Sales Tax Showdown Now Near

AUSTIN (UPI)—Like it or not, Texas lawmakers were faced today with an ultimate showdown on the general sales tax issue.

For the time being the battle plans are in the hands of Rep. John Allen of Longview, author of the 2 per cent levy that was sent to the House floor Thursday by the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Allen's bill was estimated to raise the $189 million a year—enough to retire the $63 million deficit and underwrite $300 million in proposed spending. It hits everything, including food and medicine.

The committee sent the bill to the floor with a reminder that they were not endorsing a sales tax, but felt the House should have a chance to decide on the issue.

Allen will have to make the decision of whether to run with the bill when it comes up in regular order on the House docket or try to postpone the measure for consideration and possible passage at a more opportune time.

Lawmakers have been under heavy pressure from industry, chambers of commerce, and a group called the "Citizens For A Sales Tax" to choose that broad-based route of taxation.

The committee sent to subcommittee a measure by Rep. George Hinson of Minfola that calls for a number of selective sales taxes and a 2 per cent gross receipts tax on gas pipelines to raise an estimated $156.6 million a year.

The revenue from Hinson's bill would be earmarked for public schools and higher education.

The selective sales taxes would fall on construction materials, soft drinks, restaurant meals, public utility bill, stock and bond sales, liquor and beer, vehicles and boat.

It has the blessing of Gov. Price Daniel. Secretary of State Frank Lake and Joe Moore of Daniel's budget staff appeared before the committee in favor of the bill.

Hinson's measure was stoutly opposed by soft drink bottlers and a representative of power and light companies. The bottlers said a 1 cent levy per bottle would put many companies out of Texas. J. M. Harris, lobbying for the (See SALES, Page 3)

Ex-Convict Will Enter Monastery

RAIFORD, Fla. (UPI)—Russell Tongay, once the toast of the aquatic world who wound up in a prison cell because of the death of his swimming champion daughter, apparently intends to seek refuge from the past in a Trappist monastery.

Officials at the state prison here revealed Thursday that Tongay, 41, was released last Friday after serving six years of a 10-year manslaughter sentence in the 1953 death of his 5-year-old daughter, Kathy.

Tongay was imprisoned for ordering the child to leap from a high diving board 33 feet above the pool of the old MacFadden-Deauville Hotel in Miami Beach. She was killed while carrying out the instructions.

The girl and her brother, Bubba, won international acclaim as "The Aquatots." They were the pride of their father, who taught them to swim and dive. Tongay once planned to have Bubby, only 5 at the time, swim the English Channel. His request was vetoed by the British government.

Prison Supt. DeWitt Sinclair said Tongay, now gray and slightly balding, was given a bus ticket to Houston, Tex., on his release—four years early on good behavior.

He said Tongay told him he planned to become a monk, something he had talked about during his last years in prison. His forwarding address, Clair said, was a Trappist Monastery at Vina, Calif.

Auto Insurance System Revised By State Board

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Board of Insurance has revised the controversial merit rating automobile insurance plan and it means cheaper coverage to a large number of Texas drivers.

The board's action Thursday knocked out the minor traffic violations which formerly had been used to determine higher premium payments under a penalty point system.

"The revisions remove inequities and still make it possible to retain the 20 per cent credit given those with safe driving records," the board said.

Thomas C. Ferguson, board chairman, said the revision would go into effect on Aug. 1. Under the new plan, penalty points would be assessed only for drunken driving, negligent homicide, murder with a motor vehicle, aggravated assault with a motor vehicle, failure to stop and render aid, felony traffic offenses, speeding, and driving without a license or while a license has been suspended.

The revision also excludes accidents that occur on the insured's own property, but keeps the present $25 property damage limitation.

"The board said the 20 per cent reduction of insurance rates brought about when the plan was adopted Jan. 1, 1960, is 'enjoyed by owners of 85 to 70 per cent of the private passenger automobiles.'"

The State Legislature has had the board virtually under orders to change the plan because thousands of Texans have complained of inequities.

Gov. Price Daniel also sought re-election with a platform plank to correct the inequities.

Ferguson said the Aug. 1 changeover was set to allow further adjustments for any legislation which might be passed affecting the bill.

Young Demos Facing Battle

GALVESTON (UPI)—A new struggle for control of the Young Democrats of Texas, in the light of Tuesday's U.S. Senate election, is expected to flare at the group's state convention in Galveston April 14-16.

Liberal and conservative wings of the Young Democrats have fought bitterly over control of the organization for years, with the liberal faction holding the upper hand since winning control in 1954.

But in view of the fact that two strong conservatives, Republican John Tower and Democrat William Blakely, won runoff spots in the special U.S. Senate election, a new surge of conservative strength might develop at next

Highway 60 Delegates Hear National Report

The 31st annual convention of the U.S. Highway 60 Ass'n. this afternoon was heading into its second business session of the two-day meeting.

Principal speaker this afternoon was to be Wayman Cornelsen of Fairview, Okla., vice president of the national association. This afternoon's session was being presided over by Clifton Cox, president of the New Mexico State U.S. 60 Ass'n.

More than 100 delegates and visitors from a dozen states along the national highway are attending the convention plus scores of visitors from the surrounding Pampa handle area.

National Secretary E. O. Wedgeworth of Pampa said today the attendance is one of the largest at any of the recent national conventions.

All activities of the convention are being held in Coronado Inn.

E. Roy Smith, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the guests to Pampa at the opening session this morning in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. The first business meeting was presided over by William Huso, national president, of Show Low, Ariz.

Response to the welcome address was given by Robert J. Becker, president of the Arizona Highway 60 Ass'n.

President Huso made his annual report, various convention committees were named and state reports were given.

Luncheon speaker this noon was Harry Schall, executive vice president and general manager of the Oklahoma State Chamber of Commerce of Oklahoma City.

At this afternoon's second general session a panel discussion was scheduled with Harry Creasy, manager of the Riverside, Calif., Board of Trade, as moderator.

A Trail Bosses Reception was scheduled for 6 o'clock tonight with week's convention.

Liberal leaders of the group invited State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, an unsuccessful candidate, to keynote the convention, hoping his address may start a stampede that would keep liberals in the driver's seat.

During recent years liberals have rallied around such Democratic leaders as President Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Gonzalez, while conservatives have leaned toward Gov. Price Daniel, Vice President Lyndon Johnson and former Gov.

More Rigid Anti-Crime Laws Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has sent Congress legislation to strengthen the FBI's battle against organized crime.

Kennedy, at his first news conference Thursday, said the bills would give the government new power to combat gambling and labor-management corruption, and give the FBI broader powers in running down fugitives.

Kennedy also said the Justice Department might revise the attorney general's list of subversive organizations, which has not been updated for several years.

Kennedy said his proposed bills would "give the FBI increased jurisdiction to assist local authorities in the common battle against the rackets."

They would:

- Fight interstate transmission of gambling equipment and material, and curb interstate transmission of bookmaking or other gambling information.
- Make interstate travel to promote unlawful business activities illegal.
- Toughen the federal firearms act.
- Make it a federal crime to cross state borders to avoid prosecution for any crime punishable by more than a year in prison, widening the FBI's jurisdiction in manhunts.
- Make it a federal crime to threaten persons cooperating with congressional investigators.
- Widen the immunity provisions of the labor racketeering act.

At a pre-convention meeting yesterday afternoon of the Texas U.S. Highway 60 Ass'n., Howard Buckingham, Jr. of Pampa was elected president of the state group.

Other officers of the Texas association elected include Jimmie Bond of Bovina, vice president; E. O. Wedgeworth of Pampa, secretary-treasurer and the following directors: Russell Landen, Hig-

Stripper Claims Reputation Hurt By Model Arrested On Theft Count

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—"I'm known all over the world as Yum Yum . . . I've got a million friends, including the vice squad boys . . . and my reputation is being ruined by this other babe."

Yum Yum, 25 is known professionally as an exotic dancer. Privately she calls herself a stripper. Her real name is Stella Kalifa, but very few people know her by anything but Yum Yum.

The trouble began earlier this week when police arrested Betty Lou Ward, 20, on charges she acted as lookout for a gang of burglars who stripped plush homes of more than $100,000 worth of furs in 15 cities across the country.

Miss Ward identified herself as a model and a dancer, and said she performed under the name of Yum Yum.

"What's with this babe going around calling herself 'Yum Yum'?" Miss Kalifa asked early today. "Everyone thinks I'm the one that got caught by the cops. Friends drop in at the (Gaiety) club where I work and say they thought I was in jail.

"No one — but no one — even knows what my real name is. I've been Yum Yum for years. In fact, in the records of the American Guild of Variety Artists, I am listed only as Yum Yum—the only Yum Yum in the whole country.

"I've danced in South America and Mexico, and those people don't know me by anything other than Yum Yum. This is bad for me. If I don't make it clear that I am not the Yum Yum in jail, I will not get any dancing bookings."

She said she wasn't quite sure where she first got the name Yum Yum, but she had it in high school and used it when she first started on the stage more than eight years ago.

Castro's Foes Explode New Havana Bomb

HAVANA (UPI)—Foes of Premier Fidel Castro exploded a heavy bomb on a downtown street corner here last night, showering the intersection with glass from broken shop windows but injuring no one.

The blast was the latest of the terror-bombings which have become almost nightly events here in recent months.

Earlier, Castro's Dier (secret police) had announced the arrest of Felix T. Cordero Licea on charges of possessing a map of the Managua military training camp showing the location of its ammunition supplies.

Cordero, a former student at the Roman Catholic Villanueva University here, was arrested with 16 companions last year when they tried to destroy a wreath decorated with a hammer and sickle which had been placed at a monument to Cuban hero Jose Martin by Soviet Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan.

President Osvaldo Dorticos, in a radio-TV program Thursday night opening a new government hour on the air, urged the official radio and press to prepare people for the shortages he said would result from the U. S. "economic blockade."

He dismissed rumors that the inefficiency of Castro's revolutionary government was to blame for the shortages as "counter-revolutionary propaganda."

The 200-ton tender, with a crew of 10 men aboard, sailed into Swedish waters off the island of Gotland. The vessel sent up rockets and distress flares before heading into an anchorage.

A Soviet submarine was reported to have followed or chased the tender.

The Swedish supreme command said the tender dropped anchor near Naer's lighthouse on Gotland at 10:45 p. m. The coast guard was immediately alerted and a customs patrol cruiser went out to the gray-painted vessel, a spokesman said. Three Swedish torpedo boats were dispatched to find the submarine if possible.

Police said the tender's commander, a Lithuanian-born lieutenant about 40 years old, came ashore and asked political asylum. They said he spoke in German.

"This is the end, or the beginning," they quoted him as saying. "I hereby ask for political asylum in Sweden."

The lifeboat, manned by members of the tender's crew, immediately returned to the Soviet ship which bore the designation MBS 136150.

The officer who requested asylum was interrogated here, but the fate of the tender's crew was not immediately known.

Drizzly Weekend Seen For Pampa

Pampans are in for a drizzly weekend, the Weatherman forecast this morning. The same forecast was made for the entire Northwest Texas section.

There will be considerable cloudiness through Saturday, the forecast said. Scattered light rain may fall tonight and mostly in the north portion of the area Saturday. It will be a little warmer.

Pampa had .07 inch rainfall during the 24-hour period ending at 11 o'clock today.

Job Ban Looms For Servicemen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has drafted but has not yet signed an order banning outside employment by members of the armed forces, a military service journal said today.

Dire Need For Action Disclosed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, seeking a peaceful solution of the civil war in Laos, faced another crisis today in neighboring South Viet Nam.

The President and prime minister agreed on the need for urgent action to meet the mounting campaign of murder and sabotage in South Viet Nam by Communist guerrillas.

American officials said the United States, in response to an appeal from President Ngo Dinh Diem, was increasing its military aid to South Viet Nam.

Kennedy and Macmillan wound up two days of intensive discussions Thursday night in complete agreement on the need for closer Western cooperation to meet Communist threats around the world.

The two leaders will hold a brief meeting Saturday morning to exchange final impressions and approve a joint statement on their talks before Macmillan leaves Sunday for Ottawa.

Today Macmillan was flying to Boston to speak at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Kennedy turned his attention to domestic matters, scheduling a morning session with his economic advisers.

During a two and one-half hour cruise aboard the presidential yacht Honey Fitz on the Potomac River Thursday, Kennedy and Macmillan talked about Laos, South Viet Nam, Berlin, Germany, disarmament and a nuclear test ban.

In earlier meetings they had discussed NATO, aid to underdeveloped areas, Red China, the Congo and European economics. Altogether they conferred for a total of 10 hours in the past two days.

American and British officials said the most important long-range development was firm agreement to press for closer cooperation among the 15 NATO powers to meet intensified Communist political, economic and military efforts.

The President was expected to pursue this theme further in meetings here next week with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and in Paris next month with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Kennedy and Macmillan continued to disagree on the advisability of admitting Red China to the United Nations. Britain believes it is inevitable, but the United States refuses to consider the matter at this time.

Solons' News Letters Stir Some Speculation

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A good many members of Congress endeavor to supplement the literary diet of their constituents by sending home weekly "newsletters" filled with nourishing brain food.

Ordinarily, as I read over these ventures into personal journalism, I get a feeling that is closely akin to lassitude. But this week, I ran across a couple that tweaked my curiosity.

One was the "Washington Newsletter" composed by Rep. John J. McFall, a California Democrat, and the other was the "Letter from Washington" composed by Rep. Clem Miller, another Democrat from California.

"Four years in Washington has not dulled the excitement on a telephone call from the White House," exclaimed the epistle by McFall.

"This was doubly so the other day when the message was President Kennedy's decision to provide additional money to advance the construction of new Hogan Dam by a full year."

Considered a none, McFall's rhapsodizing would not be especially meaningful to anyone outside of his home district. It only becomes universally significant when considered alongside of Miller's chronicle.

"Several years in Washington have not dulled the excitement of the phone call from the White House," Miller's began.

"This was doubly so the other day when the message was President Kennedy's decision to recommend additional funds to insure that the development and rehabilitation of our Redwood Empire harbors will be completed on schedule."

If you examine these two missives carefully, you will discover, I predict, a similarity of literary style that borders on the amazing.

In fact, the coincidence is so pronounced as to suggest that McFall and Miller shared a visitation from the same ghost writer.

What I am interested in is a

U.S. Information On Red Weapons 'More Accurate'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee appears convinced that U.S. intelligence estimates of Soviet military strength have become more accurate.

The opinion was expressed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., whose committee resumed closed-door hearings on the nation's overall defense posture.

Called to testify today were Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr., and Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff.

The committee was given a highly secret briefing Wednesday by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Russell said later it touched on classified matters and included a roundup of intelligence data on overall U. S. military strength as compared with the Communist war potential.

"Our estimates of Russian air and missile strength have varied greatly year to year," Russell told reporters.

He said there now was evidence that "our intelligence has stabilized" and Pentagon leaders have more accurate information on which to base vital defense decisions.

This assessment contrasted to the arguments which raged on Capitol Hill and elsewhere a year ago over just how accurate U.S. intelligence estimates really were.

possible new trend in congressional newsletters. I'm wondering if the Miller-McFall arrangement means that our lawmakers are about to adopt the tandem, or Huntley-Brinkley, approach to the news.

If so, I can foresee all sorts of interesting possibilities. For one thing, I would like to see Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., team up with Rep. Merwin Coad, D-Iowa.

Together, they could put out a single newsletter called "The Morse-Coad."

Or suppose that Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., combined publications with Reps. Alphonzo Bell, R-Calif., and John W. Byrnes, R-Wis.

One would be titled "The Church-Bell" and the other would be known simply as "Hart-Byrnes."

Solon Comments On Texas Voting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP campaign chairman Barry Goldwater said yesterday that Republican John G. Tower's big vote in the Texas senatorial election apparently reflected "deep resentment" of the Johnson-Rayburn leadership.

The Arizona senator said he was "not surprised" that Tower led the field in Tuesday's contest to fill out the six-year senate term to which Lyndon B. Johnson was elected at the same time he won the vice presidency.

"When I was in Texas I found that deep resentment still exists against Lyndon Johnson, and most recently against Speaker Sam Rayburn for his handling of the House Rules Committee fight."

Income Tax Case Starts In Austin

AUSTIN (UPI) — Bradley land dealer B. R. Sheffield, who has a veterans land scandal conviction on appeal, went on trial yesterday in federal court on an income tax evasion charge.

Sheffield was convicted at Hillsboro, earlier this year and sentenced to six years in prison for forgery in connection with the veterans land scandal.

Physician Finds Cigarettes Not Cause Of Cancer

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dr. Joseph A. Perrone, who undertook a five-year study of 1,000 cases of lung cancer, said yesterday the theory that cigarette smoking causes cancer "just doesn't make sense."

Dr. Perrone, a chain smoker, reported his conclusion to a medical conference at Mercy Hospital where he is a staff member.

"If cigarette smoking causes cancer, we should be having more cancer of the tongue, larynx, back of the nose and the throat because they get the hottest impact of the tars and nicotine drawn in with the smoke. But we don't," Dr. Perrone said.

The physician said the lips and mucous membranes of the mouth also have failed to show a significant rise in the incidence of malignancy despite "intimate contact with both the smoke and cigarette tar."

Heart Specialists Schedule Seminar

A Heart Seminar, sponsored by the Gray and Hutchinson County Heart-associations and District 23 of the Texas Graduate Nurses' Association, will be held all day tomorrow in the Pampa County Club.

The seminar will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. Purpose of the seminar is to provide a refresher course for registered nurses of the area and to provide teaching instructions for all hospital personnel, office nurses and all persons concerned with the care of heart patients.

Speakers for the morning and afternoon sessions of the seminar tomorrow will be Dr. R. M. Bellamy of Pampa, Dr. Joe Arrington Jr. of Lubbock, M. Dyer, R.N., of Amarillo, and Dr. Paul Ellis of Dallas.

Dr. Arrington will speak on "Cardiovascular Diseases." Dr. Arrington is certified as a specialist by the American Board of Internal Medicine and is particularly interested in congenital heart disease. He has been in practice in Lubbock since 1948.

Youth Arrested On Death Count

SEATTLE (UPI)—Michael Andrew Olds, 18, Seattle, was being held on suspicion of murder today from a fatal shooting at a grocery robbery which netted $30.30.

"I'm sure shooting her was no accident," he told police. "She was hit twice."

Olds referred to Mrs. Blossom Alta Abraham, 38, Seattle, who was gunned down in a grocery robbery here March 28.

Olds was captured Tuesday night by police after abducting and robbing a cab driver of whom he boasted of the grocery slaying.

Mrs. Abraham was a customer in a small grocery when the gunman entered and forced Al Turner, the proprietor, to put the money in a paper bag. He opened fire when he was about to leave.

"I thought I saw Mr. Turner move his hand," he told police. "I guess I meant to kill him and scare the woman. She was directly in line between us."

Olds said he decided not to kill Turner after Mrs. Abraham slumped to the floor and ran through back alleys until he reached his home where he lives with his stepfather.

Newspaper Office Robbed By Thugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three thugs, one carrying a tommygun held up the Brooklyn plant of the New York Daily News yesterday and escaped with $60,000 in cash.

Police said the robbers kidnaped News cashier Thomas Birney and put him in a garage in Long Island City.

Birney was found this afternoon after the robbery, unharmed.

The thugs may have entered the News plant office with a key obtained from Birney. Police said they handcuffed a routeman on duty in the outer office and then used a key to gain entry to the inner office.

The thieves were described as being 28 to 30 years old. One carried a pistol.

Young Demos Promise Support To Sen. Blakley

The Executive Committee of the Young Democratic Club of Gray County in a meeting last night pledged all-out support to Senator Bill Blakley in the forthcoming senatorial run-off election, and endorsed the recommendation of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee for revision of the Texas election code.

In endorsing the recommendation of the county Executive Committee for changes in the method of voting, A. J. Carubbi, president of the Young Democrats, said his group also recommended that any needed revisions in present legislation be made to insure enforcement of present legislation requiring the Attorney General to investigate when an alleged irregularity in an election procedure is reported.

Carubbi said action was taken by the Young Democrats' Executive Committee after extensive discussion of alleged election irregularities in prior elections. Telegrams have been sent to Grady Hazlewood and Grainger McElhenny in Austin outlining the recommendations of the local group.

In action endorsing Senator Blakley and pledging support to his campaign, Carubbi said his group called upon all residents of Gray County to unite to elect Senator Blakley as the man who can best represent the interests of Texas in the U.S. Senate.

Carubbi said the Young Democrats in pledging their support felt that Senator Blakley was a man with business experience and qualifications that far exceed his Republican opponent.

"The Executive Committee further recommends," said Carubbi, "that all eligible voters cast their votes in the forthcoming election for one of the highest offices of representation for Texas in the federal government."

The next regular meeting of the club was scheduled for April 14.

Mrs. Bryant To Be Buried At Alanreed

ALANREED — Mrs. Roxie Mae Bryant, 74, died at her home here at 1:30 a.m. yesterday after an extended illness.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Alanreed Baptist Church with Lois Daniels, pastor of the McLean Pentacostal Holiness Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Alanreed Cemetery under the direction of Lamb Funeral Home of McLean.

Mrs. Bryant was born Feb. 21, 1887, in Bandera County, Texas, and moved to McLean in 1923 and to Alanreed in 1929. She was a member of the Pentacostal Holiness Church in McLean.

Survivors include three sons, J. F. Bryant of Alanreed; Louis William Bryant of Pecos, and J. R. Bryant of Norwalk, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Crenshaw of Arlington and Mrs. K. O. Mixon of Midway City, Okla.; three brothers, Henry Dodd of Milanox, Clinton Dodd of Magnolia and Madison Dodd of Uvalde; two sisters, Mrs. W. W. Lowery of Rogers and Mrs. Joe Kite of Panhandle, and eight grandchildren.

James Evans, J. C. Roberts and Dudley Steele were elected to the board of directors.

The new officers will take office July 1.

Lette Roberts was chosen from eight candidates to represent the club in the Queen Contest to be conducted during the Lions District convention here April 21, 22 and 23.

President Norman Henry introduced Jay Leath, Boy Scout district executive, who presented the Lions Scout Troop with a charter. The troop, Henry said, is the oldest sponsored troop in the Santa Fe district, having been sponsored by the local Lions Club for more than 25 years.

Man Microfilms Personal Data

DALLAS (UPI)—Uranium promoter John Milton Addison, convicted in February of conspiracy, mail fraud and federal securities act violations, yesterday tackled the task of microfilming 30 filing cabinets of his personal records which the government confiscated.

Addison had the help of two co-defendants in the trial, William D. Groom and Robert C. Olson. All three are free in appeal bond.

The records were confiscated by order of a federal bankruptcy referee after Addison was declared bankrupt last year.

But Addison got permission to duplicate all his records, including personal correspondence and Christmas cards, from William J. Rochelle Jr., trustee of his bankrupt estate.

Dallas Designates 'Millionth' Man

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Times Herald today designated Robert C. Maniss, 30, formerly of Lubbock, as Dallas County's millionth man, climaxing a two-month statistical research.

Maniss, his wife and two young daughters moved to Dallas from Lubbock March 29. Maniss was transferred to Dallas to become regional office manager of the AC Spark Plug Division of the General Motors Corp.

The Times Herald sponsored the search for the county's millionth resident with help from Southern Methodist University's Univac, a mechanical brain.

With the designation, the Maniss family will get prizes including a down payment on a new house.

French Teens Stir Up Big Dress Hassle

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — School children's clothes in France seem to have swung from the far right of uniforms to the far left of styles as James Dean and Brigitte Bardot. Educators now are trying to bring the pendulum back to the middle. This year headmasters at several state schools forbade the wearing of blue jeans and motorcycle jackets by boys, and of brief skirts, bird's-nest hairdos and excessive makeup by girls. One Paris school director, who ruled that only "suitable clothes" would be worn by scholars henceforth, said: "I do not make this decision in a puritanical spirit but for the good of all these young people. There are certain 'emblems' which have no place in school. To copy the James Dean way of dress is not reprehensible in itself. But for a good many young people it is a symbol and a challenge as well as the outward expression of a certain mentality." Girls seem to rebel against such rulings more than the boys. Last summer, when the head of a girls' school vetoed spike heels, abbreviated skirts over multiple petticoats and stiffened brassieres, a minor revolt ensued. Not only the girls, but their parents as well, protested against this "arbitrary" ruling. "Imagine," said the mother of a 14-year-old, "preventing our daughters from following the fashion." In protest, the girls all turned up one day looking like pin-ups; the headmistress was transferred by the state to another college.

But the conservatives have their side, too: Madame Jean-Dupont, mother of six daughters age 8 to 17, thinks that the old idea of some kind of uniform in school is a sound one. "My girls attend the well known Helene-Boucher state school. Here the girls alternate cream and pale blue 'coveralls.' There is no set style but the garment must cover the dress underneath." The superintendent at the 2,500-student Carnot state school calls out those who he considers inadequately dressed and sends them home to dress properly. Blue jeans are not forbidden, but older boys must be clean-shaven. At the Honore de Balzac state school, 3,250 students, the largest co-educational scholastic institution in Paris, the directress has decided not to enforce any hard and fast rules regarding dress. "But I insist that they all be decently dressed. I will not tolerate any pupil looking immodest, grotesque or unkempt. The girls have to wear coveralls." "Any pupil who uses too much make-up or wears skin-tight slacks and form-revealing sweaters is reprimanded and asked to change her clothes." Many of the students favor coveralls. Jeannine Georges, 15, says: "Coveralls are good, especially since they come in pretty colors. Furthermore, they save your clothes." Madame Paul Pataud, in charge of the PTA section on behavior for schools and colleges and a mother of four girls, definitely sides with the coverall crowd. "Most parents agree. Besides, it's more democratic. There are exceptions, of course, like the mother of a 14-year-old who allowed her daughter to bleach her hair."

Educators seem to concur that only mediocre students are easily influenced by the strange styles, but they are mindful that Hitler's success with Nazi youth indicated that the influence can spread among the intelligent youngsters, too.

Pampa Council Of Clubs Presents Slate Of Officers For Coming Year

The slate of new officers for the coming year was presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Pampa Council of Clubs yesterday in the City Club Room. The report of the nominating committee was as follows: President, Mrs. Wesley Lewis, Business and Professional Women Vice-President and Inter-Meeting Vice-President, Mrs. Jim Terrell, Beta Sigma Phi, Rho Eta chapter; Secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Royce, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Alpha Omicron chapter; Treasurer,

Mrs. E. B. Alleman, Treble Clef; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sam Irvin, Delta Kappa Gamma; Parliamentarian, Mrs. James Lewis, Gray Ladies; Reporter, Mrs. Willy Davis, Beta Sigma Phi, Upsilon chapter. Mrs. Wiley Davis, president at the Thursday morning meeting and announced that the reception honoring new member club presidents will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, May 7, in the City Club room.

RUTH MILLETT

Have you ever noticed how many ways women have of bragging to each other? There's the complaining approach: "I told Jim I didn't want a thing for my birthday after all we spent on that winter cruise. And the idiot went down and bought me an expensive mink stole. I think he ought to have his head examined." There is the useful approach: "Just what do you do about a teenage daughter who is so busy dating, cheer-leading and going to parties that she doesn't have time to study?" Then there is the "busy, busy, busy" approach: "I've meant to call you but I've been so busy. You know I'm president of the Guild now, and I've been working my head off as chairman of..." And, of course, you know the asking approach: "I'd like your advice about junior. He has been offered scholarships to several colleges and it is hard knowing which one he ought to take." Then there is the "I'm so lucky" build-up: "I know I'm lucky, but my children have never given me a moment's trouble." And let's not overlook the name-dropping habit. The more important the person the more important it is to be able to use a first name—or better yet, a nickname. One thing all forms of bragging have in common is that they are never as subtle as they are meant to be. No matter how cleverly one woman thinks she is slipping a little bragging into her conversation, the woman she's trying to impress always knows what's coming.

Dear Abby... Family Should Be First, Then Public

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a very generous person who knocks herself out helping others, but doesn't keep her own house clean? Her husband works out of town and she has three children. She will leave her own children alone to stay with other children if their mother is ill. She works for church suppers, PTA rummage sales and is always selling tickets for good causes. She will run errands or even do the laundry for her neighbors — but her own house is a mess. She cooked an elaborate holiday dinner for a motherless family in her block and later we learned her own children ate tuna sandwiches. How do you set a big-hearted person like that straight without hurting her feelings?

A FRIEND DEAR FRIEND: You can't "set her straight" — but you can try to understand her. I don't mean to discredit your "big-hearted" friend, but her kind of "generosity" is misguided. She "knocks herself out" for friends and neighbors because she thrives on the applause, thanks and reputation for helping others. If her own family does without, it doesn't bother her. A truly "generous" person gives her best to her family first, and if there is any time and energy to spare — she extends it to others.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly what is a flirt? "TOUGH" DEAR "TOUGH": A flirt is someone who advertises something she has no intention of delivering.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 I married a man who was 27, and we were so much in love we never thought we would have any problems. We have been married two years and I am miserable. He is a professional man, and I never got past the ninth grade. He is always correcting my English and has even suggested I go back to school and graduate. Abby, I feel that he thinks I am not good enough for him. If he loved me as I was, why is he ashamed of me now? What should I do? MISERABLE DEAR MISERABLE: Get in touch with your Public Education System and resume your schooling where you quit. It can be done by mail, or in evening classes, with other adults. Your husband loves you, or he wouldn't encourage you to graduate. There is no shame in not knowing — only in refusing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SALLY: A young lady should not accept gifts of intimate apparel from a young man. And the article you mention IS intimate. Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. MORE BEEF, LAMB During the summer and fall months of this year, the supply of beef and lamb will be more plentiful than last year, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture prediction. There will be less pork than last summer, when pork supplies were unusually large.

Religion May Be The Key

The 87th Congress has 414 Protestant members and 100 who are Roman Catholic, according to a compilation in late March by Congressional Quarterly.

In addition, Congress includes 12 Jews, one Sikh and five members for whom no affiliation is listed.

In the Senate alone, the compilation showed 85 Protestants and 12 Catholics. In the House, the line-up for the two major groups was Protestant, 329, and Catholic, 88.

The current battle over aid to school construction and teachers' salaries and whether that aid should be extended in the form of loans to private and parochial schools has drawn unusual attention to religious affiliation.

The Catholic hierarchy has come out publicly for provisions to make loans to parochial schools and has urged that such provisions be part of the aid-to-education bill rather than separate legislation.

Morale

Happiness exudes from those who are busy producing. Sadness seeps out of the watery optics of those who are too lazy to produce and too dependent upon government to care.

A Good Answer

We are under obligation to Erwin H. Frueh of Lima, Ohio, for giving a good answer to the oft-repeated contention that because our cities, schools, counties, etc., have been getting tax money from Washington, those that have not been getting any in the different cities and groups are entitled to get money from the federal government.

Mr. Frueh presented an argument that we had never thought of. He said that in the first place, the money has all been spent, so there is nothing there to get. He might have added that it's just like a bank that has been plundered by an employee and the money all gone; there's nothing to get from the bank.

So any city or any group that gets money from the federal government undoubtedly will get it by the method of taxes by inflation. That is, having the government borrow the money from the banks, which increases deposits and thus increases the circulating media so that the dollar buys less and less.

And anything that hurts anybody in the long run hurts everybody. As Emerson so well put it, "The thief steals from himself." And

matter of FACT

Experimenters have duplicated the vibration that hits a rocket in space. They've built a device that creates sound waves so loud you can't hear them.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — It never entered my mind that Clark Gable killed himself — or all but killed himself. Now I know he did.

I sat in the little projection room 14 floors above Broadway the other icy afternoon, the seats deep and soft, the room warm and windless, able to smoke at will or prop my feet up on the back of the seat ahead, never having to fear sitting in the way of anyone behind or having to swivel around anyone in front.

It is not my labeled acre to review this film as a model picture. That right belongs correctly enough to the film critics. They will — or already have — and their pronouncements and judgments will be more valid than mine.

It would be un-forgivably vain of me to claim a long and close friendship with Gable. We knew each other. I had broken bread in his house from time to time, sipped some of his scotch, exchanged words. We had been in airplanes together and in studio dining rooms and in cars and at previews. I knew his beloved wife, Carole Lombard, before she was killed by an airplane. I know her better and could talk more easily with her than with him.

Now that just about spells it out. Now and again I'd see him at a sports car sales place we both frequented, once or twice I drove a few of his more fleet cars — a Jag on which English frill he had the fun of putting a small sign, USA, just to show he wasn't homographed by a British car.

I knew when he was weary and wet after a hunt, I knew him on sets of pictures he didn't like to make but did make because he had a contract as an actor and honored his contracts as he honored every other obligation in his life.

I wanted to see "The Misfit" not for the maudlin reason that it was Pa's last picture. I wanted to see it because some kind of movie makers I know told me it was the best since acting the King had done since he brought Rhett Butler to life in "Gone With The Wind." The answer to that is that it is the best job in a long time. A lot of those pictures he made after coming back from the wars were tinsel and tin-can. Terrible. But "The Misfit," which I think he would have made for free, so passionate was he about the role they offered him, is a top of the heap job. The King at his exceptional and individual best as a performer.

There are scenes at the end when you can see him killing himself. Scenes shot in the white heat, the devastating heat, of the Nevada sands; not a tree in sight, no shade, no cool winds, the thermometer pumping at 110 and 115 degrees, and there he is wrangling wild horses, being dragged around by them, ploughed through that hot, cutting sand like a rag doll. And him, as they say in Ireland, 59 years old and all.

They offered him a wrangler to step in for the hard jobs, the jobs of holding a slipping rope burning the palms of his hands to the raw, while a wild stallion saws backwards on it and rolls with all his panicked weight. He said, no, he'd do it. And he did. You can hear the cruel rasp as his lungs pump for air, that awful sucking for air when the lungs can't bring it in fast enough and your stomach heaves and your hands shake and inside you the heart pumps like a worn-out thrasher.

I felt a tear as I watched the magnificent scenes that were killing a man who couldn't sit it out in the cool while someone else did the job. I own that I felt a tear. I liked this big hunk of guy very much, indeed, and to the end he stubbornly held to that image — an honest actor, a big hunk of guy doing it the hard way.

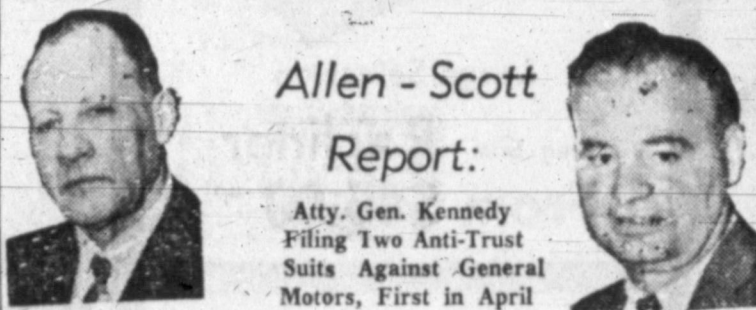

You can't put a 59-year-old man in 110 degrees of sun-baked heat, put him at the end of a hard rope being yanked by a wild-eyed stallion, and not ask for serious trouble.

They got it. He got it. More's the pity.

LEAVES FOR FLORIDA NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner left here Wednesday night for Florida to recuperate from a benign tumor operation he underwent recently. The mayor and his wife plan a 10-day vacation in the Keys.

FORM NEW TEAM NEW YORK (UPI) — Composer Richard Rodgers has announced he will collaborate with lyricist Alan Jay Lerner of "My Fair Lady" and "Carmelot" fame on a new musical play. Rodgers has been without a collaborator since the death of Oscar Hammerstein II last August.

To Keep The Peace—

ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy is tackling the nation's largest industrial corporation in the first of his big anti-trust suits.

The government's chief legal officer, following in the trust-busting footsteps of his Republican predecessor, is filing this month the first of two anti-monopoly cases against the huge General Motors Corporation.

As proposed by Robert B. Beck, former head of the Anti-Trust division under the Eisenhower Administration, General Motors will be sued under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act for allegedly monopolizing the market for diesel locomotives and their parts.

The second or "the big" General Motors suit, as it is referred to in the Justice Department, is now in its final stage of preparation and is scheduled for filing later this year.

Under this spectacular prosecution, General Motors will be asked to divest itself of all but one of its five passenger car divisions.

In both instances, Kennedy is giving the green light for his trust-busters to go ahead after a careful two months' review of the cases that former Attorney General William Rogers expressly left behind for his Democratic successor's determination.

Before making his decisions, aides report that young Kennedy carefully considered the explosive political as well as legal and economic implications involved in the suits.

Foremost among these is that Robert McNamara, new Defense Secretary, is the former president of Ford Motor Company — leading GM competitor.

On account of this relationship, Kennedy is avoiding discussing the cases with McNamara or any member of the Cabinet. He also is strictly forbidding any of his top aides to talk with outsiders about these or any other cases in the Justice Department until they are filed in court.

PREPARING THE WAY — The Justice Department's trust-busters are preparing their cases on information gathered by the following: (1) A federal grand jury probe in New York that has been in progress for two years; (2) an investigation by the Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.); (3) numerous detailed complaints from GM competitors; and (4) the Anti-Trust division's own three-year-old investigation.

In one of the documents submitted to the Justice Department by Senator Kefauver, General Motors is pictured as gobbling up most of the dwindling diesel locomotive business in the U.S. It reads, in part, as follows: "By 1954, General Motors shipped 100 per cent of all road freight and road passenger diesel locomotives sold in the U.S. The physical volume had greatly lessened by 1954 since almost complete dieselization of the railroad industry had been accomplished."

"The same situation occurred in connection with diesel switchers. In 1950, the peak year in its history, there were 4,175 switchers ordered in this country and General Motors' share was 48 per cent of switchers and 57 per cent of road locomotives. By 1954, total orders had been reduced to 983, but General Motors portion of the business had risen to 60 per cent and 70 per cent respectively."

As reported in an earlier column, among the documents submitted to the grand jury is a spe-

Pegler Says:

Former Fuller Brush Man In Proxy Raiding Business

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There are still imperfections in a National Securities Exchange which permits Davey Katz-Karr, a former Fuller Brush man and a penny-a-line reporter for the Communist Daily Worker, to run proxy raids against American business firms and to draw $90,000 a year plus lavish expenses from just one job while the stockholders of the company get nothing.

Karr first made himself notorious as a Washington hatchman in the prewar period; but then worked in the office of Facts and Figures and the office of War Information for the duration of the cruel conflict. Later, he dealt also in publicity and "public relations" for business firms and political movements.

He wrote a brazen, expert book vaunting his knowledge of the new business of proxy raiding and rose to wealth with the incredible Leopold Silberstein, born in Germany, who first was Davey's patron in the new racket, then his partner and finally his victim. Suddenly, Katz-Karr, a blade that knows no brother, slashed Silberstein in London where he has been moaning piteously while Davey has gone on to more spectacular feats of corporate manipulation.

Last May, as president of Fairbanks Whitney Corp., Katz-Karr stood before a stockholders meeting and soothed their anger momentarily with vague prospects of heroic profits to come from a process to extract salt from sea water. The legitimate publicity earned by an experimental plant (not Fairbanks Whitney's) in Israel, one of a dozen hurried efforts in many parts of the world, helped to boost Fairbanks Whitney from seven to about 12 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Meanwhile, Davey as president, had risen in a few years from $8,000 as press agent to $90,000 as chief executive of a company. He gets a lavish expense account as well.

Meanwhile, Davey's public relations mill grinds out impalpable benefits for a great California bank, one of the greatest American steamship lines and a movie combine. He even sat down with the national executives of a wire service in their New York headquarters and, with superb guile, talked them out of a lavish feast story celebrating his genius.

The Nation's Press

Cliches of Socialism "CUSTOMERS OUGHT TO BE PROTECTED BY PRICE CONTROLS." (Foundation for Economic Education)

There are still great areas of confusion and ignorance relating to something with which we are all familiar — the price of goods. It is in this area of pricing, wherein the customer comes face to face with the market place, that myths and legends abound. It is in this area where those who do not understand economic laws create a whole series of fictions on which many people act, and act to their own detriment.

It is axiomatic that what people do not understand they fear. Most people do not seem to understand the pricing processes and hence they fear them, and end by hating businessmen and having a widespread distrust of the market place in general.

All of which ought to go toward exploding another maxim, namely, that "what you don't know won't hurt you." As a matter of fact, it is usually the things we don't know which kill us. Man's greatest enemy is ignorance.

There is no excuse for any of us in this day and age misunderstanding or being in ignorance of the matter of pricing. So, as a sort of primer review, here are some things to keep in mind about prices.

1. Prices are never set by costs of production, or by manufacturers, merchants, or bankers. Prices are set by customers.

Nobody in that congregation of learning about notorious characters in current circulation had the wit to look up Davey Katz-Karr in the clippings a few feet away and dilute the glib rapture with a seasoning of sense.

President Jack Kennedy stimulated alarm over the newly discovered fresh water shortage with a cry in his last speech of the '60 campaign. On Nov. 4, in Chicago, he said:

"There are two areas of concern. In the spread of nuclear weapons there is a possibility by 1962 that Communist China will have an atomic capacity for the conversion of fresh water from salt water. Can you imagine what that will do for the world? The first country that's able to do that will earn more prestige than we lost by being second in outer space."

The urgency of this water problem is debatable. Nevertheless, a number of ballyhoo firms, notably Tex McCrary, Inc., of New York, got into the campaign as though the morrow otherwise might find the human race gaunt and hollow-eyed in the cartoonist's version of Lost in Death Valley. McCrary kicked out bulletins for a client by the vague name of "Armed Forces Chemical Association Convention." One of these outcries, dated Sept. 16, was a fascinating preview of Kennedy's remark to the great rally on Nov. 4. It seemed as though McCrary had sold almost the same phrases to Kennedy.

Since then, Davey's experimental dream for Fairbanks-Whitney has risen with the rest of the market. Meanwhile, too, envy of Davey's rise from rags to the opulence of a magnate in a chauffeured job on Park Avenue is mollified.

And his first wife, the one who hung around the White House in the Truman reign, holds a petty job with Columbia Broadcasting System. She was the one who did the brain work for Egbert Murray's immortal fraud about the employment of prostitutes to seduce out of town buyers in the Bagdad Bazaars of New York. The story of their estrangement has not been revealed, but prosperity passed by Madeleine Katz-Karr in favor of a successor who never shared Davey's hard times on $50 a week in Washington.

Each and every last one of these callers wished us good mornings and many happy returns of whatever day it happened to be. No holiday, no matter how trifling, escapes them. They keep up with all American holidays, Arbor Day and Alamo Day included. And I am pretty certain they know the holidays of the Finnish couple who live on the third floor, the one Englishman on the top floor, and the Spanish family across from us.

Two days before Easter the postman (and his call was a typical one) arrived two hours earlier than his usual time, and without his mail bag.

I thought at first he had come to deliver a special delivery letter, but no, he simply wanted to say "Buona Pasquale." When these calls were new to me, I just wished them a happy whatever-it-was-back, smiled, and closed the door.

Soon my mail began to arrive later, my milk came at five in the afternoon instead of nine in the morning, and my garbage pail stayed filled to the brim. I caught on. I started following the smile with a handful of coins, a solid token of my appreciation for this friendliness. Soon mail, milk and garbage resumed normal hours.

In addition to all American holidays, the calls are made on all Italian holidays, too. And they don't end there. The first day of spring brought callers, and I am sure the first day of summer will, too.

I can only hope that no one ever tips the Italians off to a book that lists dates of major inventions, signing of important treaties, and disasters such as fires, floods, and volcanic eruptions.

Front Door In Rome Like Union Station

ROME, ITALY — The American living in Rome is never lonely. He has callers all the time. His doorman is as busy as the buzzer in a dentist's office. Rare is the day when the doorman doesn't ring (or there isn't a knock on the door when the bell is out of order, which is quite frequent in a country where electricity is still rather mysterious).

The callers aren't American, they are Italian. Few of them speak English, and those who do have mastered only the simplest phrases, like "Good morning," and "Thank you very much." This makes their friendliness even more warming.

In the past few weeks we have had an even larger number of Italians at the front door than usual. This was due to Easter, George Washington's birthday and, before that, Valentine's day and Lincoln's birthday.

The callers included the postman, the milkman, the garbage man, the gas meter reader, the building porter, the delivery boys from the butcher and vegetable stores, the strolling broom salesman, whose wailing cry wakes us up each morning, the knife sharpener (whose cry would wake us up if the broom man failed), and the man who delivers fresh eggs.

Also, the flower seller from the nearby piazza, the man who develops our camera film, the cobbler on the corner, and two or three callers whose identity is a bit obscure.

Each and every last one of these callers wished us good mornings and many happy returns of whatever day it happened to be. No holiday, no matter how trifling, escapes them. They keep up with all American holidays, Arbor Day and Alamo Day included. And I am pretty certain they know the holidays of the Finnish couple who live on the third floor, the one Englishman on the top floor, and the Spanish family across from us.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Jay Channell, Minister
Mary Ellen at Harvester
Church of Christ

From the tales of the Arabian Nights there is the story of a peddler who walked the streets and shouted the unbelievable offer "New lamps for old!" It is a very enjoyable story but not a true one.

Yet in Christ there is truly an offer similar to that one. It is in 2 Corinthians: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

This is not a cry of merely new lamps for old, but, far more important, it is an offer of "New bodies, spiritual bodies for old and temporal ones!" What greater exchange is there than this! We have this promise — that for these poor, weak bodies in which we are now living, God has promised us perfect, spiritual ones.

Who would not have a perfect body? And who would not extend his days? For our limited days in our limited bodies are beautiful and precious. How much more valuable will be our bodies and our days eternal! Only in this promise — this promise of new bodies for old — does life become significant. For it was through this promise that the Apostle Paul could say "To die is gain". And it was without this promise that the dying Queen Elizabeth said, "All my possessions for a moment of time".

An offer greater than new lamps for old is ours. To accept this offer for new bodies, however, we must be willing to give the old — the ones we have now — to God!

Tascosa Favored In Track, Golf Play; Monterey, Lubbock In Tennis

Three Harvesters Teams Enter Packed Sandie Relays Field

AMARILLO — Track, tennis and golf teams representing Pampa High School were among the large group of Texas and New Mexico athletes competing in the 12th annual Sandie Relays which opened her today and concludes tomorrow afternoon.

Predicted overcast skies and cool weather were not expected to halt the onslaught on the track records. There were 239 entries in the 4A-3A division and 371 in the 1A, 1A and B bracket and the packed field was loded with talent. Ray Etherly of Albuquerque, who has already turned in the 9.5 clocking in the 100-yard dash this year, was expected to repeat his victory — also in 9.5 — achieved here last year.

Monterey's Lynn Livesay, who has the state's best time in the 220-yard dash with a 21.1 was expected to crack the Sandie standard of 21.4 set in 1953 by Frank DA. IAA and B bracket and the

A real battle is expected for the 440-yard relay title. Albuquerque won the event last year with a record 43.1, but Tascosa, Monterey, Dumas and Albuquerque have all bettered that mark in meets this spring.

In the weight events, Tascosa's Robert Hodges is expected to key the Rebel's bid for the 12th annual title. Hodges, one of the state top shot putters, has heaved the iron ball 55' 8" this season, more than three inches better than the record here of 55' 4 1/2" set in 1959.

As for Pampa, Coach Dwight Lyon was looking for points from Steve Dobbin in the 220-yard dash, Billy Cooper in the pole vault and possibly Bill Martin in the high jump.

Dobbin posted a 21.8 at the Lubbock Invitational two weeks ago which broke the existing record — which he held — in the preliminaries, but Livesay's state-busting 21.1 topped him in the finals.

Cooper has two second place ties in the pole vault to his credit, one at the Possum Kingdom Relays and the other at the West Texas Relays, while Martin grabbed a first place tie in the high jump earlier this week at Borger in the transplanted Perryton Track Meet.

Pampa's tennis team, fresh from a 4-2 victory over Borger in a dual match at Pampa yesterday, will enter Gary Storrs, the lone PHS senior, in the Class A singles and Jerry Thomas, the blossoming sophomore star, in the Class B 6-4.

The only losers yesterday were in the girls' bracket as Donna Walsh and Linda Connors fell, 6-4,

Pampa's tennis team, fresh from a 4-2 victory over Borger in a dual match at Pampa yesterday, will enter Gary Storrs, the lone PHS senior, in the Class A singles and Jerry Thomas, the blossoming sophomore star, in the Class B 6-4.

The only losers yesterday were in the girls' bracket as Donna Walsh and Linda Connors fell, 6-4, vid Collins will enter the Class B 2-4, 2-6, and Marge Word and Diana Meyers last, 3-4, 0-6.

Pampa's golfers perhaps stood the strongest bet of returning with a Sandie Relays title. The golfers finished second at Andrews, fourth at Abilene and fifth in District 3-4A action after shooting 319 at Pampa Country Club yesterday afternoon for a 650 total for 36 holes of the conference tournament.

Pampa will enter teams in the A and B divisions at Amarillo with Brian Prigmore, Johnny Hatcher, Leonard Hudson, David Pattison, and Bobby Howard representing PHS in the A bracket.

In the 'B' division, Pampa's team will be comprised of Chester Cummings, David Walker, L. D. Steele, Freddie Howard, and Gary Stanfield.

Tascosa, the present leader in District 3-4A play (617) with 18 holes left to go, is the favorite here but probably will receive strong bids from Big Spring, Midland, Andrews, Monterey and possibly Borger and Pampa.

Lubbock, PHS Vie For Flag

Shooting for a share of first place Pampa's Harvesters (2-1) hit the field at 4 p.m. today as Lubbock's Westerners brought their glossy 4-0 district record to Harvester Park.

Coach Deck Woltd nominated sophomore Jerry Glover (2-1) for today's game while Lubbock mentor Earl Parker was undecided between David Whiteside (5-0) or Fred Hamrick (3-2).

Glover won his first district game Tuesday in a 3-1-3 inning relief stint in Pampa's 3-1 victory over Palo Duro, while his one loss was a heartbreaking 1-0 to Plainview last week.

Hamrick defeated Plainview, 10-7, Tuesday for his third victory, although he trailed 5-2 after three innings.

In other games today, Borger (2-0) and Monterey (4-0) meet in Borger in a battle of unbeaten, Tascosa (0-2) is at Amarillo (0-3) and Plainview (1-2) goes to Palo Duro (0-3).

Tomorrow at 2 p.m., Pampa faces the second half of the district leader when Monterey brings its talent-laden squad to Harvester Park.

Monterey is the defending district champion and is touted to repeat. Donnie Bumpass (6-0) is the mainstay of the Plainsmen's pitching staff but he probably will be used against Borger today.

The Plainsmen boast a leading candidate for all-state honors in Ronald Bandy, an outfielder. Bandy is hitting a luster .778, leads Monterey in RBIs with 7 and has already turned in a noteworthy performance when he hit three home runs in one game as Monterey downed Amarillo, 7-1.

The Pampa lineup for both games probably will be the same with Mike Stewart (.286) at catcher; Larry Stroud (.222), first; Ab Cullender (.000) at second; Butch Crossland (.333) at short; Keith Gregory (.500) at third; Butch Frazier (.000) in left; Roy Don Stephens (.200) in center and Gerrel Owens (.273) in right.

Hawks Bank Hopes On Lovellette's Play

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Hawks, fighting to stay alive in the best-of-seven series with the Boston Celtics for the NBA crown today, pinned their hopes on the weakened back of big Clyde Lovellette as they looked for their first playoff victory.

Hawk coach Paul Seymour said, "We have to win the two games here Saturday and Sunday if we hope to have a chance in the series. We need Clyde to compete with Boston's manpower."

The Celtics ruffled the Hawks' feathers with back to back wins in the opening two games of the playoff at Boston. Then Lovellette remained at home, recuperating from a badly sprained back he suffered in the playoff series with the Los Angeles Lakers for the Western Division title.

Both clubs were scheduled for workouts today and Lovellette planned to drill with the Hawks. But first he had an appointment with Dr. Stan London, Hawks' physician, for a last-minute checkup.

A spokesman for the Boston club said all the Celtics were fit and ready for action in Saturday's contest. However, he added, if Lovellette is "in top form; the Hawks would be a much tougher club than they were in Boston.

It was the first time since Hook took over as manager of the Yankees that he pinpointed a change from the Stengel regime. Turley, who won 21 games in 1958, allowed only two hits and two runs in seven innings against the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday, and seems ready to return to 20-victory form this year. Hook indicated that he would open the season next Tuesday with Whitey Ford and follow with Turley, Art Ditmar and Ralph Terry.

Frank Robinson cracked his eighth homer of the spring as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Milwaukee Braves, 6-5. Bob Purkey pitched the first four innings for the Reds and was tagged for

Tascosa Retains District Margin

Amarillo Tascosa used consistent shooting of its top three aces yesterday afternoon at the Pampa Country Club course to beat back a strong challenge by Borger and grab an eight-stroke lead at the end of 36-holes in the District 3-4A golf tournament.

Borger's Don Lackey keyed his team's surge with a 72 yesterday — one over par — to spark the Bulldogs to a 303, the lowest score turned in yesterday by any team, but the Bulldogs 625 total was still eight strokes off Tascosa's leading total of 309-308-617.

Tascosa's William Whitley was two strokes off medalist with 77 yesterday, giving his a 36-hole total of 152. Others in the medalist fight with 18 holes — those to be played in Amarillo on April 15 — was Mike Gibson, Tascosa (77-77-154) and Stephen LaCone, Tascosa (76-78-154).

Pampa's Harvesters used the home course advantage to move up one position-to-fifth place with a 319 yesterday, giving PHS a 650 score at the end of 36-holes.

On Pampa's A division team, Leonard Hudson and Bobby Howard turned in 79s for the locals' low scores but were still behind teammate Johnny Hatcher, who fired an 80 to give him a 157 total, five strokes behind Lackey.

David Pattison turned in the best Pampa score of the day in both divisions in the B bracket as he shot a 78 to go with his first round 88 for a 166 total.

Other Pampa-A scores were Howard (84-79-163), Brian Prigmore (84-84-168); Chester Cummings (88-81-169), and Hudson (82-79-161).

Pampa 'B' scores at the end of 36 holes were Pattison (88-78-165); David Walker (90-92-182); Roy Webb (93-90-183); Gary Stanfield (95-94-189); L. D. Steele (100-92-192) and Freddie Howard (96-92-188).

Team totals at the end of 36 holes were Tascosa (309-308-617); Borger (322-303-625); Palo Duro (322-314-636); Monterey (318-327-645); Pampa (331-319-650); Amarillo (327-327-654); Borger B (341-317-658); Monterey 'B' (332-349-681); Tascosa 'B' (342-338-680); Lubbock (351-335-686); Plainview (372-370-742); Pampa 'B' (356-344-700); Palo Duro 'B' (368-364-732); Amarillo 'B' (376-357-733).

Many Records In Danger

1,200 Athletes Ready As Texas Relays Open

AUSTIN (UPI)—Athletes from 10 states and Mexico pulled on their spikes today, hoping the weatherman was right, and set out to prove that Texas Relays records books are on shaky ground.

The weatherman predicted partly cloudy, warm, slightly breezy weather for the preliminaries in the Texas Relays starting at 1

BOB ROSBURG ... Masters co-leader

PROTESTS RACEDATES PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—The Narragansett Racing Association, Inc., has filed a formal appeal with the hearing board of the Rhode Island Racing Commission concerning the fall dates it was issued.

The relays will wind up Saturday with 21 final events.

Sprinkled throughout the field of 1,200 entries in the relays are men who could re-write the record book of this 33-year-old event—such as Air Force Lt. Eddie Southern of University of Texas and Olympic fame, Stone Johnson of Grambling, Ernie Cunniff of Stanford, Earl Young of Abilene Christian, and Al Lawrence of Australia.

Southern heads a strong 400-meter hurdles field that includes Don Styron of Southern Illinois, holder of the low hurdles world record. Texas' Rex Wilson and Red Stucker of Kansas State.

Southern will also enter the 100-meter invitational event against Johnson, Styron, and Texas' Ralph Alsop.

Lending class to the 1,500-meter run, Cunniff joins Mike Wiggs of England, John Cooper of North Texas State and Jim Dupree of Southern Illinois.

Shortstop Don Buddin's error paved the way for a seven-run fourth inning that carried the Cubs to their victory over the Red Sox.

Leo Posada had three doubles and a single and Lou Klimchok hit a three-run homer and a single to lead the Athletics' attack

Leaders Shoot 68's To Gain Slim Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer, who liked his putter except for one hole, and Bob Rosburg, who liked his spectacular finish, led the field into the second round of the Masters golf tournament today.

Both shot four under par 68's in a chilly rain Thursday to take a one-stroke lead over little Gary Player, the South African, who is golf's leading money winner. And both had their putters and their pin-point approaching to thank.

Although they have contrasting styles, there was a lot of similarity in their first round play. Both had 28 putts. Both had five birdies and one bogey. Both had hot streaks. And both were glad they played so well.

Palmer had nine one-putt greens, Rosburg six. In addition, Rosburg sank a 120-foot wedge shot.

Rosburg's hot streak was reminiscent of Palmer's finish to win the masters last year. Rosburg was even par after 12 holes and then carded four birdies on the next five holes. Palmer had birdied five of the last six holes a year ago to beat out Ken Venturi by a stroke.

Today, Venturi with a first round par (72, was four strokes back of the co-leaders.

Two strokes off the pace was husky Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio.

Considered the strongest amateur threat in the field, Nicklaus, who played with Palmer, birdied the final hole for a two under par 70. One stroke behind Nicklaus came four pros—the 48-year-old Byron Nelson, former Masters champion Doug Ford, Paul Harvey and Johnny Pott.

Four strokes behind Palmer and Rosburg, with even par 72s, were PGA champion Jay Hebert, Stan Leonard of Canada, former U.S. Open champions Billy Casper and Tommy Bolt, Gene Littler and former amateur king Charlie Coe.

Former PGA champion Down Finsterwald; three foreign threats, Peter Thomson of Australia and Roberto De Vincenzo and Antonio Cerdá, both of Mexico; Ted Kroll and U.S. amateur champion Deane Beman were grouped at 73.

In a large group at 74 were two old-time gallery favorites, Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, along with Chandler Harper, Fred Hawkins, Chick Harbert, Don January, and Bobby Howard representing PHS in the A bracket.

In the 'B' division, Pampa's team will be comprised of Chester Cummings, David Walker, L. D. Steele, Freddie Howard, and Gary Stanfield.

Tascosa, the present leader in District 3-4A play (617) with 18 holes left to go, is the favorite here but probably will receive strong bids from Big Spring, Midland, Andrews, Monterey and possibly Borger and Pampa.

Walter Burkemo, Bob Goalby, Al Balding, Lionel Hebert and Bill Collins, among others.

But the story of the first round was Palmer, Rosburg and the weather.

The field of 88 golfers started teeing off under overcast skies and a light, but cold wind. By the time Palmer teed off it was raining and the rain fell through the rest of the day.

Richard Nixon Will Start Comeback Trail With Speech Soon In Chicago

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For Richard M. Nixon the come-back trail begins next month in Chicago. If the newspaper reporting of Nixon's presidential campaign was bad—as charged—the reporting of Nixon's progress on the come-back trail should be good. He will be discussing what everyone in and out of Washington is discussing these days. He will be discussing this: "How is JFK doing?" On May 3 in Chicago, Nixon will make the first of a series of speeches. Des Moines and Detroit are on the schedule. What Nixon has to say will come through loud and clear because the circumstances which aroused protests against reporting of his campaign speeches will not prevail this spring. If Nixon listens to some of the advice that is available to him in Washington, he will challenge the Kennedy administration in the field of government spending. President Eisenhower established the pattern for that challenge in a campaign speech delivered last autumn in Philadelphia. President Ike had some questions for candidate Kennedy: Will you establish or maintain a balanced budget? Will you increase government spending? If your spending program forbids a balanced budget, how will you pay the costs of your spending programs, by increasing taxes or by accepting an inflationary further increase in the public debt? These questions are better now than when Eisenhower asked them last year. This is true despite the fact that the Kennedy accountants calculate that Eisenhower's final budgets were not, themselves, in the black. There is partisan dispute about that. There is no dispute, however, about the 1961 and 1962 budgets as they are to be administered by President Kennedy. They will be deficit budgets. There is some dispute about how much in the red. The programs of the Kennedy administration as revealed so far are substantially spending programs. There is acute danger, if not the proven fact of currency inflation in those programs. There is a legitimate difference of partisan opinion on the subject of spending, budgets and deficits. One side holds that certain definite social and welfare objectives must be realized, if the nation is to survive, regardless of treasury deficits and further totting of the U. S. dollar by inflation.

Yank Business Man, Freed By Red China, Has Short Time To Live

CLARK AFB, Philippines (UPI) — Mrs. Flora McCann sadly told newsmen today her husband, Robert, is expected to die within a few months. The California woman spoke to newsmen shortly after arriving here from Hong Kong with her stricken husband, just released from 10 years imprisonment in Communist China. "My husband has a cancer through his body," Mrs. McCann said as she lowered her eyes. "I talk to him at short intervals when he is lucid and then his mind wanders off and he becomes groggy. The things that mean the most to him, such as his family, he does not ask about."

The other side holds that the nation cannot survive at all the destruction of the integrity of the dollar. These two points of view represent the basic political difference between the Democratic and Republican parties. Nixon is competent to speak for the Republicans.

Eye Care Pays, Business Firms Are Discovering

NEW YORK (UPI)—More and more business firms are finding out that eye testing and eye care pay off in dollars and cents. Recent reports on results of well planned, well executed sight programs showed production increases of 15 to 20 per cent; sharp reduction in spoilage and breakage; lessening of labor turnover; a decline in absenteeism.

While it is impossible to estimate the total expenditure by U.S. firms for advancement of workers' visual efficiency, a large number of companies have attested to their own experience, indicating savings consistently out weigh cost. Univis, Inc., a leading lens maker, cited a few examples: —In one plant rejects were running 20 per cent before correction, but a sound eye care program reduced the rate to 10 per cent. —Despite increased production in one plant scrap losses in the first eight months following the start of its vision program were cut 20,000 pounds below the same period of the year before. —A Chicago firm began a pilot eye care program some years ago in a single department of more than 300 people. Eyeglasses were obtained wherever necessary. In terms of increased productivity by individual workers, savings were calculated at $487 to $1,384 per man per year, depending on the job assignment.

But he added that it is not only in the plant that multiple vision is required—offices make many similar demands. A typical desk worker needs sharp, near vision to examine great quantities of reading material, much of it in fine print.

—Mrs. McCann said her husband had received "very good" treatment from the Communists, particularly in the last two years. She said the Tientsin hospital had "top men" on its staff and her husband apparently had good quality medical care after his cancer was discovered last January.

—The British press said Kennedy had strengthened the United States' world leadership compared to its status under former President Eisenhower. An earlier report that Kennedy had rejected British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as a diplomatic go-between with the Soviet Union touched off a storm of protest in British newspapers. But the furor died down following high-level talks between Kennedy and Macmillan aboard the President's yacht "Honey Fitz."

The British Foreign Office had shown concern for the report published in a U.S. newspaper, but the British press almost unanimously minimized it and endorsed Anglo-American solidarity. Following acknowledgement of U.S. leadership by British government quarters, here, the Daily Sketch said in an editorial: "Good for President Kennedy. Good for Britain. The report, if true, should be welcomed."

ATASCADERO, Calif. (UPI) — Actress Ann Sothern, 50, suffered minor injuries Wednesday when an auto driven by her 16-year-old daughter, Patricia, slammed broadside into another vehicle at an intersection on U.S. 101. The actress and her daughter were treated at a hospital for minor cuts and bruises and released.

Briton's Support Kennedy's Lead Of Western Bloc

LONDON (UPI) — President Kennedy today appeared to have won solid British support for his leadership of the West in the "cold war" struggle with Russia. The British press said Kennedy had strengthened the United States' world leadership compared to its status under former President Eisenhower. An earlier report that Kennedy had rejected British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as a diplomatic go-between with the Soviet Union touched off a storm of protest in British newspapers. But the furor died down following high-level talks between Kennedy and Macmillan aboard the President's yacht "Honey Fitz."

Study Of Fishing Problem Started

AUSTIN (UPI) — Three members of the Senate State Affairs Committee have undertaken a study to see if more state control of salt water fishing is needed. Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, sponsor of a bill to reorganize the State Game and Fish Commission, asked for the group to investigate the problems of dredging. He said the sportsmen's groups on the Gulf Coast complain that dredging operations take live oysters in addition to shells, that and other problems would be considered by the commission under his bill. Subcommittee members to study the problem are Sen. Bruce Regan of Corpus Christi, Sen. Robert Baker of Houston and Sen. William Moore of Bryan. Schwartz suggested that they make an investigation of the problem in Galveston Bay.

Terrorists Kill French Officer

PARIS (UPI)—A band of Algerian terrorists invaded a hospital here yesterday in an assassination attack on a rival Moslem. In a gun battle they killed a police sergeant and wounded two other policemen, four patients, a hospital attendant, and three visitors. The attack in suburban Montfermeil was the latest incident in a week of terrorist violence. Five persons were killed last weekend when terrorists attacked police stations in the Paris region where Moslems are employed as auxiliaries. Fourteen persons were injured when a bomb exploded in the Paris Stock Exchange Tuesday.

Thunderbird Air Team Chief, Pal Killed In Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Major Robert S. Fitzgerald, leader of the famed Thunderbird stunt team died as he lived—in the airplane. Whether in an old Aeronca that carried him on his first ride when he was 7 or the F100F in which he made his last flight, Fitzgerald was at home in the air. "As long as I can remember," the 35-year-old black-haired Irishman once said, "I've wanted to be a military aviator."

Beaumont Sheriff Clings To Office

BEAUMONT (UPI)—Veteran Sheriff Charles H. Meyer remained in office yesterday with a first-round victory over Jefferson County's legal effort to suspend him temporarily from his post.

Sales Head Upward For Auto Industry

By ROBERT IRVIN DETROIT (UPI)—Auto industry leaders feel they broke the back of the recession with a sparkling sales performance last month and have set their sights on an even better showing in April. The auto makers claim the worst of the industry's business slump is over and point to last month's fat sales increase as proof. They say the boost was more than the seasonal upturn expected in spring.
