildewed, And my typewriter's rusty, I know this may sound rude, But I'd rather it be dusty.

Which all goes to prove Without rhyme or reason, We're going to have, weather, So get used to the season.

Before reaching a decision, Ask: was this rain sought? It's so easy to vision, What Noah must've thought.

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

The weather has been the topic of a lot of talk in recent days and even after the rain stops there will be plenty of talk about the after-effects of the large amount of moisture.

When the rain stops and the sun shines once more upon the Top of Texas we had better hope for some nice breezes. With the sun baking the muddy soil the humidity will climb and, with the heat, will be more noticeable. When this happens there will be plenty of uncomfortable residents in the area unless the breezes help cool things off.

There will be plenty of other after-effects from the moisture. All the dirt roads in Pampa and Gray County will have to be graded. The city engineer's office in Pampa reports that approximately 40 per cent of the streets in the city are unimproved and this will involve plenty of long hours grading the rutted and returning the surface of the streets to normal.

With only five "maintainers" this will mean a tremendous undertaking, grading all of these miles and smoothing the surfaces. Nat Lunstorf, county commissioner, has said that it will take nearly a month to grade all of the roads. He stated that the maintainers would not be able to work the roads until after the soil had dried to a depth that would eliminate the possibility of new ruts appearing as a result of heavy equipment traveling the roads.

On the asphalt streets the holes will have to be filled and patched with additional asphalt and plenty of tar will have to be placed on the concrete streets. Even some of the brick streets in the downtown area will have to be repaired.

While all of this is taking place the county crews will have to be repairing county roads. In Precinct 2, which includes the Pampa area, there are over 2,000 miles of unimproved county roads.

Heart 'Banks' Are Expected By Biologist

WASHINGTON (UP) — A distinguished biologist believes the day is coming when a person with a bad heart can go to the "bank" and get a replacement.

He also foresees a time when "tailor made molecules" will be available for such purposes as controlling human conception, sex and growth.

The biologist, Dr. Ralph W. Gerard of the University of Michigan, addressed a scientific colloquium at the National Science Foundation here.

He said biology has come a long way since it was christened in 1802. It is now "at the explosion point" and is expanding rapidly into the realm of physical, psychological and social science.

Blood, bone, eye and cartilage banks already have proved practical. Gerard believes kidney, liver and heart banks will follow although some of the technical problems admittedly are great.

"I believe they will be solved," Gerard said.

He also sees a growing role for "tailor-made molecules"—synthetic organic drugs produced in the laboratory for a multitude of uses.

Gerard made no attempt to list all the possible uses of tailor-made molecules. But he said they might include everything from control of the nervous system to control of conception, sex of offspring and growth.

BOB PEREZ, staff writer

The talk given by Dr. William Gordon, heart specialist, author and lecturer, to members of the Pampa Knife and Fork Club last Tuesday leaves plenty of food for thought.

Dr. Gordon claimed that parents are to blame for the stress which envelops many of our young people today. "It's our fault," he said, "because we breast feed them from the cradle all the way into their first job, and when things don't go the way they want it, they can't take it. We just haven't let them have a kick in the pants soon enough or often enough."

Dr. Gordon also said that we

GRAY COUNTY Soil Conservation District News

By JACK DOUGLAS
Work Unit Conservationist
Good rains have fallen and caused our grass land to look green and show signs of producing some foliage once again. More rain means more grass, more grass means more beef, more beef means more dollars, the object of most farming and ranching operations. The rancher or operator has some control over all these items except the rain.

Management is the rancher's most important conservation tool. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Gray County Soil Conservation District suggest the use of two important practices, deferred grazing and proper use as first steps toward bringing ranges back to their normal production.

Deferred grazing is simply taking cattle off an area for a long enough period to cause beneficial effects. Different for a period of ninety days anytime during the year will be beneficial to most any range site. During early spring, deferment will tend to increase vigor of old plants and give small seedlings a chance to get a proper start before grazing or trampling.

Rest during late summer gives the grass a chance to produce seed heads for possible reseeding, thus producing thicker stands of the better grasses. If cattle are taken off during winter months, more dead litter may accumulate. Litter left on the surface will tend to decrease runoff, increase water intake rate, and give protection against wind erosion.

The practice of "Proper Use" is about what the name implies. To use a range properly would be to take the maximum amount of forage off in beef production, yet leaving enough grass so as not to abuse the range. According to conservation ranchers and agriculture experiment stations the best rule to follow is to take half and leave half of current production. This type management practice is based on the most desirable grasses present.

S. C. S. technician are available to make suggestions towards a complete conservation plan on your range land. "Management" is the key to good ranching — turn it the right way.

Agricultural Organization To Celebrate Anniversary

By GAYLORD F. GODWIN
WASHINGTON, May 4 (UP)—The International Federation of Agricultural Producers (IFAP) celebrates its 10th anniversary May 19 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

The IFAP regards itself as the spokesman on the international level for farmers around the world.

Its membership is composed of 43 nationally representative farm or cooperative organizations in 28 countries, representing some 35 million farmers. U.S. members are the American Farm Bureau Federation, National Farmers Union, National Council of Farmer

Co-Operates, and the National Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations and to other inter-governmental bodies concerned with problems of agricultural production, marketing, and trade.
IFAP has no connection with government. It is a non-governmental organization which tells governments of the world, through the United Nations, its specialized agencies, and other international organization what farmers are thinking, and what they want. It is recognized by the U.N., and its agencies as the authoritative understanding of international farm problems.

The Purdue conference will be the first the federation has held in the United States.

Number Of Working Mothers Has Increased By Nearly 50 Per Cent

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Do working mothers contribute to the financial security of their families and the economic health of the nation? Or do they contribute to the rising rate of juvenile delinquency and the breakdown of the American home?

These questions are causing grave concern to religious leaders, educators, social scientists and government officials, a United Press survey showed today.

Two mothers out of every five who have children under 18 now are holding jobs outside the home. The number of working mothers has increased nearly 50 per cent in the past 10 years, and now stands at a record 6.5 million. Of these, 2.5 million have children under six years of age.

Differ Widely
While authorities differ widely in their opinions about the overall impact on American life, all agree that each working mother must be judged as an individual. Some women, they say, go to work because they crave luxuries which their husbands' paychecks can't provide. Others become wage-earners by necessity. About one fifth are widowed and divorced.

Some flee the hard work and heavy responsibility of full-time home making for an easier job in an air-conditioned office. Others are trying sincerely to make the best use of their time and talents while their children are away at school. Some working mothers undoubtedly neglect their children. Others are extremely conscientious parents.

Wide Range
Recognizing this wide range of individual differences, some authorities nevertheless consider the national trend as an alarming development.

In a recent nationwide survey of public school teachers by the National Education Association, 80 per cent listed "lack of parental supervision due to mother working" as a cause of student behavior problems. One third called it an "important" factor.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the United Press "parental neglect" is a major cause of increasing juvenile crime. He said it is likely to occur in three types of homes—those "broken by death or divorce," those in which parents are "too absorbed in their own social pursuits to give essential guidance and affection to their children," and those in which "both parents are working."

Magr. Irving DeBlanc, director of the family life bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, said the increase in the number of working mothers is "clearly related" to a deterioration of moral and spiritual values among large numbers of American youth.

Russia Is Softening Inspection Attitude

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Soviet Russia seems to be gradually softening its attitude toward a satisfactory disarmament inspection system.

It has now offered a plan under which large areas of the United States, Western Europe and the Soviet Union would be open to aerial survey.

Agreement on such a system of inspection is a necessary first step toward any disarmament treaty, as a guarantee against cheating.

Russia's new offer, made at the United Nations Disarmament Conference in London, can hardly be called big-hearted.

For instance, inspection planes with photographic equipment would be permitted to fly over Alaska, the entire United States west of the Mississippi River, and most of Western Europe.

Areas Equal On Paper
They would fly over most of Communist Eastern Europe, a very small part of western Russia and a large part of Siberia.

On paper, the Russian proposal calls for the opening up of an equal area of Soviet and American territory, including Alaska, and most of Allied Western Europe.

Actually, the whole of Alaska, a great part of the United States and nearly all of the highly industrialized countries of Allied Western Europe would be open to Russian inspection.

But almost all of western Russia, containing the greater part of Soviet war industries, would remain closed territory.

This proposal, in its present form, is obviously unsatisfactory.

Its first importance, however, lies in the fact that little by little the Soviet government seems to be coming around to admitting the necessity for an efficient means of inspection.

That is a big concession for the Russian Communist leaders to make. Russia always has been one of the most secretive countries in the world. That was true even under the czars, incidentally.

In their reluctance to opening up their territory for inspection, Soviet leaders are not only trying to conceal their war potential.

Allied inspection planes, with their remarkably penetrating photographic equipment, would be able to spot weaknesses as well as strengths in Russia's industrial facilities.

Allied optimism has been growing since the U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee, on which the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France and Russia are represented, started its current meeting March 18.

Optimism Warnings
Authoritative informants at the London meeting are now warning against too much optimism. Such warnings are justified in view of Russia's record of evasion on the inspection issue.

But the Russian attitude does seem to be softening.

One reason, as has been pointed out, undoubtedly is the growing alarm of the Soviet government over the threat presented to it by Allied bases in Europe, North Africa and Asiatic Turkey—bases from which nuclear missiles as well as nuclear bomb-carrying planes could attack.

The Soviet alarm can hardly have been lessened by the firm way in which its threats to Allied countries of dire retaliation have been rejected.

Producer Believes In Pear-Shaped Tones, Not Singers

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Samuel Chotzinoff, producer of the NBC-TV opera and the touring NBC Opera Company, believes in pear-shaped tones. But not pear-shaped singers.

Chotzinoff, who has pieced together such video efforts as "La Traviata," "Salome" and "War and Peace," now is blueprinting a schedule that'll take the NBC opera entourage into 57 cities next season.

He feels the day is at an end when the public will accept a love duet between a steamboat-sized soprano and a puffing tenor.

Concert in Custard
"I would never use (Kirsten) Flagstad, the greatest soprano in the world," said Chotzinoff today. "To watch her sing 'Traviata,' for example, would just be funny to most people. It would be a concert in custard."

"The singer who is not believable in a role, who is not appealing visually, will disappear. I think. And of course, TV will be largely responsible. There will be no use for the big fat ones."

Believability is one of the key words to Chotzinoff's entertainment. "It's the reason why we do all our operas in English," he said. "You can not really believe in a story, you cannot enjoy it unless you understand it."

Language Boring
"You miss 50 per cent of an opera that is sung in a language that is unfamiliar. And if you're not a musician or a real-music lover, you miss the other 50 per cent. It's no wonder that so many people in the past were bored by opera."

In European opera houses, said Chotzinoff, it is common practice to convert an opera into the tongue of the country in which it is performed.

"Only in England and America, is there any hesitation at translating opera," he said. "And that hesitation is all just snobism."

"It was all started by those people who treat opera as a social affair and don't really care about it anyhow. And it has been aided and abetted by a lot of fatheaded critics."

Although the NBC touring opera company lost $150,000 last season, Chotzinoff sees a heady future in store for it. "We knew we would lose money in the beginning," he said. "We look upon it as a kind of public service."

A Real Hunger for Opera
"But eventually, we think we may reach a self-sustained basis. We've found there is a real hunger for this kind of entertainment. People are surprised opera can be entertaining. They laugh at the funny lines, they cry at 'Butterfly.'"

And added Chotzinoff, there are the rewards of building a company. "We don't go in for prima donnas and everybody toes the line," he said. "Everybody travels by bus, sometimes they made a jump of 150 miles in one night. But the spirit is wonderful."

"The old opera companies were built on personality, on temperament. Ours is based on ensemble. And it works wonderfully. Last year we had three girls playing 'Madame Butterfly' and they were like dolls—they even helped each other dress backstage between the acts. That is something you would never find in an old type opera company."

Nation's Capital Is A Marvelously Varied Place To Student Visitor

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's capital, seen through the wide eyes of a high school student making the traditional senior class trip, is a marvelously varied place.

It has the White House, and Glen Echo amusement park. It has the Supreme Court, and a Chinese night club.

It is a great place to eat and buy souvenirs and drop water bombs out of hotel windows. It is not much of a place for sleeping. It is hard on the legs, especially when you feel compelled to run all the way to the top of the Washington Monument.

Very Educational
It is a very educational place for a high school senior to visit in the spring—provided you have infinite faith in the proposition that all travel is broadening for young people who have never been away from home without their parents before.

These observations are based on three days of touring Washington with high school groups from all parts of the country. It was an exhausting experience, but the only way to find out what really goes on during that unique fixture of American education—the senior class pilgrimage to the capital.

Each year about 400,000 boys and girls—one third of all the high school seniors in the country—come here on school-sponsored tours. They come from the Middle West and the Deep South, from New England and the Pacific Coast.

The annual invasion begins early in March, and by about this time of year hits a rate of about 8,000 a day. The average stay is three days, but it is incredible how much a healthy 18-year-old can see and do in 72 hours if he is willing to go without sleep—as most of them are.

The day's activities typically begin at 6 a. m. with an enormous breakfast. No high school senior, apparently, considers bacon and eggs an adequate breakfast. It usually is bacon-and-ham-and-sausage - and eggs, with French toast and sweet rolls on the side.

Bills in Bales
First stop usually is the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where all U. S. paper money is produced. The sight of $10 bills in bales invariably prompts the wag of the group to inquire if the bureau passes out samples.

"They've been asking me that for 30 years," a sad-faced guide confided to this reporter. "Each one thinks it's original. Some day I'm going to lose my grip and strangle one of them."

From the bureau to the Washington Monument is a five-minute walk that merely whets the teenage appetites for physical exercise. They arrive at the 555-foot monument with but one question in mind.

"First thing they ask," said Joseph Eaglin, supervisor of guides, "is what is the world record for climbing the stairs to the top of the monument. I always tell them it takes the average person about 20 minutes to make it up the 898 steps. Then they're off."

Calumet's Iron Liege Captures 83rd Kentucky Derby Running

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4 (UP)—Iron Liege, a Calumet Farm colt, wiped out a week of misadventure with a brilliant stretch run as he turned back a bitter challenge by Gallant Man at Churchill Downs to win the 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby by the tip of his nose and give the stable its sixth triumph in America's racing classic.

All week long trainer Jimmy Jones sweated over another Calumet Farm horse, Gen. Duke, who was injured in the Derby trial Tuesday and was considered the favorite to win the race. But when the real hope of the stable had in the first of the triple crown races, this morning Gen. Duke had to be scratched from the race. However, just as it has so many times in the past, Calumet Farm had another colt ready to roar when its star was knocked out. And Iron Liege did as Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man charged at him in the stretch.

Led All The Way

But jockey Camp Bill Hartack, beaten out of the Kentucky Derby a year ago when Needles ran down Fabius in the stretch, held on to the lead all the way this time, although it had all but disappeared as he streaked across the finish line.

Gallant Man, nosed out of the Wood Memorial two weeks ago by Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, ran his heart out in the stretch. But he had to come from too far back to take the winner's purse of $107,950. He easily beat Kerr Stable's Round Table for the place, charging across the finish line two and three quarters of a length in front of Round Table.

Then came Bold Ruler, favorite of this disappointingly small crowd which braved a cold, windy day to watch the first of the triple crown classics. Jockey Eddie Arcaro rode Bold Ruler and asked him to run on the turn into the home stretch. Bold Ruler tried to rally and for a moment appeared to move up. But he just didn't have the speed and power which carried him to track record triumphs in the Bahamas, the Flamingo and the Wood Memorial.

8 To 1 Odds

Iron Liege was 8 to 1 and paid $18.80, $9.40 and $6.20 while Gallant Man paid $5.00 and $4.00 and Round Table $4.00 in finishing third.

It was a mighty lucky victory for Calumet, Hartack and Iron Liege.

With Gallant Man inching ahead, Willie Shoemaker thought he had reached the finish line in front. He eased Gallant Man slightly with about 50 yards to go and before he realized his mistake, Iron Liege was across the finish line.

"This son of a gun really can run. I didn't think he could run but he made a monkey out of me," said Hartack. But he needed the error by Shoemaker to get him home.

Ironically, Shoemaker rode in the race as a replacement. John Choquette missed the ride because he was suspended last week and "The Shoe" was engaged as a replacement.

Thoroughly Beaten

Bold Ruler was a tired and thoroughly beaten colt in fourth place, just ahead of Federal Hill, Indian Creek, Mister Jive, Better Bee and Shan Pac finished in that order.

For Iron Liege this was his first stakes triumph. He had been outrun all season long by Bold Ruler and Gen. Duke. But even if it was lucky, it goes on the books as a Derby triumph and raised his earnings to $162,280.

Pampa 7th In State Golf Meet

AUSTIN — Tragedy in the form of extra-tough roughs and inaccurate putting struck the Pampa Harvester golf team here Saturday and the Panhandle champions finished seventh among eight teams competing for the Class AA state schoolboy golf championship.

The Harvesters, who had coasted to six previous tournament and dual victories this season, finished the 36 holes of medal play with a total of 667 strokes, 47 strokes back of the winning Stephen F. Austin Maroons of Austin.

The Maroons, playing on their home course, had a total of 620, 10 strokes better than runner-up Jacksonville. Following in order were Woodrow Wilson of Dallas with 640, Paschal of Fort Worth with 646, Lamar of Houston with 653, El Paso High with 668, Pampa with 667 and Ray of Corpus Christi with 700.

Medalist for the division was Austin's Randy Petri with 150. Robert Darsett of Austin also had 150 but lost in a playoff. Austin led after the first 18 holes of play Friday with 310 followed by Jacksonville with 313, Woodrow Wilson with 318, Paschal with 321, Lamar with 332, Pampa with 333, El Paso with 336 and Ray with 348.

The Harvesters, who won the District 3-AAAA and Region One championships, were unaccustomed to the tree-lined roughs and the Bermuda grass greens and as a result their scores soared into the mid-80s on both rounds. Pampa took third place here last year behind Alamo Heights of San Antonio and Brownwood.

Melvin Chisum and Les Howard each had 162s for low Pampa scores while Bill McLeod had a 163 and Burt Watkins a 180. Howard and McLeod finished the first 18 holes with rounds of 82. Watkins had an 85 and Chisum an 84. Chisum came back here Saturday to take a 78 for the low Pampa score of the day. Howard had an 89, McLeod an 81 and Watson soared to a 95.

Del Rio captured the Class A state team title with a total of 642. Shamrock was second with 678. Wink won the Class B crown with 724 and Memphis took second with 746.

Art Wall Takes Lead In Colonial Golf Meet

Art Wall, slender Art Wall pulled his game together after soaring three over par on the first four holes to post a 37-35-72 and take over undisputed lead at the halfway mark of the Colonial National Invitation Golf tournament with a 140 today.

Wall, who shared the lead with little Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., with identical 68s after Thursday's opening round, had to fight a wind-blown heavy drizzle—the 17th straight day of rain here—in moving two strokes out in front.

Littler, who holed only one good putt all afternoon, missed seven greens and took six fat bogeys in skidding to a 36-38-74 that left him at 142 with the final 36 holes due to be crammed into what promises to be another cool, gusty, rainy day Sunday.

Wall said that a four-foot putt for a par on Colonial Country Club's toughest hole, the par 4, 459-yard fifth hole, was the turning point for him.

"My tee shot caught a tree and dropped flat, leaving me 100 yards behind the others and I already had three straight bogeys," Wall said. "I used a driver on my second shot and stopped 15 yards short of the green. My chip went four feet by the cup, but I remarked at the time that if I could get that one down, I still might pull out with a decent round. I got it down."

"I missed a short putt for a birdie on the sixth and that unnerved me a little and I bogeyed the seventh when I caught a trap and lipped the cup with my putter. But, from there on I settled down."

Wall proceeded to birdie the eighth and ninth with putts of 20 and 12 feet, just another stroke with a three-putt bogey on the 11th and then parred in to the 18th where he heaved a 15-footer for his third birdie of the round and a 72.

The 33-year-old Pocono Manor, Pa., product said he was "ready to settle for a 78 or 79" after the first four holes, but certainly had no thoughts of taking over the lead, even after his game settled down.

Harvie Ward, the national amateur titlist from San Francisco missed the first seven greens and three others on the back side, but sank birdie putts of 35 and 20 feet and blasted 80 feet out of a trap for three straight birdies starting with the eighth hole to finish with a 37-36-73 that put him in the 143 category.

Mike Souchak, the defending champion from Grussingers, N.Y., had a 33-38-73 to put him in the same bracket.

Art Wall Takes Lead In Colonial Golf Meet

OILERS EDGE CARLSBAD, 2-1

Littler Skids To 74 Round

FORT WORTH, May 4 (UP)—Slender Art Wall pulled his game together after soaring three over par on the first four holes to post a 37-35-72 and take over undisputed lead at the halfway mark of the Colonial National Invitation Golf tournament with a 140 today.

Wall, who shared the lead with little Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., with identical 68s after Thursday's opening round, had to fight a wind-blown heavy drizzle—the 17th straight day of rain here—in moving two strokes out in front.

Littler, who holed only one good putt all afternoon, missed seven greens and took six fat bogeys in skidding to a 36-38-74 that left him at 142 with the final 36 holes due to be crammed into what promises to be another cool, gusty, rainy day Sunday.

Wall said that a four-foot putt for a par on Colonial Country Club's toughest hole, the par 4, 459-yard fifth hole, was the turning point for him.

"My tee shot caught a tree and dropped flat, leaving me 100 yards behind the others and I already had three straight bogeys," Wall said. "I used a driver on my second shot and stopped 15 yards short of the green. My chip went four feet by the cup, but I remarked at the time that if I could get that one down, I still might pull out with a decent round. I got it down."

Martinez Pitches 7-Hitter

CARLSBAD, N.M. — An eight-day layoff failed to put a cramp into Pampa's playing style here Saturday night as limited service pitcher Roberto Martinez hurled the Oilers to a dazzling 2-1 victory over the Carlsbad Potashers.

Pampa showed no signs of idleness here Saturday in taking the second Southwestern League victory to even the season record at 2-2. The Oilers' last game was a Thursday, April 25, when they lost to Ballinger. The previous win had been over Midland where the Oilers split a two-game series.

The Oilers lost no time in making up for their rained-out seven-day home stand. They scored two runs in the second inning and allowed the Potashers one in the third to take the victory.

The contest turned into a pitching duel from the start. Martinez gave up six hits in allowing the one run while Manager Jodie Phipps allowed only four safeties in suffering the heartbreaking loss. Both pitchers struck out seven. Martinez walked three and Phipps walked four.

Third baseman Pat Platt started Pampa's scoring in the second frame with two men out. The big infielder singled through short and went to second on catcher Don Smith's single that went through the same hole. Martinez walked to load the bases and second baseman Henry Francis singled to right to score Platt and Smith.

Carlsbad got its lone tally in the third when Bob Boyd led off with a walk. Jimmy Pace sacrificed him to second and Jim Bawcom's double scored the second baseman.

Francis, Jeral Landrum, Platt and Smith got the only hits—all singles—off the veteran Carlsbad manager-pitcher, Bawcom and Patterson each had a pair of safeties for the only extra-base blows of the game.

The two teams close out the two-game series here Sunday afternoon. Manager A. E. Cross will probably use either Tommy Harrison or Russ Harris on the mound. Both are veteran hurlers and are well-rested from their last starts.

Meet The Oilers

(Ed. note — This is the first in a series of articles on the Oilers players which will appear daily in The Pampa News.)

For a baseball player who was advised not to play ball when he was young, Jim Allen has made quite a big jump into organized baseball as a rookie.

Allen, a 21-year-old product of Detroit, is one year more than to jump from sandlot ball into Class B organized baseball. It happened this season when Jim got his chance to pitch for the Class B Pampa Oilers of the Southwestern League.

But in between his amateur baseball experience and his debut in professional ball, Jim sandwiched in three years of Marine Corps duty with one year in Korea. He's been out of the service only a short time.

Jim is one of the seven hurlers on the Oilers roster and he has already appeared in one of Pampa's three games. The blond, well-built rookie will be counted upon this season to help out in the tight spots.

Allen graduated from Catholic Central High School in Detroit. He did not compete in high school baseball when a Cincinnati scout told him he would be better off if he did not pitch. He did play amateur baseball for a recreation league in 1953 where he had a fine 14-2 record including a pair of no-hitters and two one-hitters.

One of his greatest thrills was missing a perfect game in the ninth inning. He still finished the game by allowing only one hit. That same season he got started with an 11-0 record and he appeared on the late Edgar Hayes sports show because of that feat.

After his fine 1953 season, Allen was signed to a Cincinnati contract by Buzz Boyle, then a Redleg scout. This spring Allen was sent to Cincinnati minor league training camp at Douglas, Ga. From there he was optioned to the Oilers.

City Junior Golf Tourney Set Tuesday

The City Junior Golf Tournament begins a four-day run at the Pampa Country Club Tuesday to open a five-tournament scheduled this spring.

The meet, open to boys between the ages of 11 and 17, will begin Tuesday afternoon and continue through Friday afternoon. The tournament will be divided into two groups — 11-14 age group and the 15-17 age group.

Melvin Chisum is the defending champion of the older age group while George Smith won the other division last year. A total of 24 golfers entered the meet last year.

The tournament is a medal play event and no qualifying is necessary. The younger boys will play a total of 36 holes or nine holes each day. The older players will play 54 holes in four days.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runner-ups of each division as well as the medalists.

Pasadena, Stamford And Weimer Win Track Titles

By LLOYD LARRABE

AUSTIN, May 4 (UP)—Pasadena, Stamford and Weimer swept to track championships today on the strength of one-man shows in the 47th running of the state high school track and field meet.

The Pasadena team gained the Class A crown in the versatility of speedy Bert Coan, who accounted for 34 of his team's 46 points to lead his school to its first state championship in history.

Mike McClellan paced Stamford to the Class A title with 32 of his team's 44 points, and Andy Poole scored 18 of Weimer's 30 points to take the Class B championship.

Coan, a lanky runner who won all-state honors in football last year, set a new state record in the broad jump Friday, and came back today to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes and anchor his team from behind to capture the 440-yard relay title.

Coan turned in a 10-flat century, winning by three yards over Lynn Gray of Baytown.

He outstepped Billy Hulet of Amarillo, second-placed in the 440-yard relay, to gain an important 16 points in that event after taking the baton at the final turn with his team in fifth at that point.

In the 220-yard dash, Coan's chief competitor also came from Gray, who finished second behind the speedy Pasadena runner.

McClellan appeared headed for a sweep of his events in Class A as Coan did in AA but Sidney Garton of New Boston edged McClellan in the 220-yard dash, in which McClellan finished second.

McClellan, anchoring Stamford's winning 440-yard relay foursome, swept past Garton, anchoring New Boston's second-lacer in another duel between the two runners.

It was a sweet victory for Pasadena, which had lost eight straight meets this year in meets involving Baytown or Houston Lamar.

Baytown finished second in Class AA with 36 3/4 points, while Lamar had 28, Abilene 25, and Houston Bellaire 23.

Only one new record was set today, as Dale Byerly of Coleman ran the mile in 4:32.9 to eclipse the old mark of 4:34.5 which Byerly set for Class A a year ago. All state and division standards in the broad jump were smashed Friday.

McClellan who shattered the Class A broad jump mark Friday, won the 100-yard dash today, ran second in the 220-yard dash and anchored Stamford's winning 440-yard relay team. McClellan brought his team from fourth to first on the last lap of the quarter-mile.

Stamford's 44 points gave the West Texas team the Class A title over Wharton, which finished second with 36. New Boston and Refugio had 32 points.

Dick Whetzle Takes Southern Golf Title

ATHENS, Ga., May 4 (UP)—Dick Whetzle, a 24-year-old junior from the North Texas State, captured the 20th annual Southern Inter-collegiate Golf Championship today with a 72-hole total of 284.

Whetzle, a slender blond Army veteran who was runner-up in the tournament last year, reeled off four consecutive birdies on the back nine of the first 18 holes in today's 36-hole final to take the lead.

He maintained that margin the rest of the way to finish three strokes ahead of Tommy Aaron, University of Florida, who won the Southeastern Conference individual crown with a 287.

Jim Hiskey of Houston, the first round leader, came in third at 288 while Bob Beus of Miami was fourth with 291. Next came Jimmy Powell of North Texas State at 292 and Tommy Bates of Vanderbilt at 293.

Whetzle had only one bad hole during the day, collecting a double bogey six on the 16th hole during the afternoon round but he recovered to finish with two straight pars.

Reg Baxter of Houston, national intercollegiate champion for 1956, wound up with a 297.

Houston Downs Aggies Twice

HOUSTON, May 4 (UP)—The University of Houston, defeated 15 to 4 in their opening game Friday with Oklahoma A&M, today bounced back to take both ends of a double-header, winning the first game 3 to 1 and the seven-inning nightcap 8 to 2.

The victories left both teams with 4-2 conference records and possibly muddled the western division of the Missouri Conference.

Under conference rules, the baseball championship is determined on a percentage basis. Thus, Tulsa whose two games with Wichita were rained out, could grab the championship with a single game victory and a 1-0 conference record today.

In the opening game here today, Dickie Thompson hurled steady, nine-hit ball for the Cougars. Catcher Larry Evans socked a homerun for Houston in the fifth inning to tie the game at 1-1. Then, in the same inning, Billy Duke doubled to drive in Houston's other runs.

In the nightcap, Houston pitcher Billy Martin hurled a masterpiece, stopping the Cowpokes on three hits and striking out 10 men. Jim Bethea and Don Price socked homers for the Cougars while Larry Rundle hit a solo homer for the Cowpokes.

The scores by innings:

First game:

A&M	000 010 000—1 9 3
Houston	000 030 000—3 9 9

Peterson, Mihura (8) and Holderman; Thompson and Evans.

Second game:

A&M	000 101 0—1 3 1
Houston	313 100 x—8 9 0

Johanson, Mihura (4) and Holderman, Jech (7); Martin and Evans.

Harvester Baseball Team Slates 3 Games This Week

Rain and wet grounds prevented the Pampa Harvesters from receiving their chance to jump back into the thick of the District 3-AAAA baseball race this week end.

The Harvesters were scheduled to meet the Amarillo Sandies here Friday afternoon and to host the Palo Duro Dons here yesterday. After rain prevented the Friday game, the Harvesters were booked to meet the two Amarillo teams in a doubleheader yesterday but Oiler Park was still under water. The Harvesters were idle all last week.

Pampa has three out-of-town games scheduled this week which would have closed out the 3-AAAA season, but the Harvesters must now make up two games with the Amarillo teams.

The Harvesters play a doubleheader at Lubbock Tuesday and then play the Plainview Bulldogs in a single game Friday. Pampa will be acting as the home team in the first game with the Westerners Tuesday. Their game here on April 20 was rained out, forcing the postponed make-up game.

Pampa has two games booked with the Childress Bobcats here Saturday afternoon.

Ford Has Sore Shoulder

CHICAGO, May 4 (UP)—Southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees was removed from the game against the Chicago White Sox today with a sore left shoulder after he retired the first five men he faced.

Redlegs Rap Giants, 5-2

NEW YORK, May 4 (UP)—Outfielder Art Schult's two-run double highlighted a five-run eighth inning rally for the Cincinnati Redlegs that gave them a 5-2 victory over the New York Giants today and ran their winning streak to five games.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli blanked the Redlegs on three hits until the eighth, when he yielded four more hits to suffer his third setback against two victories.

Bob Thurman, pinch-hitting for Warren Hacker, who was credited with his second victory, began the fireworks for Cincinnati in the eighth with a double to center. Johnny Temple singled Thurman to third, from where he scored on Wally Post's single, which moved Temple to second. Pete Whisenant attempting to sacrifice, popped out but Frank Robinson singled Temple home with the tying run and drove out Antonelli.

Indians Roll To 5-2 Victory Over Bosox

CLEVELAND, May 4 (UP)—The Cleveland Indians bunched three of their four hits in the sixth inning today for four runs which carried them to their fourth straight victory, a 5-2 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Dean Stone, making his first start for Boston since his trade from Washington, contributed to his own downfall in the sixth as he issued two walks and then played a ground ball poorly. It was Boston's fourth straight defeat and Stone's first loss. Cleveland pitcher Early Wynn pitched a five-hitter to even his record at 2-2 and helped his own cause with a two-run single in the big sixth inning.

After Al Smith walked, in the sixth, Vic Werz singled to right, Smith taking third. Rocky Colavito popped to short right. Then Roger Maris tapped the ball back to Stone, the Boston southpaw looked at second before throwing late to catcher Sammy White, who dropped the ball as Smith scored. Werz came home on Chico Carrasquel's single. And after Jim Hegan walked to load the bases, Wynn gave himself a fatter cushion by singling two more runs across.

The Indians' first run, which tied the score at 1-1, came an inning earlier without benefit of a hit.

Carrasquel walked and went to third when third baseman Frank Malzone threw Hegan's grounder into right field, trying for a force at second. Carrasquel came home as Wynn rapped into a short-to-second-to-first double play.

Both Boston runs came on homers, the first by Ted Lefroy in the third inning, the other by Jackie Jensen in the seventh.

NIGHT SPEED LIMIT DES MOINES, Iowa (UP) State police today sought clarification of Iowa's new 60 m.p.h. night speed limit.

A law that becomes effective July 4 says the limit will apply from sunset to sunrise. But because of seasonal variations in the hours of light, the attorney general will be asked to give drivers a more exact time during which the law will apply.

Save Much Money A. P. Craig, vice president in charge of Trans-Canada sales, estimates that when the line and its tentacle-like distribution systems are in place, Canadians will save more than 100 million dollars a year now spent in the United States.

For example the gas will ultimately replace 75 million dollars of U. S. coal, 10 million dollars of sulphur (to be supplied by stripping plants on the Trans-Canada gas stream), and 30 million dollars of pipe (a tubing plant already has been built to supply Trans-Canada).

In addition, Craig foresees sales of Canadian gas to the United States producing 20 million dollars a year two years hence and 40 million dollars in five years. He says, "this is inevitable."

Spending Projects Inside Canada, he said, at least one billion dollars will be spent on distribution systems and further development of gas fields in Alberta, source of Trans-Canada's supply, and other provinces.

By the end of this year Trans-Canada expects to have laid 1,300 miles of pipe ranging from 34-to-48-inch.

Canada Plunging Into Big Pipeline Project

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — With spring at hand neighboring Canada is plunging once again into her most ambitious project — a transcontinental pipeline that will fuel homes and industries with natural gas from western Canada as far east as Montreal.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., builder of the $375,000,000 2,294-mile system, hopes to have it 65 per cent completed this year. It was started last July.

When finally finished in 1959 it will make Canada self-sufficient in millions of dollars worth of products now bought in this country. It also will have such vast natural gas resources on tap that it can actively compete with American distributors for business along the length of the international border. It already plans to sell, subject to Federal Power Commission approval, 200 million cubic feet daily to Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., a subsidiary of Tennessee Gas Transmission, for distribution in cities this side of the border.

The Ellington offering, channelled out of a 48-minute record he cut recently, will be called "A Drum is a Woman." It's set for CBS-TV's "U. S. Steel Hour" next Wednesday.

"I don't know what you could call it and I hate categories anyway," said Duke as he applied himself to a platter of bacon and eggs, a bowl of rice, a side order of calves' liver, two grapefruit halves and a pot of coffee.

"It's not only a new thing for the Steel Hour, it's a new thing for TV. What we're going to do is draw a kind of parallel to the history of jazz without really telling the story of jazz.

"We're pulling the whole record apart and putting it back together for TV. We're adding vision and giving it dramatic balance. I do not have any previous notions about my music and I don't regret having to tear it up even though I think this is the best thing I've ever done."

In the work, Ellington uses the drum as a symbol for all the instruments. "You know how it is," said Ellington, "a musician will say to his woman — 'here's $2, baby, go on down to the tavern or the movies and leave me alone for a while with the drum.' And so we say a drum is a woman — it kind of takes the place of her."

Ellington, a prime mover in the music world for more than 30 years, does not mean the present state of the bank business. "Listen, I got into this thing for kicks and that's what I want out of life—kicks," he said. "I get a bang out of writing, I write all the time. And I like having a hand because I like to hear my own stuff played right away. I'm too impatient to wait.

"It's for certain that you can't get into this just to make money — not if you've got a 52-week band. I got a big payroll, a lot of expensive cats. I've got 15 soloists — guys like Johnny Hodges, Harry Carney, Ray Nance.

"We've got a congress of 15 handleaders and one sideman in this outfit and that's me. It runs pretty high."

Catholics Right In Demanding Public Bus Transportation?

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Rev. Dr. John C. Bennett, noted Protestant theologian, believes Catholics are within their rights in demanding public bus transportation for parochial school students.

Bennett, a Congregationalist minister, is professor of Christian Ethics at Union Theological Seminary, New York. He took his stand in an editorial written for the magazine "Christianity and Crisis," of which he and Reinhold Niebuhr are co-editors.

"The parents of parochial school children pay taxes, and the fact that they also pay for the parochial schools in many communities considerably reduces the taxes which other citizens have to pay," Bennett said. "In this situation, why is it not reasonable adjustment to the claims of fairness to provide transportation for their children?"

That is essentially the same position that Catholic parents have taken in Maine, Connecticut and other states where campaigns are underway to provide bus service for parochial school students. Fifteen states now authorize such service in varying degrees.

Bennett said some Protestants are fighting the Catholic demand for fear that granting it would open the door to "a whole series of concessions to Roman Catholicism on the school problem."

But he said, these Protestants have chosen a "vulnerable" line to defend. He noted that the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1947 that bus transportation is a welfare service which a community may provide to all children without violating the constitutional separation of church and state.

pute is not a doctrinal legal question but "a human problem affecting many millions of our fellow citizens," and a problem in which Catholics have "good reason" to feel that "simple justice" is on their side.

Bennett urged Protestants to consider that the school bus dis-

Duke Ellington To Invade TV Drama Hour Next Week

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — Edward Kennedy Ellington, sometimes known as Duke, invades a TV drama hour next week with three vocalists, a crew of dancers, the 15 soloists who make up his band, two extra drummers and a harpist.

The Ellington offering, channelled out of a 48-minute record he cut recently, will be called "A Drum is a Woman." It's set for CBS-TV's "U. S. Steel Hour" next Wednesday.

And so we say a drum is a woman — it kind of takes the place of her."

Ellington, a prime mover in the music world for more than 30 years, does not mean the present state of the bank business. "Listen, I got into this thing for kicks and that's what I want out of life—kicks," he said. "I get a bang out of writing, I write all the time. And I like having a hand because I like to hear my own stuff played right away. I'm too impatient to wait.

"It's for certain that you can't get into this just to make money — not if you've got a 52-week band. I got a big payroll, a lot of expensive cats. I've got 15 soloists — guys like Johnny Hodges, Harry Carney, Ray Nance.

"We've got a congress of 15 handleaders and one sideman in this outfit and that's me. It runs pretty high."

NEW YORK (UP) — Two traffic safety experts, demonstrating hazardous driving on a television show, were given summonses Wednesday for driving eastbound on a one-way westbound street.

NEW YORK — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in a letter to New York Times publisher Arthur Hays Sulzberger, on why American newsmen are banned from Communist China:

"Foreign policy and diplomacy cannot succeed unless, in fact, it channels the activities of our people, and in this respect newspapermen have also their loyalty and patriotic duty."

NO PENTHOUSE—Paul Sepanik, 10, waves from the "roof garden" of the treetop apartment he and brother Fred, on the lower floor, built in this tree near Lanestboro, Mass. An ill wind blew no good to the amateur engineers; they had to remove a "penthouse" that threatened to blow away.

MOTORISTS. NOTE—It's of little interest to motorists, but if they should see these signs, they'll know they're off course. The signs, being contemplated by an unidentified member of the U.S. Navy's Task 43, were erected for personnel with Operation 'Deep Freeze II' in the Antarctic.

Jacobly On Bridge

Today's hand is No. 4 from the Intercollegiate championships. It is a two-way par. North-South must get to four spades and East-West must defeat the contract. If North-South fail to bid four spades then East and West get an automatic par since they have no chance to operate.

There is no difficulty in the bidding. North chooses the two-club response because he wants to show both his strength and where most of it is. When South rebids to two hearts, North jumps to four spades and South takes a look at his two diamonds and passes quickly.

If West opens his singleton club, declarer plays the ace from dummy, cashes the ace of hearts, trumps, discards dummy's diamonds and passes quickly.

If West opens his singleton club, declarer plays the ace from dummy, cashes the ace of hearts, draws trumps, discards dummy's diamonds on his hearts and concedes a trick to the king of clubs. However, a club lead is not indicated. West should open his king of diamonds. East must overtake with the ace and return the suit. West will win the queen and play another diamond.

Now it is up to East to make the killing play. He must ruff with the jack of trumps.

This play is known as the "up-percut." If declarer overruffs with one of his high trumps then West will make his ten-spot. If declarer discards then East and West have three tricks in and East will still make his king of clubs.

WHO EVER THOUGHT that we would see so much rain in this country this year... it is marvelous, but getting to be too much of a good thing...

A mother's affection cannot be weaned from her child, because the mother-love includes purity and constancy, both of which are immortal.

REPORT FROM AREA ARTISTS... excitement about an art exhibit is the theme for this section... the Panhandle's encourager of the arts, Dord Fitz, has sent off an exhibition of his students' work to New York...

The mother's heart is the child's schoolroom.

RAINDROPS FROM VARIOUS CLOUDS... Barbara Lunsford... Marilyn Myatt... Nancy Stevenson... Sara Gordon... Carmelita Hogan... Phyllis Parker... Glenda Finkelstein... D'Anne Prince... Maynette Loftus... Pat Jones... all worked very hard on the "Youth for the Youth Center" talent show presented last Friday...

A man never sees all that his mother has been to him till it's too late to let her know that he sees it.

JUST FOR A CHANGE OF PACE BEFORE going on with some more news... do you know that an optimist is a woman who is on her way to the beauty shop?...

MORE RAINDROPS... heard that O. B. Worley won a diamond ring at the Elks dance last week... and speaking of that dance... the men had more fun carrying their wives out to the cars after the dance...

GUESS THAT IS all for the week... damply yours... PEG

Miss Linda Adcock And Carl Anderson Are Married In First Methodist Church

(Special to The News) MIAMI — In a candlelight ceremony, Miss Linda Adcock, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Grady M. Adcock of Crowell, formerly of Miami became the bride of Carl M. Anderson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson of Sweetwater in the First Methodist Church in Crowell.

MRS. CARL M. ANDERSON JR.

The Rev. Adcock, father of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony. Miss Betty Shewbert of Lubbock, organist, played the traditional wedding music. Uel Crosby of Amarillo sang "Because," "O Perfect Love," and "The Wedding Prayer."

ATTENDANTS Miss Margaret Anne Millhien of Garland attended the bride as maid of honor, wearing a dress of deep pink crystalline, princess-style with a stand-up collar. Her beaded headband was of the same color as her dress and she wore white accessories with a wrist-corsage of Talsman roses.

Miss Anne Anderson of Sweetwater sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Frances Casey of Rule, cousin of the bride; Miss Jowannah English of Pampa; and Miss Virginia Davis of Panhandle, served as bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Anderson wore aqua; Mrs. Casey wore pink; Miss English wore pale green; and Miss Davis wore pale pink. Each wore a rose corsage at her waist.

Miss Judy Adcock served her sister as Junior bridesmaid, wearing a pale yellow dress styled as that of the other attendants. Each attendant carried a long stemmed red rose.

Temple Dickson of Sweetwater, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Serving as ushers were Keith Wiseman of Dumas, Conrad Cherry of Dallas, George Ellis of Southland, and Don Yarbrough of Weslaco. Ring-bearer was Stanley Adcock, brother of the bride.

THE BRIDE Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white silk taffeta, designed with an empire waistline, three-quarter length sleeves and a scoop neckline. The bodice and sleeves were lace-covered. The finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a beaded tiara. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white roses. Miss Adcock designed and fashioned the gown she wore.

Mrs. Adcock, mother of the bride, wore a mauve silk sheath dress trimmed with silk organza with a matching hat. White gloves, patent shoes and bag with a white-roses corsage complemented her dress. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Anderson, wore a beige silk dress with a sweetheart neckline. She wore a matching hat and accessories with a corsage of pink roses.

RECEPTION Immediately following the wedding, the bridal party was honored at a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church. The serving table was covered with an ecru lace tablecloth, centered with the bridal bouquet. Crystal appointments were used. Miss Jean Whitby of Crowell registered the guests in the brides' book. Jimmy Alvis of Rochester furnished piano music during the reception. Others assisting with the reception were Misses Jean Lawless Wanda James, Judy Burdard of Abilene; Mary Holland of Quanah and Caroline Hodges of Miami; Mmes. Moody Bursey, Fred Wehba and Arthur Bell of Crowell; and Clyde Hodges of Mirocawell.

MISS PEGGY O'NEAL

Miss Peggy O'Neal, Piano Artist, To Give Sunday Afternoon Recital As features of National Music held here, playing the difficult Toccatto by Kachaturian. Besides winning many honors in music, she was chosen Football Queen, Annual Queen, Posture Queen, and Betty Crocker Home-maker of Tomorrow of White Deer High School.

She has, moreover, maintained a large class in piano having taken her normal work with Mrs. Carr. She has, also, served as organist of the Methodist Church; pianist for the Lions Club, and plans to major in music, when she enters university this fall.

The following program will be given, and the public is cordially invited to attend: Prelude, And Fugue in C minor; Sonata op. 14 no. 2; L'Amour Tou Jours L'Amour (Love Everlasting); The Nightingale and the Rose; Fantasia Hungarian Rhapsody no. 2; Fantasia Impromptu; The Singing Fountain; Toccatto; and Concerto in a minor. Orchestral parts will be played by Mrs. Carr at second piano.

Monthly Luncheon Given By WMS

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — "Carver School: A Source of Blessing," was the program topic directed by Mrs. W. E. Dumas at the monthly luncheon and Royal Service Program of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church on April 30 held at the church building. Carver School is an institution for training missionaries which was taken over by the W.M.U. in the year, 1907.

Persons having parts on the program were: Mmes. J. D. Halley, B. T. Smith, J. F. Morris, Charles Earhart and Alvin Cates.

Rev. T. O. Upshaw showed pictures to the group after the luncheon which was served at the noon hour.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. N. Cypert with the opening song, "Our Best," being sung by the group and a prayer led by Mrs. Alvin Cates.

Bible meditation was led by Mrs. J. D. Halley. Mrs. T. O. Upshaw, prayer chairman, gave a report on missionaries with a prayer for missionaries being led by Mrs. W. B. Minter.

The roll call was by Mrs. Vellie Guthrie who also gave the secretarial report with a treasury report by Mrs. W. B. Minter. Visitation report was given by Mrs. R. N. Cypert.

Business included setting an age-limit on the nursery and the discontinuing, through the summer months, of the monthly luncheon, substituting instead only the program to begin at 1:30 p.m. each regular meeting day. Closing prayer was led by Mrs. R. N. Cypert.

Two visitors, Mmes. Sarah Smith and B. T. Smith, were present and the following members: Mmes. David Robinson Frank Cooksey, J. F. Morris, W. E. Dumas, Charles Earhart, Launa Hill, Alvin Cates, C. H. Butrum, A. L. Michael, Jim Halley, T. O. Upshaw, Vellie Guthrie, W. B. Minter, and Robert Vault.

New Officers Are Installed At Tea

PERRYTON — The Young Woman's Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church held its installation service recently in the church. Mrs. Howard Fitzhugh, counselor, introduced Mrs. Floyd Coffin, associational W.M.U. president and Young Peoples leader, who installed the new officers and presented each with a YWA pin.

Officers installed were: Misses Joan Pope, president; Delores Wilson, vice president; Ruth Ann Smith, secretary; Dixie Conley, program chairman; Linda Spence, prayer chairman; Joy Clark, community missions; Ellen Erickson, stewardship chairman and Clea Carter, chorister. The benediction was given by Mrs. Stanley Key.

Following the installation, the girls were honored with a tea in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of flowers carrying out the YWA colors. Green candles were used in crystal holders. Mmes. Coffin and Fitzhugh presided at the punch bowl. Approximately 100 guests attended.

April Nuptials Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Forehand of Tuscaloosa, Ala. announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Lee to James Ronald Buchanan of White Deer and Houston, on April 18 in the St. Luke's Methodist Church in Houston. Presidents Of Pampa's Women's Clubs To Be Honored With Annual Reception

Plans for the annual presidents' reception were completed at the meeting of the Pampa Council of Women's Clubs Thursday morning in the City Club Room with Mrs. N. G. Kadingo, president, in charge.

The reception, honoring incoming presidents of all clubs belonging to the Council, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, in the City Club Room. The presidents, being honored, will stand in the receiving line, which will be headed by the incoming president of the Council, Club members show their support of their new president by their attendance.

Another highlight of the reception will be the installation of the council officers. Elected at Thursday's meeting were Mrs. Jess Clay president; Mrs. Bob Banks, vice president; Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, secretary; Miss Jay Flanagan, treasurer; Mrs. John Gill, reporter; and Mrs. A. D. Hills, parliamentarian. The installation ceremony will be presented by Mrs. J. R. Holloway.

Mrs. Ervin Pursley of the Pampa Art Club is in charge of the reception and is being assisted by representatives of Kappa Kappa Iota, League of Women Voters, Opti-Mrs. Club and Pampa Garden Club. The Council voted for informal attire and the banning of corsages.

Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Harold Fabian of Beta Sigma Phi, chairman; and Mrs. Robert Sanford of Delta Kappa Gamma; Mrs. W. C. Scott of Civic Culture Club; Mrs. W. G. Crowson of B&PW Club; and Mrs. Glen Ritchhart of Dale Carnegie Club.

Mrs. Parvin Feted At Pink-Blue Party

(Special To The News)
By DELMA BUTRUM
Pampa News Correspondent

McLEAN — Mrs. Dale Parvin was honored with a pink and blue shower on April 29, given in the Methodist Church parlor.

Hostesses for the event were: Tommy Hale, Harold Bunch, Sinclair Armstrong, Freeman Melton and Lucille Gething.

Mrs. Hale registered the guests as they arrived while Miss Billie Brown and Mrs. Clyde Magee played several piano selections. A baby sock corsage was presented to the honoree.

Spring flowers arranged in a miniature baby cradle centered the table from which pink lemonade and pink and green foam cookies were served by Mrs. Melton.

Those present and sending gifts were: Mmes. Clyde Magee, Jack Bailey, C. E. McCurley, Miro Pakan, C. E. Cooke, Jack Riley, Jack Dyer, Dee Coleman, Paul Kennedy, Hickman Brown, Ernie Frye, Jim Hathaway, Jesse Coleman, Elmo Whaley, Earl Stubblefield, J. L. Mann, Joe Simpson, Johnnie Metel, Forrest Hunp, June Woods, Virgil Smith, Duane Capps, Charles Weaver, W. D. Priest, Luke Armstrong, Joe Taylor, Jim Back, Lucille Kohls, H. D. Butrum, Betty Allsup and Misses Billie Brown, Gussie Bledsoe, Leona Forbes and Donna Rice.

Shamrock guests were: Mmes. Cecil Cardwell, Matt Clay, Roy Scribner, E. C. Hofman, C. J. Turney and Clint Collinsworth.

During the meeting, the Council voted to purchase a table for the club room and decided not to participate in the bidding for booths for the Top of Texas Road.

The group voted to donate $25 to the Welfare Index toward paying rental on a building for the storing of furniture. Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, representative to the Index, urged each club to participate in a blood-typing program.

The president announced Mrs. Finis Jordan has agreed to make an audit of the council books. The Pampa Garden Club announced it will have a flower show from noon until 6 p.m. May 18 in the Lovett Library and urged the clubs to submit entries. The clubs were urged to pay all fines and for overtime use of the Club Room to Mrs. S. B. Spert as soon as possible.

MISS PENNY PAYNE

MISS CELESTE DUNCAN

MISS CARMELITA LONG

Dinner was over and the host and hostess had led their guests into the living room when the big glass picture window facing the street suddenly shattered.

Rushing outside, the man of the house was hit by an unopened beer can thrown at him from a car full of teen-age boys, who roared away leaving him with a broken nose and a deep gash in his forehead.

The police caught the boys hours later, but the man with the broken window and the broken nose decided not to prosecute.

His reason? "I've got a couple of boys of my own," he said, "and how do I know they won't get into trouble some day?"

He can't be sure they won't as long as adults go on coddling young people and protecting them from the consequences of their unlawful acts.

His boys and a lot of others might have learned something worth while if he had stood up and said: "This is an outrage. And I'm going to be charged."

Hard? Tough? No harder and no tougher than the world is going to be when those young hoodlums are a little older.

Why spare them now, simply because they are young? Is it just to let them grow old enough to start carrying a gun and going in for armed robbery to get their "kicks"?

Don't think that adolescents who don't have to pay for their early crimes are going to be so grateful they suddenly see the light and start behaving themselves.

Usually they just think they are smart for having broken the law and evaded punishment. And if they can get away with one thing they figure they can get away with something bigger.

The fact that we have youngsters of our own is no reason for not pressing charges when someone destroys our property or endangers our safety.

It is the very best reason in the world for seeing that justice is done and the crime is paid for.

Mrs. May Foreman Carr's Students To Present Monday Evening Recitals

On Monday evening at seven, Mrs. May Foreman Carr will present two recitals. The first will begin at 7 p.m. and will be given by the elementary and intermediate pupils; the second will begin at 8 p.m. and will be presented by the advanced and artist pupils.

The program by the advanced and artist students of Mrs. Carr beginning at 8 o'clock, will feature the music of both classic and modern masters.

Miss Carmelita Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Long, 605 W. Foster will play "The Glee" by Burleigh.

A flute solo, "Andalouse" by Pessard, will be given by Tommie Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Kelly of White Deer.

Of especial interest will be the piano duet arrangement of "The Fifth Symphony" by Beethoven, which will be played by Mrs. Doris McClure and Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

The closing number of this program will be a piano duo, "Spanish Dance," by DeFalla to be played by Miss Janis Foster and Mrs. Carr.

Other students appearing are Miss Patricia Marx, Regina Baker, Kitty Jo Gates, Linda Andis, Carolyn Jelenik, Sue Foster, and Peggy O'Neal.

Mrs. Boyett To Present Pupils

(Special To The News)
By DELMA BUTRUM
Pampa News Correspondent

McLEAN — Mrs. Willie Boyett is presenting Miss Ruth Dilbeck and Martina Giesler, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Giesler, in a piano recital, as foundation playing for credit in high school, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Tibbets.

Miss Dilbeck is in the seventh grade. Miss Giesler is in the third grade. Both girls have been taking music two years and nine months with Mrs. Boyett. They played last week in the National Teachers Guild auditions in Pampa.

The girls will play nine pieces each and will be assisted by their cousins Misses Nancy Jordan of Lefors and Mattie Ruth Giesler of Skellytown. Interested friends are invited.

National Home Demonstration Week Is Climaxed With Luncheon And Program

(Special To The News)
By MRS. CHARLES ROBERTS
Pampa News Correspondent

LEFORS "Forty Odd" a book by Mary Barr, was reviewed by Mrs. H. H. Hahn for members of Home Demonstrations Clubs of this area when they met for a luncheon and program to climax National Home Demonstration Week on April 30 in the Lefors Civic Center. The trials, tribulations, terror, and triumph of a woman experiencing her fortieth birthday in the face of remarks by family and friends held the attention of the group as the plot was revealed by Mrs. Hahn, who was introduced by Mrs. T. W. Swain.

The morning session consisted of games of humor and skill directed by Mrs. Eva Frazur. Prizes were awarded for the following traits: oldest and youngest, largest and smallest feet, most children, bride and longest married.

tied, tallest, shortest, and heaviest and lightest in weight.

The serving tables for the luncheon were centered with bouquets of spring lilacs and appointed with silver and napkins. The luncheon was served buffet style.

Following luncheon, group singing was directed by Mrs. Charles Roberts accompanied by Mrs. R. F. McCallip at the piano.

Miss Helen Dunlap, HDA of Gray County, gave a short address and announcements which included all-day meetings for pattern alteration training to be held May 13 in Pampa and May 16 in Lefors beginning at 9:30 in the morning. She then recognized demonstrators and leaders from 11 clubs and presented them with potted mimosa trees, which she has secured in south Texas.

A gift was presented to Miss Dunlap by members of the council.

The following clubs were represented, Merten, Goodwill, Hopkins, Bell, Sunshine, Worthwhile and Lefors.

Two guests, Mrs. Rufe Jordan of Pampa and Mrs. A. M. Dickerson of Lefors were present and the following members: Mmes. Eva Frazur, Charles Roberts, Leonard Cain, Hugh Braly, L. D. Rider, R. F. McCallip, O. A. Wagner, P. G. Turner, B. J. Lenniger, A. T. Cobb, J. D. Smith, R. H. Bradfield, Jack Prather, Jack Howard, A. A. McElrath, A. P. Coombes, Boyd Maule, T. G. Groves, V. Smith, George B. Reeve, Ben Diehl, W. E. Melton, C. H. Brickey, Will Abernathy, J. L. Welton, J. L. Carlton, D. W. Swain, Walter Noel, Helen Dunlap, and T. W. Swain.

Sam Houston PTA In Final Meeting

Sam Houston PTA will hold its final meeting of the year on May 5th at 2:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. Special guests for this meeting will be pre-school mothers. Any parent, who has a child starting to school next September in the first grade, is urged to be present.

Program leader will be Mrs. Joe Donaldson. Mrs. Esther Gibson will give a talk entitled, "Looking Forward." The Sam Houston Band under the direction of Charles Meech, will play a number of selections.

Following the program, officers for the coming year will be installed. Mrs. James E. Lewis, City Council PTA vice president, will conduct the ceremony.

There will be a nursery for pre-school children in one of the first grade rooms. The executive committee will meet at 1:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Banquet Theme Is 'The Mardi Gras'

(Special To The News)
PERRYTON — "Mardi Gras" was the theme for the annual Junior-Senior formal banquet and prom held April 27 in the Harvester Room of the Hotel Perryton.

A mardi gras atmosphere was created with black and gold candles and miniature hand-made floats centered on the white cloth-covered tables. Place-cards were black masks with the guest's name inscribed in gold ink, which were worn to the prom later in the evening.

Dance programs were small black books engraved with gold. The room was decorated with cardboard figures.

Dixie Conley, junior class president, gave the address of welcome with response by Mike Wright, senior class president, who was crowned "King of the Mardi Gras." Superintendent Gilbert Mize was banquet speaker.

Music was furnished by The Three Hits and A Miss, composed of Miss Gieras, McGibb, Kent Apple, Zack Miller, and Barry Acker.

Invocation was given by Coach Joe Ogden and benediction was offered by Gilbert Mize.

Invited guests were school board members and their wives, Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Pletcher, Gene Aker, Wesley Bryan, Chester Williams, and C. W. Foote.

Also, Messrs. and Mmes. E. N. Flathers, Ralph Headlee, Keith Flowers, Jim Wright, Joe Champlin, Douglas Wright, Josh Hopkins, Howard Fitzhugh, B. D. Walker, Cloya Webb, Bill Butefisch, Troy Sullivan, Mmes. Rose Powell, Yolanda Thomas, Gladys Phillips, Myrtle Knopp; Messrs. Joe Ogden, Gilbert Mize, Wadon Holaway, Earl Sargent, Carl Rogers.

The prom was held in the Harvester Room, following the banquet.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held for Mrs. Gary Peterson Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. F. M. Foster of 1233 N. Russell. Hostesses were Mmes. Clyde Vanderberg, Parks Brumley, Tom Lindsey, Melvin Watkins, Norman Fulps, Berton Doucette, W. E. Jordan and Barbara Zigler.

The decoration theme followed the bride's dress of pink with a linen cut-work cloth over a pink cloth centered with a floral arrangement of pink carnations, bridal wreath and baby breath in a sterling pedestal-based bowl flanked with pink candles.

Refreshments of pink raspberry punch with individual cakes, nuts, and mints were served. Mrs. Vanderberg and Miss Zigler presided at the cake and punch service. Mrs. Lindsey was guest registrar.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and pink carnation corsages were worn by her mother, Mrs. Gwenn Gray, Mrs. J. C. Daniels, mother-in-law, and Mrs. Fred Glass, grandmother.

Approximately 50 guests attended.

Hamburger Fry For Junior Group

(Special To The News)
PERRYTON — Mrs. Jim Latham was hostess for a hamburger fry in her country home northeast of Perryton recently for the 12-year-old group of the Junior Training Union Department of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Bob Kile, department superintendent, assisted.

After the hamburger fry, homemade ice cream and cup cakes were served. The remainder of the evening was spent playing games.

Those present were Misses Sue Skulley, Betty Jean Key, Sharon Jones, Carolene Selby, I. M. Hawkins, Max Allison, Bobby Kile, Corwin Padgett Jr., Lois Carol Williams, Mr. Latham, Jimmy Latham, Mrs. Kile and the hostess.

ALL ONE STYLE?

We are often asked: "Must all the furniture in my living room be the same style?" Our answer to this question is a resounding "No!" While all the furnishings in a room should be related in scale (to assure balance), line and texture, it does not necessarily follow that every piece must be of the same style or period. In fact, the mingling of related styles adds variety and interest to a room plan.

Giving just a reasonable amount of attention to the distinguishing marks of different furniture styles will enable you to select styles that go well together. You'll recognize quickly that Classic Modern combines nicely with Chinese Chippendale, Sheraton, English Regency and French Provincial. That there is a relationship between Colonial New England, Pennsylvania Dutch, Early Chippendale and simpler Queen Anne. French Provincial, city style, also lives compatibly with Louis XV and Louis XVI, Duncan Phyfe and many of the simpler Georgian pieces.

Note how the Modern table, a transitional piece, bridges the gap between past and present in the Traditional room sketched. Plastic covered benches are also in the Modern mood.

Pale apricot color of walls gives room a warm glow. Wall-to-wall carpeting matches the walls. Cover on one lounge chair is beige threaded with gold — the other, a soft periwinkle blue for color accent.

Would you like some professional help in combining styles for your rooms? Help with room arrangements? We invite you to come in and discuss your decorating and furnishing plans with one of our experienced decorators. Whenever you wish.

Royal Neighbors In District Meet

The district meeting for the Royal Neighbors of America was held April 30 in the St. Matthew's Parish Hall with four camps of the district represented.

Oracle Smith of Pampa formally opened the morning session at 10 a.m. with introduction of officers. Corsages were presented to Mrs. Myrt Stevens, president, Berger; Mrs. Evelyn McCain, deputy; Amarillo; Mrs. Nola Fade, deputy; Pampa; and Mother of district Neighbor Martin of Amarillo.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Mattie Mills, Amarillo. Welcome address was extended by Mrs. Johnny Campbell of Pampa with response by Deputy McCain.

Inclement weather cancelled the visit of the state supervisor, Mrs. Myrtle Carter of Abilene.

Lunch was served at noon by the Pampa Camp with table decorations and flowers furnished by Neighbor Dunwoody.

The afternoon session was in charge of Mrs. Stevens with all camps participating with drills and initiation.

Plainview will be hostess to the fall convention the second week of October, it was announced.

"Ancient - Contemporary Philosophers" Is Topic For El Progreso Club Meet

El Progreso Club met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Heskev with Mrs. Knox Kinard as hostess. Mrs. Bob McCoy, president, conducted the business session. The Club decided to join with other Federated Clubs in the purchase of a Cow for Korea. Rev. Dick Crews was the speaker for the afternoon on the topic, "Ancient and Contemporary Philosophers." He stated that Will Durant's book "The Story of Philosophy" broke philosophy down so that everyone could understand it. A definition of philosophy is the love of wisdom, and a modern-day definition might be the re-evaluation of value. He stated that Job is one of the most philosophical books in the Bible.

Rev. Crews went on to say that the majority of philosophers have an atheistic slant. Philosophers deal with religion, politics, the problem of knowledge, and history. He said that Socrates was a great teacher and a great athlete. He has been called the Athenian gad-fly because he was always asking questions. He believed in one God, and wasn't popular with the priest because of his continuous questioning. Socrates said that nothing can harm a good man on earth, or in the life hereafter. He was forced to drink the hemlock to end his life as was the custom in those days. Rev. Crews went on to say that Plato was a student of Socrates.

Some of the medieval philosophers were Thomas Aquinas, Jerome, and St. Augustine. Some of these who lived during the Renaissance were Erasmus, Francis Bacon, and John Locke. Voltaire born in 1694 in Paris was one of the most brilliant and colorful of men. He was for many years an agnostic, but not an atheist. He laid the foundations for free thinking. He was very pessimistic part of the time; also, he and Benjamin Franklin were good friends. Rev. Crews continued.

Schopenhauer viewed life dimly, but viewed women the most dimly. Frederick Nietzsche influenced politics a great deal. He thought there should be one ruling group in Europe, and that group should be Germans. Rev. Crews said that Hitler during his dictatorship was continually quoting and using the philosophies of Nietzsche. Alfred Whitehead is a theistic philosopher, concluded Rev. Crews. He read a selection from James Thurber's book, and said it could be termed a bit of philosophy.

Those present were: Mmes. Harold Wright, Roy Johnson, D. V. Burton, Carlton Vance, George Newberry, Elmer Fisher, Knox Kinard, C. P. Buckler, W. R. Ewing, Tom Perkins, Fannie Ledrick, Bob Banks, J. F. Curtis, Howard Johnson, Bob McCoy, George Waigstad, J. G. Lyons, and Glenn Radcliff.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Grundy Morrison, and will be the installation of the new officers.

Home Demonstration Club Hears Topic On Dessert Preparation And Variation

(Special to The News) LEFORS — "Desserts originated in Europe from the fact that it was the course of the meal served when all other food was removed from the table and comes from the word 'desserted,' explained Miss Helen Dunlap, during a demonstration on "Desserts for Dinner" for the Lefors Home Demonstration Club at their regular meeting on April 26, in the Civic Center. "Various desserts have come to us from countries of the world, but those native to the United States are shortcake, ice cream and cobler," she said.

Miss Dunlap prepared a custard, which is the base for many variations such as softening chocolate, cornut, and fresh fruit. She stressed the fact that this is an excellent dessert to be served with a meal low in food value, since it does supply protein, calcium, iron, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin.

"Desserts fall in three classifications," she stated further. "Those are light, such as fruit, melon, and junket; medium, such as pudding, custard, or sherbet; and heavy which includes pastry, rich cakes, and fritters." Dessert planning should take into consideration the entire meal and be a contrast, such as crunchy salad, and smooth dessert.

Mrs. J. D. Smithee, president, presided over the business meeting with the roll call and minutes given by Mrs. Lonnie Ables.

The club agreed to be responsible for watering shrubs in the cemetery two weeks during the month of May.

The custard which Miss Dunlap prepared was served for refreshments with a lemon sauce.

One guest, Mrs. A. M. Dickerson, was present and the following members: Mmes. B. J. eninger, members: Mmes. B. J. Leninger, Lonnie Ables, J. D. Smithee, H. L. Braly, L. D. Riacr, J. B. Diehl, Charles Roberts, and M. L. Ripply.

Study Of Mental Health Completed

The last meeting of the Mental Health Workshop, which has been conducted locally under the sponsorship of the PTA City Council, was held in the home of the chairman, Mrs. James Lewis.

A talk by Dr. Murray Banks, psychiatrist, of Les Moines, Ia., was presented on a tape-recording of a speech he had made to a teachers' convention in Des Moines. Dr. Banks, who has written several books among them, "How To Rub Shoulders With Happiness," had as his topic title, "Acres Of Diamonds."

He listed ten vital points on "How To Live With Yourself." They were 1) Are You Happy? 2) Do you have zestful living? 3) Are you socially adjusted? 4) Do you have unity and balance, or do you enjoy what you do? 5) Can you live with each problem of your life? 6) Do you have insight of your own conduct? 7) Do you have self-confidence and are you a confidential person? 8) Do you have a sense of humor? (Learn or teach yourself to laugh loud and long?) 9) Are you engaged in a satisfactory work or job? 10) Do you know how to worry effectively?

Twenty-eight PTA members completed the workshop course. Those present at the Thursday morning meeting were Mrs. E. E. Shultz, Phyllis Laremore, Warren Jackson, Carlos Grissom, Elmer Darnell, Boyd Bennett, Glen Dearborn, Jay Lickey, Dan Selman, J. H. Trotter, Roy L. Jones, Jim Clifton, L. L. Milliron, William Leonard, A. L. Smiley, James and R. A. Mack.

WMS Meets With Mrs. Don St. Clair

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Don St. Clair.

Mrs. Junior Ellis gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Odel Hassler led the Bible study, taken from the seventh chapter of Luke. Mrs. Lee Garrett gave the dismissal prayer. Prayer pal gifts will be exchanged at the next meeting. Refreshments of cake, jello salad, mints and Cokes were served. Attending were Mrs. Mmes. Junior Ellis, Everett Fitch, Alvin Adams, Cecil Shipley, Lee Garrett, Granville Boyd, Dale Butler, H. M. McClendon, Louise Franklin, Odel Hassler, D. L. Yeager and one visitor, Mrs. Evelyn Stanton.

Lodges Honor Two Members At Open House Meeting

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The Oddfellow and Rebekah Lodges recently held open house in the IOOF Hall to commemorate the anniversary of the Oddfellows and to honor two Oddfellows, Roy Sullivan, Skellytown Lodge, and Edward Scott, Pampa Lodge.

A covered dish supper was served to approximately 150 persons. Gifts were presented to Messrs. Sullivan and Scott by members of both lodges in appreciation of the work the men have done for the lodge hall.

John Rusk, Borger, president of the Panhandle Association and speaker for the evening, gave the origin of the Oddfellow Lodge and stressed that the organization is the only one permitted to decorate the grave of the unknown soldier and the only one, who has a Youth Pilgrimage to the UN.

Mrs. Edith Beighle presented her pupils in a musical program. Those appearing on the program were Misses Donna Boyd, Patricia Beighle, Meiva Batson, Jo Ann Jarvis, Sandra Dalton, Penny Guerin, Georgia Kreis, Becky Durning, Donna Boyd, Emmy Huckins, the three Pennington Sisters, Beverly Harlan, Shirley Keach, Gloria Dalton; Beverly Fulton, and Elaine Weaver, Danny Hutchinson, David Helfner, and Wendell Farley.

When you drop your lipstick case on a dirty floor, don't waste time fretting. Simply head for the nearest supply of soap and water and rinse it off. After a thorough cleansing and polishing with a dry tissue, the case will look even better.

On her wedding day, every girl wants to look radiant. She must handle make-up and hairdo with care, in order to look lovely the entire day. Our bride-to-be gives her complexion a thorough cleansing on the big day. Then she (left) uses a liquid foundation to spread a gossamer film of color over her skin and aid her powder in clinging hours longer. This is the basis for a lovely, fresh look. She tucks a pressed powder compact into her bridesmaid's purse to carry to the reception. Then she can use it (center) for quick touch-ups after the many hugs from enthusiastic well-wishers. The result is a picture pretty bride (right), looking the way every girl wants to look all through her wedding day.

Bride Plans Ahead For Radiance On Big Day

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The weeks preceding her wedding are hectic for the bride. Her carefully planned days are upset by surprise showers and parties, and time scheduled for shopping and other necessary preparations must be frequently rearranged. All too often the future bride arrives home each night worn out.

Naturally, she wants to look her loveliest on her wedding day. And she should remember that a radiant complexion will perfect her appearance. In planning details of her wedding, complexion beauty belongs at the top of her list. And no matter how tired she may feel, she should make the effort necessary for a quick three-step beauty routine.

Each night during the weeks before the wedding, the bride-to-be should cleanse her skin with her favorite cleansing cream. After the cream has been rinsed off, skin lotion should be applied with strong, upward motions. Next, pat the skin gently with cotton moistened with lotion and follow with a night cream. The procedure takes but a few minutes.

Make-up for the bride and her attendants should be dainty, not harsh or demure. If a girl customarily wears vivid make-up, she would do well to tone it down for her wedding. She should be smart, too, to plan her make-up in advance. By collecting powder base and powder, lipstick, nail polish, rouge and eye make-up early, she can wear them all and get used to them. On her wedding day she can do the job with a practiced hand.

A liquid make-up base, obtainable for dry or normal skin, is worth trying. Its makers claim it spreads a delicate, tinted veil across the complexion and helps powder cling hours longer.

If the skin tones are good, foundation and powder should be selected in the shade nearest the skin's own tone. A pink base will brighten a sallow skin; rachel will

City Council To Install Officers

The City Council PTA will have its regular and last meeting, May 7 at 9 a. m. in the Junior High School cafeteria.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Frank Ogle, district president, will install City Council officers and conduct a school of instruction.

All newly-elected officers and committee chairmen of local units are requested to attend the meeting. There will be a display and comparison of year-books and publicity books, for the benefit of year-book and publicity chairmen for next year.

High On Preferred Wedding Gift List Are Small Electric Cooking Appliances

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

High on the preferred list of wedding gifts are the small electric cooking appliances the bride will appreciate more each time she uses them.

Instead of trial-and-error experiments in brewing coffee, for example, she can plug in the automatic coffee maker and know she'll serve her proud husband a uniformly good cup every time. Even if she's a novice cook, thermostatically controlled saucepans, skillets, griddles and the like promise more success and fewer scorched failures. Because they are portable, she can cook where she pleases and pack them with little trouble if she moves.

But if these cooking wonders are to deliver the length of service and the results they are intended to, the bride must give them reasonable care.

It would seem obviously important to read the manufacturer's instruction book packed with the appliance. But this is often blithely overlooked I'm told by repairmen.

If you lose the instruction book in the flurry of opening wedding presents, get another one. Look up the guarantee and register card if there is one. Should defects develop you can save time and money by having the appliance properly registered, by knowing what is guaranteed and for how long.

In day-to-day care, one of the most important rules is always to disconnect any electric utensil before cleaning it. Don't leave it connected when it's not in use.

Not to read the manufacturer's specific recommendations for the care of his appliance can be ruinous. Some automatic skillets, for example, can be completely immersed in water for washing; others would be injured by this procedure.

Don't scrape pans with a sharp knife to remove food particles. Use steel wool soap pads or cleanser on a cloth to scour aluminum skillets and saucepans. A stiff-bristled brush helps remove crumbs from waffle grids.

Jinx of the automatic coffee pot is the oily residue that can lead to off flavors. To avoid it, don't let coffee stand all day in the pot. Do wash and clean the pot regularly and thoroughly.

Coffee-stain removers are often highly recommended to keep the interiors of automatic pots fresh and clean. Baking soda solution is another recommended cleanser.

If you have an automatic percolator, pay special attention to the well in the bottom of the pot—if this becomes clogged it can affect the operation of the heating element. Clean this periodically with a percolator brush or a cotton swab. Leave the coffee pot uncapped overnight for a thorough airing.

Chrome-finished exteriors will shine more brightly if polished now and then with metal polish.

Christian Endeavor In Fellowship Hall

(Special to The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The Women's Christian Endeavor met recently in the Fellowship hall of the Community church with Mrs. Junior Ellis as hostess to the meeting.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Bert Bost. "Praise Him" was sung by the group. Mrs. Hardy Boyd, president, was in charge of the business session.

Mrs. B. T. Clements gave the lesson in the study of Hebrews; "Christ as a Priest" and "How a Christian should be loyal to Christ."

Refreshments of cookies, coffee and punch were served to two visitors, Mmes. Alvin Adams and Bert Bost and to Mmes. B. T. Clements, Hardy Boyd, L. Z. Rhodes, Clarence Kaiser, D. W. E. Godwin, Frank Genett, Gilbert Morris, Hal Brown, Cecil Shipley, Clarence Hoskins, Garrell Huckins, Carl Moran, Oscar Downs, J. T. Jarvis, and Loyd Cowart.

New Officers Are Welcomed By PTA

The Woodrow Wilson PTA executive board met Thursday in the school cafeteria with Mrs. T. C. Owen, president, presiding.

New officers and chairman were introduced by Mrs. Weldon Trice, incoming president. They were welcomed by the out-going officers and chairman.

Mrs. Trice gave a report of the District conference held in Gruver on April 13. Woodrow Wilson PTA was given an A plus rating at this conference. Mmes. Owen, Trice and S. M. Goodlett Jr. attended the conference representing Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. Jay Lickey, study club chairman, gave a report on the Mental Health Workshop, which was concluded at a meeting Thursday. Mrs. L. L. Milliren, city council president, invited all officers and chairman to the City Council meeting to be held May 7 at 9 a.m. in the Junior High cafeteria. Mrs. Frank Ogle, district president will hold a school of instruction and will install new city council officers.

H. A. Yoder, principal, showed the new tables to be installed in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Milliren as spokesman for the officers and chairman, presented Mrs. Owen with a red carnation corsage in appreciation of her work as PTA president this year. Mrs. Owen, in turn, presented a corsage to Mrs. Milliren in appreciation of her work with the Woodrow Wilson PTA for the past six years.

Mrs. John Brewer, hostess, served fruit punch and cookies to

Missionary Union In Royal Service

An executive meeting of the Women's Missionary Union was followed by a business meeting in the Central Baptist Church on Wednesday. Reports were read by committee chairmen and approved.

It was decided to discontinue the monthly noon luncheons during the months of Cokes and cookies will three summer months. Refreshments will be served at the summer meetings.

Following the business meeting, the Royal Service program was given by the members of the George Wilson Circle.

The program, "Broken Cisterns," was narrated by Mrs. Don Rosenback. Members participating were Mmes. Curtis Prescott, Curtis Liles, Clyde Rigby, L. G. McDaniel, Hershel Sanders, Herman Wagley, Louise Adams, and Gerald Beaty.

Mrs. Harry Crawford read the prayer calendar.

Mrs. E. B. Davis led in special prayer. The program was adjourned with singing, "Take My Life," and reconvened at the luncheon held in the Fellowship Hall. Forty-five ladies attended.

DOLLAR DAY

Various Reasons Can Cause Fatigue

Lawrence Galton, well-known writer on medical subjects, reports results of recent studies on fatigue in the May issue of Family Circle Magazine.

In a special report directed to weary medical students, one doctor makes suggestions you may find helpful for one or more members of your family. The report focuses on commonly overlooked fatigue causes.

One is cluttered quarters, short on elbowroom. Clutter leads to frustration, often more to blame for fatigue than overwork.

Another is misuse of color. Studies show that white, purple, brown, or orange are tiring, while medium greens and yellows are most restful. Glare is even more fatiguing than bad color, including glare from glass and metal surfaces.

Exercise also can help overcome fatigue. A Harvard study shows that people who exercise regularly need less oxygen to do the same amount of physical or mental work than the entirely sedentary. Relaxation — a 10-minute break morning and afternoon — is effective.

Finally, "anticipation of future pleasures" overcomes fatigue. In one industrial study, the single difference between exhausted workers and others "full of bounce" was that the latter were looking forward to some sort of evening activity.

To be a really relaxed human being, see to it that you put yourself to bed early at least three nights a week. You can't be relaxed if you've a case of nerves resulting from a lack of sleep.

Pampa Gets A Grade

Every effort made by individuals to exercise their ethical wills in assuming the responsibility inherent to their higher nature is indeed commendable and so we pause today to congratulate the parishioners of St. Matthews Episcopal Church on their recently-announced plans to expand their day school to the second grade.

This venture in relating a voluntary system of education with a religious foundation, illustrates the recognition of the importance of integrating the religious view of life with the secular so that as a student grows into maturity, there is a unity formed which serves to produce an adult with a clearer understanding of his responsibility to God, himself and his neighbor.

The idea too prevalent held in currency is that it is possible to teach standards of conduct unrelated to a religious foundation and this is one of the prime delusions of the day because an ethic unrelated to religious experience is too easily discarded when it interferes with sensory pleasure and the will to hold power over others. This lack of communion between the ethical and the religious must be recognized for what it is, namely, the primary force which is strangling the vitality out of the whole of Western civilization as nations with a Judeo-Christian heritage find themselves prostrate before that bitch goddess, moral relativism.

Of course, certain segments of organized religion have pretty well abandoned a standard of moral absolutes so their efficacy in leading a student to a life of virtue could be seriously open to challenge but none the less, the environment would be much preferable to the present system of government education which substitutes facts for wisdom, success for virtue and "social adjustment" for character. In the last analysis, of course, any system of voluntary association to attain a mutually desired end is preferable to a compulsory support system.

Lord John Acton, the possessor of one of the most profoundly erudite minds in recent times, summed up the position of the Church in relation to education well when he said:

"The Church is necessarily at all times an educational institution. The school is as necessary to her as the pulpit, and the Protestant can no more do without it than the Catholic. . . . For centuries it was never discovered that education was the function of the State, and the State never attempted to educate. But when modern absolutism arose it laid claim to everything on behalf of the sovereign power. Commerce, industry, literature, religion were all declared to be matter of State, and were appropriated and controlled accordingly. In the same way as all these things education belongs to the civil (social) power, and on the same grounds with the rest it claims exemption. When the revolutionary theory of government began to prevail, and Church and State found that they were educating for opposite ends and in a contradictory spirit, it became necessary for the State to remove the children entirely from the influence of religion."

There is no question but that the Church, instructing on the basis of moral absolutes, is going to run counter to the State with the degree of friction increasing as the State becomes more absolute and tyrannical.

Aristotle set the yardstick which for hundreds of years guided those whose charge was the instruction of youth by contending that the end of all education was ethical, realizing that an accumulation of facts, per se, had little to do with the developing of the inner man. The end of State education today appears to be merely the placement of the young person in the productive process, making sure he is "socially adjusted," the modern euphemism for the person who is internally void of most everything but appetite and the desire for social flattery.

For the benefit of those who think we over-draw the situation as to the lack of a sense of permanent values in our young people we call your attention to the fact that 46 per cent of all major crimes in the United States last year were committed by youths 18 years of age and younger. This, in itself, stands as indisputable proof that the youth of today are not receiving the important education which, other than in the home, is the Church's responsibility.

Adding one grade to a church school might seem to many a rather insignificant act in the over-all picture of things but we think it is a farsighted move to help the youth of the community have a firmer base upon which to build their lives.

Gain For Workers Due To Doubling Of Investments

By HOWARD E. KERSHNER

We learn from The First National City Bank Letter, February 1957, that the average factory worker's wage in January, 1944, was over $1.00 per hour, and that in December, 1956, it was $2.05 per hour. Moreover, the average work week was forty-five hours in 1944, and only forty hours in 1956. In addition, fringe benefits had increased from 18.4 cents per hour in 1947 to 44.8 cents per payroll hour in 1955.

This gain for the workers of more than 100 per cent in money wages is reduced to about 30 per cent net gain after allowing for a 59 per cent increase in the consumer price index during the period. Even so, a 30 per cent net gain plus more than 10 per cent reduction in working hours and very important fringe benefits represents a pronounced gain for labor during the twelve-year period.

It is primarily due to a doubling of the capital investment per worker during the period. The National Industrial Conference Board estimated last November that the capital invested per manufacturing production worker early in 1956 amounted to $15,000. Ten years earlier it was about half that figure.

If real wages are to continue rising, additional capital must be found for more and better equipment. Like everything else, if we want more capital we must pay for it. We must offer individuals sufficient return on their savings to induce them to deny themselves the pleasure of current consumption in order to save. If we are to have more capital to improve living conditions for all of us, those of us who do not save must be willing to pay adequate interest and dividends to those who do. The saver has to get all of his reward, and is entitled to his reward,

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Do You Want Still Higher Retail Prices?

I want to quote and comment from an article written by O. A. Taylor, vice-president, National Economic Council, Inc., discussing the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act, popularly known as the Wage and Hour Law. He starts the article by saying:

"Rarely, if ever before, have we had the spectacle, as we have today, of widespread and official or semi-official advocacy of inflationary measures."

"Extension of coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act is an issue which is supported by some of the very people who at the same time say they desire to reduce inflationary pressures in our present-day economy. Perhaps there is a conflict between social theory and economic fact. Perhaps there is a pinch of politics as an added complication. Whatever the reasons, it is appropriate that all who are concerned with stable prices, real rather than synthetic growth, and state versus federal action examine the consequences of any proposals to change the Federal Wage-Hour Law."

"It is fairly well known that the Fair Labor Standards Act as passed in 1938 applied those workers engaged in or producing goods for interstate commerce. It was thought desirable to establish the same 'wage floor' for all whose production passed into the stream of commerce and hence might be in competition with those in other parts of the country. It was the stated purpose of the framers and the supporters of FLSA to exempt those who were engaged in intrastate commerce — those who took goods from the stream of interstate commerce and by their service made the merchandise or the facility available only locally."

"A series of fantastic bureaucratic rulings and gradually expanding court decisions led Congress to protect its original intent by the 1949 amendments to the Act, which spelled out specific exemptions. Employees in retail stores, in hotels, restaurants and other service trades, in agriculture and small newspapers, small telephone exchanges, etc., were clearly exempt in 1938. In 1949 Congress reiterated and clarified its intent that 'local' business should not be covered by Federal wage-hour regulations."

"Various proposals for extending coverage"

"There are wide differences in the various proposals which have been made to extend coverage of the Wage-Hour Law. The Secretary of Labor's recommendation is to start gradually by bringing only larger companies under the minimum wage as a first step. Firms employing 100 or more people and purchasing $1,000,000 or more merchandise, materials or supplies from interstate commerce would be considered to be in interstate commerce. The secretary would further ease the pain by holding up the application of the overtime penalty (time and one-half the regular rate of pay for all hours over 40 in a week.)"

"Organized labor and some other advocates of extending coverage would re-define basic coverage of the Wage-Hour Law and set a new precedent for the application of any federal regulation of business. It is suggested that the law be made to apply to all business engaged in any activity affecting commerce, including activities which are interstate or necessary to interstate or competing with any activity in interstate commerce."

"In addition to the above fundamental change the retail and service trades exemption would be so amended by the organized labor plans as to bring companies under the act which have a sales volume of $500,000 or more each year, and any company with five or more branches. Many other present specific exemptions would also be removed — newspapers, small telephone exchanges, canning and processing firms, certain farm employees, seamen on American vessels, etc."

"These proposals by organized labor would mean a new way of life for America, and would reduce the states to a minor and unimportant role."

"The Secretary of Labor's proposal, currently pending in Congress, seems to be an attempt to cloud the real issue and offer a politically expedient first step toward labor's goal."

Laws Cannot Increase Real Wages

The whole idea of wages being set by law is a dream and a fallacy. It would leave the impression that there are no natural laws of wages — that wages need not come out of production; that the wage earner can be paid more than what he produces will sell for. And when the wages are set so that certain slow people can't produce that wage, they have to work for themselves or work for some individual who is not covered by minimum wage laws. That puts more workers in an overcrowded market and further depresses those wages. Or if the law causes one to idle he cannot be left to starve because the government interfered with him getting what he can produce. Therefore, he has to be taken care of by production of others that could go into furnishing better tools. And this is usually done by taxation, and now the government cannot tax enough or borrow enough to take care of enough people to keep themselves in office, so they go off the gold standard and begin to print money. Inflation is bound to follow government's interference with wages, directly or through labor unions. Any person who will answer questions about what he is advocating will know this.

Another Air Supremacy Race

Down South

The Court Of Public Opinion

By Thurman Sensing

"If the Supreme Court says it's the law, then it's the law, and we should all obey it."

Thus we heard the Superintendent of Schools of one of our Southern cities speak the other day, and thus we have heard many others speak since the Supreme Court decision on integration in 1954.

For recognizing that we must have law and order rather than anarchy, these people are to be commended. But they commit a very serious fallacy in thinking when they make such a categorical statement as that quoted above. Taking the position that a Court — or any other branch of our government — cannot be questioned is a throwback to the philosophy of "The Divine Right of Kings." In those days the King could do no wrong; now, in these days, many people seem to believe that the Supreme Court can do no wrong, and they therefore support the philosophy of "The Divine Right of the Supreme Court."

There is no room in a free nation for a philosophy of this kind. It was never intended by the founders of our form of government that this should be the attitude of the people.

This is a much bigger question than integration. In fact, integration is only one of the facets of the question; there are many others. In our form of government, in any free nation, the supreme authority rests in the people themselves.

The Constitution itself, the very bedrock of the government established for us by our forefathers, was not intended to be "Divine." That's why it has been amended more than twenty times. Certainly, the Presidents are not to be considered "Divine"; many of them have been thrown out of office because the people did not want a continuation of the policies they advocated.

The Congress is not thought of as "Divine." The same thing happens to members of Congress that happens to the President; if they do not represent the views of their constituency, they are not reelected. Why, then, should the Supreme Court be considered above question? There can be no valid answer. Of course, since its members are appointed for life, it is much more difficult to do anything about them than it is the President or the Members of Congress, but it can be done provided public opinion demands it. As a matter of fact, the only way in which any law can be enforced or any branch of our government can be supported is by means of public opinion. As one of our presidents once said of a ruling of the Supreme Court of which he did not approve, "The Court has handed down its decision; now let them enforce it."

Neither the Supreme Court, the President nor the Congress can enforce any law unless it is supported by public opinion. As one of our early patriots pointed out, whenever any government becomes dictatorial, arbitrary or unjust, then it is the duty of the people to overthrow that government. This observation would apply equally to any branch of government.

So far as integration is concerned, the only way it can be enforced in any one of our sovereign states is for the people of that state to accept it. If they do not accept it, it cannot be enforced — and it might be pointed out that in a number of our states, it cannot be enforced.

But we say again, this whole question is much bigger than one of integration; it is a question of the fundamental freedom of the individual and the protection of his inherent rights.

This is graphically illustrated right now by the attempt to pass in Congress a Civil Rights bill that would deny in certain instances one of the most basic rights of a free citizen in a free nation — the right to trial by jury. This bill is perhaps aimed mainly at the South on account of the integration question, but if it is ever passed in its present form, it will be a dark day for the people of this whole nation. It is to be believed that public opinion will not allow this destruction of freedom to be thrust upon the people, and that on account of this very provision the Civil Rights bill will meet the death which it so justly deserves.

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

Monsignor John K. Cartwright, rector of St. Matthew's Cathedral, Washington, D. C., in a recent address at Georgetown University, reportedly said that the emphasis on "adaptation to life" which prevails in so many colleges today "is a high-sounding phrase which very often, on examination, means an abuse of education to bring about sociological conformity."

Education in these terms, he asserted declared, "does not mean to quicken and exalt the intellectual and esthetic faculties of the individual."

"It means to knead him, to flatten him, to bend him or, as the case may be, to straighten him so that he may meekly fit under the will of the majority."

Education, he is said to have continued, should produce the "liberal scholar who sees in man, not the pliable element which society can use at its discretion, but the end for whose good society is made, the free and spiritual individual to whom society must make its reckoning."

Yanks Might Feel Cheated By Lack Of TV Commercials

By HENRY McLEMORE

LONDON — To anyone accustomed to, and conditioned by, American television, looking at BBC television is an excruciating experience.

It is entirely too tranquil. It is as if one were suddenly plucked from the midst of Times Square and laid gently in a hammock swung between palm trees on a tropical isle.

BEFORE THE DISHES ARE DONE

BETTY KNOWLES HUNT THE NORMAN CASE

Only a week or so ago, the entire Canadian population seemed to be united in a violent and bitter anger against the United States because of the suicide of E. Herbert Norman, Canadian minister to Cairo, the blame for which was attributed to a U. S. Senate subcommittee release which referred to Norman's former Communist sympathies and connections. The Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canadian secretary of state, last week, attacking the House of Commons on March 15 that "these slanders and unsupported insinuations. . . we can treat with the contempt they deserve." Canadian newspapers took up the anti-American assault, followed by prominent citizens who appeared on a nationwide American T V net work to castigate and denounce us. Alarmed American officials appeared to go to the defensive and to apologize, and soon the incident began to look as if it might cause a serious rift in Canadian-American friendship.

Within a week the whole picture changed abruptly. Canadians are now angrily fighting each other instead of the U. S., and the Hon. Mr. Pearson is being attacked by his own constituents almost as violently as he formerly attacked the U. S. Senate subcommittee.

Whatever caused such an abrupt about-face? Balled down to its simplest terms, it seems that Canadians, who were all too ready and eager to blame the United States, now feel that Mr. Pearson both misinformed and misled them in this whole matter, and they are now holding him accountable and demanding answers.

A re-reading of all the facts and statements in this strange incident convinces this mere bystander that Mr. Pearson has only himself to blame for his present dilemma. His initial statements clearly implied that the subcommittee references to Mr. Norman were "untrue," "unjustified," and "had no basis in fact." Now confronted with this quotation, Mr. Pearson is trying vainly to insist that this is not what he meant. Also, in his official "protest" to the United States, Mr. Pearson clearly implied that our senators could not be trusted with "confidential security information about Canadian citizens," and he threatened to withhold such Canadian information in the future unless firm guarantees could be given that it would not be "misused" and "abused."

Now the Canadian people have learned from Mr. Pearson himself that there was nothing "true" or "without basis in fact" in the subcommittee's report, that everything in it was already known and confirmed long ago by Canadian authorities who had "investigated" and "cleared" Mr. Norman in 1951. Canadians also have learned belatedly from Mr. Pearson himself that the subcommittee did not "leak" or "misuse" or "abuse" any confidential Canadian information, and that his threat to the U. S. government was not based upon any fact of its ever having done so, but merely on the future possibility that it "might" do so someday!

These reluctant admissions by Mr. Pearson, dragged from him as a result of sharp questioning by his colleagues, have caused a furor in Canada. Newspaper editors who were praising him to the skies only a few days ago, and denouncing the U. S. in the strongest of language, are now leveling their sharpest barbs at Mr. Pearson. Canadian leaders who were recently accusing U. S. senators of "murdering" Mr. Norman by slandering, now seem to be regretting their hasty and violent accusations, and conceding that Mr. Norman's tragic and mysterious suicide is not so simple to diagnose as they had been falsely led to believe. Taking a second and more sober look, they now doubt that he leaped to his death in Cairo simply because a U. S. Senate subcommittee report repeated information which was both known and published several years ago.

Canadians are now demanding to know a lot more about Mr. Norman than their officials have told them, or seem willing to tell them even now. They want to know "who" cleared Mr. Norman in 1951 and on what grounds. They want to know "when" he ceased his Communist associations and sympathies, and "when" he expressed regret for them. They want to know who his later associates and friends were, and along in its even, serene way. The American viewer finds himself drifting in a canoe along a gentle stream, not shooting the rapids of the St. Lawrence in a wash-pail. His muscles relax, and this can be very painful to muscles used to being kept taut by the breakneck pace of TV at home. There are long, hard-to-endure stretches of five or ten seconds when nothing is done to rivet the viewers' eyeballs on the screen.

The American is certain to feel cheated by BBC's complete lack of commercials. One doesn't fully realize how commercials have become a part of big life until he doesn't hear or see any.

The American begins to fear for his teeth, knowing that somewhere a new dentifrice that kills bacteria by the mere mention of its name is for sale — and at a special introductory price.

He frets lest he miss a sale of Unotem that will enable him to make over his stairs for almost nothing, or take advantage of an offer that will enable him to get a Sleep-Ever mattress simply by turning in his old bag of feathers, plus 10 cents.

He fidgets at the thought that Honest — Somebody — Or — Other, the biggest used car dealer west of the Dnieper, is practically giving away second-hand bargains, or that he is missing an opportunity to trade in his 1954 sedan for only ten dollars less than a new model costs.

He misses being urged to drop whatever he is doing and run to his nearest drugstore to get a bottle of hair cream, or a shampoo that will make the girls go after him as bears do beehives.

All about him he knows there are offers of a lifetime being made, but BCB tells him nothing of them. He isn't even told three or four times to write down a telephone number, or asked to mail a coupon for a chance at a fortune.

The temptation to stand up and shout, "Tell me something to do" on the screen is almost unbearable. He longs to hear the weird-sounding croaks and grunts of the animated cartoon pitchmen. He feels lost without announcers telling what he likes or should like. He aches for guidance in his daily life.

When the news of the day comes on here, the American viewer really knows that what he is looking at is unreal. The newscasters are ordinary, looking men, ordinarily dressed. None has ever been named on a best-dressed list. They read their news arid make no pretense of having memorized it — and none is half-cross-eyed from trying to make out the words on the teleprompter.

They talk in matter-of-fact voices, sit before normal-sized desks, and the walls behind them are as plain as most walls are, and not adorned by gigantic maps, mysteriously dotted with pins and lines. He longs to hear the weird-sounding croaks and grunts of the animated cartoon pitchmen. He feels lost without announcers telling what he likes or should like. He aches for guidance in his daily life.

Oh, for a good patent medicine commercial and a good late movie shot by Cecil B. De Mille when he was in his teens!

JACK MOFFITT

Some years ago, at the height of the Shirley Temple craze, my wife scooped the world by asking Mrs. Temple if she ever spanked Shirley. The answer was "Yes." Shirley was treated like any other American kid when she was naughty, with the result that she swept world wide celebrity, she was not a spoiled child. This interview, literally, was featured from Tokyo to Bagdad for it seemed every parent wanted to know how you handled a kid whose weekly pay check ran into four figures. It would be unfair to say that my wife's answer had to do with ever since, but she's carried herself with a certain air. In an effort to the family journalistic score, I asked Mrs. Mary Eyer if she ever spanked her son, Richard (starred in "The Desperate Hours" and "The Friendly Persuasion, whose salary is also in four figures. Richard is eleven years old now and he hasn't been spanked for more than a year. He's behaving pretty good and when he gets out of line, his mother finds it more effective to hold back his allowance. This really makes him think twice since, when he's good, he gets a dollar a week (with no hold outs for union dues or tax reductions.)

Destruction In Atomic War Was Emphasized In Last Week's News

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: The dreadful destruction that would be wrought on victor and vanquished alike in an atomic war was sharply emphasized this week.

In Washington, it was disclosed, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, told a congressional committee:

"We can destroy Russia now no matter what she does... there is no way she can avoid complete destruction."

But Burke warned also that Russia "either has a capability now or shortly will have of doing the same thing to us."

In Bonn, capital of West Germany, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries: "Modern atomic war would bring an apocalyptic fate... upon the whole of mankind, including the peoples of the Soviet bloc."

There was evidence that Soviet Russian leaders were increasingly aware of the fate that would face their country in an atomic war. This awareness had been marked by an outburst of threats to NATO countries that they would be destroyed if they permitted the use of their territory for the launching of atomic missiles.

But Russian awareness also seemed to be softening the attitude of Soviet leaders toward an effective system of aerial inspection as an essential part of any disarmament agreement.

In London, the Russians proposed at a meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Committee that areas of the Soviet Union, the United States and Western Europe be opened to inspection.

The Russian proposal was obviously unacceptable in its present form. But it roused hope that the first step toward a disarmament treaty, after 11 years of effort, might soon be taken.

Young King Hussein of Jordan, victorious over his pro-Russian, anti-Western political enemies, announced he would accept a United States offer of 10 million dollars in aid.

The young King made the qualification that no strings must be attached to the offer.

But his acceptance was another setback for pro-Russian Arab leaders and for Soviet Russia itself in its attempt to penetrate the Middle East.

A 50-year-old border dispute flared into a vast pocket war between the Central American republics of Honduras and Nicaragua.

Honduras complained that Nicaragua raguana forces—totaling 50 — took over the disputed village of Mocoron. Nicaragua complained that the Hondurans attacked Mocoron in turn, and that 35 Nicaraguans were killed.

President Luis Somoza of Nicaragua mobilized his army.

President Eisenhower, in a message read to the NATO meeting in Bonn by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, said the United States intends to maintain its forces in Germany at their present strength.

The assurance was given because NATO countries are worried over Great Britain's drastic cuts in defense spending.

50 DIFFERENCES

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Glenn Cunningham (R-Neb.) today told his constituents in a newsletter about an "unfortunately but true" saying making the rounds here: "If you owe $50, you're a piker; if you owe $50,000, you're a businessman; if you owe 50 million dollars you're a tycoon; and if you owe 50 billion dollars you're the government."

Ava Gardner May Get Around To Divorcing Frank Sinatra

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

MEXICO CITY, (UP)—Apparently carefree, gay Ava Gardner said today she might get around to dissolving that old marriage to Frank Sinatra with a Mexican divorce soon but not to marry somebody else.

Ava, beautiful as ever but more poised since she left Hollywood to live in Spain two and one-half years ago, told the United Press that "maybe I haven't decided yet" if she'll file a divorce suit after shooting ends here on an Ernest Hemingway novel, "The Sun Also Rises."

Though she and the controversial crooner separated three years ago, she never has divorced him.

"At first, because he owed me money," the actress said. "Then that was settled. But I've been in a hurry because I've no plans to re-marry."

She still doesn't, she insists, not to actor Walter Chiari, writer Peter Viertel or any other of her friends. But, she added, "I still hope to marry again some day."

Ava spoke as she swished in a tight-fitting, black fringe dress around the set of the Darryl F. Zanuck production for 20th Century-Fox that's being filmed at Churubusco Studio here, also starring Tyrone Power, Errol Flynn, Mel Ferrer and Eddie Albert.

Since the star set up housekeeping in Spain, various reports have pictured her as a sad creature leading a hectic life involving bullfighters and late hours.

"Most of those stories aren't true—some were filthy, filthy," blazed Ava with fire in those green eyes.

Card of Thanks
I cannot say and I will not say,
That he is dead, but I will say
With a cheery smile and a wave
Of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming, how very fair
It needs must be since he lingers there
And you, O you, who the wildest year
For the old time step and glad return
Think of him as faring on, as dear,
In the love of the love of the love of the love,
I think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead he is just away.
