Destruction Of Missile Was On Purpose

GREAT NECK, N. Y., Dec. 21 (UP)—Scientists recently deliberately blew a long-range missile to bits in the final phase of a flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in a test to determine the accuracy of an electronic guidance system, it was disclosed today.

The Gerry Gyroscope Company indicated in its disclosure that at least some tests that have been labeled failures because of missile explosions in flight actually were successes, as far as scientists were concerned.

"Destructive tests are necessary to reveal weaknesses," said Dr. Vincent E. Learned, a Sperry research and development director.

"Missiles can't be developed without them."

The company did not disclose the name of the missile it cited, but it said it was a long-range rocket, thus indicating it may have been one of the two Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles that were exploded in flight.

In the instance mentioned, Sperry said, an electronic oscillator, known as a Klystron oscillator, fell a mile and a half into the sea and was dredged from the bottom for careful examination.

The oscillator was developed for a critical guidance and data system produced for several missiles. It was returned to Sperry's electronic laboratories for study by shock and vibration experts.

Sperry said its scientists determined that the gadget had withstood shocks greater than that of 100 times gravity when the missile blew apart. It smashed against the ocean's surface at a speed of several hundred miles an hour, the firm said.

"At that speed, water acts like a solid wall of concrete," Learned said.

Power Off When Line Fell

An equipment failure of Southwestern Public Service Co. at 5:30 Friday evening resulted in approximately 80 per cent of Pampa being without electrical power.

Officials of the light company stated that a line of the main power loop fell near 18th and Beech and caused the loop to go dead.

Repairs were able to restore current to approximately half of the blacked-out area in about 40 minutes by by-passing the section of the loop where the break had occurred.

Repairs on the broken line were completed at 7:30 Friday night and the remainder of the system was supplied with electric power.

The officials of the company reported that the failure in the line came less than two hours after a line supplying electricity to the west side of Pampa was cut to allow construction on the Hobart street underpass to progress. Current to that side of town was being supplied by the loop on which the failure occurred, they stated.

The arc resulting from the falling line also melted the sheathing on a telephone cable, but workmen repairing the phone cables yesterday morning reported that none of the lines in the cables were damaged and that service was not hindered.

top-secret Gaither report to the National Security Council for possible consideration Monday by President Eisenhower.

The report, according to versions "leaked" to several newsmen, calls for a massive defense buildup, a 20 billion dollar civil defense shelter program, expanded foreign aid and other "crash" measures to avoid the catastrophe of a Soviet missile attack.

It was said to paint a much darker picture of the U. S. lag behind Russia in military might than administration officials have conceded.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty read a brief statement which confirmed that the alarming report was under study but has revealed nothing about its conclusion and recommendations.

He said it was "top secret" and that he did not know whether any parts of it would ever be made public.

Democratic congressional leaders Friday called on the administration to make public those parts of the report which could be revealed without compromising national security. They also asked that the full document be furnished congressional committees concerned with defense and foreign affairs.

Pampa Man Sentenced For Burglary Sentence Of Another Revoked

Cases heard in the 51st District Court of Gray County Friday resulted in a 10-year prison sentence for one man and the revocation of a three-year sentence of another. Cecil Leroy Jones, 638 S. Somerville, was given a 10-year sentence by the court after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. The charge of burglary was in connection with the Sept. 29, 1957, burglary of a tool shed in which Jones admitted taking several tools.

Jones was also being held for the burglary of Utility Oil and Supply Co., 501 W. Brown, last Monday night in which two truck tires were taken. An attendant at a local service station had identified Jones as the man who sold him two tires taken in the burglary.

According to Bill Waters, district attorney, it was the decision of the court not to file charges on Jones for the burglary last week as he had already been sentenced for the earlier burglary.

The three-year sentence of Theron H. Wilson of Pampa was revoked by the court. He had been given the sentence in July of 1955 after being convicted of a second offense driving while intoxicated charge, Waters said.

Big Things Are Coming In Missiles

By CHARLES TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Dec. 21 (UP)—Empty missile towers tell the tale of a busy week and historic year at the guided missile test center, but bigger things are coming.

Missile men shot the biggest and best they had last week, starting Tuesday, with the nation's first successful launching of an intercontinental missile, the Atlas. A Jupiter and a Thor, both intermediate range missiles, followed.

All of the rockets got away successfully and only the Jupiter failed to go all the way to its target. Missile men were rejoicing and relaxing for the holidays but getting set for a fast pace after New Years.

Eight Towers 'Empty
At week's end, eight of the red and white service towers were empty of their missiles on the cape. But a second Atlas was ready in its tower and a second Vanguard satellite-carrying missile was also believed to be tucked inside its gantry crane.

These two rockets are expected to provide the fireworks to kick off the New Year. By Jan. 1, 1958, four Jupiters and Thors are expected to be in their towers, static-fired on the ground and ready for flight testing.

Before the Vanguard missile can try again to put up a small test satellite, each of the many components of the rocket must be checked over and it must be test-fired on the ground at least once.

The stand has been repaired after the unsuccessful launching of the Vanguard Dec. 6.

Others Scheduled
Three more attempts to launch a small satellite are scheduled before the Navy tries to put up a 21-inch fully instrumented satellite.

Also in the wind for the coming year is a possible attempt by the Army to put up a bigger satellite with its rugged Jupiter-C missile, an advance version of the Jupiter.

Atlas officials have also spoken of a possible order from the government to get their big missile ready for a satellite launching attempt. It was learned that by the end of March the Convair Corp., prime contractor for the Atlas, expects to be able to launch four of the giant missiles a month.

Polaris New
The newest missiles on the cape next year are expected to be the Navy's Polaris, intermediate range missile, and the Air Force Titan intercontinental projectile, a supplementary weapon for the Atlas.

YOUTH CENTER GIFT—Mrs. Inez Carter is shown above presenting a check for $15,000 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center to Fred Neslage, vice president of the organization. ## $15,000 Gift Boosts Prospects For Youth, Community Center

By JOEL R. COMBS
Pampa New Managing Editor
Mrs. Inez Carter's gift of $15,000 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center fund has added impetus to efforts to acquire such a center here.

In the last couple of weeks, attention has begun focusing on the center more and more each day. It began with the annual gift of the Pampa Barberhoppers to the center fund. When the $75 gift was presented to Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Inc., he announced that the National Fund Raising Service, Inc., of Dallas had been contracted to conduct a campaign here to finance the building of the center itself. That was on Dec. 10.

The next day it was announced that an anonymous person had given the center $5,000 in stock in the Pampa Community Hotel Company.

Today's announcement of the $15,000 gift from Mrs. Carter comes simultaneously with an announcement by Dr. Donaldson that a representative of the Dallas fund raising service will be in Pampa Dec. 30 to start preliminary work on the fund-raising campaign.

Also, it has just been revealed to the general public that the Dallas firm conducted a survey early last year to determine if such a center was wanted and needed here and to make recommendations about acquiring it.

Red Chinese Warn Japan

TOKYO, Dec. 21 (UP)—The Chinese Communist party today warned Japan that it would face missile attack in another war if it accepts U. S. missile bases on its territory.

The official party newspaper, Ta Kung Pao, said Japanese leaders "should soberly consider the results of turning Japan into a U. S. missile base and equipping its self-defense forces with these weapons."

The editorial was broadcast from Peiping by the New China News Agency which said it referred to the announcement Thursday that Japan would be supplied with U. S. "Sidewinder" air-to-air guided missiles.

The survey, as submitted to the center's board of directors, indicated that, "There is a need for recreational facilities for young people in Pampa and public sentiment favors a wholesome program that would supplement guidance already available to the group."

"Public recognition of the need for an indoor swimming pool is strong and the Youth Actively and Interest Survey recently conducted in Pampa indicates that the young people of the community place this first on their list, also.

"Pampa population growth, along with an increase in the student population in the teen age group, has not been complemented with a corresponding increase in facilities for recreation."

The survey reported that "Most encouraging was the positive attitude of Pampa's leaders toward this project, and their record in past civic projects has been impressive. The speed with which a recent campaign for a new hotel was completed speaks well for the abilities of these leaders."

The survey expressed the opinion that, "The board of the Pampa Youth and Community Center contains leadership that is influential, and these members command the respect of the community. The worthiness of the project has been accepted as much for the board's (See GIFT, Page 2)

Would 'Outlaw War And Solve Problems'

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (UP)—Russia today rejected the NATO call for a foreign ministers' conference on disarmament and demanded instead a summit meeting to outlaw war and "solve the problems bothering humanity."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko formally refused the proposal of the NATO powers at their Paris meeting in an address before the final session of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament).

Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev endorsed the rejection and called for an agreement on world peace between the United States and Russia.

Alternative Also Rejected
They also turned down the alternative NATO proposal for new disarmament talks in the 25-member United Nations disarmament commission.

Khrushchev said the East and West must agree to disarmament, accept co-existence of capitalism and communism, and avoid a war that would bring "crushing blows" from the missile-armed Soviet Union.

The two houses of Parliament then approved a seven-point foreign policy resolution repeating Soviet demands for a ban on nuclear tests and an end to manufacture of nuclear weapons.

Both Khrushchev and Gromyko again urged a meeting of chiefs of state, but did not say whether they wanted it limited to the Big Four.

Reds Want Replies
They made it clear that there could be no such meeting until the NATO countries replied to recent letters from Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin urging the European powers to refuse to accept U. S. missile bases.

Western reaction was one of disappointment. The European NATO powers had urged a foreign ministers' conference and the United States went reluctantly along with them on the issue during the four day NATO summit conference in Paris this week.

'Burning Of Greens' On Jan. 5

The traditional old English custom, "The Burning of the Greens," will take place on Jan. 5 at 6 p.m. at the football practice field of the high school under the sponsorship of Saint Matthews Episcopal Church.

In cooperation with the program, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne will have a piece of equipment on hand in case of an emergency.

According to tradition, this service takes place on the 13th night after Christmas and signifies the closing of Christmastide and the opening of the Epiphany season.

The public is invited to bring Christmas trees and other green decorations to be burned at this time, and also invited to attend the Feast of Lights Pageant at Saint Matthews Episcopal Church at 7 p.m., following the "Burning of the Greens." It has been requested that the trees not be brought to the field until Sunday, Jan. 5. The pageant portrays Christ as the "Light of the World" and shows how Christianity has spread throughout the centuries.

Business Lag Blamed On Construction

Merchants on Alcock and the section of Hobart effected by the construction of the Hobart Street underpass met with the City Commission yesterday morning seeking a solution to the loss of business caused by the closing of Hobart.

They indicated that the construction work was causing them to lose business, especially during the Christmas shopping period.

G. K. Reading, resident engineer of the Highway Department, told the merchants and the commissioners that the intersections on Hobart would be reopened as fast as construction permits. He reported that local traffic was being allowed across the Hobart and Alcock intersection at the present time and that the crossing would be improved as soon as possible.

He also reported that traffic could now use Buckler and Montagu, west of Hobart.

The group also was informed that the railroad crossing will be closed until the underpass is completed. Construction of the storm sewer south of the tracks is now underway and as soon as it is completed a spur track will be installed to allow the removal of the present tracks across Hobart.

VFW Post To Give Party For Underprivileged

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will provide a Christmas party for underprivileged children at the VFW Hall beginning at 6 this evening.

Refreshments will be served to the more than 200 children and adults expected to attend the party, according to Elmer Young, post commander.

Toys to be given to the children by the VFW have been provided by the Pampa Fire Department from the toys repaired during the past month. Entertainment for the party will be provided by Coy Palmer.

Some of the local stores have provided food for the party and some local merchants have donated toys to be given to the children, Young said. Vernon Stuckey, post quartermaster, has been in charge of securing the food and toys. Members of the VFW Post have assisted with preparing the party.

Secretary-General Says:

NATO Meeting Success

(Editor's note: When the Soviete Sputnik stunned the West last fall it was Belgium's hard-driving Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization, who suggested an urgent meeting of the NATO chiefs of government. Here, Spaak, 58, explains in a dispatch written for United Press why he believes the summit conference this week was a success.)

By PAUL-HENRI SPAK
Secretary-General of NATO
Written for United Press
PARIS, Dec. 21 (UP)—The NATO conference has just ended. Has it been a success or not? I do not hesitate to reply in the affirmative.

Why? Because the double character of the alliance: Defensive military effort, aggressive diplomatic effort, was clearly underlined.

There is now an Atlantic policy. It seems they are saying in the United States that a neutralist current has shown itself in Europe. This is entirely inaccurate. NATO has taken her military responsibilities very firmly. They were taken calmly. It is reasonable to ask NATO to be enthusiastic about a policy that has been justly called the balance of terror?

Spaak Prefers
I much prefer this cool determination to poorly-founded exaltation.

But the NATO powers do not wish to close the door to conversations with the Russians. In spite of all the disappointments of these last years, they still want to miss no opportunity to lessen international tension. In conformity with solemnly reaffirmed principles, they are always ready to negotiate on a reasonable basis.

There is nothing contradictory in these two attitudes. On the contrary, they are complementary. They form a policy.

The conference also has been a success because the geographical limits of political discussions at NATO were enlarged and because the preoccupations of the countries of the alliance are less and less exclusively military.

New Alliance
From the treaty creating the alliance a powerful organization was born. From this organization the Atlantic Alliance was born. From this Atlantic Alliance in Atlantic community now must be born.

The challenge flung out by Communism to the free world is not exclusively military. I am not even sure it is essentially military. Perhaps it is rather more moral, political, economic and social.

It must be met in all these fields. It can only be met with success by a united free world, whose members have agreed on close and friendly cooperation with each other in all fields.

This is not a task that can be accomplished in a day. An Atlantic community can only be a continuous creation.

The question is not whether we were more or less divided at the start of the conference. It is whether we were united at the end of the conference. And, since the answer is positive, it can be concluded with certainty and confidence that the conference was a real success, that the Atlantic Alliance emerged from it militarily, diplomatically and economically stronger. And since the stronger the Atlantic Alliance becomes, the more peace will be assured, we can be satisfied with the work accomplished.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Christmas Party Held By Scouts

Approximately 125 Cubs, Boy Scouts, Explorers and their parents attended the combined annual Christmas party of Pack 21 and Troop 18 Friday night at the Scout House at Lions Park.

Jessie Holt, cub master of Pack 21, stated that the party for the cubs and scouts was made possible by local residents purchasing Christmas trees at the lot operated by the two groups. The lot was located at the corner of Foster and Hobart.

Holt also said that 10 per cent of the tree sales made by each boy was credited to the boy towards the purchase of uniforms or other items needed in Scouting.

Pack 21 is sponsored by the PTA of Baker Elementary School and Troop 18 of Boy Scouts and Explorers is sponsored by the Noon Lions Club. Joe Rogers is Scoutmaster of Troop 18.

A Pampa Youth and Community Center was initially proposed as a project by the Junior Chamber of Commerce several years ago.

Eventually this project was endorsed by other service clubs and youth groups. Finally, the present organization, the Pampa Youth and Community Center, was formed in 1956.

It is incorporated as a Texas Corporation, a non-profit organization to develop a youth and community center. As such, it is entitled to receive contributions, and these may be considered as charitable deductions for tax purposes.

300 Toys Are Repaired By Local Firemen

Operation "Santa's Workshop" of the Pampa Fire Department was completed yesterday morning when the last toy, a sidewalk tractor, was finished by the local firemen.

Captain Paul Skidmore reported that approximately 300 toys have been repaired and painted by the firemen at Central Fire Station. The work on the toys has been accomplished by the firemen in addition to their regular duties at the station, he said.

"The firemen wish to thank the many local citizens and firms that supplied the used toys and the materials used to repair them," he said.

The majority of the toys were supplied to the local VFW Post to be given to underprivileged children at the post's Christmas Party this evening.

Several toys were retained by the firemen and will be given to children of four families. The firemen are aiding this Christmas. The firemen are personally giving funds to supply baskets and other items to four families this Christmas.

Senators May Turn In Info On Tennessee Judge

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH, United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—A decision on whether the Senate Rackets Committee will turn over to Tennessee officials confidential derogatory information about the activities of Judge Raulston Schoolfield of Chattanooga hung in the air today.

Tennessee Attorney General George McClellan and W. E. Hopton, director of the state Bureau of Criminal Investigation, conferred again this morning with Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) but later left for home without the data they sought.

McClellan said, however, that they will contact him again next week. At that time he will decide whether to pull Rackets Committee members on turning over to state authorities secret testimony about Schoolfield and confidential information collected by the committee's investigators.

The committee on Friday gave McClellan and Hopton a transcript of recent public testimony linking Schoolfield to two incidents of alleged case-fixing.

One state official testified there was "quite a bit of talk" that Schoolfield accepted $18,500 from

The cash register was taken from the front back to kitchen where a kitchen knife was used to pry open the side door of the machine and trip the cash door release. Some $5 in pennies, two silver dollars, and $3 of defaced coins was taken from the register along with four boxes of cigars and five cartons of chewing gum. Later in the day, three pairs of Latex rubber gloves and a coin purse were discovered to be gone.

Earl Rudder To Become A&M Veep

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (UP)—Land Commissioner Earl Rudder resigned today to become vice president of Texas A&M College and Gov. Price Daniel appointed District Attorney Bill Allcorn of Brownwood to succeed him.

Rudder's acceptance of the college post was announced in College Station by A&M President M. T. Harrington. It is effective Feb. 1.

Rudder said that with the sale of $12,800,000 worth of veterans land bonds on Monday the past week, "the last step that was needed to put the veterans land program back in operation was effected."

11 More Months

Rudder's term has 11 months to run and if Allcorn seeks reelection to office, he will have to run in the 1958 elections.

"Allcorn, in addition to his experience in cleaning up the veterans land operations, has also had experience as a lawyer in land and title matters. He was born and reared on a farm and now is engaged in farming and ranching," Daniel said.

Daniel said he accepted Rudder's resignation with regret.

"He has done a splendid job in this office, especially in cleaning up the veterans land operations," Daniel said.

Allcorn served as district attorney at Brownwood since 1950 except for 1955 when he served as special assistant attorney general in charge of veterans land prosecutions.

Rudder, a many-times decorated veteran of World War II, took office in January, 1955. His appointment by Gov. Allan Shivers followed announcement by Bascom Giles that he would not take office as land commissioner to which he had been elected the ninth time.

Later, Rudder ran and was elected to the office.

At A&M, Dr. Harrington said "we are most fortunate to secure a man of Mr. Rudder's proven administrative abilities for this key position in our organization. Rudder is a graduate of Texas A&M."

Club at 543 W. Brown was reported on fire at 4:35 p.m. This call was answered by sub station No. 2. No damage was reported.

Also answered by the south sub station was a call to the 900 block of Wilcox, where old tires and weeds were burning. No damage was reported.

2 Members Of Borger Family Found Dead

BORGER, Tex., Dec. 21 (UP)—A neighbor broke into a tightly-closed house today and found two members of a family dead and two others near death, apparently from asphyxiation.

Mrs. Wynanda Lynch, 28, and her daughter, Billy Wynanda, 2, were found dead in their beds in separate rooms in the house.

The husband, Billy Lloyd Lynch, 29, lay unconscious on the floor between the kitchen and the living room. An infant son, Mort William Lynch II, was unconscious in another bed.

D. T. Hubbard, a neighbor who broke into the house, said Lynch apparently sensed their peril and had strength enough to get out of bed and try to reach a window before he collapsed.

Paper Reports Macmillan's Party Revolting

LONDON, Dec. 21 (UP)—The official Labor Party news paper, Daily Herald said today that Britain's prompt agreement to accept American missile bases has set off a revolt within Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative Party.

It said the slim margin by which Macmillan received House of Commons approval on his NATO summit policies "staggered the cabinet."

The staunchly Conservative Daily Telegraph conceded that neither the prime minister nor Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd "was in his best form" in the debate about their work at the Paris summit conference.

In the final vote, six regular Conservatives abstained and Macmillan won with a 38-vote majority, the smallest margin since he became prime minister.

The Socialists based their protests against British foreign policy on the proposed American missile bases in Britain and the flight of American patrol bombers over Britain carrying H-bombs.

They said the presence of American nuclear bombers and missiles in Britain would mean that the nation would be the first to be hit in any war with Russia.

Stolen Car Is Recovered

A 1952 Ford belonging to Joe W. Lamb, 319 Roberts, which was reported stolen from the Santa Fe parking lot sometime between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. Wednesday, was recovered Friday when a patrolling officer observed three boys driving the car along a draw parallel with the Lefors highway inside the city limits.

Upon questioning, the boys stated that they saw the car parked on W. Barrett street with the keys in it and decided to take it around the block. Further questioning of the boys revealed that two of them, ages 13 and 18 had taken the car with a key they had taken from an old car sometime earlier and found that it worked in the '52 car. The boys were talked to yesterday morning by County Judge Bruce Parker and returned to their homes.

The Plymouth encountered of $40 while the Plymouth encountered an estimated $425 damage. No one was injured. It occurred at 5:11 p.m.

A collision at Kingsmill and Ward occurred at 8:08 p.m. yesterday when a 1952 Mercury, driven by Doyle Blandine of Cactus, was in collision with a 1949 Dodge driven by Edmond A. Gates, Pampa. Each car received an estimated $150 damage.

Vatican's Identification Of St. Peter's Tomb Supported

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21 (UP)—A woman archeologist has found fresh evidence to support the Vatican's identification of the tomb of St. Peter, it was disclosed today.

Margherita Guarducci, 55, a professor of Greek epigraphy (study of inscriptions) at Rome University, reported her latest finds to the Pontifical Academy of Archeology Friday. She said her discoveries indicated that the tomb, 23 feet below the floor of St. Peter's basilica, was part of a sprawling cemetery which includes other graves from the First Century, A.D.—the time when Peter died.

The scarcity of relics clearly traceable to the times of the apostles has led some archeologists to express doubts that the underground tomb is that of St. Peter. Prof. Guarducci's discoveries, if confirmed, might give a partial answer to that objection.

That was taken as evidence that as soon as one century after St. Peter's death—variously dated at 64 or 67 A.D.—Rome's Christians considered the tomb to be that of the apostle.

But the lack of objects dating back to Peter's times still caused skepticism among some archeologists.

Sabotage Hinted In Blaze

SUNNYVALE, Calif., Dec. 21 (UP)—An unexplained fire destroyed secret papers at the Lockheed missile system plant today and hints at sabotage.

The smoldering blaze started shortly before 3 a.m. in a 30-by-30 foot vault at the plant which holds navy contracts for the intermediate range Polaris missile and other work.

Firemen, who were delayed getting an officer to open the vault and handicapped by heavy smoke, controlled the fire about six hours later.

Lockheed and Navy security officers immediately began an investigation. Unofficial sources said an incendiary bomb with a slow fuse might have been hidden in the vault.

Lockheed officials said all of the plans and blueprints were duplicated and kept on file at an undisclosed location.

Pampa Traffic

The recent action of the Pampa City Commission to change existing traffic regulations in an effort to speed traffic with a maximum of safety certainly deserves the hearty commendation of the community.

As is to be expected, the Commission is in for many protests from those business people who look upon such actions as detrimental to their personal interest and, in some cases, there is no doubt but that this is true.

Since learning of the request of the Commission last week to the city attorney to draw up an ordinance to make right turns on a red signal legal, we have given this proposition some serious consideration for we have been unable to recall an instance to mind where a city has done away with the right turns on red and then reverted to the previous practice.

On making a few inquiries, it was discovered that this action was being taken by the Commission because of vocal elements who found the prohibited turn personally vexing and certain business people who felt the prohibited turn was undesirable because it seemed to them it slowed traffic too much.

Frankly, we know of no individual who particularly enjoys sitting at a red signal light when he sees the cross street in front of him free of traffic but this is not the issue at stake. There is only one issue, safety, and to look at it in any other light can have serious consequences.

The National Safety Council which exists for the sole purpose of appraising procedures and situations which create safety hazards is most definitely against the right turn on red as a matter of flat policy and we conclude that this position was taken on the basis of cold, hard analysis of facts. Too, the Pampa Citizen's Traffic Safety Commission has voiced its opposition to the proposed change.

Experience has pretty well indicated that the greatest hazard arising from right turns on red comes from the fact that a relatively small percentage actually make a complete stop and proceed with caution. To enforce a complete stop would almost require a policeman at every signaled intersection. Also the motorist who has the through right-of-way must always be alert to traffic violating the right-of-way. This automatically means that the through traffic, if it is judicious, must move at a slower pace because of possible turns into its traffic flow.

Those favoring the proposed ordinance try to make light of the safety factor by contending Pampa didn't have any accidents of consequence when the right turns were permitted but we think this is just another form of Russian roulette in that the laws of probability work out on averages which, though not applicable to a specific example, will eventually take their toll. We should be thankful for good fortunes in the past and not wait to be shown by unnecessary injury to persons and property that which the National Safety Council has discovered by a close examination of the problem on a national level.

Pampa has left the small town status and graduated into the city class and our traffic ordinances should reflect this fact. As Pampa grows larger and traffic becomes an increasing concern, the problems caused by a right turn on the red light will become more and more acute.

We understand the City Commission has had virtually no expression of desire to retain the present no right turn on red light rule. If you agree with the foregoing, we urge you to contact the mayor and commissioners before this Tuesday and let them know your thinking in the matter.

BETTER JOBS

CIO-AFL On Right-To-Work Laws

In the last issue I was pointing out the errors of the pamphlet issued by the CIO on their contention that right-to-work laws would reduce the workers' standard of living.

Now I want to discuss the folder issued by the California state Federation of Labor. They have issued an eight-page, two-color folder with the title page "What about the 'Right To Work' Fraud? Know The Facts: California's prosperity is threatened. Your livelihood is at stake."

About the only thing that is accurate in the whole folder is that "right-to-work" is a misleading slogan. Certainly it is not a clear title. Slogans seldom are able to express the ideas clearly as can be expressed with a longer explanation.

Of course the slogan does not mean that workers have a right to a job. What the right-to-work title means is that each and every individual has a right to be employed without interference from any person or group, if he can find somebody who wants to employ him. But to criticize the title is a way of diverting attention from the subject. No believer in right-to-work laws contends that it is a bill to guarantee a man a job if he wants to work.

Then the folder says: "Right to work" is a tyranny of words. If adopted, it would cover a tyranny of deeds. It would wipe out workers' and employers' rights."

The statement that it is a tyranny of words. It is a method of trying to confuse the worker.

Then the statement that this law "would wipe out workers' and employers' rights" is a falsehood, unless we get our rights from the labor unions or from the government instead of from the Creator.

And, of course, the persons who believe that men have a right to strike, with the idea of injuring another, believe in no eternal, moral law. They certainly do not believe in the Golden Rule or the Coveting Commandment or the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" Commandment.

Would any believer in the closed shop and the right to strike contend that he, for one minute, would want other workers to combine to keep him from selling his services to the world's highest bidder? If he so contends, he is talking nonsense. It thus violates the Golden Rule and the Coveting Commandment and the Commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

It would be interesting indeed to have any believer in the closed shop and strikes define "rights" and tell where these "rights" came from. They certainly have a strange idea of rights. About the same kind of idea of rights as the rights granted years ago by the U. S. Government for one man to own another man. That is, a "right" established by legislation, by the government, instead of the Creator.

Then they make this irrational statement: "...The proponents of this so-called right base their case on the complaint that belonging to a union somehow deprives the worker of his individual freedom."

They, indeed, must have a strange idea of freedom, if taking away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain is not depriving him of his freedom.

In fact, it is making the labor union the guardian of the individual members. It is taking away from the individual his right to choose. It is making him submissive to the will of the majority or the labor brass. It is taking away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain — to use his conscience and his judgment. And when he is deprived of the right to use his conscience and his judgment, they atrophy.

One wonders how the leaders of the American Federation of Labor would define what they mean by "individual freedom," if taking away from an individual the above rights and subjecting him to the will of the majority is not depriving the individual of his individual freedom.

The whole folder implies, if it does not directly say so, that men get their freedom and their rights from the government. Listen to his, after they have contended that labor unions do not take away from an individual his individual freedom. They write:

"What are the facts? Federal law recognizes the union shop, in which membership becomes a condition of employment. But the Taft-Hartley Act permits the states to restrict that right. As a result, 'right to work' agitators across the nation have been asking the states to step in and say: 'Even though a majority of you workers and your employers want the union shop; even though you and your employers have freely agreed to it — we forbid such an agreement.'"

From the above it is evident that they are arguing that man gets his rights from the majority of the employees in a group or from the state or federal government. That, of course, is what every Socialist, every Communist has to contend. They have to deny the existence of a Creator and of a God.

There isn't much use of having a Creator or a God if we get our rights and our freedom from the majority of our associates or from the government. In other words, the majority and the government become divine. They become God. They become a Creator. But that hardly seems rational because the majority and the government are fallible. They make one mistake after another.

People Once Jeered Autos, Too

Fair Enough

Judge Klein And The Government Paycheck

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — All things change and pass away, but we stupidly preserve the handicaps imposed on railroads long ago which are actual handicaps on all of us because the railroads just can't bear the burden forever. The Interstate Commerce Commission itself is not necessarily eternal, although most railroad executives and politicians have to do with this jumble of superstitions, fallacies and outmoded conditions are so pervasive.

This is an opportune place to insert for the information and, no doubt, the astonishment, of most of us, that "the railroads" are not actually material institutions. They are aggregations of American citizens who own the shares and bonds of the companies. (Some foreign citizens and sovereignties still own shares or bonds in our railroads, but their investments are much smaller than they were down to the First War, which was their point of maximum interest and income.) The American citizens who own shares and bonds may be presumed to have earned money to buy them and to have saved it, but self-denial, after exorbitant taxes. So, the New Haven commuter, who rides his own car to his work in fair weather but relies on the railroad for stand-by transportation, actually is demanding that other citizens pay the deficit-cost of this convenience to him and his family.

This transportation was planned originally with a view to certain reasonable expectations. If Larchmont grew to twice or thrice her size as of 1920, the New Haven could look forward to more business and higher profits. But instead the automobile robbed the railroad of its meat-and-potatoes business, and the people and their governments and a new variation of sub-government known as "authority" built highways to compete with the railroad. And the citizen-owners of the railroad as stockholders paid taxes to finance this rival of their own investment. The railroads subsidize their own economic enemies. Meanwhile, the suburban or, as the smart work now has it, the ex-urban, family and the fugitive business office and factory up in Westchester of Fairfield has enjoyed an enhancement of real estate values made possible basically by the existence of a railroad, owned by saving, frugal people.

In the Southwest, the Southern Pacific, that good old, hated but ever-reliable SOPAC, stretches across desert and ridges into infinity, with rarely a train in view. The right-of-way, including tracks, "communications" and the "service" which maintain it, is a priceless property, but little better than a burden to its individual owners. On the big board, its stock may go down, down, down any time. This year it has slid from 46 1/2 to 33 and, at this moment, it is only a hair above the minimum.

But the freight trucks rumble along in big, single, nimble units on highways which the railroad shareholders paid for, hauling freight much faster than SOPAC can fetch it. And still the residents of ugly frontier settlements along the lines hate the railroad because it doesn't give them a load of marlin with every 50-mile passenger ticket, served by a stewardess with pretty eyes and legs. Even when the SOPAC does give them good, comfortable, reasonably fast passenger service, at a loss, paid by the shareholders, they hang around the gas stations and thumb 100-mile hitchhikes when they aren't driving their own cars or pickups. Or planes. Or they ride the Greyhound. But they want the SOPAC to be there always.

The proposition has been thrown out for debate recently that all railroad passengers should pay exactly what their transportation costs, plus a fair dividend for the shareholders. The squawks of indignation which have greeted this plain American proposal have startled the buzzards of the poles. But cotton growers are shipping by truck and the stockmen push their cattle from the range to the feedlots jammed into big motor trucks, and they are bullying through subsidies which the railroad shareholders have to pay. If a stockman ships his broods by railroad he has to pay for unloading and watering every so often, by law. The trucker highballs the cattle without fastidious, humane-society supervision, and much more efficiently, too.

Some railroad men overload the debate with futile theories that under certain conditions which never will be seen again, the railroad can restore the old deluxe transportation. That simply is not going to happen because the railroad passenger business is doomed. The B. and O. made a brave but expensive and stupid effort to maintain service from Washington into New York after that good old, neighborly Pennsylvania blocked the B. and O. out of Penn Station. I have not ridden the B. and O. in 20 years, because the shift from the train into the bus for the boat ride across the Hudson and through traffic, on the New York side, is too much trouble. I rarely ride any train anywhere. I can make it from New York to Boston or New York to Washington by plane in one hour aloft. The millling around to and from the airports takes no more time than the same process to and from trains.

The railroads are suffering for the sin, of bygone ages, and the public uses superstition for intelligent judgement in damning them over and over. Some roads could make money by paying their rights of way and selling toll tickets for trucks and private cars. There is another proposal, now going, to mount trucks on retractable railroad wheels to ride the tracks, with the rubber tires ready to take off the burden when the trucks turn off to seek their destinations by road.

The important first thing, however, is to quit thinking that the Interstate Commission is god almighty and its regulations are holy writ.

PARIS — President Eisenhower saying goodbye to French President Rene Coty before taking off for home from Paris' Orly Airport after closing the NATO summit meeting.

"I return home confident that the American people, like the people of all the NATO nations, will endorse and support the decisions made here for a stronger North Atlantic alliance."

The American Way

THANK YOU, SPUTNIK!

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake

Sputnik is not sufficient reason for the wave of fear and capitalization of that fear now sweeping into the minds and paralyzing the hearts of many Americans. But, we should be grateful to the Russians for their unintended kindness in awakening us out of our complacency and smug quest of still higher standards of living without the appropriate work and sacrifice that must accompany such a quest. If Sputnik will help us realize what has been happening to the basic principles on which we built our strength and prosperity as individuals and as a nation, we need not feel too badly over our temporary loss of face and the rumbles of rambling politicians who see no further than November of 1958.

We have gone soft as a nation and as individuals, in spite of the terrible price we paid in two world wars to know better. We have listened to the apostles of apostasy who led us to sacrifice principle on the altar of expediency. From the member of the Supreme Court who boldly proclaimed his independence from the fetters of the Constitution he swore to uphold when he took office, down to the moral mope who appraises his yawning belly above his self-respect, too many of us have been willing to let the Constitution of the United States be pushed aside and ignored in the quest of easier ways to get things done and a lower price than work for what we want.

It is not the Russian, with his borrowed or stolen achievements and ideas, developed by his slave labor, in fear of whose attack we need cringe. Russia has the first satellite. So what? She has developed a means and medium of power to push half a ton a thousand miles into space. She could raise havoc with the missiles she might rocket into the air and drop on our cities. And we could destroy her with the atomic bombs we are in position to drop on her from many places and directions — while her spunkies continue their journeys around the earth, unable to come down or drop where their masters wish them to drop.

In a missile-fought war both of us would suffer and possibly be destroyed. The very practical certainty of that is likely to keep either of us from starting on the other. And that is the more nearly true now that we have been given dramatic warning by a little dog journeying around the earth.

But that is not the way we are likely to be destroyed. The Russians have found a surer way, one far less costly to themselves, for they encourage us to destroy ourselves. Lenin and Stalin, and even musty old Karl Marx, should be lifting their glasses in a toast to the "do-gooders," the "Soviet-lovers," and even good but mistaken citizens, who are paving the way for the real and inevitable destruction of America.

"Debauch their currency!" "Debauch their currency!" cried Karl Marx, and echoed the other, "as the sure way to destroy them. Destroy their capitalism with high taxes and government spending, government competition with private enterprises. Arouse racial hatreds, build labor dynasties to outweigh industrial and political dynasties. And the Americans will destroy themselves with their growing paternalism and centralization of government, high taxes and higher spending, smothering individual and States' rights and power in Federal Aid to Education, insidious socialization of medicine, the prostitution of their self-respect and strength in the arms of their welfare state."

There is the real menace to America. And the antidote? More of the "three R's," science

European Toys Make A Miser Of McLemore

By HENRY McLEMORE

MADRID — Have you ever heard of a toy miser?

Well, there is such a miserable thing. I know, because I am one.

Our hotel room is fairly well jammed with toys, all bought as Christmas presents for small nephews and nieces at home. They should have been mailed long before, and I have been trying to mail them for days and days, but haven't been able to make myself part with them.

Every night I gather the toys about me and look at them, handle them, work them, and admire them, just as a miser gloats over his gold.

Shameful of me, isn't it? I agree, but I am sure that if you could see the toys — some from France, some from Spain, some from Switzerland, some from England, some from Italy — you'd understand a little how I feel.

There's the stuffed lion I bought here in Madrid. It was intended for Johnny Heg in Middletown, Rhode Island, but it doesn't look as if Johnny is ever going to get his five-year-old hands on it.

There never has been such a stuffed lion! He is about two feet tall, has splendid, wild green mane, and is wearing a soccer jersey with No. 17 on it. He has a triumphant look on his face, as though he had just scored the winning goal, and when you pick him up he seems to throw his fat paws around your neck and refuse to let go.

Then there's the elephant on skis from Zurich. One look at him, his trunk lifted high, his giant ears a-sail, and you just know he is coming down one of the most dangerous slopes in the world, and is leading Toni Sailer by a split second for the championship of the world.

I'm not the only toy miser in the room. Mary is as grasping as I am, if that's possible. Susan Carlson of Daytona Beach doesn't know it, and probably never will, but the sewing basket on the bed really belongs to her. Mary says it is the prettiest sewing basket ever made. I'm not a sewing basket man, but I agree with her. The best I can describe it is that it is hand-made of Italian raffia — we bought it in Faenza — pink and white checked gingham is woven through the raffia and lines the inside. It's fat, puffy and thick looking, and fitted with everything to sew with.

The toy that I know I'll never let go of is one from Paris. It's a toy French poodle, about six inches high, that only needs to be wound up to perform fifty tricks. It rolls up to perform fifty tricks. It rolls it sits up and begs; it shakes hands and it barks. It does everything but scratch at the door to be let out.

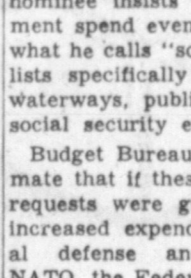

Charlie, our own toy poodle, is fascinated with it. He sits and watches his mechanical brother in amazement. This toy was intended for Theresa Ann Smith of Palo Alto, but she'll have to get by without it. With her father studying for his Ph.D., Theresa probably would rather have an educational toy, anyway. Or a cap for those cool California evenings.

Toys have changed since I was a child. I never saw any like these European ones. I got a drum, or an Indian war bonnet, or a cap pistol.

Could it be that I am in my second childhood?

Well, if I am, I am having a whale of a time!

Adlai Still Plugging For 'Social Projects'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The public and private pressure groups that compose a veritable "fifth estate" at Washington have not heard or heeded demands for stark economy and sacrifice born of the Sputnik age and even more serious technological threats from Russia — hostile control of the weather, radar and radio and the waters of the seven seas.

They have listened to Adlai E. Stevenson instead of to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic Senate leader, or to his Republican colleagues on Capitol Hill — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Whereas the Senate bloc calls for an approximation of Churchill's "Blood, sweat and tears," as do Allied statesmen overseas, the Democrats' 1952-1956 Presidential nominee insists that the government spend even more money on what he calls "social projects." He lists specifically slum clearance, waterways, public power, health, social security expansion, etc.

Budget Bureau statisticians estimate that if these and other lobby requests were granted, on top of increased expenditures for national defense and an expanded NATO, the Federal deficit for next June will be more than two billion, and more than five billion in fiscal 1959.

"GIMMIE" CRY — Stevenson is not alone, however, in his "gimmie" cry, although he is the most prominent and influential person. It may be significant that the spenders' chorus reached crescendo after he gave the pitch.

Senator Richard L. Neuberger, youngish Head of the public power bloc, has notified President Eisenhower in writing that there must be no cuts in funds for Federal dams and transmission systems for rural or urban customers. Instead of permitting private interests to bear these costs, he insists, "Debauch their currency!"

and mathematics, learning to work and think through competition with other students, less of the glamorous furnishings that multiply the cost of building schools. We need a restoration of what we once recognized as "pride of craftsmanship," virtue as its own best reward, sweat, sacrifice and fitness for freedom as the price for the right to exist.

We need leaders who do not see God when they look into mirrors, law enforcement for labor leaders as well as the rest of us, and even a Supreme Court which respects the Constitution of the United States. In all fields we need men and women who accept life as a stewardship at the hands of God.

We can stop worrying if we will really go to work.

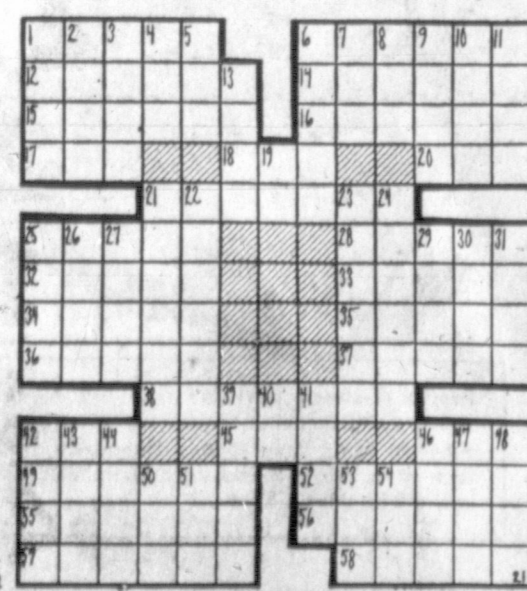

WASHINGTON — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D - Okla.) telling constituents he does not have presidential aspirations. "I probably am one of only five members of the Senate who does not want to be president."

THROUGH MIST, FOG, RAIN OR SNOW—A plane comes in for a landing at Hopkins Airport in Cleveland, Ohio, during a demonstration of the newly installed Electronic Flash Approach System. The system (EFAS) is to be used chiefly during periods of mist, fog, snow or rain to guide pilots to the runway. Employing brilliant blue-white lights, it has 30 flashing lights at 100-foot intervals from 3,000 to within 1,000 feet of the center of the runway. The flashing lights reach a peak of 30 million candlepower. It is only the eighth such network operating, or in process of installation, at commercial and military fields in the United States and abroad.

Sputnik Launching Called 'Dramatic'

By PATRICIA GRAY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—The National Geographic Society, in a year-end summary of scientific research and exploration, said today the most "dramatic" achievement of 1957 was man's successful launching of an artificial satellite.

It said Russia's success in putting the first man-made moon into orbit introduced the space age and gave added stimulus to the efforts of scientists all over the world participating in the International Geophysical Year (IGY).

This feat, it added, "sparked a new era in space travel, meteorology, astronomy, geophysics and other sciences."

The society noted that David Simons, a U.S. Air Force surgeon, took a 32-hour flight in a helium-raised gondola to a record height of 19.3 miles for manned balloons.

Meantime, it said the Air Force sent a rocket roaring more than 2,000 miles into the heavens over Eniwetok Atoll in October to set a record ceiling for a man-made object.

In other developments, the Navy sent up a two-stage, solid-fuel rocket 94 miles and recorded sun flares off San Nicholas Island near California. Over Minnesota and South Dakota, balloon-borne telescopes 16 miles up took the "sharpest sun pictures so far obtained."

Took Balloon Flight
Reciting other space achievements since the IGY began July 1, 1957, the society said that movies, parties, and other entertainment, plus more substantial but less glamorous gifts.

It is command policy of General H. H. Hodder, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Army, Europe, to "encourage visits and gatherings with European neighbors", including Yuletide parties and exchange of visits in homes. The policy demands that "these activities will be entirely voluntary on the part of personnel and organizations."

The phenomena of the atmosphere were penetrated, too. Volunteer skywatchers observed "two parallel 'rayed arcs' of aurora" which adhered closely to the U.S.-Canadian border from coast to coast. Scientists are attempting to determine whether this double arc stretches completely around the earth.

Thirty nations are engaged in research on aurora, "a chemical excitation differing from auroras in which bands of colored light drift rapidly on the night side of the earth." Cosmic rays are also under study.

Meantime, Antarctica has been crowded with scientists and explorers from many nations. There are now more than 100 U.S. scientists at nine stations in the South Polar Region. They and others have been studying oceanography, rocketry, seismology, weather, gravity, ice and glaciology, and related subjects.

Americans at Byrd Station, 575 miles inland, found they were resting on solid ice 10,000 feet thick. The Russians discovered that their base, Mirny (meaning peaceful), also lies on thick ice, based on a "bottom well below the ocean's surface."

The Arctic has 250 research stations, representing 12 nations. Many are on shipboard, and one group of American scientists drifted about on T-3 and Ice Island.

Three Coast Guard cutters, with the help of Canada, became the first U.S. ships to navigate the famed Northwest Passage. They found a water route for supplying distance early warning (DEW) line stations.

The death penalty now may be imposed by 42 of the 48 states, the District of Columbia and the federal government.

Centuries ago, animals were treated like human beings. Pigs, horses and cattle frequently were executed for murder.

US Soldiers Are Playing St. Nicholas

(Christmas)
FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—The American soldier, thousands of miles from his own hearthside, is recapturing the Christmas spirit of home by playing Saint Nicholas to some 75,000 Europeans in "Operation Good Cheer."

Military men throughout the U.S. Army in Europe are contributing time, talent and money to a voluntary campaign to aid or entertain needy orphans, refugees and inmates of old age homes and patients in hospitals.

Thousands of soldiers are participating in hundreds of parties staged in their own barracks, in homes and in institutions, and often the good Saint Nicholas passing out the gifts is shod in gleaming U.S. Army combat boots.

The round of Christmas parties began Dec. 6 and will continue through Christmas Day. No accurate tabulation of the number of parties appears possible, but a partial commandwide total compiled by United Press indicates that among Army guests in Germany will be 51,000 needy children and orphans, nearly 7,000 old age home residents, 4,000 hospitalized people, some 1,600 needy families and between 3,000-4,000 refugees.

In France, American troops will entertain more than 4,000 orphans and 700 old age home residents, and will aid 1,255 impoverished families.

The commandwide project, labeled "Operation Good Cheer" includes turkey dinners, presents,

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS—Typical of the home decorations in Pampa for the Christmas season is that on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Chick Hickman, 1814 Charles. The scene, which is shown above, is similar to the one they constructed last year which received first place honors in District 6 in the Home Decoration Contest. The contest this year is being held tomorrow night and the winners in each of the six districts will be announced Tuesday. (News Photo)

Varied And Colorful Are Pampa's Home Decorations

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer
With Christmas only hours away, Pampans are celebrating the festive holiday occasion with various types of decorations. There are as many different types of home decorations as there are houses decorated. Some of the houses are outlined with lights while others have lights outlining the windows.

Some of the lawns are the locations of various holiday scenes, anything from Santa Claus and his reindeer to Nativity scenes. An enjoyable pastime during this season of the year is that of loading the family in the "old buggy" and driving the streets of Pampa while looking at the various decorations.

One of the many families going all out with decorations this year is that of the Chick Hickmans at 1814 Charles. They were winners in District 6 of last year's home decoration contest.

The display, installed last week by the Hickmans, is similar to the one which won them a prize last year. A rope of evergreen and blue lights is used to outline the windows and the garage doors. On the lawn to the left of the front door is a Nativity scene. As last year the scene will include figures of the Christ child in the manger, Joseph, Mary, the Three Wise Men, a shepherd and two lambs.

Mrs. Hickman said that a large Christmas tree will be placed at the large living room windows. The tree will be white and will be covered with blue lights.

Candles will be placed in the other windows on the front of the house, she reported.

There was some doubt as to whether they would erect the decorations this year, Mrs. Hickman said. They had planned on being out of town last week but when the plans were changed a flurry of activity resulted in the decorations being erected.

Whether or not their decorations will be selected as the best in their section of town this year will not be known until the results of tomorrow night's judging is revealed. If the decorations don't win they will still place high on one of the typical decorations of our community.

Many others throughout the town will have outstanding decorations and the judges will undoubtedly have a difficult time determining the winner in each of the six sections of Pampa.

Until the results are known, we'll probably be seeing you while we are driving around town tonight and tomorrow night admiring the handiwork of our local residents.

Celanese, National Lead To Collaborate In Research

National Lead Company and Celanese Corporation of America today announced their collaboration in research on improved polymers for plastics and fibers using newly-developed polymerization catalysts. These catalysts, products of National Lead Company's research laboratories, are reported by the two companies to constitute an important break-through toward successful production of unique polymers, including radically new types of polypropylene and polystyrene.

A statement issued by the two companies reads— "Much stronger, more highly heat-resistant plastics can be developed by controlling the molecular structure of polymers, the key to which is the polymerization catalyst. Celanese and National Lead are joining hands in a co-operative program to produce and exploit such polymers for industrial and consumer applications.

Outlook For Industries Fair First Half '58

DALLAS (UP)—Southwestern bankers predicted today a "fair to good" outlook for principal industries in the area the first six months of next year.

They foresee a leveling off of interest rate trends, a gain in loans and no major credit problems for 1958.

W. W. Overton Jr., a member of the executive council and the credit policy commission of the American Bankers Association, announced the results of a financial survey conducted for the association among banks throughout the 11th Federal Reserve District.

Includes Five States
The district includes all of Texas and New Mexico, and covers part of Louisiana, Arizona and Oklahoma.

Overton said that while the mild downturn in the national economy, "which became apparent several weeks ago, appears to be continuing, the special characteristics of the 11th Federal Reserve District should tend to buffer this area."

Overton, chairman of the board of the Texas Bank and Trust Co., Dallas, said total loan volume is expected to be slightly higher than during the first six months of this year.

Loans to finance companies and term loans should increase moderately, according to the survey, while mortgage warehouse loans and other commercial loans should remain about the same.

Oil Industry Down
Overton noted that oil and gas drilling activity were reported down.

While the petroleum industry continues to operate at a reduced level," he said, "it is probable that the worst period has passed, especially if the east experiences a cold winter and if the recent success in voluntary curtailment of imports prevails in the future."

In another phase of the survey, Overton said bankers believe the long period of drought has been broken.

The bankers disclosed that total consumer loans will increase slightly, with automobile and personal loans showing a slight edge over appliance loans.

Real estate loans are expected to remain relatively stable, while agricultural loans may increase moderately and normally as the season progresses.

Banks participating in the survey included Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Corpus Christi and Shreveport.

Army Books Elvis For Two Years

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 21 (UP)—Rock 'n roll idol Elvis Presley, 22, was booked solid today for a two year engagement with the Army.

The guitar-thumping crooner got his induction notice Friday to report for duty at an unidentified post Jan. 20—the same day he was scheduled to begin work on a movie in Hollywood called "King Creole."

"I'm kinda proud of it," Presley said referring to the draft notice. "It's a duty I've got to fill and I'm going to do it."

The singer, an only child, said he would "hate to leave my mother and father."

Presley, who got his start playing and singing in north Mississippi, would draw $78 a month as an Army private. He has earned as much as $50,000 for a single "live performance."

The young performer, who will be 23 in January, said he would "go along" with Paramount's efforts to obtain a deferment. "I know they have lots of money in the picture, but I am not going to ask for any special favors for myself," he said.

Furr's Slates 'Replacement' Store Here

Furr Food has announced plans for a "replacement store" in Pampa along with new stores and additions in several cities in the Southwest.

Loss of its Furr's Super Market in Lamesa recently, when the building was destroyed by fire, will slow down but little the projected expansion of Furr's during 1958. Roy Furr, president of Furr's, Inc., announced.

Plans are being laid for the rebuilding of a new market in Lamesa. The store was razed on the morning of Dec. 6, a total loss. Whether the new building will go up on the present Furr's property or whether a new site will be chosen, remains to be determined.

Ahead in the plans for Furr's are possibly 16 new stores for 1958, a net gain of possibly 10 stores, what with possibly a half dozen planned to replace present stores, Furr said.

Last 1957 Opening
Furr's closed 1957 openings with the addition of a store in Amarillo in November. This was a large unit, some 24,000 square feet in area. Just previous to this opening, the Big Spring super market opened in middle November, a unit of some 22,000 square feet. Other openings during 1957 were the 26th and Boston unit in Amarillo.

Under construction now are three stores: the Beverly Shopping Center store in Amarillo; the Venetian Village Shopping Center unit in Colorado Springs, Colo.; and the unit in Odessa, a 25,000-square foot store. Actually, another unit is being built in the Odessa Springdale Addition, a new cafeteria, the second for that city for Furr's. The Amarillo store will be ready for business in early January while Furr's will open in the doors of the Colorado Springs store in February or March, Furr said.

More Are Planned
On the "board" are stores in Las Cruces, N.M. (its first there); two more in Colorado Springs; replacement in Pampa, a new unit in Abilene, two in El Paso and two in Denver, Colo. Possibles are in Midland, Roswell, N.M., and Lubbock. Sites are owned in the latter two towns with development a good bit away, Furr said.

The addition of the 10 new stores in 1958 will throw the number to past the 60 mark. Just several weeks ago, Furr's sold the four Ft. Worth and one Wichita Falls stores to the Wyatt Food Stores of Dallas.

Headquarters for Furr's is Lubbock, with seven stores, general warehouses, egg and creamery departments and packing plant. Amarillo has eight stores, El Paso seven, Denver four, Pueblo, Colo., and Albuquerque, N.M., three, Colorado Springs and Odessa, two and one single stores in Hereford, Borger, Pampa, Levelland, Plainview, Brownfield, Monahans, Midland, Big Spring, Littlefield, Snyder and Abilene in Texas and Hobbs, Roswell and Clovis in New Mexico and Guymon, Okla.

SOUTH AFRICAN VISITORS—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wenning, students in the Central Bible Institute in Springfield, Mo., will be spending their first Christmas in America in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harmon of Pampa. The Wenning's have been in America since August and plan to stay for at least five more years in order to complete their Religious Education. Both of the Wenning's were born and raised in South Africa as were their parents. Residents of that area find life much like that in America. (News Photo)

Pampa Holiday Visitors Are From South Africa

By ALETHA DAVIS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Pampans who have had the privilege of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wenning of Johannesburg, South Africa, were no doubt surprised to find that they are residents of one of the most American-like cities in the world.

According to the Wenning's, the territory of South Africa is very civilized and the lions and natives that are shown in "Tarzan" and "Ramar of the Jungle" are actually in a giant national park in Central Africa known as Krugers National Park, probably the most thickly inhabited area for wild animals.

True enough, big game hunters go to Africa; but, the perils and dangers have been somewhat exaggerated. There are no known villages of natives that have not been reached by civilization and the majority of them are working in mines and industries for the government and free enterprises.

Michael and Freda Wenning were born and raised in South Africa as were their parents. Michael's father is manager for the railroad, which is under supervision of the government. In 1910, the South African government declared that all railroads be under supervision of the government.

The gold industry is the largest in the world with diamonds, sheep and citrus fruits close behind in the export line. There is a Ford plant, Sherwin-Williams Paint Plant and various other American-owned industries operating in that particular area.

Nearly everyone they have met, according to the Wenning's, has a thought that Africans are natives who go around hunting lions with a spear when actually they are "just as civilized and educated as persons in America are." Schools are privately owned for boys and girls and they do not go to school together until they reach college. Girls' schools all have a "brother school" which is attended by boys in the neighborhood. No one dates until the senior year of high school or upon graduation. The final activity of the seniors is to have a party which includes the girls and boys from their brother school.

All students wear uniforms which designate their school by the color and emblem.

The average family in South Africa has at least two servants who do the work and gardening. Usually a girl is hired to do, the house work and a boy to take care of the cars and garden and yard. Much as Americans are called Americans, the South Africans are called Africans. Actually they are descendants of Dutch, English, French and Irish, and other colonists from Europe as most American people are.

Wenning attended the Brea Bible Institute Seminary in Kroomstad which, translated, means that he is a Religious Education major classified as a junior at the Central Bible Institute in Springfield, Mo., where Mrs. Wenning is a freshman student. They plan to stay in America five or six years before returning to their homeland where they will teach.

They left Johannesburg aboard a cargo ship which 25 days later docked in Mobile, Ala., the first call port, and they had to travel from there to Springfield where they know no one. The first person to offer directions and aid was a girl from Texas," states Mrs. Wenning.

They soon met and became friends with Shirley Harmon, a freshman student from Pampa, and in September began their studies at the college.

Miss Harmon has the Wenning's as Christmas Holiday guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harmon, Cole Lease.

Michael and Freda state they love Texas hospitality and warmth they have received in Pampa and the Harmon home. "Mrs. Harmon bakes the most wonderful sweets and pies," says Freda Wenning, who finds American cooking only slightly different than that of her home country. The South Africans call soda pop "minerals," cookies "biscuits," biscuits "scones," and various other items of very odd names to Americans. Their first Christmas in America will be spent here in Pampa and they seem very enthusiastic about the activities and demands of the holidays in America. They have numerous engagements at which to speak and show the many slides and pictures they have available from their home.

The Wenning's have a very interesting story to tell and readily admit that upon landing in America, they believed that Texans wore spurs and carried guns on the streets!

EYE ON FUTURE—Properly equipped with a "Sputnik Spotter" cap with a "radar" top, 3-year-old Barbara Sauro of Franklin Park, N.J., is prepared in case any old satellite comes her way. By the time Barbara grows up, experts predict space travel will be old stuff to her.

Eels Travel Long Distances To Breed; Offspring Return

Science Today
By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Imagine the astonishment of a scientist when a newly captured eel turned out to belong to the most mysterious of the eel families, Anguilla Obscura.

If you were a scientist and had been in his place, you would have been astonished, too. He was in South Africa; his specimen had been taken in the headwaters of a South African river.

But Anguilla obscura is a Pacific Ocean eel. Never before had one of them been taken west of New Guinea, which is some 7,000 miles east and north of South Africa.

Dr. R. A. Jubbs, ichthyologist of Rhodes University, Grahamstown, South Africa, reported the find.

Travel Far To Breed
Science had known eels travel great distances to breed and their offspring, while still in larval form, repeat those journeys in going to the places where their parents came from.

But science hadn't known the distances could be anything even approaching 7,000 miles — 2,000 to 3,000 miles are the established routine distances for family-minded eels and the resulting young.

For instance, the common American eel (Anguilla Chryssal) go no farther than the waters southeast and south of Bermuda after leaving the coastal rivers in which they spent their adult lives.

Perpetuating the eel is a fatal business for eels. That triggers the desire is unknown. After a number of years of growing and maturing in fresh water, eels suddenly stop eating.

Fat Provides Eel's Energy
They're gorged with their own fat, even to the point of changing their color. These "silver eels" slip down the rivers into the sea. Their fat provides the energy for a long journey and for breeding, and then they die.

Their larvae are tiny and transparent which preserved them from enemies. They spread out over the ocean, feeding on animals smaller than they. Slowly they grow as slowly they cover distances. Suddenly they shrink

Baptists Add New Churches

DALLAS (UP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas added 70 new churches in 1957, convention leaders reported today.

Total membership rose to 1,500,000 during the year and church members gave more than $76 million to support their church activities.

The convention's 3,754 congregations baptized 61,813 converts and registered an average Sunday School attendance of 363,602.

Texas Baptist property and assets in the state now total more than $441 million dollars, the report said.

and stretch out and become evers—little eels. By then they are near a coast and up the rivers they go, to grow and mature and eventually become silver eels which repeat the process.

Sports Roundup

By CHARLES CULLIN Pampa News Sports Editor

It looks like the powers in the District 3-4A basketball race will be Berger and Pampa again this year, with Plainview also offering a strong threat to the Harvesters title defense.

After Pampa and Childress played a close game in their initial tilt of the season and Berger had defeated the Bobcats three times with little trouble, it looked like the Bulldogs were unusually powerful. But the Harvesters came back last week to soundly trounce Childress, 75-48. Berger has three returning starters from last year. Guard Billy Brown, the lone returning starter from last year, led the Harvesters in scoring, prior to the Lawton tournament, with 133 points. This gave him an average of 16 points per game. Running a close second to Brown was center Mack Layne with a 115 point total, averaging 14 points per game. For the remaining starters, Stephenson had 107 points through 110. Coyle Winborn had 107 and Bobby Gindorf had 67.

The District opener for Pampa is Jan. 7 at home against the Sandies. THE GOLDEN GLOVES is just over the hill and Pampa is coming up with one of the strongest teams of recent years. Matches have been held with some of the outstanding fighters of the Panhandle and South Plains area and the Pampa sluggers have lost only one evening of bouts, that being to Clovis, N.M. in matches held away from home. They have won seven team victories, including a win over the Clovis team in matches held in Pampa. Scheduled for Jan. 16-18, the Golden Gloves will be held in the junior high gymnasium.

Returning champions from last year's gloves meet in the novice division are Bobby Williams, Gary Wills and Charles Snyder. Returning from the open division is Gary Wilhelm, in the 136 pound bracket.

Wilhelm went on last year to win the Amarillo regional tournament and rank as runner-up in the Fort Worth State tournament. In addition to last year's champions returning this year, Jim Murray ranks as one of the outstanding entries at 145 pounds and Charles Coffee, last year's runner-up at 118 pounds will be a strong contender at 135.

AT 115 POUNDS in the novice division will be Lucky Dunham, a fast-improving slugger who has gone through the season without defeat. Well known to Pampanians in the middle weight open division will be Bobby Wilhelm, who though not able to compete in Pampa last year, ranks as one of the top fighters in the state.

The Pampa district tourney, along with meets in Plainview, Berger and Hereford will precede the regional meet in Amarillo. HEREFORD WILL HOLD its district tourney Jan. 6-7. Berger will follow on Jan. 9-11 and Plainview has four nights scheduled, Jan. 14-17. The regional tournament in Amarillo is set for Jan. 21-25. Coaches of other area teams believe the Panhandle is well equipped to send many boys to the state meet in Fort Worth who are capable of winning their weights. Some of the names most frequently mentioned are Scooter Darden of Berger, Marie Johnson and Wesley Hudson of Amarillo, Gary and Bobby Wilhelm of Pampa.

Houston Rodeo No Longer Sanctioned

DENVER, Dec. 21 (UP)—The Rodeo Cowboys Association of America today removed its sanction of the rodeo at the Houston Tex. Fat Stock Show and under the rules none of the nation's top rodeo hands will perform there.

Last year the Houston rodeo was the second largest in the world. Lex Conroy, secretary of the RCA, said the action was taken because directors of the Houston event refused to increase prize money. "For the past two seasons the Houston rodeo has put up a purse of $28,000 for 19 performances," the RCA said. "According to Herman Engel, general manager of the stock show rodeo, gate receipts... have been slightly more than $500,000 a year for the past two years."

"Costs of producing the rodeo portion of the stock show in 1957 were $202,000, leaving a profit from the rodeo of $300,000. The rodeo must pay the expenses of the whole stock show."

The RCA said originally the cowboys asked for an increase of $1,000 each performance—$12,000—and then reduced the request to a total of $9,500. "The RCA said the rodeo committee rejected the requests and made no counter offer. "For the last two years the money paid the contestants by the rodeo has amounted to only 7.5 per cent of the gate receipts. "We don't mind their paying for the fat stock show out of money they make off the rodeo which is made possible by the cowboys. But we think the contestants are entitled to a fair share of the gate. Less than eight per cent is hardly a fair share," the RCA said.

Harvesters Sweep Lawton Tournament

Defeat Duncan In Opening Night Encounter, 57-48

The Pampa Harvesters gained their berth in the final championship game of the Lawton tourney Friday night when they swept past Duncan, Okla., 57-48. The Duncan quintet held the Harvesters in tow through the first half, playing to a 19-19 first quarter and a 31-28 first half score. The Pampa offensive began rolling with the beginning of the third period and the teams went into the final with Pampa leading, 45-35.

Coyle Winborn paced the Pampa offensive attack by netting 15 points for the evening, sinking seven field goals in 12 attempts. Trailing one point behind Winborn was Bill Brown, who pitched 14 points for the night. Heading the scoring column for the Duncan five was Venable, who scored in 17 points, followed by Brown and Jennings with eight points each. Operating with more accuracy from the field, the Harvesters hit 19 field goals in 39 attempts while Duncan managed 20 in 49 attempts. Pampa also came out far ahead in the free throw department as they dropped 19 of 27 shots compared to eight of 16 for the Oklahomans.

Crozier Tech of Dallas took the second game of the Friday evening double-header, 46-33 over the hosting Lawton team to move into the final against the Harvesters.

Nederland Clips Sweetwater For AAA State Grid Crown

By LLOYD LARRABEE United Press Sports Writer NEDERLAND, Tex., Dec. 21 (UP)—Nederland's fighting Bulldogs, thwarted from reaching the throne room for four years, came from behind tonight to trounce Sweetwater 20-7 and win their first Class AAA high school football championship. The Bulldogs, behind 7-6 after three quarters, swept to two touchdowns in the final period with end James Street playing a hero in the victory as he blocked a Sweetwater punt at the Mustangs' 42 that set up the winning marker.

An overflow crowd of 7,500 saw Nederland push ahead early in the first period but fall one point behind due to the efforts of James Parker, a left-handed passer and right footed kicker, who threw a 24-yard touchdown pass to end Jackie Fielder midway in the third quarter, then kick the extra point. But Street blocked a punt by Parker early in the final period and, nine plays later, bulldozing fullback Gary Thacker shot two yards to score and provide Nederland with its margin of victory.

The Bulldogs added an insurance touchdown with only five seconds left in the game when quarterback Roger Riestra bounced over from the 1 at the end of a 40-yard march. It was Riestra's second touchdown, after plunging over from the 1 early in the first quarter when Nederland capitalized on a Sweetwater fumble to take a 6-0 lead. The fumble, by Parker, was recovered by halfback Mike Johnson, who played a key part in Nederland's offensive with slashing ground gains. Nederland, while winning 59 games, losing only 4 and tying 3 over the past 5 years, had to wait until tonight to win the crown. The Bulldogs went to the finals last year but lost 3-0 to Garland and were knocked out of the quarterfinals level the three previous years.

The 27-year-old Kush became one of the youngest head coaches in the modern grid history of Arizona State. He also was one of the youngest coaches appointed for a major school in the nation.

Brown Leads Voting For All-Star Team

By EARL WRIGHT NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (UP)—Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns today became the first rookie ever to lead the voting for the annual United Press national football league all-star team.

Brown received 27 votes for fullback and two for halfback, collecting 29 of a possible 31 votes for the 1947 team. The mythical two-platoon team was selected by 31 sports writers who covered the campaign in the 11 league cities. Brown, one of the few All-American players ever to make an outstanding showing as a first-year professional, won the league rushing title with 942 yards. He averaged 4.7 yards on 202 rushes, and set a single-game rushing high of 237 yards against the Los Angeles Rams Nov. 24.

Pampa 8th, 9th Graders Down Lefors

Pampa's combined seventh and eighth grade basketball quintet swept to a victory Friday afternoon as they downed the Lefors Pirates' eighth graders, 24-19. Facing the Pampa team to the win was Robby Robinson, who poured through eight points for the evening, followed by Charles Fant and Butch Crossland with six points each.

Coached by Bob Reynolds, the teams next tilt is slated for Jan. 7 against Berger.

Highland Park Stuns Port Arthur

Scotties Stage Third-Period Comeback For 21-9 Victory

By LLOYD LARRABEE United Press Sports Writer PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Dec. 21 (UP)—Highland Park's favored Scotties, powered by the flash play of backs Bobby Reed, Jackie Collins and Reed Johnson, overcame a 9-0 deficit today with a driving finish to conquer Port Arthur 21-9 and capture the Class AAAA high school football championship.

Collins had a perfect day in the conversion department with three. Reed accounted for Highland Park's first touchdown late in the third period, pulling the Scotties to a 9-7 deficit, when he bounced over from the 1 on the payoff end of a 10-play, 59-yard drive.

For the Scotties, the victory which was made possible last week when Highland Park upset Abilene with a 20-20 tie and went to the finals by virtue of penetrations, dampening a 49-game unbeaten string by the West Texas team.

After a dull first half on a muddy field, the third period opened on a bizarre note of the kickoff as Scot back Stinson Jones took the ball on his 10, faked back into the end zone before a wave of Port Arthur pursuers, and was tackled there by center Clarence Bray for a Port Arthur safety.

Port Arthur's touchdown also came on a mishandled kick by the Scotties.

Second-string quarterback Windell Hebert punted to the Scotties 5, where Collins took it and faked a handoff to Johnson. But the ball squirted away and alert guard Mickey Walker grabbed it for a Yellowjacket touchdown.

Halfback Melvin Borel converted.

Highland Park scoring: Touchdowns, Reed (1, plunge); Johnson (57, interception runback); Collins (26, run). Conversions, Collins 3.

Terrell Mangles Brady, 41-6, For State AA Football Title

By UNITED PRESS Terrell's Tigers wore the state Class AA schoolboy football crown Saturday as six other clubs squawked away in a trio of battles hoping to give their towns a similar Christmas present.

Central High Puts 3 On All-Southern

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 21 (UP)—Central High School of Little Rock, Ark., placed three men on the annual All-Southern prep football squad of 60 players announced today.

Clash for the Class A title at Waco. Tonight Nederland entertains Sweetwater in the Class AAAA championship struggle.

The All-Southern squad, plus 72 honorable mention players, was drawn from a 12-state area on the basis of five from each state. A panel of 123 coaches and sports-writers participated in the 38th annual poll, with 10 scouts assisting each state chairman.

Terrell Backs Romp Highland Park and Nederland were 10-point favorites, while the Class A battle was rated a toss-up.

The squad was announced by Bob Howard, sports editor of the sponsoring Orlando Sentinel-Star and general chairman of the All-Southern selection board.

None of the remaining finals was expected to be as lopsided as Friday night's fiasco in which Terrell's zealous backs ran wild for two touchdowns in each of the first three periods before Vineyard started flooding the game with reserves.

It was the first time since 1951 that a single team has placed more than two men on the squad. Brookhaven, Miss., was the only other team landing more than one player with two men on the squad.

Brady's lone score came against reserves on a 12-play, 65-yard march capped by Gordon McBride's one-yard sneak.

The complete squad of 34 backs and 26 linemen included: Arkansas — Bruce Fullerton, 185, back, Little Rock Central; Ronnie Barris, 185, back, Texas; Bill Hicks, 190 end, Little Rock, Central; Billy Moore, 160, back, Little Rock Central; Elmer Lindsey, 153, back, Forrest City.

Brady was hampered offensively after quarterback Royce Blackburn went out with a broken leg on the final play of the first quarter, but it is doubtful if the Bulldogs could have stemmed the Terrell touchdown tide if he had played all the way.

Honorable mention for Arkansas — Ronnie Pyle, back Catholic High of Little Rock; Bill May, tackle, Little Rock Central; Ray Woodard, end, Magnolia; Ed Weldon, back, Osceola, Robert Johnston, tackle, Pine Bluff, Sonny Holmes, back, Forrest City.

One yard plunges by fullback Tommy Waggoner and his understudy, Walt Dickerson, gave Terrell its final two touchdowns in the third quarter.

TEXAS — Jesse McGuire, 165, Plainview; David Russell, 160, back, Amarillo; Bilo Haregreve, still wasn't as great as in 1952 when the Tigers whipped Yoakum 61-13 in the finals.

Brady's offense score came against reserves on a 12-play, 65-yard march capped by Gordon McBride's one-yard sneak.

White Oak, Mart Co-Champions After Deadlocked 7-7 Battle

WACO, Dec. 2 (UP)—White Oak fullback Roy Bruce galloped 71 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown today to give the Roughnecks a 7-7 deadlock with Mart in the class A schoolboy football finals.

White Oak threatened twice late in the game, thanks to a pair of pass interceptions by Bruce. The 185-pound Roughneck fullback intercepted a wayward Mart aerial to Mart's 15 with 2:04 left in the game, but the White Oak offense bogged down at the 11 and a fourth-down field goal attempt by all-state end David Alexander was wide.

Panthers took the second-half kickoff and drove 73 yards in 13 plays with fullback David Mc-Gaughy sparking the drive. Mc-Gaughy carried eight times for 46 yards and sprinted around right end for the final nine yards and the score. Bub Lehmann's conversion was good.

Mart held the upper hand going into the final period, holding a 7-0 lead as the result of a 73-yard scoring march early in the third period. But White Oak aroused its offense in the final period, gambled on a fourth-down try at its own 29, and Bruce burst over right guard and sprinted 71 yards for the White Oak touchdown. Bob Wayt added the conversion with 4:04 remaining in the game.

Longhorns Face Exceptional Speed In Mississippi Team

EDITORS NOTE: This is the sixth of 10 dispatches on the football bowl teams. The dispatches will cover the teams in the Gator, Orange, Rose, Sugar and Cotton Bowls.

By LOYD LARRABEE
United Press Sports Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Coach Darrell Royal singled out Mississippi's speed today as the biggest hurdle his rejuvenated, "make-the-breaks" Texas Longhorns will face in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day.

"They have a real fine, all-round attack, and they have as much team speed as any team we've faced," said the former Oklahoma star who brought Texas' football fortunes out of the depths in one season.
Royal, in his first season at Texas, guided the sophomore-laden Longhorns to a 6-3-1 record and a second-place finish in the Southwest Conference, after a dismal 1956 mark of 1-9, worst in history. The youthful coach achieved the comeback with a fleet of sophomore backs, bolstered by a senior line, the old-fashioned fundamentals of hard blocking and tackling, and Royal's forte—the quick kick.

Eleven sophomores are represented on the first two teams, and six of them — quarterback Bobby Lackey, halfbacks George Blanch, Max Alvis and Rene Ramirez and fullbacks Mike Dowdle and Don Allen — share much of the credit for the team's showing.

The Hogs wrapped Missouri scorers up in a tight man-to-man defensive pattern, then wore them down in the second half. Arkansas led only 25 - 23 at intermission.

By RICHARD VOUMARD

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 21 (UP) — Mervyn Lincoln of Australia won a battle of four-minute milers from Stanislav Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia today in 4:05.7.

Lincoln, running his usual tactical race, roared from behind with a 55.7-second last lap at Olympic Park to beat John Murray of South Melbourne by 18 yards.

Jungwirth, making his last appearance of an Australian tour, finished third, another five yards behind, in 4:08.4. Murray's time was 4:07.7.

The meet was watched by American tennis star Herb Flam and a disappointingly small crowd of Jungwirth, making his last appearance of an Australian tour, finished third, another five yards bers of the old All-America Conference. It would mark the first time that two teams from that abandoned loop met in the NFL finals.

You can understand why the players want San Francisco to win. Where would you rather play: In sunny San Francisco or in Detroit, where a blizzard well could shiver the timbers of the Dec. 29 finals?

Erskine's Arm Improves
Carl Erskine, once the most dependable pitcher Brooklyn had, says that his arm is in the best shape it has been for two years and that next season he has every hope of coming all the way back.

"Olskin" was only 31 last week and it was a Brooklyn tragedy when the man from Anderson, Ind., pitched only 66 innings last season for a lowly 5-3 record. A bad arm knocked him off and Carl, one of baseball's nice guys, was only a shadow of the pitcher who won 20 in 1953 and struck out 14 Yankees for a one-game World Series record. If he doesn't make it this time, with his arm "feeling good," it looks like the end of the road.

Still turning out top horses, he is four months older than another thoroughbred lover named Winston Churchill. "You just have to stay active," he says.

Walt vs. Buzzy
There's a wide difference of opinion between Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, and vice president Buzzy Bavasi as to where the team should play this season.

Bavasi's theory is that the team should play in Wrigley Field, capacity 25,000, and that the fans shut out while the Dodgers await the construction of a new stadium would create a future demand for tickets.

O'Malley figures that it's worth the estimated $300,000 or more it will take to get the Rose Bowl in shape because more fans will be created by seeing the team play. O'Malley being the boss, can you guess which one will win?

Pampa Boxers Defeat Dumas Tusla Sluggers Slated For Forthcoming Team Matches

Pampa's Optimist Club boxing team slugged its way to another match victory Friday night as they swept seven of nine bouts held with the Dumas team in Recreation Park's arena.

Swinging to TKO's among the Pampa fighters were Norman Rexroat over David Parsons and John Mathis over Charlie Jameson.

In the 146 pound bracket, Rexroat scored heavily in the first round with a fast crushing series of blows to daze his opponent in the early moments of the battle. Parsons didn't come out for the second round.

At 92 pounds, Mathis tagged the technical over Jameson 122" deep into the final round. After a near-even first round, Mathis began gaining and took a strong second round before the rugged finale.

In one of the top decision matches of the night Charles Coffee battled over Ronnie Dow of the Dumas squad in the 135 pound division. Known for a powerful sweeping right, Coffee dazed his opponent in both the second and third rounds, taking a strong victory over the Dumas slugger.

At 145 pounds, Robert Bigham of Pampa lost a decision to Ronnie Dow of the Dumas team. Bigham displayed power in the hard-swinging bout but was outpointed through the final two rounds.

At 146 pounds, Gary Wills added one of the top fights of the evening as he defeated John Burton of the Dumas team. Giving ten points in the battle, Wills took all three rounds in the hard-swinging fray.

In the last match of the night, Jim Murray of Pampa powered his

Hubcap Sweeps Handicap

CORAL ABLES, Fla., Dec. 21 (UP)—The Elkcam Stables' Hubcap, overlooked by the crowd of 10,512 in favor of the more highly-regarded juvenile pair of Bolero U. and Jimmer, showed plenty of speed today in scoring a front-running two-length victory in the $11,675 Dade County Handicap at Tropical Park.

Counter Spy, representing the Wheatley Stable, made a determined bid in the stretch run, but had to settle for second place, finishing a scant head before Bolero U., owned by John A. Nerud. It was only a nose farther back to Greek Chief, who in turn finished a nose in front of Jimmer, the 2 to 5 favorite. Bolero U. was the second choice at 3 to 1.

Hubcap, taking the lead at the start of the six furlong spin, responded well to Sammy Boulmet's urging and stayed on top all the way. Entering the stretch, Hubcap, a brown gelding, led by two lengths and easily fought off Counter Spy, Bolero U., Greek Chief and Jimmer.

Carrying 117 pounds, Hubcap sprinted the distance in 1:10 4/5 over a fast strip and rewarded his backers with a $10.10, $3.20 and $4.40 payoff. It was the horse's second straight win and fourth in 14 starts.

Vital Statistics For Forthcoming Week Of College Football Bowls

By FRAN KLITSKY
United Press Sports Writer

The college football bowl season hits its stride next week with four games topped by the Gator Bowl battle between Texas A&M and Tennessee.

The vital statistics:

Wednesday—North favored by one point over the South in the Shrine Game at the Miami Orange Bowl. (No TV; Mutual Radio at 7:05 p.m. est.)

Saturday—Texas A&M favored by three points over Tennessee in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. (CBS TV at 12:45 p.m. est.)

Saturday—Gray favored by two points over the Blue at Montgomery, Ala. (NBC TV and Radio at 12:45 p.m. est.)

Saturday—East favored by nine points over the West in the Shrine game at San Francisco. (NBC TV and Radio at 3:45 p.m. est.)

The Gator Bowl game will mark Paul (Bear) Bryant's farewell to Texas A&M. Before he leaves two days later to take over as head coach at Alabama, his Aggie team (8-2 this year) features Player-of-the-Year John Crow at halfback, Charlie Krueger at tackle and a 15-pound-per-man advantage in the line. But the Aggies also are shy on reserves and lost the last two games of the season because their grinding ground game had left their iron men too tired.

Gordon Superb Punter

Tennessee, 7-3 this season but 3-7 in previous bowl appearances, operates out of a traditional single wing. Tailback Bobby Gordon, the key man, is a fine runner, fair passer and superb punter. Tennessee used the punt—especially a quick kick—as an offensive weapon. Its backs are seasoned and its line especially adept at blocking.

Five members of the United Press All-America team will play for the East in the San Francisco Shrine game. They are halfback Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State, ends Jimmy Phillips of Auburn and tackles Alex Karras of Iowa and tackles ALEX Karras of Iowa and Lou Michaels of Kentucky.

While East Coach Rip Engle of Penn State probably will stick to the ground, West Coach Jack Curtice of Utah readily concedes he will use a wide-open passing attack. His quarterbacks, all good passers, are Jack Douglas of

Bolo To Oppose Curtis In Tomorrow Night's Wrestling

Highlighting tomorrow night's matches at the Sportsman Club wrestling will be the Great Bolo opposing Don Curtis in a two out of three fall battle in the main event. The top bout is slated for a one-hour time limit.

In the second event, the feminine wrestlers will be featured as Judy Grable encounters Peggy Allen in another two-out-of-three fall battle, limited to 45 minutes.

Bringing in the opening match will be Tommy Phelps battling Alex Perez in a one-fall clash, limited to 20 minutes.

Held each Monday evening at 8:30, the wrestling is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine. The Sportsman Club is located one mile south of town on the Letors highway. Admission is $1.00 for ringside; $1.25 for reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission adult and 50 cents for general admission children.

Rains To Hamper Playoff Tilt Between Lions And 49ers

BY HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21 (UP)—The rains came to San Francisco today and the forecast is "goosey going" when the Forty Niners tangle with the Detroit Lions in the play-off game Sunday for the western division championship of the National Professional Football League.

Despite the inclement weather, a sell-out of nearly 60,000 fans is assured for Kezar Stadium at kick-off time, 3 p.m. est. There will be national television (CBS), but a local blackout for 150 miles.

While the game rates as strictly a toss-up in the minds of both Coach George Wilson of Detroit and Frankie Albert of San Francisco, the gambler have taken a different view. They have installed the Forty Niners as three and one-half point favorites.

"It should be an even-up game," says Albert. "It all depends on who gets the breaks." Wilson concurred.

It is Wilson's opinion, however, that the wet going will aid the San Francisco club.

"With two heavy runners like Gene Babb and Joe Perry in the lineup," said Wilson, "the Forty Niner ground attack ought to be stronger than ours."

He failed to elaborate on the statement or to discuss why San Francisco's men should run better in the mud than his own famed ball-packers, Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy and John Henry Johnson, who is a former local boy who has seen plenty of rain in the winter.

Most observers believe that the game will be decided via the air waves. One thing the mud may do is to make Tobin Rote, Detroit quarterback, stay in the "pocket." Rote, second highest ground-gainer on the Lion squad, is noted as a pass-run option performer and he may find the slippery footing makes it tough to escape tacklers if he leaves the "cup."

Title To Stay In 'Cup'

On the other hand, Forty Niner quarterback Y. A. Tittle, already more-or-less immobilized by injuries as far as running is concerned, had planned to stay in the "cup" anyway.

The Detroit team that will start on the offensive will be missing three of its regulars. Charley Ane, veteran halfback, will be sidelined by leg injuries and his place taken by rookie Ken Russell, who weighs as much as Ane, but lacks the experience. Gene Gedman, the regular left-half, also is sidelined with injuries and in his spot probably will go end Jim Doran. That will move end David Middleton up to the left end spot. The other regular, quarterback Bobby Layne, is out for the year, of course, with a broken leg.

Meanwhile, San Francisco will be at its strongest for the game. There even is hope that the great offensive guard, returns to duty after weeks on the side-lines.

By S. V. WHITEHORN

For months the foursome had planned the quail hunt. That cool damp morning they met at the Courthouse Cafe at five, had breakfast and left for the ranch just as the sun was rising. Eight o'clock found them inside the ranch taking their shotgun from the cases, putting on their hunting coats and boots. The dogs were released and two of them hunted down the creek while the other two headed in the opposite direction. Frank and Jim were the two that had decided to hunt down the creek. In less than thirty minutes Frank's liver and white pointer "locked up" on point and Jim's orange and white setter made a perfect "honor or back" from the top of a sand mound about one hundred feet away. Frank moved at a steady pace and walked in front of the pointing dog while Jim moved thirty feet to the north in the direction that he thought the birds would fly. It was a nice covey that boiled up from the weed patch. Frank dropped one of the birds instantly and crippled the other while Jim bagged two. The dogs had marked the three dead birds down and in short order were bounding up with the birds in their mouth. "Dead bird, dead birds in here, hunt dead, dead, careful now," said Frank to the two dogs as they searched for the cripple.

The pointer and setter searched for ten minutes or more and then the setter started cautiously "wind-ing" the north breeze and carefully made his way north for a hundred yards before he front on point near a sage clump. "Old sport's got him nailed," spoke up Jim. Sport held the bird perfectly and when Jim gave the command "high on" he quickly moved into the sage and retrieved the bobwhite. "Some nose old Sport has," spoke up Frank. Sport had smelled the quail for at least a hundred yards away and had proved this much in the fact that he went straight to the bird. This made a total of four quail and the boys had hunted for nearly an hour and had been less than a quarter of a mile from the station wagon. After Sport had been given a friendly pat on the head, as a reward for his spectacular work, hunters proceeded on east. Two minutes later the pointer began to "make game." He knew that there was a covey in the area but hadn't located them. Two minutes later found the pointer locked up perfectly on point. This time about twenty bobs flushed and Frank made a triple (three quail with three shots) while Jim dropped two. The grass and vegetation was just less than knee high and the cover was thick. Frank found one of his birds before the dogs retrieved the other. Four scented conditions were perfect, the weather was perfect, the birds plentiful. By the time the four met back at the station wagon for lunch and coffee they had a total of twenty-three birds.

Twenty minutes after lunch, four had "limited out" and were on their way. The above is just a pure pipe dream. It is the kind of a hunt one

Gorillas Win Small College Grid Title

By ROBERT S. McNEILL
United Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 21 (UP)—Pittsburg (Kan.) Teachers won the NAIA small college football title today by handing Hillsdale (Mich.) its first defeat in 84 starts, 27-26, in the first annual Holiday Bowl.

The Pittsburg Gorillas, punching their "ball on a pro" attack through the line with hard running backs, had to fight off a desperate aerial attack by Hillsdale in the second half which almost resulted in a deadlock.

Charles Norris, a shifty halfback, ran across two scores for Pittsburg and end Paul Crandall caught two passes from quarterback John Matous for the other two. Bill Samuels kicked three out of four extra points for Pittsburg, including the point after the fourth touchdown which was the margin of victory. The two teams were tied 20-20 in the third quarter.

Maison Sneaks Over

For Hillsdale, quarterback Doug Maison sneaked for one touchdown and passed for three others. Halfback Walt Poe caught two of the touchdown passes and fullback Earl O'Shaughnessy gathered in the other before a crowd of about 8,000.

An attempted conversion by Wayne O'Shaughnessy in the fourth period was wide and left Hillsdale behind one point.

Pittsburg opened the game with a ground attack that rocked the Dales. Three breaks helped the Kansas push across three first period touchdowns.

Pittsburg took Hillsdale's first kick, a short one, on the Dales' 35 and six plays later Norris bucked over from the one. Minutes later, one of Maison's passes was intercepted by Poe on the Hillsdale 35. It took only four plays to move the ball to the 10, from where Norris ran it over.

Seixas, MacKay To Pair For Matches With Australians

By ERIC RIEL
United Press Sports Writer

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 22 (Sunday).—(UP)—The United States Davis Cup tennis team enjoyed a day of rest today as Billy Talbert, the non-playing captain, made it almost definite that Barry MacKay would play against Australians.

The 22-year-old MacKay, a 6-3, husky lad from Dayton, Ohio, was expected to pair with 34-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia for singles in the challenge round against Australia here Dec. 26-28.

Talbert still seemed undecided about his doubles team although it appeared sure that he would choose from among Seixas, MacKay and 44-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.

Talbert singled out MacKay for praise as the Americans enjoyed their last day of rest before playing the heavily favored Aussies.

"MacKay is near peak form now and doesn't need any hard work," Talbert said. "The others are approaching top form although I still want them a little sharper."

MacKay, who won the U.S. intercollegiate title for the University of Michigan, never has seen a Davis Cup challenge round, let alone play in one. He also has little international experience. But he has a sharp power game and unlimited confidence which could cause trouble for the Aussies.

Should Talbert decide to pass up MacKay for singles, his only other available men are Mulloy and Ron Homberg of Brooklyn. Homberg, only 19, has even less experience than MacKay. Mulloy, who shares the Wimbledon doubles championship with Budge Patty, could not be expected to play three hard matches in three days at his age.

Mulloy's listless performance in doubles against Belgium in the Interzone final last week could bench him entirely for the challenge round. In that case, Seixas would pair with MacKay in doubles and those two would play all five matches in the three day series. However, a Seixas-Mulloy team seemed most likely.

RUTH MILLETT

In a hard-hitting article in the November Cosmopolitan magazine, Summer Ahlbum asks parents an embarrassing question: "Are You Afraid of Your Teen-Ager?"
It's an article parents can't afford to miss, for it is a real eye opener. In case you think it can't apply to you, how about giving yourself a quick check as a parent.
One: Do you sometimes say "yes" after a definite "no" when your teen-ager pleads, "But all the other kids are going?"
Two: Would you rather clean the garage or mow the lawn yourself than face the unpleasantness that results from telling Junior to do the job?
Three: If you have planned to use the car yourself, and at the last minute Junior announces that he simply has to have it because he has a date, do you meekly toss him the keys?
Four: If Sis says she has to have a new formal because "all the girls" are getting new dresses for a dance, do you get her one even though it is an utter extravagance and she has a dress that has nothing wrong with it except that she has already worn it to a couple of dances?
Five: Is your teen-ager's allowance just a handout rather than a reward for his assuming the responsibility for a few chores?
Six: Do you go along with your teen-ager's conviction that his social life is more important than yours, and that when there is a conflict his plans must always come first?
Seven: Do you inwardly cringe and wonder if he is right, when your teen-ager tells you that your ideas are old-fashioned or that you are ruining his life by making him abide by a few family rules?
Eight: Are you afraid to tell your teen-ager that if his grades aren't satisfactory his social life will have to be curtailed and stick by your ultimatum when he brings home a poor report card?
Nine: When your teen-ager shows disagreement for a teacher or other person in authority, do you shrug it off with, "Kids today just don't stand in awe of anyone?"
Ten: Do you let your teen-ager get by with vague answers to your questions as to where he is going and with whom, and when he will be home?
Answering those questions honestly ought to give you a pretty good idea of whether or not you are afraid of your own teen-ager.

were presented corsages of white carnations.
Gifts were displayed on a table decorated in the bride's chosen colors of red and white.
Guests were registered in the Bride's Book by Mrs. Claud Bigham.
The serving table was covered with an ivory lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums.
The cake, iced in red and white and decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was served with coffee, hot-chocolate, mints and nuts.
Guests were Misses: Tom Watson, Claude Bigham, Mack Hardin, Roy Lee, Jay Chisum, Edd Black, E. H. Hughes, Alfred Cates, Raymond Jones, C. M. Brunson, E. W. # Peg O' Pampa HECTIC is the word for this last week before Christmas and we love every minute of it... the figures of the Nativity Scene are up, now, in the park, and plans for Christmas Eve services are set... the children have written their letters to Santa Claus... the tree has regularly burned out three bulbs per evening... the dog has chewed into two packages under said tree... the cake we were baking to freeze for Christmas Day was a flop... and we had to bake another... it is all proceeding according to tradition... confusion rampant on a field of ribbon and wrapping paper.

THE THING ABOUT PAMPA is that when the women get their houses all decorated for the season... the parties begin... sometimes two and three a day... according to a comment we overheard... "I've been to two parties today and I'm getting ready to go to another this evening!"... it is exciting and wonderful, but a little hard on those who are trying to do a little shopping and package wrapping along with it all... Dottie Overton is introducing her new daughter-in-law Patricia, with a tea tomorrow... Mrs. Sam Malone... Mrs. Homer Johnson... Mrs. R. E. Batson, Jr... were hostesses at a series of Holiday Teas... the Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority had its annual Christmas Party... Mrs. Charles Meech, Mrs. D. V. Biggers, Mrs. Groom were hostesses... Varietas Club had their Christmas Party... Mrs. Charles Meech, Mrs. D. V. Biggers, and Mrs. Thelma Groom were hostesses... Varietas Club had their Christmas Party... all the clubs are having parties... Ann Heskew, who always has a party, nearly every day, it seems, during the holidays... has had many so far... and her home is beautifully decorated... She has a Swedish Christmas Tree... and a collection of Choir-singers made from bottles... and also a collection, charming appropriate... and beautiful... of china angels... her home is very different, rather quiet, and thoughtful, perhaps, would be the term to use, rather than flamboyant and lavish... it is truly one of the most beautifully decorated homes we have seen... and speaking of decorations... that Mrs. Bob Cury, Leith to her friends, has done it again... with her decorations... see at 1126 Charles... flashbulbs, no less, for grapes... and outside is a decoration using roses... from old hats, we suspect... we hear she has been collecting same for a project... for years, so it sounds reasonable... and the John Lee Bells on Hamilton have a large lighted star on their TV pole, we guess it is on the pole, we just saw it at night... and lots of pretty colored lights elsewhere outside... and the M. F. Waggoners have a tree in front of a mirror on a mantel, and from outside it looks as if they have two trees... very effective... and speaking of decorations... we went shopping for some odds and ends in Amarillo last week... and noticed that the Texaco refinery there has put colored light bulbs on one of its towers... very happy effect... and we should think it would be cheering for the men who work there, too.

LET'S TAKE A BREATH... didn't the toy manufacturers work fast... even before we had had a chance to explain the Sputniks and earth satellites in general to the kiddoes, there were toys on the market with satellites as their theme or reason for existence... even a pocket radio was revamped in a hurry to make it resemble a Sputnik... it seems to us that the toy-makers, to coin a word... must have had inside dope on the launching to be able to manufacture and distribute nationally, all those toys so soon... how does it seem to you... suspicious?... all kidding aside, perhaps we should be happy that the cowboy theme is still available... the space age is coming on so fast that it will not be many years before the days of the cowboy will be forgotten... as the days of the pantaloons have been, more or less, in the toy field... and when toys no longer celebrate a certain theme, it is usually forgotten except by adults.

OFF WE GO AGAIN... great gosh, we were reading about the "telemovie" project being thought about for pampa... this business of showing movies on TV does not make us quiver with too much fear that the movies will fade into the distance, never to be seen again... how in the ever-lovin' little-ole world are you going to get Cinema and CinemaScope into the TV screen... or the gorgeous colors... even color TV isn't as good as a rip-roarin' movie in CinemaScope... think of AROUND THE WORLDS IN 80 DAYS... even color TV isn't as good as a rip-roarin' plumb foolish... as long as they make Technicolor movies in CinemaScope, we'll go to the movies... if they will make the stories of the movies good... Bill Hunt and Helen Schafer worked hard and rewardingly with the students for the presentation of the play and songs at the high school auditorium the other night... the Thespians Troop 1010 and the A Capella Choir... it was a very good program... we saw the children acrosting Santa Claus on the streets downtown... Merle and Agnes Allen are new proud parents it's a boy... aren't the decorations on the Fire-Sub-Station No. 1 at 17th and Aspen sparkly and pretty... and didja notice the beautiful pictures in the windows of the grade school just beyond, on Duncan... Stephen F. Austin, isn't it?... Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brandt will be visiting with their daughter in California during the holidays... Mrs. Ira Gibson, of Lubbock, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Raymond Harrah... noticed that the W. G. Waggoners have started to build their house... we heard that Walter Cash is recuperating in the hospital... glad to hear he is getting better... Bev Fancher's parents are visiting here for the Christmas vacation, from California... Hilda and Ray Duncan's "littlest angel," Wendy, is quite a gal... cute little almost-toddler... we have heard so many wonderful comments and compliments on the decorations at the Country Club this year... Kitty Veale and her committee have done a "really fine work... the theme, "Music in the Air" is a good one to work with... especially at this time of year... there are gold-sprayed musical instruments cut-outs... and a stunning tree of white paper... the little barbershop quartet of bottles on the TV lends a charming note... Kitty is very talented... and has this year, with her committee, came up with some of the prettiest decorations ever to grace the Country Club... Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crouch... Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hickman, Jr... Mr. and Mrs. Finis Jordan... Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Kennedy... Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sidwell... Mr. and Mrs. Dan Williams... and Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Duncan are hosts and hostesses for a tea dance at the Country Club after Christmas... The Chester Thompson's entertained at the Club on Wednesday evening, for their daughter, Sue, on her 13th birthday... she's amongst the "Teen-Agers" now, a happy time for her... there was a real pinata from Mexico at the Parent Education Club party for members' children... we have been reading about the Mexican celebration of Las Posadas in the "Gordo" funny-strip it is a beautiful season...

Merry Christmas

If You're In Need Of Serving Counter, Press Sturdy Ironing Board Into Use

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA SRAFF Writer

If you're in need of a streamlined serving counter to free more floor space for guests at a holiday "open house," look to your sturdy ironing board for help.

Decked out in a gay holiday cover, an ironing board loses its workaday appearance and becomes a useful and decorative buffet from which to dispense a cup of punch and a snack or two.

Particularly suited to the holiday camouflage are covers made from inexpensive Christmas border prints of wreaths, poinsettias or similar motifs. These, printed in bright clear shades, are sufficiently colorful to rule out the need for fancy table decorations—another time- and space-saving factor.

The fabrics are sanforized and can be stitched up as they come from the bolt without fear of future shrinkage after washing.

Prints suggest the pattern and design of the cover. As an example, experts at the Singer Home Sewing Center selected a wreath print. The curve of the wreaths along the border suggest a scalloped hemline and three wreaths, stiffened with pellaon, were applied to the front as pockets for napkins.

Here's how to make a cover you can use for many Christmases to come:

Use shelf paper to make a pattern of the top of the ironing board.

Cut out, allowing 1/2-inch all around for seams. Measure circumference of board, adding 24 inches for pleats at sides and 14 inches for board tapers. Fabric is used lengthwise so border print is placed along the bottom.

Cut out two or three wreaths for pockets, leaving plenty of seam allowance. Cut out top section. Sew skirt seams together.

Baste pleats and stitch in place. Baste skirt to top piece and stitch.

Put cover on ironing board and mark hemline at deepest point of scallops. Use a saucer or plate to trace scallop outlines on wrong side of fabric.

Pin strip of pellaon about 12 inches wide to right side of fabric. Cut fabric and pellaon together along line of scallops. Stitch 1/2-inch from edge. Trim seam and clip.

Turn pellaon to wrong side and catch stitch at top. Outline scallops in flat, red braid. The pellaon facing gives more body to the hemline.

Wreath pockets are stiffened with pellaon and lined with fabric. Trace around outline of wreaths as well as Kodacolor and black and white. A top value flash outfit.

CHILDREN'S PARTY—The Parent Education Club entertained the member's children with a Christmas party on Tuesday afternoon in the City Club Room. Mrs. Jack P. Foster, back to camera, conducted the game session. The picture was snapped immediately following the breaking of a gay Santa Pinata and the children are opening the gifts that were contained therein.

MATURE PARENT Mrs. Nace Hostess To OES Gavel Club

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Eight-year-old Bess dislikes her chore of putting supper dishes away. So one evening as she went about it, she flipped on the kitchen radio. Out of it noise rocked and rolled.

From the living room her father shouted, "Shut that thing off!"

Later her little brother Ted lost a marble under their father's chair and refused to go to bed until he found it. Maddened by the persistent wriggling under the chair in which he was trying to read his paper, his father grabbed him. Saying, "I told you to go upstairs to Mother," he cuffed the boy on his rear. He had lifted his hand for a second spank when Bess burst into furious attack.

"You stop hitting Ted, Daddy!" she yelled. "I'm going right up stairs and tell Mother on you. I'm going up right now and tell her what a mean, cruel father you are!"

Then she fled, Ted howling behind her.

Her father had had a hard day. Shaken, he thought yearningly of South Sea Islands where a man could live untroubled by go-getting vice presidents in charge of sales and by daughters who thought you such a brute that they had to protect little brothers against you.

It happens to us all. After a while we lose awe of this noble championship. We begin to understand that the child who rushes so indignantly to the defense of brother or sister resembles some adult champions of the underdog.

We remember that these high-minded grownups are apt to be people who find personal defense very difficult and, like Bess, need the glow of intense humanitarian sympathy with the other fellow's injustices to explode the rage they feel at their own.

We see that Bess was really an-

Mrs. Otis Nace was hostess for the OES Gavel Club's Christmas party in her home, 1501 N. Faulkner, on Thursday evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Lucy Line, Rosalie Wedge and Clara Mealer.

Mrs. J. S. Fuqua, president, conducted a short business session, after which Secret Pals were revealed and names drawn for new Secret Pals.

Games comprised the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Ina E. Head was welcomed as a visitor.

A salad supper was served from a table decorated in the Christmas theme. The entertaining room carried the same theme from the glistening reindeer in the den to gry at our banning of entertainment during her boring chore. We help her to tell the truth by calling her downstairs and saying, "Now tell me what I did to you that you are so angry about."

We treat her exactly as Priscilla did John Alden. When that high-minded young man insisted on championing the other fellow's right to her love, his realistic sweetheart said, "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

You Are Asking For Critical Attention When You Allow Nail Polish To Chip

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Wearing nail polish once it's lost its gloss or is chipped is defeating the purpose of the polish itself. You use polish because you want to make your hands look prettier and thus call attention to them.

But once you let worn polish stay on your nails, you're asking for critical attention. Far better no polish at all than polish which is not sparkling clear, with a rich, fresh gloss.

If you put off applying new polish because the drying process takes too long, there's a way to speed it up. One evening, while you're reading, apply the base coat and one coat of polish. Both will dry rapidly and will get you through the next day. Then, the next evening apply a second coat of polish and the sealing coat. This, too, will dry rapidly in about half an hour. Always use an oily polish remover to take off the old polish if you want to keep our nails in good condition.

It isn't enough to have pretty feet if you don't make the most of them. They need both constant care and careful fitting of shoes if they're to look their best. Many women who are otherwise well-groomed seem to think nothing of walking about in sloppy nylons and ill-fitted, unkempt shoes.

Your feet need a thorough grooming job once a week, in the same way that you give yourself a manicure. But, when you trim your toenails, be sure to cut them straight across in order to avoid hangnails.

At night, or whenever you are tired and can spare the time, soak your feet in warm, soapy water. Finish with a dash of cold water and a brisk rub with a terry towel. Then use a scented dusting powder.

Always ask for proportioned nylons when you buy hosiery and you'll avoid the twisted stocking bit. Buy the very best leather shoes your purse will stand and once you have them, alternate their wear and keep them in tip-top condition. Then watch the compliments roll in about your pretty feet!

A hairbrush, a sound diet high in protein and a hairdresser who knows how to shape and cut your hair are the best friends you have when you're searching for hair beauty. For lovely hair depends on regular, faithful care.

There's no spot in your life in which you can neglect it and expect to have luxuriant, glossy hair that curls easily. Remember, hair beauty starts from the inside as well as from the outside and what you eat is as important as the shampoo you use.

A holiday atmosphere prevailed during the last days of Melbourne, Australia. When Peter Holmes bought a power mower and asked, "Can I pay by cheque?" the clerk replied, "Pay by orange peel for oil care!"

The government opened trout season early and Dwight Towers and Moira Davidson went fishing in the mountains.

The Australian Grand Prix—last ever—was also run early. Scientist John Osborne won the race. Swiftness caused six deaths, many injuries.

Television In Review: 'Big Record' Not So Hot

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—"Hello, I'm Tyrone Power," the man said. And sure enough, it was. He was wearing a fat black tie and a thin metal microphone and the program was CBS-TV's "The Big Record."

"The Big Record," for the benefit of "Wagon Train" and "Disneyland" watchers, is a 60-minute vehicle piloted by Patil Page. Its purpose in the long ago was to present the singers who made the big records then and now, but talent fees being what they are you just can't get Frank Sinatra and Pat Boone week after week. So sometimes the show just settles for a little less.

Wednesday night after Ty Power disappeared, Miss Page opened "The Big Record." She is a singer with a limited vocal range, but the most wildly locomotive hands in the business. In singing "I's Almost Like Being In Love," she made it look as if it was not so much like always being in love as it was like a lesson in semaphores.

There were other guests of equal fascination aboard, Vic Damone sang "Junior Miss" with that combination of ferocious shyness and calculated tenderness that have become his staple. Gene Autry was supposed to appear, but his sore throat was hoarse or his horse had a sore throat, I wasn't sure which, and Eddy Arnold filled in. Arnold sang "Wagon Wheels" and "I'm an Old Cowhand" and Damone came on shooting a pistol and Miss Page came on with a gun that said bang on a little flag. I am not sure, but I think this gag was first used by Aristophanes.

Well, then we got back to Ty Power and it seems he had something to do with a picture premier on Broadway. You figure it.

Margaret Truman Appears After that we got back to other big singers like Lucho Gatica and Angeles McNeil. Margaret Truman was on hand, too, and I must say I have nothing to say about her singing, mostly because I don't want a letter from her father.

Somehow, Mel Torme, a very hip singer, got mixed up in all this. And I couldn't help feeling he would have been better off sitting up with Gene Autry's sick

Kansas City Livestock

KANSAS CITY, (UP)—(USDA)—Weekly livestock: Hogs: for the week — Hogs 25 to 50 cents higher, week's and late top 19.50; most late sales U. S. No. 1 to 3 grades 190 to 240 pound hogs 19.00 to 19.25. Sows steady to 25 cents higher, late sales 15.00 to 16.50. CATTLE: For the week — Fed steers and fed heifers unevenly steady to 50 cents higher. High choice to mostly prime 1190 pound Nebraska fed steers topped at 27.00, highest price since October 1956; high good and choice steers 23.50 to 26.00, most good 21.50 to 23.75. Choice to low prime mixed yearlings 26.00 to 26.50; high choice 787-pound heifers 25.75, high good — choice 23.00 to 25.50, most good heifers 21.00 to 23.50. Stockers and feeders steady to 50 cents higher, good and choice yearling stock steers 22.00 to 26.00, good to choice feeder steers 21.00 to 24.50; good to choice steer calves 24.00 to 28.00. SHEEP: for the week—Slaughter lambs 50 cents higher, most good and choice 21.50 to 22.00, top 22.25.

Three major varieties of trout sought by American fly fishermen are the brook, brown and the rainbow.

Anyway, the whole thing came to a close finally and there was Patil Page again and there were her hands making like twin cobs again and she pointed out at me and said something like, "Well I eggspec (sic) you back again next week."

But I tell you, I think she's overconfident.

Stocks Declined During Last Week

By ELMER C. WALZER United Press Financial Editor NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks declined during the past week and finished with industrials only 7.41 points above the 1957 low and rails within a few cents of their low since Jan. 12, 1954. The decline, interrupted by a sharp recovery on Thursday and a small one Wednesday, was severe. It knocked the industrial average down 13.28 points to 427.20; rails down 4.20 to 96.92 and utilities off 0.44 at 67.95. Daily average trading totaled 2,634,664 shares, against 2,297,442 shares in the previous week and 212,821,915 shares a year ago. Of the 1,420 issues traded, most in two weeks, 1,018 declined and only 287 gained and 115 held unchanged. There were 329 new lows and only 12 new highs set.

Some News Favorable When stocks were in a decline Wall Street talked of sharp cuts in output ahead, poor reception of the 1958 auto models, possible flop in holiday trade, further cuts in overall production as reflected in the federal reserve index, and an oversupply of copper.

The Thursday rally brought out several favorable news items, including successful firing of the Thor missile, a big Air Force order for Lockheed, and a statement by the secretary of labor that business will turn up in the second half. The resumption of selling Friday reflected disappointment in failure of the federal reserve bank to ease money further through a cut in the discount rate and a lowering of reserve requirements which had been rumored on Thursday. Also Chrysler announced a sharp reduction in its production schedule and a leading trade magazine predicted lower auto sales in 1958. Tax Selling High The week's feature news included a spurt in retail sales when the weather cleared and the New York subway strike ended. Economists said there could well be a holiday record now contrary to their belief a week ago when things were less favorable in retail stores. It was noted that stocks often rose when news was favorable and this was seen as reflecting a market influenced mainly by tax selling which was said to be very high during the week. A market service circulated abroad is said to have brought in considerable selling. Some of this unloading was seen as coming from wealthy Greek stockholders. On the basis of all shares listed total market valuation on the week was down nearly $5 billion. Market Men Optimistic Wall Street experts said a year-end rally still could develop but were skeptical because of the mar-

THAT'S THE PLACE, NOW SCRATCH — British Cub Scout Jonathan Turner is really going deep into the study of elephants. Helping him get the feel of the situation is "Kam," a six-year-old circus pachyderm. Jonathan and his fellow scouts made friends with the obdurate "Kam" during a visit to the winter quarters of the Bertram Mills Circus in Ascot, England.

TAXI, PLEASE—The old Chinese ricksha has given way to a modern version—the foot propelled "pedicab" on the Nationalist Chinese island of Taiwan (Formosa). Here movie starlet, Miss Yee Kwong, enters her private cab in Taipei, the capital. In every city pedicabs await "taxi" calls for as little as 10 cents a hop to 30 cents an hour. There are 750,000 pedicabs and five million bicycles for the island's population of 10 million.

Matter of FACT

Galileo Galilei, the great scientist of the 16th century, saw a hanging lamp swinging at the end of a chain in the cathedral of Pisa, Italy. He noticed its regular motion. He found that the time for one complete swing or vibration was always the same, whether the lamp had a large swing or a small one. This discovery led to one of man's most useful inventions — the pendulum clock. © Britannica Jr. Encyclopedia

SLAPSTICKERS— Veteran Hollywood writer-producer-director Hal Kanter thinks there's too much talky-talky comedy in the movies, so he has come up with "Once Upon a Horse," a zany film reviving the old whang-bang-socko slapstick technique. Here's Kanter, background, clowning it up between scenes with cast members Dick Martin, left, Martha Hyer and Dan Rowan.

THREE OF A KIND—Meeting the smiling Kelly family of Medford, Ore., is a pleasure for everybody but lawbreakers, since all three Kellys are judges. Edward C. Kelly, left, is a Medford circuit court judge; his daughter, Noreen, 25, is a municipal court judge, and his son, Bernard, 27, is a newly appointed Jacksonville, Ore., municipal judge.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME—Who says comedians are behind the times in the current TV western trend? Here's a picture of George Gobel taken in 1935 when he was 15 and a country music kid on Chicago's radio station WLS Barn Dance program. About today's westerns George says, "Who cares about fast draws? They don't use real bullets on TV anyway. I'll challenge anyone to 14 verses of 'Strawberry Roan'."

New, cool-burning tree lamps simulate the beauty of illuminated ic. Brand new this Christmas season, they add their glow to a host of accessories that will help you get the most use during the holidays.

COP IN A CUP—Looking something like a U-boat commander at his post, this policeman in Bonn, Germany, directs traffic in front of the office of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The highway "conning tower" is equipped with a heater so that the street skipper won't get cold feet.

NEW JOB?—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, may soon be named to a high diplomatic post. Such is speculation in Tokyo, which further has it that Radford might be named as ambassador to the Philippines if the present envoy, Charles E. Bohlen, decides to retire.

TREED 'COON—Who wouldn't grin? Not only has Jasper the Raccoon escaped winding up as a Davy Crockett hat—but he has his own personal Christmas tree at Jack Wilkinson's fishing camp where he lives in Northern Ontario. The tree has all the routine decorations, plus a liberal supply of bacon rind, which the little bandit-faced animal particularly loves. Jasper made headlines a few years ago when a Canadian National Railway train cut his tail off. But he's fully recovered now.

AUTO-POWERED—The Seamobile, pictured during a shake-down cruise, will make its public debut at the Mid-America Boat Show late in January at the Cleveland (Ohio) Public Auditorium. The unique vessel, hailed as the first practical automobile-powered boat, uses any standard make of auto as its motive power and steering apparatus. A car is driven across a ramp onto the boat. The rear axle is fastened to a hydraulic rack, front wheel to steering mechanism. The engine thus drives a transmission system powering a three-blade propeller. When the car is hooked up, the motorist-boatman then simply "drives" across the water. The 31-foot boat is built by Seamobile Corp., Cleveland.

ONE LINK IS MISSING—Looming impressively against the sky, the giant steelwork of the Calumet Bridge, which will link Chicago with the Indiana Toll Road, provides a picturesque sight. The raising of the center span will provide the final link in the skyway.

IN A DILEMMA—Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, commander of the U.S. Navy's Operation Deepfreeze III, says he will start making plans to abandon all U.S. bases in Antarctica unless he receives new orders within eight weeks. Interviewed at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica, Dufek said a lack of instructions from Washington on the future of the U.S. program for the ice-bound continent has placed him in a dilemma.

SATELLITE COIF—With space travel just a rocket or so away, here's the coiffure to wear on that trip to the moon. Created by Ruel of Coiffures Americaines Salons, New York, it features a halo of stand-up strands around the head, a wispy side-tilted bang, and, at back, hair swirled round and round the crown. Sunburst at center has stars swimming around in orbit.

SPYING MACHINE—This is a model of a "surveillance drone"—an unmanned flying and spying machine, the first of its kind. It uses what the U.S. Army terms "advanced surveillance sensory devices." Called the SD-3, it is being produced by Republic Aviation for the Signal Corps. It is designed for all-weather use and has three different, interchangeable nose units for switching from one "sensing system" to another (photography, radar, or infra-red). The drone can be launched without a runway with jet assist and is recoverable.

ROLLING SAUCER—A "flat" spare tire is the latest innovation to ease the problems of motorists. Now being tested by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, the "Perma Spare" is a saucer-shaped metal disk with a two-inch band of solid rubber around its circumference. Its narrow size, apparent at left, leaves more room in the trunk of the car. Its great advantage is that it can be mounted directly over a flat tire, right, enabling the motorist to travel 100 miles at speeds up to 45 miles an hour.

HOOP-LA-LA—The scene is Miami Beach, Fla.; the girl is shapely Levon McKibben, who seems to be getting set for some hoop-deedoo along the sunny shore.

DOG ON HIS TAIL—What could be more fun than having a porpoise for a playmate, especially one that will pull you around on a surfboard all day? Fifi, the mascot at Florida's Marine Studios, likes nothing better than getting all dressed up for a ride around the tank, with Splash, a performing porpoise, doing all the work.

MISSILE NETWORK—To start work on what will be a chain of about 15 launching sites for its robot interceptor missile, the Bomarc, the Air Force has signed construction contracts totaling $46 million dollars. Newsmap, left, locates the first sites, to be built at existing air bases in four northeastern states. The Bomarc, right, is a pilotless, supersonic missile designed to bring down enemy bombers with atomic explosives at ranges up to 300 miles and as high as 60,000 feet. It will be integrated into the U.S. air defense system.

Draft Calls To Be Stepped Up

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department plans to step up its draft calls next year above current levels. The department announced Friday that 13,000 draftees would be called during February, 3,000 above the current rate.

All of the February draftees will be assigned to the Army. The February call was the highest since last July. The January total, previously announced, will be 10,000 men. The department said monthly draft calls for the rest of 1958 would be about the February level.

Robert Taylor Breaks Vow; Will Be On Television Show

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Robert Taylor, who vowed last month he'd never appear on TV, had a change of heart this week when his studio bosses asked him to pull a guest bit on "The Thin Man" series.

Because the low-rated program needs a shot in the arm, MGM bigwigs (who film the show) figured the Taylor profile would attract a few additional feminine viewers. Rather than fight the brass Bob

Living Costs Rise Resumed In November

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living resumed its rise in November. The government has reported that consumer prices bounced up four-tenths of a percent to a new record high.

ing industries. About 100,000 aircraft and other workers will receive one cent an hour raises.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said he expects the index will show little change when December prices are calculated. He said the index would show a downturn in January in reflection of the downturn in business activity.

In a separate report, the Labor Department said the purchasing power of factory workers' take home pay declined by 0.7 per cent because of the rise in consumer prices.

Cattlemen From Texas Due At Meet

DENVER, Colo.—Texas beef-makers will be leading participants in the 61st Annual convention of the American National Cattlemen's Association in Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 5-8.

A large delegation of Texans is expected to join 2,000 cattlemen from 35 states in deliberations on industry problems and policy. Heading the group will be J. A. Taylor, Amarillo, and John Biggs, Vernon.

Taylor is immediate past president of the national association and Biggs, as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, is a member of the national's General Council and Public Relations Committee.

Other Texas cattlemen serving their industry on national committees include E. S. F. Brainard, Frank Chambers and Fred Hobart, Canadian; Frank H. Chappell Jr., and Claude Keeton, Lubbock; Jack Mansfield, Vega; A. T. McDonald, Houston; Joe B. Matthews, Albany; Hayes Mitchell, Marfa.

J. M. Reynolds and J. G. Montague, Fort Worth; Clarence Schaubauer and Roy Proctor, Midland; Joe B. Finley, Encinal; M. H. W. Ritchie, Palo Duro.

Also meeting in Oklahoma City will be the American National CowBelles, women's auxiliary, and the Junior American National Cattlemen's Association in which many Texas ranch families take part.

Convention delegates will also participate in ground breaking ceremonies for the National Cowboy Hall of Fame near Oklahoma City and the world premiere of Columbia Pictures' new movie "Cowboy" as well as touring outstanding Oklahoma livestock laboratories and ranches.

No Worries Now
"That isn't my reason," Taylor said between bites on a hamburger in the studio commissary. "My feelings on the matter are simple. I've got it made right now. I don't like to worry. If I worked regularly on TV I'd be up to my neck in problems."

"Starring in a television series is like living on a treadmill. And I'm too lazy for that."

Bob's "Thin Man" show will be released (Jan. 10), but he won't be watching. "I only have a walk-on and a couple of lines to plug my new picture, 'The Law and Jake Wade.' By the time it goes on the air I'll be off to the mountains."

"I agreed to do it because it was easier than fighting the bosses," Taylor concluded. "Next time my answer will be a flat, unconditional 'No.'"

Natalie, Robert To Wed Saturday

JUST TWO 'HAMS'

Toy Sputniks Are Rushed By Reds

By DONALD R. SHANOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
MUNICH, Germany (UP) — Twenty-five thousand little Sputniks will circle under Christmas trees in Communist East Germany this year.
East German factories have been just as busy turning out Nativity scenes and wooden figures of Santa Claus. But they are for export to the West only.
Throughout the Communist world, the propaganda machines are working hard to obscure the Christian origin of the holiday and turn it into a day of pagan praise to Communism. Christmas toys are an important part of this campaign.
The earth satellite, current trump card in Communist propaganda, is being produced by East German toy factories on a rush basis.
More Sputniks doubtless would be on the market in the other Soviet bloc nations but for bureaucratic production tangles in the state toy shops.
Strict Controls Enforced
In Czechoslovakia, toy production is subject to strict government controls and is planned a year in advance. The October launching of the Sputnik apparently caught the planners by surprise and there was no time to shift gears and have Sputniks ready for Christmas.
Polish children will also be Sputnik-less. The traditional teddy bears and dolls are the most popular toys there. Mechanical toys are also much in demand but are hard to get.

Communist Yugoslavia, well-armed neighbor of the Soviet bloc, reflects its defense-mindedness in its selection of toys. There are toy rifles, tanks, armored cars, fighter planes, and drums. There are more toys than ever in Belgrade shop windows this season, and more will be sold. The government has promised an extra month's salary as a Christmas bonus to all state employees.
Militaristic Ban Over
East Germany also has its share of lead soldiers and their weapons, after banning "militaristic" toys for more than a decade after World War II.
Hungarian and Romanian toys are simple carvings that carefully avoid the Christmas theme.
East Germany, Romania and Bulgaria place great emphasis on children's books as Christmas presents, but the fairy tales must follow the party line. The sleeping beauty in the East German version, for example, is rescued by a handsome young party activist rather than a prince.

WICKLIFFE, Ky. — Gov A. B. (Happy) Chandler declaring he wanted citizens to know he was ready to respect local laws following dismissal of charges he hunted ducks and geese in a game preserve after hours:
"I'm no hunter and never have been. The last time I had a gun in my hands was 22 years ago, and after this it will be another 22 years before I do it again."

ORDER OR DISORDER?
WASHINGTON (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission struck

a blow today for simplification, order and better bureaucracy, with the announcement that: 'announcements issued during 1958 will be numbered A1, A2, etc. until the end of the calendar year. Announcements issued during 1959 will be numbered B1, B2, etc. Each announcement also will carry the issuance date, of course.'

TO HOLD LAIKA FLIGHT

TOKYO (UP) — Japan Airlines announced today it will celebrate the traditional "year of the dog" with a special invitational flight over Tokyo Jan. 2. The flight will be named "Laika Flight" for the dog sent up in the second Russian space satellite.
ARREST IMPERSONATOR
INNSBRUCK, Austria (UP)—Police held Josef Walder, 35, for trial Friday on charges of impersonating a customs officer. An unidentified woman had Walder arrested after he "arrested" her in a railroad station and ordered her to strip so he could "search" her.

BANDIT BEGS BAG
MILWAUKEE (UP) — A gunman walked into a food store Friday, threw a small bag at store

Manager William Schery and demanded money. When Schery told him the money was locked up, the bandit demanded, "give me my bag back," and ran out the door.
BACK YARD TROUBLE
PENSACOLA, Fla. (UP)—Firemen jumped on their trucks when the alarm sounded Wednesday but the trucks didn't go anywhere. When instructions came the firemen climbed sheepishly down and used a garden hose to put out a small trash fire behind the firehouse.

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. — Joseph E. Young, 41, on inheriting $1,300,000 at Christmas time and the chance to stop living "from paycheck to paycheck":
"It's just something you would never in this world expect to happen to you."
