Solon Raps Compromise Banking Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — The compromise between Gov. Price Daniel and Texas bankers on legislation dealing with abandoned bank accounts is a "fraud," a co-sponsor of the bill charged Saturday.

Rep. Paul Haring of Goliad said the bill "isn't a compromise, it is a surrender to the banking lobby."

Haring, who served on a special House committee which investigated banking practices on abandoned accounts, urged the House Revenue and Taxation Committee to accept an amendment that would clearly prohibit banks from wiping out dormant accounts with service charges.

Rep. Ted Springer of Amarillo, who also served on the committee, authored the amendment. He warned the House would kill the bill if his proposal was rejected. The committee turned him down.

Haring charged a loophole in the bill would permit banks to lure depositors into written agreement for service charges on dormant accounts when they endorsed the original contract opening the account.

Daniel issued a statement later saying he agreed the section of the bill should be "stricken or clarified."

However, he said, he did not believe banks would use the section "for repeating the abuses of the past."

A majority of the committee held it would be unconstitutional to prohibit a contract between a bank and a depositor.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Charles Hughes of Sherman, was sent to the floor for action.

If it can be printed and placed on the members' desk this week-end Hughes said he will ask for a vote on the measure Monday.

The bill is Daniel's prime reason for calling the third special session.

All three major issues of the special session could come up for a vote next week.

The House Committee on Banking has under consideration two bills.

Scouts Plan Fund Drive In February

The Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, which headquarters in Pampa, and covers 12 Texas and three Oklahoma Panhandle counties, will conduct a capital development campaign, according to Bob Brummal, Borger, council president.

The drive, which will get underway early in February, will make possible the construction of much needed facilities at Camp Kiowa, located near Canadian, and the erection of a new service center on property already owned by the Council in Pampa.

The campaign goal has been set at $129,000.

The council president pointed out that 13,571 boys are available to be members of the Boy Scouts of America in the 15-county area.

Dutch Certain To Lose Area, Sukarno Avers

PARE-PARE, Indonesia (UPI) — President Sukarno Saturday told a mass rally that only God could prevent Indonesia from "liberating" West Irian Dutch New Guinea before the end of 1962.

Attending the rally were foreign ambassadors accompanying the Indonesian president on his tour of Indonesia with Soviet Astronaut Gherman Titov.

Sukarno introduced Titov and the ambassadors before addressing the crowd in this town on Celebes Island. U. S. Ambassador Howard Jones shouted the word "merdeka" (freedom) into the microphone and the ambassadors from Japan and Czechoslovakia followed suit.

Soviet Ambassador N. A. Mikhalov brought a roar of cheers when he cried "Irian Barat Merdeka" (West Irian freedom).

Sukarno, who has put Indonesia on a near war footing for his "liberation" campaign, said he will fight "economically, politically and, if necessary, military" to assure Dutch control over West Irian is ended this year.

"Only he who can stop the sun from orbiting, from rising daily in the East and setting in the West, ceasing the eternal rhythm, only he can halt the Indonesian peoples' struggle to return West Irian to Indonesia," Sukarno said.

Sukarno said that the "movement to liberate West Irian is not his wish as some foreign countries said, but the wish of 98 million people of Indonesia who are now in possession of the spirit of the 1945 revolution (against the Dutch) and national unity."

All Indonesian armed forces and police have been on a combat alert since Sukarno launched his "liberation campaign" last month. General mobilization of men and women in the areas closest to New Guinea also was underway. The Indonesian Air Force Friday closed off air space over eastern Indonesia to all but specially authorized flights.

"Don't ever get the idea that you can have federal aid to education or medicine without federal control of education and medicine," Rep. Rogers said.

All through his talk, the congressman lashed out at the many and devious attempts at "centralization of government and voiced his opposition to all of them.

"We see all the time," he said, "moves to vest more power in the executive branch of the government. These powers must be kept with Congress, the representatives of the people. It is the only way we can keep from moving into more and more centralized power."

Rogers took a direct punch to the chest when he said:

"Let's hope it can be put to good use by making it a buffer against the Communist nations."

Rogers expressed rigid opposition to federal aid to education and medical aid for the aged, pointing out the pitfalls of both proposals.

"The European common market — a six country bloc formed for the common economy of the community states — has been growing faster than expected," Rogers said. "Since much of it was built by our own foreign aid money they can well be in competition with us and destroy our trade economy if this matter is not dealt with wisely."

'Forces Of Good' Urged To Action At Kiwanis Meet

Individual Pampanos, along with individual Americans everywhere, were urged at Friday's luncheon of the Pampa Kiwanis Club, to take a stand in the current cold war between the forces of evil and the forces of good.

In urging the people to act, Dr. Weldon Adair, newly elected Kiwanis Club president, said the forces of good are called "capitalism" and the forces of evil "socialism" and "communism."

"The trouble today is that the people who believe in the forces of good do not realize the danger because there is no shooting war," Dr. Adair said.

"We must act," he continued, "if we are to preserve the freedom which our forefathers gave us."

"Individual freedom is our heritage, but there is a responsibility that goes along with it. We as individuals must become informed as to right and wrong and take a stand on one side or the other."

"No shots are being fired between us yet," he added, "but the war is in progress just the same and one side or the other will win it within the years just ahead."

Dr. Adair said an individual cannot afford to say that he is only one and what he does makes no difference.

"That's where the difference between victory and defeat lies," the speaker said. "Every single man, woman and child will have to take a stand."

He pointed out that one-third of the peoples of the earth and one-fourth of the earth's surface are now under the control of the forces of evil.

Dr. Adair said that the fight against communism must be carried on soberly, seriously and responsibly.

"Facts and truth are our best weapons," he said. "We must study what is going on in our country and in the world. To be informed is to be prepared."

Dr. Adair suggested that Pampanos who wish to be informed on the workings of communism and socialism in our country get a copy of J. Edgar Hoover's book, "Masters of Deceit."

East And South Dealt Blows By Vicious Weather

By United Press International. One of the worst storms of the winter battered the nation's eastern half Saturday with heavy snows, deadly ice and almost every other kind of vicious weather in the books.

The storm turned highways into lethal toboggan slides from Chicago to Boston. It closed down or crippled air traffic at New York, Buffalo, Chicago and Baltimore. At least five tornadoes battered rural areas in Georgia.

Sleet, rain, fog and sub-zero temperatures were included in the arsenal of the eastward-driving storm system.

At least 12 and possibly 20 deaths were blamed on the storm since it rolled out of the southern plains Friday.

On an icy expressway at Toledo, Ohio, a car carrying a deaf-mute bowling team from Detroit careened into the path of a truck. Four men were killed and two were injured.

The town of Crestview, Fla., counted one person dead, 26 injured, and 300 persons homeless in the wake of a tornado which destroyed or damaged 150 homes Friday night. There were three weather-blamed deaths in New England, two each in Kansas and Michigan.

Heavy snow warnings stretched across parts of Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and lower Michigan, with depths of 6 to 10 inches expected in the northern Illinois-Chicago region. Freezing rain and sleet prompted hazardous driving warnings through Eastern Illinois, Indiana, southern lower Michigan, northern New York state and New England.

Terrorists Kill Algerian Jurist

ALGIERS (UPI) — Moslem terrorists shot and killed the French-born vice president of the Algiers Superior Court Saturday only a hundred yards from the court building.

The assassins' victim was Charles Causse, 41, one of Algeria's most prominent judges. He was the father of five children.

County Officers Ask Re-election In May Primary

Political activity in Gray County and the 31st Judicial District continued to stir over the week-end with announcements and filings of candidates for county judge, county treasurer, county clerk, county commissioner, and district clerk posts.

Latest to file were County Judge Bill Craig and County Clerk Charlie Thut, both seeking re-election, subject to the May 5 Democratic primary election.

Judge Craig, who is seeking a second term, is 46 and a graduate of Texas University with degrees in law and business. He is a veteran of World War II. He served in the Texas House of Representatives from 1947 to 1952, representing the ten counties in the Panhandle.

In his announcement, Judge Craig said his record will be his platform for re-election.

"I promise the voters of Gray County to continue to fairly and impartially carry out the duties of the office of county judge," Craig said.

County Clerk Thut, a veteran in the service of Gray county, is asking the voters to continue him as their county clerk. His statement said:

"I appreciate the support given me by Gray County voters through the past years. I will make every effort to continue to conduct the affairs of the clerk's office in an efficient manner."

Ola Gregory, who filed Friday for re-election as county treasurer, Helen Sprinkle, who filed for district clerk, and E. C. (Ed) Mackie, oilfield worker, who also filed last week for Pct. 2 county commissioner issued formal statements Saturday in connection with their candidacies.

Miss Gregory's statement said: "I pledge the same efficient, courteous service to the people of Gray County that has been given in the past and feel that the ever-increasing duties of the treasurer call for a person of experience. I feel that I am qualified by virtue of the past record of 16 years service as treasurer as well as past service as a deputy county clerk."

Mackie's statement follows: "I elected, I will give everyone fair consideration of all their road problems and make the taxpayers' money go as far as possible."

Mrs. Sprinkle, bidding for re-election to a third term as district clerk, said:

"If elected, I promise to perform the duties of this office in an honest, courteous and efficient manner, to the best of my ability."

Army Generals To Visit Camp

FORT POLK, La. (UPI) — Army Secretary Elvis Stahr and Army Chief of Staff Gen. George Decker will make separate visits to Fort Polk next week.

They are expected to determine what to do with the post after the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard is deactivated and vacates the fort.

Cloudy And Cold Weather Looms

Increasing cloudiness and snowy weather is in prospect for Pampa and vicinity and northwestern Texas, the Weather Bureau reported Saturday.

The slightly higher temperatures for the area were forecast as the Arctic air that brought blizzard-like winter weather to North Central Texas Friday pushed all the way into the other end of the state Saturday night.

Farmers feared for citrus crops.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said temperatures in South Central Texas might fall to 25 degrees by Sunday. The Lower Rio Grande Valley had a forecast for freezing temperatures.

Farmers in the area expressed fear that if the temperature should drop much below freezing it would seriously damage winter citrus crops in the area.

The weather bureau warned that temperatures in South Central Texas would fall as low as 25 degrees, with the highest overnight readings expected to be only two or three degrees above freezing.

Readings in the lower 20s were expected across northern Texas, and sub-freezing temperatures in the remainder of the state.

The mercury climbed above freezing over Northwestern Texas Saturday, melting much of the heavy snow which fell during a near-blizzard Friday.

By mid-day Saturday the temperature was above freezing at every reporting Texas station except Amarillo, where it was 32.

History-Shaping Issues Face U.S., Rogers Avers

By TEX DEWEESE. Some of the problems confronting Congress in 1962 and an indictment of our State Department were placed on view for a Chamber of Commerce dinner audience in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room Friday night by Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Rogers listed the reciprocal trade program, federal aid to education, medical aid for the aged, and the proposed creation of a new cabinet post for urban aid as some of the major issues facing the Congress which convenes Jan. 10.

The 18th Congressional District representative said what is done with relation to the reciprocal trade program could well change the history of the world for good or bad in the years to come.

"The European common market — a six country bloc formed for the common economy of the community states — has been growing faster than expected," Rogers said. "Since much of it was built by our own foreign aid money they can well be in competition with us and destroy our trade economy if this matter is not dealt with wisely.

"Let's hope it can be put to good use by making it a buffer against the Communist nations."

Rogers expressed rigid opposition to federal aid to education and medical aid for the aged, pointing out the pitfalls of both proposals.

"Don't ever get the idea that you can have federal aid to education or medicine without federal control of education and medicine," Rep. Rogers said.

All through his talk, the congressman lashed out at the many and devious attempts at "centralization of government and voiced his opposition to all of them.

Two Fliers Killed As Plane Crashes

MULESHOE, Tex. (UPI) — A T33 jet trainer from Reese Air Force Base near Lubbock exploded while making a low pass 18 miles southeast of Muleshoe Saturday and crashed.

The two men aboard were killed. The Air Force identified one of the dead as Capt. Thomas P. Sexton, 34, of Glen Allen, Va. The other was a student pilot from West Germany. His identity was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

First Nominees — 'Honor Roll Of Friendly People' Growing

The "Honor Roll of Friendly People" in Pampa is growing longer with each passing day.

Interest continues to pick up in The Pampa News' contest to find the friendliest, most courteous employee — a man and woman — in Pampa.

It is evident that many Pampanos are friendly and courteous, judging from the names that have so far been mailed to The News or placed in the ballot drop boxes in the lobbies of Pampa's two banks and the Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall.

The balloting continues until Feb. 15.

You are urged to vote for your favorite employee, using the ballot that appears daily in The Pampa News.

The two friendliest, most courteous employees will be honored with the presentation of $500 in cash. There also will be 50 honorable mention citations — 25 to men and 25 to women.

The winners will be announced Sunday, Feb. 25, in a special edition of The News, saluting Pampana's employees.

Principal aim of the contest is to keep Pampa the friendliest city in Texas and to help make more people know each other in Pampa.

The rules of the contest are simple. Just use the official courtesy award nomination ballot that appears every day in The News. This is the only ballot that will be accepted. Be sure to fill it in completely, including your own name. Vote for employees only — not for managers or owners.

Each person nominated will receive a special "Courtesy Club" card in recognition of their being nominated as a "friendly, courteous" employee.

Nominations up until noon Saturday included the following employees and their place of employment:

Miss L. Bayless, Highland Hotel.

Mrs. Bob Birdson, The Aqueduct.

'Bucket Brigade' Gets Ready For Dimes Campaign

Local civic organizations drew for corners in the annual "Bucket Brigade" for the March of Dimes recently in the Chamber office of the City Hall.

The "Bucket Brigade," when the organizations will have men placed at various street corners to solicit contributions to the March of Dimes, will be held Saturday January 20, beginning at 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Nine organizations are expected to work in the special drive. They are the Evening Lions, Breakfast Optimist, Top O' Texas Kiwanis, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Noon Kiwanis, Key Club, Noon Lions and the Evening Optimist.

It has been recommended that each club provide four men at each intersection at all times, Saturday.

The organizations and corners they drew are, Evening Lions, Ballard and Foster; Breakfast Optimist, Kingsmill and Russell; Top O' Texas Kiwanis, Francis and Cuyler; Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kingsmill and Cuyler; Rotary, Foster and Cuyler; Noon Kiwanis, Hobart, Alcock and Francis; Key Club, Hobart and Kentucky; Noon Lions, Browning and Cuyler and Evening Optimist, Aichison and Cuyler.

The money is to be turned in to Bennie Shackelford, treasurer of the day's activities.

In other MOD activities scheduled throughout the month, according to Jerry Simms, county chairman, there will be the annual city and county Mothers' March scheduled for Monday, January 22, with Mrs. R. A. Mack, Pampa, as chairman.

City and county residents will soon be receiving their MOD mailers, asking for contributions. This year's theme for the March of Dimes is "Your Dimes Will do Again."

GOP Will Seek Congress Seat

ODESSA, (UPI)—Ed Foreman, a 28-year-old businessman, will seek the Republican nomination this year to oppose U. S. Rep. J. T. Rutherford, a Democrat.

Foreman announced that he will run for the 16th Congressional District post because "of a strong belief in a principle — sound conservative government that preserves individual freedom for the people."

Foreman, an officer in four firms related to the oil industry, has never sought public office before. He will take part in the Republican primary May 5.

He said he is a "strong believer in less federal government control, for more states' rights and free enterprise and strong opposition to federal aid to education and medical care in the aged under social security."

UPI Declares Press Freedom Issue In Texas

AUSTIN (UPI)—If a contempt of court citation against Houston Press reporter Margaret Davis is allowed to stand "freedom of the press in this state is dead," United Press International told the Court of Criminal Appeals this week.

"The scourge of censorship is upon us," attorneys Martin Harris and Edward Clark said in their brief for UPI, if the high court does not overrule the $100 fine Mrs. Davis was assessed by Harris County Judge Billy Ragan.

Mrs. Davis with the full legal backing of the Houston Press appealed the fine after being placed on "technical arrest." Oral arguments were presented to the Court of Criminal Appeals yesterday.

UPI intervened on behalf of Mrs. Davis "because of the adverse effect which a decision of this court may have, not only on the business (of UPI) but upon the entire free press of the state."

Ragan held Mrs. Davis in contempt Dec. 11 for violating his oral orders not to sit with other reporters and lawyers inside a railing within the court. He had been criticized by the Houston Press for being in the insurance business as well as holding a full-time $15,600 judicial post.

UPI did not challenge judicial authority to impose "reasonable restrictions upon those present in the court room in order to maintain decorum and prevent interference with due administration of justice."

"However," the brief said, "such rules cannot apply so as to, in effect, select the news media or reporter to the exclusion of others."

"This is a case wherein punishment has been inflicted because of adverse criticism of the trial judge by the relator's newspaper and had nothing whatsoever to do with the alleged contemptuous conduct," UPI said.

UPI warned that if the three judges on the state's highest criminal court allow Mrs. Davis to be punished, the courts will "most certainly infringe upon the right of the news media to freely express their views and opinions."

The alleged contemptuous action by Mrs. Davis in no manner impaired the work of Judge Ragan's court, the UPI brief added. It charged Ragan with having "marked personal feeling" in the case "and a total absence of any impartial or calm judicial consideration and conclusion."

In asking the high court to throw to the contempt judgment against Mrs. Davis, UPI said "the right of the news media and the reporters to inform the public must not be impaired by casting the shadow of contempt over the free press."

"If Judge Ragan's action in punishing Margaret Davis for what the Houston Press stated in its editorial is permitted to stand," the UPI brief concluded, "then the scourge of censorship is upon us and freedom of the press in this state is dead."

Stiff Loan Law Penalties Urged By Will Wilson

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles by the attorney general tracing the loan shark problem in Texas.)
By ATTY. GEN. WILL WILSON

AUSTIN (UPI)—Although the attorney general's office has had success with the power of injunction against loan sharks, Texas must have small loan regulations with stiff criminal penalties for lenders who refuse to obey the rules.

Armed with the restraining order, the attorney general's office began its anti-usury campaign in 1957 with an extensive fight against the so-called "high rates," those charging 240 per cent or more interest.

While the suits were being sustained by the courts in those cases, a second front was opened against the "certificate" lenders.

The "certificate" plan permitted a lender to make a loan for a full period, not on an installment basis and to pledge the certificate as security. The loan and certificate matured at the same time. The borrower had the option of using the certificate or other funds to pay off the loan. Periodic payments on the certificate were not considered a reduction of the loan.

All of the giant national lenders use this plan, and an attack was made on the constitutionality of the statute authorizing the plan. This part of the anti-usury campaign was finally won in the Texas Supreme Court last January. Companies formerly charging 26 per cent to 36 per cent interest, exclusive of insurance charges, will now be compelled to stay within the 10 per cent per year maximum.

As a result of the court fights, public opinion crystallized behind the campaign and Texas voters last November approved a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to regulate the small loan industry.

During the regular and special legislative sessions in the first half of 1961, the loan shark lobby won. No regulations were passed. Now it is time for the legislature to act.

We have regulated banks, savings and loan associations and other lending institutions. We must do the same for the small loan industry, not only for the public good, but for the good of the industry itself.

National Guard Seeks Recruits

The Pampa National Guard unit will intensify its recruiting campaign during the coming year. Capt. Lawrence W. Hurdle, unit commander, said this week.

Captain Hurdle explained that federal restrictions on National Guard recruiting which went into effect August of last year have now expired.

"We can now enlist any man providing he passes the physical, mental and other basic qualifications," he said. "We have a number of openings in our unit, and we intend to fill them as soon as possible."

He urged all young men who have their military obligation before them to consider fulfilling it as members of their hometown National Guard unit.

"Come by the armory on the Miami highway any weekday or drill night and we will explain to you the advantages of serving as a guardsman," he said. The next drill will be held Monday.

Captain Hurdle said that openings exist both for those who have not had any prior military service, and those who have seen active duty.

The Pampa guardsmen from Company B of the 36th (Texas) Infantry Division's 1st Battle Group 142d Infantry.

Eight Persons Die In Traffic Crash

GREENUP, Ill. (UPI)—Eight persons, three of them babies, were killed today in the fiery crash of their car and a truck.

The truck driver, Neal Rowlander, 41, East St. Louis, Ill., was injured and taken to St. Anthony's Memorial Hospital in Effingham, Ill. Hospital aides said they could not report the seriousness of his condition.

The dead were taken to two Greenup funeral homes. The Hiles Funeral Home reported it had the bodies of a man and a woman and three babies. The Bishop Funeral home said it had the bodies of two men and a woman.

Pampa Kiwanis Slates Banquet Thursday Night

Installation of officers for 1962 will feature the annual ladies night banquet of the Pampa Kiwanis Club Thursday night in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn. Frederic K. Gray of Amarillo, governor of Kiwanis International District 6, will be the installing officer. Principal address will be given by Richard Williams of Amarillo. His topic will be "American Milestones."

The following officers will be installed: Dr. Weldon B. Adair, president; Bob Allford, immediate past president; Malcolm Douglas, first vice president; Edwin McEver, second vice president; Rev. William E. West, secretary, and Sam Begert, treasurer. Directors to be installed include Don Lane, McHenry Lane, Lloyd Kuntz, Fred Thompson, Malcolm Denson, Weldon Trice and Bob Carmichael. Serving of the buffet dinner will start at 7 p.m.

"One thing the next Congress will have an opportunity to do," he said, "and that is take a good long look at the manner in which government employees are handled in the various departments. And I want to refer especially to our State Department. There are 23,000 employees in the State Department and there are only 128 of these who are political appointments. The rest are civil service employees."

"In the last ten years only 57 State Department employees have been discharged for doing something not in the best interest of the country."

"So, I think we need to take a look at the State Department staff. I think the time has come to weigh very carefully the type of people working in the State Department. After all they actually are the ones who are running it. They can either do a lot of good or a lot of harm."

"We need to get the State Department into shape where the American people will have more faith in it."

"Actually, I am of the opinion that what we need is a diplomatic academy for the training of people for foreign service — just as we have academies for the training of Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard service personnel."

"Too much of our State Department is made up of people from the East and North. We need to have representatives of the 'Main Street of America' in our foreign service."

The congressman engaged in a question and answer period following his talk and dealt with many subjects including the United Nations, the national debt, taxes and the Cuban situation.

"One thing the people are going to have to realize," he said, "is that you just can't keep on asking for federal money and expect to have taxes and the national debt reduced at the same time."

"Most of our tax dollar now —"

Scouts

(Continued From Page 1) Nearly 6,000, 40 per cent, are currently registered. As a result the Adobe Walls Council has for years earned the "First Place" position amongst councils in Region Nine Boy Scouts — Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

E. E. Shelhamer, Pampa, former council president, has been selected to serve as general campaign chairman.

Brumal indicated that the campaign has been in the planning stages for a long time.

The list of projects in the camp development portion of the campaign include a camp service building for trading post, office and storage purposes, central showers, camp ranger's home, a craft and recreation pavilion, additional camp land and special camp maintenance projects.

George Newberry of Pampa will serve as vice chairman. Serving as area chairmen in the council's five districts are E. C. Krone, Guyton, Okla.; Frank Culbertson, Pampa; Alton Boxwell, Perryton; Frank Phelan, Jr., Clarendon and Lou Roberts, Borger.

70 cents of it — is going for defense and related subjects," Rogers said. "It is in this field that there will have to be reductions before we can ever expect any real reduction."

Rep. Rogers was introduced by Travis Lively, who presented the congressman with a vial containing dirt and "grass roots" from Pampa.

"We want you to keep this on your desk as a reminder to you and your colleagues north of the Potomac that the people out here in the grass roots area still believe in this country and its destiny and are willing to fight for it," Lively said.

The meeting was presided over by Gordon Lyons, Chamber of Commerce president. The invocation was given by Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of First Baptist Church.

JFK Calls For Action On His Aid Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — President Kennedy gave a preview glimpse of his state of the union program Saturday night at a political dinner honoring Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio.

In a speech prepared for the $100 a plate dinner attended by about 3,000 Democrats at the state fairgrounds, the President hammered particularly on his holdover proposals for federal aid for education and medical care for the aged, which Congress failed to approve last year.

Kennedy reviewed the first year of his administration in his speech in the big drafty Buckeye building at the fairgrounds. He called 1961 a "year of achievement" both in the foreign and domestic policy.

He cited the record on improved national income and farm income, reminded that the gold outflow had been reversed and pointed to congressional approval of housing, highway and minimum wage legislation and enlarged defense budget.

He said the Soviet Union lost its bid to reorganize the United Nations Secretariat and that its influence had declined in Africa and the Middle East. He also pointed to the defeat of Communist China's attempt to enter the U. N. and said the alliance for progress was making itself felt in Latin America.

Looking ahead, he said this year "presents many opportunities and challenges."

First, he said, there must be a continued attack on hard core unemployment and depressed areas.

"We must push through a program of medical care for the aged under social security — a program which has the widest possible support of the American people," he said.

"We must push through a program of assistance to education at all levels. We cannot continue to ignore the needs of our school children and our college students."

Illinois Welfare Set For Getting Reliefers Jobs

CHICAGO (UPI)—A new kind of reliefer is going on the public aid rolls in Illinois and the state's long-constant percentage of welfare dependents has begun to climb.

The worker whose skills no longer are needed is joining two other groups familiar to welfare workers — unskilled youths unable to get their first job and unskilled workers migrating to Illinois from other states.

"Probably one of the biggest problems confronting all of the states right now is a new group of persons who are becoming dependent — the persons whose skills or lack of skills, cannot be sold on the labor market," said Peter Cahill, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

"I'm thinking of the persons who have been displaced through automation or industrial reorganization as well as persons with unskilled or semiskilled backgrounds who find that their particular aptitudes are no longer marketable.

"It seems to the welfare people that we are going to have to coordinate the activities of welfare with those of educators, industries and labor to devise some means of training persons in the labor force whose work habits are no longer in the market."

Cahill said the percentage of welfare recipients in Illinois remained nearly constant in the past, "whether we have had high employment or low employment."

"In 1943 when we were scraping the bottom of the barrel for manpower, we had 3.9 per cent on public assistance," he said. "By and large, there have been about 3.8 to 4 per cent dependent."

"Now we're getting this new group of unemployable so the percentage has been going up slightly. It's about 4.4 per cent now."

The Illinois Legislature, in an effort to cut welfare costs, voted in 1960 to require all local government units to put able-bodied relievers on work programs.

At the same time, the assembly defeated a proposal that would have denied assistance to the jobless coming to Illinois from other states. Some legislators accused southern states of dumping their poor, particularly Negroes, on Chicago.

Repeated efforts to raise the residency requirement for relief from one to two years also have been defeated.

Before the 1960 law, work programs for relievers were optional. Cahill estimated that under the voluntary system, Cook County (Chicago) had about 1,500 relievers on work projects and 10 local governments in the rest of Illinois put another 500 relievers to work.

He said the work programs required by the legislature have two objectives — to retain work habits among the unemployed and to give them skills for jobs that might be available.

Illinois makes welfare payments under five programs. Most welfare funds go for general assistance and aid to dependent children. Other payments are made to the blind, the disabled and the aged.

The legislature appropriated about $500 million for public aid during the 1961-63 biennium, Gov. Otto Kerner told a special legislative session this month that another $108 million was needed.

Both figures include federal funds. Welfare costs rise with the growth in population, Cahill said. They also are boosted by a 2½ cent yearly increase in the cost of living. Also, a large share of the cost is for medical care, which has been increasing at a much greater rate than other factors such as food, rent and clothing, he said.

"We are in the employment field as well as in the public assistance field," Cahill said. "We have found that the ordinary employment services are not equipped personwise to do the job for workers who are hard to place."

"We set up our own job placement service. As a result, the Cook County Department of Public Aid is placing about 1,000 welfare recipients a month in jobs."

Impressions Are Given Of Nation's Astronaut

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lt Col. John Glenn, the man chosen to make an earth-orbiting flight in a Mercury space capsule, served as a pilot in the Pacific during World War II. Flying side by side with him then and later in Korea was Julian Craigmiles, then a Marine Lieutenant, now in agronomy at the Georgia Experiment Station, in Griffin.

What follows is Dr. Craigmiles' personal impression of John Glenn as a comrade in arms, a friend and a man.

By DR. JULIAN CRAIGMILES GRIFFIN, Ga. (NEA) — You can call someone an "All-American Boy" and have it mean something else. But when we called John Glenn an All-American Boy we meant it as a compliment.

I will say without apology that he is the kind of person you would like your parents to meet and know you were associated with. He was the kind of fellow you like to think of as your next door neighbor — the kind of guy you would like to have dating your kid sister.

'Plain Democrat' Due To Take Over As House Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I am a Democrat without prefixes or suffixes — a plain Democrat who goes down the line with the main issues of the party."

This self-characterization came today from Rep. Carl Albert, 53, a quiet-spoken Oklahoman who is slated to become the new Democratic leader of the House.

Thus, Albert rejected the description applied to him by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who tried to defeat Albert for the leadership — and failed.

Bolling, 45, who was Albert's only challenger, withdrew from the race Wednesday. He told a news conference he had decided not to put his strength to the test at a caucus of the 258 House Democrats next week because "I do not have enough support to win."

Bolling made it plain that he regarded this as a defeat for liberalism. He called himself a liberal. He described Albert as a "liberal with reservations."

He said the late Speaker Sam Rayburn was "indeed a liberal," but he pointedly refused to characterize Rep. John W. McCormack, 70-year-old Boston Irishman, who will succeed Rayburn as speaker next week.

With no other contenders in sight, it is a foregone conclusion that House Democrats will tap McCormack for the top party post and elect Albert to succeed McCormack in the No. 2 post of floor leader.

Bolling said the "reservations" he had about Albert's liberalism related to civil rights and to problems created by the existence of oil and gas producers in Albert's congressional district.

In an interview with United Press International, Albert said that his overall voting record might be considered liberal by some and moderate by others but that no one would call him a conservative.

Albert's friends were miffed at Bolling's remarks which came in response to newsmen's questions. Albert said he had high regard for Bolling and hoped there were "no personal feelings."

Although he took a less liberal stance on civil rights legislation than Bolling, Albert supported the civil rights laws of 1957 and 1960 in the form in which they were finally enacted.

Centro Marine Training Center in California. That was 1943 when our squadron was formed.

It seemed that in no time at all after that we were flying together in the Pacific Theater on bombing and strafing missions against the Japanese.

John was always stable — never reckless. He constantly tried to set endurance records — that is, staying in the air as long as possible — or altitude records. But you could hardly call him a "hot" pilot. He never tried to set records against the enemy or took unnecessary chances.

I suppose you would call Glenn a team man. He used to say to the other pilots:

"It's better that we all stick together and get there, even if we have to take the long way, than to scatter in every direction with some getting there and some not."

Later in Korea I would say that Glenn was more willing to take chances. He shot down three enemy jets and was disappointed that he didn't get numbers four and five before the truce was signed. Five would have made him an ace.

Once in Korea he returned to the field with his plane full of holes from his own bomb blast. That showed how low he was flying. Another time, a 40 mm shell exploded just under his plane, riddling it with holes.

Religion played an important part in John's life. He was a Presbyterian, and he always tried to live his religion every day and not just use his faith as an "ace-in-the-hole" to pull him out of tight spots.

He was a very sensitive and human guy, too. He was a lieutenant and leader of a section that consisted of four planes, including his own. His wingman was the first in the squadron to be killed in action. Glenn broke down and cried openly without shame.

But it was his sense of humor that probably we all remember most.

He always has a grin on his face, and he was an easy conversationalist. He never tried to make anyone feel uncomfortable or embarrassed. His humor used to break the tension.

When we were going overseas on an aircraft carrier, we were sunbathing on the deck. Glenn remarked that the voyage reminded him of the fellow who fell off the Empire State Building, and as he was passing each window called out "Everything is all right so far!"

That's what I mean by breaking the tension.

When the Korean War was over I kidded Glenn a little about his decision to stay in the Corps. I was going on inactive duty, and I said, "You want to stay in because it's secure."

"Well, Glenn thought a second and said that he thought he could make a contribution to aviation. He was certainly right about that."

Get On Commercial Mail List And Your Name Is Perpetuated

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—According to a magazine article I read a few weeks ago, the only certain way to achieve immortality is to get your name on a commercial mailing list.

It pointed out that forever after you have departed this vale your name will continue to appear on envelopes containing catalogs, brochures, posters, dodgers, fliers and other forms of advertising matter.

These will be duly dropped by the postman into somebody's mailbox, most likely at an address you occupied in your early life. Thus your name becomes perpetuated, as surely as if it had been engraved on a statue.

I find this philosophic view of the mailing list phenomenon wonderfully comforting. It keeps me spiritually in touch with the U.S. Marine officer from whom I bought my house seven years ago.

Every now and then, the day's mail will bring in a batch of soap coupons or a magazine subscription offer posted in his name. I only met him once, but I always turn my eyes toward the shores of Tripoli and wonder where fate has taken him.

It pleases me to think that something similar is happening at all of my previous abodes. Whoever is occupying those premises now will never be able to forget me, even though they never knew me.

Having achieved mailing list immortality in at least four states, I am unable to share the indignation of an electrical appliance distributor in Webster Groves, Mo.

He wrote to his congressman, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, complaining that he had received 24 letters of solicitation on a single subject, apparently as a result of duplication in the mailing lists maintained by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The congressman in turn fired off a letter to Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, deploring the incident as an "obvious waste of postage, stationery and manpower."

"It points to a bureaucratic operation that is so tangled in red tape that no system exists for setting up proper address lists or keeping address lists, once established, up-to-date," Curtis wrote.

Curtis praised his constituent for calling attention to such inefficiency. Too often, he said, people "simply swear softly (and) throw the material in the waste basket."

He may have a point there, but I rather envy the constituent. Not everyone is fortunate enough to be immortalized and inundated in one mailing.

Pampa Toastmasters Seek New Members

A drive for new members and a stepped-up program of activities for 1962 was announced Saturday by Forrest N. Hills, president of Toastmasters International of Pampa.

The Toastmasters Club, which holds a dinner meeting every Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. in Coronado Inn, now has 14 active members, Hills said.

"We hope to increase this number greatly within the next few months," the club president said, "and we want the public to know that anyone interested in public speaking is invited to attend any of our meetings."

Other officers of the club include Dr. J. B. Veale, executive vice president; L. K. Roberts, educational vice president; Paul Buchanan, secretary; Dr. Smith B. Syper, treasurer; and John Darnell, sergeant-at-arms.

Hills said the club will launch immediately a contest to furnish a speaker to enter the area Toastmasters' competition to be held here in March. Club speakers from Berger, Pampa, Amarillo, Booker, Dumas and Perryton will compete in Pampa and winners will go on to district, state and national contests.

President Hills explained that Toastmasters International is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, nonsectarian educational organization of more than 3,000 clubs throughout the nation, providing its members with opportunities to improve abilities to speak in public and develop executive capacities through practice, mutual constructive criticism and the assumption of responsibilities within the organization.

Hills also stated that members of the Pampa Toastmasters Club are available for speaking assignments at local civic club meetings, and other community gatherings.

"If you need a speaker," Hills said, "just assign us a topic. We will select a speaker and do all the research on getting the subject matter together for the speech."

The Pampa Toastmasters Club was organized early in 1957. Griswold Rogers and Lloyd Kuntz, charter members, still are active workers in the club, Hills stated.

Supreme Court Gets Rio Grande Water Dispute

AUSTIN (UPI) — If a man owns land along the Rio Grande, does it automatically give him the right to irrigate his fields with water from the river?

The State Supreme Court had this highly technical highly controversial question under consideration today. Its decision, when handed down, not only will set the pattern for farmers in the Rio Grande Valley, but for riparian (riverbank) rights for nearly half the land in Texas.

Lawyers for a group of Rio Grande Valley landowners who took the case before the high court Wednesday argued that grants that gave their clients also gave them the right to irrigate from the river.

But the state argues that the landowners should have sought separate water permits before using the river water for irrigation.

Former State Supreme Court Chief Justice J. E. Hickman has called the case "the most complex and important litigation ever instituted in Texas."

Harry L. Hall of Mission told the court there has never been a court decision since the rights were first recognized that failed to recognize the riparian irrigation rights and to afford and give the protection the constitutions of the state and the United States confer on property rights, until the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals ruled in this case.

The San Antonio court ruled against the landowners last April.

L. Hamilton Lowe of Austin, representing a group of upriver landowners in Starr County below Falcon Dam said, "from time immemorial, Texas law gives to all lands bordering on streams the right to use the water for irrigation—there is no distinction whether they get the land in grants from Spain or Mexico or Texas."

Asst. Atty. Gen. Houghton Brownlee Jr., representing the state, told the court the land grants could not have given riparian water rights if they did not mention water rights.

"The landowners should have gotten separate water permits from the state or should have some statement of their water rights in the grant of land," Brownlee said.

Kinney County Ranch Is Sold

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Sale of the 21,966-acre Anacacho Ranch in Kinney County by Fort Worth architect Wyatt C. Hedrick to Midland oilman L. R. French Jr., was announced this week.

Hedrick and his wife had owned the South Texas ranch since 1948. Sale price was not disclosed.

The Anacacho has two 6,500-foot air strips, a hunting lodge and paved roads. It is stocked with a herd of black Angus cattle. All the ranch buildings are air-conditioned.

R. W. Morrison, a San Antonio hotelman and former owner of the ranch, made improvements on it worth an estimated $1.4 million. These included stables for horses which he showed across the nation for about 15 years.

A man with sensitive skin will thank his thoughtful wife for introducing him to an emollient lotion he can use after shaving to prevent chapping.

Bank Guard Imperils British Gun Tradition

LONDON (NEA) — The gentleman's agreement between British police and the underworld which forbids gunplay has been threatened by a trigger-happy bank guard.

Normally English bobbies walk their beats armed with nothing more lethal than a wooden truncheon. Toting guns is thought to be incompatible with the aims of a law-abiding democratic society.

That "understanding" with the hoods is the only thing that prevents him from being robbed out. The agreement: cops will go unarmed if hoods will do likewise.

But now the agreement has been broken with a bang.

Yes, a shot has actually been fired in anger at a bandit—not by a policeman, it is true.

The shot was fired from the back of a payroll van by a civilian bank guard named Fred Dighton. Ironically, an unarmed police constable was sitting beside him at the time. It happened like this:

The bank van carrying a $280,000 payroll was ambushed in London's East-End, but Dighton managed to wing one of the would-be robbers with a shot from his .22 pistol.

The wounded hood let out a yelp in which surprise was mingled with disbelief. "They've got guns," he shouted incredulously. Thereupon the gang turned tail and fled, but not before beating up the defenseless police constable, Ted Buckle, who got mixed up in the fray.

In any other city but London this incident would have rated a few paragraphs on the front page, promptly been forgotten. But here it has touched off a major controversy. Far from being a hero, bank guard Dighton was largely condemned for his action.

What was a bank guard doing armed in the first place? Who authorized him to carry a pistol? Suppose he had accidentally hit some innocent bystander?

The Guardian, influential liberal paper, blames the bank which employs Dighton. When the police go unarmed, "why should a bank be permitted to maintain a private army?" asks The Guardian, adding, "Private warfare has been regarded as an outrage in Britain since the Dark Ages."

The Guardian concedes that

"banditry is a real and serious problem." "But," the paper warns, "if those who convoy wages take to carrying arms... it will not be long before British streets are the scene of gun battles like those in the Chicago of the '20s and innocent passersby will get shot."

Glyn Mills Ltd., the bank which employs Dighton, denies that it is running a private army, says that the guards are there only to protect the bullion.

But in the ensuing public debate it has developed that Glyn Mills is the only bank which employs armed guards. Further, this practice is condemned by all the security firms which provide escorts for payrolls.

Banks and security firms both prefer to rely upon unarmed guards trained in judo.

"We do not want to arm our men," says a spokesman for Security Express Ltd., one of the leading protection companies. "Giving them guns could lead to all kinds of dangerous situations."

Sir Philip Margeson, former assistant police commissioner, who now heads a security agency, agrees that payroll guards should be unarmed. "Otherwise before you know you would have another Chicago on your hands."

To the American observer trying to follow the debate one thing appears clear: the British do not trust their police to shoot straight. They are far more concerned that some cop may shoot himself in the foot than they are worried about Britain's banks being knocked over by bandits.

South Viet Nam To Get U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and South Viet Nam have embarked on a joint program designed to strengthen the southeast Asian nation in its fight against Communist guerrillas.

The new program, announced Thursday night in a communique issued in Washington and in Saigon, is aimed at raising living standards in South Viet Nam. It includes projects to develop health and education facilities, build and improve roads and expand farm credit.

Military Buildup Policy Declared Up To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said today President Kennedy's order to increase the standing Army should not lead to a weakening of the nation's reserve forces.

Stennis said the activation of two new permanent Army divisions, announced by the President Wednesday, was a question of judgment.

"It is always a question of judgment as to how many ready troops are needed to meet existing and prospective conditions," said Stennis, chairman of the Senate armed services preparedness subcommittee. "More regular troops may be needed now."

Stennis said, however, that National Guard and reserve programs have a major place in the overall military program and added "I certainly will insist on major forces in the reserves and the National Guard."

Kennedy's order is expected to mean the release by June 30 of two National Guard units called to active duty in October.

The Army has been expecting for some time to have the guardsmen home by the end of the fiscal year, which would cut three months or more from their scheduled year in active service.

The divisions involved are the 32nd Infantry from Wisconsin, stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and the 49th Armored from Texas, now at Ft. Polk, La.

The hard core of the new 1st Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., will be Combat Command A, a 4,449-man force already at Ft. Hood. The nucleus of the new 5th Infantry Division at Ft. Carson, Colo., will be the 2nd Infantry

"If you count your dollars, you can count on electric heating," say Mr. and Mrs. Dan Williams, 112 East 22nd Street, Clovis, New Mexico.

"Like most everyone, we want value for every dollar we spend and, like most everyone who hadn't yet tried full-house electric heating, we were interested in operating costs. We have kept close track of our electric heating bills and we're delighted to know by personal experience that we are getting full value for our dollar — that it costs us no more to enjoy modern heating," say the Williams.

Mrs. Williams is delighted, too, with her electric range and all the rest of her electric appliances. The Williams' home is completely electric.

Mr. Williams points out the neatness of his electric base-board heating system and his smile expresses his satisfaction far better than can words.

War Of Words Might Prevail At Meeting

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The war of words between American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss and New York Titans owner Harry Wismer may see a victory or a truce Monday in San Diego, Calif., when AFL owners and officials gather for the annual league meeting.

Foss, an ex-governor of South Dakota, and Wismer, a former sports announcer, have been at odds for months over who will call the shots in the two-year-old professional league.

Wismer has suggested publicly that the league might do better with a new commissioner. He also has spoken out for moving AFL headquarters out of Dallas.

Foss has been quoted as saying that Wismer is "after my scalp."

The commissioner said in Dallas prior to the meeting that the subject of his and Wismer's differences "will come up for discussion either Monday or Tuesday" at San Diego, declining to stir up any last-minute controversy.

The announced purpose of the two-day meeting is a yearly discussion of proposed rule changes and amendments to the league's constitution. The Dallas-AFL office said it will be a catch-all meeting with other operational and policy questions up for discussion.

Foss discounted speculation about an improved AFL television contract in 1962.

SW Places Three On Smart Team

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The Southeastern Conference, with four players, and the Southwest Conference, with three, dominated the All-America Academic Football team announced Saturday by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Ronnie Bull of Baylor led in the balloting by 511 daily newspaper sports editors from a list of players who starred both on the gridiron and in the classroom. The Baylor star, who was a third team choice on the United Press International All-America, polled 254 votes.

The team is jointly sponsored by the college publicity directors and a publishing firm (American Peoples Encyclopedia).

The Southeastern Conference spotted Alabama's quarterback and end Pat Trammell and Tommy Brooker, Louisiana State tackle Billy Booth and Mississippi back Doug Elmore; the Southwest placed Bull, Arkansas back Lance Alworth and Texas guard Johnny Treadwell; the Big Ten placed Ohio State end Tom Perdue and Northwestern center Larry Onesti; the Big Eight had Colorado guard Joe Romig and the Skyline Conference Utah State tackle Merlin Olsen.

Ronnie and Olsen made the UPI's first All-America team. Onesti, Trammell and Alworth the UPI second team and Bull the third team.

Trammell received 339 votes, Romig 338, Alworth 320, Olsen 273, Perdue 223, Brooker 188 Onesti 145, Elmore 142, Booth 126 and Treadwell 94.

Optional Extension Of State Deer Season Being Considered

United Press International

Many hunters who whetted their appetites with a swing at the recently completed deer season in Texas are wondering about the feasibility of an optional extension on the end of the seasons with high deer populations.

The system is tantalizing to many hunters—they say all the Game and Fish Commission would have to do would be survey hunter success and deer populations generally late in the season and decide whether to add a week or more on the end of the season to give hunters another go at it.

"We get this sort of request nearly every year," commission assistant director for program planning Eugene Walker said. "But a number of problems are involved, which we have to approach in different ways."

Walker said an extension is not the answer.

"Usually by the end of as long a season as we had last year—Nov. 16-Dec. 31—deer are in rather poor condition," Walker said.

Cash Named Texas' Top Major Star

DALLAS (UPI) — Norman Cash, Detroit Tigers first baseman who led the American League in hitting with a .361 average, Saturday was named Texas Major League Player of the Year by the Old Timers Professional Baseball Association of North Texas.

Cash, who will be honored by the association at its annual mid-winter baseball banquet February 8 at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, became the second successive American League bat champ to be picked. Last year, the honor went to Pete Runnels of the Boston Red Sox.

Cash, a native of Justiceburg, Tex., but now a resident of Eldorado, Tex., earlier in the week was named Texas Pro Athlete of the Year by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

The old timers group later will also name a Texas Minor League Player of the Year. The 1960 choice was Carl Warwick, who played with St. Paul of the American Association.

Joe Garciola will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Pampan Ardent Rooter For Clinton Of Boston Red Sox

You don't have to ask Mrs. Earlene Lamb, 74 Naida, who she roots for during the regular major league baseball season.

Mrs. Lamb, a resident of Pampa for seven years, makes no bones about the fact that she cheers for the Boston Red Sox where her brother, Lu Clinton holds down the regular right field post for the Sox.

Clinton, who resides in Ponca City, Okla. during the off season, was recently installed into the Seattle, Wash. Hall of Fame and named the most valuable player for the Seattle Rainiers during the past season in which he batted out 51 home runs for the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league.

Senior Golf To Be In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The 1962 and 1963 state senior golf championship tournaments will be staged at the Oak Hills Country Club in San Antonio, the Texas Golf Association announced Saturday.

TGA president M. P. (Monk) Wilson said the dates will be set later, either in late September or early October.

The Oak Hills course served as host to the state senior tourney in 1959, after it had been held at the San Antonio Country Club for its first 22 years. The tourney was held at Corpus Christi in 1960 and at Dallas in 1961.

Locals Nip Rebs In Close One

Pampa's Harvesters, after exchanging the lead with Tascosa's Rebels Friday night at the Harvester fieldhouse about as many times as an Olympic baton relay man, held on to post a 53-49 victory and thus notch their initial district win in 3-AAAA competition.

The win, which gave the Harvesters a 1-1 record in district and a 13-4 mark on the year, evened their score against Amarillo schools for the year, having dropped an earlier decision to Palo Duro, 75-63.

From the outset, it was anybody's ballgame, with both teams within one point of each other's throat. At the end of the first period, the locals held a slim 12-12 lead only to lose the lead at the half, 27-26. At the end of the third period, Pampa was back out in front by the narrow margin of 40-39.

The game was still undecided until the final 13 seconds of play when Wayne Kreis stepped to the free throw line and carefully dunked two charity tosses which insured the Harvesters of victory.

Randy Matson, who has been taking the back seat to Kreis in the scoring department up until district play got underway this past week, was the high point man for Pampa with 16 points. The 6-6 post man garnered his 16 points via six field goals and four free throws.

Sharing in the Harvester offensive attack were Kreis and Bob Neslage, Kreis poured 15 points through the baskets while Neslage found the range with 14.

Matson and Kreis led the locals from the free-throw line, Matson sinking four and Kreis hitting for five.

Pampa seemed to look like a different team on the court Friday night, with stalwart defensive action by the "fearless five" and operating with a semi-stall when needed to insure the Harvesters of their first victory in the young district campaign.

In the B team game, the Shockers won over the Tascosa B team, 56-43.

The victory for the B team was their 13th on the year against one setback. They are 2-0 in district.

Leading the attack for the Shockers was Rickey Stewart with 20 and Donnie Ayers with 15 points.

The Harvesters and the Shockers will be idle until Tuesday when Tom S. Lubbock high comes to town for a district encounter at 8 p.m.

Tag Team Match Tops Wrestling Card Monday

Wrestling returns to the local scene Monday night at the Top O' Texas Sports arena at 8:30 with a tag team event headlining the card.

In the main go, Tommy Phelps and Black Jack Daniels vie with The Bat and Rippoleone in the best two out of three falls with a one hour time limit.

In the semi-final event, Killer Kowalski will meet Larry Wright. This will also be the best two out of three falls with a 45-minute time limit.

In the opener, Daniels will meet the Bat in a one-fall match with a 15-minute time limit.

Tickets are $1.50 for ringside $1.25 for reserved seats and $1.00 for general admission tickets.

Lee 7th Is Winner Over Phillips 7th

Robert E. Lee's 7th grade cagers won over Phillips' 7th graders Friday afternoon, 57-15.

The win gives Lee a 3-0 mark for the year.

Leading the winners in scoring was Jack Thompson and James Matney, each with 14 points.

Lee led at the half, 44-4.

Lee's next game will be Jan. 12 against Pampa at the Pampa Junior High.

Pampa JHs Post Wins

Pampa junior high's cagers posted a couple of victories in games played Thursday over the Perryton junior high cagers.

In the 9th grade game, the locals won 38-36 with Jim Arthur leading the attack with 20 points. Ronald Curlee had eight points.

The win gives the Pampa team a 2-4 record on the season and 1-3 in district.

Pampa's 8th graders won, 36-32. Roy Harper had 16 and Keith Jones 10 to pace the winners.

The win gives Pampa a 3-2 record on the season and 2-2 in district.

Loop Meeting Is Switched To Albuquerque

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Texas League president Dick Butler said Saturday the planned schedule meeting in San Antonio next week-end had been switched to Albuquerque, N. M., at the invitation of New Mexico Lt. Gov. Tom Bolak.

Butler said Bolak, head of the organization that owns the Albuquerque franchise in the Class AA loop, made the offer in behalf of the Albuquerque club.

He said the meeting was primarily designed for adoption of the 1962 schedule, but that Southern Association president Hal Toten would also attend to discuss the possibility of resumption of games between the two leagues.

Playing of an interlocking schedule with the Association may also be discussed, he said, but that the prospects of such inter-league play appear dim due to travel distances involved.

Under the proposed 1962 schedule, the season will start April 13 and close Sept. 2.

SPORTS

Farley Will Be Installed Into Panhandle Sports Hall Of Fame

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Cal Farley, an outstanding wrestler and nationally known in boys work, will be installed as the fourth member of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame Jan. 28.

Farley was one of the owners of the Amarillo baseball team in the old Western League in 1927-28. He was one of the pioneers in sports broadcasting in this area.

He wrestled professionally in the 1930s.

A native of Minnesota, he founded the world famous boys ranch near Amarillo. A movie of his life was made several years ago.

Coaches and athletes of the year also will be honored.

The coaches include: football, Burl Bartlett, Dumas; basketball, Tom Gilley, Amarillo Palo Duro; track, John McGuire, Amarillo Tascosa; golf, Ken Hick, Amarillo Tascosa; tennis, Johnny Kniffen, Amarillo Palo Duro; baseball, Warren (Sheriff) Robinson, Amarillo Gold Sox of the Texas League.

The athletes include: football, Pete Pedro, West Texas State; basketball, Steve Carter, Amarillo Palo Duro; track, Dell Cochren, Dumas; golf, Robert Tennant, Amarillo; tennis, Sharon Courtney, Wellington; baseball, Phil Linn, Amarillo Gold Sox.

HUNTING DEER

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (NEA) — According to Warden Joe Gaab of Livingston, several teen-aged hunters asked permission to hunt on a ranch.

Permission was granted by the owner and as the hunters were leaving they were joined by a tame young doe which usually stayed around the premises. She followed the boys most of the morning as they hunted the ridges and draws on the property. The deer-hunting doe wasn't disturbed by the shooting which resulted in the bagging of one of her kinfolk.

Passers-by on the road are probably still shaking their heads after seeing the hunters hunting deer with a deer-hunting deer.

Equipment May Cut Accidents

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

The unexplained sharp rise of football deaths in 1961 is expected to bring a flock of new equipment into the display rooms at the annual sporting goods manufacturers fair in the big town next week. One manufacturer (Spalding) already has announced a new headgear presumed to be safer and thereby cut down head injuries. It features special padding and a streamlined face guard fitting closer to the head and chin.

Football was charged last season with the deaths of 40 players, either directly or indirectly. There were only 17 the year before.

Home run king Roger Maris of the Yankees will be an exhibitor at the trade fair. Roger has designed two new fielder's mitts, one for pros and the other for small fry.

In the earliest days of pro football, many collegiate officials including A. A. Stagg, then at Chicago, waged a strong campaign against the sport. Forty years later the pros are welcome even in the Ivy League. Two pro exhibitions already have been played in the Yale bowl, another is due at Princeton next fall.

The New York Racing Association, which has more than 60 million dollars invested in the sport, netted roughly $900,000 in 1961. The state of New York, which doesn't have a dime invested, collected $38,312,502. Moral is, if you want to make big money—buy a state.

Wisner Makes Part Titan Sale

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harry Wisner, president of the New York Titans, announced Saturday that he has sold 30 per cent of his stock in the American Football League club to Royal F. Raidle, a prominent realtor in Palm Beach, Fla., for $500,000.

Wisner said the deal would leave him with 60 per cent of the stock in the Titans and he would continue to control the club.

Raidle, 44, is a leading Florida real estate man and a close friend of Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., who is executive vice president of the Titans.

Wisner said papers for the sale of the club would be signed within the next few days at Washington or Palm Beach.

Before leaving for San Diego, Calif., where the A.F.L. meetings begin next Monday, Wisner said he would renew his efforts to bring the league headquarters to New York.

The Titans president emphasized that he did not wish to become embroiled again in a public controversy with A.F.L. Commissioner Joe Foss. However, the location of A.F.L. headquarters has been a point of contention between these two men.

Wisner said the league offices, now in Dallas, Tex., should be located in New York both for public relations purposes and also for negotiation of the A.F.L. television rights.

Foss has been quoted as saying that he would resign as commissioner if the owners vote to transfer the A.F.L. office to New York.

Wisner said that at last year's meeting in Houston, Tex., a motion to move the league office to New York was defeated because one owner, Ralph Wilson of Buffalo, voted against it. Unanimous approval of the owners would be required for such a move.

The Titans boss also said that the A.F.L. would find it easier to sell its television rights operating from New York. He reiterated that A.F.L. TV revenue dropped from $220,000 in 1960 to less than $100,000 during the past season.

Dietzel May Ink Contract With Army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul Dietzel, former Louisiana State University football coach, was the first passenger to alight here Saturday when his commercial airplane flight to the South was grounded because of bad weather along the East Coast.

He took a train to New York, where he was scheduled to confer with officials of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point about his new coaching duties there.

Upon landing in Atlanta in the morning, Dietzel learned that rain and fog had closed the airport at New York. He then boarded a plane for Washington.

The 37-year-old Dietzel was expected to head for West Point Sunday to sign a five-year contract at $20,000 annually as head coach. He will bring four of his L.S.U. aides with him. They are Larry Jones, George Terry, Bill Slosky and Charles Pevy.

His chief assistant at L. S. U., Charles McClendon, appeared a good bet to become head coach at the University of Kentucky.

Dietzel was freed to negotiate with the U. S. Military Academy when L. S. U. officials released him Friday from the last four years of his five-year contract.

Lown Leading Bowling Meet

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Left-hander Roy Lown of El Paso, Tex., took over the early lead Saturday in the third qualifying round of the all-star bowling tournament, outplumbing executive Norm Abrams of St. Paul, Minn., stole the show.

Stepping up for his second game of the day, Abrams rolled 12 balls and scored 12 strikes for a perfect 300 game, only the eighth in the 21-year history of the all-star tournament.

It was the second 300 game for the 40-year-old plumbing company manager, who rolled one in November on a Twin Cities television show. Abrams has been a bowler for 26 years.

His 938 series gave him a 2,533 total for the three qualifying rounds bowled so far at the Miami Beach convention hall and shot up from the far-backs to fifth place.

Lown held a comfortable lead over Dick Oliver of Morrisville, third rounds. He scored a 933 series for a total of 2,668.

Oliver was second with a 2,570 total and Terry Rea, Bellingham Wash., was third with 2,542.

Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., seven-time all-star champion, continued in the lead of the women's division with a 650 series in the third round and a 1,933 total. Others in the women's division were on Saturday night's schedule.

Ed Lubanski of Detroit, leader through the first two qualifying rounds, slipped to 735 series for a 2,496 total that dropped him to ninth place among the early finishers.

PORTLAND, Ore. (NEA) — A white sturgeon tagged by biologists in the Columbia River in 1949, not only successfully eluded fishermen for many a year, it took a long time to make a short trip.

The specimen, recovered in the Snake River 348 miles upstream from where it was tagged, was estimated to be 35 years old. When tagged, it measured 22 inches and weighed two pounds. It had grown 43 inches longer and 14 pounds heavier.

The catch was returned to the river to be caught again.

South Ground Attack Buries North

Unitas Still Tops As Great Pro Quarterback

United Press International
HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — When you've hit the heights and, while still young and strong, you come back to the field somewhat because of circumstances beyond your control, you might think it would rankle a man.

But Johnny Unitas, still the best quarterback in pro football despite a so-so year, shows no sign of inner distress. Nor does he alibi.

"I'm not satisfied," he said as he played in the National Football League players golf tournament. "But, then, I'd never be satisfied, no matter how well things went. I always feel I should have done better."

Back in 1958 and 1959, when he led the Baltimore Colts to two straight championships in the tough pro league, he was the idol of the Baltimore fans. The first year, the Colts beat the Giants in a "sudden death" playoff. The second, as they won again, Unitas completed a record 32 touchdown passes and set a mark of 3,099 yards gained.

There were nothing but hosannas for the former University of Louisville star who was cut free by the Pittsburgh Steelers and was playing for $6 a game on the Pittsburgh sandlots when Colt General Manager Don Kellest signed him merely by making a telephone call.

But this year, as the Colts floundered, Unitas' record for touchdown passes was tied by the Eagles' Sonny Jurgensen. The Pittsburgh sandlots when Colt Unitas' yardage record with a total of 3,723 yards.

And the fans began to get "on" Johnny.

Those who howled overlooked a number of facts. For several years, Unitas and his favorite receiver, Ray Berry, were the most feared passing combination in the game. But Berry had a knee operation before the season started, missed the first two games and couldn't generate his old time dazzling speed.

The Colt blocking was far below par as the team began to slow down. There were no great running threats to take the heat off Unitas. And Johnny, who formerly could outwait his first and second receivers to hit the long man for the big play, had to get rid of the ball quickly to eat it. The result was that Berry didn't catch a single touchdown pass.

Then, too, Unitas dislocated a finger on his passing hand and was handicapped for more than a month. He also hurt his arm, and kept it quiet for fear that it would be regarded as an alibi.

"I guess it was simply a matter, in my case, of the defense catching up to the offense," he shrugged off 1961, typically giving credit rather than building up his own trials and tribulations.

But Kellest put his finger on one of the crippling spots when he said, as he, too, swung his way around the golf course, "We'd like to have a big running back."

As to Unitas, labeled by Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi as "the best in the game," Kellest agreed wholeheartedly.

"If all the quarterbacks were up for trade, who would you take ahead of him? Nobody, that's who. He's the best of them all."

"It's an old cliché," chimed in Otto Graham, once the passing star of the Browns, "but nobody passes while he's sitting on the seat of his pants."

Meaning, as all of them agree, that while Baltimore finished in a third place tie in its division, Johnny U. still is the top man in his department.

AFL All-Star Tilt First For New Loop

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The American Football League Sunday plays its glamour show here Sunday before an expected 20,000 fans and a nationwide television audience.

The occasion is the league's first all-star game.

Former All-Americans and professional standouts will be playing alongside unheralded players from small colleges who have proved their class in the infant league.

Among the standouts from the East who were well known before entering the league are quarterback George Blanda, halfback Billy Cannon and defensive end Don Floyd of the Houston Oilers and quarterback Al Dorow and guard Bob Mischak of the New York Titans.

The West's better known players are Chris Burford, E. J. Holub and Bill Krisher of the Dallas Texans, Bud McFadin of the Denver Broncos, and Earl Faison and Ron Mix of the San Diego Chargers.

The relative unknowns on the West include quarterback Jack Kemp of little Occidental College who was named starting quarterback and offensive captain of the West after leading the San Diego Chargers to the Western division title; halfback Abner Haynes who joined the Dallas Texans as a rookie fresh out of North Texas State to become the leading ground gainer and most valuable player in the league last season; and end Leoniel Taylor of Denver from little New Mexico Highlands, who has led the receivers in passes caught both years of the league's existence.

The game itself figures to feature two distinct types of attack with each emphasizing passing. For the East, Blanda is known as a cagey field general who calls a series of plays merely to set up one that will eat up a lot of ground if it clicks.

Kemp, on the other hand, is a steady mover. His team, the West, is designed for a short pass game. Running will be used primarily to keep the defense honest.

BIG BUCK

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (NEA) — Woody Held, Cleveland-Indians shortstop, traded his baseball bat for a big game rifle and pitched the equivalent of a no-hitter. He brought down a trophy mule deer which might make the record books.

Held killed the trophy buck in the Pinedale area. The deer, which had six points, had a 37-inch spread between the widest points. Unofficial measurements show it might rank as high as 25th in the Boone and Crockett Club records.

SHORT END

MONTREAL (NEA) — Claude Provost of the Montreal Canadiens has led the National Hockey League in goals from the start of the season.

"Playing in the All-Star game in Chicago, I noticed that Gordie Howe's stick had about two and a half inches taken off the top," Provost said. "I picked it up and I saved two and a half inches off my stick."

"Now I use the shortest stick in the league."

Gros And Bull Spur 42-7 Win In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Bullish Earl Gros of Louisiana State and swift Ronnie Bull of Baylor ground out yardage and touchdowns almost at will Saturday as the South's devastating ground attack buried the North 42-7 in the 13th annual Senior Bowl.

The victory was the eighth for the South and by the largest margin in Senior Bowl history. In their first taste of professional play—and money, the winning Rebels collected $600 each with $500 per player going to the losers.

The 220-pound Gros cracked over two touchdowns from a yard out, and Bull added one on a one-yard buck and swept 55 yards for a second. Miami's Bill Miller hauled in a 17-yard pass from Billy Canty of Furman and another of eight yards from Mike Cotten of Texas. Don Fuell added all six conversions.

In the last minute of play, Mel Melin of Washington State passed 81 yards to Jim Dillard to avert a shutout and Melin added the extra point.

Tom Larscheid, a scampering 174-pound will of the wisp from Utah State, was a constant threat for the Yankees but virtually the only one in a Senior Bowl which was a reversal of most previous contests with the running game dominating rather than the pros' favorite weapon, the forward pass.

Larscheid led the North's only

The South's first touchdown by Gros was set up when Alabama tackle Bill Rice blocked a punt by Ed Wilson of Arizona and Billy Joe Booth of LSU covered the ball at the North 13.

The South unleashed a 51-yard drive in the second period and another of 56 yards in the third. The last two Rebel scores by Miller came on 81-yard and 79-yard marches.

For the South, Gros and Bull tied for most valuable back honors while All-America tackle Billy Neighbors of Alabama was named the most valuable lineman. Larscheid and Clark Miller of Utah State also took the same honors for the North.

Rose Grower Purchases Ring Group

HOUSTON (UPI) — Earl Gilliam, a rose grower from Tyler, said Saturday he had purchased Texas Boxing Enterprises, Houston's boxing promotion organization.

At the same time, Gilliam announced plans for a heavyweight bout Jan. 15 between Tod Herring of Houston and Alonzo Johnson of Rankin, Pa.

Gilliam, who operates the Tyler boxing club and who has promoted matches in Dallas and Odessa, said he planned for TBE to sponsor 25 boxing shows annually in Houston.

He said most of the bouts would be held on Tuesday, with the exception of an occasional national television match. He said he was already working on one television match scheduled in February.

Gilliam is also manager of Texas state lightweight champion Garland (Rip) Randall.

threat, carrying the ball on seven of 10 plays, including a 30-yard dash; as the North marched 54 yards with the opening kickoff to the South six from where Melin missed a field goal attempt.

Bull, a 198-pound running terror who has signed a contract with the Chicago Bears, brought the crowd to its feet with the game's offensive gem, his 58-yard scoring dash in the third period with a key block supplied by tackle Ronnie Osborne of Clemson. Bull cut off right tackle, swept outside as Osborne sprung him free and outraced defensive sideback Hank Rivera of Oregon State to the goal line.

The great Baylor halfback ground out 133 yards rushing behind a South line which opened huge holes for him and for teammate Gros who was equally as effective on inside power plays as Bull was to the outside. Gros had 114 yards rushing and also caught a 30-yard pass from Cotten.

The South's first touchdown by Gros was set up when Alabama tackle Bill Rice blocked a punt by Ed Wilson of Arizona and Billy Joe Booth of LSU covered the ball at the North 13.

Sherman Coach New Assistant At Texas Western

SHERMAN (UPI) — Sherman High School head football coach Warren Hjrper, 30, resigned Saturday effective Jan. 15 to become an assistant to head coach O. A. (Bum) Phillips at Texas Western in El Paso.

Harper was released from the remaining year of a two-year contract by the Sherman school board. His 1961 Sherman team finished with an 8-2 record.

Harper is a graduate of Austin College at Sherman. Before taking over as head coach last year, he had coached at Orange, Tex., and Amarillo and had been backfield coach at Sherman in 1958 and 1959.

Walter Rogers Reports Two Major Problems Confronting Congress

In the closing days of the year 1961, I wrote a newsletter entitled "1961", and pointed up two of the major problems that would be facing the first session. These were Federal aid to education and medical aid to the aged. That newsletter could be reprinted today and point up two of the major problems that will face the Congress in 1962. Hence, it would appear that the advocates of Federal aid to education, as well as the advocates of Federal medical aid to the aged have not yet been successful in these two undertakings. It can be expected that much effort will be expended during this last session of the 87th Congress to push these measures along. However, I think past experience would indicate that very little headway will be made in either area during the coming session of Congress and that these two issues will still be pending in 1963, unless completely dead.

Much of the time of the next Congress will be taken up on the subject of Foreign Trade. This will originate in the treatment of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act which will be up for extension and revision. However, in addition, it can be expected that there will be many problems in the field of foreign trade and in our relations with foreign governments on other subjects that will be quite time consuming. As I pointed out in a previous newsletter, the Soviet Bloc is becoming quite active in world markets, and it is difficult to tell just what course the Reds will follow. There is no question but that they are vigorously opposed to the European Common Market scheme. They do not want strong economic ties among the European countries, or between the European countries and this country. They realize that a strong economic development along the lines of the Common Market can lead to a strong political alignment, which would mean greater expansion of military strength in the whole structure. It will be most interesting to watch the developments during the year 1962 and the means by which the Reds undertake to undermine the Common Market. The actions of this country on the Reciprocal Trade question will be watched with eager eyes by countries all over the world.

There are a number of Bills still pending in the Congress which passed one of the Houses, but not the other. One of these, H.R. 5751, amends the Subversive Activities Act, to make it possible to deal more effectively in controlling Communist and other foreign propaganda, and also requires registration of domestic organizations or combinations directed or financed by a foreign country or foreign political party. This measure passed the House and was favorably reported by the Senate. It can be most helpful in the fight against Communism.

Another measure that will be of great help is H.R. 8465, which prohibits shipment in interstate or foreign commerce of articles imported to the United States from Cuba. This would effectively prevent any trade with Cuba, and would be in keeping with the general feeling of the people of this country as to doing business with Castro. Extensive hearings were held on this measure before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which I am a member. These hearings were most interesting and pointed up the need for this type of legislation. This measure passed the House of Representatives but has not yet been reported in the Senate. It is hoped that early action will be had.

Another measure that has passed the House of Representatives and is presently pending in the Senate is H.R. 8663, which requires public disclosures of identical bids on government contracts. You will, no doubt, recall the exposures in the past two years of some of our major industrial concerns engaging in price fixing activities. Price fixing by the government is abhorrent in the free-enterprise system. Likewise, price fixing by the producers of goods that are supposed to be sold on a competitive basis is equally abhorrent, if not more so. The defense structure of this nation requires extensive contracting with private enterprise industrial concerns under competitive bidding practices. When these organizations conspire to fix prices and the result is imposition upon the American taxpayer, firm and prompt prosecution is in order. Hence, this particular measure could be most important in seeing that fair competition is maintained under our free enterprise system and that the taxpayers are not victimized by the greed of a few.

We can also expect much attention to be paid in the next Congress to the problem of taxation. It is a continuing and arduous task to see that the tax structure is fair and that the burden is equally distributed. This can change from day to day; hence the need for continued re-evaluation. Exhaustive studies have already been made with relation to the basic tax structure, and it is hoped that effective action will be forthcoming in the near future from which tax relief may flow.

U.S. Astronaut Bared On Video As Intent Man

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Although we still have about three weeks to wait before lift-off, the TV countdown for astronaut John Glenn has begun.

"Profile of an Astronaut," Wednesday night's half-hour ABC-TV news special — first in a series of prime time news shows — strung together nearly a score of interviews to come up with a rather sluggish fan magazine-type story on the Marine colonel who will be America's first earth-orbiting astronaut.

There were head-on interviews, mostly filmed at New Concord, Ohio, with Glenn's parents, sister, boyhood chums, neighbors, teachers, mother-in-law, wartime buddy, pastor and fellow astronaut Alan Shepard. The interviews that forged the profile into shape were those which recalled specific anecdotes, or episodes, in Glenn's boyhood and in his military career.

As interview followed interview — and not all were specific and helpful — the profile that emerged was that of a thoroughly professional, intensely dedicated, devout, pleasantly aggressive and fiercely competitive Marine officer and family man. Glenn apparently set his values and goals early in life and never wasted himself on detours.

Peg O' Pampa,

IT WASN'T that there was so much wrong with the old year... but Pampan's ushered it out in grand style and in the same-manner welcomed the New Year in... the mood was, more or less, subdued, it is true... but at all the private parties held around the city... in homes and in clubs, we are sure that the new year felt like we were glad to have it... and to re-phrase President John F. Kennedy's national feelings... we are not going to be as concerned about how it treats us as how we treat it.

When you rise in the morning, form a resolution to make the day a happy one for a fellow-creature. Sydney Smith.

WE HAVE just heard of the most delightful new clubs that are springing up in other parts of the country... Cooking Clubs with gourmet aspirations... much to the enjoyment of the younger men and women who are their informal members... they offer something for everyone... the women find it is more fun to cook with a man than without one... and the men are discovering that they have considerable flair for foods... and both are enjoying the universal pleasure of good foods and the time to enjoy them... usually the group consist of three or four young couples who take turns as hosts in their own homes... sometimes the host couple prepares all the food... but more often the dinner menu is divided up and each couple prepares a course... in either case, the menu has been planned and discussed in detail... sometimes, after considerable research as good food becomes a hobby with these young people, they turn more often to the classic cuisine... discovering the pleasure of flavoring their dishes with wine, herbs and spices... a group of six, of whom we have heard, has been meeting for dinner once a month for more than a year... usually the hosts prepare and serve the roast and vegetables... another couple prepare sea-food and salad... and the third couple prepare the dessert at home... after a leisurely dinner and pleasant conversation over coffee, everybody helps with the dishes... sounds like a most pleasant evening for everyone!

Nothing relieves and ventilates the mind like a resolution. John Burroughs.

LORENE LOCKE did the most wonderful thing on Christmas day for two foreign-born gentlemen, who are guests in our country... she invited K. B. L. Saxena and a Mr. Lalvani... both of whom are natives of India... to share Christmas dinner with her and her family, which was a fine International Relations-in-action thing for her to do... and knowing the hospitality and cuisine in the Locke home, we are sure that the two Indian gentlemen received a fine impression of Americans-at-home-on-ChristmasDay... the two young men are training in a program provided by Phillips Petroleum Company in Borger.

FOOD... FOOD... FOOD... we certainly did get into the nibbling habit traipsing around to Holiday Open Houses... our belts, skirts, and capris are straining testimony to this great holiday tradition... but before we discard the subject entirely and go back to our liquid and cookie Metrecal... we want to pass along a recipe for a delicious tid-bit, which Loyal and Leone Davies served to guests calling at their new home on Fir Street during the holidays... you may want to clip it out and file for future reference... it's called Chili-Cheese Log and it is created thus: three-fourths pound Round Cheese, grated; one 3 oz. package Philadelphia Creme Cheese; three-fourths teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon pepper; one-eighth teaspoon garlic salt; one and one half teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce... combine everything... blending, first by hand and then at a slow speed on electric mixer... if you like things just a little bit hot... here you might add a drop or two of Tabasco Sauce... after it is completely blended, shape it into the size and shape logs you want... Leone, being the artist that she is, can see it round shapes, triangular shapes... oblong or square... the beauty of this is it can be shaped to fit the size of cracker you will serve it on... after it is shaped... take a piece of wax paper and coat it liberally with chili powder... wrap up the cheese mixture in the Chili-coated wax paper and store in the refrigerator for three or four days to allow it to season and mellow and soak up the Chili Powder... recipe maybe doubled or tripled... depending on the number of guests and it has an unforgettable flavor and tong that will help your guests to long remember Your Party.

There can be no friendship where there is no freedom. Friendship loves a free air and will not be fenced up in straight and narrow enclosures. William Penn.

WEDDING AND ANNIVERSARY bells were as much a part of the holiday scene as Christmas Bells... the Leon Camps were honored by their children with a Golden Wedding anniversary party on New Year's Eve in the Coronado Inn... and a lovely sentimental note was that the reception hours began at three o'clock... the exact hour and on the exact date that the Camps were married 50 years ago in Mount Clair, West Virginia... all of their children were home and hosted the affair... Paul Camp of Odessa... Barbara Sharp of Corpus Christi... Jean Jordan of Midland... Carl L. of Kansas City... and two grandchildren... Barbara Romero of Las Vegas, Nevada and Kent Camp of Odessa... only one grandchild, Leon Sharp of Corpus Christi was unable to attend... among the many guests calling between three and five were Bunny and Leah Behrman... Leah lovely in a black After Five dress, which had a delightful touch of black beading around the three-quarter length sleeves and the hemline... the Greeley Warners with their twin daughters, Karen and Kerrick, have just returned from Houston, where they attended the wedding of their son and brother, Scooter to Judith Diane Mumma on December 30 in St. Stephen's Methodist Church... Scooter will graduate from the University of Texas with a degree in law this month... and the Dewey Lunsfords returned earlier this week from the wedding of their son, Richard to Bernette Jane Christenson in Hermansville, Michigan... their other son, Don served his brother as best man... the wedding had several unusual features in that Richard sang "O Perfect Love" as his bride walked down the aisle toward him... and instead of repeating vows after the minister... they had memorized the service and said their own vows... following the ceremony, the couple walked away from the altar as a duet soloist sang "We'll Walk With God" instead of the traditional recessional... sounds lovely, doesn't it?

THE HOLIDAY PAST is now a pleasant memory in the minds of college students, who have returned to studies after a whirl-wind time at home... Butch Dunham... who is a student at Hardin Simmons University... spent the holidays with his parents, the S. O. Dunhams... he brought along a guest, Linda Sue Gustavus, who is also an HSU student... her parents, the M. G. Gustavuses of Wichita Falls, visited during the holiday week in the Dunham home... Carol Ann Dunham, their daughter-in-law, also spent the vuletide here... she's living in Canyon, while her husband, Lt. Richard A. Dunham, is serving with the armed forces in Korea... always liked to end the column with a smile-provoking comment... but we can't quite muster one this week... what with Income Tax Returns facing the head of the house and mid-semester exams facing the school-set... we aren't exactly in a smiling mood... are you?

Love, Peg

'Moonlight And Roses' Las Cresas Ball Theme

"Moonlight and Roses" was the formal ball theme used by the Las Cresas Club for the presentation of eight pledges from the 1961 rush season, in the PamCell Ballroom. "We Three" orchestra played for dancing from nine until one p.m.

Pledges were escorted across a bridge down a pale blue velvet carpeted path to the stage cornered with four white columns entwined with blue and white flowers, which also formed a canopy effect. A white flocked tree flanked one side of the presentation scene with silver trees draped with blue Angel Hair on the other side. A large silver moon with drifting clouds were suspended above two white wrought-iron love seats.

Each of the pledges were presented with white satin and lace fans accented with the initials "LCC." The fans were made by Mrs. Preston Cox.

Miss Carol Peeples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Peeples, 1432 Williston, escorted by Mike Palmer, was named Best Pledgeand was introduced with this rhyme: "To do her share is her first concern; Our deepest praise, she's truly earned. Sincere, true, loved by all; This is Carol, our dark-eyed doll."

For the presentation, Miss Peeples wore a full-length formal of rose chiffon over a hoop skirt.

Other pledges introduced by the LCC president, Miss Mickey Beard were Miss Judy Kitto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kitto, 1121 Garland, escorted by Bobby Bybee. She wore a halter-length gown of Chantilly lace accented

Cargill-Stockton Say Vows In Church Rites

Mrs. Vincent L. Stockton
nee Marquette Cargill

Miss Marquette Cargill became the bride of Vincent L. Stockton with wedding vows solemnized on December 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Hobart Street Baptist Church. The Rev. John Dyer, pastor, of-son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stockton of Liberal, Kan.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her stepfather with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gowned in ballerina-length Alencon lace and peau de soie fashioned with a scalloped, scooped neckline and long, lace sleeves, which tapered to petal points over the hands. The bouffant skirt and molded bodice were appliqued with Alencon lace.

Her fingertip veil of Imported French Illusion draped away from a double Queen's Crown of seed pearls and white lace.

She carried a cascade of white carnations atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Donna Herr attended as maid of honor wearing a ballerina-length gown of pink brocade satin complemented with a white carnation corsage.

Gary Stockton served his brother as best man. James Cargill and Calvin Cargill, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Billie Laramore, pianist, provided the traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Miss Montez Wade as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Wither Thou Goest."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Woodward chose a beige dress of lace-over satin with brown accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Stockton, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige brocade satin dress with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The bride's table was appointed with a white lace cloth centered with a pink and white floral arrangement.

Miss Sue Guthrie and Miss Lette Roberts presided at the punch and cake service. Miss Pattie Foster was guest registrar.

For a brief wedding trip, the bride traveled in a beige wool costume with brown accessories and wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Stockton was graduated from Pampa High School and is employed by South Western Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Stockton was graduated from Pampa High School and is now serving in the United States Navy in Alameda, Calif., where the couple will make their future home.

"No Wonder We Are Losing" Reviewed For Twentieth Century Cotillion Club

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jack White. Roll call, conducted by Mrs. Harbord Cox, was answered by parliamentary procedure pointers of "to rescind or repeal."

For the program, Mrs. Don Morrison reviewed the book, "No Wonder We are Losing" by Dr. Robert Morris, president of Dallas University.

Mrs. Morrison began by giving background for the work Robert Morris has done in exposing communists and working on investigating committees. "He began as a young lawyer with one year's experience; hired by the state of New York to investigate communism in the New York schools. He later became a member of Navy Intelligence and was sent to the South Pacific."

In continuing remarks, Mrs. Morrison stated, "The purpose of the book is to show what a few communists can do in key positions. One example was the formation of American policy toward Nationalist China and Communist China after World War II. American policy was formed by three memorandums sent to President Harry S. Truman by an advisor, John Carter Vincent, a known communist. The memorandums suggested exerting less pressure on the communists and withdrawing military support from Nationalist China. Thus, Communist China took complete control of China."

Mrs. Morrison continued "Another example is that of Harry Dexter White, who was appointed to a very responsible position in the treasury department in spite of repeated notice from the FBI to the president that White was a communist. The notices were intercepted by communists in the presidential office and President Truman never saw them."

Mrs. Morrison urged that American citizens support and encourage the House and Senate investigating committees as these committees are the only defense against communists already in the government.

Member presented were Mmes.

'Moonlight And Roses'

with a large satin bow to form back interest. She was introduced with "Always laughing, always gay. Friendly to all, that's her way. With cheery smile and sweet personality. Flavored with just a little rascality."

Miss Mary Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mack, 1116 S. Barnes was escorted by Bill Adell. She wore a waltz-length gown designed with a bouffant skirt encircled with tiers of nylon ruffles and accented at the waistline with a red velvet cummerbund. Elbow-length wide lace gloves with a red roses wristlet complemented her gown. She was introduced;

"This little girl is tiny and small;

Mary is the name by which she is called. Her hair is brown, she wears it long.

She's always ready to sing a song."

Miss Martha Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price, 1022 S. Hobart, wore a ballerina-length formal of blue chiffon over blue satin. She was escorted by Sammy McClelland and introduced with:

Harmony Club Meets With Mrs. Burnett

CANADIAN (Spl) — The Harmony Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Walter Burnett for an evening of craftwork.

Mrs. Opal Davis presided and gave the devotional.

Those present were Mmes. Jess Bessire, Fred Stubblefield, Travis Hardin, Dow Wheeler, Dick Dickerson, Elmo Wheeler, Henry Julian, Charles Davis.

The next meeting will be January 16 in the Davis home.

She certainly is a picture of delight. On this, her most exciting night."

Miss Barbara Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Reeves, 2519 Christine, was escorted by Shawn Hill. She wore a floor-length formal of gold slipper satin with a molded bodice accented with pearl trim. She was presented with:

"A cute little Miss... very coy: To each and all she brings real joy;

A friendly "hello," a smile that beams. On this her night of exciting dreams."

Miss Sharon Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith, 601 Lefors, was escorted by James Daniels. She wore a floor-length formal of white net encircled with a deep hemline ruffle extending below a pink satin band. She was introduced:

"With twinkling eyes and a cherry smile,

This little gal has plenty of style.

She's always ready with a helping hand.

We think Sharon is simply grand."

Miss Elizabeth Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trotter, 420 S. Hughes, escorted by Jimmy Hall, wore a floor-length gown of all-white tulle designed with deep ruffle tiers encircling the bouffant skirt. Her introduction was:

"All around from far and near, She radiates warmth and lots of good cheer,

With her friendly, gracious ways;

Elizabeth truly makes our days."

Miss Brenda Waller, daughter of Mrs. Caren Waller, 637 N. Dwight, escorted by Bill Leonard, wore a floor-length gown of pale aqua accented with large taffeta bows above a deep, floor-length ruffle. She was introduced: Beautifully poised, and oh, so precise;

Charmingly sweet and so very nice;

Her gracious manner and agreeable ways.

With admiration, we do praise. Following the ball, Miss Sandy Redus, 1017 Somerville, was hostess for a party honoring pledges and members in her home.

Noted Saxophonist To Play In Concert With Amarillo College Wind Symphony

The Amarillo College Wind Symphony with Fred Ormand conducting will present its second concert of the season on Thursday Jan. 11, at 8 p.m. in the new Amarillo College Gym in Amarillo. Featured soloist will be Fred Hemke of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Hemke is the first and only American ever to win the coveted first prize in saxophone at the Paris National Conservatory of Music. He will make his debut at Carnegie Hall in New York City later this year. Reviewers have rated him one of America's foremost saxophonists.

The program will open with the Handel Suite, "The Gods Go A-Begging." Mr. Hemke will then present two selections, the "Divertimento for Saxophone and Wind Symphony" by David Ward and the "Sonatine Spartine" by A. Tcherepne. Henry Fillmore's famous march, "His Honor" will close the first half of the program.

Of unusual interest will be the Connell as Officer Brophy; R. L. Studebaker as Mr. Witherspoon and Gibbs.

performance of Leon Steins' "Set for Alto Saxophone and Wind Quintet." Mr. Hemke will be assisted by the Amarillo Wind Quintet, the professional woodwind quintet in residence at Amarillo College. The Wind Symphony will return with Ralph Vaughn Williams' "Scherzo Alla Marcia" and Gustave Holst "Second Suite in F."

Glenn Osser's "Beguine For Band" and Harry Alford's march "A Step Ahead" will bring the concert to a close.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets will be available at the door or at Cooper and Melin, downtown and Wolflin Village.

Surrett-Cartwright Announce Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Surrett of Arlington, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Jo, to First Lieutenant David Lee Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Cartwright of Amarillo.

Miss Surrett attended Mary Washington College and was graduated from Duke University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. She is currently teaching in Durham, N.C.

Lieutenant Cartwright was graduated from Wayland College with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He is serving in the United States Marine Corps and is currently stationed at Indianhead, Maryland.

Mumma-Warner Repeat Vows In Houston Rites

Miss Judith Diane Mumma and John William Warner exchanged marriage vows in a double-ring ceremony performed in St. Stephen's Methodist Church in Houston on December 30, with the Rev. Robert Bull officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver Mumma of Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Greeley Warner, 1320 Christine.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of tissue taffeta with embroidered alencon lace edging the neckline and the skirt. The fitted bodice topped a flowing skirt with a bustle back. Her fingertip nylon veil cascaded from a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby mums.

Miss Jackie Mumma, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bride's younger sister, Miss Janet Mumma, was junior bridesmaid. Miss Kay Bryant of Dallas and Mrs. Richard Miller of Houston were bridesmaids.

The feminine attendants wore street-length blue velveteen gowns, blue velveteen headbands with nylon net veils, and matching blue slippers. Their bouquets were pink gladioli.

Michael S. Keane of San Antonio served the bridegroom as best man. Ernest Leach Jr. of

Mrs. John William Warner ... nee Judith Diane Mumma

Houston, Warner F. Fassnidge of San Antonio, and John Robert Carter Jr. of Houston, were groomsmen.

Misses Karen and Kerrick Warner, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Gwen Petty of Houston, were members of the house party.

Mrs. Mumma, mother of the bride, wore a pink lace dress with matching shoes and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Warner, was gowned in beige brocade satin with gold accessories. Their corsages were white carnations.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

The bridal couple planned a short honeymoon trip en route to Austin, where Mrs. Warner is a senior at the University of Texas and Mr. Warner will complete the requirements for a law degree in January. Mr. Warner was graduated from Texas A&M in 1958.

Dear Abby... Formality Breeds Office Contempt

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What does a lady do when a gentleman, whom she prefers to call "Mr. Blank," says, "Please call me George?"

We work in a very informal office and I must address him frequently, but I do not care to be on a first-name basis with him. He started to call me "Grace" right off the bat, and I thought if I called him "Mr. Blank" he would catch on, but it hasn't worked out that way. He keeps asking me to call him "George." How can I put a stop to his familiarity without making an enemy of him?

DEAR GRACE: You can't, so don't make an issue of it. He is probably only trying to be friendly. Be a little more "graceful" and perhaps, in time, it will be "George."

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind a little horseplay at the dinner table, but my family carries it too far. My husband and our three sons (all old enough to know better) throw crusts, bones and anything that will "sail" into the wastebasket while sitting at the dinner table. They keep score, and bet pennies for bulls'-eyes. I don't care for such goings on. Any suggestions?

DEAR COUTH: Fun is fun, but there is a time and place for everything. Buy your overgrown boys a horseshoe pitching game, and let them take their horseplay outside AFTER dinner.

DEAR ABBY: There is going to be a wedding in our family. It is not going to be anything fancy because the bride's family (our side) does not have much money to work with. The groom's side has plenty of money, but nobody on his side spoke up and offered to help out so the young people could have a big beautiful wedding to remember. We have been having a big argument over whether it would be all right for the groom's people to help out in a case like this. I don't see why they shouldn't. The bride's parents say they wouldn't accept help from the boy's parents if they offered it. Who is right?

BRIDE'S AUNT
DEAR AUNT: The bride's parents are right. The wedding is the responsibility of the bride's family. They should put on a wedding in keeping with their pocketbook. I admire them for it.

Methodist WSCS Begins New Study

Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church began new study "Under Orders" or "The Churches and Public Affairs" in circle meetings held Wednesday in members' homes.

The two sub-texts for the study course are "Compassion and Community" and "The Social Creed of the Methodist Church."

Mrs. Kermit Lawson, introducing the study, explained that "Under Orders" is in reality the "great commission" that was given the disciples. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel."

The study will be held in four sessions of the circle meetings.

Christenson-Lunsford Wed In Rites On Christmas Day

Miss Bernette Jane Christenson and Richard Allan Lunsford repeated wedding vows in the Methodist Church on December 25 at eight o'clock with the Rev. James Lumsden as officiant.

Miss Christenson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Christenson of Hermansville. Mr. Lunsford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lunsford, 1029 Duncan.

Wedding vows were solemnized in a Christmas setting arranged with a lighted Christmas tree, red and white poinsettias, and greenery banking the altar.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white nylon chiffon over satin fashioned with a scoop neckline edged with lace medallions. The molded bodice extended to cap sleeves and was joined to a floor-length skirt edged around the hemline with pleats.

The pleating effect was repeated again in the wide cummerbund, which encircled her waist. Her elbow-length Veil of Illusion net was held to a white satin headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Judy Christenson, sister of bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a street-length frock of red chiffon over satin designed with a rounded neckline, full skirt with the waistline accented with a wide satin sash. A red satin bow headpiece, red and white carnation bouquet complemented her attire.

Miss Evelyn Klemolin, bride's cousin, was bridesmaid and Miss Marilyn Christenson, bride's sister, served as junior bridesmaid. They were dressed in green ensembles fashioned as the maid of honor's and carried red and white carnation bouquets.

Donald Lunsford served his brother as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Gerald Sundstrom of Norway, Mich., Alan Larsen of Hermansville and Robert Christenson, bride's brother. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Richard Lungerhausen, organist, who also served as accompanist for Mrs. Gerald Sundstrom, who sang "We'll Walk With God."

The bridegroom sang "O, Perfect Love" as the bridal procession came down the aisle.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. The wedding party was seated at a long table appointed with pointsettias. Wedding cake and punch was served from a side table. Wedding gifts were displayed at the reception.

The bride attended the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor as a pre-med student and is now a student of Religious Education at Golden Gate Seminary in Mill Valley, Calif.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School in 1953 and from Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee, Okla. in 1958. He is now a ministerial student at Golden Gate Seminary in Mill Valley. The couple will make their home in San Rafael, Calif.

PW Association Studies Needs Of Children

The United Presbyterians Women's Association met at nine o'clock in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church. The meeting was opened by a reading from the World Book of Prayer by Mrs. Will F. Graham. Mrs. E. L. Biggersstaff gave the worship service "Who Cares." This theme was carried through the program given by Mrs. W. Dixon, who showed slides from the Presbyterian sponsored Ming Quong Home, in Los Gatos, Calif. where work is being done for deserted children, preparing them to take up life in foster homes. Mrs. A. D. Hills gave a short talk on the conditions in Pampa concerning needy children and what a great need there is here in Pampa.

"Club Ethics" Forms Speaker's Tonic For Merten HD Club Meeting

Mrs. D. F. Flynn of Sinclair Camp, south of the city, was hostess to members of the Merten Home Demonstration Club at its first meeting of the new year on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

New officers presiding were Mmes. Walter Murphy, president; D. F. Flynn, vice president; A. M. Nash, secretary.

Roll call was answered with "How I Can Make My Club Better" and a quotation "He Who Shows Courtesy, reaps friendship."

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray Country Home Demonstration agent, discussed "Club Ethics" and reminded members that home demonstration work is a federated program emanating from the M.M. Extension Service and that each phase of homemaking, such as tailoring, clothing, foods and nutrition, family economics, yard and garden, and civil defense was well planned program and is offered to members as well as to anyone interested.

The training schools held for leaders with material furnished for programs make club work easier," she said.

Miss Patterson also outlined the work for making better home Demonstration Clubs.

"Beginning with the organized club; three elected officers, president, vice president and secretary, the club is ready to go into action. Three main factors of a good meeting are 1) to start on

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lester Honored On Golden Wedding Anniversary Date

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lester were honored on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a reception held Dec. 24 in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Wesley Bruce, 1200 Williston with another daughter, Mrs. J. R. Davis as co-hostess.

Guests calling to extend best wishes were registered by a great-granddaughter, Mary Katherine Geeslin.

Mrs. Lester was presented with a white carnation corsage and Mr. Lester wore a white carnation boutonniere. Members of the houseparty also wore white carnation corsages.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with a gold cloth and centered with a tiered cake topped with golden numerals "50" under an archway of gold leaves. The cake was flanked with gold rope tapers in milk glass holders.

A silver coffee service and a crystal punch service were placed at either end of the table. Arrangements of gold mums decorated the receiving room.

Golden Anniversary Punch and cake were served by granddaughters of the honorees, Mrs. Joan Geeslin of Odessa and Mrs. Bill Ball of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester received telegrams, telephone calls, cards and gifts from friends and relatives, who were unable to attend.

They were married on Dec. 24, 1911 in Comanche, Okla. To this union were born two daughters, Mrs. Lena Bruce and Mrs. Kay Davis, both of Pampa; and one son, R. O. Lester, who is deceased. They have seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

During the first seven years of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Lester were engaged in farming. In 1921, Mr. Lester went to work for the Amarado Oil Co. in Empire, Okla. and moved from there to Borger in 1926.

He was employed as a foreman for the Gulf Oil Co. for 20 years and was retired from that company in August, 1945, after 34 years in oil field work.

Prior to his marriage in 1911, Mr. Lester was graduated from the Downs Business College in Denton on Feb. 29, 1908.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bell of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Geeslin, Mary Katherine Geeslin, Elizabeth Geeslin, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dulaney, Jena Dulaney, Sandra Dulaney, all of Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bruce, Karen Harten, Mrs. Ida Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Thurman, Becky Thurman, all of Amarillo; Mrs. Thurman and Larry of Dalhart.

Guests from Pampa were Messrs. and Mmes. Ray Wilson; A. B. Wade; Oscar Johnson; Wallace Bruce; Mmes. Walter Hyatt; Rod McDonald, Sharon, Wayne, Tommy Bruce and Mr. J. R. Davis.

"I am more about your work," "You're wonderful" and "You know how much I respect your judgment and value your opinion."

RUTH MILLETT

Would a man flying a plane prefer to have a man's voice or a woman's voice giving him routine information and instructions?

An Air Force research study has come up with the answer — and it's a man's voice, of course.

That shouldn't surprise women who know that men have the ability to tune out the female voice at will — an ability little boys seem to develop in grade school when most of their teachers are women and which they perfect all during their married lives.

Once they are married, men begin tuning out their wives whenever their womenfolk start chattering about subjects dear to the feminine heart but less than fascinating to the masculine mind — such topics as fashion, such petty gossip as "What do you suppose he sees in her?" and who said what at last night's party. They quickly learn to tune out the chatter of other women, too, when they find themselves at a social gathering where the conversation is woman-dominated.

So — even if the female voice were as easy to understand as the male voice (which the researchers say it definitely is not) still it might not be so good to have women handling routine transmissions for aircraft communications system.

Just from long habit the men might tune out the feminine controller instead of giving the respectful attention required.

It's a well-known fact that men tire easily of a woman's voice, and the temptation to mentally cut it off when it persists in talking always is great.

Unless, of course, the feminine voice is making such wise and discerning statements as "Tell

Power At The Top

ELEVENTH OF A SERIES—
Twenty-four listed powers appear in Article 14 of Chapter II relating to the total power of the Supreme Soviet, Article 49 of Chapter III lists 18 powers adhering specifically to the President of the Supreme Soviet.

Students of government will be quick to note how much of the executive, legislative, and judicial function finally comes into the hands of this committee (Soviet) at the top of the Russian state structure.

One of the characteristics of the American form of government is its conscious division of powers. The division of powers already noted in the Soviet is clearly a division separating upper and lower echelons, rather than a horizontal division such as is noted in our own case.

We will list, numerically, the powers of the Presidium:
1. Convenes the sessions of the Supreme Soviet.

Russian Power-House

TWELFTH OF A SERIES—
The Supreme Soviet of Russia contains three bodies, the two legislative chambers and the Presidium. As nearly as we can determine on the basis of present populations, the legislative body called the "Soviet of the Union" contains approximately 660 deputies.

The second legislative body called the "Soviet of Nationalities" would contain approximately the same number of deputies, if our information concerning Autonomous Republics and Autonomous Regions is up to date.

By now we should be able to see the real workings of the Russian system. It is oligarchical in character, leading inevitably to the rise of the "strong man." This man is sometimes referred to as "premier" or "prime minister" although, in point of fact, no such title is provided in the constitution.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — In continuation, of a kind, of certain recent notes in this space concerning a security man who found a model assembling kit for a Russian personnel carrier in a hobby shop after combing secret files in Washington in vain search for specifications of same.

"In Washington, the gravity of our time was emphasized when Dr. Bentley Glass, a scientist, submitted a report to the government, which later refused him permission to re-examine it on the ground that he wasn't cleared for access to such top-secret material."

As one who shuns politics as fearfully as he does tse-tse flies, I do not wish to make political ammunition of such chaos. But, also from Washington, comes information that President Kennedy has been serving lunch of late to invited newspaper editors of renown and intelligence with the two-pronged purpose of keeping them informed of international matters as well as seeking from them down-to-earth reports of what the people in their respective areas are thinking.

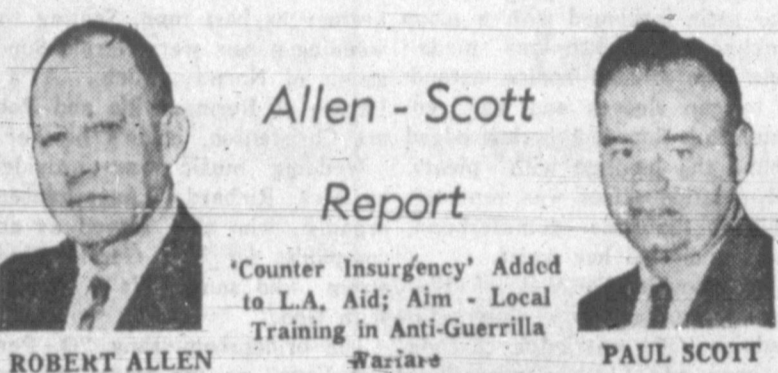

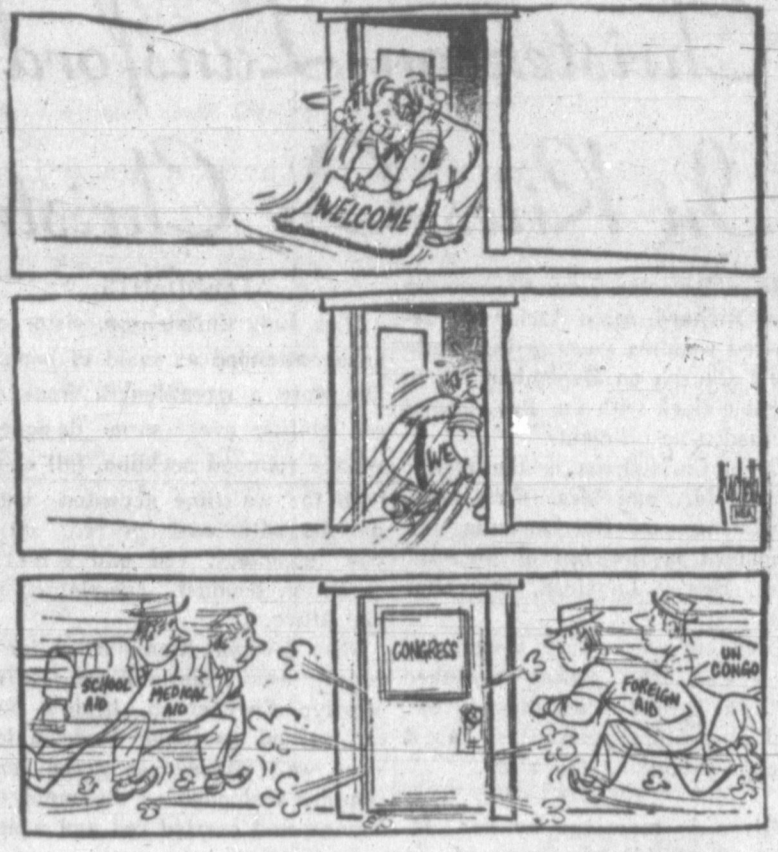

It may be a totally untrue story and only such editors as were there, plus the President, of course, could testify as to that. I have no intention of asking them and putting them in a possibly embarrassing position. But if it is true, it seems to me the peak of time - wasting all around for the White House to invite informed commentary and the bristle when it comes, surely, Mr. Kennedy doesn't want to hear only what is good.

Actually, on the basis of the story one must applaud a President who seeks grassroots reaction and information and keeps himself thus informed as to the temper of the people. As one who does travel about, I can only march straight along with the Texas editor who said his local people were sick and tired of half-information. The truth is that everywhere I go this seems to be the only substantial complaint against the present administration. Men and women of all ages and attainments feel that their government isn't playing square with them in the matter of information at the most critical time in our, and even world, history.

It is not true that the American people would panic if they knew the truth. It is not fact that they would buckle under it. Rather, I think there would be such an immediate rallying as has not been known in this country. People do thirst to be told what is what and what they can do to help. They thirst to know how grave is the threat against our way of life and our concept of life. They thirst to face cold, hard facts and accept them and do something intelligent and helpful about them.

The successive detonations of ever larger nuclear devices in the Soviet Union have alerted the American people to the chilliest kind of definitions of danger. They know that a critical moment long since has been reached and that the razor's edge is a wide, wide highway compared to the thin line between peace and war at this time. They have decided among themselves, in the main, that fallout shelters, for example, might be useless in a society where members of the individual family are scattered almost every day at shopping, school and business. Even so, the government, planners for the building of these, they also have decided that in an area of total devastation shelters would be foolish.

its own decrees, enjoys diplomatic immunity, may appoint or discharge military leaders, may dissolve both chambers of deputies in the event of a disagreement, may institute national polls (elections) at its own discretion, may annul decisions coming from other branches of the government, may pardon, may interpret laws, may call for a general or partial mobilization, may ratify treaties, or, indeed, do just about anything at all, there is small reason to suppose that an alert power holder would be unseated.

Allen - Scott Report
Counter Insurgency Added to L.A. Aid; Aim - Local Training in Anti-Guerrilla Warfare

WASHINGTON—Something new and highly significant is being added to the much-discussed Alliance for Progress.
It's a "counter-insurgency" program — under which Latin American countries receiving U.S. economic aid can also obtain special training units and weapons to combat Communist guerrillas and subversion.

These crack U.S. training units will not engage in fighting. Their sole purpose is to train local forces in anti-guerrilla warfare.
Already a number of Latin American countries are considering this latest plan.
Foremost among them are Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador and Guatemala. Personal representatives of President Kennedy are in these countries discussing this new military program to counter Communist subversion and guerrillas.

A major problem still undecided is whether this program should be extended to anti-Castro Cuban forces being organized in a half-dozen Latin American countries.
Some 3,500 Cubans are training in Colombia and an equal number in Guatemala.
They are urgently seeking U.S. military assistance, and influential Pentagon authorities strongly favor that. However, no decision is deemed likely until after the Pan American foreign ministers conference later this month.

BREAKING THE LOGJAM —
The "counter - insurgency" program is similar to the special U.S. military aid being given Communist - periled South Vietnam.
Elite Army and Air Force teams are training South Vietnamese forces in anti-guerrilla tactics and combat. For this purpose, the U.S. is equipping them with special weapons, such as helicopters, light planes, highly mobile vehicles, plastic boats, and powerful arms adapted to jungle fighting.

Significantly, the "counter - insurgency" addition to the Alliance for Progress program is an outgrowth of the recent reshuffling of the President's staff.
Dr. Walt Whitman Rostow, special White House assistant who was shifted to the State Department to head the Policy Planning Council, opposed this military program. Instead, he favored organizing anti-guerrilla training and fighting units under the United Nations.

When he was moved to the State Department, the President turned the matter over to General Maxwell Taylor, his special military adviser. Then things began to happen — both in South Vietnam and Latin America.
General Taylor gave the Army the job of developing a comprehensive "counter - insurgency" program, with special priority to South Vietnam and Latin America. General George Decker, Army Chief of Staff, personally took charge of that and has pushed it vigorously and effectively.
Much has been accomplished both in the Far East and in Latin America that cannot be divulged for the present.
But it can be stated that forceful measures are being taken to fight the Communists with their own tactics. Guerrilla warfare is ceasing to be a Red monopoly. It's being turned against them for the preservation of freedom and democracy.

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

In more than 20 years of making predictions for the New Year, I have an almost unbelievable record — only one wrong guess. That slip - up came in 1947 when I said that the Society for the Belling of Cats would increase its membership three fold. As it turned out, the Society dropped in size.

In 1962, I hope to make another clean sweep. Here are a few predictions for 1962 which are guaranteed to stand up.
Ketchup bottles will continue to have to be pounded on the bottom with the palm of the hand to make the stuff come out, and when it does, too much will.

There will be at least three newspaper stories telling of how a dog (or a cat) crossed the country on foot to return to its old home. The animals' paws will be in bad shape, but outside of that they'll be in great shape.
Millions of Americans will complain of how sleeping in an air-conditioned room gives them a cold.

Rogers Maris will endorse, among other things, a ski resort, long underwear, a candy bar, a breakfast food, a fountain pen, a watch, a brand of shoes, a pet food, sports shirts, the wearing of garters, and pasteurized cheese.
The West will wear out three conference tables, ten chairs, and three water jugs discussing disarmament with Russia.

Castro will win the amateur golf championship of Cuba.
Forty - eight million little girls will say "I want" 48 million times. Jacqueline Kennedy's picture will appear in papers and magazines 167,347,324 times.

There will be trouble in the Congo.
Antony Armstrong - Jones will get a new job, and quit it inside of two months.
Russia will claim to have invented breathing, the safety belt for steeplejacks, and the potato peeler.

There will be a raise in the postal rates.
There will be a new menthol cigarette put on the market.
Traffic jams will increase.
Railroad conductors will awaken passengers from a deep sleep to collect tickets.

Not a single airplane will be airborne at the departure time announced.
The Duchess of Windsor will be voted the Best - Dressed Woman.
Every known product will be advertised as being better than it was in 1961.

New bath towels will continue not to dry.
Cold storage eggs will continue to taste as if they were.
General Walker will make on the average of a speech a day.
Franco will continue to be attacked as if he were the only dictator in the world.

Elvis Presley will somehow manage to make ten or fifteen million dollars.
"Cleopatra" will cost another ten million dollars and be half-finished.
Paper towels will continue to be a nuisance, along with paper napkins.
Kangaroo tail soup will suffer a loss in popularity.
Ham will become even more tasteless.

Four taxi drivers will be satisfied with their tips.
Italy will produce a dozen pictures in which about the happiest scene will show the heroine being run over by a bus.
Cantinflas and Fernandel will remain as unfunny as ever.
Matt Dillon will not get around to holding Miss Kitty's hand.

Pessimists, Optimists Scan Future Of A Harried U.N.

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When the United Nations General Assembly reconvenes Jan. 15 for what is intended but may not turn out to be a limited session, many critics maintain that it will be a waste.

The pessimistic view is that the spirit of the deceased may hover around for some time, sounding alarms and tapping out resolutions. But they will be uninterpretable and unenforceable.

That's the way the old League of Nations passed into history. The judgment is that the League, born in 1920, was mortally wounded 11 years later when Japan marched into Manchuria and nothing was done to stop it. Japan and Germany quit the League in 1933 as a result of world indignation.

But the League kept on meeting. What is not generally remembered is that it settled some 40 international disputes. Half might have led to wars, but were not allowed to.

The League was still alive when Italy marched into Ethiopia in 1936 in another naked aggression. That year Hitler and Mussolini formed the Rome - Berlin axis, later joined by Japan. Two years later Hitler annexed Austria and Sudetenland.

Then in 1939 Russia invaded Finland, Germany invaded Poland and the infamous Hitler - Stalin pact came into being. The League, still functioning in Geneva, expelled Russia. But the organization that was to keep the peace was whittled down from 60 to 46 small nations, powerless to prevent World War II.

The League itself did not go out of business, however, until 1946. That was when the new United Nations took over its surviving health, labor, welfare, refugee and trusteeship projects.

It is useful to recall this brief history of the old League before pronouncing its successor United Nations dead. It can still be a pretty live corpse. And it might get well.

The U.N. has surmounted obstacles the League was not able to deal with. It prevented a Communist take-over of South Korea. The U.N. has sent peace forces into the Near East to maintain an uneasy truce between Israel and the Arab countries. It has forces in the Congo trying to bring order out of chaos.

It may succeed in spite of dire predictions of failure. The United Nations was unable to do anything about Russian suppression of freedom in Hungary and East Germany, or about Red China's take-over of Tibet and India's take-over of Kashmir.

The list of problems the U.N. has been unable to solve is long. But its failures are more the fault of individual bad actors among the nations than of the U.N. organization as a whole.

The major problems which confront the world as 1962 begins are hangovers from World War II, which supposedly ended 16 years ago. Or did it? Perhaps this is just a long armistice.

Against the Indian take - over of tiny Portuguese enclaves the U.N. will apparently be helped to take corrective action. If it sets a precedent for Indonesia moves against New Guinea and Red China to move against South East Asia and even Taiwan, the general war may be in the making.

And if this does indeed mark the beginning of the end for the U.N., as Ambassador Adlai Stevenson forewarned, it is not necessarily the end.

If history should repeat itself which it seldom does — and the U.N. is to follow the pattern of slow demise set by the League, it might be six or eight years before there would be a World War III. History has a way of moving more precipitously in this day and age than it did a generation ago, however. So the time might be less.

But there is time. There is life in the United Nations yet. The United States needs a world organization — not for protection but to help it in its leadership of peace.

If this U.N. dies, another better one will have to be created. And there is hope, though courage is required to believe in it.

This is the optimistic view.

The Nation's Press

SOLUTIONS TO KATANGA (Chicago Tribune)

Some of our readers have complained about what they describe as our "negative" editorial comments upon the United Nations new attempt, with guns and aerial bombs, to persuade Katanga to become a docile subsidiary of the so - called "central" Congo government. All we do, these readers say, is voice opposition. Why don't we state what should be done to straighten out the mess they ask.

All right, we'll try a foray on the positive side, but without relinquishing our conviction that U.N. military measures against Katanga are unjustified.

Katanga and its President Tshombe have demonstrated the ability to establish and maintain even in the face of repeated harassment, a government which has been stable and sensible. Other areas of the Congo have shown a conspicuous lack of such ability despite U.N. coddling.

The best solution would be for the U.N. to cease its shooting pressure on Tshombe's regime and allow Katanga to achieve its goal of independence — independence or at least a large measure of independence in a federal organization of the Congo. The U.N. argument that Katanga cannot be allowed to secede from the rest of the Congo is a specious one. What, after all, is the Congo but a varied collection of people who, only a few generations ago, found themselves lumped together under Belgian colonialism? What sacred rule insists that they must remain lumped?

Alfred Einhorn introduced novocaine as a local anesthetic in 1905 as a substitute for cocaine according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Magic Touch Of Frost—

In the chill hours of early morning, hoarfrost adorns the countryside with icy needlework . . .

. . . brings temporary grandeur to a sway-backed fence . . .

. . . crowns a majestic tree with a halo of silvery tinsel.

It constructs a frame of elegance for a familiar farmyard scene . . .

For those who live in northern climes there come, at infrequent intervals, days of witchery. As if a magic wand has been waved, the entire world becomes an entrancing fairyland and familiar objects take on indescribable beauty. These are the mornings of the hoarfrost. The dictionary calls this phenomenon "a silvery white deposit of ice needles formed by direct condensation at temperatures below freezing, due to nocturnal radiation." Hoarfrost and its delicate embroidery is worth waiting for as these striking photos by Angus McDougall, reproduced with permission of the Harvester World, prove.

Water 'Shots' Revive Oklahoma Oil Wells

TULSA (UPI)— Old oil wells sometimes die, or more often, just fade away, but not always. Oklahoma, like other longtime oil-producing states, is full of aged oil and gas wells and leases that have been on the edge of abandonment only to be given new life by new recovery methods. Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. is extending its 4-inch crude oil gathering line from its Bald Hill station to serve the reactivated Muskogee field where flush oil production started during the 1920s and dwindled to almost nothing before 1960. Sunray's move is the first pipeline entry into the Muskogee field since the area's last operating refinery closed in the early 1940s. Successful waterflood of old leases and new discoveries at new exploratory depths has boosted production in the old field to about 2,000 barrels daily. The Glenn Pool, the oil field that started Tulsa on its way toward becoming the oil capital of the world, is another field showing brisk new life. One 44-year-old well, the No. 7 Gano Lee, was a lush producer when completed. It had just about faded away in 1959. Revived by new techniques, it now produces about 900 barrels monthly for Homestake Production Co. Some new discoveries also illustrate how new techniques can make completion of oil and gas wells possible now in fields where they were not, perhaps could not, be operated profitably in an earlier day.

Frank N. Ikard To Speak Before Servicing Group

DALLAS — Frank N. Ikard, newly appointed, executive vice-president of American Petroleum Institute, will deliver the main address for the oil and gas industry at the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors' annual convention, Ikard, a native of Henrietta, Texas, formerly served for 11 years as U.S. Congressman for Texas' 13th District. The AOSC, headquartered in Dallas, Texas, is a national association operating in oil-producing states over the U.S. AOSC's three-day meeting opens January 18 in Dallas with headquarters in the Baker Hotel. Sessions for this, the association's sixth annual convention, will be directed toward the producer-customer.

Geologist Named By Cities Service

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — Mr. J. Wells of Bartlesville, Okla., has been appointed chief geologist for Cities Service Petroleum Company, according to E. W. Dissler, manager of exploration. Wells succeeds Frank T. Clark of Bartlesville, veteran Cities Service geologist who is being retained as full time consultant. Clark began his geological career in 1922, after graduating from Oklahoma University with a degree in geological engineering. He joined Cities Service in 1924 and served during the intervening years as staff geologist, district geologist in West Texas, consulting geologist in Houston and division geologist in Ft. Worth. He was advanced to the post of chief geologist in 1951. The new chief geologist for Cities Service joined the company in 1936 after graduating from Oklahoma University with a degree in geology and after serving as geologist for independents for seven years.

Meetings of the 1961 Board of Directors are scheduled for the opening day, with the first General Session slated for 9:30 a.m., Friday, January 19. Guest speakers, in addition to Ikard, include: Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant and internationally known lecturer who was recently rated "America's Number One Speaker" by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce will keynote the convention under sponsorship of General Motors. W. Boone Goode, noted authority on accounting and tax problems of the oil and gas industry who is president of Rich Plan Corporation and vice president of Diversa, Inc., will cover business planning aspects of the industry. A. C. (Cullen) Akins, veteran oil man and well-known humorous speaker from the Permian Basin will be featured at the Saturday noon luncheon. Akins is connected with the Baroid Division of National Lead Company. Rounding out the business sessions, the convention committee under chairmanship of Milford R. Baggett, Baggett Drilling Company, Wichita Falls, Texas, has planned a full entertainment schedule, with special entertainment for the ladies. A highlight of the convention agenda will be the appearance of Bud Fletcher, Cajun entertainer. Convention goes also will attend a buffet dinner-dance on Friday, January 19, and the annual banquet the following night climaxing the convention activities.

Current AOSC president is A. Leander McAlister, McAlister Well Servicing Company, Wichita Falls, Texas; Joe M. Mills, Joe Mills Well Servicing, Seminole, Okla., is first vice president; and R. W. (Pete) Gerlich, Pool Well Servicing Co., San Angelo, Texas, is treasurer. Lamar Deupree of Dallas holds the executive-secretary's post.

Oil Firm Fails In Protest To Oyster Project

AUSTIN (UPI)— The State Game and Fish Commission approved this week a $100,000 oyster reef development program in the Galveston Bay area, despite a plea by Humble Oil and Refining Co. that the commission delay action. The plan will be financed by 10 per cent of the revenue of shell production, in which shell dredgers pay the state for the use of shell in Texas coastal waters. The plan calls for building larger oyster reefs from the existing 11 small reefs, "which would have the effect of increasing recreational advantages in the entire Galveston Bay area," the commission said in a statement. The commission added the action will increase the harvest of commercial oysters. Representatives of Humble Oil and Refining Co. had asked the commission to delay action on the reefs, which are on oil field tracts in Galveston Bay. But commissioners decided Humble had enough advance notice of the problem that further delay was not warranted. In other action, the commission—Approved asking the legislature to allow a $65,000 to $70,000 increase in the budget to rebuild the Seabrook laboratory destroyed by Hurricane Carla. Approved budgeting $3,500 additional funds for construction of shell reef markers in Galveston Bay, to allow better location by dredgers and commission officials. Amended dredging permits to let regional directors hold dredg-

Kennedy Tariff Plan Assailed By GOP Solons

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Two Republican members of the Congressional Economic Committee called on President Kennedy Saturday to seek a new alliance of free-world nations and abandon "myopic concentration" on broader trade-tariff powers. The suggestion was made by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., the Senate House committee's top ranking GOP member, and Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., top ranking Republican on the Subcommittee For Foreign Economic Policy. They submitted a statement of preliminary views on recent subcommittee hearings. They said the hearings, which featured extensive testimony on Kennedy's request for broader tariff powers, made "no clear or convincing case for urgency" on the administration proposal. They added that the "one-sided" hearing seemed to have been hastily staged as a propaganda springboard for the administration's program. ing hearings unless a special problem arises requiring the full commission to have the hearing.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Newspaper stories from Palm Beach reveal to the discerning reader that President Kennedy has sized upon a new and relaxed method of communicating his thoughts to the people.

Almost, but not quite, President Kennedy has disintegrated the White House spokesman. The White House Spokesman was a famous character of the Coolidge administration. Calvin Coolidge wore him down to a frazzle. This spokesman was a figure of convenience to Coolidge and to the newsmen who reported the Coolidge press conferences.

Conference rules were strict. All questions had to be submitted in advance, in writing. Coolidge always stood when he received us, signaling that the conference had begun by parking his cigar in an ash tray.

Cautious Cal then would rifle thru the sheaf of note paper in his hand, each bearing a written question. Some would flutter from his hands to the floor without answer. Others would obtain a response. The reporter who dared to ask a question orally was quickly squelched.

The harvest of this carefully screened conference process then was attributed to the White House Spokesman. The reading public caught on to that dodge, however, and all hands soon understood that this phony spokesman was, in fact, the President. Coolidge played with it however, until finally the spokesman became the butt of crude jokes by comedians starring on that latest wonder of the 20th Century, the wireless or radio.

Herbert Hoover kept to the written questions but permitted his own ideas to be attributed to him, although not in direct quotation.
Franklin D. Roosevelt abandoned questions in writing and invited reporters to fire at will. Harry S.
Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower did the same although neither was as handy as FDR at sparring with reporters.

The Kennedy administration put the news conferences on live TV, less so now than at first. Only a president of great courage and of greater self-confidence would dare to do that. A presidential miscue could be disastrous, literally disastrous. Kenney has gotten away with it, however, and persons familiar with the hazards were and are impressed.

From Palm Beach now came last weekend long stories of what is in the President's mind. These views are attributed to friends, to reliable persons who enjoy his confidence, to informed sources.
Kennedy's ideas are not attributed to the White House Spokesman but definitely seem to be in that spokesman's relaxed mood.
That spook took a lot of heat off Coolidge.

TWO TURNPIKE DEATHS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association, Inc., reports there were two traffic fatalities on the nation's 19 turnpikes over the New Year's weekend when travel totaled 115 million vehicle - miles. Both deaths were on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Time To Renew Assumed Name Certificates

Charlie Thut, county clerk, announced Saturday, all assumed name certificates now on file in the Gray County clerk's office, in the Pampa County Court House, must be re-filed by December 31, 1952.

Thut said if the certificates are not re-filed by the December deadline, they will become null, void and of no effect.

For those who wish to extend their present assumed name certificate the December deadline is also in effect.

If the clerk's office issues a new certificate it will be effective for 10 years. Cost of the new certificate is $1.

Army To Reduce Its Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced today that draft calls will drop to 8,100 men in February and 6,000 in March.

The reduction from this month's 15,000 man quota signalled a forthcoming cut in the Army's overall strength goals.

Be cause of the Berlin situation, the Army's goal had been to attain 1,000,000 men by next June 30. That goal was further increased when two National Guard divisions totalling 3,000 men were called to active duty.

It was understood, however, that the budget which will be sent to Congress in a few days will call for an Army manpower goal of 960,000 men for the year starting July 1.

Draft calls are being cut in preparation for the Army's reduction to that strength.

First gas well in the United States was drilled at Fredonia, N.Y., in 1821.

R. W. RASMUSSEN
... TSPE Speaker

Celanese Corp. Aide To Speak To Engineers

R. W. Rasmussen production superintendent of Celanese Corp., will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Panhandle Chapter of Texas Society of Professional Engineers to be held Monday at 7 p.m. in the Coronado Inn. His topic will be "Instrumentation in Production Control for Development into Computer Analysis."

Mr. Rasmussen has a master's degree in Chemical Engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology. During World War II, he did research and production work on the atomic bomb in Chicago and later at Oak Ridge. He moved to Pampa in 1951 at the start-up of the Celanese Pampa Plant.

Newly elected officers of the TSPE are Rolf Stewart, president; John DeShazo, vice president; W. M. O'Connor, secretary; treasurer; Harry Bozeman and R. P. Watts, directors.

Bacteria Seen As Murderers In Their World

NEW YORK (UPI)—Look what many, many mass murders have wrought in the microscopic world of bacteria, said bacteriologist George Eastman. Bacteria which used to be thought of as only nuisances now cause diseases. And diseases which used to have only one bacterial cause, are now caused by several kinds of bacteria.

This microscopic world exists inside people. The sulfa drugs and the antibiotics have been slaughtering its inhabitants in astronomical numbers for the past 20 or so years. You'd think there would be no bacteria left, and indeed some people even imagined the science of bacteriology was doomed because there would be no bacteria left for it to study.

Bacteriologists took that as a joke, Eastman said. Knowing their animals, they knew they were indestructible. But they hardly visualized what has happened—which is the creation of new types of bacteria with new capabilities for sickening human beings. Bacteriology now is a more complex science than it ever was, he continued.

Think of English sparrows and starlings, he said. They were foreigners who, when introduced in the American environment, proved better breeders and competitors for the available food than succubatives as bluebirds. The result is the former are overrunning the natives.

They're "overgrown," he said, and it is much the same with the bacterial parasites of people. Sulfa drugs and antibiotics knocked out the original inhabitants save a relatively few who were sneaks at the time because they differed from the general pattern of their kind. These few have now "overgrown" with a vast progeny.

Among their descendants new talents have appeared and now many kinds of bacteria may cause pneumonia and urinary tract infections where formerly there were only a few. Isolating, identifying and classifying these deviations from the original ancestors is becoming a bigger and bigger job for bacteriology, he said in a recent lecture.

He took the salmonella group of micro-organisms as an example.
They are responsible for many of the upsets called "food poisoning."
Their growing versatility coupled with "modern food technology" bodes no good for human beings, he said.

"The pre-preparation of foods involving their heating to temperatures in the bacterial incubation range, their preparation in large-scale amounts followed by their freezing to deep-freeze temperature ranges, and their wide commercial distribution and subsequent reheating for serving, all create ideal conditions for the production of salmonella epidemics while increasing inordinately the difficulties in investigating such outbreaks," he continued.

Wherever animals live together and share one climate, and one food supply, "profound dependencies" exist among the various species, and it was the same among

HAND ON POCKETS

LONDON (UPI) — A leading banker says Britons wear "put their trouser pockets carrying the 20,000 tons of small coins a year —about one pound per adult.

Julian Crossley, chairman of Barclays Bank Co., urged the government Tuesday to take advantage of the proposed switch to the decimal system of coinage and to reduce the weight of English small change.

the various species of people inhabiting bacteria. These dependencies have now been greatly disturbed if got destroyed, and no one can now say what the ultimate result will be.
